ORGANISMS ARE FOUND TO LIVE AFTER "DEATH"

By JAMES F. WICKIZER. Staff Correspondent. ERKLELEY, Cal., March 15—Life survives after "death," University of California scientists' experiments revealed today, and the question arises: "Dead—but how dead?"

"Peter Ibbetson," American Opera, To Be Sung In Metropolitan Series

Deems Taylor's Music Drama, With Brilliant Cast, To Be Presented at Matinee Performance.

Told By EDWARD JOHNSON

IT is difficult for me to restrain my enthusiasm when speaking of Deems Taylor's opera "Peter Ibbetson" which is to be broadcast for the first time this Saturday afternoon by the Metropolitan Opera Association.

Edward Johnson as Peter Ibbetson

More over, its success proves again that there is neither public nor private prejudice against the American composer. Let him "deliver the goods" as Deems Taylor has in this opera and the public will respond gratefully.

The fact that I was chosen to create the name-part has not unduly prejudiced me in its favor although I regard that as one of the real distinctions of my operatic career and I am certain my feeling about the opera is shared by Miss Bori, Miss Swarthout and Mr. Tibbett who created principal roles in it.

I can think of few operas that were studied with keener joy and greater satisfaction by the artists who were to sing them. Each of the principal characters is clearly drawn and each presents interesting problems; Mary, the Duchess of Towers, sung by Lucrezia Bori, Colonel Ibbetson, sung by Lawrence Tibbett, Mrs. Deane, sung by Gladys Swarthout, the ancient Major Duquesnois, sung by Leon Fothier, and Peter, himself, which I sing.

Opera Has Dramatic Plot The libretto is unusual. Based upon Constance Collier's successful dramatization of George du Maurier's novel, it has a plot which is not only dramatic but is full of a fantasy as rare as it is exquisitely poetic. It follows the novel with astonishing fidelity and in the space here I can barely indicate the course of the story.

It has to do with the real life and the dream life of Peter Ibbetson. As a child he lived with his French father and English mother near Paris. There he was known as Gogo Pasquier and his beloved playmate was little Mimsy Seraskier.

After the death of his parents he was adopted by Colonel Ibbetson, a cousin of his mother, an arrogant and conceited man; brought to London and known as Peter Ibbetson. Paris has become a dream of the past, peopled by his dear ones and particularly by Mimsy. She has been his only love and he believes that she is dead.

Years later he discovers her again in Mary, the lovely Duchess of Towers. She finds in him her beloved Gogo of whom she has dreamed; but the discovery comes too late. She belongs to another and they can meet only in their dreams which take them back to their happy childhood in Paris—then comes tragedy.

Colonel Ibbetson, a thorough scoundrel, false and cowardly, boasts that Peter's mother was his mistress and that Peter is his illegitimate son. Peter hears of it and in a violent quarrel with the older man strikes him with a cane, killing him.

The boy is sentenced to be hanged for murder but on the morning of the execution his sentence is commuted to life imprisonment. He rebels against this "life in death" until he receives a message from Mary saying that through all his life she will be with him in his dreams; that life is really just beginning for him.

Thirty years pass. In his cell in Newgate Prison Peter is dying. Word comes to him that Mary is dead. He sees his loved one's face hovering over his cot. He sinks into unconsciousness.

The back wall of his cell vanishes and there in the familiar park where they played together as children, Mary is waiting for him with outstretched arms. From the dead body rises the soul of Peter, the young Peter of thirty years ago. He goes to Mary, they stand enfolded in each other's arms. Death has united them.

It is all an exquisite fantasy which grips the imagination of the audience in the opera house as it does the reader of the novel; and this fantasy Mr. Taylor has clothed in a garment of most eloquent music.

Eighteen in Cast It is a continuous and melodic comment on the action, interrupted somewhat in the dream scenes with charming traditional French and also original folk tunes. Nor is Mr. Taylor's least achievement the success with which he has wedded the music to the English text. All of it is easily understood by the auditor.

Yet I advise the radio audience to follow closely the scene-by-scene description given in the broadcast. It will add much to the pleasure of the afternoon.

The opera is divided into three acts, with three scenes in the second act and four in the third. In the cast of the opera proper are eighteen characters. The artists who will appear in addition to those I have already named are Ina Bourskaya, Angelo Bada, Louis d'Angelo, Giordano Paltrinieri, Phradie Wells, Grace Divine, Philine Falco, Elda Vettori, George Cehanovsky and Alfredo Gandolfi.

ELECTROLUX SALES DRIVE BEGUN TODAY

Gas refrigeration, newest and most outstanding recent development in gas burning appliances, has materially altered the trend in automatic refrigeration sales in the past few months, according to H. L. Dyer, local gas company manager, who announced the beginning of the 1934 air-cooled Electrolux sales campaign today.

Operating cost, he said, is less than three cents a day. New 1934 features include interior lighting, rubber cube grids, and vegetable freshener.

The simplicity of operation which produces constant, steady cold is amazing to the laymen and fascinating to technicians. Vaporized by the tiny gas flame, a refrigerating fluid absorbs and removes the heat from inside the refrigerator.

Popularity of the gas refrigerator has spread rapidly since the new air-cooled type came on the market last spring and Mr. Dyer expects 1934 sales to outstrip 1933 because of the many desirable features found only in this new gas refrigeration.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON E. WAITE Shawnee, Oklahoma. The success of a business is not measured by its output, but by the result in comparison with the investment and the expense of operation.

Benefits and profits are to be had by having good roads. Quick money are reflected in tourist traffic, gasoline and tire savings for vehicles, in increased prosperity for cities and towns, and in many other ways good roads pay themselves.

Merchants evidently think that what is wrong for the public is right for them. They should know what they preach and buy for themselves.

The public should get fully informed on rates of public service and judge for themselves. All the facts before them, and with justice and not through inspiration of prejudiced advocates of government ownership who, themselves, could not sleep for the thought of the possible profit for the people.

If your business is falling off, you should step right out of the rut and make it by newspaper advertisements.

Doctors will not place their money in an enterprise that has no chance to show a reasonable profit.

Carry good merchandise and use it to deal honorably, and squarely at all times with customers is the way to succeed in business.

A COORDINATED AIR SYSTEM

A new aviation policy governing a coordinated system of military and commercial flying may be one of the results of the present airmail controversy. The administration has named a committee whose business it will be to make a thorough inquiry of the field of aviation, with particular emphasis upon the training, equipment and the ability of the army aviation corps to perform such a job as carrying the mails. During the Coolidge administration Brig. Gen. Mitchell, then commander of the army air corps was outspoken in criticism of the policies which governed the state and the development of aviation. He asserted that this important branch of the military service was being treated as an unpopular step-child and that the prejudices of old army men and of responsible officials were preventing its development. He said, in short words, that the army flying service was rotten, that it would not compare with the services of other leading nations and that something had to be done about the way things were being handled and moneys appropriated or the service would be disgraced. He was sharp in his criticism, and, figuratively speaking, tread on tender toes in high places. They told him he was treading on these toes, that the treading was uncomfortable and "shushed" him loudly. He refused to be "shushed" and lost his job and his rank. The doughty advocate of a first class flying service is back in the picture. Officially, it seems, he has gained ears. It took the lives of ten fine young army fliers, and the resulting public opinion over the evident faults involved in such a state of affairs to do it. The administration lets it be known, however, that it will do nothing without due consideration. A committee of experts has been named to probe deeply into the situation, to discover the real facts in the case. The administration will await the report of this committee before taking any steps, rumors that Gen. Mitchell will head a new coordinated set-up to the contrary. Col. Charles Lindbergh, who recently conferred with Sec'y of War Dern, sent from the office of his attorney a refusal to serve on the committee after appointment was tendered by the secretary. The statement issued in the name of the colonel reiterated the arguments against the summary cancellation order which were contained in his earlier message of protest. It said the colonel could not serve on a committee the function of which is to "assist in following out" the army airmail carrying order. The colonel is the technical advisor of large commercial airlines. Coordination of all air services under a single bureau has been mentioned in connection with the administration's proposed inquiry. Keen minds can see revolutionary changes in that direction. Prudence and sound advice may counsel the distinguished young flier against attempting to serve two masters until he knows more about the masters.

WOMEN ASKED TO BOMBARD SENATORS

Members of the state federated clubs have been advised to get into warlike action by Mrs. Volney W. Taylor of Brownsville, their president. Sen. Morris Sheppard and Tom Connally have been selected as their targets. Mrs. Taylor has appealed to the women throughout the nation to urge a proposed amendment to the federal revenue law which "she said would deprive women citizens of Texas and seven other states of community property rights." In very recent years the supreme court of the United States ruled in favor of the women of the eight states. There are 48 commonwealths. Now the women of the 40 without the pale may be asked to get busy by their senators and increase the revenues of the telegraph companies and the treasury of the United States postoffice department to counteract the effect of the appeal from the energetic woman who is president of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs.

STERLING P. STRONG AND HIS PIPELINE BILL

Cong. Sterling P. Strong of Dallas has introduced a bill to divorce oil pipelines from companies engaged in any other branch of the industry and to prohibit ownership of pipeline securities by any person owning securities in any other branch of the business. Sen. W. E. Borah, the lone eagle of the Rockies, has a similar measure pending. These bills would become effective Jan. 1, 1935—that is, if they go over the legislative top and are signed by the president. Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson signed all three oil bills enacted by the special session lawmakers. It is said that these measures are to be enforced to the letter by the state railway commission if it requires 40,000 additional men to cover all the fields and enforce all provisions of the act. This is a year of political campaigning. Ross Sterling, while he held the reins of power, declared martial law in the east Texas field and sent soldiers there. He forced the price of crude from 15 to 90 cents. When primary election day rolled around by a scant margin Ross was on the outside looking in. All the close students of Texas politics predict many upheavals this year—and many new faces in the official picture gallery.

FAT STOCK SHOW SETS NEW RECORD

For years Fort Worth has been the headquarters of big packers as well as the cattlemen of Texas. For years and years the annual fat stock show and rodeo and horse shows have attracted thousands of visitors to the city known in bygone days as Pantherville. On opening day Saturday—March 10—holiday crowds totaling 30,000 swept through the gates shattering attendance records of the opening day of other years and set a new high record for the past six years. Cowmen and sheep men and goat men constitute a large army of Texas wealth makers and they never overlook or pass up this historic Southwestern exposition and cattle show. "There is a lot of life in the old land yet"—and in coming years there will be a lot of rich dividends for the Texas producers of meatstuffs and wool and mohair and hides.

WHAT IS THIS --- A GAME ?

Mayor La Guardia and His Job Insurance Plan

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia of Great-Northern New York must be a human dynamo. He is always in the public prints. He is always for a mysterious individual he classifies "the underdog." He is ever shouting at the top of his voice that municipal governments are honeycombed with graft and waste and now he has evolved a plan for the establishment of a permanent program of unemployment insurance throughout the country to be financed by a national plan. He outlined his proposal coincident with an announcement that he had been informed the federal civil works administration in New York was to be turned back to the New York city administration on April 1. He admitted that the federal administration cannot continue indefinitely to allocate $60,000,000 to $70,000,000 a week but declared the allowances "simply must continue until a new method has been placed into operation." He submitted interesting as well as startling figures—that 250,000 families are being cared for in New York City at a monthly cost of $15,000,000 to $17,000,000, hence his belief that the country is in for a very serious struggle next winter unless a national plan is adopted, that could be financed along the following lines: A tax to be placed on every employer, without restriction and without exemption whatsoever.

