War and Peace Plans in Struggle in Europe

JUGO-SLAVIAN CHARGE TO BE LEAGUE TOPIC

PARIS, Nov. 23.—Efforts to preserve peace and preparations to wage war were being made throughout Europe today on a big scale. Work for peace centered in Geneva and London. Throughout the continent nations were making their armies ready for any emergency.

The League of Nations council was expected next week to consider a complaint made to it by Jugoslavia with the support of Romania and Czechoslovakia against alleged Hungarian complicity in the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia and Foreign Minister Barthou at Marseilles Oct. 9.

At London, American, British, and Japanese delegates to the naval limitation conference preliminary to the big one contemplated for next year almost despaired of agreement.

Seriousness of the situation there was shown by statements from men who run the British government. In two days Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer and Sir John Simon, foreign minister, have given notice of their grave anxiety that all Europe was opening arming.

POLICE HONOR CITY PASTORS WITH BANQUET

Cisco pastors and their wives will be the guests of the police department at a banquet given at the Laguna hotel at 6:30 this evening. The city commissioners and city secretary and their wives will also be guests at the goodwill banquet honoring the pastors.

Chief of Police M. L. Perdus urged all the pastors to be present. "The police department looks to our best citizens to make the town a good place to live. The pastors can help best if they are acquainted with the problems and work of the police," he said.

"We believe the banquet will bring us closer together, so that we will understand each other's problem and aims," he said.

Program Marks Spot Where Filling Fell

PALESTINE, Nov. 23.—When Ike N. Fender lost his gold filling at a football game, his quick wit enabled him to recover it again.

At the climax of the game Fender's filling fell under the grandstand. Fender dropped his program through the crack where his filling had disappeared and after the game went to look for it. The filling was right beside the program.

Result of Pressure Tests To Be Told

KILGORE, Nov. 23.—Results of bottom hole pressure tests begun in the East Texas field last week will be announced soon.

The tests were made by the engineering department of the East Texas division of the railroad commission. It was not known whether the tests will show an increase or decrease.

At the last reading on October 10, the bottom hole pressure stood at 1,235 pounds per square inch which represents a steady increase from September and a steady increase from the all-time low recorded in June.

Parent-Teachers In Scranton Meet

The Scranton Parent-Teachers association held its second regular meeting Tuesday Nov. 13, at the central building. After a short program which included two excellent songs by Mr. and Mrs. Moody Lamnack and A. Gattis, the club went into business meeting. In business meeting it was reported that the fund for painting had reached a gratifying total, considering the fact that the fund has been in existence only two weeks.

Knocks for Knox

Rare are photographs of Geoffrey George Knox, chairman of the League of Nations Commission governing the Saar territory. Here you see him (above)—in a picture just arrived in America—seated at his desk in his official residence (inset) in Saarbruecken, capital of the troubled region. His activities have led to verbal attacks by the Hitlerites.

Tax Exemption Plan Is Presented To Treasury To Encourage Spending

(Copyright 1934 by United Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—A plan of tax exemption inducements to encourage corporations to spend immediately for plant improvement has been presented to the treasury department by interested New Dealers, it was learned today.

The proposal is a development of the recent U. S. Chamber of Commerce plan for business cooperation in recovery but it was not presented as a chamber project. It is designed to foster corporate spending to provide quick reemployment in the heavy manufacturing industry.

As received by the treasury the plan exempt would from the existing 13.75 per cent tax on corporate income some proportion of each corporation's net return. The exemption would be allowed with the expressed agreement with the sum existed exempted from taxation would be spent at once in plant modernization or extension.

10 Women Get State Legislative Seats

SEATTLE, Nov. 23.—The women were elected members of the Washington legislature in the general election, two to the senate and eight to the house.

Five of them had served previous terms. Feminine senators are Mrs. Mary U. Farquharson, King county, wife of a University of Washington professor, and Kathryn Maistrom, Pierce county.

Miss Adele Parker, elected state representative from King county defeated her one-time civil government pupil, Janet Powell Tourtelotte, for the post. Miss Parker was for a number of years a teacher in Broadway high school, Seattle. Twenty-two of her former pupils were candidates in the election, 15 won.

The Seattle legislative delegation—Mrs. Farquharson, Miss Parker and Mrs. Linea L. Edland—are members of Commonwealth Builders, sponsors of EPW (End Poverty in Washington), modeled after Upton Sinclair's EPIC.

The women pledged themselves to support legislation creating a unicameral (one house) legislature; exempting homes from taxation; utilizing idle factories to aid unemployed in self-help; equalizing the community property law to permit women equal rights with their husbands in handling personal property providing more generous state support for old age pensions; forbidding the supreme court from invalidating legislation passed by vote of the people.

"WRITE IN" GANGSTER

TOLEDO, Nov. 23.—The name of Yonnie Licavoli, prohibition era hoodlum, sentenced recently to Ohio penitentiary for life for murder, was "written in" for county prosecutor on one ballot in the general election here.

Warmer Weather Is Forecast For South

Streak of Blue Light Baffles Meteorologists

PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 23.—A streak of blue light which extended from the horizon to the zenith was observed here by T. C. Roddy.

The phenomenon is unlike anything that has ever been here and has completely baffled all local meteorologists.

Roddy said he was driving along a country road about 10 or 15 minutes after sunset when he noticed the shaft of light, apparently about two feet wide, extending from the point where the sun had set on the horizon to the zenith.

It was not merely a dark streak in the sky, he said, and except for its position in the sky resembled a rainbow in which the blue color was most predominant. He could see the other colors of the rainbow at intervals.

Roddy said several of his acquaintances had also noticed the phenomenon.

Jail Was Home for Soldier of Fortune

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 23.—Discouraged by changed conditions, loss of friends and the bewildering strangeness of the "outside world," George Warren, 62, former soldier for fortune, cashed several small, worthless checks in his attempt to be sent back to Polson prison, the home he knows.

