ESCAPED CONVICT SHOT BY OFFICERS

ONLY TIPTON IS LEFT FROM PRISON BREAK

CROCKETT, May 13 — Sam Grant, 49, one of four convicts who escaped from Eastham prison farm Friday, was killed today by members of a posse in the Trinity river bottom.

No trace of R. C. Tipton, 34, the convict remaining at liberty, was found.

Grant stopped to talk to a fisherman seven miles southeast of Eastham. This was reported and he was trailed by bloodhounds.

Capt. Ben Monzingo, who received the report and headed a quickly organized posse of prison guards, said Grant was dressed in civilian clothing and heavily armed.

The dogs were set on the trail and soon the posse discovered Grant hiding in a thicket. The convict fell dead from many bullet wounds after a spirited battle. The report said none of the possemen was wounded.

Capt. Monzingo said it was Grant who fired the shotgun charge which killed Vigil Welch, veteran guard, when four men made the break Friday.

A group of sheriff's officers searched for Tipton, believed to be hiding in the area. He also is armed heavily with guns secured in the break.

Grant's death was the first since the break. Jack Pedy, the ringleader was slain when he refused to surrender when the posse trailed him down.

Bonus Telegrams Litter Roosevelt's Desk

MOST ASKING SIGNATURE OF PATMAN BILL

WASHINGTON, May 13. — 25,000 telegrams, mostly imploring President Roosevelt to sign the Patman bonus bill, piled up at the White House today.

Mr. Roosevelt, back from conference with his congressional leaders in the seclusion of a fishing camp, appeared to be unworried in his determination to veto the $2,300,000,000 inflationary measure.

In addition to the telegrams, 3,000 letters on the bonus were received at the White House.

It was said the communications averaged about eight to one in favor of the Patman bill.

Aside from the stacks of telegrams sent the White House, it was estimated senators had received upwards of 100,000 since Father Charles Coughlin started a drive a week ago to bring pressure on congress to override a veto. The message appeared to be having little effect.

Service — White House Style

Attending the benefit garden party and fashion show at Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C., as a guest, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was drafted to help serve ice cream and cake to the disabled veterans who attended in wheel chairs. She is shown passing out refreshments to Clay Caskey, a South Carolinian.

ALLRED SIGNS TWO BILLS TO CONTROL OIL

AUSTIN, May 13. — Governor James Allred's signature today put into effect two acts of the last Texas legislature to stop hot oil production and marketing.

One act increases the tax to provide oil field enforcement staff for the railroad commission, the attorney general, and the labor department. It raises a former tax of one-eighth of a cent of a barrel to three-sixteenths of a cent.

The other act was first designed to stop movement by trucks of hot oil products. To it provision for catching and confiscating was added a section that confiscates an estimated 3,000,000 barrels of hot oil already above the surface of the ground.

Hot oil and products include all oil and all products manufactured from oil that was produced in excess of railroad commission allowances or in violation of railroad commission regulations.

Kingfish Defies New Deal Attack

WASHINGTON, May 13. — Senator Huey Long today defied his senate enemies to turn debate on his resolution to investigate Postmaster General James A. Farley into an attack on himself.

He declared he would answer charge for charge and challenge for challenge.

Long issued the challenge as he launched a new anti-administration attack at the start of the Farley debate. He said he understood administration spokesmen were going to attack him. "But when they read the record on me I'm going to read the record on the man that's making the report," he shouted.

Players Seeking Something To Do As Marble Machines Are Taken Out

Persons inclined to loaf and perhaps wager a nickel or so on their ability, or the ability of others, to plug a hole in a board with a marble were at a loss today for something to do.

Marble and slot machines and other "gaming devices" were removed from operation today, following orders from the Cisco police department. The owners and operators of such machines were warned last week that, beginning this morning, all gambling devices must be out of operation. "The machines and people operating them will both be brought to the city hall."

Police announced today that the machines had been cleared out and that there had not been a single one reported still in operation.