BIRTH CONTROL MOVEMENT GAINING GROUND

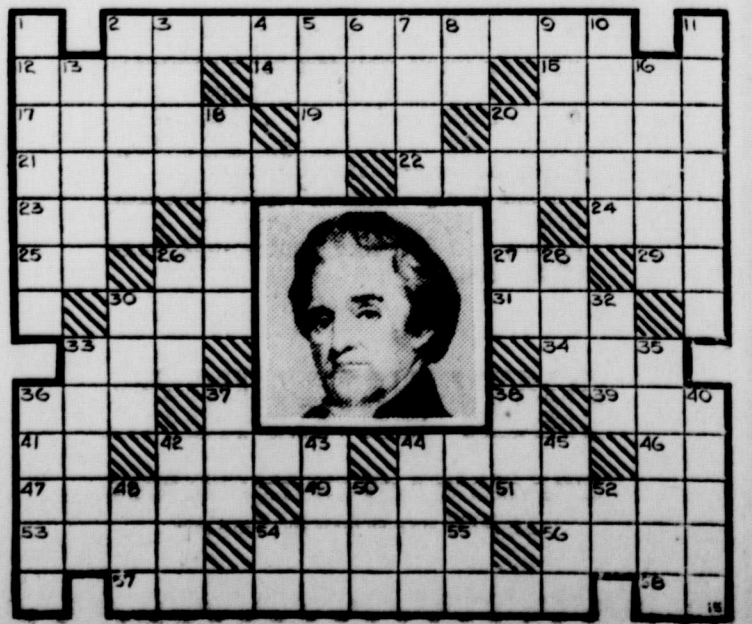

Report of an interesting survey by the Scripps foundation for research in population problems has been given to the American public. Gain in the population of the nation last year was estimated at 797,000. Population on Jan. 1, 1934 totaled 126,144,000, with a 6 per cent gain lower than any year since 1870. This is the prediction of the Scripps researchers: If population growth continues to become smaller as rapidly as during the last decade, it will cease entirely about 1940, when the country will have less than 130,000,000 inhabitants. The foundation figured births in 1933 at 2,280,000, a total of 119,000 lower than in 1932 and below any year since 1900. Deaths of 1,412,000 were about equal to a 25 year average. Departures from the United States exceeded arrivals by 41,000 last year, compared with 168,800 in 1932. Margaret Sanger and her disciples are on the wing the country over. Perhaps poverty is responsible for birth control. Perhaps four years of depression has taught the lesson that quality instead of quantity is very desirable.

SHEARER PICKS DAVIS AND HUSSION

Gordon Shearer, a veteran correspondent, is said to possess the spirit of prophecy. He has picked John Davis, former state senator, as the successor of Col. Jed Adams as national committeeman and Edward Hussion of Houston as the successor of Maury Hughes as chairman of the state committee. John Davis was a state senator from Dallas county for years. He had a political run-in with the Ku Klux Klan. He retired as a lawyer. He has been active in the politics of Dallas for many years. Years ago he was a candidate for the primary nomination of United States senator. He is a lawyer. In recent years he has been close to the Fergusons and represented the former governor and the governor in a land mortgage suit, winning a verdict for the defendants. District Judge W. M. Taylor of Dallas handed down the decision considered most important by wise lawyers and litigants as paving the way for a final ruling by the supreme court of the United States on moratorium laws of recent enactment. All the political gossips the state over are coming to life again. The latest is that Sen. Margie Nell will not be a candidate for re-election but will be named the successor of Mrs. Hal Sevier as national committeewoman for Texas. Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas may go to the Senate from Dallas county. James J. Collins, a young lawyer and democrat, has announced for her place as representative and pledges enthusiastic support to Mrs. Hughes should she go before the people of Dallas county as a candidate for the post now held by George Purl. Edward Hussion is the head of a big printing establishment, secretary to the senate committee, member of the state committee and a never-say-die follower of James E. Ferguson. Of course, "even in politics there is many a slip betwixt the cup and the lip."

gishing out employment with a large spoon, the business was good. Few were the weeks that passed without the appearance of at least one bashful groom with a jingle in his pockets that just recently was a CWA check, and a blushing bride-to-be on his arm.

Today, however, there are no jingles and no brides. Times ain't what they used to be. "This CWA shutdown has ruined the marriage business," complained the justice.

All of which goes to prove that modern love is not an edifice commodity. Romance must be lubricated with dollars. Gone is the time when "love and affection" would buy a symphony. In this day and time when they are appointing women to federal appellate judgeships and president's cabinets, the sex is becoming economically wise in their own behalf. They have learned that it is just as easy to start loving a mate with money as to stop loving one that doesn't have the necessary cash.

The justice is not the only one to mourn the state of departed matrimonial encouragement. His official witnesses have also developed a nostalgia on the subject. The justice never shared any of his dividends with the pair, but Henry Stubblefield and W. F. Evans, day and night desk sergeants, respectively, rather liked the romantic job of legally attesting to the security of the knot that he tied.

Wyatt Jacobs, of John H. Garner's department store, confined to his home with illness for a long while, is back on the job, feeling fit and fat.

Mrs. Myrtle Rominger, assistant city secretary, provides this as her currently favorite joke:

Picture of a mother pointing to a statue of the Venus de Milo and saying to her awed little boy: "See, that's what comes of eating on your fingernails."

In a joke book I read this: Said One Art Student to Another Art Student: "Those old Greeks certainly knew their art."

Said Another Art Student to One Art Student: "Yes, that's the reason they buried it."

The action of the city commission Tuesday night in disregarding petitions proposing three more names as candidates for city commissioners and refusing to add these names to the city ballot which had already been ordered printed, will of course stir up differing opinions. The action may lead to litigation in an effort to decide the issue by forcing the commission to reprint the ballot and add the names of the three new candidates.

The commission based its action upon a law passed by the state legislature in 1933 requiring the ballot to be ready for absentee voting 20 days prior to the election. Wednesday was the 20th day and the commission Monday had ordered the ticket closed and the ballots printed to be ready in time.

Whether the commission was right or wrong in its interpretation, I do not know. I suppose no one is going to argue whether its interpretation is correct. A court decision would likely be required to determine it.

If it is right, then the opposing ticket has itself to blame for delaying its organization. Unfortunately however, right or wrong, the action lays the commission open to criticism at least on a partisan basis. I wish that the situation had not arisen. It would have made the election more pleasant, and saved a great deal of unnecessary talk.

HOUSTON, March 15—The democratic state executive committee will fight out the battle in a meeting in Houston March 24.

The prizes will be the party jobs of national committeeman, national committeewoman, state chairman, a 4 possible secretary of the state committee.

Sec'y Hussion foresees no difficulty in naming a state chairman and national committeewoman. It will Ferguson man, chosen by the Ferguson committee. The chair will serve only until September when the victorious candidates select as Mr. Ferguson selected in 1932 at Lubbock Mr. Hughes for post.

Mr. Hussion stands ready to accept the place. He is one of Ferguson leaders who has kept with the unofficial chief of the administration in ever up and every issue. He has no particular that he will make no particular test for the title, but will only the welfare of the party organization and the highest degree of harmony in its functioning.

Mrs. J. M. Lovin, Austin of J. E. King of San Antonio, is a colonel on the governor's either may be selected for national committeewoman, to succeed Clara Driscoll Sevier.

There are altogether about 12 women known in political and acceptable to the Ferguson forces, any one of whom might be selected; but none has been more effective than Mrs. L. She is secretary of the Travis democratic committee a personal friend of Gov. Ferguson many times a delegate to state conventions and a leader in the nation at which Mrs. Ferguson's nation for the present term was elected.

The ROMANTIC RUNAWAY

By KATHARINE HAVILAND-TAYLOR

BEAU was a handsome youth, Lottie a beautiful girl, and the way was perilous. The rocks were slippery and the sands, washed by the tide, were shifting and deceiving. The sun beat down mercilessly and Beau swore as he followed. Once he fell and once Lottie slipped but he did not fall. At last he set Lottie down on the beach, wiping his dripping brow with a shirt sleeve.

"Thanks for the buggy ride," he heard and, looking down at her, managed to give her a wan smile.

"Hike for cover, kid," Beau ordered, stifferly and after a warm glance at Pablito the girl made her way up the precipitous beach toward the tangle of green.

Again Pablito and Beau waded, pulled by the undertow and betrayed by the changing levels of the sea bed. At last they reached the rocky beach and found more difficulties.

Beau stood swearing which was his way of showing that he was barked. Pablito, eyes on the boat, considered.

"I'll take her out," he said at length, "pue on a low power and head her toward Key West. I'll run out enough gasoline so that she'll go only 10 or 15 miles. Then if she washes back it isn't likely it will be to this shore."

"Hell!" said Beau admiringly. "We can string up a signal," Pablito went on, "that will look as if we had been calling for help." He crawled into the boat as he spoke. Working quickly, he tied to a small improvised mast his broad scarlet sash.

"How are you going to get back?" Beau asked. "Ain't there sharks around here?"

"I suppose so but what are we going to do about it?" PABLITO turned on a low speed then and nosed the boat through the rocks once more. When he was in the open at last he stopped to exhaust the gasoline and sense his direction. Then he started the craft, stepped quickly to the prow and leaped into the churning water.

When he could think of any colored snake which could be strung straight downward in the earth almost in a second.

The craft drew near. It filled with girls dressed in paper costumes, their paper hats flaring, paper bodies cut out of caps that seemed like lightning ermine butterfies on their heads. The man who drew was slowly plodding dears as a clown. The girls chattered high, shrill and happy.

When the screech of the wheels was dimmed Beau from his hiding place and followed. "What the hell was that?" he asked.

"It's the carnival," Pablito him. "I'd forgotten but you must be one of the Sunday Lent when everybody makes a fast."

"Come on then!" Beau out loudly, his true filed with. "That means we're safe." (To Be Continued)

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

BY GORDON K. SHEARER United Press Staff Correspondent AUSTIN, March 15 - Col. Ernest C. Thompson, member of the state railroad commission, who has had frequent tiffs with federal oil administrators, charged that the proposed federal petroleum tax at the well is not a revenue measure but an attempt to put federal inspectors at Texas oil wells. The federal courts recently held that federal inspectors could not be put at the wells directly to control production as that was a state function. "Texas now has ample law to control oil production," said Col. Thompson. "History shows that once you turn a bit of authority over to the federal government, it never is released but steadily increased." He cited the history of railroad rate regulation and continued: "The federal government already has about taken all our rates power, even within the state. As governments grow powerful, as they broaden and expand in territory and influence so that administration ceases to be personal and becomes bureaucratic, those who administer tend to become more and more impatient of limitations. They come to regard themselves not only as executors but as the sources of power, and then they boldly defy limitations."

