President Accepts Bryan Statue for United States

In accepting the Gutzon Borglum statue of William Jennings Bryan in impressive unveiling ceremonies at Washington, President Roosevelt paid tribute to the sincerity of the "Great Commoner" that "made him a force for good in his own generation and has kept alive many of the ancient faiths on which we are building today." The President is shown in the rear with Captain Walter Vernou while Joseph Daniels, Ambassador to Mexico (left), presides over the dedication exercises.

How the Leopard Would Like to Change This Spot

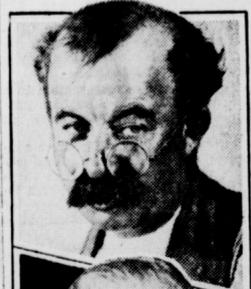

Whatever the leopard word for "Ouch!" may be, this one is saying it—with a vengeance. He hated the idea of dentistry worse than the average human does, and it required eight men to tie him in the San Francisco zoo so that a veterinarian could yank the offending molar, as shown here.

Feminine Curves "O. K.," But Municipal Eye Sees No Art in Masculine Figure

DALLAS, May 17.—Scanty bathing suits and municipal pools for men this year, but taboo for men. Of course, the female attire, the latest fashions learned in a survey, have to keep within the bounds of reason.

Just where the line of demarcation will be drawn to indicate "reason" has not been determined by beach and pool officials the survey revealed.

Girls go to the extreme—that is, wearing less than the fashion appearing brassiere-trunk style of suit —well, at least they won't be allowed to enter the water.

As far as styles for men and boys, it all depends on their ages. Men with hairy chests simply will have to display them only in dressing rooms. And the approved attire for men will be the old style trunks with tops.

Of course, if men prefer a sun tan, they might be permitted to have a low-cut back. Only small boys will be permitted to wear the single trunk fashion for men.

The only place in Texas where beach and park superintendents turn a blind eye to water attire is at Galveston. There the idea was reported to be "whatever you can get into you can wear, and if you don't wear anything at the West Beach that's your business."

But at El Paso Park Commissioner Hugo Meyer said the latest brassiere-trunk suits for women probably would be worn by many girls, but they "won't be dipped in the water."

Men, Meyer said, have got to wear enough to cover everything between the neck and wherever the bottom of the bathing suit stops.

At Austin the trunk-brassiere style for women will be worn if the legislature has to be asked for the permission, women indicated. However, to prevent any "unreasonable"ness, James A. Garrison, head of the city recreation department, said he would have locker room attendants with authority to bar persons who attempt to appear in the "extreme or indecent cut or fit."

Park Commissioner James Rubiloo at San Antonio has ruled negatively for men as far as "freedom" in bathing suits is concerned. But for the brassiere-trunk style for women, he doubts his ability to stem the tide of fashion.

Texas Christian co-eds declared the "scantier the swimming suit the better we like it," so far as the health standpoint is concerned. "Of course, there are always conscientious observers who actually are evil minded, but maybe they can have pools for themselves," one co-ed said.

Recreation Director W. D. Evans of Fort Worth said there were no iron-clad rules against bathing suits of any particular kind. He said he had not seen the new brassiere-trunk style for women, but believed they would be permissible.

At Houston, County Judge W. H. Ward emphatically instructed the commissioner's court that it was not authorized to pass upon the question of what type of bathing suit men and women should wear.

SISTER MARY'S RECIPES

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

JELLIED SALADS always appeal to spring appetites and mothers will find them easy and economical to make and serve for everyday meals. However, if an elaborate and important salad is wanted, the jellied salad can be relied on to furnish the desired touch of luxury.

The variations to the jellied salad are innumerable. Individual molds, ring molds to be filled with other materials, large molds to be handsomely garnished and served by the hostess, the salad dressing added to the jellied mixture, the jellied mixture used to fill hollowed out tomatoes, cucumber cups or sweet green peppers—all these ways make it possible to vary jellied salads invitingly.

The foundation jelly for salads should be pleasantly tart, no matter whether the added material be meat, vegetable or fruit. Even the dessert salad which is so popular for hot weather meals must be piquant rather than sweet and its whipped cream dressing must be definitely tart and zesty. Lemon juice does much for fruit salads and you will find that a dash of vinegar vastly improves meat and vegetable salads.

There is an asparagus salad that makes a stunning dish for a buffet supper table although the recipe is not too extravagant for everyday use.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Grape juice, cereal, cream, waffles with creamed ham, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Clear tomato soup, jellied asparagus salad, ice-box rolls, dried apricot Betty, milk, tea.

DINNER: English cut of beef roasted, potatoes baked with meat, brown gravy, beef greens with horseradish sauce, jellied fruit salad, toasted crackers, cheese, milk, coffee.

in bundles and cook in boiling salted water until tender. Remove from water and when cool use to line mold. To the water in which the tips were cooked, add the rest of the asparagus which has been cut in inch lengths, chicken stock or water and the "soup bag." The soup bag consists of 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 small carrot cut in thin slices, 3 or 4 sprigs of parsley, 1 blade of celery finely minced and 3 or 4 peppercorns. These are tied in a cheesecloth bag. Simmer until the asparagus is tender and the liquid slightly reduced.

Remove the soup bag and rub the asparagus through a sieve. There should be one cup of asparagus pulp and liquid. If there is more return to the fire and cook slowly until reduced. Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve over hot water. Add to asparagus puree and stir well. Stir occasionally while cooling. When mixture is cool and begins to thicken fold in cream whipped until firm with lemon juice. Let stand until mixture thickens again and turn into prepared mold. Let stand on ice for several hours to chill and become firm. Unmold and serve on a bed of lettuce with French dressing.

Asparagus Salad

One bunch asparagus (about one pound), 1 cup chicken broth or water, soup bag, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, 4 tablespoons cold water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup whipped cream.

Wash asparagus and cut tips the same height as the mold in which the salad is to be made. Tie tips

EVERYONE has always known—that to be good—beer must be aged. Many indefinite claims have been made as to the age of beers—but now Blatz announces the greatest advancement in the brewing industry in 20 years—and guarantees the exact age of every bottle of Blatz Old Heidelberg Beer. It requires millions of dollars in equipment—row upon row of huge ageing vats—to make this guarantee possible. Every one of these vats carries the date on which its contents was brewed. When fully-aged, when it has reached that exact time when the beer has all that is best—the satisfying richness of flavor—the full body and strength—then it is bottled, and there is shown on every bottle the exact date that beer was brewed. It is your guide and guarantee that Blatz Old Heidelberg Beer is fully-aged.

"BUSTING UP" TEXAS

Practically ever since Texas entered the Union under an agreement reserving to it the right to divide into as many as five states, predictions have been made that the biggest member of the forty-eight would shortly break up into a flock of smaller units. Nothing has ever come of these predictions, for one reason because the minute Texas subdivides she ceases to be Texas. Most of them have been political in inspiration, since breaking Texas into a maximum of five states would give the democrats eight more senators in the U. S. senate and enhance party prestige in that body. Some of the predictions have had an economic tinge.

The late Sen. Joseph W. Bailey stated the reason for the failure of abortive movements to "bust up" Texas about as succinctly as it can be stated. "Who," he inquired, "would get the Alamo?"

Latest "bust up Texas" prognosticator is D. A. Banded, able manager of the West Texas chamber of commerce. Mr. Banded asserts that west Texas has been badly treated, politically, through the influence of more populous sections of the state to which west Texas is widely dissimilar in interests and outlook. West Texas, he says, does not have its just share of representation at Austin, is discriminated against in the appointment of state boards and does not have a proper voice in state affairs. West Texas land, he reminds, paid for the building of the state capitol, financed early railroad development and contributes heavily to the maintenance of the state school system.

The reason for this claimed sentiment in favor of "busting up" Texas appears to be two reasons: First, the ratio of west Texas population to that of the rest of the state is not commensurate with the geographical importance of the area, and, second, west Texas, abetted by the West Texas chamber of commerce, has developed a very definite sectional consciousness. Once population equality is attained, the demand for subdivision probably will cease, if there is any tangible demand outside the small group of economic leaders who dominate the thought of the WTCC, and whose minds Mr. Banded reflects, and west Texas will be quite content to receive its government from Austin, rather than from a new capital, no doubt.