Following a controversy over what constituted an illegal machine, police defined it as "any for which there is a payoff in cash, merchandise, or free shots, either by the house or by the machine itself."

They included also any machine which is operated for the purpose of laying wagers on the result of play by the gamblers or gamblers.

Houses where the machines had been operating were noticeably bare of the devices today, along with the customary clusters of players.

Filling Station Operator Is Slain

HILL CITY, Tex., May 13. — Police and a sheriff's posse today were seeking two men who last night fatally wounded Thomas Holmes, 19, filling station operator, in a robbery here.

Holmes died in a Fort Worth hospital early today. He had been shot through the stomach with a pistol and in the leg with a shotgun. The robbers got $20.

The shooting took place after Holmes was awakened by a man who said he wanted a gallon of gasoline. As he walked out to the pump, the man drew a gun, pushed it into Holmes' stomach. He grappled with his assailant, who pulled the trigger. The bullet raged down into the hip. The second man then stepped up and fired a charge from his shotgun. The two then took the $20 and fled.

5 and 10 Princess Granted Divorce

RENO, May 13 — Princess Barbara Hutton Mdivini today discarded Alexis Mdivini, youngest of the marrying princess, in a short secret divorce hearing, and prepared immediately to marry Count Kurt Haugwitz-Revontlow of Denmark.

Judge Thomas Moran granted the divorce today. He said Mdivini was "mentally cruel" to her. This impaired her health, she said. Mdivini did not contest the action, it was said.

The princess drove from the home of her attorney, where she had been staying, to the courtroom, returning immediately after the action to her fiancé.

Big Con Man Taken In New York City

WASHINGTON, May 13. — The United States secret service today revealed the arrest in New York of Victor Lustig, described by officials as "one of the world's best confidence men and a counterfeiter."

Joseph Murphy, assistant secret service chief, said Lustig was wanted in 15 or 20 cities. He was arrested on a New York street Friday night. In the Times Square bus station were found bags alleged to belong to Lustig, containing $50,000 in counterfeit money and counterfeit stamps.

Lustig has been arrested at least 38 times and was being hunted by Texas, San Francisco, St. Louis, Chicago, and other cities at the time of his capture.

CISCO BOY IS SEEKING M. J. THIS SPRING

Charles Richard West of Cisco, a candidate for the master of journalism at the University of Texas, is presenting as his thesis this spring "Fair Comment and Criticism, A Defense in Label Cases," it has been announced.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. West of Cisco, West is seeking his second degree, having taken the bachelor of journalism degree at Texas last spring. He was nominated by the University of Texas as one of its four candidates for the Rhodes scholarship.

West's paper, 175 typewritten pages long, has nine chapters and an appendix. The hours of actual work spent on writing the thesis alone, without counting the hours spent reading the cases, are over 880 a little more than a month.

In this time he used three typewriter ribbons and had to have his typewriter repaired once. West read over 400,000 words in his research. Fifty cases in law from more than 200 read are incorporated in his thesis.

Funeral Held For Mother of Pastor

Funeral services were held this morning for Mrs. Turner, mother of Rev. Frank Turner, at 10 o'clock at the Central Methodist church. Brownwood, Mrs. Turner died Sunday at 11 p. m. after a short illness.

Among those from Cisco who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Curry, Mrs. W. E. Ricks, Mesdames John Brown, C. C. Clark, Ed Huestis, Joe Wilson, J. P. Parish, H. G. Bailey, Dawkins, R. W. Merket, B. E. Morehart, Neil Lane, W. G. Powell, J. W. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. H. Nance and Miss Rachel Clarkson.

Police Chief Kills Wolf on Breck Road

Police Chief M. L. Perdue today was as happy as a janitor with a new broom.

Returning from Breckenridge today, he brought in a wolf killed on the way. III had bullet holes in it," said Desk Sergeant Henry Stubblefield. "But we accused him of finding the wolf dead and then shooting it."

