WILEY POST HOPS OFF FOR NEW YORK

EXPECTED TO ATTAIN SPEED OF 350 MILES

LOS ANGELES, March 15. — Three and one-half hours after his takeoff, associates of Wiley Post today believed him to be speeding through the sub-stratosphere halfway to New York. No reports of his progress were reported and his plane was not equipped with a sending set. The one-eyed Oklahoma flier, dressed in his grotesque stratosphere suit and piloting the craft in which he twice circled the globe, took off unexpectedly today from the union air terminal in Burbank, at 6:16 a. m. PST. His destination to which he hoped to fly at from 350 to 400 miles an hour was New York. To get his plane to a speed of 350 miles an hour or better, Post was depending chiefly on the thin air at 35,000 feet where he expected to ride a tailwind of 50 miles an hour and reduce air resistance by dropping off his landing gear.

DEVELOPMENT OF FEET PART OF EXERCISES

AUSTIN, March 15. — Sophisticated University of Texas misses are paying the price of high heels and pointed-toe slippers by going barefooted and picking up sand with their toes. Barefoot exercises are on every freshman physical training program. Adjunct Professor Leah Gregg said. Automobiles and elevators have limited the average co-ed's walking to a few steps a day, so foot-development is undertaken in the gymnasium. Three times each period the barefoot maiden "Indian walks" around the gymnasium—toes straight ahead and weight balanced on the outside of the feet. Then came special exercises: "Pretend you are on the seashore," orders the instructor, "and so scoop up sand with your toes. One-two-three, scoop! One - two - three, scoop." Alternate exercises are to pick up towels, pencils, marbles—anything loose around the room—with the toes. Certain girls of the university's 3,000 do walking for credit, using it in place of tennis dancing, or some other sport. Eight to ten miles per week they tread, 30 minutes per day, six days per week—in "sensible" low-heeled, square-toes shoes.

Davisson Files 2 Oil-Gas Measures

AUSTIN, March 15. — Two bills affecting oil and gas leases were filed in the house of representatives today by Rep. George A. Davisson, Jr., Eastland. One torrets oil or gas royalties if they are not tendered for taxation. The other prohibits an oil or gas lease for a term longer than five years.

Hartman, Dr. L. W. Kitchen, Miss Lena Roberts, Dr. Hartman's office girl and Ed Frazier, employe of Dr. Kitchen. All are from Post.

Only One Needed To Furnish Brawl

It may take two to have a fight, but only one combatant in an affair last night was found by police when they investigated the report of a local disturbance. The man arrested refused to tell the name of his opponent, unless he were released — but continued to moan over the pain his split lip and swollen eye caused. He was taken to a hospital this morning, where attendants said that he was not seriously injured. Police said charges of affray would be filed, and that they were still looking for "another man as skinned-up as he is."

It's a Big Bore to Topsy-Turvy Lad

All this poking and prodding is a big pain to Wallace Rosall, 6-year-old Glendale, Calif. lad shown here under X-ray examination, but what chance has he to skip out and play when he's such a fascinating subject for inquisitive doctors? Wallace always seemed a normal lad, but prying medicine found all this wrong with him: His heart is on the wrong side, he has only one lung, his intestines are in his chest and on his hip, and he has no alimentary canal. The case of diaphragmatic hernia is one of the strangest ever found.

School Officials List Improvements Made In System During Current Year

Cisco school officials today listed, under three different heads, improvements made in the school board and put into effect this year. The changes are listed as physical improvements, improvements in the course of study, and ways of raising the standards of the school. Following are the physical improvements, as listed: Purchase of window shades for the high school building, maps, charts, globes, and other teaching material for the ward schools, and a refrigerator for the home economics department. Filling in with dirt and beautifying grounds in the city. (The Garden club is doing the work of beautifying the grounds.) Repairing of the West Ward school. (Project is now under way.) The board's plan of contracting with outlying school districts now bearing fruit. Salaries paid more promptly than in several years, due to the efforts in coping with the financial problems. Cisco has the best adult education program in the state, according to a report by W. E. Marshall, district supervisor of adult education of the state department of education. The adult schools have 32 teachers and an enrollment of 688. The program, since its beginning, will have brought into Cisco by June approximately $25,000, or $4 per capita.

