BABY FACE NELSON IS SHOT TO DEATH

Body Found Riddled By U.S. Agent Shots

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Baby Face Nelson, accused slayer of three federal agents, was found dead today in a ditch near Miles Center, Ill.

His body was riddled with bullets. Attorney General Homer Cummings, announcing the finding of Nelson's body, said the Dillinger gang machine gunner had died of wounds suffered yesterday in his gun battle in which two federal agents were killed.

There were five shots in his stomach, two in his chest, and he had been wounded in the leg, Cummings said.

The place where his body was found is about 15 miles from Chicago, the justice department said.

LEGIONAIRES HOLD MEETING AT ABILENE

ABILENE, Nov. 28.—All ex-service men who have their adjusted compensation certificates must apply for it before January 2, according to an announcement from Dallas. This is the deadline set by law. All widows and orphans who are entitled to pensions according to the law just passed, should apply for them at once, the announcement said.

Prominent leaders of the American Legion in Texas are to appear on the program of the 17th district, which will meet in annual convention here December 1 and 2.

H. Miller Ainsworth of Luling state commander, is expected to be present, as are Milton Gaines of Wichita Falls, Grand Chief De Gare who plans to reorganize a local unit of the 40-8 legion organization; Mrs. Marian H. DeFord of Fort Worth, president of the woman's auxiliary; M. J. Beinfeld of Brady, past state commander, and a representative from the veterans bureau at Dallas. The district committee of the five areas in the fifth division, which includes the west half and northwest part of Texas, are also to be here. They are Van H. Stewart of Perryton, chairman of the 18th district which has headquarters at Amarillo and includes 28 counties; Hub Mason of Lockney, 19th committee man in Lubbock area of 25 counties; M. L. Hoston of Alpine, 16th leader of El Paso unit of 18 counties; Orville H. Turner of Brownwood, 21st district of San Angelo area, 26 counties and Larry S. Daniels, who is committee man from the Abilene district, number 17. The district is comprised of 12 counties, Nolan, Fisher, Stephens, Comanche, Taylor, Hamilton, Jones, Eastland, Palo Pinto, Calahan, Rannels, and Shackelford.

The commander of the entire fifth division, William Dewey Richburg of Pecos, will attend.

In addition to the above list, Ray Johnson, manager of the Veterans' Bureau at Dallas, and John Lee Smith of Throckmorton will be there.

An elaborate dinner is being arranged to assure the legionnaires a good time.

Ocean Sailing Race Is Being Discussed

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28.—A revival of the long distance ocean sailing races next year seriously is being considered by the Corinthian Yacht Club of Philadelphia.

The club's race committee has taken no definite steps, but some officials have sent out informal "feelers" to yachting masters and it was learned that quite a number were in favor of staging the race.

However, no definite decision will be made until the clubs holds its formal meeting in December. If the vote is favorable, a special committee will be appointed for the express purpose of setting the course, handling the entries and establishing rules.

The race would be the first one sponsored by the Corinthian Club since 1931, when a 360-mile race was run from New London to Cape May, G. D. Mosey's Telegram, of New York, won the Class A award; C. W. Atwater, Jr.'s Sloop Duckling of New York, Class B; A. F. Lomis' Hot Spur, Class; and Russell Grinnell's Rugosa II, Class D.

Should it be decided not to hold the race, it would probably be two years before another one is held, as the Cruising Club of America is planning to hold a race in 1936.

WITNESS REFUSED TO TESTIFY

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—P. W. Sherman a witness to the machine gun slaying of two federal agents by George Baby Face Nelson, refused to testify before a coroner's inquest today "because the government men told me not to say anything."

Previously Melvin Purvis, chief of the federal bureau of investigation headquarters here had sought to have the inquest postponed.

"I don't care about the federal government. I want your testimony," Deputy County Coroner Don Butler told Sherman. Sherman was adamant in his refusal, however, and did not testify.

Killed Hollis

Mrs. Frances Kramer, operator of a filling station on the outskirts of Barrington, Ill., where the gun battle took place late yesterday, testified Nelson and his companion fired a volley of machine gun bullets into the body of Herman Hollis as he lay dying in a ditch.

The gangsters then turned upon Samuel Cowley, ace agent of the government's Dillinger squad, wounding him fatally.

The department of justice automobile in which Nelson, his wife, and the other man fled after the killing, was found in Winnetka, north shore suburb, today.

The front seat was caked with blood and the body riddled with bullets, indicating that one of the occupants may have been badly wounded.

MYSTERY TRIO DEATH LINKED WITH TOURIST

CARLEISLE, Pa., Nov. 28.—The identity of three fair-haired girls found dead on a Pennsylvania mountainside was closely linked to a family of five poverty-stricken tourists, supposedly from California.

Rapid developments in the "babes in the woods" mystery led police investigators steadily towards the conclusion that the three girls had been traveling with a man and woman whose bodies were found last week at Duaneville.

The best indications were that the man was the father of the children and that he said his name was Malone of Vallejo, Calif.

NEARLY ENDED CAREERS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Johnny Hannon, automobile speedway champion of the Eastern States Circuit and Al Theisen, Midwest champion, nearly had their careers halted abruptly. While learning the racing art, Hannon almost wrecked a speedway and Theisen was ruled off the track because of reckless driving.

However, no definite decision will be made until the clubs holds its formal meeting in December. If the vote is favorable, a special committee will be appointed for the express purpose of setting the course, handling the entries and establishing rules.

The race would be the first one sponsored by the Corinthian Club since 1931, when a 360-mile race was run from New London to Cape May, G. D. Mosey's Telegram, of New York, won the Class A award; C. W. Atwater, Jr.'s Sloop Duckling of New York, Class B; A. F. Lomis' Hot Spur, Class; and Russell Grinnell's Rugosa II, Class D.

Should it be decided not to hold the race, it would probably be two years before another one is held, as the Cruising Club of America is planning to hold a race in 1936.

Cisco Churches in Sunrise Service

THANKSGIVING SERMON TO BE BY DR. PEARCE

Following their custom of recent years, the churches of Cisco will join in a sunrise service at 7 o'clock this morning to celebrate Thanksgiving in a religious manner, as they believe it was originally intended by the Pilgrim fathers, after their first year in New England, that it should be celebrated.