Warren served 14 years in Polson, and was not out a month before he made overtures to return.

"I have no money, no friends or relatives," he told Sheriff Don—old and crippled with rheumatism. "There is no place in the outside world for me. I want to go back to prison, where my friends are."

"I wrote several worthless checks—just small ones, not big enough to hurt anybody."

Warren said he was a soldier of fortune, always ready for a revolution, from 1902 to 1920, when he was sent to prison on the charge of a young girl—a charge he claims was false.

Once he enjoyed the friendship of General Bernardo Reyes, Mexican revolutionist, and participated in the attempt to overthrow President Porfirio Diaz.

Cisco Man Manages Mattress Factory

EASTLAND, Nov. 23.—H. E. Driskill, county relief administrator, has announced that J. A. Cameron of Cisco, an experienced mattress factory man, will take charge of the mattress factory in Eastland, which is operated by the relief office. Cameron will take charge Friday morning of this week.

There are 18 men and 12 women employed in the factory, which has made up, or is to make mattresses for the surrounding counties. The allotments of mattresses for counties in this area is as follows: Calahan county, 175; Comanche county, 100; Brown county, 100. For Eastland county, 56 have been delivered and 144 more are to be made up and distributed.

Refining Company Cuts Price of Oil

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 23.—The price of crude oil sagged in Texas today as the Panhandle Refining company posted a figure of 84 cents a barrel, 16 cents under its previous posting.

Low prices of petroleum especially gasoline were cited by company officials to justify the cut which was announced will continue in effect the remainder of the month.

30,000 Gobblers Are Brought to Market

GONZALES, Nov. 23.—Thanksgiving turkeys—30,000 of them—were brought in by farmers and sold to produce houses here last week.

The farmers received 15 cents a pound for the birds. Recent rains have proved a great aid to the underweight birds for the Christmas market.

FAST RECOVERY PREDICTED BY BUSINESS HEAD

Recovery which "will come as suddenly as the depression did" was predicted for the near future today by John H. Garner, head of the Garner department stores of Texas, of which the Cisco store is the oldest.

Mr. Garner predicted that national recovery would be well on its way by next year and said that business throughout the state and the nation has already seen a decided pickup.

"Although the heat of October hurt our business," Mr. Garner said, we believe that the recent cool weather will revive it.

"September was our best month. Our store here showed a business increase of 57 per cent. This year is far above last.

Mr. Garner, who is a director of a Dallas bank, said, that his four associates directors, whom he described as outstanding business men of the state, "are very optimistic about the future."

The department store head expressed great faith in the future of the nation and said that he believed recovery would come soon, although in some respects NRA had hindered rather than speeded recovery.

"I think I can tell what is going to happen, but everyone is waiting for some definite stand to be taken by President Roosevelt on the money situation and the agricultural problems are cleared up.

"If I had been asked for advice on the NRA, I'd have suggested only two steps. But, "he smiled, "I naturally wasn't asked. He said these steps would have been the clearing up of the agricultural situation, including cotton, and the prescribing of a minimum wage scale for big business.

With repeal and disregard of anti-trust laws, he said, some business concerns have made more profit during the period of an attempt at recovery than at any other time. "That," he said, "is not right. Not that I blame them, for I don't. It isn't their fault. It is the fault of the laws which have allowed them to do so."

Mr. Garner, together with Mrs. Garner and Miss Dorothy has been visiting in Cisco. He was to leave today and return shortly.

STATE SCORES IN TESTIMONY OF VAN CLEAVE

EASTLAND, Nov. 23.—Arguments were begun today in the trial of Clifford Doggett on charges of murder in connection with the slaying of L. F. Threet, Cisco rancher, after the state had scored heavily with the testimony yesterday of its star witness Eimer Van Cleave, 22, co-defendant in the case.

No time limit was set for the argument of counsel, and it was difficult this morning to tell when the jury would receive the court's charge and begin deliberation of the case, but a possibility was of its going to the jury this afternoon was seen.

In his testimony yesterday, Van Cleave gave the jury his version of the alleged slaying of Threet, charging Doggett with the engineering and actual slaying of the rancher.

Van Cleave's Testimony

Van Cleave said that Doggett came to him the night of August 14 and asked him if he wanted to make some money. He said he "had a girl friend" who would lure Threet away and that they could rob him, Van Cleave testified.

The next day, Van Cleave said, he and Doggett "slipped up on" Threet and Miss Mary Lou Howell of Cisco in Threet's pasture west of Cisco and Doggett ordered Threet to "throw up your hands or I'll shoot." Van Cleave testified that Doggett fired the rifle shot which proved to be fatal to Threet, and then robbed him.

He said that he and Doggett left Threet and Miss Howell in the pasture and that as they left Doggett remarked that they "ought to finish it. Dead people tell no tales."

That day, Van Cleave said, he and Doggett went to Goodwater and later returned, Van Cleave going to the home of his grandmother in Cisco. Doggett, he said, promised to divide the proceeds from the alleged robbery, but said that he never received his share.

Arrested at Slaton

Van Cleave said that he left for Slaton and later was arrested there and taken to the Lubbock jail, to be removed to Eastland county later.

Other witnesses for the state were M. L. Perdus, Cisco police chief, Leslie Threet, and Miss Maxine Threet, son and daughter, respectively, of the slain man.

The only defense witness was not present, but by agreement of attorneys, the defense presented the testimony of the witness, J. W. Livingston, who said that he saw Threet leave Cisco alone the morning of August 15.

J. R. Black, special prosecutor, opened the argument for the state today. J. Frank Sparks, attorney for the defense, spoke till the noon recess. District Attorney Grady Owen was to deliver the final address to the jury.

WATCHMAN IS FOUND SLAIN IN ARLINGTON

ARLINGTON, Nov. 23.—Tom Watson, 75, nightwatchman at Arlington Downs race track, was found shot to death in the tackle room of the Three-D stable today.