HOUSE GROUP TO PROBE ACT OF UTILITIES

WASHINGTON, March 15. — Investigation of charges by Rep. Alford Bulwinkle, d. N. C., that a "slush fund" was being collected to fight the Rayburn holding company bill was assured today. Chairman Sam Rayburn, of the house interstate commerce committee and author of the bill to eliminate utilities holding companies assured Bulwinkle today that the investigation would be made. Rayburn said he would summon as a witness Dr. Hugh Magill, president of the American Federation of Utilities Investors, which Rep. Bulwinkle said is collecting millions of dollars to fight the measure.

Notice has been given local officers in Texas that if they cannot handle local liquor and gambling situation, Texas rangers will.

U. S. Treasury Opens Drive On Underworld

WASHINGTON, March 15. — Arrests in the federal government's law enforcement drive reached 1,219 this afternoon, treasury officials reported.

WASHINGTON, March 15. — The treasury today sent its 12,000 law enforcement agents into federal crime rings in recent history. Underworld rings from coast to coast felt the hammer blows of the sweeping raids. It was estimated that the first day of the drive on criminal strongholds brought more than 400 arrests. More arrests were coming in nearly.

Progress was reported to Washington headquarters, where Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. personally watched the results. Treasury officials were deluged with telegrams from regional officials reporting arrests. Customs guards, coast guards, secret service agents, and narcotic investigators massed forces in the first day of a scheduled three-day drive against smugglers, counterfeiters, bootleggers, narcotic violators and racketeers.

Believe Counterfeit Ring Smashed. — Federal agents said today that they believed the arrest of three men here and two at Big Spring smashed a counterfeit ring which had flooded Fort Worth and nearby cities with spurious $5 bills. The agents seized 107 $5 bills from the three arrested here.

10,000 Driven From Homes By Flood Waters

FIVE NEGROES ARE DROWNED IN MUDDY SEA

Widening flood waters already lapping over 100,000 acres of the lower Mississippi valley, today drove 10,000 persons to emergency shelter in five states and menaced the homes of thousands of others. Four negroes were known to have drowned in the muddy sea centering around the boundary junction of Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas and Kentucky, and several other persons were missing. Danger of a flood comparable to that of 1927 when the Mississippi routed 100,000 from their homes was minimized by predictions of fair weather. In many localities, however, the flood crest will not arrive until tomorrow. Flood waters of the St. Francis broke through levees in three places at Kennett, Mo., today, inundating additional thousands of acres of evacuated farm lands. The break lessened the tension on other levees.

Rescued From Roofs. — Boatmen arrived every hour in Popular Bluff and Kennett from the St. Francis bottom lands with new loads of shivering and weeping men, women, and children who had been taken from roof tops of their homes. A survey made by the Red Cross, which already is furnishing relief to 3,000 families, showed 6,000 persons had been driven from their homes last night. Residences of 7,000 others were threatened. Conditions improved slightly in Kentucky, southern Illinois, Mississippi, and the upper reaches of the Ohio. Highways, near many tributaries were impassable, and railroads reported frequent washouts between Cincinnati and Cairo, but the danger of a major flood of the main stream was believed past. Cold weather which halted the melting of snows brought relief to the Jackson, Miss., area.

Attempted Kidnap Charge Is Filed. — LONGVIEW, March 15. — E. L. Cooper, Longview chiropractor, was held in jail today charged with attempting to kidnap a 12-year-old high school girl. Cooper went to the school and tried to obtain leave for the girl, but when she saw him, she cried out and refused to go with him. When questioned today, she said Cooper was the same man who tried to accompany her last Wednesday night.

Saturday Final Day On Corn-Hog Signup

Saturday is the last day for signing corn-hog contracts in this county, according to an announcement from C. Metz Heald, county agent. Corn and hog producers who wish to make contracts will have their last opportunity to do so on that date. If the 1932-33 average corn acreage on the place being farmed this year was less than 10, and hogs were raised for market in 1932-33, a hog contract may be made without interest, it was pointed out. If closing hogs were raised for market in 1932-33 and there is a corn base on the place being farmed this year, a corn contract may be made without including hogs.

ALLRED WINS CHAIN STORE TAX BATTLE

AUSTIN, March 15. — Gov. James Allred was the winner today in a skirmish with a hostile house taxation committee when the house voted to print a chain store tax bill that the committee had condemned by an 8 to 3 vote. House vote to keep the measure alive was 81 to 33, in favor.

The bill was described as the one which met the governor's. Opponents described it as "almost a sales tax against which the governor is no record." The bill provides a sliding scale for taxing chain stores. Another chain store tax bill graduating the tax on number of stores has been favorably reported by the house.

