STATE FAIR IS "ALL SET" FOR BIGGEST EVENT

DALLAS, Oct. 5 — With everything in readiness for a "bigger and better" exposition, Otto Herold, president of the State Fair of Texas, the board of directors, junior board and staff of the exposition was "all set" here for the opening of the 48th annual exposition, Saturday, October 6. More new features are promised for the state exposition this year than ever before in its history. With its new quarter million dollar race plant which brings back horse racing to the state fair for the first time in many years, a new type of show in the auditorium — "The Show of a Century," a huge musical extravaganza, the return to the policy of presenting free entertainment to visitors in the form of sensational outdoor attractions and many other innovations, President Herold has promised the people of Texas an entirely new exposition. Despite the drastic drought through which the state passed this summer, the agriculture and livestock shows bid fair to be better than ever. A complete showing of livestock will be on the grounds throughout the 16 days. The agriculture show will be a recommendation to farm leadership as every county exhibit is from a county where there is stationed a home demonstration agent, a county agent, a vocational agricultural instructor or some agricultural agency which is ready to lend its aid in combating such conditions as Texas has undergone this year.

Threatening Letters Received by Insull

CHICAGO, Oct. 5 — Samuel Insull, Sr., on trial with 16 others on mail fraud charges, today turned over to the state attorney's office five letters he had received which threatened to "expose" his $2,000,000 utility set-up. A Trial Balloon?

The confused situation with regard to the Washington administration's budgetary plans was muddled further last week by a dispatch, in which certain unnamed treasury officials were quoted guardedly as admitting the president's plan to begin balancing the budget next fiscal year has been abandoned.

The dispatch said business had not picked up to the extent predicted, and counted on, in the president's January budget message and added that, unless there is an "extraordinary" revival of business between now and July 1, it probably will be felt necessary to continue "many emergency expenditures," hitherto slated to be discontinued on that date. It failed to say, presumably because the reporter was not informed, whether these expenditures would be confined to the minimum requirements of welfare relief or whether, on the other hand, a continuation of the dubious pump-priming experiment is in contemplation.

The dispatch added still further to the confusion by implying that the officials quoted were basing their gloomy outlook on the level of business and the volume of tax receipts that have prevailed during the first two and one-half months of the current fiscal year—a period which happens to coincide with the seasonal summer slump. It seemed rather odd that administration officials should ignore both this fact and the fact that many well-regarded business indicators already are pointing toward an autumn trade revival, which easily may boost the average index of business activity for the year to the figure set by the president.

There were other curious lapses in the dispatch, including a failure to take note that income tax collections beginning with the returns of next March 15 are almost certain to be markedly larger than those of the current calendar year.

In short, this dispatch looked very much like a "trial balloon," sent up by someone in the treasury to determine the reaction of the public and of the market to the idea that the budget would not be balanced on schedule. Moreover, since nobody would be much surprised by a prediction that conditions in the fiscal year 1935-1936 possibly may require a welfare relief, we are left to conjecture that this trial balloonist was a member of the pump-priming.

Some causes of the destructive attention Week warns us each year

Probably tricks of careless disposition of matches and burning tobacco, and the habit of accumulating heaps of refuse in sheds and basements, start as many fires as any two causes. A fire chief in a certain city used to make it his custom twice a year, before July Fourth, and in the Fall when fires were being started, to go to every business place and ask the merchants to clean out all rubbish. People used to laugh at his hammering on that idea. But that city had a reputation for escaping serious fires.

If people would be extremely careful what they do with lighted matches and burning tobacco, and keep their rubbish cleaned up, the fire loss could be cut down in almost any community.

The Baseball Climax

For millions of sport loving people, the final clash of the champions of the major baseball leagues, is the high point of the year's drama.

In the two cities whose teams are contending for this final superiority, business holds its breath. The office boy has frequent errands which make it necessary for him to pass the nearest loud speaker or bulletin board. The executive who is supposed to be "in conference," and therefore inaccessible, has perhaps merely turned on his own radio, while secretaries suspend their note taking, and all listen with bated breath to the fateful voice of the broadcaster.