REVIVALS HELD BY 'TOUGH BOY' IN HOME TOWN

CARTERVILLE Ill., March 15—Corum McGee, who had a particular inclination to disturb congregations at a church near his home, returned here recently to convert Grassy Precinct, one of the toughest places in "Bloody Williamson" county.

McGee is carrying out his efforts from the pulpit of the church whose congregation once sent him to prison for 11 months for burning the church organ.

McGee has been conducting revival meetings here for several weeks a short distance from his home.

Frequently referring to his escapades, McGee says he is "taking the kinks" out of Grassy Precinct, which has contributed its share of giving "Bloody Williamson" county its gory nickname.

Open Confession

Open confession became common among the converts after one man stood near the pulpit in the little church and cleared up an old mystery. He shouted that he burned down a neighbor's house. The neighbor, attending the same revival meeting, stood up in the center of the crowded church and publicly told the confessor, "It's all right; just forget about it."

Another confessed a series of thefts, and many family grudges were settled by forgiveness.

McGee frequently tells his congregation of his earlier escapades which disturb the peace of the church.

On one occasion he and others threw watermelon rinds through the church windows (scattering the congregation). One time, McGee said, while he was seated in church a bird perched in an open window. McGee took a revolver from his pocket and shot at the bird. One of

T. & P. Will Operate Special Race Trains

The Texas and Pacific railway, whose double track main line between Dallas and Fort Worth runs just across the street from Arlington Downs, announced today that arrangements had been made to operate a passenger train from Dallas to Arlington Downs and return, also from Fort Worth to Arlington Downs and return daily during the period of the fourth-coming spring meet, that is March 29 to April 21. The special train will leave Dallas daily at 1:25 p. m., and arrive Arlington Downs 1:45 p. m. Special train returning will leave Arlington Downs twenty minutes after the last race.

Special train from Fort Worth will leave Fort Worth at 1:30 p. m., and arrive Arlington Downs 1:50 p. m., or 25 minutes before first race, and will return 20 minutes after the last race.

Arrangements have been made with Mr. Buckner, of the Dallas Union Terminal, to load and unload the special train in the Dallas passenger station through the Jackson street entrance, so that it will not be necessary to go through the passenger station in either direction. A special ticket selling booth will be placed at the Jackson street entrance and, of course, tickets will also be sold in the passenger depot also the T&P city ticket office at 1408 Main street. The round trip rate will be 50 cents from both Dallas and Fort Worth to Arlington Downs and return; half fare for children.

The Texas and Pacific railway is spending considerable money for a loading platform at Arlington Downs, which will be right in front of the grandstand, which is approximately 100 yards from the train, and this location will, of course, be more accessible to the grandstand than practically two-thirds of the parking space on the grounds for parking of automobiles.

ILLINOIS FACES PRIMARY TEST ON APRIL 10TH

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 15 — Prohibition, war debentures and Chicago versus downstate are issues which have featured a statewide campaign of candidates for office at Illinois' April 10 primary election. Both parties are seeking to nominate full slates for congress and the state house representatives as well as for various other state, county and local offices.

Confronted with the largest number of candidates — approximately 1,050 — ever to seek nomination for state office in an off year, the voters have witnessed spell-binding by orators of the first water.

An outstanding contest is in the Twentieth congressional district, where Speaker Henry T. Rainey, Carrollton, and James H. (High Heels) Kirby, Petersburg farmer and a former state legislator, are seeking the democratic nomination for congress.

Also in the contest are Walter Nesbit, Belleville coal miner, and Martin Brennan, Bloomington, democratic incumbents.

C. Wayland (Curly) Brooks, Chicago, who gained nationwide prominence in the famous Lingle case, and W. G. Edens, also of Chicago, are leading candidates for the republican nomination for congress at large.

The Chicago versus downstate issue is involved in fights being made against candidates of members of the state legislature for their vote on the state sales tax. Opposition to the tax came mostly from a downstate bloc, which contended that the tax collections from which were used to offset an eliminated state tax on property, was of chief benefit to wealthy Chicago landowners.

AUSTIN, March 15 — County relief administrators today set to work on the first steps in the inauguration of a new relief program for Texas to replace CWA April 1. County administrators were instructed to classify types of labor now available among relief subjects in their districts, by State Relief Dir. Charles Brown. The new program is to be established upon a budgetary basis, but details of the plan were not available. It will be entirely dependent upon the type of labor available locally for proposed projects. Brown said. He wanted the 254 county administrators that each will be held responsible for work relief subjects complying with employment eligibility requirements.

$3,000,000 EXTRA GASOLINE TAX IS ESTIMATED

AUSTIN, March 15 — Gasoline tax evaders "couped up" more than $3,000,000 in extra revenues to the state during the first nine months of the new enforcement law was in operation, the Texas Good Roads association estimated today from Comptroller George M. Sheppard's complete report for 1933.

Three hard-pressed state departments—schools, bond-refunding and highways—share in the captured bounty, the first two at the rate of $750,000 each and the last-named at $1,500,000.

The impressive sum, regarded at the capitol as "just like finding money" because it took nothing from any other bureau and required no new taxation, came entirely from sources which had been able to avoid gas tax payment until violation was made a felony and the comptroller provided with adequate enforcement machinery.

A comparative table of gas tax payments, month by month, for both 1932 and 1933, compiled by J. W. McReynolds, the comptroller's chief of gas tax operations, shows vividly the value of the new law.

Gasoline tax collections fell $200,000 a month below 1932 during the first three months of 1933. The law was enacted March 21. April payments were off only $122,000 ahead, August $189,000, September $303,000 and December $465,000.

Methods of Poisoning Rabbits Explained By Jim Bird, Cisco Vocational Instructor

By J. M. (JIM) BIRD, Cisco Vocational Teacher. There are some sections under certain conditions, where a campaign to poison jack rabbits and the small brush rabbit is necessary. Much care should be taken when poisoning these pests, however. The two most efficient methods of poisoning rabbits are:

1.—Alfalfa poison: Dissolve one ounce of strychnine sulphate in two gallons of boiling water and sprinkle over 16 pounds of leafy alfalfa hay, chopped in two inch lengths. The poisoned hay may be scattered in small heaps along the rabbit trails in enclosures from which stock is excluded.

2.—Grain poison: Mix together one ounce of powdered strychnine (alkaloid) and one ounce of baking soda. Sift this into one pint of hot starch paste, and stir thoroughly. (The starch paste is made by mixing one heaping tablespoonful of glass starch in a little cold water which is then added to one pint of hot water and boiled until thin clear paste is formed.) Add one-tenth ounce of saccharine and stir. Apply 12 quarts of milo or feterita. Use as directed for alfalfa poison.

If the powdered strychnine alkaloid is not available, strychnine sulphate crystals may be used, if prepared as for prairie dogs.

LINDBERGH TO TESTIFY UPON AIRMAIL ISSUE

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 15 — Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today accepted the invitation of the senate post office committee to testify in his hearings on permanent airmail legislation. He will appear before the committee tomorrow.

Lindbergh telegraphed his acceptance to Committee Chairman Kenneth McKellar, Dem.-Tenn., shortly after he had declined an invitation to serve on a war department aviation board of inquiry and had again criticized the administration's cancellation of airmail contracts.

The committee yesterday invited Lindbergh, Clarence Chamberlin, Eddie Rickenbacker and Brig. Gen. Wm. Mitchell to testify in his hearings on permanent legislation under which the administration plans eventually to return the airmail to private lines under strict regulation.

Rickenbacker also notified the committee he would appear either Saturday or some day next week. Chamberlin, only civilian so far to accept membership on the special committee to investigate the army flying corps, expressed deep regret upon learning that Lindbergh had refused to serve on the committee.

Lindbergh's message to Sec'y Dern declining a place on the aviation study board said: "I greatly appreciate the honor of your request that I become a member of a special committee to study and report upon army aviation in relation to national defense," his reply began.

"I would of course be glad to contribute in any way that I can to the maintenance of an adequate national defense."

"However, according to the announcement by the war department, this committee is to study and report upon performance by the army air corps in its mission to carry the air mail as directed by executive order."

"I believe that the use of the army air corps to carry the air mail was unwarranted and contrary to American principles," Lindbergh telegraphed Secretary Dern of the war department.

"This action was unjust to the air lines whose contracts were cancelled without trial. It was unfair to the personnel of the army air corps who had neither equipment designed for the purpose nor adequate time for training in a new field."

"It has unnecessarily greatly damaged all American aviation. I do not feel that I can serve on a committee whose function it is to assist in following out an executive order to the army to take over the commercial air mail system of the United States."

The church was organized by a colony of people who moved to Erath county community from Williamson county. The group originally had come to Texas from Bates county, Missouri.

Wright was wanted for the murder of Earl Smith, Tulsa attorney, last year, and for two robberies in Kansas and one in Oklahoma. All were rushed to a jail at Sapulpa.

WIDE POWERS PROPOSED FOR WIRE CONTROL

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 15 — The proposed federal communications commission, now subject of congressional hearings, would be vested with a broad control over foreign, as well as interstate communications by wire or radio.

Establishment of the commission was recommended in a message to congress by President Roosevelt, and the bill subsequently introduced by Chairman Clarence Dill of the senate interstate commerce committee provided for the regulation of interstate and foreign communications by wire or radio, and for other purposes.

Provisions of the act would apply to all interstate and foreign communication by wire or radio which originates or is received within the United States.

The commission would be vested with broad authority to license stations intended for foreign communication, whether radio or cable, and radio station licenses may not be granted to an alien or to a foreign government, or corporation of which more than one-fifth of the capital is owned by aliens.

Would Replace Others. The proposed commission would affect companies estimated to represent investments of at least $8,000,000 and services extending to every corner of the globe.

The regulatory functions of the commission would extend to all services which rely on wires, cables or radio as a medium of transmission. The commission at the beginning would absorb the present authorities for control of communications vested in the Federal Radio commission and the Interstate Commerce commission.

Some idea of the extraordinary power that would accrue to the commission may be derived from statistics assembled by the bureau of the census with respect to the principal United States agencies of communications:

Telephones—In 1932 there were 87,491,182 miles of telephone wire in the United States, and 17,425,396 telephones, of which 11,089,850 were at residences and 6,334,546 for business. The number of calls during the year was 30,048,365,513. The telephone systems engaged 334,085 persons, and represented an investment in plant and equipment of $4,791,428,000.

Radio—The total number of messages transmitted in 1932 by 23 land and ocean telegraph companies was 158,377,690. Twenty-three companies owned 2,266,054 miles of wire, and 96,468 nautical miles of ocean cable. The companies engaged 66,723 persons, and the plants and equipment were valued at $506,445,142.

Radio Audience Estimated. Radio—The United States census of 1930 reported 12,078,345 radio receiving sets in use in this country. Two years later the number was estimated at from 15,000,000 to 17,000,000, and the "radio audience" was estimated at 88,000,000. In 1931 there were 26,456 radio stations of all classes, including 22,739 for broadcasting.