"He's going to chop off the ears and turn them into the county for the reward," the desk sergeant said.

WEIGH BOARDS MERGER

CINCINNATI — Mergers of the boards of Christian education and national missions of the Presbyterian church will be proposed at the annual general assembly of the church here, beginning May 23.

COOLING SYSTEM INSTALLATION HALTED AS APPARATUS STOLEN

Employees of the First National bank were due to fret and fume and talk about the weather if the sun beams down very hard for the next few days.

Installation of a cooling system in the bank building was halted today where it was discovered that someone had stolen the compressor pump from the apparatus sometime last night, together with fittings.

Abyssinia Charges 'Hostile Intention'

GENEVA, May 13. — Abyssinia informed the League of Nations today that Italy's military preparation "leave no room for doubt as to the hostile intentions of the royal Italian government."

The League recently received information increasing seriousness of warlike developments in the dispute between Italy and the African empire. A boundary dispute aggravated by several frontier skirmishes has led to mobilization of strong forces and war material on both sides.

The Abyssinian note today apparently was the opening gun in a new campaign to win support of the League council in the controversy. The dispute is scheduled for May 20.

Panhandle Drouth Broken By Rains

AMARILLO, May 13. — The long drouth and continued dust storms were finally broken today as general rain fell in the Texas panhandle.

Nearly every town in the panhandle reported rain in varying amounts from light showers to downpours of more than two inches. At Amarillo 14 inch of rain fell and it was still raining. The area about Canyon reported 25 inch.

The heaviest rainfall was at Perrytown, where 250 inches of rain was reported.

Methodists To Meet At Carbon Tomorrow

The Cisco district of the Methodist church will hold its convention at Carbon May 14 and 15, it was announced today. The meeting will open with a district rally at a banquet in Carbon tomorrow evening.

Rev. J. B. Curry of Cisco, presiding elder, will be in charge. All Cisco Methodists have been urged to attend.

Rising Star Boy Held As Runaway

Billy Wayne Brown, Rising Star boy, was being held here today, pending arrival of his parents.

The boy was arrested by Cisco police as he was leaving home. His parents were expected to arrive tonight to take him back to Rising Star.

Mayor Berry Principal Speaker As Boosters Hold Banquet Here Tonight

Cisco Boosters today were planning to talk over possible projects of benefit to the city when they held their regular monthly banquet at the Laguna roof garden this evening at 7:30.

Mayor J. T. Berry has been named chief speaker for the occasion. He will address the group on the work of a committee recently named to investigate projects of a constructive nature, which might be carried on here through funds from the federal work relief appropriation.

Members of the committee include J. A. Bearman, Johnny Cox, R. E. Grantham, F. E. Harrell, R. L. Ponsler, William Reagan, J. E. Spencer, and F. D. Wright.

Other citizens will make short talks on various projects at the banquet. It was announced, Harry Schaefer's orchestra will furnish music.

Sale of tickets was going forward today. The tickets may be secured at the drug stores or at the Laguna hotel.

President Johnny Cox urged at least one person from each business and professional firm of Cisco to be present at the meeting tonight.

DENTON BAND WILL PLAY AT CELEBRATION

Another band to play at the highway 89 Airline Celebration to be held at Eastland May 30 has been added to the list by Milburn McCarty of Eastland, celebration general chairman.

The celebration chairman announced that North Texas State Teacher's college band of Denton has given notice they will be on hand at the Memorial date fete.

Securing of the Denton college band marks the second of well known Texas musical groups to have announced they will be at Eastland.

Last week arrangements were made for the appearance of the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboy band of Abilene. Other bands of the county and section will also be on hand for the celebration activities.

Swift Action Seen In Power Campaign

WASHINGTON, May 13. — With 75 per cent of the country already surveyed, quick action can be expected from the rural electrification section of the $4,000,000,000 work relief drive. Director Morris Cooke said today.

