Drrowth May Adjust Cotton Discrepancy

What in a normal season might have proved a difficult problem of adjustment under the terms of the Bankhead cotton control bill in Eastland county is believed to have been solved by the prevailing drought, County Agent J. C. Patterson said today, in announcing that no instructions have been received relative to apportionment among cotton growers of the 2,360-bale allotment to Eastland county.

County quotas of tax-free cotton under the Bankhead bill were announced yesterday out of Washington. Eastland county was allowed 2,360 bales, as its percentage of production computed from a basis of a five-year average of 3,490 bales. An additional 10 per cent is being held in reserve for allotments to growers not eligible to receive them under normal procedure.

Conflicting Allowables The 2,360-bale tax-free quota allowed the county under the Bankhead bill contrasts with cotton reduction contracts signed by county growers which call for an allowed production of 2,763 bales, said County Agent Patterson. These contracts were signed by 496 of the approximately 900 cotton growers in the state under the voluntary plan put into effect last fall. The 2,763 bales, said Patterson, represents 60 per cent of normal production of the growers involved. The 496, he said, include practically all farmers who were eligible, by reason of their production per acre, to enter into the contracts.

But the discrepancy between the total allowable under voluntary contracts, has been made a purely academic problem by the realities of the drought which Patterson said promises to reduce the entire county production to a figure approximating that fixed as the county's Bankhead quota.

His clothing caught on the machine and he was dragged about 40 feet. He received a punctured lung and fractured skull.

CHARGE TO BE FILED AGAINST NEWTON YOUTH

NEWTON, June 22 — A 25-year-old Newton, Texas, youth who was the escort of a 17-year-old white girl Tuesday night when she allegedly was attacked by a negro, was to be placed under charges today as an aftermath of the lynching of the negro near here Wednesday night.

District Attorney Hollis Kinard, of Orange, who ordered the youth held pending filing of charges, was to come here today and take charge of the case. No indication was given as to the nature of the charges to be filed against the youth.

Both the boy and the girl are members of prominent east Texas families.

Sheriff T. S. Hughes said his investigation showed that the youth and the girl had been drinking and that the youth wandered off after he had taken the girl to a box factory on the outskirts of town.

The negro, John Griggs, 38, found the girl and took her to his home, where they were found by officers. The girl told officers she thought she had been drugged and did not know what happened.

She is being held in jail awaiting completion of the investigation of the attack and the lynching.

ALLRED AND HUGHES SHARE POLL LEADERSHIP

Returns from the Cisco Daily News' poll of gubernatorial sentiment showed last night that James V. Allred and Maury Hughes were running neck and neck in the estimation of the comparatively small section of political opinion that had been canvassed to that time.

The poll must be completed by tonight so that its results may be forwarded to Austin for tabulation in a state survey that is being conducted by a number of newspapers.

Copies of the ballot were inserted in the Thursday issue of the Daily News and it was also printed in Cisco American and Roundup for the benefit of weekly subscribers.

Those who have not indicated their present choice for governor and turned it in at the Daily News are requested to do so at once so that the poll may be made as authoritative as possible. As explained upon the ballot, the choice need not be signed and participation in this poll will not create any obligation to support a particular candidate in the primaries.

The purpose is merely to obtain a definite indication of how political sentiment is running at this time.

THE HUMBLE IS COMING

Cisco tomorrow will be the concentration point for hundreds of Humble Oil and Refining company officials and employees. Five hundred of them, from an area extending from Longview in east Texas to El Paso on the western fringe of the state, will come here to spend the day in a picnic at Lake Cisco. It will be the first time that this splendid group of men and women, who form a part of one of the greatest of companies in the nation, has come to Cisco for such an event. We are hoping it won't be the last. And, to support the hope, it has been announced that an effort is being made to locate the annual picnic permanently at Lake Cisco.

Asking no allowance for a pardonable local pride in Cisco and Cisco's recreational advantages, we aver that it will be extremely difficult to find, anywhere in Texas, a place better suited for the purpose. Nowhere is there more conveniently grouped a variety of sport opportunities for the choice of the visitor. Nowhere is there a combination of more satisfying sports. And nowhere does such a group of these opportunities for physical profit and vacation pleasure exist in a location more conveniently related to quick and easy transportation in all directions.