Churches which once held similar services of their own on Thanksgiving day will take part in the union service, which will be held at the First Baptist church. Dr. J. Stuart Pearce, pastor of the First Presbyterian church will preach the Thanksgiving sermon, it was announced earlier in the week by Rev. E. S. James, pastor of the First Baptist church and secretary of the Cisco Pastors association.

The service will last not more than an hour, it was announced. Special music is being arranged for the occasion. W. F. Walker will have charge of the community choir. Rev. Frank L. Turner, pastor of the First Methodist church and chairman of the Pastors association, has charge of the program.

Following is the program: Scripture reading — Rev. Preston Broxton, pastor of the Twelfth Street Methodist church. Invocation — Rev. Luther Pryor, pastor of the Nazarene church. Special music. Offertory prayer — Rev. C. S. Moad, pastor of the Church of God. Thanksgiving Sermon — Dr. Pearce. Song. Benediction — Rev. J. W. Reynolds, pastor of the Fundamentalist Baptist church.

BRITISH BUILD AIR FORCES AS DANGER LOOMS

LONDON, Nov. 28.—A heavy increase in Great Britain's air force—almost double the present strength—was announced officially in the House of Commons today during debate on Germany's rearmament, which was pictured as a grave menace to Britain.

After Winston Churchill, former chancellor of the exchequer, had demanded that Britain prepare to defend herself before it is too late and had described the danger of Germany's air force—which he said would be nearly double Britain's by the end of 1937 at the present rate—Stanley Baldwin promised the House that the government would act.

He revealed for the first time Britain's official estimate of Germany's air strength, placing it probably between 600 and 1,000 aircraft.

Earlier in the day the possibility of war in Europe had been mirrored by Lloyd's insurance underwriters, who announced that they were tightening their war risk insurance regulations. Lloyd's will no longer guarantee that their rates will remain at a given level for more than 12 hours.

FRENCH FEAR MORE TROUBLE AT HOME

PARIS, France, Nov. 28.—Farmers battled police in the streets of Paris this afternoon, protesting against agricultural conditions.

The trouble came at the end of a meeting to discuss the ills of the farmers. Earlier crippled war veterans had demonstrated, demanding pensions.

The farmers fought with heavy cordons of police. Expecting further trouble, several thousand police were held in reserve.

MISS SPRUILL GUEST ARTIST AT LIONS CLUB

Miss Lucille Spruill, public school teacher, entertained the Lions club Wednesday with a free-hand drawing exhibition. The picture began as a landscape, but under the swift fingers of the artist took a sudden change and developed into a picture of a Thanksgiving turkey, to the delight of the club.

Rev. J. B. Curry, presiding elder of the Cisco district of the Methodist church, gave a talk on Thanks-giving, mixing humor interspersing his oratory with bits of humor. The program was under the direction of Rev. Frank L. Turner.

The club voted to purchase 10 sacks of cement needed for CWA workers to complete a project at Lake Cisco.

A Hymn of Thanksgiving

By CLARENCE HAWKES (The Blind Poet of Hadley, Mass.)

WHEN the seed was sown in the early Spring,
While the woodcock northward wings,
Then the heart of man did mount and sing,
The Hymn of Growing Things:
Then the waking earth with mighty power
With the ardent sun did vie
And the bud unfolded in a flower,
Beneath the Springtime sky,
When the smell of earth in sun and rain
Was like a thought of God,
Then God looked down on hill and plain
And saw that all was good.

THROUGH summer days each root and pod
According to earth's plan,
Obedient to the will of God,
Did store up food for man,
On bending bough the peach and pear
Grew mellow in the sun,
Till earth became a garden fair,
And nature's work was done,
Then man went forth, a harvest host,
To reap his rich reward,
To garner in from coast to coast,
The bounty of the Lord.

IN GRATITUDE we meet today,
As our fathers did of old,
Guide us along earth's darksome way,
Our feeble hands uphold,
Give us those things we sorely need,
Thy truth to light our way,
A Christian Land, in word and deed—
Lord teach us how to pray,
Upon each hearth to keep alive
The sacred flame of love,
For brotherhood to daily strive,
And worship God Above.

YOU CAN BE THANKFUL TODAY'S WEATHER WON'T LAST FOREVER

LEE SUIT FOR OIL CLAIM IS IN U.S. COURT

FORT WORTH, Nov. 28.—Suit of the estate of former Congressman R. Q. Lee of Cisco against the Virginia Oil and Refining company and its receiver for more than a million dollars, began in the U. S. district court today before Judge James Wilson.

The suit seeks to collect $1,120,000 as the selling price on 1,120 acres of Stephens county land given by Mr. Lee and $200,000 as the cost of four wells the Virginia company failed to drill after allegedly agreeing to do so.

CISCO REMITS TAX INTEREST AND PENALTY

Cisco will remit interest and penalty on delinquent taxes, it was decided at a meeting of the city commission Tuesday evening. This action is in line with the recent legislative act authorizing the remission of tax interest and penalties on delinquent taxes.

City Attorney R. E. Grantham was to prepare a resolution remitting the tax penalty and interest and City Secretary J. B. Gate was instructed to accept payment of delinquent taxes under the new action.

The city attorney was requested to study the city plumbing ordinance and report on it at the next meeting after E. L. Wisdom, Cisco plumber, had criticized it and asked the commission either to repeal it or see that it is enforced. Wisdom also criticized appointment of a competing electrician as city inspector.

Water superintendent G. R. Kilpatrick was instructed to employ a full time collector to collect delinquent water bills, to the amount of more than $10,000, and to investigate the condition of delinquent and take some action upon their individual cases.

The garbage contract was again awarded to Ed Johnson, whose bid for the year was $3,174.

ENOYED AIR TRIP AT 77

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 28.—You can't keep these "youngsters" down, Mrs. Lizette Dibble, 77, always wanted to take an airplane ride. Her daughter didn't think it was safe. But finally Mrs. Dibble just "uns and flies away" to Salt Lake City, an hour and 55 minutes from home. She enjoyed every minute of the trip in the giant air liner, she said.

England Opens Campaign To Put End To Easy Method of "Arranging" Divorce

By H. L. PERCY
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON, Nov. 28—Divorce here is harder to obtain in Britain in the near future.

