French Gov't Faces Grave Peacetime Crisis

CENTENNIAL BILLS MUST COME IN TURN

FLANDIN HEAD OF SALVATION GOVERNMENT

PARIS, Nov. 9 - Pierre Flandin, 45, the republic's youngest premier today took up the task of leading the nation through one of its gravest peacetime crises, as head of a new "salvation government" which he did so under the watchful eyes of millions of people who demanded a government without party politics and who seemed ready to turn into the street into riot if necessary to enforce their demands.

These were heavy police and republican guards patrolling the central district of Paris, but the city was quiet.

Flandin and Gaston Doumergue, whom he replaced, alike appealed to the nation to be calm.

Flandin began today to draft his ministerial declaration, embracing his program for discussion at a cabinet meeting.

Newspapers, including the opposition socialist papers, were generally favorable to Flandin today.

There were several ways to remove Flandin, Mrs. P. W. Campbell of Abilene, on the streets...

Cisco Man Dies Of Injuries In Wreck

Camera Battles Brush For Art Supremacy

By REYNOLDS PACKARD United Press Staff Correspondent PARIS, Nov. 9 - The battle between the camera and the brush for artistic supremacy advanced another round here with the inauguration of the International Salon of Photography. Hundreds of photographs from more than 30 countries, including America and Great Britain, record the progress that is being made in the art of the camera.

France has the largest number of works with the United States next. For some reason no photographs from Soviet Russia were entered this year, but Manchoukuo has two exhibits to its credit.

An unusual phase of the Salon this year is the amux depicting the evolution of women's fashions between 1850 and 1934. Pictures taken by Nadar, Paris photographer of years ago, form the earlier stages of this evolution, while the works of modern photographers, including pictures of bathing beauties, make up the more recent periods.

Babe Ruth and Japanese Baseball

East is east and west is west. But when Kipling drew his further famous conclusion he was reckoning without "Babe" Ruth. The American Leaguers who are now in Tokyo to play against Japanese baseball teams have been receiving a welcome reminiscent of that which New York gave to Lindbergh. And in some other ways, the meeting of East and West on the "diamond" recalls the famous aviator's past contributions to international good will.

As when Lindbergh, with Dwight Morrow's sponsorship, flew to Mexico, the United States is dealing with delicate international problems. As in 1927 the need was for better understanding on both sides of the Rio Grande, today it is for fair adjustments in Far Eastern relations. Of course the question involved will not be thrashed out with baseball bats, or argued through to agreement with "strikes" and "balls", or settled on the ball-park score-boards. But it has already been found that mixing a little popular pleasure with diplomatic business is less dangerous than a certain old proverb would indicate.

Tokyo's interest in the American-Japanese games is the unfeigned interest that one baseball-playing nationality must have in another. A stadium of 60,000 seats is to be used for the games, and reserved seats have been sold out three weeks in advance. And when "the Babe smacks the pill over the fence" he will be doing something that, for all of its being 100 per cent American, will not seem in the least un-Japanese.

Admirals may argue over navies. Diplomats may talk about oil—and, as latest reports from Manchukuo show—about automobiles. Jingoism may talk war. But it seems plain that meanwhile thousands, or hundreds of thousands, of the Japanese and American people will be talking about something else. Most likely, if one may judge by World Series ball fans, it will be about what's wrong with the umpire. Which ought to be as good a way of letting off international steam as allowing it to escape in the form of diplomat fogs.

Costly Mistakes in Arithmetic

Chicago follows Samuel Insull's testimony as he defends himself against charges growing out of the wrecked utilities empire. For hours the once mighty financier fences with the prosecuting attorney but in the end is compelled to answer a leading question. He admits he made a $10,000,000 mistake in a statement which influenced the public in buying securities. Meanwhile, Wall Street undertakes an investigation to discover and remove the cause of current prejudices against the stock market—Perhaps prejudice would go down before things as simple as correcting some instances of arithmetic.

Charge for Material Worth

Massachusetts Institute of Technology prepares to admit girls to the next students' dance at a price based on their chemical contents. Meters will automatically register the approximate amount of calcium, carbon, hydrogen, iron and other chemicals in a human body and the fair dancers' escorts will be asked to pay, on a basis of the chemicals' market value. The cost will range from 55 to 85 cents. This may do at a dance, but it is going to be rough on a rather large class of thinkers—it makes the man with a wholly material view of himself feel dirt cheap.

Again the Elevators Move

New York City sees the building employees' strike end and 50,000 persons relieved from climbing to their work in skyscrapers. For two days few if any elevators moved in 400 buildings in the mid-town fur and garment centers. Mayor LaGuardia assists in bringing a settlement just when the strike is about to extend to the financial district and apartment houses. Some 50,000 weary witnesses unite in a tribute to their city—Emphatically they declare New York's skyscrapers to be by far the tallest in the world.

Russia's Output of Iron

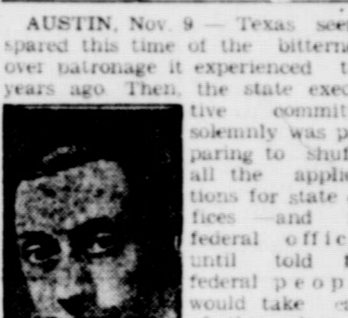

Soviet Russia leaps toward the head of the list of nations in production from natural resources. In output of pig iron Russia will reach 10,000,000 tons before the expiration of 1934, enabling it to displace Germany as second to the United States. In production of steel and rolled metal, with a showing of more than 16,000,000 tons, Russia displaces Britain and is exceeded only by the United States and Germany. In another year, claim the Moscow authorities, Russia will stand next to America in each respect. Russia's tremendous human machine begins to work with something like smoothness at last—Some of Moscow's world-beating dreams begin to come true.

James Whitcomb Riley - Born Thirty Years Too Soon

Texas Topics

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, Nov. 9—Texas seems spared this time of the bitterness over patronage it experienced two years ago. Then the state executive committee solemnly was preparing to shuffle all the applications for state offices—and for federal offices—until told the federal people would take care of themselves—and to report on whether the applicant was eligible, in having been sufficiently ardent in support of the winning candidate.

Without any appropriation, the state parks board has been entrusted with a new responsibility of marking and designating historical landmarks and spots notable in Texas events of the past century.

A phase of such a program previously had been carried on by the historical and landmark commission in putting monuments over graves of early Texas soldiers and statesmen. Funds for that work were used up. It may be the legislature in January will provide money with which to carry on the proposed program.

E. C. Brand of Sweetwater, commissioner in the present administration will serve on until July of next year, when his term comes to a close.

His continuation, and the remaining year of Claude D. Teer in the board of control will tend to bridge the abrupt change in state governmental personnel at the coming of a new administration next Jan. 8.

SHE ATE ALL-BRAN

TWELVE YEARS WITH FINE RESULTS

Delicious Cereal Relieves Constipation

Read this very enthusiastic letter:

"Something like eleven or twelve years ago, I began eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. When I started, it was called simply Kellogg's Bran, and I believe it was one of the first products of the kind on the market.

"My friends often laugh at my fondness for ALL-BRAN. It gives such a clean taste in the mouth, and I do not feel satisfied until I have had my ALL-BRAN.

"If the Kellogg Company should ever stop manufacturing ALL-BRAN, here is one who would be greatly disappointed."—Miss Amy Person, University Park, Iowa.

Science says that ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. How much safer than taking patent medicines—often harmful. Just eat two tablespoons daily for most types of constipation. For serious cases, try it three times daily. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
