500-Gallon Unit Secured to Hike Lake Pumping Capacity

EQUIPMENT IS BOUGHT FROM HUMBLE HERE

Purchase by the city Saturday of a 500-gallon pump, complete with 50-horsepower motor unit, from the Humble Oil and Refining company, was believed to have solved, for the present at least, the problem of keeping the residents of Cisco amply supplied with water during the current dry weather.

The pump, which originally was purchased to boost water pressure at Humboldt, was said to have been used only 30 minutes at that task. It was found to be much too powerful, and since then has been idle. Costing a reported $2,300 when new, the unit was sold to the city for $250. It was a part of a great amount of equipment that the Humble company has been disposing of since transferring its production headquarters from Cisco to Wichita Falls.

Installation Started

Workmen began the process of installing it at the pump house at the lake Saturday afternoon. They were put to work transporting the unit to the site where it will be hooked to an eight-inch line joining with the 16-inch conduit 100 yards away. The present pump of 750 gallon per minute capacity is hooked up in similar fashion, so that when the auxiliary is installed, the city will have two pumping units on independent tubes connecting with the main line to the city reservoirs. Thus, in the event of breakdown, there will be alternate pumping equipment to rely upon.

It was anticipated the pump would be in place, ready to operate, within a week or ten days. Meanwhile, negotiations have been started with the Fairbanks-Morse people looking to the purchase of Diesel engine pumping equipment, the commission said. It was believed such equipment would be enough in power costs to justify the investment.

MUSSOLINI AND HITLER REACH INFORMAL PACT

VENICE, Italy, June 16 — Chancellor Adolph Hitler, seemingly a bit calmed by it, left by airplane today for the peace and quiet of Germany after a bewildering two-day visit to Premier Benito Mussolini which may prove of diplomatic importance.

During their two-day discussion, Hitler and Mussolini reached purely informal agreements that:

- 1—Austria shall maintain its independence.
- 2—The European armament situation should be stabilized before actual disarmament is attempted, and Germany should be permitted to build up its armament toward equality with its neighbors during a six-year period.
- 3—Mussolini's battered four-power peace treaty to bind Italy, Germany, France and Great Britain to keep the peace for ten years, should be the frame work of security treaties.

Police Free Bandits From Student Mob

CHICAGO, June 16 — Two bandits, attempting to hold up the registrar's office at the Chicago College of Dental Surgery today were beaten almost unconscious when 200 students surged into the room and pounced on the pair.

The bandits were rescued from the shouting mob of students by a squad of policemen.

While the registrar was explaining there was no money in the office a student passed by the door and saw the gun in the bandit's hand. He spread the alarm.

R. R. Comm'n Chairman Smith "Campaigning Like the Devil" Through Cisco on Saturday

Railroad Comm'n Chairman Lon A. Smith, on his first campaign tour, was the guest of Cisco friends for a few hours yesterday afternoon, en route to El Paso. The commissioner and his party, which included Victor B. Gilbert of the motorbus division of the state railroad commission, and Cam Murray, inspector for the same department, arrived from Breckenridge about 3 o'clock and left on the Sunshine for El Paso at 5.

"I'm campaigning through this country like the devil," laughed the ruddy-cheeked, white-haired commissioner who says he's in his prime and is fit and ready for another six years as commissioner.

He expressed pleasure over the killing of the Disney oil control bill in the congressional house, asserting

STRIKE THREAT ABATED UNTIL FD GETS PLAN

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 16 — The threat of an immediate paralyzing steel strike was ended today, pending reception of labor's compromise proposals which are to be placed directly before President Roosevelt in Washington.

A committee representing the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers will submit the proposals to the president. If the suggestions, which entail the setting up of a commission to supervise all translations between the companies and the men, are rejected, the strike will be called immediately.

It was emphasized that the union "war" is only temporarily abandoned. If a strike comes, union strategy will be to take the men out of the mills without notice. No further meeting will be necessary.

Suspected Slayers Tracked in Arkansas

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 16 — Two ex-convicts suspected in the slaying of C. N. Nunn, prominent farmer, had been trailed into northwest Arkansas today with officers close behind.