There are four major communication organizations in the United States:

Limits Gov't Buying To Code Businesses. WASHINGTON, D. C., March 15 — President Roosevelt today limited all purchases of the government to individuals and companies operating under NRA codes.

An executive order to all government agencies required that no bid for a contract be accepted unless it was accompanied by proof that the bidder was complying, and would continue to comply, with the approved code of fair competition governing his industry.

SAMUEL INSULL DISAPPEARS AS ARREST IS NEAR

ATHENS, Greece, March 15 — Samuel Insull disappeared today when he sought to arrest him for deportation.

The director of police said Insull either had escaped or gone into hiding to avoid being deported.

The disappearance was a startling turn in Insull's desperate fight to escape deportation to the United States where he faces charges in connection with collapse of his vast utility interests.

The Insull drama, rapidly approaching a climax where he either had to take the Orient express across Europe voluntarily or be ejected forcibly, was heightened when police surrounded his hotel apartments.

Twenty officers, headed by the director, invaded his quarters and found their quarry gone. The hall porter and three other servants were arrested for questioning.

A wide search was started for Insull. He had defied the orders of the Greek government to leave by tonight's train at 7 o'clock. The newspaper Apollon said Insull had completed arrangements with an underworld gang dealing in clandestine travelers, which would transfer him from Athens into the Greek countryside where he could not be found for arrest and deportation.

The chief of the Security General said he believed Insull was still in Greece. There was a report that he might have taken refuge with the famous monks of Mt. Athos, where he probably could find haven.

ANSWERS ON PAGE THREE

BUSINESS IN GOOD CONDITION SAYS VISITOR

Business, generally speaking, is much improved, and can now make money, said A. S. Hickok, Toledo, O., president of the extensive Hickok Oil Corp., who is here for a few days to look over Hickok interests in this section.

"You in this country do not appear to have been as hard hit as the industrial centers up north," said he. "When automobile production slumped, Toledo and such centers as are directly dependent upon that production were hit hard and fast.

"But they have come back quickly, too. Automobile factories in the north are employing capacity forces and working capacity schedules. The own industrial group embraces 58 affiliated, employs 2,000 men and added 600 under the NRA. Its wage scales, he said, were already well above NRA limits.

"The more men we employ, the more cars there will be bought and the more gasoline and oil we will sell," he explained.

He does not believe that the 30-hour week will be realized in any but a few peculiarly situated industries which can afford it. "Industry cannot stand it. A 36-hour week, perhaps, indicating the probability of a compromise between the NRA and industrialists in general.

Of the NRA code formula:

"The present set-up puts business on a sounder footing where it can make money and employ more people. Before, this could not be done. Take steel, for instance. Before code operation steel companies were destructively underbidding each other, taking losses on their orders to get the business. Now, however, they are operating at a profit."

Oil Business Good

The oil business, he continued, is in sound condition, and the outlook is hopeful.

The Hickok companies operate principally in Ohio and Michigan. Automobile manufacturing is the dominant industrial enterprise in that area, while its state is counted a good barometer of general conditions. Mr. Hickok's statement that Detroit and Toledo, two cities most directly dependent upon automobile manufacture, had made the greatest comparative improvement in business conditions since the depression was taken to illustrate the trend toward better times the country over. He was told that local automobile agencies are having difficulty in securing cars to fill orders now on their books.

"That wouldn't have happened a year ago," he pointed out.

Mr. Hickok will be here for several days. Cisco is the headquarters for the operations of the Hickok interests in this part of the state. The Consolidated Gasoline company, a subsidiary, operates a number of gasoline extraction plants in this area and does much drilling. Mr. Ponder is superintendent of the Consolidated, in charge of all its operations.

Entomologists Are Winning Insect War

HOUSTON, March 15—Although outnumbered billions to one state entomologists are winning their fight against insects that destroy crops, attack livestock and carry disease.

Reports made here by members of the Texas Entomological Society revealed advancement on several lines against pests that have cost farmers of the southwest millions of dollars annually in products lost or damaged.

Cotton wilt and root rot have been traced to their distributing medium by Dr. J. J. Taubenhaus, plant pathologist of the Texas Agricultural Experiment station at College Station. Cotton wilt is positively a result of insect migration he said, but insects have nothing to do with root rot.

The pink cotton boll worm has been confined to West Texas, said Professor W. E. Hinds of Baton Rouge, Louisiana state entomologist and a past president of the American Society of Economic Entomologists. Centralized the worms can be controlled to the maximum good of the southwest cotton farmers, he said.

One of the greatest victories against the insects has been in Louisiana, Hinds said, where a treatment costing about $1 an acre has been developed to combat the sugar cane moth borer. By use of the treatment farmers have realized increased revenue of from $15 to $25 an acre, his report showed.

Rev. G. Birkman, 80, of Huffsouth is one of the oldest bug fighters in Texas. He became interested in entomology 50 years ago and has been active in that hobby in Texas for 46 years. He continued it through his service as a Lutheran minister in Lee county and during his 12 years since retirement.

'CRUDEST SORT' OF POLITICS IS MELLON REPLY

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 15—Andrew W. Mellon Monday charged Atty.-Gen. Homer S. Cummings with "politics of the crudest sort" in connection with Cummings' announcement that grand jury action on income tax charges would be sought against the former secretary of the treasury.

Mellon's statement was issued after Cummings had announced such action had been taken against the Pittsburgh millionaire, James Walker, former New York mayor, Thomas S. Lamont, partner in J. P. Morgan and company, and Thomas S. Dillo, prominent Cleveland attorney.

Mellon pointed out that he had paid $20,000,000 in income taxes in the past 20 years and declared that "I am as much in the dark as anyone as to any possible grounds" for the action.

Valley Asks Huge Irrigation Grant

HARLINGEN, March 15—A $4,000,000 federal grant has been asked for the construction of a gigantic network of canals and ditches to drain 2,069 square miles in the "Magic Valley" of the lower Rio Grande.

The drainage program calls for 491 miles of ditches, of which 351 miles would be in Hidalgo and Wilcox counties. The complete project would affect also Starr and Cameron counties.

Counties have agreed to furnish right-of-way and maintain the drainage system, including ditches, siphons, flumes and bridges, if the federal government can be persuaded to finance construction.

In Cameron county alone, through which many canals would lead surplus water to the gulf, approximately 200 acres will be needed for the 140 miles of ditches. Engineers have estimated the annual maintenance cost there at $14,000.

The project contemplates digging series of master ditches throughout the valley, into which lateral or feeder ditches would empty. Siphons or flumes would be used to conduct the waste water over or under existing irrigation canals.

The system would require the excavation of more than 19,000,000 cubic yards of earth, according to present plans.

The state legislature approved $15,000 for preliminary surveys and negotiations for federal aid that sum less than $3,000 had spent up until March.

ALL-BRAN RELIEVED HIS CONSTIPATION

Delicious Cereal Brought New Health to Mr. Bartholomew

We quote from his voluntary letter: "I had considerable trouble with my stomach. Digestion was out of the question. I got medicine which gave me only temporary relief.

"Then I thought of taking ALL-BRAN. I started eating a cereal dishful two or three times a day.

"It has been over a year now since I ate that first dish of bran, but from that day to this I have had the pleasure of enjoying the proper functioning of the digestive organs.

"Thanks to ALL-BRAN, I still eat it regularly and like it better all the time."—Lester Bartholomew, Cadillac, Mich.

Constipation is usually due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to promote elimination. ALL-BRAN supplies both, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Certainly this food is more natural than taking harmful patent medicines. Two tablespoonsful daily will usually overcome most types of constipation. With each meal in chronic cases, if not relieved this way, see your doctor.

"Spirits" Guide Aged Hand in Designing

ESHBASH, Pa., March 15 — A new form of "hex spirits" are working in Berks county, it appeared, with reports that Mrs. Elizabeth Spitzer, 71, is producing amazing, colorful designs through the guidance of "spirits."

Stranger than the fact that "spirits" move her hand and form the fantastic designs, is the knowledge that she never has had any artistic training.

Fifteen years ago she became a spiritualist.

"Shortly after that," she said, "I was sitting alone in the kitchen. My head started to buzz. I could feel around me in the air, things brushing my head. They were spirits good and bad, fighting for the upper hand.

"Something told me to take up a pencil I drew a curved line. Then my hand froze to the paper. I don't know how long I sat there. When the folks came home, I had the design done."

Since then the aged woman has drawn many other designs, some large and some small and all at the direction of the "spirits," she said.

Relics of Old Boat Are Found in Mud

DES MOINES, Iowa, March 15 — CWA workers, digging in the Des Moines river bed here recently uncovered the anchor and other metal fixtures of "The Golden Eagle," semi-legendary paddle-wheel steamer of the old river days.

The ancient 50-foot craft was constructed to make the run between Keokuk and Fort Dodge, but old timers recalled that the trip had never been made. Two things, or rather the lack of them, kept the "Golden Eagle" from taking flight—water and passengers.

If there was enough water in the river to float the boat, passengers invariably failed to show up. And the one or two times when the pride of the waterfront did have a full passenger list, the river resembled a mud flat.

Each Spring "Commodore" Viggers, the owner, repaired the boat in picturesque colors. A string christening also was held at each painting time. A crew was hired. The whistle was blown long and loud.

But it was no use. When there was water, there were no passengers; when there were passengers, there was no water. The "Golden Eagle" finally sank in 1914, and as completely forgotten until the recent discoveries.

ORGANISMS ARE FOUND TO LIVE AFTER "DEATH"

By JAMES F. WICKIZER
 Staff Correspondent
 Berkeley, Cal., March 15.—Life survives after "death." University of California scientists' experiments revealed today, and the organisms considered dead live under favorable conditions. Dr. Uber, research associate in the department of bacteriology, found a living death, he reported, which has three different stages: "post mortem" growth, "post mortem" growth, and "post mortem" growth. The organisms are often restored to life by application of a disinfectant. The application of a disinfectant has been found to infect guinea pigs with the disease. The prolonged growth of "dead" organisms in the university laboratory led Uber and others to believe "death" is an ambiguous term. Conditions favorable to life, he found that death is an indefinite state.

Dead to a Degree
 Dead cells are not brought back to life, Dr. Uber explained. "They only die to a certain degree and will still grow." Dr. D. R. Goddard have conducted experiments with X-rays on bakery mold cells. Bacteria, plants, reptiles and bacilli considered dead, when properly treated with the roots removed can be made to grow by the application of certain chemicals. Uber said, is the fact a "dead" cell will struggle for several hours, beheaded and skinned, the circulatory system will continue to pulsate for several hours, and that cells are continuing to grow that the snake is still growing.

X-radiating the spores of com-bakery mold, Uber and Goddard destroyed certain functions, but in some instances they destroyed the reproduction function. After apparently incapable of growing, the spores reproduced themselves. Scientists destroyed one of two nuclei contained in each of both of which had been believed necessary to growth, but the organism grew. Despite this, a complementary nucleus was added, the spore grew, but produced a mold of a different color.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma.

Success of a business is not measured by its output, but by the result in comparison with the investment and the expense of operation.

