MORE PUBLICITY SEEN FOR RECOVERY

More Projects Called For At County Meeting Saturday

35 PER CENT OF RELIEF IS EMPLOYMENT

A snap in the Eastland county relief employment was seen as the probable result of a meeting in Eastland Saturday morning of representatives of towns and organizations over the county.

The meeting was called by County Administrator Driscoll for consideration of new work and construction projects in compliance with the new requirement calling for at least 35 per cent of the county's entire relief budget to consist of lateral roads or other constructive work projects.

Among the heads of city governments and civic organizations were 40 county relief clients who were perhaps interested most vitally of all in the future of the county's relief funds.

Mayor J. T. Berry of Cisco announced that Cisco was ready and willing to cooperate to help the county submit as many projects as possible next week. He was followed by other Cisco speakers who said that their organizations were ready to submit definite projects.

Cisco's Projects

Supr. R. N. Chick told of three school projects which he said would be ready within a week. These are a football field project, filling in of school grounds, and schoolhouse repairs.

Other Cisco projects mentioned at the meeting were road and beautification plans, and plans for a fish hatchery at Lake Cisco.

Ranger Eastland, Cisco, Rising Star, Gorman, Desdemona, Olden and other towns in the county had representatives at the meeting. All submitted projects and many took application blanks to be filled in for approval at Austin.

"What we need is projects," said the county administrator. "We need a whole armload of projects. The more projects we can get, the more favor we are going to find at Austin."

"We are required to have a minimum of 35 per cent of our relief funds in this work. If we can get 50 per cent, it will be that much better."

A spirit of cooperation appeared to prevail throughout the meeting. There was no dissention, but a considerable interest, especially in the setup calling for only 10 per cent of the funds to be used for materials and hauling expense.

At present Eastland County has 1,504 employable men and 161 employable women. Of this number, 445 are employed in the relief setup, leaving 1,229 to be put to work if we can find enough projects.

Cisco has 258 employable men and 42 employable women. There are 115 at work in the relief ranks.

Indicted Hauptmann as Lindbergh Baby Slayer

Cutlines for PI 3 col Hauptmann... Sifting evidence in one of the most famous criminal cases in history, with the nation tensely waiting for their verdict, this group of men and women, the Hunterdon county grand jury, returned a murder indictment against Bruno Hauptmann in the Lindbergh baby death case. In the rapid fire session, Colonel Lindbergh and several surprise witnesses appeared before the inquisitorial body meeting in Flemington, N. J. Hunterdon county seat.

SENATE HEARS OF PRICE PAID FOR LIBERTY

AUSTIN, Oct. 20—Recital of the work and blood paid for Texas liberty was resumed today before a senate committee studying state appropriations for the Texas Centennial in 1936.

Gonzales, where Texas was first given its battle flag, and Goliad, famous for the massacre that inflamed Texas colonists, presented their claims for Centennial recognition.

Hearings have been scheduled Monday for Victoria, Refugio, San Patricio, Houston and San Antonio.

Both house and senate were adjourned till Monday.

The Brazos river project bill will be pending in the house next week. Senate attention is due on bills to remit interests and penalties on delinquent taxes.

Hope Restored to Doomed Man

Cut lines for Hope Restored... Smiles of supreme happiness wreathed the faces of David Lamson and his sister, Dr. Margaret Lamson, as she brought news to San Quentin, Calif., prison of the granting of a new trial to the man condemned to death as a wife slayer. Despite belief of a majority of the supreme court justices in Lamson's guilt, their statement declared the conviction was won on evidence "no stronger than mere suspicion."

PRESS TO BE INFORMED OF CODE WORKING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20—Chairman Clay Williams of the new recovery board announced today that in the future publicity would be given "accomplishments" rather than intra-office discussion of code problems.

With Gen. Hugh Johnson at the head of the recovery administration the public was informed of every detail. The new board has held daily sessions for three weeks without the public being informed of any of the proceedings.

Meanwhile, it was indicated that plans to promote code enforcement by coordinated efforts of code authorities, federal trade administration, the justice department and NRA might result in abandonment of the blue eagle as a symbol of compliance.

Close observers believe the following consideration had a part in the decision:

1. The administration's desire to reassure business that it still intends business to govern itself.
2. Some believe any direct change in policy might be disastrous to candidates in the November election.
3. Preparation of a separation of legal properties for the permanent government indicated a setup to succeed the recovery act next January.
4. Future policies may effect other emergency plans.