She said it was her husband's wish. She has not seen her husband in many months, and does not know his whereabouts.

NEW HIGHWAY 23 BIDS MAY BE REQUIRED

Errors in estimates on the federal emergency highway project for the reconstruction of Highway 23 south of Cisco nine miles to Romney, are reported to have held up federal approval of a contract tentatively awarded an Ablette firm. Bid on the project was said to be several thousand dollars in excess of what the federal bureau of roads will approve as a result of these errors.

It was considered probable that the project will be resubmitted for bids.

Meantime, difficulty is being encountered in obtaining funds to continue the reconstruction of the Leary cut-off north of Cisco to a junction with Highway 67. An appropriation out of highway maintenance funds has been exhausted except for four or five hundred dollars which is being used to maintain construction already done. This consists of four and a half miles of new drainage structures and widened roadbed and three and a half miles of cul-de-sac. The road is nine miles in length. The Cisco chamber of commerce, Secy J. E. Sprenner, said, will probably send a representative to Austin in the event the next meeting of the highway commission passes without an appropriation being made to continue the work.

CONGRESS PUTS ON SPEED FOR ADJOURNMENT

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 16 — Congress clicked off a bill a minute today in an adjournment drive which on noon found the vital labor dispute bill on the way to enactment and obstacles disappearing from the path of the administration's housing bill.

The senate met at 9 a. m. Bills snatched through with zip and a flourish. The house convened an hour later to consider and approve in 10 minutes the labor bill pointed directly at the steel crisis but suitable to any dispute.

Most other business had been side-tracked for the adjournment push.

The senate passed and sent to conference the administration's housing bill, last of the involved recovery measures scheduled for congressional action.

Scandal From Army Purchasing Promised

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 16 — Prediction that the house military affairs committee's investigation of war department purchase methods would bring to life "a scandal which will arouse the people," were made in the house today by Rep. John J. Cochran, Dem.-Mo.

"The things this committee is finding out probably will open the doors of the penitentiary to some government officers," added Cochran, saying he was not at liberty to disclose details.

Cochran, member of the house accounts committee, drove through a resolution giving the military affairs committee an additional $20,000 to continue the investigation.

NEW DEAL GIANTS NOW YEAR OLD

NRA and PWA Claim Re-employment of Five Millions as One Contribution to National Recovery During First Twelve Months of Their Existence

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The New Deal National Recovery and Public Works administrations, twin giants of emergency, celebrated their first birthday today with claims that they have re-employed 5,000,000 of the jobless.

NRA's anniversary came in the midst of retreat to reform the code program which abolished child labor and fixed minimum wages and maximum hours for 21,000,000 workers.

The arbitrary licensing power to coerce recalcitrant industry expired today at the moment NRA entered its second year. The remainder of the act for industrial self-government remains in effect 12 months longer and can be extended.

NRA claims to date:
1. 3,000,000 workers re-employed.
2. Industrial payrolls up $3,000,000,000 annually.
3. 450 codes in effect covering 21,000,000 workers representing 94

per cent of commercial and industrial employees.
4. 500 codes pending covering the remaining 6 per cent.
5. Cost to the government so far $6,000,000.
6. Four major industries — steel, auto, bituminous coal and electrical manufacturing — employing 1,600,000 persons met in whole or in part the NRA plea to increase wages 10 per cent and reduce weekly hours in proportion.

KEOUGH WELL ON BALDEREE SPRAYING OIL

The E. J. Keough No. 1 Balderree, east of Cisco, Saturday was spraying oil with an estimated 850,000 feet of gas coming through a bridge after it had been deepened and shot.

The well, bottomed in deep Ranger at 3,620 feet, had about 50 feet of cavings in the hole Saturday after a 40-quart shot. It had been deepened from the Marble Falls, where it had been producing oil and gas since 1927, about 200 feet to the new pay horizon.

When first brought in the well produced 150 barrels of oil per day and three million feet of gas. Production of the well will not be known until the hole is cleaned, but it was declared Saturday to have commercial oil.