The gray-haired watchman had been shot in the stomach. The bullet ranged upward. Police believed he was slain about midnight.

Deputy Sheriff G. A. Coke and Peace Justice E. C. King, who investigated, believed robbery was the motive. A hurried check did not reveal anything missing from the stables, however.

Watson's body was found by Clifton Barber, another employe of the Three-D stable, owned by O. T. Waggoner, wealthy Fort Worth oil man and owner of Arlington Downs race track.

The body was lying face-downward on the floor where the racing equipment of the Waggoner thoroughbreds is kept.

Watson's own pistol was still in his holster. It had not been fired. Investigators believed the intruder was discovered by the intruder and was shot down before he had a chance to interfere.

An autopsy to determine the caliber of the fatal bullet was ordered.

Watson, who had been ill during the summer, had returned to his work about three months ago. He had been employed there only a few months.

Boy Killed Leading Sightless Father

ZANESVILLE, O., Nov. 23.—While leading his blind father along a road near here, Russell Nutter, 16, was struck and fatally injured by a hit-skip driver.

His father, Paul Nutter, was knocked down, but escaped serious injury. Both were returning home from husking corn.

C. I. A. Girl Killed In Car Collision

DENTON, Nov. 23.—Two girl students of the College of Industrial Arts who survived an automobile accident in which a classmate was killed, told such incoherent stories of the mishap today that officers were unable immediately to determine its cause.

Grace Beauchamp of Arlington, junior student, received fatal head injuries when two automobiles collided on the highway near Lake Dallas. She died before reaching the Denton hospital.

Pet Squirrel Gets Schoolyard Burial

SANDUSKY, O., Nov. 23.—There were bowed childish heads and many a muffled tear when "Pete" was buried on the Sycamore school grounds here.

"Pete" was a pet squirrel, friend of hundreds of Sycamore pupils. When he died, the boys and girls all insisted he be buried on the school grounds.

New Deal Popularity in South

By a judicious mixture of turkey hash and regional planning, President Roosevelt Saturday was building his own and the New Deal's popularity in the south.

With a nice impartiality, he was visiting historic sights and scenes at one moment, and then turning to revolutionary twentieth-century developments throughout the TVA experiment. It was a mixture that defied criticism and a trip typical of those the Chief Executive has undertaken in many other corners of the United States.

For it is hard to accuse of rank Socialism—as many conservative southerners do—a president who has just eaten with Jacksonian zest a breakfast in Old Hickory's own dining room. It was a Jacksonian menu, too, featuring the doughty southerner's favorite turkey hash and abounding with President Roosevelt's familiar scrambled eggs, and bacon and sausages and beaten biscuits and all the heroic viands of true southern hospitality.

Huey's Costly Dictatorship

As an aftermath to Senator Huey P. Long's increased dictatorship over Louisiana affairs by the extra session of the legislature just closed, the Federal Government on Saturday held back on proposed loans to the city of more than $2,500,000 and a national corporation announced the closing of three of its four stores in New Orleans.

The Public Works Administration announced that $1,800,000 which was ready for delivery to the New Orleans sewerage and water board as a public improvement loan was to be withheld pending an investigation of Senator Long's new legislation by the Administration's legal department. At the same time it was learned that the A. Schulte store chain would close three of its stores. This action is attributed to the tax legislation passed at the recent session.

Planning to seek the presidency in 1936 on a third party ticket, Mr. Long is basing his hopes for election on the young voters and "thinkers."

The Senator, even his enemies say, can't be taken lightly. He has already started his "share-the-wealth" clubs throughout the nation and these, naturally, can be turned into local political organizations overnight to marshal the votes.

Catholics Protest Mexican Treatment

Mexico's treatment of the Roman Catholic clergy is made the subject of a vigorous protest by American Catholic bishops assembled at Washington. The Mexican government is charged with "anti-Christian tyranny" and with systematically abridging the right of religious freedom — "The full consequences of the persecution," says the protest, "can scarcely be foreseen."

Anglo-German Commercial Accord

Britain has reached an agreement with Germany under which British merchants expect to receive eventual payment of all commercial debts owing to them by Germans.

The sum concerned is about £2,000,000. Liquidation is to be by instalments.

An immediate cash payment of £400,000 is to be made. The instalments are to be provided by earmarking for the purpose 55 per cent of the sterling proceeds of German exports to Britain. These exports have hitherto so largely exceeded in value those sent to Germany from the United Kingdom as to afford what is expected to prove a sufficient fund for this purpose.

Germany has also agreed to continue as from January 1 next to pay full interest on the bonds of the Dawes and Young loans so far as these securities were in the ownership of British subjects on June 15 last.

Chamber of Commerce and New Deal

The United States Chamber of Commerce, often critical of the New Deal, now gets behind its measures for recovery. Officials of the chamber, which includes thousands of industrialists and business men of the nation, launch a scheme for industry, business and agriculture to work-wholeheartedly with the president on matters of general agreement to hasten economic progress. Silas H. Strawn, former chamber president and often opposer of the Roosevelt policies, heads the committee of co-operation. This body will begin by getting behind the president's housing project, and will immediately draft a program to discuss at the White House before congress meets. The nature of the move gives promise of effectiveness—its first step is to reach and maintain an accord with the nation's leadership.

Italy Says No to Arms Plan

Italy does not fall in with America's proposal for an immediate international agreement on arms export and publicity. Rome officials tell Hugh Gibson, American envoy, the plan isn't feasible and the things it attempts can only be embodied in a general disarmament convention limiting manufacture, sale and use of arms. Other nations, however, are favorable, and a bureau conference at Geneva hopes to find the scheme ripe for codification—Washington believes a half loaf would be far better than no crumbs at all from the disarmament table.

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Nov. 23.—Mechanics of making a state budget occupy an entire year. State officials have been working on the next budget since early in January. With good luck the figures may be ready for the Texas legislature when they meet here next January. What a job preparing the budget is can be grasped by recalling that the last budget detailed expenditures to 1 budgets are made for a two years period.