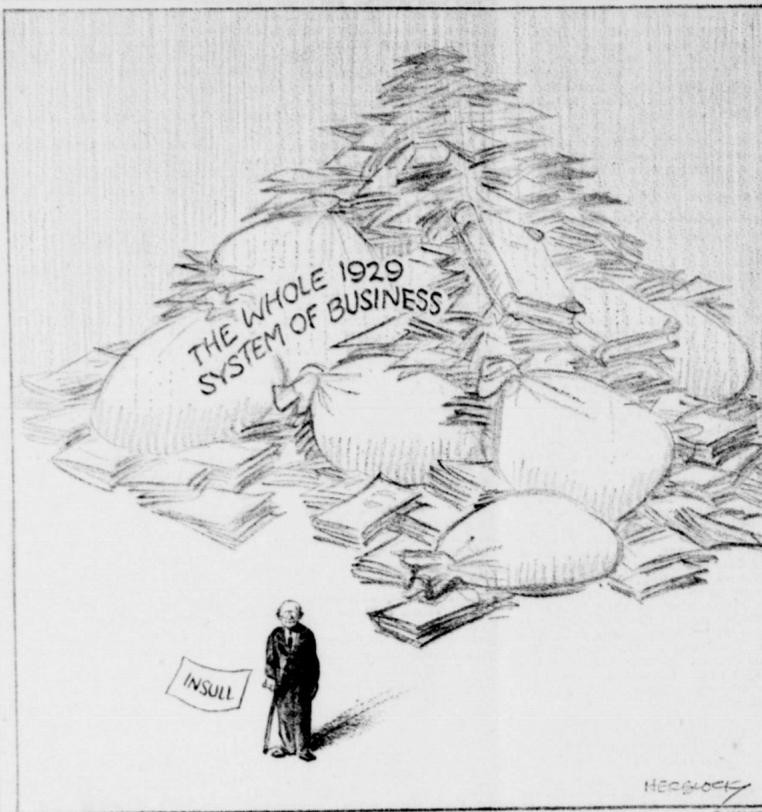

If the trends are correctly read, the tendency during the next century will be away from, rather than toward, subdivision of present political units. Mr. Banded is right when he says that decentralization of population and industry will come. The reason for that is the same reason that promises to operate against multiplying smaller political units—swifter transportation, swifter communication and a greater mobility of factors tending to harmonize and blend sectional interests rather than to draw them more sharply against the national background. With a public mind developing toward more economical government, with growing rapidity of travel and intercommunication shrinking boundaries, and with a future in which sectional economic lines will become more and more blurred, it is difficult to believe that the people of Texas, or the people of any part of Texas, would permit the identity of the state to be destroyed. Even if this influence did not operate, it is doubtful that they would permit themselves to be saddled with the expense of two or more state administrations instead of one, or surrender the vital traditions to which the state is heir. In the oxcart period, in the internecine fury of the Civil war, or in pioneer days before Texas traditions had crystallized, the suggestion could be regarded seriously. But not today. As a matter of fact, the very size of Texas and the great variety and extent of the natural resources grouped under its administration conceivably will prove a great future influence in a day when simplification of government and consolidation of local units, rather than multiplication, will get emphasis. Mr. Banded may be right, but we believe the discrimination he mentions will be adjusted by a closer knitting of the sections of Texas, rather than a division.

WAR PENSIONERS AND THEIR PENSIONS.

Henry H. Curran of New York, director of the National Economy league, declared May 13 that 256,000 or 37 per cent of the 687,000 war veterans and dependents now drawing government pensions should be stricken from the rolls. To these pensioners the government will pay $133,000,000 this year, according to the director of the league. He had made a survey of veterans benefits under the independent offices appropriation bill. President Roosevelt vetoed the bill. The house of representatives and the senate refused to sustain the veto. According to the Curran report, 222,000 Spanish-American war veterans have been restored to the rolls under the new law. The National Economy league contends 200,000 of these should not be there, and of the 465,000 World War veterans drawing pensions, the president of the league declared 56,000 should be eliminated. In conclusion, Curran asserted in his bulletin "these unwarranted pensions" cost the people $95,000,000 a year in contrast with the total annual cost of all pensions of $378,000,000. This last figure refers to pensions alone and does not have to do with cost of administration, hospital treatment, insurance, bonus and other matters, which come to over $250,000,000 a year, bringing the total federal cost of veterans benefits to about $629,000,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1934.

This campaign year and the Curran report, speaking for the National Economy league, will make more talk all along the line in a nation-wide campaign that may become very acrimonious before nation-wide balloting day in the campaign months of November.

How to Meet Needs of Complex Civilization

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD
Law enforcement and the eradication of crime and the elimination of criminals is a burning topic of the nation over. A reminder that the American Law Institute is holding its annual convention in the city of Washington. President Roosevelt sent a message to the institute. He advised that its members study the criminal law of America with a view of recommending how it should be adapted to meet the needs of a modern complex civilization. He congratulated the institute for the work it has done along similar lines with civil law. Furthermore, he said serious consideration should be given to whether the institute should not now begin an undertaking of equal importance in the field of substantive criminal law. For intelligent, painstaking and patriotic work in the field... I need not point out to you that the adaptation to our criminal law and its administration to meet the needs of a modern, complex civilization is one of our major problems. I believe that the American Law Institute is in a position to make important contributions to the solution of this perplexing problem.

Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes was another speaker. He appealed to the public to insist upon law enforcement. He said: "The primary need is a robust civil sentiment, dominated by a sense of justice, which demands intelligence in the making of laws and impartiality in their execution, which is the determined foe of graft and every form of official delinquency as well as of outstanding breaches of the criminal law. To cultivate and reinforce this public sentiment all social agencies must play their part." He stressed that the heaviest responsibility was placed on the American bar. He broadly intimated there was difficulty in securing the co-operation of the most learned, enlightened and experienced members of the bar in meeting that responsibility. In conclusion he said that improvement in the administration of criminal justice was essential in protecting the foundations of the security of society. This bit of advice as well as timely warning was passed on by the chief justice to the American public: "No community can which does not have the self respect and are trusted to promote social welfare stamina to insist upon the enforcement of its laws."

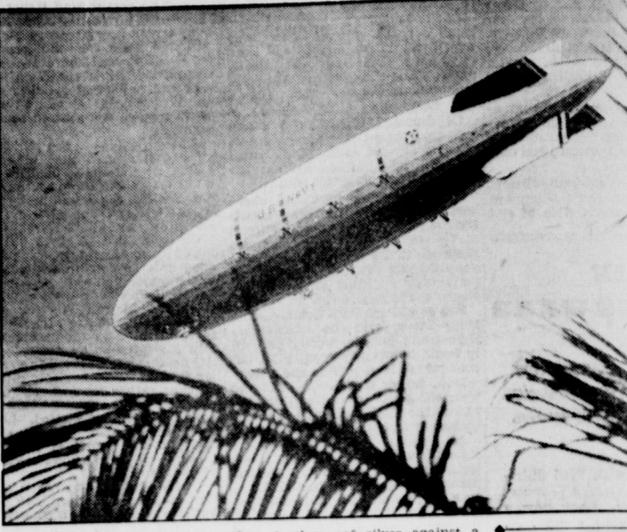

This is campaign year America over. A full membership of the house of representatives will be elected. A third of membership of the American senate will be elected. In Texas a governor and all minor officers will be elected. A justice of the supreme court will be elected. Justices of the appellate courts will be elected. A legislature will be elected. Now what is the duty of the average citizen? It should be plain to pick the ablest, the most efficient, the most patriotic to fill all the offices from top to bottom. Good government, who vote for good government who believes that justice is saved, and an American owes the best within him to cast his ballot to protect the life and liberty and the happiness and prosperity of his state and his nation.

Macon Flashes Vision of Beauty in Tropic Sky

Through the Editor's Spectacles

O. C. Lomax, whose business it is to keep the power lines of the Cisco district of the West Texas Utilities company in a good state of repair, thinks that Dave Perry ought to buy Specs a box of cigars. He says Dave gets his name in the paper 100 much, whereas he, (Lomax) never gets any publicity for the vast amount of social and community work that he does.

The reason for Lomax's plaint is the fact that he dug the holes for the lighting system that is being installed at the playground for the city Soft Ball league at A Avenue and 14th street and tussled with the big poles, while Dave got all the credit for the work. Lomax is wondering what system he uses.

The playground baseball mania is becoming professionalized. Starting out it was a movement to shave off some of the front profile of the average business man and restore his pep and vitality without breaking his business bank. It is expensive and it may be played on any vacant lot an hour before dinner in the evening.

But it has grown out of that purpose rapidly, it has become highly competitive. Teams sponsored by clubs and business houses are being built on the play to win basis, stripped of the fat or flabby boys who ought to be getting the exercises. Their places are being taken by sun-browned, shirtless, boasting young athletes who make the games contests of brawn or skill, and some of whom even make displays of muscles and physical power by deliberately running over the older men who attempt to play with them for the good fellowship and exercise the game affords.

The new direction of the contests is taken with such seriousness that a time or two tempers were whetted over minor incidents and the theme of the program endangered.

Yesterday the game escaped local emphasis and became an inter-city affair, thus challenging the place held by football and baseball. Teams representing Cisco and Eastland battled to a 5 to 4 victory for the local boys.