Plans are being prepared to put a stop to what is called "hotel evidence."

"The authorities say that there are too many 'arranged' divorces. That is that the husband 'acts the gentleman' and manufacturers evidence by staying one night in a hotel with an unknown woman, and then sends the bill to his wife so that she may have the necessary circumstantial evidence of adultery—the only grounds on which a divorce is granted in England at present."

Judges Lead War

Some judges have attempted to frustrate this type of collusion by demanding the name of the co-respondent. Others have threatened to disregard "hotel evidence" altogether. Neither method has proved practical.

Now the authorities visualize a

INVITATIONS FOR WEDDING ARE SENT OUT

LCNDCN, Nov. 28—Almost all the 1,500 invitations to the wedding of the Duke of Kent and Princess Marina of Greece, in Westminster Abbey, November 29, now have been issued.

Among them are those named on the special lists of personal guests which have been sent to the Lord Chamberlain by the King and Queen and by the bride and bridegroom.

In addition to a number of representatives of the house of lords there will be present:

The diplomatic corps, the entire cabinet, several ex-cabinet ministers, representatives of the parliamentary opposition, and representatives of the law, the navy, the army, the air force, the civil service, the royal households, and of various religious denominations.

There also will be about 100 newspapermen.

In the sacristy, immediately below the altar, there will be accommodated the royal family and their guests, numbering at least 57 members of the royal houses, together with high ecclesiastics, including the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, the bishop of London, and Archbishop Gormanston of the Greek Orthodox prelate.

The Diplomatic Corps and the Cabinet ministers will be seated in the choir and the general company will be accompanied beneath the lantern, in the transepts and in the nave. Six of the Duke of Kent's servants will be given special seats in a privileged position.

AUSTIN, Nov. 28—Sponsors of Interscholastic league activities throughout the state will attend the annual league breakfast and section meeting to be held Friday morning, November 30, at 7:30 o'clock, in the east terrace dining room of the Galvez Hotel at Galveston, according to Roy Bedinek, chief of the University of Texas bureau of public school interests.

The chief speaker for the breakfast will be Dr. Henry Lee Ewbanks, professor of speech at the University of Wisconsin and president of the national speech arts association.

Dr. Ewbanks is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan college, and received the master of arts degree from the University of Michigan and the doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Wisconsin. He has had instruction experience at Algon college, Michigan, and has been on the staff of the University of Wisconsin since 1927.

Besides his regular duties, Professor Ewbanks has served as executive secretary of the National Speech Arts association and of the Interstate Oratorical association. He is interested in education by radio, and has conducted several experiments in that field. His plan for use of public discussion and debate in rural clubs is attracting wide attention. Mr. Bedinek pointed out. The subject of his address at the League section meeting is "What's Right with Speech Contests."

This meeting of local League officials is held each year at the time of the annual convention of the Texas State Teachers' association.

JOINT PARTIES FOR ROYAL PAIR

LCNDCN, Nov. 28—The Duke of Kent and Princess Marina of Greece will not have "bachelor" parties on the eve of their wedding, Nov. 29.

Instead they will have a joint party at St. James's Palace, at which the hundreds and hundreds of presents will be on display.

A thousand guests will attend the afternoon tea party in the red, white and gold Queen Anne room, overlooking the Mall. It will be a less formal affair than the evening reception at Buckingham Palace for 800 guests two days before the wedding.

The Queen is busy making a selection of the wedding presents. These will be arranged on a long table placed in the center of the room and on smaller tables around the walls. There also will be glass cases to hold the gifts of jewelry, many of which will be from members of the royal family.

23 COUNTRIES TO TAKE PART IN EXPOSITION

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 28—Twenty-three foreign powers today pledged their participation in the California Pacific International exposition here next year.

Through their consular representatives in San Francisco, the nations have enthusiastically accepted invitations to cooperate and exhibit under the exposition's plan of foreign relations, in San Francisco and voted unanimous backing to California in staging the spectacle which will be unfolded May 29.

Represented at the conference, which will be followed by a similar meeting with San Diego, consulate officials on Dec. 3, were Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, China, Colombia, Costa Rica, Czechoslovakia, Ecuador, El Salvador, Germany, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Japan, Luxembourg, Mexico, Netherlands, Panama, Persia, Peru, Siam, Spain, and Uruguay.

Bridge Builders Are Aided by River

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 28—Old man Missouri river has lent a hand in building a bridge on dry land, but more help is needed.

More than a month ahead of schedule on the South Omaha span across the Missouri river to Iowa, engineers have been unsparing in their praise of the aid the "Big Muddy" has given them in their work.

Low water coupled with well-placed diking has enabled the construction men to place footings and foundation without the usual bother of using divers to carry on the work below the surface.

Now it's up to the river to show the stuff it's made of. All it has to do is fill up its banks this spring and flood its way beneath the span where a channel has been prepared for it.

Lack of a flood period last spring was a boon to the builders. Continued lack of interest on the part of Old Man River in changing to a new bed, however, would present a serious problem.

Several hundred feet of very dry Nebraska land still separates the span from the channel.

Plenty of dikes have been placed on the eastern bank, the Iowa side of the river, to direct the flow under the easternmost span, but the plan is a flop without a big spring tide. Heavy mountain snowfall and rapid spring melting are necessary to make the plan work.

Romans Used Aqueduct To Aid in Mimic Sea Fights Says Recent Carnegie Book

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—A special aqueduct had to be built to care for the ancient Romans' mimic sea fights, according to a booklet issued by the Carnegie Institution.

When the fun-loving Romans turned from chariot racing and bloody gladiatorial contests to the new novelty of sea battles on enclosed lakes or flooded arenas, the Aqua Alesitina was built to bring fresh additional water to float the ships.

Rival fleets were manned by criminals or prisoners of war. Frequently they fought until one side was exterminated amid the cheers of the bloodthirsty spectators.

The Aqua Alesitina was the seventh of the eleven great aqueducts which were built by the Romans during the five centuries that they ruled the ancient world. The first was started 312 years before Christ and the last completed about 226 A. D.

Visitors to Italy today drive along the Apian Way for miles just outside Rome and see the ruins of the Aqua Appia, first Roman attempt to bring water to their city. It was modeled after underground sewers which had been discovered by the Romans some years earlier.

