(By GORDON K SHEARER) United Press Staff Correspondent AUSTIN, April 9 — For the first time in many state campaigns there is no candidate for governor from south, southeast or southwest Texas.

ALLRED CALLS FOR 'NEW DEAL' OFF 'NEW DECK'

BOWIE, April 9 — Attorney-general James V. Allred opened his campaign for governor of Texas here today with a call for a "new deal off a new deck."

'Red Plot' Catechism Ready for Dr. Wirt

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 9. — A "red" plot catechism directed at Dr. Wm. Wirt, Gary, Ind., school superintendent, was submitted today to the house investigating committee before which the educator is to appear within 24 hours to name communist members of the Roosevelt "brain trust."

Dorenfield Seated By Relief Comm'n

AUSTIN, April 9 — Col. Julius Dorenfield, Amarillo, was seated as a member of the state relief commission by a four to three vote today, after Speaker Coke Stevenson had removed Commissioner R. L. Holliday, El Paso, and appointed Dorenfield in his stead.

ELKINS LIKELY BRITISH TRACK TEAM MEMBER

By H. L. PERCY United Press Staff Correspondent LONDON, April 9 — There probably will be three Americans, a New Zealander, a Turk, a South African and an Australian in the combined Oxford and Cambridge track and field team which meets Princeton and Cornell, on the White City track here, July 21.

Real Estate Reacts To Growing Demand

Copyright 1934 by United Press) Real estate, knocked out by the depression, is rapidly regaining confidence in many of the country's big cities to cope with housing demands that range from an individual demand for better grades to actual shortage of modest homes and apartments, a United States survey disclosed.

AAA EXPLAINS PLAN TO SOLVE MILK PROBLEM

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 9. — Production control proposals submitted to the dairy industry by the farm administration are intended to prevent "extreme demoralization" in the industry and not to create an artificial shortage, administrators asserted in an appeal for national support of the plan.

Report Forms Are Placed at C. of C. Office

Forms for use in filing reports of crude oil runs in accordance with recent orders of the Texas Railroad commission, issued under the law passed by the last session of the legislature, may be obtained at the chamber of commerce, Oil and Gas Supervisor Omar Burkett said today.

Illinois Primary Is Political Wind-Straw

CHICAGO, April 9 — Illinois voters ballot tomorrow in a primary election which may produce the first indications at the polls of how the public looks upon the national re-election program and the democratic administration which it swept into office two years ago.

Janitor, Who Escorted Sleepy Intruder From School, Not Frightened Until Later

Every time M. H. Spoon, janitor of the east ward school, reflects upon the fact that the stranger might have shot him, he shivers. But last night, escorting the intruder down the two flights of stairs in the school building and demanding of him an explanation as to how he got into the building, he was quite calm about it. The stranger was humble enough, Spoon had no weapon when between 11:30 and 12 o'clock midnight he was awakened by the grating of the knob on the door of his third-floor room.

STEREOTYPICIAN AID

BRECKENRIDGE, April 9 — Hilton Bybee, under 25-year sentence in connection with a filling station holdup near Woodson, was in the Stephens county jail here today awaiting transfer to the state penitentiary.

Galveston Open

Galveston, a few miles away, also is open territory for the north Texas candidates for governor. They must tread softly there, however. Local factions make it inadvisable for a candidate to be backed too strongly by either. If one side is very strong for a candidate the other is likely to be against him. Galveston, too, furnished an assistant for Allred's department.

JESUS SAID: And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me.—John 12:32.

CHANGES THAT SHOULD BE MADE

Four years ago State Supt. Marrs in a report to the legislative committees on education showed that for the current scholastic year the apportionment would have exceeded $20 had the distribution of per capita school funds been made "on the basis of attendance instead of the per capita system."

The present crisis in our educational program has served at least one wholesome purpose. It has accentuated the need for a complete revision of our obsolete and inequitable method of distribution state available school funds—a system that affords no absolute guarantee that the funds apportioned to the various counties and school units of the state will serve the purpose for which they were appropriated.