WOMAN GIVEN 20 YEARS FOR THREE CASES

HAIRD, March 14. — Mary Lou Howell of Cisco was found guilty Thursday of a charge of robbery with firearms and was sentenced to 20 years in the state penitentiary. The charge was in connection with the fatal shooting and robbery of L. P. Threet, Cisco rancher, last August 15, on the stockman's ranch five miles east of Putnam. Two others likewise were charged in the robbery and shooting, one of whom is now under a death sentence. The jury was out only three hours and 40 minutes, after receiving the jurge's charge at noon. The defense immediately announced that it would appeal the case. The woman was ordered held in jail. During the course of the trial the state introduced 19 witnesses to show that Mrs. Howell had a part in the crime. The defense had only two witnesses. MENEAL TO PREACH. — Rev. E. P. Olson, and Mrs. Charles Brown. Clerks will be Mrs. C. Jones, Mrs. G. B. Kelly, and E. C. Hee. There are five candidates for the positions on the board. They are Mrs. N. A. Brown and Mrs. P. Warwick, and three men seeking election, Dr. F. E. Clark, J. E. Spencer, and F. D. Wright. In the past the school board has been using only three persons in order to offset expenses.

Today Is Deadline For Tax Payments

The school board office may burn the midnight oil tonight, until 9 o'clock anyway. Take it from Secretary W. F. Walker. This is the last day to pay school taxes without penalty of interest charges, he said, and he will be in the office as long as taxpayers will come in. Under a recent ruling, all delinquent taxes prior to 1934 were allowed to be paid without interest or penalty through March 15. "This is positively the last day. Tomorrow will be too late," said Secretary Walker.

A Crash of Cotton in Marts of World

Cotton, the dethroned king of the southern states, has its enemies everywhere in the Orient as well as the Occident. Their demand is cheap cotton from the patches of the South and the Southwest and on and on to the Pacific coast. A $4.50 a bale crash wiped out $136,000,000 off the value of America's leading export commodity in the space of two hours in the New Orleans as well of the world markets. It was the wildest session of the New Orleans cotton exchange since 1929—the year that the panic ushered in. Net loss for the day was $5.30 a bale or $886,123,900 in value. According to the cables and the wires from the home market the federal government was a heavy loser. It controls more than 8,000,000 bales, including 4,110,538 bales on which it has loaned farmers as much as 12 1-2 cents a pound. Get these figures: The value of spot cotton middling was $11.28 cents a pound at the close of the New Orleans riot. The loss was 106 points for the day and all this is said to have been caused by an error in the transmission of news from Washington and to the cotton exchanges in the nations of Europe and the Orient. Incidentally, those who are responsible for the raid insinuated that the crash was caused by a rumor that the Bankhead crop control act had been so amended that government crop loans would be discontinued for the season of 1935. There were huge losses to private individuals. Hundreds of those who gamble in the fleecy staple were wiped out. They may come again but they received a scorching time.

It has been said that Texas is at the crossroads. It is in more ways than one. There are free traders in Texas who demand that the tariff walls shall be demolished. There are those who would enact in their stead farmer tariff protection for those who are engaged in the production and marketing of cotton. Now the planting season is on. Now the Bankhead law with its amendments for the two or three bale growers will be enforced until the close of 1935. It would be well for the cotton producer to ask himself "where may I go from here?"

Two Kinds of Cooperation

The farmer has learned that there are two kinds of cooperative effort. One kind obtains cooperation through governmental fiat—through a process of regimentation, whereby the farmer's actions are dictated by a bureau in Washington.

The other kind is obtained through the work of the farmer himself—when he and his fellows join and support a farmer-controlled cooperative organization.

The first kind of cooperation may be necessary in a temporary national emergency, but if it is continued indefinitely the American farmer will undergo drastic and unhappy change. Once a free man, he will become a serf. Once an independent entity, thinking and working to advance his own interests, he will be at the mercy of politicians. Money made at the expense of freedom and independence could avail him little.

The second kind of cooperation does not destroy independence—it builds it. It makes for individualism and development of character. Farmers who band together in cooperative organizations to fight their battles and thrash out the issues affecting them, are hardly likely to become peasants, under the thumb of bureaucracy.

Which kind of cooperation does the average American farmer want?

European and Asiatic Aggression

Americans who wish to understand the Italy-Abyssinian imbroglio—which is of international importance inasmuch as it is complicating the already chaotic European situation—would do well to think of it in the light of the Japan-China issue.

Like China, Abyssinia is an independent power—and like China, it is a hundred years behind the times. Italy, like Japan, is an up-to-date nation which needs new territory. China possesses a wealth of mineral resources, which Japan wants—and Abyssinia possesses a wealth of gold which Italy wants.