Benefits and profits are to be had by having good roads. Quick repairs are reflected in tourist traffic, gasoline and tire savings for vehicles, in increased prosperity of cities and towns, and in less other ways good roads pay themselves.

Merchants evidently think what is wrong for the public is right for them. They should be what they preach and buy.

Public should get fully informed on rates of public service and judge for themselves all the facts before them, and with justice and not through explanation of prejudiced advocates of government ownership who, chemists, could not sleep thought of the possible profit for people.

Your business is falling off, you step right out of the rut and use it by newspaper advertisements.

Don't place their in an enterprise that has no show a reasonable profit.

Carry good merchandise and use it to deal honorably, and squarely at all times with customers is the way to succeed in business.

"Peter Ibbetson," American Opera, To Be Sung In Metropolitan Series

Deems Taylor's Music Drama, With Brilliant Cast, To Be Presented at Matinee Performance.

Told By EDWARD JOHNSON

It is difficult for me to restrain my enthusiasm when speaking of Deems Taylor's opera "Peter Ibbetson" which is to be broadcast for the first time this Saturday afternoon by the Metropolitan Opera Association. The entire nation will have the opportunity to hear what I regard as America's most important contribution to the lyric drama of our time, an opera which, to say the least, compares favorably with the output of Europe since the war. Moreover, its success proves again that there is neither public nor private prejudice against the American composer. Let him "deliver the goods" as Deems Taylor has in this opera and the public will respond gratefully.

The fact that I was chosen to create the name-part has not unduly prejudiced me in its favor although I regard that as one of the real distinctions of my operatic career and I am certain my feeling about the opera is shared by Miss Bori, Miss Swarthout and Mr. Tibbett who created principal roles in it.

I can think of few operas that were studied with keener joy and greater satisfaction by the artists who were to sing them. Each of the principal characters is clearly drawn and each presents interesting problems: Mary, the Duchess of Towers, sung by Lucrezia Bori; Colonel Ibbetson, sung by Lawrence Tibbett; Mrs. Deane, sung by Gladys Swarthout; the ancient Major Duquesnois, sung by Leon Kothring; and Peter, himself, which I sing.

Opera Has Dramatic Plot
 The libretto is unusual. Based upon Constantine Collier's successful dramatization of George du Maurier's novel, it has a plot which is not only dramatic but is full of a fantasy as rare as it is exquisitely poetic. It follows the novel with astonishing fidelity and in the space here I can barely indicate the course of the story.

It has to do with the real life and the dream life of Peter Ibbetson. As a child he lived with his French father and English mother near Paris. There he was known as Gogo Pasquier and his beloved playmate was little Mimsey Seraskier.

After the death of his parents he was adopted by Colonel Ibbetson, a cousin of his mother, an arrogant and conceited man; brought to London and known as Peter Ibbetson.

Edward Johnson as Peter Ibbetson

Paris has become a dream of the past, peopled by his dear ones and particularly by Mimsey. She has been his only love and he believes that she is dead.

Years later he discovers her again in Mary, the lovely Duchess of Towers. She finds in him her beloved Gogo of whom she has dreamed; but the discovery comes too late. She belongs to another and they can meet only in their dreams which take them back to their happy childhood in Paris—then comes tragedy.

Colonel Ibbetson, a thorough scoundrel, false and cowardly, boasts that Peter's mother was his mistress and that Peter is his illegitimate son. Peter hears of it and in a violent quarrel with the older man strikes him with a cane, killing him.

The boy is sentenced to be hanged for murder but on the morning of the execution his sentence is commuted to life imprisonment. He rebels against this "life in death" until he receives a message from Mary saying that through all his life she will be with him in his dreams; that life is really just beginning for him.

Thirty years pass. In his cell in Newgate Prison Peter is dying. Word comes to him that Mary is dead. He sees his loved one's face hovering over his cot. He sinks into unconsciousness.

The back wall of his cell vanishes and there in the familiar park where they played together as children, Mary is waiting for him with outstretched arms. From the dead body rises the soul of Peter, the young Peter of thirty years ago. He goes to Mary, they stand enfolded in each other's arms. Death has united them.

It is all an exquisite fantasy which grips the imagination of the audience in the opera house as it does the reader of the novel; and this fantasy Mr. Taylor has clothed in a garment of most eloquent music.

Eighteen in Cast
 It is a continuous and melodious comment on the action, interrupted somewhat in the dream scenes with charming traditional French and also original folk tunes. Nor is Mr. Taylor's least achievement the success with which he has wedded the music to the English text. All of it is easily understood by the auditor.

Yet I advise the radio audience to follow closely the scene-by-scene description given in the broadcast. It will add much to the pleasure of the afternoon.

The opera is divided into three acts, with three scenes in the second act and four in the third. In the cast of the opera proper are eighteen characters. The artists who will appear in addition to the five I have already named are Ina Bourskaya, Angelo Bada, Louis d'Angelo, Giordano Paltrinieri, Phradie Wells, Grace Divine, Philine Faico, Eida Vettori, George Cehanowsky and Alfredo Gandolfi. In the dream scenes are George Cehanowsky, Dorothea Flexer, Helen Gleason, Betty Lou Knight and June Lockhart.

Naturally, the conductor will be Tullio Serafin who prepared the opera in the beginning and has conducted all of its performances. His enthusiasm and magnificent musicianship had much to do with "Peter Ibbetson's" success. The very difficult choruses were prepared by Giulio Selti.

ELECTROLUX SALES DRIVE BEGUN TODAY

Gas refrigeration, newest and most outstanding recent development in gas burning appliances, has materially altered the trend in automatic refrigeration sales in the past few months, according to H. L. Dyer, local gas company manager, who announced the beginning of the 1934 air-cooled Electrolux sales campaign today. Electrolux shipments to Texas in January were 3,000 per cent greater than for the same period last year, and February shipments were 30 per cent greater than January, he said.

Popularity of the gas refrigerator has spread rapidly since the new air-cooled type came on the market last spring and Mr. Dyer, expects 1934 sales to outstrip 1933 because of the many desirable features found only in this new gas refrigeration. A tiny gas flame replaces and does the work of approximately 200 to 300 pounds of moving machinery necessary on other types of automatic refrigeration, eliminating wear and consequent repairs and replacements. It functions silently, and there is no vibration, no irksome oiling of parts, and no radio interference, Mr. Dyer pointed out.

Operating cost, he said, is less than three cents a day. New 1934 features include interior lighting, rubber cube grids, and vegetable freshener.

The simplicity of operation which produces constant, steady cold is amazing to the laymen and fascinating to technicians. Vaporized by the tiny gas flame, a refrigerating fluid absorbs and removes the heat from inside the refrigerator. This leaves the interior devoid of heat and brings the temperature below fifty degrees where it remains constantly.

A COORDINATED AIR SYSTEM

A new aviation policy governing a coordinated system of military and commercial flying may be one of the results of the present airmail controversy. The administration has named a committee whose business it will be to make a thorough inquiry of the field of aviation, with particular emphasis upon the training, equipment and the ability of the army aviation corps to perform such a job as carrying the mails. During the Coolidge administration Brig. Gen. Mitchell, then commander of the army air corps was outspoken in criticism of the policies which governed the state and the development of aviation. He asserted that this important branch of the military service was being treated as an unpopular step-child and that the prejudices of old army men and of responsible officials were preventing its development. He said, in short words, that the army flying service was rotten, that it would not compare with the services of other leading nations and that something had to be done about the way things were being handled and moneys appropriated or the service would be disgraced. He was sharp in his criticism, and figuratively speaking, tread on tender toes in high places. They told him he was treading on these toes, that the treading was uncomfortable and "shushed" him loudly. He refused to be "shushed" and lost his job and his rank. The doughty advocate of a first class flying service is back in the picture. Officially, it seems, he has gained ears. It took the lives of ten fine young army fliers, and the resulting public opinion over the evident faults involved in such a state of affairs to do it. The administration lets it be known, however, that it will do nothing without due consideration. A committee of experts has been named to probe deeply into the situation, to discover the real facts in the case. The administration will await the report of this committee before taking any steps, rumors that Gen. Mitchell will head a new coordinated set-up to the contrary. Col. Charles Lindbergh, who recently conferred with Sec'y of War Dern, sent from the office of his attorney a refusal to serve on the committee after appointment was tendered by the secretary. The statement issued in the name of the colonel reiterated the arguments against the summary cancellation order which were contained in his earlier message of protest. It said the colonel could not serve on a committee the function of which is to "assist in following out" the army airmail carrying order. The colonel is the technical advisor of large commercial airlines. Coordination of all air services under a single bureau has been mentioned in connection with the administration's proposed inquiry. Keen minds can see revolutionary changes in that direction. Prudence and sound advice may counsel the distinguished young flier against attempting to serve two masters until he knows more about the masters.

WOMEN ASKED TO BOMBARD SENATORS

Members of the state federated clubs have been advised to get into warlike action by Mrs. Evelyn W. Taylor of Brownsville, their president. Sen. Morris Sheppard and Tom Connally have been selected as their targets. Mrs. Taylor has appealed to the women throughout the nation to urge a proposed amendment to the federal revenue law which "she said would deprive women citizens of Texas and seven other states of community property rights." In very recent years the supreme court of the United States ruled in favor of the women of the eight states.

There are 48 commonwealths. Now the women of the 40 without the pale may be asked to get busy by their senators and increase the revenues of the telegraph companies and the treasury of the United States postoffice department to counteract the effect of the appeal from the energetic woman who is president of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs.

STERLING P. STRONG AND HIS PIPELINE BILL

Cong. Sterling P. Strong of Dallas has introduced a bill to divorce oil pipelines from companies engaged in any other branch of the industry and to prohibit ownership of pipeline securities by any person owning securities in any other branch of the business. Sen. W. E. Borah, the lone eagle of the Rockies, has a similar measure pending. These bills would become effective Jan. 1, 1935—that is, if they go over the legislative top and are signed by the president.

Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson signed all three oil bills enacted by the special session lawmakers. It is said that these measures are to be enforced to the letter by the state railway commission if it requires 40,000 additional men to cover all the fields and enforce all provisions of the act. This is a year of political campaigning. Ross Sterling, while he held the reins of power, declared martial law in the east Texas field and sent soldiers there. He forced the price of crude from 15 to 90 cents. When primary election day rolled around by a scant margin Ross was on the outside looking in. All the close students of Texas politics predict many upheavals this year—and many new faces in the official picture gallery.

FAT STOCK SHOW SETS NEW RECORD

For years Fort Worth has been the headquarters of big packers as well as the cattlemen of Texas. For years and years the annual fat stock show and rodeo and horse shows have attracted thousands of visitors to the city known in bygone days as Pantherville. On opening day Saturday—March 10—holiday crowds totaling 30,000 swept through the gates shattering attendance records of the opening day of other years and set a new high record for the past six years. Cowmen and sheep men and goat men constitute a large army of Texas wealth makers and they never overlook or pass up this historic Southwestern exposition and cattle show. "There is a lot of life in the old land yet"—and in coming years there will be a lot of rich dividends for the Texas producers of meatstuffs and wool and mohair and hides.