There will be work for the lawmakers of the new legislature to convene under the big dome of the capital in the month of January, 1935. The voters of Texas, the taxpayers of Texas, should come out of their trance.

SENATORS VOTE DOWN WARTIME TAX

Party lines were shattered when the senate of the United States by a margin of 11 votes retained in a revenue bill the more moderate income and surtax schedule proposed by its finance committee "instead of a proposal that would have restored wartime levies to help pay for economic recovery."

Republican progressive senators followed the flag of LaFollette. This was the showdown: 24 democrats, 11 republicans and one farmer-laborite voted for the LaFollette substitute; 29 democrats and 18 republicans voted to toss the substitute "into the bowels of the waste paper container."

TWENTY THOUSAND JOBS FOR JOBLESS

Uncle Sam has added 20,000 to his personnel, according to a report submitted by the civil service commission. The commission reported 611,685 in executive civil service on Feb. 28—the last included in the tabulation. At the close of 1933 the number of employees was placed at 591,675.

At the same time the national income of the country ran into the billions. There are idlers in every land, regardless of economic conditions or fat or lean years. It has been so all down the ages. There are workers who create their own opportunities. There are leaners who have to be carried along.

TRUCKING CODE GIVEN APPROVAL

Col. Hugh S. Johnson has approved establishment of a temporary code authority for the trucking business in Texas. Col. Harry E. Stewart of Houston will head the temporary organization. Other members of the authority who will continue in office until their successors are named are Harry Leonard of San Antonio, Leslie Cookenbo of Houston, Walter Beck of Austin, L. T. Campbell of Longview and Joseph Fadel of Fort Worth.

And Look Who Gets the Silver Lining

Bankhead Cotton Control Plan "Up in the Air"

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD. Sen. Bankhead of Alabama is up in the air. His amendments to the house cotton control bill are up in the air. This happened when the house rejected senate amendments and sent the measure to conference.

Dr. A. B. Cox is director of the Texas university bureau of business research. He predicts "extensive changes in the economic structure of most of the nation will follow continued drastic curtailment of cotton acreage."

disaster all along the line. First, "thousands of agricultural workers especially negro or Mexican cotton choppers and pickers, would be idled immediately on relief rolls and will stay there until a comprehensive plan of rehabilitation can be worked out."

Cheer up, Spring is here. There is a season in the ground. Summer is on the way. Man should be told "Life is real and life is earnest."

HOME LOAN MEASURE ON THE WAY

Democratic house leaders made certain an amendment objectionable to the party in power "did not get into the home loan bill." A reminder that the senate had put such an amendment in the bill declaring that party affiliations should not be considered in selecting employees for the corporations.

The senate as well as the house measure guarantee the principal as well as the interest of bonds issued by the home loan corporation.

Bluebonnets should be beautiful this spring. This flower, the floral insignia of the Texas commonwealth, is said to prefer Texas soil to the exclusion of all others and to be so sensitive of the geographical facts of the state that it refuses to spread beyond its borders.

that Texas now has a law against plucking wild flowers. It was passed last year. Why not sow the highways with bluebonnets? Through sections where the soil is agreeable to their culture, fields of them along the right-of-way would transform it into a magic carpet.

The Romantic Runaway

BEgin HERE TODAY. PABLO, a handsome youth, becomes a fugitive when he flees from Havana with BEAU and LOTTIE, two thieves. Pablo has been accused of a murder, but he is innocent.

Jim Field spoke slowly, eyes on the girl. "If you want to save your Pablo," he said, "you'll write him a letter saying that it's all over—that you never did care for him and the whole thing was a mistake. Otherwise we'll read of his being strangled in that chair."