If Italy and Abyssinia fight, it seems inevitable that the latter will lose. Victorious Italy would then establish an Abyssinian protectorate—and reap the rich rewards.

New Taxation Unwelcome in Oregon

Oregon has a governor, General Martin, retired army officer with a long and honorable record, who set his foot down and told the legislature that he didn't want any new tax laws or increases in old ones.

No better psychological influence could be offered the people of any state to show that a state can perform its essential functions and meet its essential obligations today, without imposing further tax burdens on an already over-taxed people.

More power to public officials like General Martin!

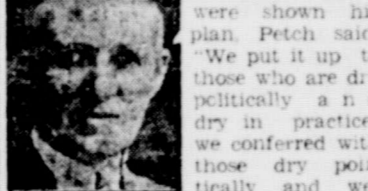

The Wonderful One-Horse Shay

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, March 14—Rep. Alfred Fitch of Fredericksburg insists that his compromise plan for submission of prohibition repeal is neither "dry" or "wet." He proposes private sale of fermented and a state monopoly of distilled liquors. Much good home made wine is to be found in his German-settled district. All sides were shown his plan. Fitch said: "We put it up to you who are dry politically and dry in practice; we conferred with those dry politically and wet in practice; we consulted wets who do not drink and those wet politically and personally. It will win repeal votes from all."

Sen. Tom DeBerry of Bogata, Red River county, has defined the distinction between the "common people" and the "Spivins Boys" to whom he frequently refers in senate debate. The "common people" are the class about whom politicians orate. DeBerry explained: "But the 'Spivins Boys' are the lads back home, close to the legislator, who really hold him to account."

The Rev. Jasper N. Reed of Texarkana, minister-member of the house, was one of a small group that voted "no" on the state's latest $3,500,000 relief bonds. Then he asked that his vote be changed to "aye."

A vote can be changed, after announcement of the result, only by unanimous consent. Some members withheld consent until Reed promised he would not ask reconsideration of the vote. Only members shown voting side can do that.

He explained that his opposition is not to the charitable purpose of the measure. He objected to the senate's treatment of it. Senators had struck out a house provision that made 25 per cent available for work-relief. Reed insisted that should remain. "It's still in the air," he said, "if congress will carry out the president's plan to have the federal government care for all employables."

A membership on the senate finance committee or the house appropriations committee is a highly cherished legislative assignment. These committees get many pleasant trips during a session. They are invited by entertaining communities to visit the places where state institutions or schools are situated and see for themselves the need for appropriations. One or the other already have visited Galveston, Denton and Brownsville this session.

The senate committee, usually a freer spender than the house, has reversed things this session. The house appropriation bill for eleemosynary institutions, reported this week, is much more liberal than that of the senate finance committee. The house committee boosted the last biennial appropriations nearly 30 per cent to a total of more than $10,300,000. The total of the senate committee bill was $9,945,924. Appropriations for the last two years were a trifle more than $8,000,000.

The house committee ok'ed a wing for the psychopathic hospital at Galveston to cost $120,000, which Senators omitted. The senate favored $171,000 building and improvement expenditures at the Wichita Falls State Hospital and the House allowed -147,500 there. Both committee recommendations were about the same for building purposes at Abilene, Terrell, Carlsbad and San Antonio hospitals.

At Rusk, the house favored a $54,000 building for living quarters, the senate a $50,000 building for tuberculosis and $47,000 for employee housing. The chief increase in the house was on the amounts for supplies and maintenance. The senate held them approximately to figures in the state board of control's budget.

Governors of most states will visit Texas in the centennial year, 1936. Governor Allred has been assured. Many acceptances have come to his embellished invitation sent to other governors. Italy is the first foreign country to evince interest. Ambassador Augusto Rosso, from the land of Garibaldi, informed Governor Allred that he will call the Texas Centennial to the attention of his government and that, personally, he will visit the proposed exposition.

One question has been asked Governor Allred at nearly every newspaper conference he has held since taking office. Daily some correspondent has inquired: "How about a highway commissioner?" They arranged turns at asking the question. Finally, Governor Allred took over the assignment himself. "I'll ask myself every day," he said, "and I'll tell you when the answer is ready."

OUT OUR WAY

Texas Topics

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, March 15.—Extension of the policy of the state's taking over and paying off local bonds voted for road construction will be fought out in the Texas house of representatives, under a bill by Rep. Beck and others, favorably reported by state affairs committee.