Sober philosophers have always said that the American people give too much attention to sports. It diverts their minds from their own legitimate ambitions, and the acquisition of useful knowledge, they complain.

It is just as well that we are not every minute figuring how we can pursue and capture another dollar. It is even better that we shall forget our troubles for a time, as we read about some mighty swatter who has put a ball into his left field bleachers.

America takes off its hat with genuine respect to a bunch of players who have acquired such muscular deftness and nervous self control. They have attained their success not by smart tricks and deceptions, but by self controlled living and prolonged and toilsome practice. They give a fine example of thoroughness in their jobs.

Gain in post office receipts this quarter over both the preceding quarter and the same quarter of last year is a business indication that may be taken cheerfully at face value. Post office receipts form about the most accurate barometer of business conditions that exists. Any activity or lack of activity in trade or industry is certain to be reflected in the volume of mail, hence the sums paid for stamps and postal services rise or fall with the activity that the post office department serves.

The showing substantiates what local business men, particularly those dealing in clothing, groceries and other goods of an impermanent character, have said about trade and promises even more improvement. The period covered is generally the dullest of the season, it was said, and the fact that receipts then gained over the normally busier season just preceding is encouraging.

For the past month I have been the target of insistence on the part of Doc Cabaness and Henry Stubbie, field respecting an embarrassing situation in which Police Chief Purdie and Patrolman Gustafson found themselves some time ago. Both Cabaness and Stubbie have endeavored to have the matter spread to public view in this column, but their explanation of it revealed not so much a desire to acquaint the public with facts as a desire to "get back" at the chief and Gus for past indignities.

For instance: The other day when a magazine salesman with a flair for flattery and the sticitivity of a fly in warm weather came into the department and desired to see the chief, Purdie solemnly pointed to the gazing Henry and walked out of the room before the clerk could raise a protest. Several instances in which Henry has been the goat by virtue of his desk job crop out of memory, among them a time when a destitute family, whose method of travel had summarily died was left on his hands. Henry recalls with some bitterness the $2, more or less, he was compelled to dig up to provide the family with a new mule. To be accurate, I believe he paid the two dollars to have the muleless cart hooked behind an auto and deposited upon the mercies of a neighboring town.

Anyway, he recalls the $2 still rather vividly.

Doc's motives are less obvious, but certainly present. If I am not mistaken he has the insurance on the police car. Which will explain why he and Henry have charged Purdie and Gustafson with running over farmers' automobiles and neglecting to report the facts to the police desk. Purdie and Gustafson merely grin and change the subject.

The charges appear to have grown out of an inquiry made at the desk by Cabaness who asked to know what damage had been done to the police cruiser in a slight accident. Henry was totally ignorant of the incident and merely stared at Cabaness. It may have been that Henry's pride was pained by the neglect to inform the desk on the matter, but it undoubtedly was Doc's mischief-

AUSTIN, Oct. 5 — The house of representatives on the final day of its recent session honored two distinguished members who will retire from public office at the close of the final special session of the 43rd legislature. These members are Rep. T. H. McGregor of Austin, one of the two former senators serving in the present house, and Rep. John M. Mathis of Houston. A resolution signed by every colleague in the house of representatives was given a separate page in the journal, as a tribute to the public service of the two men.