He said four projects, the first by which the government hopes to supply light and power to 1,000,000 farm homes, already have been sent to the bureau of applications and information for preliminary survey.

"Plans are set for rural electrification all over the country," Cooke said. "Private companies and the FEPA have surveyed 75 per cent of the rural area for projects."

Father of Ciscoan Is Dead at Morse

J. T. Egan of the City Drug company, left Saturday night for Morse, Texas to attend the funeral of his aged father who died Saturday at 6:30 p. m. after an illness of several weeks.

Cowboy Band Plays Here This Morning

Gaudily bedecked in their yellow shirts, chaps, and 10 gallon hats, the Hardin-Simmons cowboy band, of world-wide fame, was the fascinating entertainers at the high school auditorium this morning.

The program was sponsored by the Junior class and H. Brandon, principle of the high school, introduced the band director, M. D. McClure.

The following program was given: "Children's March," by Goldman; "In a Parisian Market," "Nola" and "Sophisticated Lady," featuring Dick Gabler and his trombone; "Dream of Love"; "Hey, Rube" a medley of old tunes; two accordion solos, "Old Faithful" and "The Geography Song" played and sung by Freddie Martin; "Zonki"; "Sunrise Call"; and "Home on the Range," vocal solos by Chief Yeager; "Cossack Revels" and "Goodbye Blues," played by Billy Morrow on the zitherphone; and "Old Gray Mare."

GARNER'S AND WOODMEN TO MEET TODAY

The Garner boys will be out for revenge this afternoon when they take on the Woodmen for the second game in succession. The Choppers nosed them out Friday by a count of 3 to 2.

Captain Shockley has announced that Stamey will grace the mound for the department store club, while either Starling or Smith, who pitched the Woodmen to a win Friday, likely will face him.

The Garner-Woodmen game will be played at Chesley park at 6 o'clock.

At the same time, the leading City club will meet the Lobos, cellar team, at the college. The City has been going strong all season, but dropped a game to Garner's last week after being held to a draw by the Woodmen.

Although the Lobos have failed to break into the win column as yet, they have continued to improve, and should be about due to get out of the all-defeats class.

Tomorrow the Lobos will have an opportunity at their nearest competitors for the cellar position when they meet the Tigers in a makeup game postponed because of rain earlier in the season.

WEATHER

West Texas—Partly cloudy to unsettled; probably showers north and east portions, cooler north tonight and southeast Tuesday.

East Texas — Cloudy, local showers extreme north portion, cooler northwest and north central portions tonight; Tuesday cloudy local showers, cooler north and west.

A Successful Vacation

A doctor, writing in the British Medical Journal, declares strongly in favor of vacations, an opinion in which all vacation-loving souls will heartily concur. His theories as to what constitutes a vacation would probably meet with less agreement.

First, he says, there are two alternative types of vacation: one takes the vacationist year after year to the same favorite spot, which has become a second home, with well-proved sources of pleasure and satisfaction; the other takes him to a new place every year.

The British doctor believes the second type is the better of the two. A great many individuals will undoubtedly say "it all depends."

Rest, repair and recreation are given as the purpose of a vacation. A good many persons take a vacation just for a good time without trying to analyze their desire to be off. What activities or what surroundings will supply rest, repair and recreation to any particular person is determined to a large extent to his routine occupation and surroundings. The idea seems to be gaining headway that vacations are not merely periods of indolence and stagnation, but that they should mean something constructive in one's living and working. A successful vacation should renew spiritual energy and poise, build up bodily health and mental vigor and store new visions and hopes for future use.

Longer Life at Both Ends

When adult citizens rejoice over the fact that the normal expectation of life has been greatly increased in recent decades and appears to be still increasing, they should also realize that most of this gain arises from the reduction of the infant mortality. It is the fact that more babies are being saved which lengthens the average span of human life, rather than that more individuals are living to advanced ages.