We are confident that, once these Humble men and women have experienced the opportunities and advantages for a wholesome good time that Lake Cisco and its associated institutions offer, they will have no hesitancy in voting to come back year after year.

WOOL PRODUCTION IN TEXAS

A San Angelo correspondent writes the wool concentration points of Texas will have on hand 40,000,000 pounds of eight and twelve months wool when the shearing of the season has been completed this week. It is said the wool clip of Texas is approximately 20,000,000 pounds less than in 1933 due to light shearing, death losses and the drought. Total accumulation of wool and mohair in the commonwealth, unshipped, is placed at 48,411,000 pounds. There will be a lot of wheat money turned loose in the grain sections of west Texas and the panhandle this season. There will be a lot of wool and mohair money turned loose on and after the coming of the wool and mohair buyers from Boston and other eastern markets.

Texas produces all the raw materials. Why not mohair and woolen mills? Why not home consumption on a manufacturing sense of the great annual output of wool and mohair in this commonwealth which is planning to celebrate its centennial in 1936? It is the makers of things and not the growers who are the dividend takers in American commonwealths.

TAGS FOR OLD COTTON

The federal administration has announced machinery by which old cotton now on farms and elsewhere may be tagged to insure its exemption from taxation under the Bankhead production control act. It was also announced that application blanks for identification tags for the approximately 8,000,000 bales of cotton ginned prior to June 1, 1934, are now available in all cotton counties through cotton agents. Applications for tags must be made before June 15 and each old bale of cotton must carry a tag to certify that it is exempt from the Bankhead tax.

In days of old this was the slogan: "Let the people do it." In this modern civilization this is the slogan of the day: "Let Uncle Sam do it." A most worthy citizen is Uncle Sam. He must have the shoulders and the combined strength of the ancient Colossus and the Samson of the Old Testament times to stagger along under his weight of overhead. Give the grand old chap a hand. He needs encouragement.

UNCLE SAM "BIGGEST CATTLE BUYER"

A drought came and the historians say that it is the most destructive in American history. Now it is said that the biggest cattle deal in American history—or the history of any other nation, ancient or modern—is on the way. The purchase of approximately 5,000,000 animals by the federal government was virtually completed in Denver at a meeting of federal officials with representatives of 12 drought stricken states. Dr. E. W. Sheets, federal drought relief director, was present at the conference. He estimated that the federal government will spend at least $100,000,000 in its relief program "and more will be provided if necessary." Cattle buying has already started in Texas and Oklahoma. Animals purchased will be turned over to the federal surplus relief corporation for processing and distribution to the unemployed. Starved cattle are being destroyed.

BANK ROBBER ESCAPES WITH LIGHT PENALTY

John Newton robbed the First Coleman National bank away back in the month of February. He entered a plea of guilty to the charge. He furnished the information which will lead to the arrest of two confederates. He appealed to the jury for mercy. Defense attorneys asked for the minimum penalty. Prosecutors asked that the verdict carry not less than 15 years. John was sentenced to 15 years servitude. According to the evidence, it was his first offense of violation of the laws of the commonwealth. Now he is on his way to Huntsville where he will do penance for his sins—unless he receives a parole or a pardon for "model behavior" while wearing the garb of a convict.

OUT OUR WAY

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY

Kingfish Long Has the Last Laugh

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD. Sen. Huey P. Long of Louisiana is laughing last. And why? The senate voted Saturday to drop all further inquiry into petitions for ouster of the Kingfish and Sen. John W. Overton of Louisiana. It adopted without debate a resolution by Chmn. George of the elections committee saying "its inquiry into charges by certain Louisiana citizens had shown no evidence to justify continuance of the investigation. Sen. George is a democrat — of Georgia. He is recognized as one of the ablest lawyers and interpreters of the constitution. In point of service he is a veteran. He is said to be afflicted with the judicial temperament, he is fair in all things and he certainly handed to the Kingfish of the Pelican state "a clean bill of health."

What happened after the senatorial whitewash brush had been applied to the politics and politicians of Louisiana is interesting. Congressional leaders had planned to adjourn Saturday. Far into the night the Kingfish staged a filibuster. He placed all the senators on the spot. A very ugly customer is the Kingfish. A very daring battler. He is a combination of the clown and the rough rider. He has courage and cunning as well as brains. He travels all the road. His slogan is "I have everything to gain and nothing to lose." Truth is, the Kingfish is one of the most daring of all the political rough riders that have been in the picture for recent years. His political critics in the Pelican state threatened to revolt to organize an army with rifles if necessary to drive him from power.