"I hate you," she said slowly in a voice that was too quiet. "I shall never stop hating you. My mother hated you. Any woman who knows you will hate you because you are cruel and merciless. If you ever so much as try to lay your hand on mine I will leave you forever. And remember, please, that I, too, keep my word. Is that understood?"

He tried to laugh but the laugh was a failure. "I imagine I shall get along—in some manner!" he muttered with a poor imitation of jauntyness. Estelle gave him a flaming look of hatred and then she, too, smiled—an echo of his smile.

Unless they went he would throw them out himself. CARLITO's first-born was delivered near a roadside hedge and his young wife, struggling too long and being delicate, did not recover. The few servants who had dared dismissal by following Carlito in his trouble ranged around the body, wailing. Carlito, in the center of the ring, kissed over and over again the cold face of the young wife, who, for the first time, did not answer his appeal.

Kerry, making his way cautiously toward the great house, thought he would not care to be in Field's shoes. "You can, not manage the world that way," he thought grimly, shaken by all that had been and heard.

"I mean that the boy isn't the kind that makes criminals. He isn't—he hasn't the look. I've seen plenty of 'em in my time. This kid—I'd swear he's decent. Shall I take up that side of the case? Find out who did it if I can?"

When Sir Aubrey arrived in Cuba in response to Billings' telegram he was met at the dock by the detective. Billings appeared somewhat constrained. Luck saw them through the customs house with unusual haste and, in a cab, they sped toward the Inglaterra.

"Tell me all about it," Sir Aubrey said eagerly as the cab lurched around a corner building with many balconies. "If you don't mind I'd rather wait until we're at the hotel."

"Without doubt," he said slowly when he could command his voice. "This is my responsibility. I've left this boy—who is my son—unattended and alone."

He had often before felt a rush of affection for this man who was so far from his own world and understanding. Now he rose to slap Sir Aubrey's tweed-covered shoulder with a broad, thick hand. "Never mind, old scout," he said. "We'll get there yet!"

NEW LAXATIVE DOES 6 THINGS

Doctors believe a good laxative should have six features which Feen-a-mint, the chewing gum laxative possesses. 1. So delicious to take that you will take it when you need it. 2. A full, prompt, complete, action that does not interfere with daily duties. 3. Non-habit forming. 4. Safe for even the delicate digestive organs of children. 5. No rich element to upset stomach or diet, or to go stale. 6. A more natural action because chewing distributes the laxative ingredient more uniformly into the intestines. That delicious Feen-a-mint does these things is proven because doctors themselves regularly prescribe the laxative ingredient which is in Feen-a-mint. "Delay" is dangerous—chew Feen-a-mint for constipation. 15c and 25c at druggists.

40-Hour Week
The NRA has agreed upon a 40-hour week for the insular needlework industry. Miss Schneiderman and Miss Manning hope that more workers can be brought into shops, for the sake of sanitation and better hours of regulation, and that the sub-agent can be eliminated. They hope, too, to register the home workers (not license them) and see that each has a card showing the piece rate to which she is entitled.

ISLAND WOMEN DO NEEDLEWORK FOR SMALL PAY

By RUBY A. BLACK
United Press Staff Correspondent
MAYAGUEZ, P. R., April 9.—This needlework capital of Puerto Rico is awaiting with mingled hope and misgivings the results of the NRA's efforts to clear up conditions of low pay and home work in the industry in which Puerto Rican women show fine skill.
Here Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt saw little school girls at recess doing fine embroidery on nightgowns which sell on the continent at $1.95 to $2.95 each, and on oil sports handkerchiefs which sell for 50 cents each, getting 10 cents a dozen for their work.