Two other wells on the same tract may be deepened to the same horizon as a result.

The fee is owned by Dr. C. C. Jones.

Illness of Juror Delays Gas Trial

AUSTIN, June 16 — The illness of Juror Rudolph Sandstrom today forced a recess in the trial of the state's district court suit here to force lower natural gas rates in north Texas.

Sandstrom, a contractor, used most of the noon recess yesterday to do some work. Hastily eating a sandwich, he returned to court and became ill. Physicians said he will be able to resume jury service Monday morning.

ANNUAL MEET IS MARKED BY SUB-PAR GOLF

Durrell Tully, Eastland; Houston Cole, Ranger; Charles Thorp, Ballding; and J. T. Hammett, Phil-Pe-Co are the semi-finalists in the top flight of the Cisco Country club's third annual invitation tournament in which championship play is to be completed today. These four survived the toughest competition that has marked any tournament played over the local course — competition that produced matches so closely played that few were decided before the final green. The play was cautious and slow, so much so that some matches were completed by lamplight.

The semi-finals will take place this morning and this afternoon the winners of the five championship and four consolation flights will be determined.

Cisco was eliminated from every possibility of coping top flight honors in the pairings today.

Paired this morning will be Tully vs. Cole and Thorpe vs. Hammett.

To reach the semi-finals Tully defeated Cap Lyman, Breckenridge, 1 up; Cole won over D. A. Harkrider, Brady, 2-1; Thorp defeated H. H. Vaughn, Ranger, 6-5; and Hammett defeated Jack Wilson, Knox City, 2-1.

Semi-finalists in other flights will be:
Second flight—W. E. Storey, Eastland, vs. O. L. Stamey, Cisco; S. J. Brimberry, Ranger, vs. Doug Jones, Eastland.

Third flight—Bob Sikes, Eastland, vs. Joe Withrow, Knox City; J. L. Thornton, Cisco, vs. Raymond Hamilton, Eastland.

Fourth flight—A. L. Foster, Cisco, vs. J. W. Thomas, Sr., Cisco; A. E. Caudie, Cisco, vs. R. L. Perkins, Eastland.

Fifth flight—J. P. Perot, Cisco, vs. W. H. McNeely, Cisco; Ralph Nance, Cisco, vs. Harold Ray, Ballding.

Sub-Par Frequent
Sub-par golf has been the rule, and not the exception, of the tournament. Tournament records fell like the proverbial leaves during qualifying play Friday as top-flighters cut under 72 in pairs. Medalist honor lie between two players who each broke par by seven for a 65. They were Gid Faircloth, Ranger, and Durrell Tully, Eastland. Bill McMahon, Cisco, and H. G. Agnew, Ballding, tied with a 66 each.

Faircloth and Tully must play off their tie.

Other qualifying scores in the top flight which grouped one of the fastest fields in any tournament in this section this year, were:

Panny Farmer, Knox City, and Jim Barnett, Eastland tied at 67; Jack Mooney, Jr., Ranger, and D. A. Harkrider, Brady, tied at 68; H. J. Gibbs, Valley Mills, 70; Houston Cole, Ranger, C. V. Lyman, Breckenridge, Charles Thorpe, Ballding, and Jack Wilson, Knox City, tied at 71; H. H. Vaughn, Ranger, qualified with a 72. Three other players qualified with a 76 each, but there was room for only two in the top flight.

Won Driving Contest
Tully added to his honors by winning the driving contest. He drove a total of 659 yards in three tries.

Harkrider was a close second with 624 yards.

First round results in the first and second flights were:
First flight—Tully defeated Gibbs, 4-2; Lyman defeated Farmer, 4-3; Harkrider defeated O. V. Cunningham, Cisco, 2-1; Cole, defeated Bill McMahon, Cisco, 3-2; Thorpe, defeated Faircloth 1 up; Vaughn defeated Jim Barnett, Eastland, 1 up; J. T. Stamey defeated Blair Lewis, 2-1; Homer Slicker defeated Elmer Liles, 1 up; S. J. Brimberry defeated H. G. Foy, 7-5; Doug Jones defeated P. L. Cagle, 6-5, and Bob Wheeler defeated B. Tippet, 2 up.