ROBINSONS GET INDICTMENTS IN ONLY 5 MINUTES

LOUISVILLE, Kan., Oct. 20—A federal grand jury today returned an indictment against Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., his wife and his father, charging them with the kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Stoll.

The indictments were voted by the grand jury after it had listened for two hours to evidence in the case.

The jury deliberated only five minutes. The indictments were on charges of violating the "Lindbergh kidnaping law."

Meanwhile, an army of federal agents combed the entire country for the young former college graduate and insane asylum inmate who engineered the abduction.

Grand Jury To Get Jones Slaying Case

HILLSBORO, Oct. 20—Investigation of the slaying of Walter L. Jones, Cleburne money lender, probably will be the first consideration of the Hill County grand jury when it convenes Monday, Dist. Atty. Allred announced today.

Included in the evidence to be reviewed by the jury will be the signed confession of Herschel Taylor, former convict, who admitted slaying Jones to rob him. Neal Griffith, Fort Worth, also is held in jail on charges of being an accomplice.

HAUTPMANN TO BE ARRAIGNED NEXT MONDAY

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Oct. 20—Bruno R. Hauptmann will be arraigned Monday on an indictment charging him with the murder of the Lindbergh baby and will be tried before November 15, it was understood today.

He was brought to this county within whose borders the crime took place, last night, to prevent extradition from New York.

Extraordinary precautions were taken to safeguard the prisoner, who was led through boozing and shouting farmers and townsmen when the heavily guarded motorcade that brought him from New York arrived. State troops stood guard inside and outside the jail, regarded as both escape proof and mob proof.

Elijah and Elisha Subject of Debate

"Resolved: That Elijah was a greater character than was Elisha," was the subject debated Thursday night by the Demosthenian Literary club of Randolph college.

Elton Dennis and Powell Sharp brought a unanimous victory for Elisha when they won the decision of the judges, Cuthrell Lipsy, Ivan Little, and Joe Bob Winston. Charles A. Elmore and Forrest Bailey defended Elijah in a commendable manner, both presenting strong and forceful arguments for their character. Dr. David F. Tyndall, club critic, presided over the meeting as the president. Forrest Bailey, was participating in the debate.

The minutes were read and roll called by the secretary-treasurer, Francis E. Barnes, following the opening prayer by Richie Lee Davis.

The business session of the club was deferred to the next meeting and the club devoted the time to listening to impromptu speeches by Miss Margie Lankester, Elmer Lee Burgess, and Roland Hill.

After a brief message by Dr. Tyndall, the members received an inspiring message from Cuthrell Lipsy, pastor of the First Christian church of Eastland and a graduate of Randolph college. Lipsy brought out the present opportunities which are in the near presence of the youthful ministers of today. It was a timely subject and was well received by all present. The club adjourned following a motion for same by the Chaplain, Joe Bob Winston, who offered the prayer to close the meeting.

Don't Believe In Safety In Numbers

HUTCHINS, Tex., Oct. 20—Two young men who were here recently will tell you the adage "safety in numbers" is wrong when it comes to incorrect telephone numbers.

The curiosity of a telephone operator led them to the conclusion.

At 3:30 o'clock one morning the operator received a call from a local store. A masculine voice gave her a number. The operator found there was no such number. By then her curiosity was aroused.

"What are you doing in the store at this time of night?" she asked. "Click!" replied the telephone.

She then called Bob Atwell, the store's owner, and reported the mysterious proceeding. Atwell hurried to his store, found $4 missing from the cash register and the place ransacked. With local officers he set out on search.

Between Hutchins and Dallas they found two men in a parked automobile. One of the men had $4 in his possession. Atwell said the bills were folded as were the bills in his cash register.

The men arrested, brought back to Hutchins and required to call the vigilant operator. She said one of them sounded like the man who called her earlier from the store.

Flying Dutchmen In Lead In Air Classic

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 20—The Netherlands plane number 44 in the England-Australia race arrived here at 3:30 p. m. Greenwich meridian time, apparently leading the classic.

The Flying Dutchmen, K. D. Parmentier and J. J. Mail, out-distanced the other 19 entrants in their American built airliner on the first leg of the race which started at Milledale airport, England, at 6:30 Greenwich time.