WHAT IS THIS --- A GAME ?

Mayor La Guardia and His Job Insurance Plan

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD
Mayor F. H. La Guardia of Greater New York must be a human dynamo. He is always in the public prints. He is always for a mysterious individual he classifies "the underdog". He is ever shouting at the top of his voice that municipal governments are honeycombed with graft and waste and now he has evolved a plan for the establishment of a permanent program of unemployment insurance throughout the country to be financed by the employment tax. He outlined his proposal coincident with an announcement that he had been informed the federal civil works administration in New York was to be turned back to the New York city administration on April 1. He admitted that the federal administration cannot continue indefinitely to allocate $80,000,000 to $70,000,000 a week but declared the allowances "simply must continue until a new method has been placed into operation."

He insisted that part of the fund should be raised by a small tax of a few cents weekly from every person employed, regardless of the nature of employment or by whom employed. He advises that federal tax collected by federal agents should be turned over entirely to the localities or states where collections are made for the administration of the unemployment insurance system. Is the malady known as "mental pauperism" to become a condition of the mind of millions of Americans?
BIRTH CONTROL MOVEMENT GAINING GROUND
Report of an interesting survey by the Scripps foundation for research in population problems has been given to the American public. Gain in the population of the nation last year was estimated at 797,000. Population on Jan. 1, 1934 totaled 125,144,000, with a 6 per cent gain lower than any year since 1870. This is the prediction of the Scripps researchers: If population growth continues to become smaller as rapidly as during the last decade, it will cease entirely about 1940, when the country will have less than 130,000,000 inhabitants. The foundation figured births in 1933 at 2,268,000, a total of 110,000 lower than in 1932 and below any year since 1900. Deaths of 1,412,000 were about equal to a 25 year average. Departures from the United States exceeded arrivals by 41,000 last year, compared with 168,000 in 1932.

Margaret Eanger and her disciples are on the wing the country over. Perhaps poverty is responsible for birth control. Perhaps four years of depression has taught the lesson that quality instead of quantity is very desirable.
SHEARER PICKS DAVIS AND HUSSION
Gordon Shearer, a veteran correspondent, is said to possess the spirit of prophecy. He has picked John Davis, former state senator, as the successor of Col. Jed Adams as national committeeman and Edward Hussion of Houston as the successor of Maury Hughes as chairman of the state committee. John Davis was a state senator from Dallas county for years. He had a political run-in with the Ku Klux Klan. He retired as a lawmaker. He has been active in the politics of Dallas for many years. Years ago he was a candidate for the primary nomination of United States senator. He is a lawyer. In recent years he has been close to the Fergusons and represented the former governor and the governor in a land mortgage suit, winning a verdict for the defendant, District Judge W. M. Taylor of Dallas handed down the decision considered most important by wise lawyers and litigants as paving the way for a final ruling by the supreme court of the United States on moratorium laws of recent enactment.
All the political gossips the state over are coming to life again. The latest is that Sen. Margie Nell will not be a candidate for re-election but will be named the successor of Mrs. Hal Sevier as national committeewoman for Texas. Sarah T. Taylor of Dallas may go to the senate from Dallas county. James J. Collins, a young lawyer and democrat, has announced for her place as representative and pledges enthusiastic support to Mrs. Hughes should she go before the people of Dallas county as a candidate for the post now held by George Puri.
Edward Hussion is the head of a big printing establishment, secretary to the senate committee, member of the state committee and a never-say-die follower of James E. Ferguson. Of course, "even in politics there is many a slip betwixt the cup and the lip."

dishing out employment with a large spoon, the business was good. Few were the weeks that passed without the appearance of at least one bashful groom with a jingle in his pockets that just recently was to-be on his arm.
Today, however, there are no jingles and no brides. Times ain't what they used to be. This CWA shutdown has ruined the marriage business," complained the Justice.
All of which goes to prove that modern love is not an edible commodity. Romance must be lubricated with dollars. Gone is the time when "love and affection" would buy a honeymoon. In this day and time when they are appointing women to federal appellate judgeships and president's cabinets, the sex is becoming economically wise in their own right. They have learned that it is just as easy to start loving a mate with money as to stop loving one that doesn't have the necessary cash.
The Justice is not the only one to mourn the state of departed matrimonial enouragement. His official witnesses have also developed a nostalgia on the subject. The justices never shared any of his dividends with the pair, but Henry Stuebli and W. F. Evans, day and night desk sergeants, respectively, rather liked the romantic job of legally attesting to the security of the knot that he tied.
Wyatt Jacobs, of John H. Garner's department store, confined to his home with illness for a long while, is back on the job, feeling fit and fat.
Mrs. M. Rominger, assistant city secretary, provides this as her currently favorite joke:
Picture of a mother pointing to a statue of the Venus de Milo and saying to her awed little boy: "See, that's what comes of eating on your fingernails."
In a joke book I read this:
Said One Art Student to Another Art Student: "These old Greeks certainly knew their art."
Said Another Art Student to One Art Student: "Yes, that's the reason they buried it."
The action of the city commission Tuesday night in disregarding petitions proposing three more names as candidates for city commissioners and refusing to add these names to the city ballot which had already been ordered printed, will of course stir up differing opinions. The action may lead to litigation in an effort to decide the issue by forcing the commission to reprint the ballot and add the names of the three new candidates.

The commission based its action upon a law passed by the state legislature in 1933 requiring the ballot to be ready for absentee voting 20 days prior to the election. Wednesday was the 20th day and the commission Monday had ordered the ticket closed and the ballots printed to be ready in time.
Whether the commission was right or wrong in its interpretation, I do not know. I suppose no one knows for certain whether its interpretation is correct. A court decision would likely be required to determine it.
If it is right, then the opposing ticket has itself to blame for delaying its organization. Unfortunately however, right or wrong, the action lays the commission open to criticism at least on a partisan basis. I wish that the situation had not arisen. It would have made the election more pleasant, and saved a great deal of unnecessary talk.

Texas Topics

By RAYMOND BROOKS

HOUSTON, March 15—The democratic state executive committee will fight out the battle in a meeting in Houston March 24. The prizes will be the party jobs of national committeeman, national committeewoman, state chairman, and possible secretary of the state committee. Sec'y-Member Ed Hussion has telegraphed all state committee members asking them not to give anybody their proxies, but to come in person to the meeting which the retiring Chmn. Maury Hughes has called.

Both Hughes and C. C. McDonald are out of the running for national committeeman, because they both are in the race for governor.

What A. T. & T. means to your Telephone service

(American Telephone & Telegraph Company)

Good service at fair cost is the aim. The men and women who furnish your telephone service here could not do that job so well without the help of American Bell and Telegraph Company, parent company of the Bell System.

Operating Methods are Improved
If a better way of doing a job gives better telephone service on the Pacific Coast, it may work equally well in the cities and towns of this state. A. T. & T. staff experts and engineers search constantly for these economies and improvements... test them... study them. The perfected result is offered to aid the 24 Bell operating companies give a nation-wide telephone service, uniformly good and fair in cost.

Construction Projects are Financed
To give good service, millions are spent each year to keep pace with the public's constantly changing demand for telephone service. Instead of obtaining the funds for scores of such projects individually, the operating companies bring their problems to A. T. & T., where the combined projects are financed on a nation-wide basis at substantial savings in interest rates and financing costs.

Faster Long Distance Service
Nation-wide long distance service, fast and dependable, would be almost impossible without the long distance lines operated by A. T. & T., which owns and maintains the trunk lines that link the territories of the operating companies.

FOR YOU... Good Service at Fair Cost

THE many services of which these are typical, mean an actual saving of millions of dollars to the operating companies... and to telephone users. For the telephone service is planned for the long pull, and such savings have for more than 50 years been devoted not to swelling profits, but to hold low the cost of good service to the telephone user.
This policy springs, in a sense, from self-interest, since it is based upon the belief that what is best for the telephone user is in the end the policy that will bring us the surer, more enduring measure of success.

Accuses Brown

Former operator of an air route between Pittsburgh and Cleveland, Clifford Ball is pictured before the Senate mail contract investigating committee as amplified his statement that former Postmaster General Walter F. Brown forced him to sell out to Pittsburgh Aviation Industries, Inc.

refreshment stand from the capitol the drug store has been a popular resort and incidentally a mint to its proprietors. Early re-opening has been promised.

Defeat of the emergency appropriation bill before the recent session of the state legislature left state ranger with little funds for their pursuit of bandits. Under the existing appropriation a ranger is allowed mileage for using his own automobile in his work. But he is limited to 500 miles a month. Bank robbers and bandits frequently travel that distance in a day. The ranger pursuing would have to stop at a 500 miles or pay his own expense. If he overlook the bandits and shot it out with them he would have to pay for his own ammunition. If he should be killed the state might pay his funeral expense.

An inspection of correspondents stationed at the state capitol for newspapers and news associations reveals that all of them have closely clipped hair. There is, accordingly, much speculation about whom former Governor James E. Ferguson had in mind when he referred in his forum to "long, bushy-headed, back-down newspaper writers."

Utility legislation seems to be under a particularly unlucky star at Austin. To so acts to let small communities regulate utility rates have been found faulty. The state supreme court found that one did not provide the same thing in its caption and in its body, a fatal error. When a new act was passed at the recent special session of the legislature to replace the one held invalid, the governor discovered that it had been drawn to amend the wrong act. Its approval, she said, would have placed contradictory laws on the statute book.

The secret is out why the state senate puts on an air of superiority to the house of representatives. Spillovers are barred in the senate. They are plentiful in the house. Nor is their senate absence due merely to courtesy because of a woman member. There have been several women members in the house. Poth permit smoking, Senate attendances requires a coat. Shirt-sleeves are seen in the house on warm days of a session.

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

BY GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, March 15 — Col. Ernest O. Thompson, member of the state railroad commission, who has had frequent fits with federal oil administrators, charges that the proposed federal petroleum tax at the well is not a revenue measure but an attempt to put federal inspectors at Texas oil wells. The federal courts recently held that SHEARER federal inspectors should not be put at the wells directly to control production as that was a state function.

"Texas now has ample law to control oil production," said Col. Thompson. "History shows that once you turn a bit of authority over to the federal government, it never is released but steadily increased." He cited the history of railroad rate regulation and continued:

"The federal government already has about taken all our rates power, even within the state. As governments grow powerful as they broaden and expand in territory and influence so that administration ceases to be personal and becomes bureaucratic, those who administer it tend to become more and more impatient of limitations. They come to regard themselves not only as executors but as the sources of power, and then they boldly defy limitations."

Get a 25 cent box of BU-KETS, the bladder laxative, from any drug store. After four days if you are not relieved of getting up nights go back and get your money. BU-KETS, containing buchu leaves, juniper oil, etc., acts pleasantly and effectively on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. If you are bothered with backache, or leg pains caused from bladder disorders you are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep.—Adv.

REVIVALS HELD BY 'TOUGH BOY' IN HOME TOWN

CARTERSVILLE, Ill., March 15.—Corum McGee, who had a particular inclination to disturb congregations at a church near his home, returned here recently to convert Grassy Precinct, one of the toughest places in "Bloody Williamson" county.