J. W. Hall, formerly of Georgetown, makes the budget. The tall, dark-haired paintmaking budget preparer was not entirely inexperienced with its difficulties when he took over the job four years ago. He had considerable experience with state finances as secretary to former Gov. Dan Moody.

When started making a budget he found those of other states gave little aid. Different organization and varied conditions were to be met. Past Texas budgets now afford a framework upon which to hang the figures of new budgets.

In making one, Hall and a member of the state board of control first visit the state-supported schools and institutions. They hear superintendents and deans tell how badly their particular schools or institutions need funds. Then they go over the institution and form their own conclusions. A tentative budget is drafted. Next the superintendents and deans are invited to visit the board of control and discuss the figures set out. The visits and nearly all the conference for the next budget have been completed.

By Sept. 30, the state auditor is supposed to furnish the budget division of the state board of control an estimate of the state finances for the next budget period. This year the report was a month late, owing to special reports required of the auditor on relief and other matters.

With the report now in, the next budget job is to trim the estimates to meet the probable available funds. When that is done, the proposed budget will go to the governor. There will be columns to show past appropriations for the same purposes, the amounts asked for the next two years, and the amounts recommended by the board of control. There also will be blank columns in which the governor can note his recommendations.

Two years ago Governor Ferguson filled the governor's column with figures just 25 per cent lower than those in the columns filled by the board of control. The section of the budget for state-supported schools and colleges has an additional space. In it recommendations of the state board of education are supposed to appear. So far, this space has been left blank in budgets. Not having been given funds with which to make its own investigations, the board has declined to recommend.

When the budget reaches the legislature, it is just a bit of advice. The legislators can raise it, lower it or junk it altogether. The governor's figures cannot be entirely ignored. The governor gets another whack at it before appropriations can take effect. He cannot add to or reduce the amount specified for any particular purpose—but he can eliminate any item.

The Governors Ferguson and Johnson crowded the governor's box. Naturally they wanted the governor to have a happy day. They gave their best advice, but even then the governor didn't win.

Just what Governor-Elect Allred's attitude is going to be toward race track betting is causing considerable wonder at the capitol. His announcement that the new tax commissioner will not have to bother about racing duties, indicates that he is going to recommend some change in the present law. It makes membership on the racing commission part of the tax commissioner's duties.

Labor representatives also are urging that the state labor commissioner be relieved of the duty of supervising boxing and wrestling. Perhaps there will be a new agency to supervise sports generally.

Did You Ever Stop To Think

By Edson R. Waite
Shawnee, Oklahoma

James E. Barrett, managing director of the Oklahoma Biltmore hotel, in Oklahoma City, says:

"City-builders must have initiative."

"The greatest force behind progress is initiative."

"Initiative is the power to see and start something worthwhile."

"Where initiative is used, cities are built."

"Where initiative is killed, the building of a city ceases."

"The man who has initiative and civic pride is a great asset to any city."

"Some business men should realize that time spent in civic work is time spent on important work for their business."

"When business men spend all their time making money and spend no time boosting the home city, the home city slows up and so does business."

ROOSTER IS WATCH DOG
WASHINGTON, N. C., Nov. 23.—John Robbins "watch dog" walks on two feet, flaps his wings, and rows—you're right, it's a rooster. Robbins, a veteran traveling salesman, said "Oscar," the rooster, is eight years old. Oscar crows a startling welcome whenever Robbins appears. Recently Oscar crowed repeatedly late at night. Robbins investigated and found a negro sneak thief.

REVENUE COLLECTOR EXPLAINS WORKING OF HOG PROCESSING TAX

By W. A. THOMAS
Collector Internal Revenue Service

Under the agricultural adjustment act every processor of hogs is required to make monthly returns and pay the tax due thereon to the collector of internal revenue (Second District, Dallas, Texas). Such forms are required to be filed and tax due paid before the last day of the month following the month within which the processing took place. The existing processing tax rate on hogs is $2.25 per hundred pounds live weight.

Previous to November 1, 1934, a processor of hogs was defined as any person slaughtering hogs for market. Effective November 1, 1934, by regulations of the secretary of agriculture, in addition to the above definition of a processor of hogs such definition was amended so as to include any person, market, restaurant, hotel, club, hospital or similar establishment purchasing hog carcasses or edible hog products from producers or feeders of hogs for resale, rehandling or for further preparation for market, who is required by law to make monthly returns of the collector of internal revenue and pay the processing tax upon the live weight of all hog products purchased from farmers and feeders at the rate of $2.25 per hundred pounds live weight. To restore the weight of a hog carcass to a live basis a conversion factor of 132 has been prescribed. For example, a hog carcass weighing 100 pounds restored to live weight by use of the conversion factor is 132 pounds. In other words, the weight of the carcass is to be increased by 32 per cent in order to determine the live weight.

From the foregoing, effective, November 1, 1934, it will be noted that a person, market, restaurant, hotel, club, hospital or similar establishment can no longer purchase carcasses of hogs or portions from farmers or feeders without incurring legal liability for the payment of the tax on the live weight of such carcass or hog products where purchased for resale, rehandling or further preparation for market. Such person, market or other concern is also required to report and pay the tax on all hogs slaughtered by him for market or resale.

A producer or feeder of hogs is not defined as a processor where he slaughters hogs and sells carcasses or portions thereof to any person or concern for resale or further preparation for market. However, the producer or feeder of hogs, who slaughters hogs and sells the carcasses or portion thereof direct to the consumer (not for resale), such feeder or producer in a case is the processor and is required by law to make returns and pay such tax as may be shown to be due on account of such processing.

The producer (not including a feeder) of hogs is privileged to slaughter and sell not more than 300 pounds of pork products during any marketing year direct to consumer, tax exempt. The 300 pound exemption referred to means that not more than 300 pounds of hog products can be sold tax free by any one producer to the consumer during the marketing year. The marketing year is from November 5th of one year to November 5th of the following year. The producer who sells more than 300 pounds under the above exemption provision of pork products during the marketing year incurs legal liability for payment of the processing tax on the full amount sold in excess of 300 pounds.