Col. Roscoe Turner and Clyde Fagburn, American entrants were close behind. They landed at 4:38 p. m. after a non-stop flight. The Dutchmen halted briefly at Rome to refuel. They paused at Athens only 20 minutes before taking off for Syria at 3:50 p. m.

Messages from Bucharest said that the third U. S. plane flown by Miss Jacqueline Cochran and Wesley Smith had abandoned the race there, due to trouble with their landing gear. The other planes were strung out over Europe, some delayed by fog and rains in France.

Texan Gets Cattle Brand From Farley

MIDLAND, Oct. 20—Postmaster General James A. Farley couldn't approve the cattle-brand postage stamps requested by Marion F. Peters, gas company manager here, but he did stamp a personal cattle brand on a sheet of paper for Peters' approval.

Peters is an autograph collector of a unique sort—he collects autographed cattle brands from world-famous persons.

Farley's letter to Peters said: "Cattle raising is indeed one of America's basic industries and recognition thereof in a proper manner would be most appropriate. Our stamp program for this year has taxed the capacity of the Bureau of Printing and Engraving and we are unable at this time to give serious consideration to additional issues."

"I note that you ask that I sketch a symbol used as a brand in your cattle industry and return it to you on a separate sheet of paper. This is rather a new experience for me but I tried my hand at it and the result of this effort is herewith as you requested."

Your letter and enclosures were very interesting and I thank you for writing me on this subject."

Man in Wrong Car Shot Through Neck

FORT WORTH, Oct. 20—P. G. Craig mistakenly drove off in the wrong car today and as a result is suffering from a bullet wound through the fleshy part of his neck.

Craig, a railway mail clerk, came hurriedly out of a lumber company office and climbed into Deputy Sheriff H. W. Rhodes' car similar make which had been parked behind his own.

Rhodes came out much more hurriedly when he saw someone driving off with his car. He jumped into the other man's car, which still had the keys in it, and gave pursuit. The deputy sheriff said that when Craig did not halt at his command, he cut "lose" with his pistol. Evidently each man thought the other was trying to rob him.

Last Rites Held For French Hero

PARIS, Oct. 20—France paid final tribute today to Raymond Poincaré, its wartime president, in a service at the Pantheon in a drizzling rain, in which he was eulogized by Premier Doumergue.

SISTER MARY'S RECIPES

BY MARY E. DAGUE

AND now here we are at the time of the year when the man of the house turns into a mighty hunter who sallies forth with his gun and traps through brush and mire until at last he has bagged a trophy to bring home and lay at your feet.

If you come from a long line of squirrel-hunting and squirrel-cooking women, then you probably have traditional recipes and menus that have been passed down for many generations. But if you've never met squirrel or Brunswick stew before, here they are and I am proud to be the one to introduce you.

As squirrel is a comparatively light meat, the accompanying vegetables should be substantial, but a mixed green salad is best, with fresh or cooked fruit for dessert—baked apples in sherry, for instance. Squirrel is slightly gamey, so the accompanying foods should have definite flavors of their own.

Brunswick stew is a very old Southern dish. Some modern cooks use chickens to make it, or a combination of squirrel and chicken. In case the squirrels were not plentiful at the hunt you may be glad to eke out with a chicken or two.

Brunswick Stew

Three squirrels, 3 slices fat salt pork, 2 medium sized onions, 3 large potatoes, 2 cups corn, 1 cup lima beans, 4 cups tomatoes, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 tablespoon salt, 4 quarts boiling water, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour.

The original recipe uses green corn cut from the cob. The amount of butter can be decreased to two tablespoons and the stew will be quite rich.

Clean, wash and disjoint squirrels. Let stand in cold salt water to cover for an hour. Drain. Chop salt pork very fine. Put a layer

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Honeydew melon with lemon wedges, cereal, cream, cornmeal pancakes, syrup, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Black bean soup, toast sticks, stuffed celery salad, cranberry whip, milk, tea.

DINNER: Grapefruit cup, Brunswick stew or fish chowder, new cabbage with piquant cream sauce, salad of mixed greens with hard cooked egg dressing, apples baked with cherry, milk, coffee.