"Whereas, out of grateful hearts we frequently pause to pay tribute to our fellow men who have rendered valuable service to the public; and

"Whereas, we have among our fellow members two whose tenure in public life and affairs is being terminated as members of the house of representatives after long and distinguished careers in public affairs in Texas; and

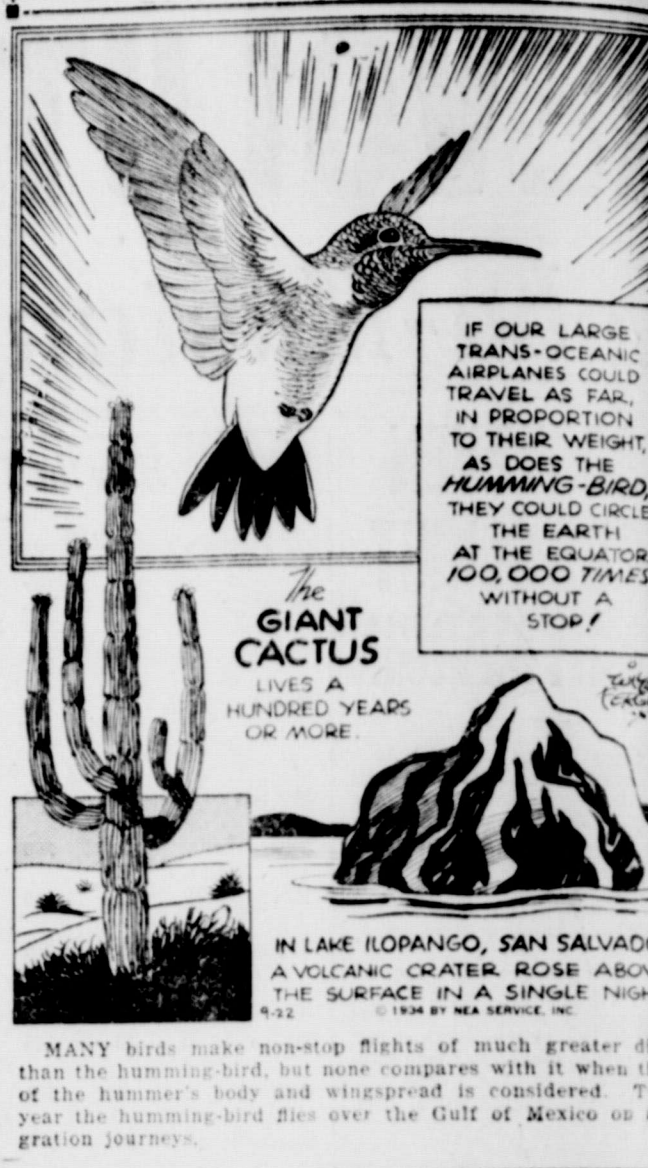

"Whereas, the services they have rendered to the undersigned and unexcelled by few men in the history of the state, and whose efforts have redounded to the benefit of the grateful public; therefore, be it

"Resolved, that the house of representatives hereby expresses its earnest and sincere appreciation of the services of the Hon. John M. Mathis Sr., of Harris county, and the Hon. T. H. McGregor, of Travis county; and bid them Godspeed in whatever directions their efforts are bent."

The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

BEGIN HERE TODAY
CHARLES MORDEN, reporter for the Blade, telephoned the newspaper a report of the death of EDWARD SHILLINGB, private detective, believed to have been killed by "CINCINNATI KID" LAMPSON, gangster.

The same night a man using the name of JOHN SMITH is brought to police headquarters an associate of MARY BRIDGES, hit-sucker. The man changes his story several times, finally is identified as FRANK B. CATHAY, wealthy suburbanite and candidate for city council. Both Cathay and the girl were released.

Morden, the only reporter to learn these facts, telephoned the story to his newspaper.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER II
A FRECKLE-FACED lad, with a slight cast in one eye, and who was particularly disliked by Charles Morden, brought him the news.

The boy jerked his finger toward the editorial offices. "Kenney, the city editor, wants to see you," he said.

Morden strode toward the office with an expression of becoming modesty. He had, he knew, slipped a fast one over on Whipple. The Blade had been the only newspaper to carry the story of the Riverview scandal — the prominent citizen, candidate on the reform ticket for councilman arrested on suspicion of driving while intoxicated, in company with a young woman whom he claimed he had never seen before.

Morden opened the door of Dick Kenney's office, stiffened slightly as he saw the big man in the well-tailored suit who turned pale gray eyes upon him in hostile appraisal.