Why dodge the senate. The Kingfish is riding strong in the saddle. He has a splendid mount. His word is law to all his followers. This is a merry old world and those who are close to him say that the Kingfish will be a candidate for a presidential nomination in the year 1936. He will retain his seat in the senate until that year unless the Old Man swings the scythe mows him down.

Gov. LANGER FACING PRISON CELL. Gov. William A. Langer of North Dakota is facing a prison cell, after a jury found him guilty of a federal felony. His conviction was one of the few in American history that has involved the chief magistrate of a state. It was the first federal act of government had obtained against such an official on the particular charge, "defrauding the United States through solicitation of federal employees for political contributions." According to the evidence, the donations were obtained for the Leader, Bismarck newspaper, established a year ago to back the leader of the Langer administration. Gov. Langer and his four close political associates convicted with him faced a maximum sentence of two years imprisonment and a fine of $10,000.

Langer is the big ace of the radical wing of the non-partisan party. He is a candidate for re-election and is seeking a republican renomination at the primary June 27. He was the head of the state relief set-up handling federal funds. His removal from that post was announced late in May. It appears to be a crime in North Dakota, at least in federal court circles, "for the soliciting of federal employees to make contributions for political purposes."

I DID NOT MEET A SINGLE PESSIMIST—SLOGAN. M. S. Sloan, the new chairman of ness prospects in the Southwest are brighter than for many years. I met 1200 representative business men throughout the Southwest and I did not meet a single pessimist. It seems that he talked to business men. He did not attend political meetings and listen to the ranting of candidates for political office. Regardless of all the rantings or the pleadings, this is the dullest campaign to date in 40 years of Texas history. Ninety per cent of the office seekers are going to reduce the taxes of the people; they are going to practice rigid economy; they are for more money for the schools than ever before; they are for free homes for the people. Many are for the abolition of poll tax payment and the most vociferous promise to bring in the millennium (in the very immediate future) if they take down official jobs.

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

Cisco yesterday was mighty glad to learn that the Cisco State bank successor to the unincorporated Cisco Banking company which closed in 1931 had been granted a charter. The approval follows upon the success of the institution in securing authorization of a loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The bank isn't open yet, there are always the slips between the cups and the lips. One must take into consideration the fact that it is even possible some of the minor requirements attached to the RFC loan will not be met and the whole setup ruined. But the success that has been achieved thus far commands a personal tribute to Guy Dabney that will stand whether or not the plans so near of culmination go through to a final success.

not the plans so near of culmination go through to a final success. We are positive, of course, that these plans will go through. It would credit the willpower and ability of the men and women behind the project with mighty little for what has already been accomplished to predict failure on some of the little rocks that yet lie in the path.

Reorganizing and reopening a bank is no little thing. It is a Herculean task. There is the problem of obtaining the necessary finances — a problem even under the most favorable circumstances. Then, there is the problem of meeting government requirements, requirements that are more stringent now than ever. Added to these several difficulties in the case of the Cisco Banking company, was the complicating factor that it was not an incorporated institution and, as such, was a case for the RFC and the state banking board without precedent or at least, without sufficient precedent to provide any charted course of action.

Guy Dabney fought the program through these difficulties with a two-fold determination that prevailed beyond any doubt his determination that the Cisco Banking company, in difficulties because of depressed collateral values though it might be, would not "run out" on its depositors and its friends, but would discharge its trust in spite of "hell and high water". What has been done in the reorganization and the reopening of this bank — granting that it will be reopened is something of which Cisco can certainly be proud. It is encouraging proof of the character and stamina that builds communities. Our hats are off to Guy Dabney and those who have worked with him to put over this program. Incidentally, this success more firmly consolidates Cisco in a position as the banking center of the section. Alex Spears' First National bank already has nearly a million dollars in assets, representing only Cisco wealth but the money people far and wide who come here to do their banking business. The Cisco State bank will attract additional deposits. And where people bring their money and come to their banking, all business normally prospers — And since we can our way to normalcy again, we can confidently expect better times for Cisco.