In a broad, flat iron kettle, add minced onions, potatoes cut in very thin slices, corn, beans and all the squirrels. Cover with another layer of onions, potatoes, corn and beans. Season each layer with black pepper and just a dash of cayenne. Pour over boiling water, cover tightly and let simmer gently three hours. Add tomatoes, salt and sugar and stew an hour longer. Work flour and butter together and stir into stew. Boil three minutes and serve.

Apples Baked with Sherry

Four large fine apples, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1-2 cup sherry, 1-2 cup blanched almonds.

Pare and core apples. Cut almonds in half lengthwise and stick into apples porcupine fashion. Put in a baking dish with a light fitting cover and pour over sugar and sherry which have been brought to the boiling point. Cover baking dish and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until apples are tender but not broken. Baste several times during the baking with the syrup in the dish. Uncover for the last fifteen minutes of baking and increase heat so that the apples will glaze. Chill and serve with plain rich cream.

Making History Where Will It End?

Few realize how much the world is making history just now. The assassination of King Alexander, of Jugo-Slavia, marks the passing of the real kings. He was the only man in the world of today that was king in power as well as in name. Alexander ruled his country and in doing so excited the hatred of the Croats to the extent that it brought about his death.

Kings of modern times have not been the real rulers of their kingdoms, delegating that power, or rather suffering that power to be in the hands of the people, their representative, or to some strong individual who has usurped that power. This is the gradual evolving of the great economic revolution that has been in the making for many decades, but which has had great impetus since the depression has made men much more socialistic than they had ever dared think of being before that period.

Upton Sinclair, noted writer and socialist, who has been nominated on the democratic ticket for governor of California, has the world sitting up and taking notice just now on account of his daring statements of what he will do to bring about employment for those without jobs, when he shall have been elected.

Threat of Capital that it will leave California if he is elected, in order to avoid heavy income taxes that he avows he will collect to help run the government, has no terror for him. He says, "Let them leave they'll soon be back asking for a job. If they don't keep their factories open and pay proper salaries, we'll open them ourselves and man them from the unemployed."

Sinclair's utterances are crystallizations of thoughts that have been in the making for many years, but were imagined to be too daring and too radical for any one to speak out in public. Where will it end, no one dares even to guess. The fires have been slumbering, but like the beginning of the great French revolution, the depression with its unemployment was needed only to make our thoughts bold enough to break out and become demands.

And does it surprise us? Of course it does. Who would have thought during the good times of 1926 to '29 here in Cisco and the Oil Belt, that hundreds of people would be the direct wards of the government? And now that we have begun to depend upon government charity and government employment, it has already changed its aspect. We're getting used to the idea and we speak frankly about our wonder as to when the federal government will be able to turn us loose, if ever.

But we are making history and making it fast. We are traveling more distances with our revolutionary ideas in a year now, than had been traveled in a hundred years before. Not much change has been apparent in America since the revolutionary war, so far as economic thought is concerned. It's true, men like W. J. Bryan and others had hinted at strange ideas, but no one took them seriously, but these ideas no longer shock us. Verily, we are making history rapidly, faster than anyone knows.

But what of social thoughts? Won't there be equally daring and radical developments in our social and religious relations?

Many of us can remember the ox wagon, washpot and rub board. Some remember the wooden plow. For thousands of years men used the ox cart, and women beat their washing with a paddle. Then within our lifetime came the two-horse wagon, then the rubber tired buggy, next the bicycle. Ford car, now the air-flow and airplane. More development in transportation and household conveniences for women, in the past half-century than had been made in the past thousand years. Electricity, telephone, radio, wireless, all of recent development. We have awakened, schoolmen have declared the old curriculum antiquated and demand radical changes, and they will come quickly.

With other changes from the old conservatism which has been considered safe, we may only expect equally radical changes of thought socially and religiously. Daring customs and bold departure will mark the evolution. No one can predict what may be accepted as proper conduct morally and spiritually. We should not be alarmed, but we should at least brace ourselves for the shock. Much good may come; much danger will imperil our fabric of society. The whole world's social balance may rock for awhile. Of course, we'll finally emerge right side up but, we're making history.

On Hunting For Pests

Reading of a "pest hunt" in which two groups of hunters are going forth to kill all the rats, mice, owls, hawks, crows and English sparrows they can, the losing group to give the winning group a dinner, a naturalist makes these observations: It is all right to kill the rats and mice, which are genuine pests. It is different with the owls and hawks. Farm specialists say that all kinds of owls and nearly all kinds of hawks benefit the farmer by destroying real farm pests. Even the crow cannot be set down as worthy of extermination. He destroys some grain and other useful things, but killing destructive insects he more than makes up for that. The English sparrow ought to be exterminated, but the trouble is that people going forth with guns for general slaughter are not likely to make any fine discriminations, and will shoot various useful and desirable birds by mistake.