PLANE STOLEN FROM AIRPORT
MANFIELD, O., Nov. 23.—An airplane thief was hunted here, Lester Leedy, mechanic at the municipal airport, said he went to the field to work on a ship brought there for repair and found it missing. Sheriff Walter Underwood learned a truck had been seen leaving the field with the plane aboard.

WET HAMLET VERY DRY NOW
EWEET HOME, Ore., Nov. 23.—This mountain hamlet, considered at one time the wettest spot in the county and the last to adopt local option nearly 30 years ago, was one of the 12 precincts in the county to return a dry majority in Lincoln County's balloting on local option. The measure failed throughout the county.

SUPER-GOVERNMENT WAR
FAINESVILLE, O., Nov. 23.—"War will never be stopped by forming peace societies or by discussing the awfulness of war with peace-minded people," Dr. William F. PLANS SET FOR HONEYMOON OF ROYAL COUPLE

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Princess Marina of Greece and the Duke of Kent have completed the first part of their honeymoon plans.

After their marriage at Westminster Abbey Nov. 29, the royal pair will spend three weeks in the Mediterranean, probably visiting the Riviera, Majorca and the Algerian coast.

British Christmas
They will return to Britain for Christmas, joining the British royal family at Sandringham, Norfolk.

After that they will either go to Murren, Switzerland, for the winter sports, or on a trip to the West Indies. Murren is the most likely of the two for the Princess is something of an expert at skating and skiing. She is anxious to teach the Duke.

Meanwhile Princess Marina's chief thoughts are on her trousseau, details of which, despite great secrecy, are beginning to leak out.

Trousseau Small
She is not buying a large trousseau, as fashions change too quickly. Her shoes, bags, gloves, hat, handkerchiefs, and vanity cases will match each dress. Most of her hats will be small, but she will have several picturesque shapes with brims sweeping backwards.

Her frocks mostly will be beige, browns, a smoky midnight blue, and russet. One afternoon gown is of wonderful gold lame over banana colored silk. It has long flowing lines.

Day Clothes Correct
Women guests, who are to be invited to the Abbey, have learned with alarm that day clothes are to be worn. Many had the idea that as this is a great state and royal ceremony they would wear evening gowns, with magnificent cloaks and elaborate jewelry.

They have all rushed to their dressmakers imploring them to make dresses which will be day gowns, yet sufficiently elaborate for the occasion.

Women guests, who are to be invited to the Abbey, have learned with alarm that day clothes are to be worn. Many had the idea that as this is a great state and royal ceremony they would wear evening gowns, with magnificent cloaks and elaborate jewelry.

They have all rushed to their dressmakers imploring them to make dresses which will be day gowns, yet sufficiently elaborate for the occasion.

FLIGHTS INTO FROZEN NORTH AID SCIENCE

MOSCOW, Nov. 23.—Michael Koshelev, the first Soviet airplane pilot to spend an entire year in the Arctic, has returned here minus his meteorological and other scientific data about the Far North.

Despite the extremely difficult conditions in a land of ice with sub-zero temperatures, Koshelev was in 50 flying hours. As a result, his current maps of Franz Josef Land, Koshelev's principal mission was to study conditions for flying in the Far North, which the Soviet government hopes to bring many weeks nearer civilization by establishing regular air routes between there and European Russia. His experiences demonstrated the feasibility of using airplanes in the Arctic although there is danger.

"I had the first crash of my flying career in February," he said. "I made a forced landing on the very top of the Hooker glacier. Although I made a safe landing, the wind was so strong that it immediately overturned my plane."

"I had to wait near the plane for four days, with hardly any food, until the storm subsided. All my tools were frozen. Those on the right leg and some on the left had to be amputated."

Koshelev said he used a three-seater amphibian plane which he found well adapted to Arctic flying conditions.

SOYBEAN SEED FROM ORIENT TO MEET AMERICAN DEMANDS

WASHINGTON Nov. 23.—New and increasing demands in this country for soybeans for commercial food and feed uses soon will be met by adapted varieties developed from the 4,578 seed samples brought to the United States from the Orient in 1930 and 1931 by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, in the opinion of W. J. Morse of the Bureau of Plant Industry who was in charge of collecting the beans and supervises their development here.

More than 4,000 of the samples have been tested for two years at more than 100 experiment stations in 43 different states. Some of the most promising varieties have been developed to the point where there soon will be sufficient seed for farm planting. This work was retarded in some states by the drought, and economic conditions but eventually there should be varieties for nearly every section of the country.

2,500 Varieties. Some of the more than 2,500 distinct varieties, which came from Japan, Korea, Manchuria and China, apparently will meet demands of the south for adapted varieties of yellow beans. Black soybeans, which have been growing in the south for some time, do not meet commercial requirements for a light colored meal.

Soybeans are processed into flour, macaroni, breakfast foods, health foods, infant foods and other edible products. In addition, because of low starch soybeans is that their protein is of high quality and is particularly valuable in balancing rations for livestock because the soybean is rich in the particular protein combinations which corn lacks. The two supplements, each other and in combination make an almost perfectly balanced ration.

Rokusan is a promising variety which has come along rapidly at Willard, N. C., where it probably will be distributed locally in limited quantities next spring. This variety is very nutritious and has the characteristic cooking qualities and fine flavor of the edible types, some of which can be served as soups, baked, roasted like nuts or as a green vegetable. At Fargo, N. D., where soybeans have not been grown, two of the new introductions have matured and they show considerable promise. Soybeans in general are rarely attacked by the Mexican bean beetle which has seriously affected the culture of green beans in some states.