We went direct to owners for facts about Ford V-8 Economy

- "In over 100,000 miles I have experienced no motor trouble in my Fords."
- "On a 475-mile trip I averaged 18 to 19 miles per gallon of gasoline in my Ford V-8."
- "To date, I have driven 29,000 miles in my Ford V-8 without a cent of repairs."
- "We drove a round trip of 600 miles and used exactly 26 gallons of gasoline."
- "I have not spent five dollars for repairs on the five Fords I have owned."
- "I have driven my Ford V-8 car 2600 miles and used only 128 gallons of gasoline."
- "Our experience (with a fleet of cars) shows the Ford V-8 is the most economical."

THERE'S one sure way to get the facts about motor-car economy. And that's to ask the man who drives the car. He hasn't anything to sell and you can depend on him for a straight-from-the-shoulder, honest answer.

We asked Ford V-8 owners for the facts and received 53,448 letters and post-cards. They showed a total of 417,161,640 miles. 91.7 per cent reported complete satisfaction—a truly amazing percentage for any automobile.

34,954 of these Ford V-8 owners had driven their cars 272,815,970 miles without a single penny for repairs. Many of them reported twenty, thirty and sixty thousand miles without trouble or replacements of any kind.

Owners' figures on gasoline mileage are further proof of the economy of the Ford V-8. One owner in every four averaged 18, 19 or 20 miles a gallon. 18,420 averaged 15, 16 or 17 miles.

Where mileage was less than that it was usually due to continuous driving at high speeds, lack of proper care of the car, extra-heavy loads, or many miles of traveling over mountains or in crowded city traffic. Where you drive and how fast you drive has a great deal to do with gasoline mileage.

This data on gasoline mileage is for the 1933 Ford. The New Ford V-8 of 1934 does considerably better than that because of the new dual carburetion, waterline thermostats and new engine refinements. At the same time its power is even greater.

We invite you to drive the Ford V-8 and let it tell you its own story of performance, comfort, safety and economy. You save when you buy and you save every mile you drive.

NRA ONE YEAR OLD

The NRA yesterday was one year old. In the short period of its life it embraced more of social and economic experiment on a national scale than was ever before attempted.

Whether this improvement can be credited to the vast national program embraced by the NRA, and whether its benefits will continue cannot be determined now.

Now that it is retreating from some of the positions it had assumed, the fact may be regarded as indicative, not of defeat, but of retirement consistent with the new ability of business and industry to carry on without its assistance.

Hence, the fact that the NRA is retiring from certain points, and the fact that it is being severely criticised do not mean that it is failing in its purposes.

DONNA of the BIG TOP

BEGIN HERE TODAY. DONNA CARROLL, circus performer, falls from the trapeze and is injured. To please her partner, MADAME SIDRAL, Donna goes to Madeline's home to recuperate, pretending to be the other girl.

She is ashamed of the deception but keeps it up, even when BILL SIDRAL, Madeline's cousin, asks her to marry him. Bill and Donna are married.

MRS. PLANTER, housekeeper discharged by Donna, is her enemy. AMOS SIDRAL, Madeline's grandfather, has a stroke.

Memorable Madeline who has married CON DAVID, the animal trainer, is killed. Con knows of Donna's deception and decides to blackmail her. He comes to the nearby town and Donna agrees to meet him. Mrs. Planter intercepts this and sends Bill an anonymous letter. When Donna reaches home after meeting Con she says she has been at a neighbor's. Bill knows she has not.

Next morning she goes to see Con who shows her the certificate of his marriage to Madeline. She thinks his wife has committed bigamy. During his absence Grandfather Sidral dies. Bill tells Donna he knows the truth and that he will leave immediately after the funeral.

CHAPTER XLV. DONNA studied the contents of the clothes closet. What an accumulation of clothing she had—bangalow aprons, gingham dresses her wedding finery. There was no need to take all that to New York. Her lips twisted as she smoothed the soft, silken folds of the garments she and Minnie had spent so much time making.