The several projects involving large expenditures for labor are scheduled to be carried out by this summer and fall encourage hopeful prediction. The federal government and the state are really slow in getting the two principal road projects under way. Scarcity of money in the maintenance fund of the state highway department is responsible for the delay in appropriating more funds so that work can be resumed on the rebuilding of the Leary cut-off. This is one of the most important roads that connect Cisco with outside. The sad state in which it has lain for years has robbed the community of much of the benefits of the trade territory to which it is being put in a proper condition. The project should be pushed aggressively.

The program of widening and resurfacing Highway No. 23 in miles south to Romney is delayed because of federal government assistance upon a cheaper bid. Then there is the construction of the new gas plant. These three items will turn into new thousands of dollars wages for Cisco channels. Let us figure your next job printing. Our job printing department is equipped to serve your needs.—Phone 82.

SOPHIE KERR'S SUPERB LOVE STORY "STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

By Sophie Kerr

BEGIN HERE TODAY. When JANE TERRY and AMY LOWE see an attractive young man, a stranger, in Marburg, the small middle-western town where they live, they speculate about who he may be. Both girls are young. Jane, a real beauty, is less popular than Amy. Jane, who is an orphan, lives with her aunt, MISS ROSA TERRY. Amy's father is a professor. Jane hastily invents an excuse to leave her friend. A little later Amy learns from EDGAR MORELAND that the young man she and Jane saw is calling at the Terry home. Amy knows this is the reason for Jane's hurried departure.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER II

JANE had known the stranger since she was a child. He was like Capes, even at a distance, and it gave her the feeling of long acquaintance with him. She almost called him Mr. Capes though Miss Rosa had introduced him as Howard Jackson, son of a distant and practically forgotten relative. "You must stay and have dinner with us this evening," Miss Rosa said, cordially. "You're not going out anywhere, are you, Jane? Neither am I. It won't be a bit of trouble." "Then I will, and thank you very much." He had an engaging frank smile, and Miss Rosa warmed to it. "You go change your dress, Jane," she said, "and take Howard—I can't call you Mister, you are really too young—for a walk around the campus before dinner. It looks its best along about sunset."

The night gave a shadow of mystery to her face, her slim whiteness.

Jane flew to obey, thinking as she ran upstairs: "I'll put on my new black and red. No, that won't do for him. My white swish with the orange sash, my white coral beads—" She dropped her tennis things anywhere, left the shower dripping, dressed in a shorter time than she had believed possible. But she came down lightly, leisurely, one hand on the banister, made an effective entrance as the perfect ingenue. "I hope she keeps that up," thought Miss Rosa, watching them walk off together.

Meanwhile Jane was asking Howard Jackson friendly, girlish little questions. It was something of a shock when she discovered that he wasn't anything very grand, a mere instructor in geology in a western university, for she didn't know that this university had a renowned School of Mines and that geology was distinguished there. Nor did Howard Jackson mention that fact. Presently, however, he said that he was going to study all summer with Professor Elliott for a thesis he had to do. Jane pounced on this. "That's wonderful! Have you met him yet? You'll love him!" She paused and laid an arresting finger on Howard Jackson's arm: "Look at our elms—I always stop here to see them. They stand there so grandly and their shade's so light and free. Instead of solid like the maples. They're like music, somehow. Like Schubert's 'Papillons'."

statement that she didn't care a whoop about trees—her contradictions might interest him—or an unobtrusive retreat, and at last tried the latter. "Oh, they give me ideas, now and then," she said, waving a nonchalant hand. Howard Jackson was thinking that he was lucky to find Miss Rosa and her niece so pleasant. He had gone to the Terry's only because his mother had insisted on it, but he had liked Miss Rosa at once and the girl was stunning.

At dinner Jane sat listening to Howard confer with Miss Rosa on apartments, with a nice deference to her aunt and a charming, wistful smile for Howard when she looked at him. It was very family and friendly in the big dining room. Miss Rosa had put pink roses on the table and brought out her pink silk candle-shades, and filled a pair of silver shells with the pink mints left over from her last card club lunch. Evidly had also risen to the occasion adequately, with pink icing on the hastily made cup cakes and sprigs of lemon verbena in the finger bowls. They had reached coffee—in the Meislen cups—when the telephone rang. Jane started to go, but Miss Rosa stopped her. "It's Mrs. Hubert," she said, "I left a message for her to call me."