For Many Uses. The many varieties which eventually will be adapted to virtually every section of the country range so to use from food for humans and feed for animals to beans for green manure and for manufacture into hard molded composition products. Edible varieties may be staple food, either as green vegetables or cooked beans, or they may be classed as delicacies and served as roasted nuts or in confectionery. The beans best suited for animals may be pastured or cut for hay, or the seed may be allowed to mature, making grain to be fed whole or ground into meal, with the straw for roughage.

Probably no other cultivated plant lends itself to so many uses and few plants need to be so carefully adapted to soil and climate conditions for good results," says Mr. Morse. "A soybean which might be completely successful in one state might be a partial or entire failure in another state. That is why the department is experimenting with so many different types in so many sections of the country. Probably there is one type exactly adapted to each locality. If not, it probably can be developed."

GRAND OPERA COMPANY IS PROSPEROUS

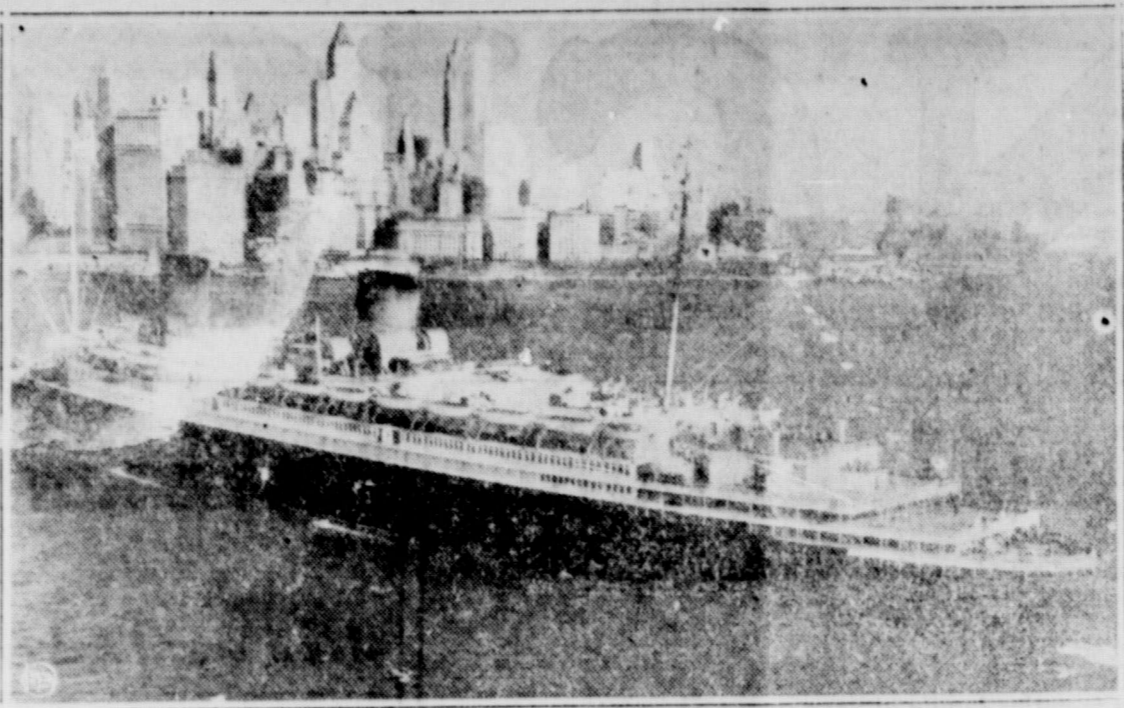

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 23.—A grand opera company that asks no subsidy and still makes money recently completed a successful 11-day engagement in Milwaukee.

It is famous touring San Carlo Company, which has brought opera at popular prices to hundreds of towns and cities throughout the country. Responsible for the success of the company is the dynamic impresario, Fortunio Gallo, now celebrating his 25th year as manager. Gallo, who came to the United States from Italy 35 years ago, believes that grand opera, as played by the San Carlo Company, is the first profession to recover from the depression.

The crowds that flocked to his performances in Milwaukee verified his belief. The "S. R. O." sign was posted hours ahead of the performance for more than half of the 14 nights. There was a full house for almost every performance.

The crowds of the resignation of Giulio Gatti-Casazza as general manager of the Metropolitan Opera Association in New York came during the Milwaukee engagement. Talk was heard that Gallo would be the logical man to succeed Gatti-Casazza. Gallo is the one man who could make the Metropolitan pay," said Mrs. Margaret Rice, veteran manager of the Pabst Theater.

At End of Record Atlantic Crossing

A race against time to save a baby's life brought the liner Bremen across the Atlantic from Cherbourg in record time—4 days, 14 hours and 27 minutes. This is 21 minutes faster than the trip ever has been made before. The Bremen is shown steaming into New York harbor, toward the famous skyline, at the end of the record run. The baby was too ill to be moved from the ship's hospital, but the attention of specialists was provided.

Babylonians Bothered By Big Bills And Taxes, Display in Texas Museum Shows

AUSTIN, Nov. 23.—That modern civilization is not the first to be bothered by taxes and bills is proved by a display in the anthropology museum at The University of Texas. Even the ancient Babylonians had them to contend with, according to evidence in the University collection. To the average observer, the small tablets on display in the anthropology department appear nothing more than small stones with curious markings, but to the anthropologist, they are the dark-age equivalent to bills and receipts received today. A translation of one of these tablets reveals that it is a list of taxes payable in sheep and goats, dated the twenty-fifth of the month. It was found at Drehem, a suburb of Nippur, where there was a receiving station for the temple of Bel. The date is about 2300 B. C. A butcher's bill found near the same place and dated about the same time, lists one fat sheep, three sheep, and one lamb killed for market and delivered.

In the same collection there are receipts in payment for goods and contracts, all written on clay or stone tablets. One tablet dated about 2300 B. C. bears an inscription ordering one fat sheep and one kid sent to be sacrificed to the Goddess Nana. Another tablet, found at Jarka and dated about 2350 B. C. represents a long contract containing lists of merchandise, apparently the cargo of a canal boat.