It was a splendid game, of course. Members of the teams were selected for their ability to play the game not for their need of its physical benefits, and played good ball.

That is all right. But the great value of the soft ball contests to the business man and the professional man in need of some form of outdoor exercise ought not to be sacrificed to the mania for winning. It is very well of some teams of skilled, agile boys and young men, devoted not so much to exercise as to a column of figures, but some provision ought to be made to afford the older men benefits of the vacant lot sport without having to compete with younger and more athletic players. A group of grammar or high school kids can beat any team of older persons at the game, if winning it is the thing.

Let's see if our league organizers can show some ability in this direction and make the soft ball sport available in the field for which it was developed, rather than running to seed in a highly competitive atmosphere.

LETTERS FROM READERS

Editor Daily News: In a recent issue of your valued paper I noticed an article from my friend, W. B. Starr, regarding school matters in our district. As I do not agree with him I am asking that you grant me space to express my views and give the facts of the matter as I see them. Will state that I am democratic so naturally I believe in majority rule. We would have more harmony in our district today had all parties adhered to that rule. Mr. Starr gives our school district an occasional dose of rest medicine. He failed to state,

A gleam of silver against a tropical background, the Macon, the navy's sky queen, is shown here as she floated majestically over Miami, Fla., on its way to join the U. S. fleet for maneuvers in the West Indies. The air giant carried a crew of 100 on its flight to the Caribbean. The dirigible is now on its way back to the west coast.

however, that Nimrod and Dan Horn were shanghaied by the county board, and conveyed over to Seranton. Was this done by a vote of the people of those two school districts? No, was this consolidation accomplished as a result of a petition of the citizens to the county board? No. Was this absorption of the Dan Horn and Nimrod schools into the consolidation with Seranton by the request or consent of the trustees of these two schools to the county board? No. On the contrary the consolidation was made over the vigorous opposition of our member of the county board, representing these districts at the time of the creation of the Seranton consolidated school district, and in addition a petition presented to the county school board protesting this consolidation at that time, signed by 75 to 80 per cent of the citizens of these elementary districts for the reason the property valuation was not sufficient to maintain an affiliated high school.

In overruling the wishes of the people of these opposing districts it is only natural that we should conclude that the county board must have had some strong influence that induced the board to make this consolidation in the face of this opposition of this considerable majority.

I do not wish to criticize or condemn the action of the county board, for I realize they have many hard and difficult problems to solve, but I do believe that the county board should adjust this matter at once. It is within their discretion and power to rescind on order of consolidation, on their own volition, or to grant the two districts an election that they may express their wishes on the matter. I petitioned to do so by a majority of the legal and qualified voters of the opposing school districts.

The county board has forced us into a district encumbered with considerable indebtedness, and this, too, against our wishes and over our protest. So, in justice to humanity and to the citizens of Dan Horn and Nimrod school districts, I believe it only fair that our county superintendent and the school board, who are elected by the people, and paid by the tax payers, should take up this and other similar problems and adjust them at once.

None of us are infallible, and we all make more or less mistakes in life, but the biggest thing a man, or a set of men can do is to correct as many of these mistakes as possible while yet on earth.

Mr. Starr seems to think that a school superintendent should ignore the will of a majority of the people, if in his feeble opinion his idea of what is best for the children is contrary to that held by the parents of those children. This is indicated in his reference to "a candidate for school superintendent" who expressed his views that he favored obeying the will of a majority of the people of any proposed consolidated district, as he said "that any elected school official who failed to first take into consideration the interest of the children of any school district, and failed to act when called upon, failed in his duty to his office."

SOIL EROSION PROJECT FOR SMITH COUNTY

WASHINGTON, May 17 — A erosion project on the Watershed Duck creek in Smith county, Texas, embracing approximately 250 acres, was announced today by rector H. E. Bennett of the erosion service. Experiments made there may affect a 33,000-acre section of sandy lands, extending from Texas into southwestern Arkansas and northwestern Louisiana. Annual loss of soil in that section is proceeding at the rate of 100 tons of soil per acre, measurement the Tyler erosion station have taken.

That loss has perturbed to Sam for two reasons: (1) millions of tons of top-soil, valuable to culture, swept into the Gulf year by year that gully across state, represent a tremendous economic loss. (2) By storing the runoff, the soil erosion service materially aid the nation-wide control program.

Nearly 20 per cent of an east as rain is lost. Slopes and hills are shrouded with gullies. The federal government proposes to experiment with four methods of erosion control in east Texas.

1. Plant steep slopes in the creek watershed with trees and grasses. A cover of grass roots the loss of soil to one-fifth of one per acre, and the run-off of one inch of rain is cut in half.
2. Encourage the rotation of crops.
3. Strip cropping, terracing, contour plowing will be urged on less steep slopes.
4. Check dams and similar devices will be installed at strategic points to restore gully-washed lands to the original condition by planting trees and thick native growths will lead to a restoration of game and bird life.

The Duck creek project will be directed by Louis P. Merrill, Texas and graduate of John T. Ryan and Texas A. & M. Prior to appointment as director of the erosion project, Merrill was agricultural director of Tyler chamber of commerce.

LIONS CLUB TO SEND BAND TO STATE MEETING

Adjustment of the six members of elected officers to the club from January to July and July to January, to conform with the standard term of Lions. International election of officers to fill vacancies was part of the business of the meeting of the Cisco club yesterday. The Rev. F. Turner was the song leader, and R. E. Grant and Jack Anderson were named as successors of Dr. Hubert C. Bearman, ex officio director. Entertainment was provided by Misses Virginia Lee Smith, who presented piano numbers, and Mergie Linder, dancer.

The club voted to accept the Star Gas company's tender of $100 to the club to represent the Lions club at the Mineral Wells convention, beginning June 18. The band to the convention was paid expenses of transporting the band to the convention and the organization will be designated as the Cisco club band for the first of the convention. It also elected President H. LaRoque and Sec'y W. H. LaRoque as special delegates to the convention. An appropriation of $100 was set aside to pay the expenses of the president as delegate to the national convention in Grand Rapids, Mich., in July of this year. TAMPA TARZAN IS STROLLING DOWN TO RIO

HOUSTON, May 17. — Fred R. Scott, 22 Tampa, Fla., is "strolling down to Rio" clad only in his bathing suit and a pair of tennis shoes. Eight weeks after he strolled from his job at a riding academy in Tampa the former Cornell university student ambled into Houston, sun-tanned and badly in need of a shave. Life wasn't all it might have been even though he had a good job, the young adventurer said in reviewing his actions.

"I'm going for a stroll," he casually announced to his beach friends at Tampa.

"Where to?" he was asked.

"To South America," was his solemn reply.

His stroll through main streets here nearly caused a panic. His brief attire and his heavy beard won him the sobriquet of "The Tampa Tarzan."

Scott does not like the name. Quiet and unassuming, he spoke with the earnestness of youth in search of happiness. He is no fad-diet, he insisted.

His "pack" consists of an identification card and matches. Scott isn't very crazy about civilization in its present state. If he is happy among the wild jungle natives of South America he will remain among them—never returning to the civilization from which he is fleeing. At least that's his story.

The Tampa Tarzan accepts "no rides in automobiles." "It is so tiresome," he said. "He averages 20 to 40 miles a day walking. At night he sleeps in a house if one is offered; otherwise he sleeps out-of-doors."

He thinks nudism is rather silly. If he takes a notion to go nude he will do so when he gets among the South American primitives where it is appropriate.

"Heavy Water" May Be Answer to Age

HOUSTON, May 17. — Fonce De Leon's illusory fountain of youth may become a reality with the aid of science.

The revelation was made here by Dr. T. W. Buehrer, professor of chemistry at the University of Arizona.

Extraction of a substance known as "heavy water" from ordinary water may be the answer to the ageless quest for extension of life, he indicated.

Discovery of "heavy water" in 1932 by two eastern scientists has brought experimentation and research that gives hope of life preservation. Prof. H. C. Urey of Columbia university, in New York city, and Dr. G. M. Murphy and Dr. P. G. Backwedde of the American bureau of standards discovered the substance.

Since then, Dr. Buehrer said, an old willow tree has been discovered on the bank of the Potomac which contained proportionately more of the "heavy water" than was in the water of the river. Bodies stored up this substance in direct relation, it is believed.

Smaller life perishes in the "heavy water," experiments have shown. Accumulation of the substance may explain why life gradually ebbs into old age.

"Heavy water" can be extracted or separated from ordinary water by a chemical process of decomposition—electrolysis. It is composed, said Dr. Buehrer, of ordinary oxygen atoms and heavy hydrogen atoms. Hydrogen gas contains two substances scientists have found, which have the same properties except that one is twice as heavy as the other.

Knowledge that the "heavy water" kills small life has caused at least one scientist, Prof. S. Taylor of Princeton, to suggest that it may be used for treatment of cancer.