This bill would cause the state to assume and pay $225,000,000 of county and district bonds voted for lateral road championships.

The state now diverts one cent of its four-cent gasoline tax to pay off about $770,000,000 county and district bonds voted for work on roads now a part of the state designated highway system. The Beck bill, if the gasoline tax is increased, would raise the annual amount of about $8,000,000 to double that amount. It would be designed to lessen and valorem levies on farms and real property.

The Brooks law, now assuming the bonds for actual highways, and the Beck bill to extend the policy to lateral road bonds, represent two steps along the way to the final goal of former Rep. John T. Smith's plan, as adopted by the senate tax committee, which would be for the state take over all outstanding local bonds of every governmental sub-division, including cities. The Beck bill restricted payments to the gasoline tax on the theory that car users should pay for the roads, while the senate committee plan would have imposed a universal sales tax for the purpose.

The Beck bill was given support of nearly every member of the house committee which heard it. It has the organized support of the county judges of Texas, and largely the county officials. It has the theoretical support of farm-owners and real property owners, though these same citizens would be supporting the return of the taxes upon themselves in another form.

The Alsup bill to raise the gasoline tax to 5 cents a gallon, favorably reported by revenue and taxation, is the basis for the Beck bill to provide for spending the additional money.

Every citizen should boost the home city. Every city needs boosting. There is only one time to act and that is right now! To drink deep from the cup of victory, every citizen must boost and boost hard.

If you boost together as hard as you should, your city will forge ahead and your citizens will have a feeling of intense joy, pride and exultation. Often opportunities go with extreme suddenness. If you have not been a live one, you now have a chance to be a home city booster. If you are a business man, join your Chamber of Commerce, advertise your business in this newspaper, become a live, wide-awake citizen. Don't let the opportunity get by. Grasp it now! Get right with the progressive spirit of your city and stay right!

Sends Five Dollars With Postal Card

HOUSTON, March 15.—If one was trying to find out if a post office is honest, here is an answer—it is.
A postal clerk was surprised to find a postal card in the mail, a five dollar bill attached. The card was addressed to a church. A supervisor took the card, the five dollars to Postmaster fifth, who called the church.
"We can deliver the card, right, he said, 'but someone see the five dollars and take it off the mail box."
The church sent a message after the money.

LIST on Citizen saves City Money

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 15.—An unknown citizen saved Oklahoma City $4,000,000, the most useful citizen award annually may go to the unknown person who with a scrawled note on the city its most valued title to the civic center—title to the civic center.

Years ago city lawyers usually questioned the validity of the title to the strip of land which extends through the Oklahoma City and which years prior to 1930 was the railroad's right of way.

Leaves Note

Unknown citizen "one morning a scrawled note under the name of Malcolm MacKenzie, city attorney, which gave the name of how the railroad was the land by the federal government.

City never saw the visitor until it was brought to Washington, involving Indian treaty, government and a law to benefit the city of Seattle, the opening of the country.

The note resulted in a find-out which the city finally secured for title to the land.

Dates Back to 1888

1888 congress gave the railroad right of way, but before the railroad was built, the railroad had staked claims to the land when it was opened for settlement.

1922 congress passed an act that when a right of way was opened the title shall revert to the municipality. The "unknown citizen" furnished the clue on which the city won.

THE NEW FANGLES (Mom'n Pop)

By COWAN. Austria Is Helped By Tourist Trade

VIENNA, March 15.—Austria is experiencing the best tourist season since the war.

Winter resorts report flourishing business. Rooms in hotels and pensions are at premiums. Many foreign visitors are forced to sleep in peasants' homes.

Official reports show December's tourist traffic was 37.2 per cent better than the year before, and many times better than previous years.

The Prince of Wales, who stayed at Kitzbuehel, Miss Isabel MacDonald, who stayed at Ober-Gurgl (where Professor Piccard landed), and Miss Josephine Laval, who stayed at Zurich, did their bit to make Austria more popular as a winter resort.

The number of British who visited Austria this winter increased 76 per cent over the previous year. The French came a close second with a 66.9 per cent increase. Dutch, Rumanians, Hungarians and Italians came in increasing numbers.

Americans, Poles and Yugoslavians, however, were less than in previous years.

In some resorts a visitor could hear as many as ten languages being spoken in the same hotel.

Government officials are pleased over the tourist season because it takes Austria a long way toward balancing her unfavorable trade budget.

The government is offering attractive railroad reductions to foreign visitors and is forcing the hotel keepers to keep their prices down.