The "Virgins Aqueduct" was built in 19 B. C. to bring in needed water for the expanding public baths which the Romans favored. These baths were much like a combination of present day Y. M. C. A.'s club rooms rather than strictly bathing rooms.

This aqueduct was named after the Vetsal Virgins, who were the priesthood charged with caring for

Pup Is Happy Over Leg, Jaw Operation

CCNEAUT, O., Nov. 28—Speaking of operations, "Patsie", Spitz-Collie pet of Fannie Macnpaa, has something to bark about.

Folks almost gave up Patsie after his owner found him a whimpering pitiful little heap in the gutter, nursing a badly fractured jaw and a broken femur. He'd been hit by an automobile.

Instead of calling city police often summoned in such cases to put a bullet in the head of a suffering pet, Miss Macnpaa took Patsie to a dog hospital here.

Anesthetized to unconsciousness Patsie lay quiet while the doctor set his jaw and leg. The broken jaw bones were lashed into place with silver sutures and the broken leg bone was straightened. The jaw and leg both went into rigid casts as the operation ended. Several days later the casts were removed and the silver sutures taken out.

Patsie flexed his muscles of his long immobile paw, rather gingerly at first. Finding it as articulate as ever, he emitted a joyful little yelp of gratitude.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 28—Mrs. Ebert Cox has many troubles. Returning home from a hospital for a long rest, she found her son Leon, 18, had broken a wrist. Recovering from that shock, she found her daughter, Anna Mae, 14, had suffered a dislocated neck. All occurred the same day.

World Hope for Peace

The world is still hopeful for action on armaments and of soothing sore spots in world affairs. London and Washington are striving to facilitate the naval conference to a satisfactory end despite Japan's proposed scrapping of the present 5-5-3 ratio for one of its choosing, 5-4-4.

Studies are being made by London and Washington of a sliding scale Anglo-American agreement should Japan decide to go ahead on its proposed program without sanction.

It is reported at London that Japan is asking France to help get action in the naval discussions.

Sir John Simon in the House of Commons recently termed as "pure fabrication" any report that two or more nations were considering any naval agreement against a third nation.

Sir John's statement may be interpreted as a reply to reports that consideration was being given to renewal in some form of the Anglo-Japanese alliance of 1902. But it also may be viewed as constituting some assurance to Japan that Great Britain has not yet decided to make direct common cause with the United States against the Japanese demand for naval equality.

New Credit System

A new system of credit to enable cities to meet the heavy financial demands made upon them for unemployment aid and other social services without tailspinning into bankruptcy was proposed to the United States Conference of Mayors in Chicago last week.

Municipal credit banks capable of lending money to cities at a nominal rate of interest for expenditures undertaken for the social welfare were recommended by Dr. A. A. Berle, city chamberlain of New York. Formerly special counsel to the R. F. C., and known as a "brain trust," Dr. Berle appeared as financial advisor of the assembled mayors on the opening day of their conference.

The banking system for cities proposed by Dr. Berle would create credit for them, he said, as credit is created for the Federal Government. When Washington wants to borrow a dollar, he explained, it can "make a bank create a dollar of credit and lend it to the Federal Government."

Cities cannot do this now, but, instead, must go out, find an actual dollar somewhere, and induce the owner to let go of it.

The result is an enormous burden on the average city, which must pay from one-fifth to one-third of its budget for past debts, Dr. Berle continued. So long as debts are for self-liquidating projects they can be borne. But this economist finds that the trend now appears to require cities to spend more and more for social services which do not pay a profit in cash. And there's the rub.

"To the extent that you are required to make socialized expenditures, your interest rate must come down," Dr. Berle declared, "or else cities will find themselves in a tailspin of compounding interest with bankruptcy at the end."

New York's Foreign Population

New York has absorbed the total incoming foreign-born population and had a migration from other states, according to Prof. W. A. Anderson, of Cornell University, in a report just submitted to the New York State Planning Board. Professor Anderson stressed that the state has a major social problem in assimilating nearly one-fourth of the foreign-born population of the United States.

From 1900 to 1930 and in each of the three decades, New York's total population has increased at a rate equal to or faster than that of the rest of the United States, Professor Anderson said. The urban population of New York increased 98.6 per cent from 1900 to 1930, while the total rural increased but 4.6 per cent.

Richberg's Industrial Ideal

New York City hears Donald Richberg declare as ideal the largest co-operation between business, industry and labor and the smallest control by Government. The executive director of the National Emergency Council tells the Associated Grocery Manufacturers of America that flexibility of code making should be the first principle of any effort to turn NRA aims into permanent laws. He sees soundness in fixing maximum hours and minimum wages for each trade and industry—but he registers opposition to any general 30-hour week.

HACKSAW IN OPERATION

BOSTON, Nov. 28 — A hacksaw was used in an operation at City Hospital here. Four-year-old Mary Paters worked a metal washer over her second knuckle while playing. The hospital had exhausted its supply of instruments trying to remove it. Finally an engineer loaned a hacksaw from his tool chest and the operation was completed successfully.

IT WASN'T AN ELOPEMENT

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 28 — A frantic father telephoned police to halt the "elopement" of Calvin Houghland and Miss Josephine Trice both prominent here. The police halted the "elopement" all right, but Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Houghland had the laugh on all when they announced: "Why, we're not eloping. We were married almost two months ago!"

Let's Get Back to the Original Thanksgiving Spirit

WORST OVER; WE CAN GIVETHANKS AS PURITANS DID

By BRUCE CATTON

Every Thanksgiving Day, it is the custom for us to turn our minds back to the Pilgrim Fathers. We retell the old story of that gallant little band on the bleak shores of Massachusetts Bay, conjure up a mental picture of that primitive feast table, where sober-faced men in buckled shoes and tall black hats sat down with painted Indians—and then we turn to our own turkey and mince pie and forget all about it.

What we might very profitably notice is the fact that our present situation is remarkably like that of the men who invented Thanksgiving.

It is like it in this respect: We have just come through a very trying and nerve-testing experience, we have come through it in rather better shape than we expected to, and we are now looking forward to a time in which we can go ahead with the old job of making this broad land a better place for people to live.