Her trunk, containing her circus wardrobe, was in the attic. It was so heavy she doubted if she could move it alone, yet to ask Minnie to help would mean starting a train of questions Donna was in no mood to answer.

She would take the car, she decided, and find someone to drive it back from Lebanon. If she faced Bill again she would be sure to break down and plead for forgiveness and she wanted to keep what little self-respect she had. There was a train for Chicago at 6 o'clock. If she hurried she could catch it!

Once out of this house she would be able to put Bill out of her heart and life forever. He would divorce her, of course. Desertion was grounds for divorce.

If she remained at the farm until the will was read Bill would have more cause for bitterness against her. Perhaps, when the first hurt was over, he would contest the will and Con David's scheming would be ruined.

All of the other members of the household were down stairs—Minnie sobbing as though she had lost her nearest and dearest; Bill, hard and bitter and cold, feeling the loss of his grandchild scarcely at all in the face of his disillusion. No one heard the sound as Donna dragged the big trunk down the stairs from the attic or heard her moan of pain as the edge of it crushed down on her instep.

The pain sickened her so that she was afraid she was going to faint. Obviously she could not move the trunk further.

SHE decided to take only necessities in her traveling bag and liminary results of the survey an enormous overhead, and an extreme waste of school money as a result of multiplicity, overlapping and pyramiding, unnecessary districting and administrative structure.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—If munitions industry investigators look sharply enough, they'll find some interesting evidence in the government's own files.

Assuming, of course, that nothing has been removed. Exports of arms and other war materials to South American and other warring countries haven't always been made without the knowledge—or even the encouragement—of certain persons in certain federal departments.

The boys who learned from Mr. Hoover how to high-pressure our foreign trade didn't see why we shouldn't sell our machine guns as vigorously as anything else.

Some of them are still here and even their recent activities, when and if revealed, may cause such a flurry as to result in the loss of a few minor jobs in two departments.

In the present Chaco war, Paraguayan soldiers actually used to and dead Bolivian soldiers clad in U. S. Army uniforms, with regimental and other insignia.

The War Department had sold the uniforms and other surplus stocks to private contractors here. But that's only a sidelight.

Stephen T. Raushenbush, chief investigator for Chairman Nye of the Senate munitions committee, is checking files of the Commerce, War, State, and other departments. The White House sent word down that he was to have full access.

WHAT ever did become of the famous mechanical horse which Calvin Coolidge used to ride in the White House?

Ted Clark, Coolidge's former personal secretary, thinks it must be in storage up at Northampton.

But a lot of pretty, bare-legged girls are thrilled every day by riding on an iron steed which they understand is the very same animal installed out at the Shorham swimming pool and the check girl who passes out towels tells every body to "be sure and take a ride on Mr. Coolidge's horse." Every body does.

AGAIN, your correspondent is forced to point out that the great slugger match The Administration vs. Huey Long, is far from one-sided.

Huey isn't getting federal patronage, but neither are the administration's appointments to important Louisiana jobs, made at what he wishes, getting through the Senate.

What do you suppose became of that nomination of Daniel J. Moore to be collector of internal revenue in Huey's state? The Finance committee reported favorably after the Kinloch had shown Moore's connection with Chicago.

Brewley, the gambling man, had created an uproar heard all around the country. Insiders are sure it won't go through in this session.

Explanation: The Senate is a back-scratching institution and few members care to incur Huey's enmity. Huey has an unusual way of turning up scandals involving his foes.

Also, senatorial courtesy—which seldom allows confirmation of a man "personally objectionable" to a member—extends even to Huey.

DONNA of the BIG TOP

made fairly good time. She discovered, when she reached the public square, that she had plenty of time to catch the 6 o'clock train. She drove the car into the garage adjoining the Central Hotel and asked Ben Goddard, the owner, to see that it was returned to the hotel farm.

"Going away?" Goddard asked. "Yes, to Chicago. My—Mr. Sidral couldn't drive me in. So I want you to take it back."