Records Folk Songs Of Texas Negroes

MERIDIAN, May 17.—A studios appearing man with a recording phonograph visiting Bosque county negroes and cajoling them into songs has been identified as John A. Lomax, commissioned by the library of congress to make the records.

Lomax already noted for his folk-lore collections and collections of range songs now is specializing in the "sinful songs," as the negroes call their melodies that are not spirituals.

Alan Lomax, son of the noted collector, has been with his father on most of the tour. He now is temporarily in Austin.

Together father and son traveled more than 15,000 miles in Texas, Mississippi, Tennessee and Louisiana. They visited negroes in remote communities to get the songs in their most native stage. The records being taken will be preserved on celluloid and aluminum plates.

Real negro singing, Dr. Lomax said, is much different from the negro college quartet or concert hall singing with which the public is familiar.

Real negro singing is not "contaminated" with adaptations from white compositions, Dr. Lomax said. He listed repetition of closing lines as a typical "taint."

"The natural negro songs makes no attempt at artificial effects but bursts from the singer as naturally and as freely as the warbling of a bird," he added. "He sings the last bar with the same emphasis as the first. Few persons other than Southerners have heard the negro songs in the artless simplicity that gives them their greatest charm."

Research Work Is Defended by Prof.

AUSTIN, Tex., May 17.—Research work as part of the state's educational expense is defended by Dr. E. P. Schooch, director of the University of Texas bureau of industrial chemistry.

Laying aside the question of the value commercially of research discoveries, Dr. Schooch advocated research on the limited plane of its value to the educational system.

"Research," he said, "builds up the scholarship of the faculty and makes them more enthusiastic teachers. It impels students to do work in which they otherwise would be less active."

"Research," he adds, "is an old-age insurance for teachers. When a teacher is limited to second-hand transmission of knowledge, he can readily be replaced by a younger and cheaper teacher; but if he continues to progress by research, he is always ahead of the less experienced teacher."

Dr. Schooch does not agree that college research has not been valuable commercially, a point waved for discussion of research from a strictly educational point of view.

For lack of adequate research, he said, the oil, building and other industries are handicapped and public water supplies are too costly.

Many Texas cities already have announced delegations for the meeting. Between 50 and 75 will come from Houston alone.

(though in a minority.) As stated above this candidate referred to had expressed himself in favor of the majority rule, which invariably is the best policy. You cannot force a free people against their will and have harmony.

These opposing school districts have appealed to the county superintendent and county school board by petition, by attorney and in person, at different times, only to be turned down by the county board, and by their actions, were told, "go back home, boys, and take your medicine. It will be good for you."

I am of the opinion that there would have been little or no opposition to the consolidation from the districts of Dan Horn and Nimrod had the superintendent and county board perfected the consolidation, as grouped in the Scranton district, by embracing sufficient territory in the district to increase the valuation to make it sufficient to maintain an affiliated high school to comply with the requirement of the school laws. Instead they have under several other districts should have been grouped with Scranton district, leaving the fee pay of a large bonded indebtedness without a voice.

The state pays tuition and mileage for transportation to an affiliated school, if we were free to do so.

I believe, in fairness to Dan Horn and Nimrod, that our superintendent and county board should perfect the consolidation as originally planned, by taking in other districts to raise the valuation as required by law, as we have promised, or rescind the order of consolidation and turn these districts loose. I do not believe the educational department would prove the present grouping for this consolidation if the true situation was known.

FORMER SET-UP TO ADMINISTER BANKHEAD ACT

COLLEGE STATION, May 17. — The machinery will be used to administer the Bankhead act in the cotton acreage reduction program, agricultural adjustment administration has advised O. B. Martin, extension service director at Texas A. & M. college. County cotton production control associations set up under the program will be in charge of making individual allotments the next cotton season beginning June 1, during which the Bankhead act will operate. Under the new act, the AAA will buy cotton at 10 cents and sell it at 20 cents tax free. All in excess must pay a tax of 50 per cent of the average market price for 7 1/2 inch middling as determined from time to time by the secretary of agriculture. At no time will this tax be less than 5 cents a pound. The act limits the American production to 10 million bales this year. As far as possible, contract signers will be given the same allotments as in their contracts, but they may be raised or lowered according to the county allotments assigned by the United States department of agriculture. The act exempts the application to county committees as soon as terms received and machinery set up. Those who did not sign reduction contracts may also apply for and receive farm allotment and tax extension certificates covering same they will not share in the rental parity payments given co-operating farmers.

90 Per Cent Allotted

The Texas allotment is based on a ratio of the average 5 year production for 1928-32 to the average annual production for this period. More than 90 per cent of the state allotment is to be allotted to the counties, the remainder being reserved for necessary adjustments to care of special cases. Allowance to be made for crop failures in counties where it can be established. Washington advises point out in some sections floods and other conditions are unusual. The United States department of agriculture is a cotton history of every county for guidance in deciding where adjustments should be made. The first duty of every producer is to apply for bale prior to season now in possession of the cotton. As soon as county production control associations have the cotton farmer should apply for allotment certificates for his allotment for 1934-35. The final date application for these certificates not yet been determined. Every American cotton entering the channels in the cotton year 1934-35 must have a bale tag which farmer may obtain either by tendering his exemption certificate or by paying the tax. The amount of the tax is determined by the tax in effect at the time the cotton is ginned regardless when it is sold. If stored and held a year or more it must still pay tax.

Long Staple Exempt

Cotton of 1 1/2-inch staple length longer is exempt from the tax the producer of such cotton must first prove his point before exemption is granted. Experiment cotton is also exempt from tax.

VAST HOUSING PROGRAM NEW RECOVERY AIM

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 17. — Billions of dollars for home modernization and new residential construction would become available under legislation introduced in congress Monday in response to a message from President Roosevelt asking action on a housing program before adjournment.

Senate Majority Leader Joseph Robinson estimated that two or three weeks should be required to complete legislative action on a measure which was regarded as one of the most important recovery projects of the Roosevelt administration.

Mr. Roosevelt's message to congress, urging a nationwide home modernization and repair program, was followed by introduction of legislation to carry out the program.

The president said the program would consist of four major inter-related divisions:

- 1—Modernization, repair and new construction.
- 2—Mortgage insurance.
- 3—Mortgage associations.
- 4—Building and loan insurance.

Two-fold Purpose

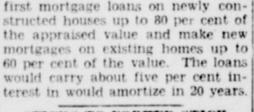

"The purpose of the program is two-fold," Mr. Roosevelt said. "First, to return many of the unemployed to useful and gainful occupations; second, to produce tangible useful wealth in a form for which there is great social and economic need."

The president said that he envisioned modernization of commercial and industrial structures also, but that he believed the government should confine its assistance largely to home improvements.

Loans to individual home owners, he explained, would be made by private agencies which in turn would be insured by the government against loss up to a certain percentage of the loan.

The other phase of the program, the making of funds available for new home construction and the improvement of the mortgage market, includes in a long term mortgage financing agency. This would give mutual mortgage insurance to private agencies which would make first mortgage loans on newly constructed houses up to 80 per cent of the appraised value and make new mortgages on existing homes up to 60 per cent of the value. The loans would carry about five per cent interest in would amortize in 20 years.

LITTLE TOWN TO HAVE BIG POLITICAL RALLY

By GORDON K. SHEARER United Press Staff Correspondent AUSTIN, May 17. — Edom, Van Zandt county, is credited with a population of only 300 but some of the state's political races probably will be decided there this year. Edom will hold a four day political gathering, July 18-21.

All state-wide candidates are to be invited. Former Gov. "Jim" Ferguson will be asked to make one of his speeches for Charley McDonald there.

Former State Senator Tomas Polard, Tyler, said that separate days will be designated for certain races, one day being reserved for governor candidates alone.

Attorney-general James V. Alfred had the spark to rent the east Texas oil gathering at Tyler calling him to its "judgment day" meeting to account for his stewardship. He sent word from Longview, where he was trying on oil suit, that he was accountable to all the people of Texas, not to any group. Apparently they liked it.

The meeting praised Alfred's endeavors to check hot oil. Alfred laughingly evaded efforts of a group of newspaper correspondents here this week to get him to say whom he expects to have as an opponent in the August run-off primary. He would not adopt the suggestion that a run-off might not be required to settle the race.

Hunter Claims Place Tom F. Hunter is the first openly to claim a place in the run-off. He has announced campaign dates in August.

May 18 has been selected by Lieut.

Gov. Edgar E. Witt for the formal opening of his campaign to become "centennial governor." The meeting will be at his birthplace, Belton, Wayman Whitley, Bell county page in the Texas Senate, is credited with originating the invitation for the lieutenant governor to "open" there. Witt will be the last of candidates for governor to take the stump. He has made only short radio talks, to date.