Kenney jerked his head toward the man in the gray suit. "Know this man?" he asked.

Morden breathed a sigh of relief. Whatever the squawk, it wasn't something which could be laid to him.

"No," he said blithely. "I never saw him in my life."

"Take a look at this," said Kenney.

The city editor slid a card across the desk. Morden picked the card up and stared at it. It read simply, "Frank B. Cathay—Investments—Suite 908 First National Bank Building, Riverview."

would duplicate the signature. The man pulled the pad paper which Kenney held out him, grabbed the pencil with which the city editor scribbled memos, and dashed off a signature which was a perfect duplicate of the signature under the photograph.

"That," said the city editor, staring pointedly at Morden "settles the matter."

"I want a retraction," said O'thway, "and I want damages."

"If you have a retraction, Kenney pointed out, "there will be any damages."

Cathay's face blazed into fury. "Don't talk to me like that, he said.

KENNEY toyed with the pencil, sliding his fingers up and down the brown wood. Cathay went on, "I have been damaged in an amount that can probably never be compensated, from a financial standpoint. However, I shall expect a very material contribution—not so much because of the money involved as because of the moral effect. I intend to deposit your check in the First National bank at Riverview but before I have deposited it I shall see that it is photographed and a facsimile is printed in The Riverview Daily Press."

Kenney's face was savage. "You talk like that," he said, "and it'll be a long time before you get a check! You can get a retraction any time you want. There's been a mistake made. There are certain peculiar circumstances surrounding the making of that mistake. We telephoned your wife for confirmation. She stated that you were here in the city; that she didn't know what hotel you were stopping at."

"Quite true," said Cathay.

"By the way," Kenney said with elaborate carelessness, "what hotel were you stopping at, Mr. Cathay?"

Cathay snorted. "I didn't come here to be insulted still further," he said. "It's none of your business where I stayed or what I did! I have told you what I expect. First, I shall expect a retraction. After that I shall expect the check."

He turned on his heel and strode toward the door.

"Wait a minute," Kenney said. "Let's get at the bottom of this thing. I want you to meet Mr. Bleeker, the junior partner of the firm which publishes The Blade."

"No, thank you," said Mr. Cathay frostily. "I have given you my message. My suit for libel will be filed within a day or two unless the matter is satisfactorily adjusted in the meantime. I wish you a very good afternoon."

The door banged.

Dick Kenney looked accusingly at Charles Morden.

"It's fishy as hell!" Charles Morden exploded.

Kenney pushed back his chair. "You come with me, young man," he said. "We're going to see the boss!"

(To Be Continued)

In the next chapter Morden began to get the most exciting phase of work in his career.

AN ORDINANCE

ORDINANCE fixing and adopting minimum rates which may or shall be charged and collected monthly for gas sold and delivered within the limits of the City of Cisco, Texas, and making it unlawful for any person, public utility, association of persons, partnership, private corporation or municipal corporation to fix, charge or collect for gas sold and delivered at a rate below the minimum prescribed in schedule of such rates; fixing the minimum amounts for monthly bills to be charged and collected; consumers irrespective of the amount of gas used; permitting consumers other than users of gas for domestic purposes, to select the schedule of prescribed rates to be charged for gas consumed monthly by users during any one operating season; defining operating season; fixing a fine and penalty as against any person, agent or employee who violates the provisions of this ordinance; providing that any person, public utility, association of persons, partnership or corporation which violates any provision of this ordinance shall render the franchise under which it operates subject to forfeiture; providing that this ordinance shall repeal any and all previous ordinances or parts thereof in conflict therewith; and providing that if any section, article or provision is held to be void or unconstitutional by any court, that such decision shall not affect the validity of any remaining part, unless the part held void and unconstitutional is indispensable to the operation of the remaining parts, and further providing that the Board of Commissioners of the City of Cisco declare that they would have passed only the valid portions of this ordinance and would have omitted the invalid parts thereof if they had only been advised concerning the same prior to the passage thereof.