OLDEST TREE IN PARIS. PARIS, Nov. 23.—The oldest tree in Paris is a white acacia 250 years old. It has weathered the storms of progress and war and still stands in the garden of the church of St. Julien-le-Pauvre.

Lovable

By MARY RAYMOND © 1934 NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY After her father's death ANN HOLLISTER, pretty and 20 years old, her college course was made possible by loans from her father's friends. To repay them she offers her home for sale and she checks her relatives by holding a sale of the family antiques. On the day of the sale a young man, mounting through the small entrance to the house, is stopped by a porter almost in front of Ann's home. He goes there to telephone a garage and she invites him to remain while the car is being repaired.

CHAPTER II AFTERWARD Sarah Kent was sure that she had realized trouble was brewing when she saw Tony heading for the library reference department. Only girl Sarah was certain, could have drawn Tony into the gloomy quiet of the reference room, and kept him there for two whole hours!

Following her "hunch," Sarah walked from the information desk to the reference room and looked inside. At the far end of the room Tony was hunched over a table, his black hair ruffled as usual, apparently engrossed in a large book spread before him. Sarah went back to the lobby. She was willing to give Tony the benefit of the doubt.

An hour elapsed before he passed the information desk. Half way to the door, he stopped, retracing his steps. "What a first-class sleuth you're turning out to be," he said. "Well, what are the findings?" Sarah met his amused eyes and laughed. "So you saw me? I've just decided maybe I was wrong."

HE smiled back at her. "Well, admit for the sake of argument that I'm more of a man than an artist and that I have been trying to meet her. What's the harm? She's an exceedingly attractive young woman. For the sake of our long friendship, Sarah, and the amiable way I've accepted your insults for years, won't you—?" "Get along, Tony. I've got work to do."

Sarah said, "Ann Hollister, this is Tony Mickle. You probably think he's a lunatic. When you know him better you'll be certain of it."

"Hold That Line!" In olden days the college boy who "tended to his knitting" was diligent in pursuit of his studies. Today freshmen and sophomores at Columbia University, New York, actually tend to their knitting, as evidenced by W. S. really liked Tony. Women invariably did. There were some who hated him and loved him at the same time. Eileen Wallace for instance. More than once Tony had told Eileen he was through, yet she was constantly bobbing up again in the turbulent stream that was Tony's life. The following afternoon about 2 o'clock, Tony arrived as usual. He bowed extravagantly to Sarah, passing her desk, a mocking smile in his eyes.

Ann, busy mounting clippings, looked up to meet Tony's straight stare. She turned back to her work, aware that she had flushed a little. When she had finished the task she was kept busy answering reference questions and wheezing out book trucks containing back numbers of magazines. After a while, at her desk, Ann stole a look at the bold stranger. Later, as afternoon shadows dimmed the room, the crowd gathered about the tables thinned rapidly. Still the young man sat on.

AS closing time neared the room was occupied only by the young man, a spectacled woman and Ann. The woman glanced at her watch and arose to leave. The young man arose, too. Now he was coming toward Ann. "Angel," he said softly, "when did you fly down?" Ann's eyes widened in amazement. "Oh," said the young man easily. "I see I made a mistake in the subject. Nice day, isn't it? Or do you prefer snow and galoshes?" "If I smile," Ann thought, "I'll never be able to look myself in the face. Of all the impudent take-you-for-granted men, he is absolutely the worst!" "I presume you've come to stay," Tony continued, evidently turning the pages of a newspaper that might Ann came

Age Retirement Insurance For Employees Announced By General Foods

Nov. 23—Assurance of retirement incomes is given employees through a new annuity plan announced by G. S. Robison, Dallas manager for General Foods, which affects employees in 45 of its sales divisions and in 29 states and Canada.

General Foods employ in 1934, according to Mr. Robison, approved the new plan. It provides for a contribution of one per cent of each employee's salary, which will be paid to the employee when he reaches the age of 60 for men, 55 for women. General Foods pays more than the total cost of the plan. Although income starts when women and men are 60 and 65 years respectively, retirement then is not immediate. The plan also provides for a reduced rate of contribution for employees who elect to retire before the age of 60. The plan also provides for a reduced rate of contribution for employees who elect to retire before the age of 60.

The Payments

"Upon retirement, an employee may expect to enjoy an income equivalent to 2 per cent of his average earnings for every year of his participation in the plan. For instance, an employee age 35 today will, on retirement, receive each month 60 per cent of whatever his average monthly salary may be during the next 30 years. amounts will be continued during policy so that payments, in reduced, the life-time of a designated dependent, should this dependent survive the retired employee's death. If such arrangement is not chosen, the balance of the contributions not disbursed as retirement income is paid to a beneficiary named in the policy.

September 1, 1934, has been designated as the date when the plan goes into effect. All employees of General Foods and subsidiary companies in United States and Canada, now under retirement age, who have been with the organization one year prior to September 1, are eligible to participate, but participation is not obligatory. General will pay not only its share of the plan, but also the September, October, and November employees' contributions for all workers joining the plan before December 1. Although the plan itself does not provide for it, the announcement states General Foods may at its discretion add to the retirement income of employees who are now more than 45 years old.

The Albertis attended William College and Harvard Law School.

Shattered Glass Is Cause of Lawsuit

GLEDO, Nov. 23 — The question of whether non-shatterable glass actually is non-shatterable must be decided in court. Common Pleas Judge Ross Stahl has ruled.

James P. Knox, of Metuchen, N. J., claims that the non-shatterable glass in his automobile is decidedly shatterable. Because he thinks so, he has asked judgment of $50,000 from the Lilly-Cayne-Ford Glass company for injuries caused by flying glass when his automobile collided with another car Nov. 6, 1933, in New Jersey.

"Manufacturers are accustomed to advertise extensively throughout the country as to the quality of their products and the public is thereby induced to buy on the strength of these advertisements," the judge said in his ruling.