Court decisions that negroes must be admitted to the democratic primaries will have no effect on Brazoria county races. The whites held a taxpayers primary there last Saturday and selected a full county ticket which all are pledged to support the regular democratic primary.

Hunter earns the week's award for campaign wisecracks. He referred to the youthful attorney-general as "the little boy with the big breeches."

H. O. Johnson is winner of the publicity stunt prize. He resorted to creek bathing while campaigning in Jasper county, in his race for railroad commissioner.

East Texas lawyers who are supporting Clyde Smith for attorney-general held a rally for him at Woodville Friday. Brownsville citizens will banquet Sen. Walter Woodward Monday night when he arrives there to open a Valley tour in his campaign for attorney-general.

Floyd Alsop, 9, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Alsop, sustained a double fracture of his left arm when his clothing caught in a power separator at the Alsop dairy farm northwest of Cisco about 9 o'clock Monday morning. The arm was broken above and below the elbow, examination at Graham sanitarium where the injury was treated, revealed.

Mr. Alsop said that he had shut off the electricity which powers the machine and that it was running on momentum when the boy's sleeve caught in a wheel. Only the facts that the machine runs at a slow rate and that the power was off prevented the child being killed, he said. Worse injury was prevented when he and others who were present lifted the boy and rotated him with the machine until it was slowed down sufficiently to release the child, he said.

WHY do you suppose Chevrolet keeps repeating, in all of its advertising, "Drive it only 5 miles"? Here's the reason: Chevrolet engineers have tried out all the various makes of cars in today's low-price field. And they have proved to their complete satisfaction, the same things that hundreds of thousands of Chevrolet owners are proving in their daily driving: How much more smoothly a car travels with genuine, fully-enclosed Knee-Action. How much more comfortably it handles, with shock-proof steering. How much more restfully you ride, in a Fisher Body car. How

In other words, Chevrolet engineers know for sure that the Chevrolet ride simply can't be matched by any other in the low-price field. SCHOOL LEAGUE WILL VOTE ON BASEBALL PLAN

By VERNON A. MCGEE
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, May 17.—Whether they shall be a statewide "major league" in schoolboy baseball is to be determined soon by a referendum in the Texas Interscholastic league.

Director Roy Henderson said the poll would be conducted before the end of the current school year. If the vote is affirmative the first state champion in high school baseball will be determined next spring.

Proposals to carry the league's baseball competition to a state title this year failed because a rule now requires diamond play to end May 15 with eight regional championships.

Addition of baseball to the league's major sports now carried to state championships was discussed warmly by delegates at the league's 24th annual meet here May 4-5. However, no motion was made. No vote was taken.

The league's director and executive committees still are uncertain of the demand for a schoolboy "major league."

Major Spokesman
D. C. Cannon, Corpus Christi high school coach, was a major spokesman for the plan at the annual meeting of high school football coaches the week-end of the league's annual tournament. He believed that between 250 and 300 high school lines would enter a statewide baseball league next spring.

Coaches in Dallas, Fort Worth, Austin, Waco, Killeen, Houston, El Paso, Corpus and other cities have affirmed willingness to send their teams in quest of a state title.

Cannon proposed the state be divided into districts, winners of which would compete in four regional play-offs. The four regional champions would play here for the state title, probably during the week-end following the Interscholastic league's annual meet.

The state tourney would be financed by gate receipts and a $1 fee for entrance in the baseball league.

His plan has been referred to an executive committee of the Interscholastic league. It probably will be pigeon-holed until the referendum is completed.

CLAIMS IT WOULD IMPROVE FOOTBALL

AUSTIN, May 17.—"More emphasis on high school baseball will improve the quality of football," such was the comment of Coach D. C. (Bobby) Cannon of Corpus Christi in regard to a plan for carrying high school baseball competition to a state title.

"Our good football players have almost without exception been outstanding in baseball," he said. "It improves their coordination and the fellows that play baseball in the summer usually are in good physical condition to start the grid season in the fall."

CONDITIONS OF LIVESTOCK AND RANGES GOOD

Moisture conditions during April were favorable for ranges, except in the panhandle and the area west of the Pecos, the Texas division of the United States bureau of agricultural economics at Austin said in its May 1 livestock report Monday. The report said, however, that rains had fallen over more than half of the panhandle area since May 1 and that improvement should be shown.

Conditions were rated as 92 per cent normal, with an eight-point improvement during April, compared with 74 per cent on April 1, 79 per cent a year ago, and 84.2 per cent as the 10-year average.

Cattle condition was rated as 79 per cent normal.

"The condition of cattle," said the report, "continued to improve during April, showing an improvement of five points over a month ago, and is now rated at 79 per cent of normal, compared with 74 per cent on April 1, 81 per cent a year ago, and 83.2 per cent the 10-year average. Cattle generally came out of the winter in good condition, and should rain fall in the dry areas cattle should mend rapidly. Losses were reported as having been light during the winter, and the calf crop prospects are good in practically all areas. The condition of new born calves, in most instances, is very good."

"Condition of sheep and goat ranges improved nine points during April and is now rated as 80 per cent of normal, compared with 78 per cent a year ago, and 83.4 per cent the 10-year average. Rains are badly needed throughout most of the area west of the Pecos. In some parts of the Edwards plateau which were reported dry, recent rains have broken the drought."

"Sheep conditions improved seven points during April and is now rated at 81 per cent of normal, compared with 82 per cent a year ago, and 86.8 per cent the 10-year average. Lambing is about over and prospects are for a smaller lamb crop than last year. Some loss of early lambs were reported. Lambing is somewhat later this year and screw worms are bad and many ranchmen will not dock their lambs for fear of losing them."

GIRLS BEST SPELLERS
NEW ORLEANS, May 17.—New Orleans public school girls proved better spellers in a contest resulting in 12,249 perfect papers. Girls rated 53 per cent of the 100 per cent grades. "Article," "heart," and "transient" were spelled incorrectly the greatest number of times.

Candidate Hughes and Family

MAURY HUGHES, CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR, HAS HAD ACTIVE LIFE

By RAYMOND BROOKS
AUSTIN, May 17.—Maury Hughes of Dallas, 39-year-old candidate for governor, is a man whose mature years have seen varied and vigorous action—and his steady climb in political affairs until he gained—and voluntarily relinquished—the democratic state chairmanship.

Hughes saw action against the Germans in France, winning a promotion from lieutenant to captain, and the Croix de Guerre, for raiding a German machine gun nest. He came back to get into the thick of a fight at Dallas against the Ku Klux Klan, one that caused his defeat as district attorney.

Contest With McDonald
He was made chairman of the democratic state committee in 1932. He was an aspirant in 1933 to the post of national committeeman from Texas, and his ambitions ran athwart those of James E. Ferguson, who sought to elevate to the place of C. C. McDonald, one of Hughes' present opponents in the governor's race. Neither won, and later Mr. Ferguson took the nomination himself. Hughes resigned as state chairman when he began his race for governor against McDonald and others.

Candidate Hughes' mother was the daughter of Gen. W. W. Hudson of Gainesville. She was married to J. W. Hughes, young Gainesville lawyer in 1899. The family moved to California, where Mr. Hughes became circuit judge. Maury Hughes was born in San Diego, June 8, 1894. His father died when he was a baby. His mother brought her three children back to Gainesville, where Maury grew up.

Maury Hughes was educated at Austin college and the University of Virginia, and was admitted to the bar in 1916.

Private to Captain
He enlisted early in the war, and saw service in every rank from private to captain.

When the 36th division entered the front-line trenches, Hughes was a first lieutenant. Oct. 8, 1918, his company raided a machine gun nest. For leading this charge, he was decorated with the Croix de Guerre and promoted to a captain on the field of battle. He commanded Company E, 144th infantry, composed largely of Texas boys.

After the war he was elected president of the 36th division association.

He resumed law practice in Dallas after the war. In 1920 he was elected district attorney, and during that service, was president of the State Association of District Attorneys.

One of his notable cases was that of imposing the death penalty on a man charged in the Dallas postoffice robbery case.

In 1922 the Ku Klux Klan fight broke out in Dallas county, and Hughes led a fight against that organization. He was defeated for re-election, and in the next two campaigns, stumped the state denouncing the Klan. In 1928, he stumped the state for Alfred E. Smith. That year he was elected a member of the democratic state committee. That year he contested with old forces, led by Thomas B. Love, for leadership of the Dallas county democracy.

Speaks for Repeal
Hughes was one of the leaders of the Garner for vice president boom in 1932. He was a delegate to the democratic national convention, and served on the national platform committee. Hughes, as a speaker in the national convention, followed Gov. Smith, and as he was speaking, word came to him that the Texas delegation had switched from its stand against a repeal plank. Hughes threw away his prepared speech and made an extemporaneous plea for repeal that was regarded as an outstanding speech of the convention.