McGee is carrying out his efforts from the pulpit of the church whose congregation once sent him to prison for 11 months for burning the church organ.

McGee has been conducting revival meetings here for several weeks a short distance from his home.

Frequently referring to his escapades, McGee says he is "taking the kinks" out of Grassy Precinct, which has contributed its share of giving "Bloody Williamson" county its gory nickname.

Open Confession

Open confession became common among the converts after one man stood near the pulpit in the little church and cleared up an old mystery. He shouted that he burned down a neighbor's house. The neighbor, attending the same revival meeting, stood up in the center of the crowded church and publicly told the confessor, "It's all right; just forget about it."

Another confessed a series of thefts, and many family grudges were settled by forgiveness.

McGee frequently tells his congregation of his earlier escapades which disturb the peace of the church.

On one occasion he and others threw watermelon rinds through the church windows (scattering the congregation). One time, McGee said, while he was seated in church a bird perched in an open window. McGee took a revolver from his pocket and shot at the bird. One of

T. & P. Will Operate Special Race Trains

The Texas and Pacific railway, whose double track main line between Dallas and Fort Worth runs just across the street from Arlington Downs, announced today that arrangements had been made to operate a passenger train from Dallas to Arlington Downs and return, also from Fort Worth to Arlington Downs and return daily during the period of the fourth-coming spring meet, that is March 29 to April 21. The special train will leave Dallas daily at 1:25 p. m., and arrive Arlington Downs 1:45 p. m. Special train returning will leave Arlington Downs twenty minutes after the last race.

Special train from Fort Worth will leave Fort Worth at 1:30 p. m., and arrive Arlington Downs 1:50 p. m., or 25 minutes before first race, and will return 20 minutes after the last race.

Arrangements have been made with Mr. Buckner, of the Dallas Union Terminal, to load and unload the special train in the Dallas passenger station through the Jackson street entrance, so that it will not be necessary to go through the passenger station in either direction. A special ticket selling booth will be placed at the Jackson street entrance and, of course, tickets will also be sold in the passenger depot also the T&P city ticket office at 1408 Main street. The round trip rate will be 50 cents from both Dallas and Fort Worth to Arlington Downs and return; half fare for children.

The Texas and Pacific railway is spending considerable money for a loading platform at Arlington Downs, which will be right in front of the grandstand, which is approximately 100 yards from the train, and this location will, of course, be more accessible to the grandstand than practically two-thirds of the parking space on the grounds for parking of automobiles.

Not like others..

NO two people in the world look alike... act alike. So it is with tobacco... just like folks.

No two leaves are the same. And it's the same with cigarettes... no two brands are alike.

Furthermore, not only are the tobaccos different, but the way the tobaccos are handled is different.

This, you can understand. You know just as well as we do that no two manufacturers use the same kinds of tobaccos, or blend them or cross-blend them or weld them together in the same manner.

BAILEY UNABLE TO VOTE TO PAY BONUS, HE SAYS

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 15.—Explaining that while he believed the payment of the bonus would be both just and beneficial to the recovery program, Jos. W. Bailey, Jr., representative-at-large from Texas, said he would be unable to vote for it at this time because of the present attitude and the refusal of the democratic convention to adopt a plank of that character. Bailey will be a candidate for the democratic nomination for the United States senate in next summer's primaries. His statement follows:

"I have felt that because the democratic convention at Chicago refused to adopt a plank calling for payment of the bonus and, further, because the great leader of our party, Mr. Roosevelt, has taken an attitude contrary to its passage, that I was bound not to vote for that bill. That seems to me to have been the promise which the democratic party made to the people and as I heartily endorse that platform, and that leadership that promise binds me."

Expanding Large Sums
"Since that time, however, the administration has undertaken an enormous program of expenditures to restore prosperity: $5,000,000,000 to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; $3,000,000,000 to the public works administration; $2,000,000,000 to the federal relief; $2,000,000,000 to the home owners; $2,000,000,000 for farm mortgages. Additional demands are continually being made and all of this has been done in accordance with the theory that such expenditures contribute to the general prosperity of all."

"If we are going to be just, how can we deny to do for every one what we have done for any one? How can we give to anyone and not give to everyone? We must stop all aid or we must aid all our people."

Favors Paying Bonus
"I have therefore, after mature study, reached the conclusion: that the payment of the adjusted service certificates would not only be just to the soldiers, but would do more than all else to restore prosperity. Many soldiers are in need, many would be removed from the relief rolls, and in addition many debts would be paid, many necessities bought, and much needed currency would be put in circulation for the benefit of merchants and all lines of business. Despite these considerations, however, I can not break my election promise at this time."

"I am now a candidate before the people of the state of Texas this summer for the nomination of the senator representing that great State. My opponent has consistently refused to favor the payment of these certificates. In the election this summer I shall discuss this question and mother, Mr. and Mrs. C. Pippens Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Haden visited Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gage Reich Friday. Joe and Misses Loraine and Donaway were in Eastland Sunday."

DESDEMONA

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Heeter were among the number of Desdemona people who spent the week-end in Fort Worth at the Fat Stock show. Frank Gee and family left Friday for their new home at Van in the east Texas oil fields. Mr. and Mrs. Gee have lived here since boom days and have been interested in everything that was for the good of our town and they will be greatly missed by their large number of friends, all of whom wish them happiness in their new home.

Mrs. P. L. McBride of San Angelo, Mrs. G. W. Troxell and her daughter, Mrs. R. V. Logan of Cisco, visited Mrs. Betty Vestal for a short time at her home with them to Cisco where she is spending a week with Mrs. Troxell and family and her aunt, Mrs. D. K. Scott.

Chris Moss of Lingleville, visited friends here on Tuesday night of last week. On Thursday afternoon about 4 o'clock, fire broke out in the roof of the club house of the Wednesday Afternoon Bridge club. A large number of ladies were in the building at the time, enjoying the popular game. When it was discovered the fire had already burned a good part of the shingle roof and the rafters were nearly ready to fall. The ladies grabbed card tables and chairs and got out quickly but not any too soon as the roof soon fell. Mrs. C. B. Wood who recently moved to Rising Star, had come back to attend the meeting and to fill her place as hostess for that afternoon. Mrs. Plummer Ashburn and Mrs. Claude Lee had kindly let Mrs. Wood use their silver spoons and forks for the party and they lost all of them. All of the china were belonging to the club was burned besides their pictures, curtains etc. and there was no insurance on the building or furniture. The members have the sympathy of the community in their loss of the building and furniture.

Ralph Ludwick drove up to Breckenridge Friday afternoon and met his wife and baby son, Jack, who had been visiting her mother at Burkburnett. Their many friends are glad to welcome them back to Desdemona. They are occupying the house near the Stanoind plant that is known as the Earl Lane house but which has been occupied several months by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson.

John Arnold and family attended the stock show at Fort Worth Saturday and Sunday. Other Desdemona people who were there were Mr. and Mrs. Andy Huffman, Mr. and Mrs. Paris Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Lee and little daughter and Miss Betty Lawrence and Mrs. Plummer Ashburn and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Parks and daughter, Gaynell.

T. H. Douglass of Fort Worth was in Desdemona and the people can choose between the arguments presented. Accordingly, I shall thereafter feel free to vote my convictions on that subject after that election."

Perhaps the best type of machine ever built for moistening tobacco. Recently perfected from a model built in our factory and now used in the manufacture of Chesterfield Cigarettes.

This picture shows the machines used to remove the stems from Chesterfield tobaccos.

THIS most modern way of moistening tobacco for stemming—first used in the manufacture of Chesterfields—opens up the pores and puts the tobacco in condition to remove the stems.

The tobacco is put into the wire baskets stems down and enters the long steel ovens where the steam comes up from below, softening the stems without wetting the rest of the leaf. The stems are removed by stemming machines of the latest type. Everything that modern science knows about, or money can buy, that can make a milder cigarette, a cigarette that tastes better, is used in making Chesterfield.

WELLS TO BE DRILLED NEAR CISCO LIMITS

Announcement Saturday that contracts had been signed for drilling four deep wells on tracts adjacent to the north and east limits of Cisco, signalled what operators here considered the most important oil development transaction near Cisco in several years.

Three wells are involved in one agreement between the Lone Star Gasoline company and the Lone Star Petroleum company and four Cisco oil wells. E. J. Keough, J. M. Kearney, Luther McCrea and J. A. Harman, the Lone Star people, are the three wells on leases owned by them. The three are to be drilled each about one-quarter of a mile from Bearman's Kincaid well completed in 1929, within a stone's throw of the city limits, and still a commercial producer. Digging calls are moving in rigs is under way.

Locations

The locations are:

The Kincaid tract and located on the south part of the east half of the southwest quarter of section 81; on the Kincaid tract and located on the south part of the east half of the northwest quarter of section 80;

On the Phillips tract and located on the north part of the west half of the northwest quarter of section 80;

The Humble Oil and Refining company retains an interest in the three wells, it was also announced.

A fourth well is to be drilled by the Consolidated Gasoline company and the Charles J. Kleiner tract and located in the east part of section 81. The well is being drilled to the west of the Bearman Kincaid well.

The area thus to be drilled is about a mile and a half of what is known as the East Cisco field. The wells are in a semi-proven area where five wells are now producing gas. The contract calls for the drilling of three to a depth of 3000 feet to thoroughly test out the sand from which the wells already drilled are producing. Its gas is about 200 feet.

Old Wells

These completed wells are located on the C. H. Fee, the George Fee, the Caddo Martin, and Lula Paschall tracts. The first three are oil producers and the last two are gas wells.

All men believe that one result of these new operations will be to meet up the east and north Cisco wells and the gas and oil producing several miles north on the Bluefield land and beyond Lake Co. In the event that the trend established in that direction it is expected the industry will respond in important play. It is considered significant that during the past few weeks several hundreds of acres have been purchased at prices considerably higher than have been paid in several years.

Clark Well

Meanwhile the results of drilling the Wm. Lorenzen Clark No. 1 well, Putnam are eagerly awaited, as well, having found production of the Caddo gray lime at around 3000 feet, will be treated with acid. The shot will be used, it was said last week. The cement has been set and the plug will be drilled within the next few days. Production of both oil and gas in commercial quantities is assured.

This well, which has proved the extent of the gray lime formation underlying the southern and western portion of Callahan county is a series of parallel highs, is expected to open up to commercial production a wide new territory near Cisco.

DR. HUNT, NOTED EDUCATOR AND PREACHER, DIES

ABILENE, March 15 — Funeral services were held for Dr. James Winford Hunt, almost 59, founder and president of McMurry college, Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The noted church leader and educator succumbed at his home here Sunday night to an apoplectic attack which followed a period of heart trouble. He died shortly after 8 o'clock.

The services were held at the St. Paul Methodist church here. They were conducted by Dr. O. P. Clark, pastor and Bishop Hiram A. Boaz, presiding officer of the Northwest Texas conference. From 10 a. m. until the hour of the funeral the body lay in state in the chapel of McMurry college. Fallbearers were members of the faculty of the school.