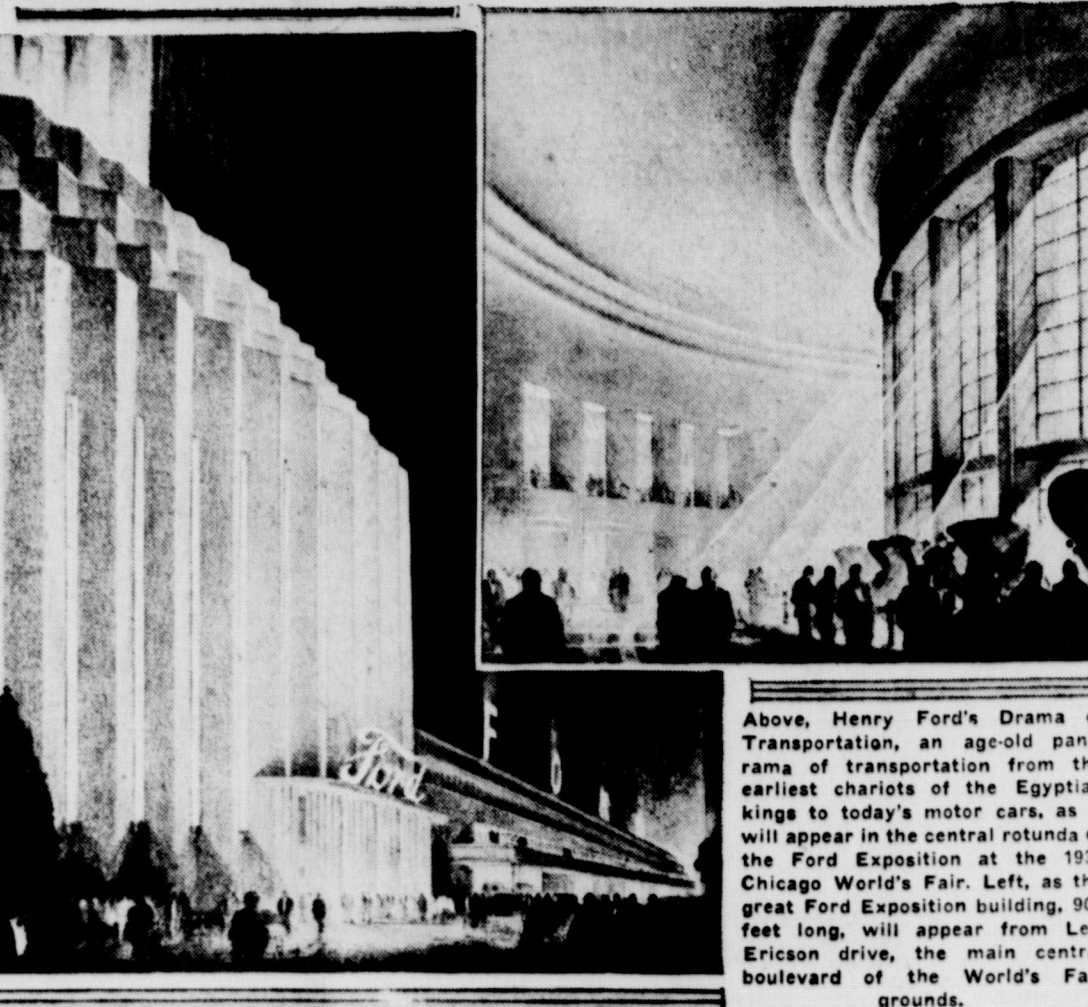

One Good Factory
However she found one factory which has contradicted the idea that Puerto Rican women insist on working at home. In it, well-dressed, well-nourished girls and women worked, by hand, on fine silk underwear, in a well-lighted and well-ventilated factory.

Mrs. Roosevelt's friend, Miss Rose Schneiderman of the NRA Labor advisory board, had spent six weeks investigating the needlework industry before Mrs. Roosevelt arrived, and Miss Caroline Manning, lent by the federal women's bureau, had been here still longer.
Miss Schneiderman told her about the system. A New York contractor, for example, gives an order for 1,000 baby dresses to an agent in Puerto Rico. If the price for hand-work here is lower than the price for continental machine work would be. This agent takes a cut. Then he lets the work out in parcels, to sub-agents in different places in the island. The sub-agent gets a commission, 100. By this time little is left for the women who do the embroidery and sew the seams on the dresses sent to them from New York, cut out and stamped. At least 25 per cent goes to these agents, Miss Schneiderman says.