Hughes came back, helped in the campaign, was elected to the state committee, and at Lubbock was made state chairman.

When the national recovery program was undertaken, President Roosevelt appointed him chairman of the state recovery board.

Mr. Hughes was married in 1920 to Miss Ann Louise Higgins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Higgins. Mrs. Hughes was born and reared in Dallas. Mr. and Mrs. Hughes have two sons, Maury, Jr., 11, and Bob, nine.

Candidate Hughes finds his recreation in hunting and fishing, and spends the week-ends and holidays with his sons on his farm near Dallas.

Two Hurt by Wild Bat at Ball Game

J. J. Collins, captain of the Rotary club playground ball team, and Carl Nix, a member of the Fire department team, were injured Friday afternoon when a bat slipped from the grasp of Carl Pence, Fireman member, as he swung at the ball during a game between the two teams and struck them simultaneously upon the heads as they stood together on the sidelines.

Mr. Collins was struck upon the jaw, a tooth puncturing the flesh.

He was taken to Graham sanitarium where the wound was dressed. No bones were broken. He was doing well Saturday. Mr. Pence was knocked unconscious when the bat struck him on the forehead. No serious effects had developed Saturday.

The Ford V-8's very engine construction gives you more body room, as the diagram explains. Cylinders are "doubled-up" saving space, not strung along in a line to waste it.

"SHOPPING...THERE'S A REAL TEST OF NERVES, TOO, MR. BUCK!"

Listen to what Mrs. Abbot J. Copeland has to say on shopping—and nerves:

"There's no doubt in the world that healthy nerves are vital to a man who goes out and catches wild animals alive. But take it from a busy wife and mother who spends many hours each week searching through the stores —anxious to make the family budget reach as far as possible—you need healthy nerves to be a shopper, too! Tramping through miles and miles of aisles... pricing, comparing, judging quality and values... well, that's a test of anyone's nerves. 'Nerves' don't ever bother me, though. As for cigarettes, I smoke Camels. They don't upset my nerves, and I have never tasted such flavor and mildness."

Frank Buck, who has brought back many tons of wild cargo from the jungles of Asia, says:

"It takes healthy nerves to bring 'em back alive. It's a job packed with thrills, excitement, and real danger. I never would have been able to populate half the zoos in this country, cross the Pacific 20 times with tons of savage live cargo, and save my own life a half dozen times by quick action if I didn't have healthy nerves. I am a heavy smoker. I prefer Camels, knowing that I can safely smoke all I want without upsetting my nerves."

How Are YOUR Nerves?

Jangled nerves are apt to visit us all. You know the signs—telephone slamming, frowning, hot words that wound others, worrying and fuming over trifles. If you are inclined toward jumpy nerves check up now—on your eating and sleeping, your habits of work and play. Make Camels your cigarette. They never get on your nerves.

If you have experienced the aftertaste often associated with flat-tasting cigarettes, or the "sweet" type, you will appreciate the mildness and rich flavor of Camels. And you can smoke them all you want. For Camel's costlier tobaccos never jangle your nerves.

CISCO A. & M. SENIOR WINS TRIP TO JAPAN

COLLEGE STATION, May 17.—As winners of the 1934 contest at the Texas A. & M. college, Thomas P. Porter, of Terrell, Floyd Thurman of Cisco and Robert L. Bennett of Rhome in Wise county will be awarded traveling scholarships to visit textile centers of Japan during the summer. Results of the contest, the third annual competition of its sort at the college, have just been announced by J. S. Mogford, associate professor of agronomy in charge of cotton production, who will conduct the student group on its tour of observation to the Far East.

Porter, Thurman and Bennett were the three high point men in the contest in the order named. All are seniors in agronomy and all have aided in paying their college expenses by working while here.

The group will leave here immediately after graduation June 2 and will sail from San Francisco June 6 for Yokohama. The itinerary in Japan includes Tokyo, Osaka and Kobe, and the group expects to visit Chosen and Manchou before returning. The purpose of the trip will be educational, in that it will afford opportunity to observe practical workings of the textile industry, and to develop contact between the college and the industry. J. Watanabe, of San Francisco, a student at the college, will make the trip with the group as interpreter.

DEAN WIGGINS TO SPEAK TO HIS GRADUATES

Dean D. M. Wiggins of Simmons university, Abilene, a recognized authority on public school and college curricula, will be the commencement speaker for the Cisco high school senior class in exercises at the high school Monday evening, May 28. Principal H. Brandon has announced.

A class of 33 students are candidates for diplomas this year, the principal said. Examinations are to begin this week and are to be completed by Friday. Examinations for the remainder of the high school classes will take place the following week.

The senior play will be presented Friday, May 25.

The baccalaureate services are to be held Sunday evening, May 27, at the high school auditorium. Under the rotation system followed by the schools, the Presbyterian church this year will have charge of the services.

Grammar school exercises are to be held Thursday night, May 24, and "Honor Night" will take place the preceding evening at the same place. The latter is an institution begun a few years ago that has met with a great response from patrons and students in encouraging a more sustained and general effort at scholastic excellence. It meets, to a great extent, the objection that only two or three particularly excellent scholars in the senior class receive public recognition for their accomplishments, while the great body of the students do their work in obscurity so far as reward for meritorious grades is concerned.

The program for commencement is in the main tentative, it was announced. Details will be announced from time to time, it was promised.

BELGIAN'S NEW KING WORKING LONG AND LATE

BRUSSELS, May 17.—Europe's newest king is working hard to live up to the expectations of his people.

Two months after his accession finds Belgium a 32-year-old ruler, Leopold III settling down to his job with energy and determination. Since the day King Albert died a change has come over Leopold. His face has become grave. He works long hours. There is hardly any time now for the horseback riding, golfing and other sports in which he once delighted.

Leopold Rotarian

Leopold feels his responsibilities keenly, but it has not spoiled his social side. King Albert was a Rotarian—and the only one, he once remarked, "in my line of business." Leopold has succeeded him as Rotary's only representative of the king's business and finds time for the more important Rotary luncheons.

King Albert taught Leopold to study insects. It was good preparation, he thought, for the later study of men. Leopold became an excellent entomologist, and now everyone with whom he confers—his ministers, foreign diplomats, professors and business men—remarks upon his insight into human nature.

Like any good business man, Leopold is on the job punctually every morning. He is familiar with the early-rising habits of the suburbanite. He has to get up at dawn to leave the castle of Stuyvenberg, where he lives, and get to his study in Brussels at 9 a. m.

PILGRIMS PLAN OCEAN TRIP TO S. A. CONGRESS

By RALPH HEINZEN, United Press Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, May 17.—Three transatlantic liners have been chartered to carry pilgrims from Europe to the Ecumenical congress at Buenos Aires in October. The French liner Campana, 15,000 tons, will carry 800 French pilgrims from Marseilles, while the Oceania will sail from Genoa with an equal number.

The Campana will call at Barcelona and Dakar for pilgrims from Spain and Senegal and will arrive at Buenos Aires on Oct. 8, after calling at Rio de Janeiro, Santos, and Montevideo. During a week, the pilgrims will live on the boat at Buenos Aires and after that they will visit the Argentine provinces and Chile. The liners bring them back to Europe in November.

Pontifical Agencies

The Vatican has appointed pontifical agencies here to book pilgrims but in addition to those going on the chartered liners many will travel by the regular service.

The Vatican is attempting to get the Argentine government to waive the port and landing taxes on pilgrims. This would make it possible for inclusive fees to be reduced.

Several South American governments, anxious to have the pilgrim tour, have agreed to waive passport fees and restrictions. The Brazilian Touring club is preparing the itinerary of a side trip through Brazil.

There will be at least two cardinals and nine bishops with the French pilgrims, as well as nearly 100 priests. Among other prominent members of the party will be Marquis de Cianurum, descendant of Lafayette and member of the French senate; M. de Venes, president of all the Societies of Saint Vincent de Paul throughout the world; Madame Froyssinard, daughter of President Albert Lebrun of France, and her husband; Count Dufour de la Thuillerie and Count d'Yanville, a member of the permanent commission of the Ecumenical congress.

NEW FEDERAL RELIEF PLAN STARTS SOON

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 17.—House and garden projects designed to remove permanently thousands of depression-stricken families from the relief rolls will start shortly with new federal millions, the United Press learned this week.

The relief plan is modeled after the experimental subsistence homestead projects which now dot the country. It is designed to aid farmers who are unable to earn food shelter and clothing, workers in played-out industries and city workers capable of supporting themselves in home agriculture.

Needy families may expect, through operation of the plan, a comfortable home, garden tools, livestock, seed, sufficient ground to grow vegetables for home consumption, and part time jobs.

AUSTIN, May 17.—Relief funds for May totaling $173,000 were being forwarded to county administrators this week from state relief headquarters.