BE IT ORDAINED BY the City Commission of the City of Cisco, Texas:

1. The following schedules of rates are hereby adopted, and fixed as the minimum rates which may or shall be charged and collected by any persons, public utility, association of persons, partnership, private corporation or municipal corporation for gas sold and delivered within the limits of the City of Cisco, Texas, and the following are fixed as the minimum bills to be charged and collected each month irrespective of the amount of gas sold and delivered, to-wit:

DOMESTIC RATE

For gas used each month for domestic purposes the minimum rate shall be sixty cents per thousand cubic feet, but no bill of less than one dollar per month shall be charged and collected irrespective of the amount of gas used.

COMMERCIAL RATE

For the first twenty thousand cubic feet of gas sold each month a minimum rate of sixty cents per thousand cubic feet; for all gas sold over and above twenty thousand cubic feet and up to thirty thousand cubic feet each month a minimum rate of fifty-eight and one-half cents per thousand cubic feet; for all gas sold over and above thirty thousand cubic feet and up to fifty thousand cubic feet each month a minimum rate of fifty-four cents per thousand cubic feet; for all gas sold over and above fifty thousand cubic feet and up to two hundred thousand cubic feet each month a minimum rate of twenty-seven cents per thousand cubic feet; and for all gas sold over and above two hundred thousand cubic feet and up to five hundred thousand cubic feet each month a minimum rate of twenty-two and one-half cents per thousand cubic feet.

No bill of less than one dollar a month shall be charged irrespective of the amount of gas used by customers selecting this rate.

INDUSTRIAL RATE NO. 1

For the first fifty thousand cubic feet of gas sold each month a minimum rate of forty-five cents per thousand cubic feet; for all gas sold over and above fifty thousand cubic feet and up to two hundred thousand cubic feet each month a minimum rate of twenty-seven cents per thousand cubic feet; for all gas sold over and above two hundred thousand cubic feet and up to five hundred thousand cubic feet each month a minimum rate of twenty-two and one-half cents per thousand cubic feet.

which the meter or meters are in service under such agreement.

3. Any person or corporation of the receiver of any legal representative of any person or corporation, or any agent or employee of any person or corporation or the receiver of any person or corporation, who violates any provision of this ordinance, shall upon conviction in a court of competent jurisdiction, be fined in any sum not to exceed One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) for each offense. Each day for which a charge for gas shall be less than that set out in this minimum rate ordinance shall be considered a separate offense.

4. Any person, firm or corporation, or any receiver or other legal representative of any person, firm or corporation furnishing and distributing gas in the City of Cisco, Texas, who shall violate the provisions of this ordinance by charging or collecting for the sale and distribution of gas to any consumer in the City of Cisco, Texas, at any rate less than that herein specified, in addition to the other penalty provided by any ordinance of the City of Cisco, shall thereby render subject to forfeiture the franchise of any such person, firm or corporation.

5. From and after the date this ordinance shall become effective, all previous ordinances or parts thereof in conflict herewith shall be and are hereby expressly repealed.

6. Should any section, article, provision of any part of this ordinance be held and declared to be unconstitutional and void by a court of competent jurisdiction, such decision shall in no wise affect the validity of any of the remaining parts of this ordinance, unless the part held void is indispensable to the operation of the remaining parts. The Board of Commissioners of the City of Cisco, Texas, hereby declares that it would have passed these parts of this ordinance which are valid and omitted any parts which may be unconstitutional or void if it had known or been advised that such parts were unconstitutional or void at the time of the passage of this ordinance.

SON SNUBS TRADITIONS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 5.—President Roosevelt's youngest son, John, apparently cares not for the traditions of his father's alma mater, Harvard university, John, who enrolled as a freshman, has his own ideas about a wardrobe. Contrary to Harvard tradition, he wears: Coat and trousers that match; black shoes instead of white; a felt hat instead of none.