Born in Resurrection

One of nine children, James Winford Hunt was born July 9, 1875, on the Kaw reservation, Indian territory, where his father, Dr. William Hunt, a United States physician, had been sent to minister to the Kaw, Osage, Nezeperse and Ponkaw tribes of Indians.

At the age of five years, he moved with his parents to Estacado, in what is now Crosby county, the family becoming a part of the colony of Friends—Quakers—who founded and built the town. He was reared there, and in 1893 was graduated from the Central Plains college, the Estacado school established by the Quakers and the first Plains' venture in higher education.

As a boy of 17, Hunt went to Denver to learn the printers' trade. However, he was there only a short time, for it was the great panic year, 1893, and repeal of the Sherman silver act closed every mine in Colorado. He drifted back to the Plains, went to work for Royce C. Burns, foreman of the Iowa cattle company ranch in Lubbock county, and shortly afterward bought the Texas Press of Estacado. He then acquired the Leader at Lubbock combined them and edited and published the Press-Leader. Petitioned by residents of Plainview, he moved his plant there and restored the name of the Texan Press.

Says Texans Have Food for Thirty Days

AUSTIN, March 15—By the use of surplus commodities, Texas families will be enabled to go at least 30 days without feeling the pinch of hunger, with CWA labor cut off May 1, an announcement from state relief headquarters here said.

Figures released by Dir. C. Z. Crain, federal surplus commodity division, with the statement show that an average 18,000,000 pounds of food has come to Texas monthly since the beginning of surplus food distribution. It is estimated that 30,000,000 pounds will arrive in March.

Turned to Ministry

Loss of his parents in 1903 — his mother had long prayed for him to be a preacher—turned J. W. Hunt to his final work—the ministry. He sold his Plainview plant, and as a circuit rider covered six counties north of the Canadian river for two years. In 1906, he was licensed by the Methodist church to preach at Plainview, and successively became pastor at Dumas, Channing, Snyder and St. Paul Methodist church, Abilene.

Stamford President

In 1916, Dr. Hunt went into educational work for the first time, accepting the presidency of Stamford college then the Methodist institution of the Northwest Texas Methodist conference. In 1918, he was returned to St. Paul church here remaining as its pastor until the latter part of 1921.

INJUNCTION OF RISING STAR IS DENIED GAS CO.

ABILENE, March 15.—In a ruling handed down here, Federal Judge James C. Wilson last week denied application of the Southern Gas Co. for an injunction restraining the city of Rising Star from putting in a natural gas distributing plant in competition with it. The ruling held that the franchise granted by the city to the gas company did not and could not legally grant an exclusive right, and therefore the city ordinance providing for a municipal system did not constitute impairment of the company's contract with the city.

The company admitted in its petition that its franchise did not grant it exclusive rights so far as competition with other companies was concerned, but it attacked the right of the municipality itself to enter the field in competition with it "under favored circumstances."

The plaintiff allegation that its property was being taken from it without due process of law was held as not substantial because nothing was shown to allege or prove that the business of the private company was being taken from it by acts of the city that are unlawful, unwarranted or violative of the rights of the plaintiff.

GUN TRAPS MURDEROUS
HARRISBURG, Pa., March 15.—The menace to human beings by gun traps was stressed by the Pennsylvania game board. Three men hunting quail had a dog killed and narrowly escaped being wounded themselves when the animal stepped on a wire attached to a shotgun trap. Upon searching the vicinity, three gun traps were discovered. Two were baited with meat and one had a wire strung along the full length of a log. The man responsible for the setting of the traps was sentenced to three months in the county jail.

Home Demonstration Club News

By MISS RUTH RAMEY
Co. Home Dem. Agent

Canning Pecans
Mrs. Henry Capers, farm food supply cooperator of the Bass Lake home demonstration clubs, recommends the following method for preserving surplus pecans to be used in the summer months. Pecans left in the hull will get old during the summer months and before the next season.

Use pint jars (clamp style). Wash jars and put in pan of water and bring to boil. Wipe jars entirely dry. Shell and sort pecans set in stove and heat but do not scorch. Fill jars within 1 inch of top; crush one sheet of parchment (butter) paper and put in top of jar. Partially seal jar, set in pressure cooker. After steam begins coming out, start counting time and leave in 7 minutes. Then close pet cock and bring to 5 pounds pressure. Release pressure immediately, remove jar from cooker and completely seal. Set in cool place.

The Cutting Bed
Hollow cement tile used for cutting beds by yard demonstrators of the home demonstration clubs has been satisfactory during the dry months of the year. The tile placed one foot in the ground furnished water to the roots of the plants. This water gradually comes through where the tile is placed end to end and the water spreads one and one half feet up and out. The beds are made six by ten feet and approximately three hundred cuttings can be rooted at one time. Mrs. Louis Pitcock, yard demonstrator of the Ranger Co-Workers club, Ranger, reports the bed finished and 100 cuttings out. These plants are to be used in the planting of her yard and the yards of the cooperators of the club.

Cisco West Ward Rhythm Band Takes First Place in County Contest Over Four Others

The west ward Rhythm band, 42 second and third graders in smart red and white uniforms, captured the county rhythm band contest at Eastland Saturday from four other competing bands. With drums and triangles, cymbals and other simple instruments, the youngsters, organized by Miss Attie Stevens and accompanied at the piano by Miss Ora Howell, expressed the rhythmic phrases of three compositions with a unity and controlled cadence that won them a clear recognition over the field.

They defeated bands from Ranger, which took second; Eastland, which took third; Rising Star and Oiden.

Little Miss Patty Jean Boyd waved the baton over the Lilliputian Cisco orchestra.

The three compositions of which their renditions were adjudged the best were "The March of the Brigands," Paul Valdemar; "La Chantaine" by Louis Ganne, and "The Dairdrie" by Fratrikin.

Organized Two Years

The west ward band has been in existence two years. It was the result of the desire of Miss Stephens to provide her primary department youngsters with a project of school interest with aesthetic value in surrounding the children in a rudimentary knowledge of music. Capable and essential assistance has been rendered by Miss Howell in supplying instruction in music and accompanying.

Roy Miller, Corpus Christi and Houston, is the pick of many prominent democrats for national committeeman, but it is not believed he will either seek or accept the post. He is connected with waterway and sulphur interests which must deal with governmental agencies. His acceptance of the national committeemanship would be contrary to the Roosevelt policy, unless he withdrew from these activities.

Miller's outstanding success at the head of the Texas committee which aided the national campaign for Roosevelt and Garner emphasized his qualification for national committeeman and politically entitles him to the honor should he desire it.

Senator Margie Neal, Carthage, who has announced that she will not seek re-election to the legislature, is mentioned as likely to succeed Mrs. Clara Driscoll Sevier, as national committeewoman from Texas.

Entrances of C. C. McDonald and Maury Hughes into the governor's race, eliminate both of them as possible national committee members' though their one-time rivalry for the place is popularly believed to have caused the long delay in acceptance of Adams' resignation which was tendered last May.

"Dallas Gossip"
Former Gov. James E. Ferguson quotes as "Dallas gossip" that the national administration is being lined up to support Hughes in the run-off primary of the governor's race. McDonald, the Ferguson-approved candidate, continues his hamlet-campaign. His itinerary this week included 38 places. He took advantage of the rains which stopped farm work, to meet the farmers in the country stores. End of the legislative session has turned Sen. Roy Sanderford loose to take up active work as McDonald's campaign manager. He began with a restaurant-dinner for the newspapermen.

Hughes, during the week visited Temple, former home of the Governors Ferguson, and took occasion to say there that he was not trying to ride into the office on the coat tail of any man.

Lem H. Middleton, Fort Worth contractor, added a note of interest to the week's campaigning with an estimate of how his opponents for governor are running. He omitted Lieut. Gov. Edgar E. Witt. His poll shown himself leading and McDonald, Alfred, Hunter, Hughes, Small, Russell and Terrell trailing him in that order. He claims 38,500 Middleton club members.

ADMIRAL
Miss Etta Belle Smith and Herbert Sumner both of Admiral, were married Saturday night. Mrs. Sumners is the daughter of Mrs. Clark Smith. The groom is a grandson of Mrs. R. C. Dawkins. Their many friends wish for them long and happy lives.

On Sept. 23, 1884, she was married to G. W. Black. She died March 19, 1934. Mrs. Black was a member of the Missionary Baptist church and had been for years. She leaves her husband, two sons, J. R. Black of Abilene and Oscar Black of Baird, one sister, Mrs. Willie Boen of Rowden;

DAVIS PICKED AS LEADER FOR ADAMS PLACE

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, March 15.—Former State Senator John Davis, Dallas, is picked here as probable choice for Texas member of the democratic national committee to succeed J. C. Adams, also of Dallas.

The chairmanship of the state democratic executive committee is expected to fall upon Ed Husson, Houston, present secretary of that committee.

Both "pickings" are based upon the conclusion that Ferguson forces still are in control of the state democratic committee.

Davis recently represented the Governors Ferguson in land litigation at Dallas. He has been a loyal Ferguson supporter and was for a time considered their possible choice for state highway commissioner.

Husson, too, is an ardent Ferguson supporter and an active ally of the governor on the state relief commission. He recently went to Washington for the administration to gather first hand information on the political situation.

Miller Possibility
Roy Miller, Corpus Christi and Houston, is the pick of many prominent democrats for national committeeman, but it is not believed he will either seek or accept the post. He is connected with waterway and sulphur interests which must deal with governmental agencies. His acceptance of the national committeemanship would be contrary to the Roosevelt policy, unless he withdrew from these activities.

Miller's outstanding success at the head of the Texas committee which aided the national campaign for Roosevelt and Garner emphasized his qualification for national committeeman and politically entitles him to the honor should he desire it.

Senator Margie Neal, Carthage, who has announced that she will not seek re-election to the legislature, is mentioned as likely to succeed Mrs. Clara Driscoll Sevier, as national committeewoman from Texas.

Entrances of C. C. McDonald and Maury Hughes into the governor's race, eliminate both of them as possible national committee members' though their one-time rivalry for the place is popularly believed to have caused the long delay in acceptance of Adams' resignation which was tendered last May.

"Dallas Gossip"
Former Gov. James E. Ferguson quotes as "Dallas gossip" that the national administration is being lined up to support Hughes in the run-off primary of the governor's race. McDonald, the Ferguson-approved candidate, continues his hamlet-campaign. His itinerary this week included 38 places. He took advantage of the rains which stopped farm work, to meet the farmers in the country stores. End of the legislative session has turned Sen. Roy Sanderford loose to take up active work as McDonald's campaign manager. He began with a restaurant-dinner for the newspapermen.

Hughes, during the week visited Temple, former home of the Governors Ferguson, and took occasion to say there that he was not trying to ride into the office on the coat tail of any man.

Lem H. Middleton, Fort Worth contractor, added a note of interest to the week's campaigning with an estimate of how his opponents for governor are running. He omitted Lieut. Gov. Edgar E. Witt. His poll shown himself leading and McDonald, Alfred, Hunter, Hughes, Small, Russell and Terrell trailing him in that order. He claims 38,500 Middleton club members.