CHRISTIANITY CHALLENGED: HER RESPONSE

By E. S. JAMES

Pastor First Baptist Church
Perhaps the best definition of a challenge is that it is a defiant call to a contest. Accepting that definition, it seems to the writer that Christianity is being challenged in this generation more vehemently than at any time since the medieval age. Two decades ago most of the civilized world accepted the bible as the word of God. It looked upon the church and the ministry as the greatest known factors in building respectable nations and governments. It was then an accepted fact that "Righteousness exalteth a nation, and sin is a reproach to any people." But, alas, the changes that have been wrought in the past twenty years! Some have charged these changes to the war. Some have claimed them to be the results of extended education. Some regard them as the indication of an approaching climax to present-day civilization. Some look upon them as the heralds of the end of the age.

It is my personal opinion that we would do well to think less of the cause and more of the cure. Rather than deny the challenge we would be wiser if we acknowledge it and arise to meet it with the implements of spiritual warfare. It is my purpose, therefore, in this article to admit that the Christian world is defiantly called to a contest and to say that she is meeting and will meet this challenge and that she will prove to the world of men that the gospel message is just as efficacious as Jesus claimed it would be.

Despair of the Orient

Let it be repeated that Christianity is challenged today. Let us take a look around the world and see what the people are saying to the Christian world. The overpopulated orient is crying out in her despair for relief from human suffering and for a new deal that will make her people want to live for a cause rather than die for it. In her effort to relieve herself of this distress, Japan has taken the iron hand of the musket and extended her leaders to Manchuria. But Japan has failed to find the expected railway on the continent, and today there is more unrest among all the orientals than there was two years ago. Toyoniko Kagawa, who is perhaps the most eminent Japanese living, tells us that the only peaceful, restful, and contented persons in Japan are those who live in the Christian settlements. He tells us that the Christian missionaries have arisen to show these people how to live, how to work, how to die, and how to be contented with what they have. The Christianity of the west in establishing Christian hospitals, schools, orphanages, and churches in this distant land, and it is pointing them to a more permanent home beyond the vale of tears. Japan is accepting the message of the gospel, and because of it is rising rapidly in the internal world.

Again let us look at Red Russia. A little while ago the millions of down-trodden peasants of that vast country threw off the shackles of czarism and established the regime of bolshevism, sovietism and anarchy. She sought to oust the established church of Russia because for centuries that church had belied her name and corrupted herself until she no longer represented the Christianity of the Bible. Now what has happened? Russia tried communism, but it failed as it will always fail. She substituted bolshevism, but Trotsky was exiled. She tried sovietism in an effort to prevent the return of capitalism, but Stalin is rapidly failing, and today Russia is accepting the gospel message which teaches neither communism nor capitalism but that on the intermediate ground all mankind may live peaceably and happily by the golden rule of Jesus. Christianity has met the challenge in Russia, and Russia is beginning to be conquered by the message of love.

Germany's Hitlerism

Germany sought relief from impossible reparations demands, and she resorted to Hitlerism. In conjunction with this she sought to subject her churches to the will of the government but last Sun. sixteen thousand churches and pastors stood out in public to resist the demands of the chancellor, and today the Christianity of Germany arises under the spirit of Barth and Bruner to prove that it is possible for a people surrounded by an iron ring to live peaceably with all men. Christianity answers to the challenge of demagogues in Germany. Again the world is troubled over the murder of King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia and Dollfus of Austria. A setup in the Eastland county rebalances Wilson, Lloyd George, Orlando and Clemenceau are gone, but Jesus remains; and Christianity arises to say that she has the solution to all international difficulties.