Reductions are greatest in agricultural areas where seasonal farm work is lessening demand.

New Wells Drilled By Humble Near Star

RISING STAR, May 17.—Jack Ames, production superintendent for the Humble Oil and Refining Co., in this district, said last week that his company's new well on the E. P. 3 & W. H. Kilgore tract, almost one mile south of the Humble Co. lake, Blake field, was drilling at 400 feet. The new well is considered practically a wildcat as there are no other wells very near it, and may mean an extension to the field.

Several other wells are to be drilled by the company, as new locations are made. This is the first drilling to be done here by the company in some time, and the reason given is that more gas is needed at the Blake gasoline plant.

Physicians Doubt Story June Remained in Hole 19 Days

BELIEVED GIRL PLACED THERE FOR GET-AWAY

BULLETIN
TUCSON, Ariz., May 17.—One man was held incommunicado and two others were being questioned by authorities today in a general round-up of suspects in the kidnaping of 6-year-old June Robles. Large crowds gathered threateningly about the county jail where the questioning was in process.

TUCSON, Ariz., May 17.—Further doubt was cast by physicians today on the story of little June Robles as she was imprisoned by kidnapers for 19 days in a corrugated iron half buried in the hot desert 20 miles from here. Authorities were inclined to believe that the 6-year-old girl's story was woven from imagination. They deemed it far more likely she was imprisoned in the cage two days or before she was found so that her captors could escape. The cage was examined for finger prints. Police said their suspicions against two local suspects might be proved or disproved by the outcome of the tests.

Rate Case Trial Set To Begin on June 1

AUSTIN, May 17.—District Judge Charles Wheeler today postponed until next Wednesday a hearing in the Lone Star Gas company rate case.

Law points will be argued then. The case will be set for trial on its merits on June 1, Judge Wheeler announced. The trial is expected to take five to seven weeks. By it the utility division of the state railroad commission seeks to force the Lone Star Gas company to reduce the rate at which it furnishes natural gas for distribution in 250 communities. A rate of 32 cents a 1,000 cubic feet is sought to replace a 40-cent rate.

Delay was caused by late filing of a long reply by the state to answer of the gas company. The company had contended that its business is interstate and not subject to state control. The reply argues that its local business within the state is subject to state control.

80,000-Pound Weight Used by U. S. Car To Test Accuracy of Railroad Scales

One of the two railroad cars which travel over the United States continuously, testing railroad scales was in Cisco Wednesday to test the scales of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas road. The car was in charge of D. V. Smith, official tester of the U. S. bureau of standards of the department of justice. V. J. Gebhardt, M. K. and T. tester accompanied him and assisted with the test. The Katy tests its scales regularly each three months. Tests are made with a motor-driven truck, calibrated to a weight of 10,000 pounds and bearing seven blocks of metal each calibrated to a similar weight. Total weight of the test car is 80,000 pounds. The car and blocks are carried in a special car equipped with an electric plant and a great travelling crane which is pushed out the rear of the test truck onto and off tracks and lower the seven big blocks to positions upon it. On the switch it travels slowly over the "live" rails, connected to the scales whose accuracy is tested every few feet. On their rack on the floor of the car, the blocks and truck are bolted down. Mr. Smith was here last in 1928 to test scales. He is now en route to the Pacific coast via El Paso and will spend several months there before returning to his master station at Chicago where his own equipment will be tested by the government to detect any loss in their own weight. Mr. and Mrs. Smith do not travel with the car, but follow it by automobile. Their yearly itineraries are made up by the department of commerce and approved by the American Railway association.

GOP CONCEDES SENATE VOTE FOR MEASURE

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 17.—The senate plunged into its hot tariff fight today with pleas from administration leaders that President Roosevelt be given broad tariff bargaining powers in order to save American industry and agriculture. The bill to give the president authority to adjust tariff rates and make reciprocal trade agreements with foreign powers already has passed the house. Its consideration in the senate of congress. Senate passage of the tariff bill is conceded by republican leaders. "The proposed legislation deals with a problem which vitally concerns the welfare of the whole country," Harrison said. "It overshadows any one locality or sections." He said enactment of the bill would mean increased trade, with increased employment and benefits to industry and agriculture. "Definite limitations are nevertheless laid down, restricting the president's actions," Harrison said. "These limitations provide that no proclamation shall be made increasing or decreasing by more than 50 per cent any existing rate or duty or transferring any article between the dutiable and the free list."

REVISSED LEASE LAW ATTACKED BY ATTY-GEN.

AUSTIN, May 17.—The Texas attorney-general department has asked the state supreme court to rehear a $4,100,000 argument. Critical of the manner in which the state is conducting its oil business, Assistant Attorney-general Homer DeWolfe contends the legislature's modification of the Sabine river lease law to be invalid. The state started its own oil business at the instance of Former Governor Ross S. Sterling, who made a personal fortune out of oil. The original law providing for lease of the Sabine river bed required three-eighths royalty be poured into the public treasury. In addition, a bonus of $5,125 for each producing well was to be paid from an additional 1-16 of the oil produced. Later the legislature revised the lease law. The state's royalty was reduced one-fourth. The additional well bonus was to be paid out of an additional 1-64, instead of 1-16, of the oil produced. DeWolfe estimates the difference in state income between lease contracts executed under the original law and those based on the revised law to be $4,100,000. He alleges that under the new contracts, lease-holding oil concerns would receive $19,850 from each well to pay cost of drilling, compared to an alleged actual cost of between $8,000 and $12,000 to drill each well. The attorney-general's department refused to approve the first contracts based on the revised lease law. Mandamus proceedings were instituted to require approval. Four oil companies which were awarded such contracts received a favorable ruling from the state supreme court. The supreme judges are now asked to rehear arguments in the dispute. DeWolfe pointing out that the state stands to lose $4,100,000 unless the high court upholds the attorney-general's contention. Oil companies involved are the Rhoads Drilling company, Blue Star Oil company, R-Rex Oil company, and Ruston Drilling company.

Feminine Curves "O. K.", But Municipal Eye Sees No Art in Masculine Figure

DALLAS, May 17.—Scanty bath-suits will be "O. K." at Texas beaches and municipal pools for men this year, but taboo for men. Of course, the female attire, the beach dress learned in a survey, have to keep within the bounds of decency.

Where the line of demarcation will be drawn to indicate "real" beach and pool officials the surveyed.

Men go to the extreme—that is, less than the fashion apparent brassiere-trunk style of suit well, at least they won't be allowed to enter the water.

As far as styles for men and boys, it all depends on their ages. Men with hairy chests simply will have to display them only in dressing rooms. And the approved attire for men will be the old style trunks with tops.

Of course, if men prefer a sun tan, they might be permitted to have a low-cut back. Only small boys will be permitted to wear the single trunk fashion for men.

The only place in Texas where beach and park superintendents turn a blind eye to water attire is at Galveston. There the idea was reported to be "whatever you can get into you can wear, and if you don't wear anything at the West Beach that's your business."

But at El Paso Park Commissioner Hugo Meyer said the latest brassiere-trunk suits for women probably would be worn by many girls, but they "would be dipped in the water."

Men, Meyer said, have got to wear enough to cover everything between the neck and wherever the bottom of their bathing suit stops.

At Austin the trunk-brassiere style for women will be worn if the legislature has to be asked for the permission, women indicated. However, to prevent any "unreasonableness," James A. Garrison, head of the city recreation department, said he would have locker room attendants with authority to bar persons who attempt to appear in the "extreme or indecent cut or fit."

Park Commissioner James Rubiloo at San Antonio has ruled negatively for men as far as "freedom" in bathing suits is concerned. But for the brassiere-trunk style for women, he doubts his ability to stem the tide of fashion.

Texas Christian co-eds declared the "scantier the swimming suit the better we like it," so far as the health standpoint is concerned. "Of course, there are always conscientious observers who actually are evil minded, but maybe they can have pools for themselves," one co-ed said.

Recreation Director W. D. Evans of Fort Worth said there were no iron-clad rules against bathing suits of any particular kind. He said he had not seen the new brassiere-trunk style for women, but believed they would be permissible.

At Houston, County Judge W. H. Ward emphatically instructed the commissioner's court that it was not authorized to pass upon the question of what type of bathing suit men and women should wear.

SISTER MARY'S RECIPES

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NSA Service Staff Writer

JELLIED SALADS always appeal to spring appetites and mothers will find them easy and economical to make and serve for everyday meals. However, if an elaborate and important salad is wanted the jellied salad can be relied on to furnish the desired touch of luxury.

The variations to the jellied salad are innumerable. Individual molds, ring molds to be filled with other materials, large molds to be handsomely garnished and served by the hostess, the salad dressing added to the jellied mixture, the jellied mixture used to fill hollowed out tomatoes, cucumber cups or sweet green peppers—all these ways make it possible to vary jellied salads invitingly.