"How's Grandpa? Feeling better?"

SHE did not stop to think "he's dead," she said dully.

"Dead? Ain't that something sudden? I hadn't heard anything about it."

Too late she realized that she should have withheld the news. "He died today," she explained.

"My land! That's too bad. It must be something awful important that's taking you to Chicago when your Grandpa has just died!"

"It is. Will you send the car back right away, Mr. Goddard?"

"Sure, sure. 'Nother death?"

"No."

"Spose you're going to catch the 6 o'clock?"

Feeling trapped, she said she would if she could get accommodations. To make good her word she walked toward the railroad station, carrying her luggage. Obviously, she wanted a worse scandal than the one sure to break, she could not stay overnight at the Central Hotel.

How foolish she had been! He had told about Grandpa's course Dr. Freeman and the undertaker would tell the news, but they were both at the farm.

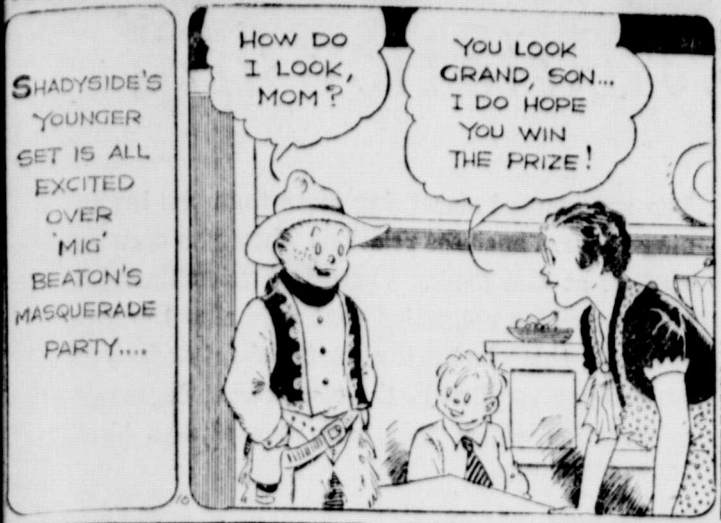

There was a hotel at the depot but it catered to the sort of transient a respectable woman would avoid. There was nothing for her to do but catch the train or stay overnight at the Commercial House.

Within sight of the little brick building, the enormity of what had happened rushed upon her with greater force. Was she really going away from her life? Going away from the life she had led? Had it been a few months since the day she carried her from the train, carrying her into a paradise that could last? Bill's strong brown arms held her on the stretcher. Grandfather, smiling, his slightest searching as though they could not stand on that platform to welcome her. Now Grandfather was dead and Bill worse than dead!

She fought the impulse to seize the opposite direction, to the car and drive back to the farm. Then a shrill whistle split the air and the sound made Donna's decision. She began to run, stumbling blindly, hitting the heavy traveling bag against her legs. As she drew to a standstill she reached the platform. There was no time to buy a ticket. A porter stopping down, lifted her luggage and helped her on the train.

"Pullman?" he asked. "Yes, to Chicago." (To Be Continued)

Throaty voices in hundreds of union halls complain NRA is permitting industry to sponsor company unions. Strike threats resound; heads have been broken in industrial conflict. Congress is canonizing protest against code monopoly.

Henry Ford stands aloof from the great industrial self-government experiment. Echoes of the Darrow report challenge a nation's attention. NRA is backing up to more solid ground.

The drive for industrial wage increases is belabored by many for increasing living costs to the consumer. Washington finds its summer suits 30 per cent up this year compared with last.

But the administration is proud today of NRA and its emergency twin.

The Authority NRA and PWA were created by the National Industrial Recovery act at 11:55 a. m., June 16, 1933. At that moment today expired the licensing section of the act authorizing President Roosevelt to take over, operate or suppress any industry refusing coded cooperation.

Administrator Hugh S. Johnson called the licensing section a "pistol on the hip." It never was fired. Mr. Roosevelt did not ask congress to extend its life beyond the original one-year enactment.