Jane smiled over at Howard again, sharing the secret of youth's indulgence to fussy middle age. "Could we go somewhere tonight—a motion picture, maybe?" "Oh, I'd love a motion picture," said Jane. "There's one in Rivers' Hall."

AN ORDINANCE

ORDINANCE fixing and adopting minimum rates which may or shall be charged and collected for gas sold and delivered within the limits of the City of Cisco, Texas, and making it unlawful for any person, partnership, private corporation or municipal corporation to fix, charge or collect for gas sold and delivered at a rate below the minimum prescribed in schedule of such rates; fixing the minimum amounts for monthly bills to be charged and collected consumers irrespective of the amount of gas used; permitting consumers other than users of gas for domestic purposes, to select the schedule of rates to be charged for gas consumed during a twelve months period of time and permitting such consumers to change schedule of rates at the end of such twelve months period; fixing a fine and penalty as against any person, agent, or employee who violates the provisions of this ordinance; providing that any person, partnership or corporation which violates any provision of this ordinance shall render the franchise under which it operates subject to forfeiture, providing that this ordinance shall repeal any and all previous ordinances or parts thereof in conflict therewith; and providing that if any section, article or provision is held to be void or unconstitutional by any court, that such decision shall not affect the validity of any remaining part, unless the part held void and unconstitutional is indispensable to the operation of the remaining parts, and further providing that the Board of Commissioners of the City of Cisco declare that they would have passed only the valid portions of this ordinance and would have omitted the invalid parts thereof if they had only been advised concerning the same prior to the passage thereof.

BE IT ORDAINED by the City Commission of the City of Cisco, Texas:

1. The following schedules or rates are hereby adopted, and fixed as the minimum rates which may or shall be charged and collected by any person, partnership, private corporation, public utility, association of persons, partnership, private corporation or municipal corporation for gas sold and delivered within the limits of the City of Cisco, Texas, and the following are fixed as the minimum bills to be charged and collected each month irrespective of the amount of gas sold and delivered: to-wit:

DOMESTIC RATE

For gas used for domestic purposes only the minimum rate shall be sixty cents per thousand cubic feet; but no bill of less than one dollar per month shall be charged and collected irrespective of the amount of gas used.

COMMERCIAL RATE

For the first twenty thousand cubic feet of gas sold a minimum rate of sixty cents per thousand cubic feet; for all gas sold over and above twenty thousand cubic feet and up to thirty thousand cubic feet a minimum rate of fifty-eight and one-half cents per thousand cubic feet; for all gas sold over and above thirty thousand cubic feet and up to fifty thousand cubic feet a minimum rate of fifty-four cents per thousand cubic feet; and for all gas sold over and above fifty thousand cubic feet and up to five hundred thousand cubic feet a minimum rate of twenty-seven cents per thousand cubic feet. No bill of less than one dollar a month shall be charged irrespective of the amount of gas used by customers selecting this rate.

INDUSTRIAL RATE NO. 1

For the first fifty thousand cubic feet of gas sold a minimum rate of forty-five cents per thousand cubic feet; for all gas sold over and above fifty thousand cubic feet and up to two hundred thousand cubic feet a minimum rate of twenty-seven cents per thousand cubic feet; for all gas sold over and above two hundred thousand cubic feet and up to five hundred thousand cubic feet a minimum rate of twenty-two and one-half cents per thousand cubic feet; and for all gas sold in excess of three hundred thousand cubic feet a minimum rate of eighteen cents per thousand cubic feet. No bill of less than forty-five dollars per month shall be charged irrespective of the amount of gas used by customers selecting this rate.

INDUSTRIAL RATE NO. 2

For the first one hundred fifty thousand cubic feet of gas sold a minimum rate of thirty cents per thousand cubic feet; for all gas sold over and above one hundred fifty thousand cubic feet and up to three hundred thousand cubic feet a minimum rate of twenty-two and one-half cents per thousand cubic feet; and for all gas sold in excess of three hundred thousand cubic feet a minimum rate of eighteen cents per thousand cubic feet. No bill of less than forty-five dollars per month shall be charged irrespective of the amount of gas used by customers selecting this rate.

The above rates are intended to be the minimum rates at which any person, partnership, association of persons, public utility, association of persons, partnership, private corporation or municipal corporation may sell and deliver gas in the limits of the City of Cisco, Texas, and it shall be illegal and unlawful to charge any rate below the same as hereinabove fixed, but nothing herein contained is intended as any restraint on the right to fix maximum rates on gas to be sold and delivered.