That was the situation of the early colonists. They had had a very hard time indeed, getting started. The winter had been cruel. Many people had died—and so hostile was the land that the colonists tried to conceal the graves, so that the Indians would not know how weak the settlement had become.

They had been hunger and privation to contend with. But somehow they had managed to live through it, the summer had been kinder, and by late autumn the people were able to look to the future with the confidence of those who realize that the worst is over.

And so, when you stop to think about it, are we. We have touched the bottom and now we are on our way up.

Our country isn't going to fall apart, after all. We aren't going to have to sacrifice our traditions of freedom and democracy to survive; we aren't going to be torn asunder by violent clashes between those who have and those who have not. We can celebrate our Thanksgiving in the old-time spirit, this year. The worst is behind us. We have great reason for setting aside a day to return thanks to Divine Providence.

From now on, the path will be smoother and the sky will be brighter. And if, like the Pilgrims, we can add to our devout gratitude a strong determination to continue to be brave and patient and enduring, we can face whatever may be ahead of us without the slightest fear.

Women of France Seeking Suffrage

PARIS, Nov. 28 — American campaign methods are being used here in the greatest women's suffrage drive ever launched in the history of France. Women filers, lawyers, writers, painters and orators have joined forces to push the movement to a successful finish. The cinema, stage and radio are being utilized as well as pamphlets, buttons and billboards.

"Our present methods are passive compared to what they will be if we do not get the proper response from members of Parliament," declared Mile. Louise Weiss, head of the movement. "I was on a lecture tour once in the United States and I learned much of the methods that the American women used in their successful campaign. I saw them making senators tremble in Washington with their vigorous attacks and I can assure you that we can do the same here."

Proclamation of Theodore Roosevelt Is Recalled By Ciscoan on Thanksgiving

As Thanksgiving approached this year with Franklin D. Roosevelt as president, Ciscoans recalled another Thanksgiving when another Roosevelt was president.

Following is Thanksgiving proclamation issued by Theodore Roosevelt, distant cousin of the present chief executive, over his signature and that of Elihu Root, then secretary of state. The clipping was brought in by Dr. W. I. Ghormley. Following is the proclamation:

"Once again the season of the year has come when, in accordance with the custom of our forefathers for generations past, the President appoints a day as the special occasion for all our people to give praise and thanksgiving to God.

"During the present year we have been free from famine, from pestilence, from war. We are at peace with all the rest of mankind. Our natural resources are at least as great as those of any other Nation. We believe that in ability to develop and take advantage of these resources the average man of this Nation stands at least as high as the average man of any other. No where else in the world are there such an opportunity for a free person to develop to the fullest extent all his powers of body, of mind and of that which stands above both body and mind—character.

"Much has been given us from on high, and much will be rightly expected of us in return. Into our care the ten talents have been intrusted, and we are to be pardoned neither if we squander and waste them, nor yet if we hide them in a napkin; for they must be fruitful in our hands. Ever throughout the ages, at all times and among all

GOVERNMENT-BANK PARLEY BRINGS BETTER SENTIMENT IN BUSINESS

AUSTIN, Nov. 28 — Business sentiment appears to have improved substantially during recent weeks as a result of conference of bankers and industrial leaders with government officials, according to Dr. F. A. Buechel, assistant director of the University of Texas bureau of business research.

"The outlook with respect to public utilities and railroads is still clouded, however, and the attitude of organized labor toward these newer developments remains uncertain," Dr. Buechel said. "As a result, business statistics have recently shown a reversal from the downward trend which began in June, and the trend at present appears to be definitely upward although until now the improvement has been at a very moderate rate. Moreover, no sharp rise is expected until early spring at best since several months must elapse before the new relationship between government and business can be more fully clarified and confidence developed."

Planes Favorite Toys In England

LONDON, Nov. 28 — The favorite toy of the British boy this year is the airplane. Boys, instead, are showing a decided predilection for American-made unbreakable dolls.

The victory of Charles W. Scott and Campbell Black, the British aviators in the London-Melbourne air race is responsible for the boys' enthusiasm for aviation, executives of leading department stores in London told the United Press.

British children are mostly pacifists. Lead soldiers, guns, battleships, submarines and other warfare toys are selling just as any other toy.

Doll sales have increased more than 200 per cent—the largest volume since 1913—one department store reported. The toy business is closely connected with the demographic situation, it was said. The increase in the British birth rate in the past five years has been a major factor in present boom in sales.

Mechanics, electrical toys, Mickey Mouse games, Three Little Pigs and Big Bad Wolf puppets are also best sellers.

Ninety per cent of the toys are British made. The remaining 10 per cent is divided equally between the United States and Germany.

PIC AND KITTEN PAIS

UNION, Mo., Nov. 28 — This little pig is content to stay at home asleep with its newly-acquired friend. Because the little pig was not as strong as the rest of the litter James Griffin, its owner, built a separate pen in a horse stall. A kitten visits the stall each day for its meal, the two crawl into a box and sleep off.

Boboes Hopeful For Roast Eagle At Thanksgiving Dinner

QUAL GRID CLASSIC TO BE AT 2:30 TODAY

For honor and tradition the Gil Belt crown, the Loboes of Cisco and the Boboes will meet on Cheley at 2:30 this afternoon in a grid game.

The Boboes are hoping that Thanksgiving dinner, which tonight after the game, will be the principal dish on the roast eagle.

The crowd is expected to attend, despite the fact that the Loboes and the Breckenridges will be battling at the same time for the championship.

Dope Means Little

Boboes have had one good game after their game with the Loboes last Friday. Coach May says he has been taking light work in an effort to insure the team against injury on the day of the classic.

The Loboes will be without the services of their stars, both of whom are injured. They are expected to center, and left halfback. Longmore, Jones and either Harris or Jones will be in for Moser.

Boboes' Full Strength

Boboes, on the other hand, are going practically their full strength against the feathered flock. They have a couple of games left at left half, ready to do in leading the attack and in defense. Those who starred in the game at Chidwell, will be his regulars. Shackleford, kept out of the game for some time by illness, will be in top form and will lead the attack post. The offensive signal caller, will be the man in the backfield.

There will be one shift in the backfield. Theron Graves, who received injuries to a tad, will likely not start the game. His twin brother, who will be moved in from a wing, will fill the hole and Burnam will be the game at end.