"It seems to me this creates a direct relationship between the manufacturer and the purchaser," he added.

SISTER MARY'S RECIPES

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NIA Service Staff Writer

A FOOD chemist in one of the state universities has been experimenting with dates and he declares that six medium-sized dates furnish as much working energy as a large baked potato or three half-inch slices from a baker's loaf of bread.

Well, dates are rich in iron and other minerals, too, so they are a worthwhile addition to the diet of growing children.

Three dates add approximately 100 calories to a dish of cereal and many children whose diets are adequate in the matter of vitamins and minerals need extra calories.

Sandwiches for the school lunch may be made with dates and the children adore them. Make a filling of chopped dates and nuts, moisten with cream and put between thin buttered slices of graham or whole wheat bread.

For a change try dates in place of raisins in your rice pudding. Flavor delicately with cinnamon and vanilla.

Several salads use dates effectively. Chopped apple, nut and date salad with French dressing made with lemon juice is fine on crisp, finely shredded cabbage. Large dates stuffed with a mixture of cream cheese and finely chopped saled nuts make a hearty bridge salad. A tart whipped cream dressing is good with date salad and tiny hot buttered rolls may be served with it.

A good dinner salad combines orange sections with dates, nuts and French dressing.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Grapes, cereal, cream, baked French toast, syrup, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Clear bouillon, open lettuce and egg sandwiches, date pie, milk, tea.

DINNER: Roast spare ribs, potatoes baked with meat, sauerkraut, date and orange salad, poorman's pudding, milk, coffee.

gar, 1 egg, 1 cup milk, 1 table spoon flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla.

Pour boiling water over dates Drain and dip in cold water and remove stones if necessary. Chop coarsely and stew in a very little water until soft. Mix and sift flour, sugar and salt and add stewed dates. Stir well and add well beaten egg. Mix and add milk and vanilla. Turn into a deep pie dish lined with plain pastry. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about forty minutes. When firm to the touch the pie is done. Serve cold with a topping of whipped cream.

A very simple pie filling is made by cooking 1-2 pound dates with 1 cup water until the mixture thickens. Turn into a baked pie shell and cover with 1 cup cream whipped until firm and sweetened with 2 tablespoons powdered sugar and flavored with a few drops of vanilla.

Either of these desserts should follow a meal which is lacking in calories. They make excellent luncheon desserts because of their high calorie content.

Convicts Prefer Penal Code Books

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 23.—California penal and political codes head the list of "best sellers" in Folsom prison, one of the nation's "toughest" penitentiaries.

These books, along with the works of Blackstone, top the list of requests from prison inmates, according to State Librarian Mabel Gillis. The convicts pore over the volumes in an effort to find loopholes in the law which may win freedom for them.

Results of this avid study occasionally sends state jurists into a huddle when habeas corpus petitions, containing queer points of law are presented.

Famous Bull Will Attend Centennial

KERRVILLE, Nov. 23.—"Old Paint," a 24-year-old almost toothless bull in a herd of Texas longhorns, called the last surviving herd and belonging to L. A. Schreiner, Kerrville banker, may be on exhibition at the Texas Centennial.

The Kerrville man, who has a private game park at his suburban home, has written to a centennial official at Dallas, was sent to Chicago last year on exhibition at the Century of Progress.

BLACK - DRAUGHT for CONSTIPATION

"I am 71 years old and have used Theodor's Black-Draught about forty years," writes Mr. W. J. Vanover, of Rome, Ky. "We are never without it. I take it as a purgative when I am bilious, dizzy and have swimming in my head. Black-Draught relieves this, and helps me in many ways." Keep a package of this old, reliable, purely vegetable laxative in your home, and take it for prompt relief at the first sign of constipation.

GOLD IN CHICKEN'S CRAW

SITKA, Alaska, Nov. 23.—Millions of dollars' worth of gold has been shipped from Alaska to Seattle. Some of it apparently is going back as Mrs. Josephine Brojack dressed a chicken shipped from Seattle, she found in its craw a gold nugget worth $250.

LEAS BROUGHT OLD NASSAU BACK INTO GRID SPOTLIGHT OF NATION

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 23.—"From all ye damned races of Poes may we be delivered," quoth Princeton's football foes back in the gay '90s. Substitute the word "Leas" and "Poes" and you have the piteous wail that Princeton opponents of the post war period have raised.

Family a Tradition

The Lea family is becoming a tradition in Jungletown. It seems that from 1883 to 1895, a young giant named Langdon "Biffy" Lea was holding down a tackle berth on the elevens which boasted at least one Poe in the backfield. During each of these years he was selected as All-American tackle by Walter Camp.

Those years were among the most prosperous from a gridiron point of view in the entire history of football at old Nassau. New records of high scores were set, new standards of fight and drive were made, which have remained intact for Tiger teams of the Crister era to shoot at. In short, Biffy Lea and his mates made quite a place for themselves in the annals of Princeton football.

Missed Leas
For over 30 years Princeton tried to reach the heights attained by those elevens of '93, '94, and '95, but failed to do it. No member of the Lea family played during that time. Then in the class of 1927 appeared one Frank Lea, son of the famous Biffy. Frank played on the Tiger varsity at end for two seasons, and while he was there, the Tiger team again rose to the first rank of eastern football.

Then came the depression in Nassau grid stock. After Frank received his diploma, Princeton began to lose its standing in spite of the fact there was a lad called Biffy Lea, Jr., holding down the right end berth on the teams of '30 and '31. Something was obviously wrong, for it never should be that a Princeton football team on which a Lea was playing could be called poor.

Family Mutiny

So the Leas, with old Biffy himself presiding, went into a family huddle over the matter and appointed son Gilbert a committee of one to go to Tigertown.

So here we have Gil, playing the same spot as his brother and Lang, and proving with succeeding game that the Leas need worry no more. Fully and amply demonstrated, extreme discomfiture of the grid opponents, that the Leas play ball with the best of 'em.