2. Any consumer or purchaser of gas shall have the right to select the schedule of rates that shall be applied to the gas or purchased or to be purchased during any twelve months period and shall have the privilege of changing from one schedule of rates to another at the termination of such twelve months period; in other words, consumers

SMALL HOMEOWNERS TO BENEFIT MOST UNDER HOUSING BILL PLAN

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON D. C. June 22—The small home owner or the worker who wants to become one will benefit most under the housing bill, according to those who participated in drafting the measure.

While final details of procedure for those who wish to obtain the benefits of the act must wait administrative machinery now being set up, it will operate after this fashion:

The home owner who wishes to improve his property by a new roof, new plumbing, new heating equipment or other repairs to make it more habitable will be able to finance the work.

To do so he will first obtain a low bid from a responsible contractor. He will take this to his banker or to a recognized building and loan association. If the work and contract is approved the job will be completed and the contractor will receive his pay from the financing agency.

Gov't Guarantees Loan

The home owner then will pay the debt off on the installment plan over a period up to five years, paying interest at five per cent. The government enters the picture by guaranteeing the loan.

If the homeowner wishes more extensive work, such as building an addition or additional buildings such as a garage, he will proceed in the same manner. The largest amount of work he may have done will be $2,000.

In event he already has a mortgage on his house it may be necessary to adjust this mortgage. Or he may be obliged to put up collateral. If the house is mortgage free he may be obliged to take one out. The lending institution may be allowed considerable latitude on this score.

Another section of the bill is designed to help those whose mortgages fall due and are unable to pay them. He may apply to the organization holding his mortgage for a new mortgage which is insured by the government.

This new mortgage will run up to

"Full Feeling" After Meals

Here is how Theodor's Black-Draught proved helpful to Mr. Archie W. Brown, of Fort Green, Fla.: "I have taken Black-Draught when I have felt dull from over-eating or eating too hurriedly," he writes. "Small doses right after meals rid me of gases and heavy feeling. I am a great believer in Black-Draught."

Theodor's BLACK-DRAUGHT
"Purely Vegetable Laxative"
"CHILDREN LIKE THE SYRUP"

DOCTORS ADMIRE THIS LAXATIVE

To banish headaches, dizziness and other constipation ills, doctors regularly prescribe the laxative ingredient used in Feen-a-mint, the modern, pleasant-tasting, chewing gum laxative. Feen-a-mint acts more promptly, thoroughly, and satisfactorily, for it is gently released into the intestines by chewing, thus giving a "full" more natural action. Feen-a-mint is pleasant to take, but contains no richness to upset the stomach or diet. Feen-a-mint is the modern development from old-fashioned, unpleasant-tasting, habit-forming, bowel-abusing laxatives. Does not interfere with duties. "Delay" is dangerous—chew Feen-a-mint for constipation. 15c and 25c at druggists.

The Touch That Fulfills the Contract

The old-fashioned "bridge" lamp got its name, not because it furnished good light for bridge, but on account of its bridge-like construction. It was all right for reading if one sat under it, but if four people tried to play bridge with nothing but a bridge lamp to furnish light, at least two of them were sure to face a glare and have trouble in seeing their cards.

Away with the old bridge lamp, or set it over there in the corner beside the easy chair, where it will be useful; but for bridge, turn on the new indirect portable lamp, which throws its rays upward, filling a large part of the room with soft comfortable light that will bring new pleasure into the game.

One indirect portable lamp will furnish good light for two tables of bridge. It is the lamp that fulfills its lighting contract, and does away with glare.

Let one of our representatives call and tell you all about indirect lighting, how to light halls, bedrooms and other parts of your home, and where convenience outlets should be located.

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule... and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

DEAFNESS NO DRAWBACK
MOSCOW, June 22 — The Soviet Union has proved that deafness is not necessarily a barrier to work in industrial plants. According to a recent census, 30,000 deaf persons are employed in the plants and factories of Russia. Some of them are outstanding "admirals" or shock-workers. One even received the "Order of Lenin," the highest Soviet decoration, for his excellent work.

SHUTE LEADS U. S. DRIVE FOR BRITISH OPEN

By H. L. PERCY
United Press Staff Correspondent
SANDWICH, England, June 22 — Denmore Shute, the holder, is at the head of a small but select contingent of United States players in the British open golf championship, which starts here June 23.