The line will be badly outplayed by the Eagle forwards, but the backfield will be in speed. The 175-pound Burnam will be in the backfield. The 160-pound Wendle will alternate with Schupbach, giant who tips the beam at 125 pounds. The Loboes move from the defense.

Line, Light Backs

Boboes team will bring an all-around coach. May's team is a lot of spinners and they are comparatively light. The Boboes' team, on the other hand, is the colorful Notre team with both a line backfield shift, and will feature attack that makes use of backs and laterals. With Cafarelli in the game, however, the line will be the Loboes take to the field.

The game will be on reserved seats at 25 and 30 cents. It has been announced. All tickets will be on sale at 25 and 30 cents.

Third Place

Neither team has a chance to win the district crown, but the game will be a winner. If Ahlene wins, the game will be a success. If the Loboes win, the game will be a success. If the Boboes win, the game will be a success.

Babe Understands Roar of the Crowd in Japanese, To

Tens of thousands of Japanese welcomed Babe Ruth to Tokyo with a frenzy of enthusiasm that sports celebrities seldom have encountered anywhere in the world. The milling mob swarmed in the streets, surrounded his car and practically brought it to a standstill. Babe is shown at right, vociferously greeting his well-wishers with shouts and waving hand in reply to their "Banzai", which means "hurray" or "live 1000 years." He went to Japan as a member of a team of barnstorming baseball players.

Instead of being More quiet and less noise in the library it will be more noise and less quiet since basketball practice has begun.

Yes, Randolph will have another good basketball team this year. We would like for some of the sports-writers to make us a visit in the near future.

The night school being conducted in the girls dormitory seems to be gaining much popularity. Miss Pope should be appreciated for her act of generosity by letting the students trespass upon her good-will. I believe the study hall is really appreciated.

The candy-pulling was lots of fun Tuesday night. The girls' dorm furnishes pleasant evenings for those who live in the hill.

Forrest Bailey seems to be preparing for a visit to good old Corinth, Miss., during the Christmas holidays.

Elois Davis is going to Newcastle to visit during the holidays. What is the attraction, Elois?

Richie Lee Davis had his car full of students headed for Breckenridge.

Chapel: Richie Lee Davis preached an impressive Thanksgiving Day sermon. The students should appreciate the seasonal thoughts as brought out by the speaker.

Daily Thought: "If there is anything I don't like, it's something I hate."

Goodbye, Now. Don't eat too much turkey, pumpkin pie, cranberry sauce, cake, etc. cetera.

Heard on the way to chapel: "I'd rather be nibbled to death by a squirrel."

DAZE IN RANDOLPH

By FRANCIS E. BARNES

Oh dear me! Examination time. Cramming—Late hours—Mid-night Oil—Red eyes Gruffy Voices—all because of the six weeks period ending just before the holidays.

Turkey Day! Doesn't that sound good? (It would if we could find a turkey.) I wonder last week if the feller who sends the White House residents a big gobble wouldn't like to remember Randolph Junior college. He would only take about a dozen turkeys to feed the entire student body.

Personal Mention: (Don't get the big-head) Billings, Barrow, and Pretty Boy Floyd got their names in the paper.

Floyd Martin is well again after being ill with tonsillitis last week-end.

Harmon Shelton is in the capital city, Austin, this week. Probably went to see our good friend, Jim Ferguson or Senator I. Roben Quick.

Nita Cook, sister of the famous Bitter, is still visiting in Randolph.

Fowell Sharp has a sore throat. His wife should get a word or two in now.

Fercy "I Hate My Wife" Thornton will probably go to the show this week-end if it is funny enough.

Heard on the way to chapel: "I'd rather be nibbled to death by a squirrel."

Alabama Baptists Plan Dry Battle

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 28—The Alabama Baptist Convention is gearing for a battle to retain prohibition on the law books of Alabama.

The Social Service Committee met here Nov. 22 to remain in session until "definite plans for the campaign are completed."

The plan, first, to combat passage of a repeal referendum bill in the 1935 legislature, and second, to combat passage of the bill by the electorate of the state if unsuccessful at the capitol.

The Baptists form a strong faction in the Alabama Temperance Alliance.

Meanwhile, wet leaders continued their campaign to gain support of the repeal movement. Present wet plans call for introduction of a referendum bill which would contain three alternatives: retention, light wines and beer, repeal.

Governor-elect Bibb Graves pledged the voters he would sign such a measure.

The referendum vote, under present plans, would not be binding, but would be constructed as the voters' instructions to the legislators.

Temperance leaders plan to petition the legislature to ignore their repeal faction and pass laws strengthening enforcement of the present dry statutes.

Visitors May See Rare Collections At University Library During Holidays

AUSTIN, Nov. 28—Ex-students and visitors to the University of Texas campus who have an opportunity to frequent the new library building during the Thanksgiving holidays will be afforded an excellent opportunity to inspect the rare and interesting collections offered by that institution.

A polychrome edition of the old Testament, a Bible in which the writings of various authors are printed in different colors, new Testaments written in Greek, Latin, Vulgate, and Syriac; a reprint of the Wyclif translation; Bibles written in Cherokee, Spanish, French, German, Lithuanian, and Chinese; the handsomely illustrated Dore edition; a Jewish old testament, and the rare "Breches" edition of the Bible are some of the interesting volumes contained in the biblical collection in the English room.

Rare Maps

Groups of rare maps, among which are a number used by Stephen F. Austin in 1822, 1829 and 1835, will be shown in the archives. Together with these may be seen collections of maps from the files of Sam Houston, among which are military maps used by the Texas general.

To students of Texas and Latin-American history, the room containing specimens of literature from these regions will hold a great deal of interest. An elaborate illuminated Papal bull of the seventeenth century may be viewed, as may be various examples of modern Mexican book-binding, a manuscript history of the oldest University in America, Mexican book-brands burnt into the leaves of the books by their owners to prevent possible theft, a volume of "The Missions of North America," generally recognized as the oldest book written in Texas, examples of Aztec picture-writing, and a university diploma issued by the University of Mexico in 1642.

About the walls of the archives room have been hung pictures of early historians of Texas, among which are reproduced reproductions of portraits of Ashbel Smith, first president of the University board of regents, and Henderson Yoakum early Texas writer.