Dog Guards Stabbed Master in Hospital

CLEVELAND, March 15.—Blood oozed from Clement Seigal's four stab wounds, but each time doctors at the hospital where he was taken tried to move him into the accident room, Brownie, his dog warned them away with bared fangs.

The dog had ridden with his master from his rooming house where Seigal was stabbed with an ice pick in the chest, side, back and abdomen.

The pet followed the stretcher into the basement room, where emergency cases are taken, and set up watch over the body, refusing to permit anyone to move it.

Finally, it was necessary to remove Seigal's clothes. The doctors dragged the clothes down the corridor and the dog followed his master's scent. Quickly then they rolled the seriously wounded man into the emergency room, called the dog catcher and had the animal taken away.

The DARK BLOND

A man's voice said, "Just a minute!" and a hand touched Millicent's shoulder.

MILlicent Graves awoke her eyes, GEORGE DRIMGOLD, a man and, instead, in a room, that later he began her to say, he has something important to dictate—a confession of 100 years he has protected a secret.

Millicent goes out to dinner, while he returns. Drimgold asks her to watch for a woman in a black ermine coat. Millicent sees a woman in the tea room. Later Millicent discovers the woman has taken her purse, and she is exactly like it. In the elevator she sees a distinguished-looking man of middle age.

One in the tea room knows the woman in black ermine is Millicent's purse. Millicent goes back to Drimgold's office, finds him dead. Her attention is attracted to the window and sees a policeman entering the building.

W GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER II

MILlicent realized her predicament. The assistant janitor had seen Drimgold's body and notified the police. Within a few minutes the machinery of the law would have started to function. Someone had murdered Drimgold. That someone must have deliberately stolen Millicent's purse, a carefully prepared duplicate in order to prevent Millicent from detecting the substitution. The person must have used Millicent's keys to open the door of the office. Drimgold, in a desperate struggle for life, must have reached at the purse the murderer carrying and dumped its contents over the office.

And, unreasoning panic seized the girl as she realized her predicament. She turned away from the window, rushed past the thing which lay on the floor, ran to the office and paused as she caught sight of the shorthand notebook which lay on her desk. This was the notebook in which she had written down in shorthand the first installment of Drimgold's confession. Hardly realizing what she was doing, she snatched it up, clamped it under her arm and raced for the elevator.

The elevator bell was ringing insistently.

There was only one elevator running in the building. Millicent ran to the elevator to the upper floor. She knew that the assistant janitor and the police officer were waiting the bell, trying to get the elevator back down to the ground floor. She entered the cage, closed the doors, waited.

After a few moments the bell was ringing and Millicent felt that the assistant janitor and the officer either started up the long flight of 17 flights of stairs or else went to the basement to put the elevator in commission.

She pushed the control lever and the cage slid smoothly down. She tried to stop at the ground floor, but it was only after several attempts that she was able to bring the cage to a position from which she could open the doors. She stepped across the lobby and out the wind-swept darkness. There was a subway entrance at the corner and she ran toward it, wind whipping her clothes about her.

It was not until after she had entered the subway train that she fully realized her predicament. She had fled from the scene of the murder. She dared not go home. She wanted only to get away from everything and everyone. Drimgold was dead. Her job had automatically terminated. She was without a cent, save for the money which she had hidden in the purse that had been substituted for hers.

Millicent left the subway at the street station. A cheap hotel displayed an electric sign. She re-

Tomorrows Menu
BREAKFAST: Stewed dried apricots, cereal, cream, bread crumbs, pancakes, maple syrup, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON: Parsnip and tomato ring, bran muffins, floating island, milk, tea.
DINNER: Celery soup, toasted crackers, broiled fish steaks, shoe-string potatoes, creamed carrots, tossed lettuce with French dressing, rhubarb cobbler, milk, coffee.

Rhubarb Good in Desserts
Frozen dishes, hot or cold puddings and gelatine dishes are delicious made with rhubarb, while well-sweetened rhubarb sauce is good with plain rice and corn-starch puddings.
For rhubarb shortcake, make an old-fashioned shortcake with baking powder biscuit dough. After baking, split, butter and fill with sweetened rhubarb sauce. Serve with plain or whipped cream.
Rhubarb Betty is made like brown Betty, only with rhubarb instead of apples.
For rhubarb tapioca pudding the fruit is cooked in tapioca and water, with sugar added when fruit is tender, or the tapioca may be cooked separately and poured over rhubarb arranged in a buttered baking dish and the whole baked thirty minutes in a moderate oven. Serve with sugar and cream or with a custard sauce.