Priceless Vehicles in Ford Exposition at World's Fair

tion of road vehicles will be the central feature of the Ford Exposition at the Chicago World's Fair this year. Hugh Ferriss, New York artist, at the right, gives his conception of how this unique transportation show will appear in the Grand Concourse of the Ford building now under construction. On the circular walls above the motorized portion of the display photo-murals eighteen feet in height will present one of the most elaborate pictorial features of the Fair.

Prominent among the collection of motor cars of a generation ago will be No. 999, the priceless relic of the days when Mr. Ford was making history as an automobile racing driver and marks of "a-mile-a-minute" were being shattered.

Milk Consumption
Consumption of fluid milk probably will not be decreased at all and of other dairy products only a little, the farm administrators said. Instead, they predicted, consumption of fluid milk may increase.
The articles reviewed various proposals submitted to the government for solution of the dairy dilemma and listed weaknesses which precluded their adoption: maintenance of the old milk marketing agreement because of the difficulty of enforcing fixed retail prices and because these agreements guaranteed distributors' profits, "in some instances more than ample already"; reliance on the new agreements alone because without production control their "usefulness would be confined to narrow limits"; government purchase of low producers' cows because disposal of the large number of carcasses virtually would ruin the beef market.

In seeking a keynote for the architectural motif of the Ford building at Chicago this year Albert Kahn, Detroit architect, decided upon the appropriateness of the gear. The result is that the huge central rotunda of the building will resemble graduated internally meshed gears standing 210 feet in diameter at the base. The main entrance of the building is shown at the left.

Democrats to Honor Jefferson April 13

HOUSTON, April 7.—Democrats of Texas will come here April 13 to a dinner honoring Thomas Jefferson, party founder.
Achievements of the past year under the leadership of President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner will be reviewed and rejoiced at the gathering here, said J. E. Josey, chairman of the statewide advisory committee in charge of the dinner.
"We want it understood clearly," said Josey, "that this is an occasion in which all democrats should participate."
Young democrats of Texas are sponsoring the dinner.
Members of the advisory committee of which Josey is chairman include:

"—A MOTORIST NEEDS TO WATCH HIS NERVES, TOO, MR. TILDEN"

W. E. Richards, Jr. of Lansford, Pa., who rode nearly 20,000 miles in his car last year, says:
"I'm a real tennis fan, Mr Tilden, and I know it takes healthy nerves to play championship tennis year after year. But don't forget, it takes healthy nerves to drive a car, too. Trying to see your way in blinding fog or rain...skids...other drivers taking quick, unexpected turns—all are enough to give any man 'traffic jitters'! And yet driving never bothers me a bit. Smoke? I'll say I do. Morning, noon, and night. But I stick to Camels because then I know I can forget all about nerves. And Camels sure taste great!"

William T. Tilden, II, seven times world tennis champion and winner of countless other titles, says:
"As a steady smoker, I find that cigarettes vary a lot in their effect upon the nerves. I have tried all the other popular brands, but for years I have smoked Camels. Because of their extraordinary mildness I know that I can smoke Camels as freely as I wish and still have healthy nerves."
How Are YOUR Nerves?
Jittery nerves are everywhere in modern life. You know them by such signs as these—foot-tapping, key-rattling, nail-biting—frowning and worrying.
If your nerves are not all they should be, study your habits that might affect them—your eating, your sleeping, your recreations. And get a fresh slant on your smoking by starting on Camels.
Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS than any other popular brand.
Camels never get on your nerves. You can smoke one after another... with increasing enjoyment. Camels are so mild, so delicate—packed with the pleasure of finer, costlier tobaccos! The more you smoke them the more you'll like them.