America's Challenge

But America need look no further than her own borders to find her Christianity challenged. Millions of her own people have been and are in distress. It has been useless to talk to men about the streets of gold when all about us there have streets of suffering. We need not talk about the city foursquare when our own land has been filled with cities more crooked than snakes. We are challenged by the criminal and racketeer, by the drunkard and the dupe, by robbery and ruthlessness; but Christianity answers the challenge of destitution by saying that it is only because of the spirit of genuine Christianity that has been imbedded in our people that relief has come and is coming. The relief we have known has most certainly not come from those who oppose Christianity. We are challenged by criminality, but our answer is that if the American people will only give their children to the influence of the churches, it will be at a minimum in the next generation. Statistics show that most of the crime of this age comes from those who have not come under the influence of the churches. Yes, Christianity only answers that she has a right to be given a chance with the youth in order to prove that her message of the gospel will cure human ills.

Finally, let it be strongly stated that to this challenge from around the world Christianity gives the unequivocal answer. Modernism failed. The new psychology failed. Mass education failed. Humanism failed. Capitalism failed. Communism failed. Nationalism is failing. Now let the churches be given a chance. Give the your children while they are children. Give them yourselves with what you have left of talent. Give them your support, and the churches under God will show to the world a new era marked by contentment, happiness, and a sublimity never known to the world of men. And besides all this the churches guarantee to point benighted humanity to a goal, to a place, and to a home that faitheth not. We have a message of law, a message of judgment, a message of mercy, and a message of love, and we only ask that it be given a trial in our own land and then around the globe.

Rep. W. E. Pope, Corpus Christi, is a skillful debater. He met the objection of cities to enforced remission of tax penalties, on the ground that it was an infringement of local rights, with a proposition. "I am willing to make it a matter of local option. But with the provision that any city or district that decides not to remit penalties on local taxes, shall not have penalties remitted on state and county taxes." He had no takers.

Rival figures being quoted by advocates and opponents of the constitutional amendment to limit taxes are due principally to one group, containing the amendment one way and the other, another way. They quote statistics with different results. One big difference is caused by the fact that state comptroller's figures on income to the state do not include the amount of automobile fees collected by counties and retained by their Statistician General, of the comptroller's department admits he is sure which set of figures is correct.

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Oct. 20 — Texas next governor feels that he has a real grievance against the metropolitan press. A New York paper told the new governor's family in its rotogravure section and labeled them the "All-red" family.

The suggestion of a "Temple of Religion" at the Texas Centennial offers a real problem for architects. Can they combine the Mission, Synagogic, Gothic and modern temple type, into a symmetrical whole? "Swat the Amendments" seems to be the popular movement of the day in Texas. "Friends of Education" are organized to defeat the amendment to tax University of Texas lands. A "Citizens Committee on Amendments" with Col. (Mrs.) J. E. King of the governor's staff as its chairman is out with an appeal to defeat the $11.25 per capita limit on annual taxes, and Dallas and Travis county attorneys are taking issue with Attorney-general Alford's opinion that the amendment for classification of property will not repeal the homestead tax exemption.

T. C. Andrews, member of the state board of pardons and paroles is a poet as well as stern investigator of crimes and penalties. He has just issued verses on San Jacinto in honor of the heroes of the Alamo and San Jacinto.

They fit so well the thoughts of the men who refused to surrender that Andrews believes the borrowing of the name of the Alamo is a justified honor on San Jacinto is original throughout. They were inspired by the story of a survivor of San Jacinto who wrote that as the Texans charged into the Mexican camp, he imagined he saw the spirit of Davy Crockett leading the charge with the shout: "Remember the Alamo!"

Rep. W. E. Pope, Corpus Christi, is a skillful debater. By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, Oct. 20 — Figuring the chances 100 to 1 for a collision at the grade intersection of main, high-speed highways, as compared to highway-railroad grade crossings, the federal government is just about ready to start an extensive program of establishing grade-separation overpasses for the intersecting highways. Also, it is probable that it will greatly expand its spending program to finish the separation of railroad-highway grade crossings within the near future.

An entirely separate federal allotment of money for the work both as to intersecting main highways, and highway-railway lines, is possible. There are only one or two places now where main highways cross with overpassing. An interesting variation will be developed in a few of the chief highway intersections, the "four left-hand turn" in which no left-hand turn is possible. With an overpass for the main intersection, this design provides that all turns shall be made by a right-hand branch-off from the highway. The design is comparable to allines on the axes of the two main roads, their sides and ends bent in to soften the curves.

Reagan county, in West Texas, led the state in tax paying in 1933, with 95.73 per cent of its levy, while Wilbrey county was at the bottom, with 39.40 per cent current payments, according to a survey by the Texas bond reporter.