The first rhubarb usually has tender skin and it well washed need not be peeled. As the season advances the skin grows tough and stringy and should be removed.
Rhubarb cobbler is one of our favorite desserts to finish off with a fish dinner.
Rhubarb Cobbler
One pound rhubarb, 1 cup flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 egg, 2 to 4 tablespoons milk.
Wash rhubarb and peel if necessary. Cut in inch lengths and put into a buttered baking dish. Add one or 2 tablespoons water. Mix and sift flour, salt, sugar and baking powder. Beat egg until light and add with milk and melted butter to dry ingredients. Spread over rhubarb and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for twenty-five minutes, reducing heat the last ten minutes. Serve with sugar or slightly sweetened

More Poultry, Pigeons, Rabbits Entered In Stock Show This Year Than Before

PORT WORTH, March 15 — Poultry, pigeon and rabbit entries in the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, March 16 to 24, exceed former years, E. J. Hoesy, superintendent, declared when entries to the type of judges selected for this section of the exposition.
Poultry, including turkeys and water fowls will be judged by E. C. Branch, Lees Summit, Mo. He is chairman of the American Poultry association's judging committee and is regarded as one of the most expert authorities on poultry in the United States, Hoesy added.

Pigeons will be judged by J. J. Keifer, Louisville, Ky. Keifer has been judging pigeons in all parts of the United States for years and is recognized as the ablest judge of pigeons in the country, according to Hoesy.
In the rabbit department, the judging will be done by Lewis S. J. Griffin, Colorado Springs, Colo. Griffin organized the oldest rabbit organization in the United States and is nationally known among the breeders of fine rabbits. He is coming here from California where he

MORE NEWS IS DISPLAYED IN SOVIET PAPER

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD
United Press Staff Correspondent
MOSCOW, March 15 — One never sees in the Soviet Press lurid headlines such as "BROKER AND CHORUS GIRL SHOT IN LOVE NEST." In the first place there are no brokers. Secondly, Soviet papers would not print such a story.
But, for the first time in many years, Moscow papers have started carrying some stories of accidents, burglaries and other forms of "police news" which previously have been absent. Such items, however, are not displayed under streamer headlines but are inconspicuously lumped together under the general heading of "Events."
Crimes of Passion
No "crimes of passion" are chronicled, and, as might be expected, the Moscow papers give preference to stories into which some political significance may be read. Thus looking over "Pravda's" column of "Events" one finds these items:
1. Several Soviet workers have been arrested for "hoiiganism" — a broad term which may mean anything from drunken singing to smashing a store window.
2. A man has been arrested for forging a government bond and will be dealt with severely. Thus other incipient counterfeits are warned.
Thieves Warned
3. A gang of thieves have been arrested for stealing 100 kilograms of butter. Theft of state property may be punished by shooting.
4. A man has been put in jail for attempting to obtain a job by means of forged passport. So the public is warned not to forge passports.
Despite the heavy political coating applied to these yarns, however, they are welcomed by a reading public which for years has been fed almost entirely on a diet of political essays, confessions or saboteurs, economic statistics and occasional railroad wrecks.

Napoleon's Sneer At British True

LONDON, March 15 — Napoleon's declaration that the British are a nation of shopkeepers is substantiated by the latest statistics, which show that there are one million stores in Great Britain or one store to every 44 persons.
This estimate is given by the National Amalgamated Union of Shop Assistants which is advocating the registration and licensing of new stores in an effort to stabilize employment in the trade.
According to the statistics 996,080 persons were employed in the distributive trades in 1922, and by 1933 the total in employment reached 1,992,000. During the same period unemployment showed a marked increase from 75,941 to 2,223,847. The continual opening of new stores is blamed for this increase in unemployment. Similarly the increase in bankruptcies, which during the past three years have exceeded 10,000 involving liabilities of $75,000,000, are to a certain extent attributed to the same cause.
It is estimated that the retail trade of Great Britain amounts to $11,805,000,000 of which only 30 per cent is accounted for by the combines and multiple concerns. Thus the bulk of the trading is handled by small shops which employ 65 per cent of the labor.

ANSWERING THE ETERNAL QUESTION "What to Serve?"

IMPROVEMENT IS SEEN IN CATTLE AND RANGES DURING LAST MONTH

AUSTIN, March 15 — Texas cattle ranges were reported at 53 per cent of normal on March 1, an improvement of 6 points during the month of agricultural economy. This compares with 69 per cent a year ago and 79.2 per cent of the 10-year average on which 1 usually cattle ranges improve about 1 point during February, however, the better than average improvement this year does not mean much when the low condition is considered.