Writing History

Six wall panels in the library depict the progress of writing, with special emphasis placed upon Texas. In the first case are Egyptian and Babylonian figures and various miscellaneous manuscripts of the Greek Cerpels which were found by Judge A. W. Terrell at Prickapoo, in Turkey. The second panel describes the part played by Spain in the progress of writing. Herein is an elaborate pictorial map of 1812, old cattle records and a brace of ancient pistols. A unique collection of hand-painted Czechoslovakian Easter-eggs is displayed in the corridors of the second floor. Jackets of new books, specimens of Texas vases, and a permanent display of the anthropology department are also exhibited in the corridors.

In the main foyer of the new library building is a case containing a number of Nash reproductions of important English books. Copies of these volumes have been presented to the University each since 1922 by William Andrews Clark. They are expensively and accurately printed by John Henry Nash, considered one of the greatest living printers.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 28—A 4,000-pound ball of tinoli lies in a Knoxville junkyard awaiting to be sold by the Shriners for the benefit of crippled children. It is estimated that about $90 to $700 will be realized from the sale.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

NEW YORK—The most interesting act in the Alhambra tonight—definitely is looking for a job. Schacht following his flight from Washington to Boston.

Nick Altrock and Al Schacht went on entertaining American League crowds for several weeks after they had abandoned speaking. Intimates could not reconcile them, and they finally quit working together.

Many reasons were advanced for the break between the grizzled left-hand pitcher hero of Chicago's Hitless Wonders of 1906 and his younger and creative partner.

It generally was ascribed to one of them punching too hard in portraying their version of the historic long count given Gene Tunney in Chicago, but Schacht now explains that it was due to a property man's mistake. Due to the slipup Schacht threw and banged Altrock on the chin with a real ball instead of a trick one.

Apologies offered by Schacht were brushed aside, and the feud was born.

Subtle in Baseball, Too

SCHACHT is immensely pleased with the switch to the Red Sox. If for no other reason than he preferred to remain with Cronin.

Schacht is vastly more than a clown in a baseball uniform, although he continually pulled antics during his pitching days. His favorite story is his rining a ten-cent bounding rocket into a game he was pitching for Reading against Baltimore in 1922 and retiring the side.

Schacht is blessed with the faculty of being able to impart his pitching knowledge to youngsters. His judgment in the third base coach's box is rare.

When Cronin was ineffectual last fall, he and Clark Griffith showed what they thought of ... putting him in charge of the western trip.

Schacht, who has an answer for everything, explains this by saying that the club was so riddled by injuries that only a clown could have laughed it off.

Warner's Newest "Greatest"

WARNER, who tutored Herb, repeatedly has said that Edgie Nevers was superior to Jim Thorpe.

Now the veteran asserts that Dave Snuckler, 215-pound sophomore of his undefeated Temple Owls, is a better fullback than Nevers.

In Snuckler's case, Warner is seconded by Harry Stuhldreher, one of the immortal Four Horsemen of Notre Dame and Villanova strategist, who calls the Philadelphia team's chief scoring threat the finest line crasher he's seen in his coaching career.

... Yale's amazing victory over Princeton was received with more rejoicing than any other recorded in years.

And there was talk of the Tiger having outgrown the Big Three.

As one renowned coach remarked, "I got a bigger kick out of it than I had played myself."

Fritz Crisler's schedule didn't even meet with the approval of Princeton undergraduates.

Bob Zuppke gives the Illini more involved plays names, such as the Flying Trapeze, NRA, and Chicago, believing that it helps his boys remember assignments.

It looks like Sam Breadon, of the Cardinals, will require someone like the Oklahoma oil man, Lew Wentz, to sign the Deans and some others.

Lovable

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ANN HAD BEEN, pretty and 26, gets the family antiques to pay debts of her father, now dead, the day of the sale a young man, stepped by motor cycle, comes to her home to telephone. After he leaves Ann puts a note in his mailbox and in its place a note signed "R." and $50.

Ann gets a note from a librarian and becomes friendly with SARAH KENDALL, also employed at the library, the most beautiful, and a commercial artist, and is attracted by him, though Sarah warns her that Tony is flake and irresponsible.

The chief librarian sends Ann to see rich old PETER KENDALL, factory owner, to obtain permission to open a branch library in Kendallwood, a factory community. Ann is unsuccessful. Returning, her car almost collides with a truck, heavily by a young man, who is the same young man who stopped at Ann's home in Georgetown. Tony and Ann disclose her failure to interview the factory owner.

An old word comes that Peter Kendall has agreed to the opening of the library.

An realize she is falling in love with Tony.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VI

TONY and Ann became engaged the following Saturday. Lying in the sand, his blue eyes warmly approvingly tanned young body, Tony said, "It looks as though that contract is a cinch, and a very good thing for us."

"Why?"

"Little nut," said Tony. "Preceding not to understand. You know we're getting married, don't you?"

Ann turned and met his challenging eyes. Her happy laugh was smothered suddenly as Tony pulled her close in his arms, kissed her lips, eyes, hair and soft throat.

She drew away, leaping to her feet. "Tony, we're on the beach!"

"I don't care," he said. "Beach, we're married, aren't we?"

"Face you to the point and decide on the way," Ann said breathlessly.

They reached the point. Ann was more breathless, her heart pounding joyously. Tony, not vinded at all, gazed down at her eagerly, expectantly.

"Is it yes?" Then, without waiting for her answer, he crushed her to him again.

"It's yes," Ann said simply.

They sat down on the sand, her head against his shoulder. She was a little sobered in spite of the ovoid excitement.

She tried to explain some of this to him, but it was impossible with his lips an ardent barrier against her words.

Tony said frankly, "I never thought I was a marrying man. With so many marriages going on the rocks it seemed a lot of trouble and waste of time to tie yourself up with a wedding and then go to the expense and trouble of having somebody cut it for you. See?"

ANN didn't exactly see. Tony didn't believe marriages could last. Perhaps not even theirs! The thought made her a little sick.

"Maybe ours will be different," Tony conceded as the silence grew.

Later, eating dinner in the pavilion, the first little rift in her happiness came. Ann became conscious of the girl seated at a table near by.

When the girl and her escort arose to leave the girl stopped behind Tony, placing a hand on his shoulder. "Surprised?" she drawled.