The highest county tax levy in the state was $2,446,655, on the rolls of Harris county. Dallas county was next with $2,115,744; Kennedy county was lowest, with $12,209.

Total valuations for tax purposes for all counties in 1933 was $3,922,841,346. In 1933 it was $3,724,103,492. Preliminary estimates for 1934 indicated a further decline to $3,627,640,157.

Total county tax collections, including both current and delinquent, during 1933, were shown in the report. Including delinquent taxes, many counties collected more than the total of current taxes. Potter county running 111.06 per cent of current.

Some of the counties, their total current and delinquent collections in 1933, and the per cent of current and the combined total of the 1933 levy, were:

Cameron $312,728. 43.68. 83.24.
Harris $2,479,091. 87.59. 101.35.

Jefferson $696,913. 84.27. 93.64.

Nueces $544,106. 61.59. 124.47.
Potter $219,618. 79.59. 111.06.
Smith $254,542. 81.62. 95.61.
Taylor $15,389. 77.77. 107.02.
Tarrant $139,145. 23.36. 31.74.
Travis $284,857. 77.60. 100.52.
Wichita $227,828. 67.63. 99.23.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

CHICAGO—what did Bill Terry think of the Detroit Tigers? "They ought to build bleacher seats over the left and center field fences at Navin Field, and out into the streets beyond," replied the commercial-minded manager of the New York Giants. "The place seats only 29,000, and that's no place to play a world series in a city as hot for baseball as Detroit, and especially when the opposition is the Giants."

"The Navins can't make a county fair out of a world series, you know. They wouldn't have stood people in the outfield during the regular season had they been playing the Giants. I wouldn't have stood for it."

"They tell me that there was no excuse for it, anyway—that there were plenty of seats in the stands as New York Yankee and Cleveland outfielders chased fly balls among spectators. Why, I heard that on one occasion, Babe Ruth actually stood autographing a ball while one he should have had his eye on sailed in his direction."

What Old College Try
The Old College Try
The Old College Try

Can Be Pitched To
The question was repeated. What did Terry think of the Tigers? "Oh, they can be pitched to," said Memphis Bill. "I'll except Charlie Gehring, who is just plain tough. And, on second thought, I haven't such a good picture of Greenberg, who certainly has come on. I thought Bucky Harris should have used Greenberg a year ago last spring, and told him so."

"But the rest of them can be pitched to, including Goslin and Mickey Cochrane. I don't mean to say that Goslin and Cochrane aren't exceptionally fine hitters. Both are the highly competitive type."

"Goslin is a remarkable 'money' player. Clark Griffith got mad at me last winter when, after he swanned Goslin for John Stone. I had most to do with putting Detroit team across. The one who are riding the wave are also the one who are still riding a great extent."

"The difference in my mind that it now goes about its business with the assurance of a champion. My team of 1933 was the greatest I ever saw in one respect. I believed it could do anything we went out and did it."

"The Tigers believe in Cochrane and themselves. Talk of a guessing right all season long. The Tigers just go on doing things because he has ribbed up before they start. "There is nothing quite like good old college try in baseball. The successful manager is the one who justills it in his mind. He keeps it there for six months. 152 games."

similar reports, an example of which is quoted by the biological survey as follows:
'I have been traveling as a licensed Canadian guide the last ten years, canoeing better than 15,000 miles,' writes an Iowa correspondent. 'This year I completed another 1,000-mile canoe trip, through the very heart of the duck-breeding grounds, starting at Berrens River, on Lake Winnipeg to Norway House, thence to Gods Lake, Gods River, to York Factory on Hudson Bay, up the Nelson River to the railroad. From Gods Lake to the railroad I traveled last year and without exaggeration, I saw 100,000 young ducks. This year over the same route I did not see a thousand young ducks.'

extra-curricular lectures which will be presented by younger members of the department, dealing with their particular fields of research.
The lectures, scheduled to begin in November, are open only to university members, and are in no way a required part of the course.
The experiment is viewed as consistent with the policy laid down last spring by President James B. Conant of taking away the emphasis from formal, stiff course requirements, and of giving the student greater responsibility in matters of attendance and records.
It is believed by the government department that the program will have a double value:
1.—It will make available to students research that ordinarily would not fit into any course structure.
2.—It will be valuable as a testing ground for the opinions and theories developed under the isolated conditions of private research.