Sheep Range Better
Sheep range condition improved during February, being rated at 55 per cent of normal on March 1. This compares with 64 per cent a year ago and 79.2 per cent of the 10-year average on March 1.

Goats Improve
Sheep condition is reported at 68 per cent of normal compared with 62 per cent a month ago, 71 per cent a year ago, and 82.1 per cent of the 10-year average on March 1. Sheep, generally, remain thin, and ranchers are hoping for warmer weather to bring out weeds and grass quickly so that stock can begin recuperating. Government purchases and supplemental feeding prevented losses from being excessive. Prospects for an early lamb crop are very poor. Reports indicate that the crop is not more than 50 per cent of the very small crop of last year, and that the condition of ewes has not enabled those on the ground to make normal growth.

SHADY GROVE

The Word home demonstration club met last Thursday with Mrs. Frank Ziehr. Miss Ramey met with the club and gave a discussion on materials used, and improvements of beds.

One of the essentials of a good bed, Miss Ramey said, "Is to provide a slat for each row of coils in the springs. This not only makes the bed more comfortable but also supports the springs and makes them last longer. Then a protector to keep the dirt out of the springs, and to protect the mattress is desirable. This can be an old quilt or comfort if we have to economize on our bedroom furnishings. Next, is a good mattress and mattress protector, then a mattress pad."

COLUMBUS Before the WISE MEN of SPAIN
HAD it not been for his persistence, Columbus would never have entered on his voyage that led to the discovery of America. For five years he appeared at intervals before a court of Spain's picked wise men—clergy, scientists, mariners—pleading his case, yet the court advised Queen Isabella that Columbus' plans were impractical. Later, as he left for France, Isabella recalled him and gave him funds for his voyage.

This five-year inquiry, held often at Salamanca, is pictured on the one penny of 1899 and the one-half centavo of 1906, issued by the Dominican Republic in its drive for funds to build a mausoleum for Columbus' remains.

300 Bunnies Killed In Farmers' Drive

EAN SABA, March 15 — Three hundred rabbits were killed near here in a drive recently. A hundred citizens engaged in the hunt, which was in the northwest section of the county.

Previous drives have netted 500 jacks, bringing the total for the past few days to 800 dead jack-rabbits. No record is kept of the cottontails, although a large number of them were killed. The drives were inaugurated because farmers complained that rabbits would ruin their crops this year unless something was done.

Dramatic entries this year total 483, almost a third more than last year. Director Morton Brown reported. County, district and regional eliminations will reduce the field to eight one-act play casts which will compete for state championship here in May.

Only Austrian Emperor Is Absent When Viennese Aristocrats Dance in Rathaus

By STEWART BROWN

VIENNA, March 15 - Only an Emperor of Austria was missing the other night when the City of Vienna for the first time in 21 years, danced in the Rathaus (City Hall).

For this one night the city authorities almost succeeded in turning the clock back 21 years to the time when Vienna danced merrily in imperial splendor and glory.

But the aristocrats danced with heavy hearts. The Emperor and his court was not there and the Great Ball to them was a mockery.

To try to capture the old prewar atmosphere of gaiety, the city authorities, who forcibly ousted the Socialist regime in February of last year, had a break with a Socialist tradition of 17 years which held there should be no dancing in the Rathaus.

Like Other Days

Then the Ball began. The series of great rooms in the Rathaus came swirling masses of dancing couples who for one night felt that Vienna had returned to the beloved splendors of pre-war.

Seven orchestras kept most of the 4,000 guests dancing until five o'clock in the morning. The last guests left at 7:30 a. m. and the great Rathaus, one of the most impressive buildings of Vienna, was closed for a thorough cleaning.

Some of the late departing guests when they emerged into the morning sunshine, were surprised to find that the government had discreetly guarded their merriment with machine-guns concealed at strategic points around the city hall.

Hundreds of policemen and special plain clothes officers guarded the building throughout the night as a precautionary measure against a Socialist attack.

The dance was advertised for the benefit of the government's "Winter Help Fund," but it is believed there were little if any profits. Indirectly, however, many Viennese trades people, benefited from the affair.

Greenhorn Wants Longhorns' Horns

RUSK, March 15 - H. L. West of Tony, Wisconsin, who wrote Cherokee county officials that he wanted some horns from longhorns steers "in the rough," is just out of luck.

Since there never were any longhorns in Cherokee county so far as officials know, they referred the inquiry to the University of Texas for reply.