NRA is beating back today from code extremes which drew from Clarence Darrow's National Recovery Review board charges of monopoly and oppression of small business. Sizzling exchanges between Darrow, Johnson and Donald R. Richberg, NRA counsel, accompanied publication of the board's report May 20.

About Face Since then NRA has about faced on two major policies:

- 1. Fair practices and price fixing stipulations in seven service codes were abolished May 28 because they were unenforceable.
2. NRA committed itself on June 7 against all price fixing except in emergencies.
Likely further changes:
1. Abandonment of 500 complicated pending codes representing slightly more than 1,000,000 workers, only wages, hours, child labor and collective bargaining would be stipulated.
2. Concentration of NRA efforts on the 40 or 50 major codes regulating industries employing 18,000,000 workers.

3. Resignation of General Johnson.

Abandon Price Fixing General abandonment of price fixing will govern all future codes and NRA will undertake to negotiate necessary changes in existing code agreements. It is calculated to relieve the consuming public. Months of study preceded the policy change. But it altered a condition challenged in turn by the Federal Trade commission and the Darrow board. The commission charged price fixing provisions of the steel code fostered monopoly. The Darrow report was a bombshell of protest. It was based on examination of eight codes. Appointed to determine the fate of small business under Johnson's coded self-government of industry, the board reported:

- 1. Monopoly thrives under NRA.
2. Small business is oppressed.
3. Consumers suffer from those conditions.

Board Recommendations The board found NRA self-government of industry not worthy of the public's trust and recommended:

- 1. Re-enactment of anti-trust laws to compel competition.
2. Stricter government supervision of code enforcement and operation.

A supplementary report by Darrow and W. O. Thompson, another board member, proposed:

- 1. Socialized, collective ownership and control of industry accompanied by planned use of national resources.
2. Shift of code enforcement and fact-finding from NRA to the Federal Trade commission.
3. Restoration of anti-trust laws.

Minority Report Suggestion of socialization as a way out of depression hit the country with shocking impact. The supplementary report diverted attention from the general recommendations and confused the monopoly issue.

John F. Sinclair, submitted a minority report proposing a permanent, quasi-judicial review board of appeals to consider the 10 to 20 per cent of complaints against NRA which "strike at the very foundation of American business life."

Johnson countered with denials and a demand on Mr. Roosevelt that the Darrow board be abolished on the grounds of fundamental prejudice. Compromise came to agreement to end the board's inquiry July 1 with a final report on 10 more codes.

Major Purpose The dispute rests there for the time being. The board served one major purpose. Its appointment headed off serious congressional trouble when progressive republicans moved to attack on the grounds that the little man was being squeezed to death in an NRA vise controlled by big business. A move was underway to hamstring NRA with amendments. Johnson and Mr. Roosevelt were quick to adopt the board as an alternative to congressional warfare.

Arrest of Pants Presser Maged by New Jersey state enforcement authorities was the incident leading to collapse of price fixing efforts for most service industries. His 30-day jail sentence - soon rescinded - aroused bitter protest.

NRA surrendered to the impossibility of enforcing price-practices codes for:

- 1. Cleaning and dyeing.
2. Motor vehicles storage and parking.
3. Barber shops.
4. Shoe repairing.
5. Bowling and billiards.
6. Advertising display installation.
7. Advertising distribution.

Local Control For the nation-wide code system imposed on these industries was substituted local control. In abandoning a nation-wide price-practices system for these industries, Mr. Roosevelt kept in effect the child labor, minimum wage-maximum hour and collective bargaining provisions of the scuttled code agreements.

Labor difficulties have boiled around NRA. Automobile, steel and textile strikes, threatened or avoided, turned on code regulation, or interpretation. Scores of disputes center on Section 7-A of the National Industrial Recovery act. It guarantees to labor the right to bargain collectively.

Union memberships swelled with federal assurance that their leaders would be received by the management. Henry Ford balked first. He cites wages and scales in excess of NRA requirements. Johnson threatened, cajoled and failed to entice Ford into NRA. Comptroller-general J. R. McCarri ruled that the government may not buy from Ford. Dealers estimate it will cost the government $1,800,000 a year to reject his low bids. Suits are in prospect.