The foundation jelly for salads should be pleasantly tart, no matter whether the added material be meat, vegetable or fruit. Even the dessert salad which is so popular for hot weather meals must be piquant rather than sweet and its whipped cream dressing must be definitely tart and zestful. Lemon juice does much for fruit salads and you will find that a dash of vinegar vastly improves meat and vegetable salads.

There is an asparagus salad that makes a stunning dish for a buffet supper table although the recipe is not too extravagant for everyday use.

Asparagus Salad
One bunch asparagus (about one pound), 1 cup chicken broth or water, soup bag, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, 4 tablespoons cold water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup whipped cream.

Wash asparagus and cut tips the same height as the mold in which the salad is to be made. Tie tips

Tomorrow's Menu

in bundles and cook in boiling salted water until tender. Remove from water and when cool use to line mold. To the water in which the tips were cooked, add the rest of the asparagus which has been cut in inch lengths, chicken stock or water and the "soup bag." The soup bag consists of 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 small carrot cut in thin slices, 3 or 4 sprigs of parsley, 1 blade of celery finely minced and 2 or 4 peppercorns. These are tied in a cheesecloth bag. Simmer until the asparagus is tender and the liquid slightly reduced.

Remove the soup bag and rub the asparagus through a sieve. There should be one cup of asparagus pulp and liquid. If there is more return to the fire and cook slowly until reduced. Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve over hot water. Add to asparagus puree and stir well. Stir occasionally while cooling. When mixture is cool and begins to thicken fold in cream whipped until firm with lemon juice. Let stand until mixture thickens again and turn into prepared mold. Let stand on ice for several hours to chill and become firm. Unmold and serve on a bed of lettuce with French dressing.

The Exact Age of Blatz Old Heidelberg Beer Is Guaranteed

EVERYONE has always known—that to be good—beer must be aged. Many indefinite claims have been made as to the age of beers—but now Blatz announces the greatest advancement in the brewing industry in 20 years—and guarantees the exact age of every bottle of Blatz Old Heidelberg Beer. It requires millions of dollars in equipment—row upon row of huge ageing vats—to make this guarantee possible. Every one of these vats carries the date on which its contents was brewed. When fully-aged, when it has reached that exact time when the beer has all that is best—the satisfying richness of flavor—the full body and strength—then it is bottled, and there is shown on every bottle the exact date that beer was brewed. It is your guide and guarantee that Blatz Old Heidelberg Beer is fully-aged.

TAMPA TARZAN IS STROLLING DOWN TO RIO

HOUSTON, May 17.—Fred R. Scott, 22 Tampa, Fla., is "strolling down to Rio" clad only in his bathing suit and a pair of tennis shoes.

Eight weeks after he strolled from his job at a riding academy in Tampa the former Cornell university student ambled into Houston, sun-tanned and badly in need of a shave.

Life wasn't all it might have been even though he had a good job, the young adventurer said in reviewing his actions.

"I'm going for a stroll," he casually announced to his beach friends at Tampa.

"Where to?" he was asked.

"To South America," was his solemn reply.

His stroll through main streets here nearly caused a panic. His brief attire and his heavy beard won him the sobriquet of "The Tampa Tarzan."

Scott does not like the name. Quiet and unassuming, he spoke with the earnestness of youth in search of happiness. He is no fastidious, he insisted.

His "pack" consists of an identification card and matches.

Scott isn't very crazy about civilization in its present state. If he is happy among the wild jungle natives of South America he will remain among them—never returning to the civilization from which he is fleeing. At least that's his story.

The Tampa Tarzan accepts rides in automobiles. "It is so tiresome," he said. He averages 20 to 40 miles a day walking. At night he sleeps in a house if one is offered; otherwise he sleeps out-of-doors.

He thinks nudism is rather silly. If he takes a notion to go nude he will do so when he gets among the South American primitives where it is appropriate.

"Heavy Water" May Be Answer to Age

HOUSTON, May 17.—Fence De Leon's illusory fountain of youth may become a reality with the aid of science.

The revelation was made here by Dr. T. W. Buehrer, professor of chemistry at the University of Arizona.

Extraction of a substance known as "heavy water" from ordinary water may be the answer to the ageless quest for extension of life, he indicated.

Discovery of "heavy water" in 1932 by two eastern scientists has brought experimentation and research that gives hope of life preservation. Prof. H. C. Urey of Columbia university in New York city and Dr. G. M. Murphy and Dr. F. G. Brickwedde of the American Bureau of standards discovered the substance.

Then, Dr. Buehrer said, an old willow tree has been discovered on the bank of the Potomac which contained proportionately more of the "heavy water" than was in the water of the river. Bodies storing up this substance age in direct relation, he insisted.

Smaller life perishes in the "heavy water" experiments have shown. Accumulation of the substance may explain why life gradually ebbs into old age.

"Heavy water" can be extracted or separated from ordinary water by a chemical process of decomposition—electrolysis. It is composed, said Dr. Buehrer, of ordinary oxygen atoms and heavy hydrogen atoms. Hydrogen gas contains two substances, scientists have found, which have the same properties except that one is twice as heavy as the other.

Knowledge that the "heavy water" kills small life has caused at least one scientist, Prof. S. Taylor of Princeton, to suggest that it may be used for treatment of cancer.

Records Folk Songs Of Texas Negroes

MERIDIAN, May 17.—A studios appearing man with a recording phonograph visiting Bosque county negroes and cajoling them into songs has been identified as John A. Lomax, commissioned by the library of congress to make the records.

Lomax already noted for his folklore collections and collections of range songs now is specializing in the "sinful songs," as the negroes call their melodies that are not spirituals.

Alan Lomax, son of the noted collector, has been with his father on most of the tour. He now is temporarily in Austin.

Together father and son traveled more than 15,000 miles in Texas, Mississippi, Tennessee and Louisiana. They visited negroes in remote communities to get the songs in their most native stage. The records being taken will be preserved on celluloid and aluminum plates.

Real negro singing, Dr. Lomax said, is much different from the negro college quartet or concert hall singing with which the public is familiar.

Real negro singing is not "contaminated" with adaptations from white compositions, Dr. Lomax said. He listed repetition of closing lines as a typical "taint."

"The natural negro songs makes no attempt at artificial effects but bursts from the singer as naturally and as freely as the warbling of a bird," he added. "He sings the last bar with the same emphasis as the first. Few persons other than Southerners have heard the negro songs in the artless simplicity that gives them their greatest charm."

Research Work Is Defended by Prof.

AUSTIN, Tex., May 17.—Research work as part of the state's educational expense is defended by Dr. E. P. Schooch, director of the University of Texas bureau of industrial chemistry.

Laying aside the question of the value commercially of research discoveries, Dr. Schooch advocated research on the limited plane of its value to the educational system.

"Research," he said, "builds up the scholarship of the faculty and makes them more enthusiastic teachers. It impels students to do work in which they otherwise would be less active."

"Research," he adds, "is an old-age insurance for teachers. When a teacher is limited to second-hand transmission of knowledge, he can readily be replaced by a younger and cheaper teacher; but if he continues to progress by research, he is always ahead of the less experienced teacher."

Dr. Schooch does not agree that college research has not been valuable commercially, a point waved for discussion of research from a strictly educational point of view.

For lack of adequate research, he said, the oil, building and other industries are handicapped and public water supplies are too costly.

Nat'l Oil Scouts to Meet at Lake Charles

LAKE CHARLES, La., May 17.—Oil scouts of the nation will converge here May 21 and 22 for the annual convention of the National Oil Scouts' association.

Anticipations are that 400 men will attend sessions.

Many Texas cities already have announced delegations for the meeting. Between 50 and 75 will come from Houston alone.

though in a minority." As stated above this candidate referred to had expressed himself in favor of the majority rule, which invariably is the best policy. You cannot coerce a free people against their will and have harmony.

These opposing school districts have appealed to the county superintendent and county school board by petition, by attorney and in person, at different times, only to be turned down by the county board, and by their actions, were told, "go back home, boys, and take your medicine. It will be good for you."

I am of the opinion that there would have been little or no opposition to the consolidation from the districts of Dan Horn and Nimrod had the superintendent and county board perfected the consolidation, by embracing sufficient territory in the district to increase the valuation to make it sufficient to maintain an affiliated high school to comply with the requirement of the school laws. Instead they have put several other districts out should have been grouped with the Scranton district, leaving the few pay of a large bonded indebtedness without a voice.

The state pays tuition and a month for transportation to an affiliated school, if we were free to do so.

I believe, in fairness to Dan Horn and Nimrod, that our superintendent and county board should perfect the consolidation as originally planned, by taking in other districts to raise the valuation as required by law, as we have promised, or rescind the order of consolidation and turn these territories loose. I do not believe the educational department would prove the present grouping for this consolidation if the true situation was known.