BIDDIE OFFERED OMELET

HAVRE, Mont., Oct. 5.—When Virgil Merklin's favorite hen lays eggs she doesn't go it in half-way fashion—she produces a whole omelet. One of Merklin's buddies aroused envious cackles in the barnyard the other day by laying an egg which measured 7 1-2 inches in circumference and 8 1-2 inches in length. Merklin suspects this biddy has scotch blood.

THEY SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES

POUR on milk or cream. Then listen to Kellogg's Rice Krispies. Their "Snap! Crackle! Pop!" tells a story of delicious crispness.

You'll love their flavor. Great for breakfast or lunch. Ideal for the children's supper. Light and easy to digest. Ready-to-eat. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

... and while we're talking about cigarettes

I don't suppose you were ever in a warehouse where they were storing bogsheads of tobacco. Anyway here's something interesting:

Liggett & Myers, the people who make Chesterfields, have about 4 1/2 miles of storage warehouses where they age the tobacco.

Down South where they grow tobacco folks say...

It's no wonder so many people smoke Chesterfields. The tobaccos are mild and ripe to start with, and then they're aged the right way to make a milder, better-tasting cigarette.

a good cigarette gives you a lot of pleasure—

STAR SIGNALS

By OCTAVINE

Saturday, Oct. 6 1934

The morning and late afternoon are favorable for dealing with women, for courtship or pleasure, but the late afternoon is accidental also and brings again to the fore the influence of Oct. 4, so be careful of contentions or of dealing with those older than yourself.

BIRTHDATE

You may benefit in a peculiar way through a secret from Aug. 25, 1934, through Oct. 22, 1935. You should have much energy and love to eat. You should also be interested in athletics such as golf or tennis. A favorable financial period is indicated for you from Dec. 4 through Dec. 15, 1934.

Danger Jan. 5 through Jan. 10, 1935.
Socially favorable Oct. 14 and 15, 1934.

1935 CORN-HOG SIGNERS WILL VOTE ON PLAN

Corn-hog contracts signers in Eastland county will be asked to vote on the 1935 plan of the corn-hog section of the AAA, according to word received by County Agent J. C. Platterson from E. M. Regenbrecht, extension swine husbandman. The referendum is to be some time in October.

Regenbrecht represented the Texas Extension Service in the AAA meeting held recently in Kansas City where farmers and representatives from state agricultural colleges from Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Texas met to make recommendations for the next steps in the corn-hog program. The first question discussed at Kansas City and to be voted on by corn-hog contract signers is whether or not there shall be any sort of adjustment program in this field, Regenbrecht said.

The second point to be decided is whether the contract shall deal with corn only or hogs only or be a joint contract as in 1934.

The third question will ask for preference on the type of contract which they wish for the 1935 program. This refers to a possible unified contract for the six basic grains: wheat, corn, rye, barley, grain sorghums and flax. It would represent a shift from several single crop contracts to a broad program of developing better systems of farming through less intensive use of land, conservation of soil resources, and use of land for those crops for which it is best adapted.

The fourth question will be voted on only by those contract signers who are grain sorghum growers for grain. It will ask if they prefer that grain sorghums be included in the 1935 contract. The exact wording of the questions will be available at the time of the referendum.

Kansas City Voting

At Kansas City the voting was that benefit payments be made on both corn and hogs, that the established 1932-33 base in the 1934 program for both corn and hogs be used, but benefit payments of $3 per head on 7 5/8 per cent of the 1932-33 hogs and of 40 cents per bushel on the appraised yield of contracted corn acres; and that the growing of hogs be permitted up to 80 per cent or 85 per cent of the base, and corn acreage increased up to 75 per cent to 90 per cent of the base, the exact percentage to be optional.

Other recommendations made by the conference were that contracted corn acreage be used without restriction for hay, pasture, soil improvement, soil erosion prevention, crops, fallowing, or for forest plantings; that grain sorghums be included in the 1935 contract on the same basis as corn as to adjustments, benefits and tax; and that the base of processing tax be broadened to include other commodities in proportion to the benefit accruing to them from this program.