Another Challenge The Budd Manufacturing Co. of Philadelphia, challenged NRA plans for a plant election to determine union sentiment. Budd employees were cool to Johnson's plan. The case was dropped. NRA sent the Weirton Steel case to court. The company refused to co-operate in a plant election. United States District Judge John P. Fields in Wilmington, Del., last month refused to grant the government a preliminary injunction. Attorney-general Homer S. Cummings said he would appeal. The issue is whether the national labor board may supervise Weirton elections.

Auto Strike President Roosevelt's automobile strike settlement shook labor's faith in Section 7-A and federal guarantees of collective bargaining. Mr. Roosevelt ruled that American Federation of Labor unions must be recognized, but also sanctioned continuance of company union organizations.

cotton growers and textile manufacturers. Japanese-made cotton rugs began to flood the American market after NRA codes hiked domestic manufacturing costs. Japanese mill workers receive $1.30 for a 12-hour week. American operatives get $16 to $20 for 40 hours. Mr. Roosevelt increased customs duties variously up to 150 per cent. He has embargo powers.

Johnson's own estimate is that six more months must elapse before the administration can judge wisely what of NRA should be retained, abandoned or modified.

PASTURE FIRES CAUSE ALARM TO CATTLEMEN

ALBANY, June 16 — Grass fires over Shackelford county pasture lands are becoming alarming of recent weeks and farmers and ranchmen are urging all who can in any way help keep down this dangerous hazard, to take every precaution possible to prevent these grass fires.

Albany citizens have been called on several times to help put out fires near the city and they have responded in a fine way. Groups of ten to thirty and forty men have gone out to help save the farmers and ranchmen what grass they could but some losses have been heavy and will be keenly felt.

J. H. Reynolds lost about 100 acres of the best grass he had in the Allen pasture six or eight miles east of Albany, when fire swept that section Tuesday. Fire on the Judge Matthews land six miles north of Albany Wednesday, estimated at 60 to 100 acres of good grass land.

Hardly a day passes that some new spot of blackened grass and timber is seen on some of the highways and public roads leading in and out of Albany.

Not only is this a heavy loss in pastureage, but often times the trees are practically killed. With the country needing moisture so badly, it is heart rending to the ranchmen to see so much grass swept away and they live in suspense for fear of the loss that might be sustained in livestock and other property.

OUR DAD

(Note: The following tribute was written by the children of W. P. Moore, who was buried Saturday morning. Mr. Moore was fatally injured on the highway west of Albany Thursday morning when he was struck by an automobile. Today is Father's Day.)

Only today many will have the happy privilege of greeting their Dad face to face and of presenting him with some material token of love, but as much as we had planned to do the same, culminations of mysterious causes have taken our Dad to a more beautiful realm—Heaven—which is, after all, just a little ways beyond, and where, by the Grace of God, we shall meet him again, kiss him and tell him of our love.

Goodness, love, honesty, purity, courage, nobleness, kindness, every thing that embosomed Godliness, was our Dad. He possessed every quality of a homemaker as a husband and a father. Figuratively speaking he was "diamond in the rough."

Oh God, there is so much more that we could say in honor of his having lived, but our prayer is that we each live a more noble life of worthiness which we know he would wish of us and be willing to serve God and mankind as a monument to our Dad.

LOISE, CARL and JAMES.

"I Wonder What's the Matter With Me?"

IF she could see the war paint she has put on, as it looks in daylight, she would know immediately what is the matter with her.

She'd be all right if she had made up for a fantastic part in some carnival or charade, but it's no wonder that people turn to look at her in the street.

Well, that's what is likely to happen when a woman dresses where she has poor light.

Colors have a way of deceiving one when they are laid on where it is impossible to see distinctly or where shadows make guess-work necessary.

Every woman who likes to look her best should have a lamp at each side of her dressing table, and placed at the correct height for clear vision.

Why not let one of our home-lighting specialists tell you how to light your dressing room? There's no charge for this service.

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule . . . and adds only a small amount to your total bill?