Other American representatives include Gene Sarazen, Macdonald Smith, Joe Kirkwood, and W. "Wild Bill" Melhorn.

With ten successive American holders of the championship, there seems little reason why there should not be an eleventh one. From the British point of view, Sarazen stands out as the chief danger. He won two years ago at Prince's, where with a score of 283 he established a new record aggregate for the championship. One of his qualifying rounds was played on the Royal St. George's course, where the championship is this week.

Sarazen's Chance
Again Sarazen had every chance to win at St. Andrews last year, but for the much disputed six or seven at the short 11th, and a tragic error at the 14th in the last round.

Macdonald Smith, one of the world's greatest golfers who never has won a title, and a stylist in his finger-tips, may at last do the trick. Melhorn returns after an absence of five years.

The championship has attracted a record entry of 313, and a dozen countries are represented. Spain having 13 players and France ten. There are also A. McRobbie, of Bogota, Columbia, A. C. Budd, of Hurlingham, Buenos Aires, and Alonzo Moffat, the Argentine amateur champion, of Olivos, Buenos Aires.

Colton and Padgham
If the cup is at last to be won by a British golfer, the likelihood is that either Henry Colton, or Alfred Padgham, will turn the trick.

Others, who must not be forgotten, are Arthur Lacey, Syd Easterbrook, Percy Alliss, Arthur Havers, and the brothers Charles, Ernest and Reginald Whitecombe. With the exception of the last two, all these were members of the 1933 Ryder Cup team.

Easterbrook won the Ryder Cup with his last putt on the last green in the last match at Southport. He also finished second in the Open.

Many Amateurs
Many of the principal amateurs have entered among them being the Hon. Michael Scott, Britain's Walker Cup captain, Cyril Tolley, Leslie Garnett, Jack McLean, and Rex and Lister Hartley.

James Wallace, the Troon shipwright, who reached the final of the amateur championship, in which Lawson Little beat him by 14 up and 13 to play, is making his debut as a professional.

JUDGE JOHN H. SHARP

Candidate for High Court Visits Cisco

Judge John H. Sharp was here yesterday in behalf of his candidacy for associate justice of the supreme court to succeed Judge Thomas B. Greenwood, who is not a candidate. Judge Sharp was born in Robertson county and educated in the public schools of this state and at Southwestern university at Georgetown, Texas, where he graduated.

Judge Sharp moved to Ellis county and for more than 25 years was actively engaged in the practice of law, and by reason of his success as a lawyer in the private practice, he was first appointed a member of the commission of appeals by the governor in 1929. When the law was amended in 1930, so as to make the judges of the commission appointive by the supreme court, Judge Sharp was reappointed by the court for a term of six years. He still holds that position.

He Leads Russia in Freckles

This lad is freckles champion of the Soviet Union, and it's easy to understand why. He won over a large number of competitors in a recent contest and there wasn't even a murmur against the judges' decision.

SUFFERS DROUGHT
BERLIN, June 22 — Germany, like many other countries, is suffering greatly from lack of rain. In many places crops are being ruined by the early heat and dryness. Navigation on the upper Elbe is in grave danger. The lack of snow and rain has brought the level of the river near Dresden to more than 7 1/2 feet below normal. Traffic to Czechoslovakia already has been interrupted and it is feared, that soon the whole Saxon part of the Elbe will be un navigable.

SHE ATE ALL-BRAN TWELVE YEARS WITH FINE RESULTS

Delicious Cereal Relieves Constipation
Read this very enthusiastic letter:
"Something like eleven or twelve years ago, I began eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. When I started, it was called simply Kellogg's Bran, and I believe it was one of the first products of the kind on the market.
"My friends often laugh at my fondness for ALL-BRAN. It gives such a clean taste in the mouth, and I do not feel satisfied until I have had my ALL-BRAN.
"If the Kellogg Company should ever stop manufacturing ALL-BRAN, here is one who would be greatly disappointed."—Miss Amy Person, University Park, Iowa.
Science says that ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. Also iron for the blood.
The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. It is much safer than taking patent medicines—often harmful. Just two tablespoonfuls daily for most types of constipation. For serious cases, try it three times daily. It not relieved this way, see your doctor.
Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