It was also recommended that the plan for warehousing corn on the farm be continued and the same principle extended to other grains, and that the 1935 corn-hog contract be made a step toward a long-time contract program to begin in 1936. It was asked that the referendum be held during the month of October and that the questions be clarified and made more specific; and that the poll be taken by unpaid workers. "It must be remembered that these were merely recommendations to the AAA and that they may or may not be followed," Regenbrecht said.

Azucar Nominated For Arlington Race

FORT WORTH, Oct. 5.—Azucar one of the nominations for the $10,000 added Waggoner handicap to be run over one and one-eighth miles Nov. 10 at Arlington Downs, is one of the most interesting thoroughbreds on the American turf.

He holds the unique distinction of being a high class stake horse, both on the flat and in the steeplechase field. Only Saturday he further demonstrated his ability on the flat by outracing A. G. Whitney's Discovery in finishing only a nose behind Faureno in the Havre de Grace handicap.

The defeat of Discovery ranked second to Cavalcade among the 3-year-olds and the leading contender for handicap honors, was the biggest upset in the history of the Havre Handicap, a $10,000 added event.

Bred in England and purely English bred, the now 6-year-old gelding by Milesius out of Clarice. Azucar was imported for a jumper by Joseph E. Widener, chairman of the New York Jockey club. He at once took his place among the great per-

Built Up Strength By Taking Cardui

Here's her own account of how Mrs. T. W. Hardin, of Greer, S. C., was benefited by taking Cardui: "I suffered a great deal from weakness in my back and pains in my side and felt so miserable," she writes. "I read of Cardui and decided to try it. I felt better after I took my first bottle, so kept on taking it as I felt such a need of strength, and it helped me so much."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

formers through the field in the East and finally became the property for a fancy price, of Fred Alger Jr., of Detroit.

In working for a steeplechase one morning Azucar stepped a mile and quarter in 2:06, a performance which opened the eyes of all the clockers. On that work, he was sent to new name on the flat. At Saratoga Springs, he won at a mile in 1:38 2-5, and then sterling time of 1:38 2-5, and then went on to greater things when at Belmont Park on Sept. 7, he ran a Belmont and beating Watch Him and other high class performers.

SALEMAN ACCUSED

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—Morris Glener, 34, stands charged with representing himself as a Bolshevik, sending himself as a Bolshevik, escaping from Russia, selling cut claims to a woman here after declaring they were a part of the "crown jewel collection." Glener described himself as a "salesman."

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 5.—"They don't know what they're getting themselves in for," remarked a catch-married Salt Lake City husband when he learned that 72 high school boys were registered in home economic courses in local schools.

THANKS TO ELECTRICITY YOUR Baby will be HEALTHIER!

Some of the Things Every Home Needs:

- Electric Refrigeration
- Electric Range
- Electric Vacuum
- Cleaner
- Electric Water Heater
- Electric Washing Machine
- Electric Ironer or Iron
- Electric Dish Washer

YEAR after year the infant health rate is shooting higher and higher. The numbers of normally healthy children are increasing by leaps and bounds. One of the important reasons for this—Electricity! The wonder of electricity, being commonly used, is one of the greatest factors in good health ever known to civilization. Through electricity, eyes are protected from overstrain, indoor air is kept clean and evenly heated, and food remains appetizing and pure. In short, electricity readily supplies the comforts and necessities of living that are demanded by good health.

Electricity renders one of the greatest services to the household, yet the cost approximates only one per cent of the workman's total budget expenditures.

Some of the Things Every Home Needs:

- Electric Radio
- Electric Percolator
- Electric Toaster
- Electric Waffle Heater
- Electric Heater
- Fans
- Electric Hot Pads
- Well Located Wall Outlets

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule . . . and adds only a small amount to your total bill?