"Hello," said Tony. He introduced Ann to the girl—Eileen Wallace—and meant nothing to Ann. But she was amazed to feel a little surge of anger when Tony reached up to take the girl's hand and continued to hold it.

While Ann was talking to the girl's escort, she heard Eileen Wallace say in a low voice, "You promised to call. You didn't."

"Busy as the devil—all day," Tony answered.

"Yes, I know."

When they were gone Ann asked, "Who is she, Tony?"

"I thought I introduced you, Eileen Wallace."

Ann, nettled, said, "So you don't. But an introduction doesn't give one the picture."

"Oh, you want a character sketch," Tony said easily. "Well, then—'girl-about-town' nicely sums it up. Look here, Ann, you're not going jealous on me, are you? How I hate a jealous woman!"

"No," said Ann. "I promise I won't. That is, I won't show it. It's showing it that is so horrid. I'd never be a shrew."

TONY said, "You're a little philosopher, Ann." He reached over and caught her hand, gripping it hard. "We may row like the devil, but I'll always love you."

"No," said Ann. "Rows are out." They finished the celebration by dancing. What matter if they were part of a motley crowd? They were alone, Tony and Ann, clinging closely to each other, moving rhythmically, easily on the crowded floor.

Loving each other so, they couldn't ever really row, Ann told herself. Things, people, couldn't matter—people like Eileen with her predatory eyes.

At 12 o'clock Ann kicked off her pumps and slipped into her sheet-like gown.

"How you can keep up this pace," Sarah grumbled sleepily, as Ann crawled into bed, "I don't see."

"I won't much longer," Ann launched her bombshell, "I'm getting married."

"Ann, you're not!" Sarah was wide awake now. She reached for the bed lamp and flooded the room with a soft light. Ann's luminous eyes met hers.

"No need to ask who the lucky devil is. Are you sure? Tony's an awful risk."

"He's going to settle down. Wait and see."

"Oh, yeah! Well, when do I kiss the bridegroom?"

"Soon," Ann said vaguely, remembering Tony had said, "Soon."

SARAH, not too optimistically, waited for signs of Tony's "settling down." They were not forthcoming. Tony went blithely and gaily on his way.

Ann explained loyally that Tony had to have recreation. He was working himself to death over his new contract, trying hard to get ahead.

But September passed, October waned, November came and went and it was December. Still Ann wore no ring.

She told herself she must be sensible. How could the down payment ever be managed when Tony was so extravagant about flowers, dinners, and dancing?

Tonight, for instance, they were planning to dance at the Blue Jug. Hebie Wilson's orchestra was playing there and, no matter how extravagant, Tony would not miss his favorite.

"Lo," Sarah said, coming in and tossing her hat aside. "Well, wasn't this a day? I don't know when I've seen such a mob wanting books. Oh, Ann, I have a message for you! I met Tony and he asked me to tell you something important had come up and he couldn't make it tonight. Said he'd explain later."

"You mean he isn't coming?"

"That's what he said."

"Funny, he didn't phone."

"Goodness, you don't expect Tony to be conventional? Anyway, here's a break. Mac called this afternoon and asked me to secure a date for Dick Randall, a customer of his. Dick blew in with four tickets for Hebie Wilson and asked Mac to get him a date. I've been working my poor brain overtime. Is there any good reason why you shouldn't be Dick's date?"

"Tony wouldn't like it."

"Tony!"

"Well, I'll go," Ann said.

She put on her new sky-blue dress, powdered her lovely skin that was a pearl satin, now that the summer tan had worn off, and went—not too happily.

It was while Ann was dancing that she met the eyes of Peter Kendall. He saw her and grinned, and Ann lifted her hand in gay salute as she whirled past.

"There's Peter Kendall," Sarah said later.

"Is the girl with him Valeria Bennett?" Ann asked.

The girl in Peter's arms was dressed in white. Her eyes were blue, and large.

"Who else?" Dick answered. "The Bennett girl must be leading Kendall around with blinders on. She certainly has him fooled."

"Peter's the original one-woman man," Sarah explained. "While Valeria Bennett—" She stopped.

"Surely she should be satisfied with one of the great Kendalls," Ann's voice was puzzled.

"Did you ever know a woman to be satisfied?" Mac asked.

It was just as they were leaving that Ann heard Tony's laugh. Tony and his party were getting out of a car as Mac turned his car from the curb.

Ann had time to recognize the girl who was holding Tony's arm, smiling up at him. It was Eileen Wallace.

Says Budget Can Be Balanced

WASH., Nov. 28—The national budget can be balanced without tax on anyone and those who say otherwise, declared Col. E. A. Tamm, publisher of the Chicago News, in an address here before the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

Statement that you can't balance the budget and let men live on pure absolute demagoguery, is all the requirements of a man who has been in the White House in the last two years, Col. Knox said.

In a Thankful Spirit

The true observance of Thanksgiving Day does not manifest itself in the mere celebration of abundance.

That was not the spirit of the little band that first observed Thanksgiving Day. They had few worldly possessions. But their hearts were rich empires of courage, faith and hope. They did not give thanks for the small blessings of a single day; they were thankful for the possession of health, security, and the strength which they knew would enable them to go forward and conquer the hardships of a New World.

America today gives thanks in this old-time grateful, conquering, forward-looking spirit.

Negroes Make Plans For Hospital Drive

CLEVELAND, Nov. 26 —A plan for hospitalization of the Negro race in America is being launched here by the Rev. Amos H. Carnegie, New York, who proposes to raise $150,000,000 in the course of 20 years through private taxation of colored people.

The program would call for a hospital here to take care of Cleveland's 90,000 Negroes and offer facilities for training nurses, internes and promoting of social work. The Rev. Carnegie is highly pleased with his visit here in which he sounded out public sentiment on the plan among both whites and colored.

Under the plan, which will be launched nation wide next October, Ohio would get six hospitals, Columbus, Cincinnati and Cleveland having teaching units. Seven Ohio medical schools have indicated their willingness to cooperate.

Funds to launch the program are to be collected through the various colored churches at the rate of one per cent per week per person, in locked deposit boxes furnished by the banks holding the deposits. Hospitals are planned for every city in the United States having 10,000 or more Negroes.