This should not discourage the men and women who are already in middle life. The middle-aged person has received less help from modern medical science than is commonly realized. But unlike the new-born babe, the middle-aged person should be competent to do much for himself in this matter of prolonging life. He has considerable more to say about his own diet and habits of work, exercise, rest and play than any baby ever has. He knows how to keep his general health good. Although there are some diseases that he cannot combat single-handed, there are many others which he can ward off simply by the exercise of common sense. If he takes care of these things, medical science will do its best to take care of the rest and the span of life will be lengthened by better health at both ends.

Lawyers And Alienists

Bar associations and medical societies are beginning to take very seriously the problem raised by alienists testifying in courts of justice.

It has become a familiar and scandalous spectacle, that of one group of reputed experts testifying against another group, regarding the sanity of a prisoner, and the testimony of one side cancelling the other's. For every alienist who will declare a man sane, there can be found an alienist who will declare him insane. And this under oath, and on the honor of their profession.

Evidently it is as easy to hire the testimony of alienists as it is to hire the services of lawyers, though the two classes of service should be kept distinct. The result, as one glaring case of miscarried justice arises after another, is to discredit the whole "expert" system, and to throw special discredit upon a highly honorable profession.

What is to be done about it? American court procedure is to blame for allowing such travesties as that seen in the Scott case in Chicago. The legal and medical professions are both to blame for tolerating such exhibitions of hired testimony suited to the purpose of the employers. The public loses faith in courts lawyers and alienists. There should be stricter procedure and cleaner ethics all round.

The Serious Game of War

War maneuvers in the Pacific becomes realistic as destroyers collide and a plane sinks—One dies in the collision and four are wounded—An aviator plunges to death with his plane. The crash victim's wife hears the news over the radio. Japan is said to resent this war maneuver so near her shores and in what she has become to call, her ocean. She seems to take it as a dare as Uncle Sam flaunts his strength before her people.

It's going to take a lot of diplomacy to avoid a war or two in the next few years. Meanwhile, Uncle Sam is getting ready to hold up his side of the disturbance if it should affect us.

Indianola, Once Flourishing Texas Port, To Be Remembered in Celebration Sunday

AUSTIN, May 13 — Indianola, one-time flourishing Texas seaport but now only a tragic memory, will live again in the minds and hearts of its citizens descendants on Sunday, May 19, when they gather at Port Lavaca for their sixth annual meeting.

Some remain who recall the ghostly day in 1875 when a tidal wave and summer storm, born in the blue Caribbean, roared into the Gulf of Mexico, and swept the prosperous little city of 7,000 people into oblivion. No accurate check of the dead was ever made. Some say 300 died; estimates range as high as 700. Those who remained set to work with the true Texas spirit to rebuild Indianola. In 1876 another storm again leveled the town. Residents scattered to other sections of Texas—Victoria, Cuero, San Antonio, and Austin. Time was when Indianola exchanged cargoes with Bilboa. From

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, May 13 — Whatever business may be neglected by a state legislature, there is one bill that always gets prompt attention in House and Senate. Any bill to fix salaries of county commissioners puts the legislators on their toes. Nobody tries to construct such a bill. No committee is too busy to hear it promptly and SHEARER no member has the temerity to object when unanimous consent is asked to suspend other business and act on a commissioner's salary bill.

The 44th legislature was no exception in this respect. County commissioners in a few counties may receive salary cuts and some of them may continue to receive the same amounts, but most of them will be paid more.

Nearly every session devises a new way to fix salaries.

Some sessions base the pay on population. This time assessed property valuations in the counties was used as the base for determining the amount of the commissioners' salaries. The exact amount the commissioners will receive, they will determine themselves. The legislature fixed the maximum.

In a county with less than $4,500,000 property assessed for taxation, a commissioner will be paid $5 per day while working on the job with a limit of $900 a year.

If the property values are $6,000,000 he can get a total of $1,200 a year. At $10,000,000 valuation, the commissioners go on straight salary regardless of the number of days they work.

The straight salary scale begins at $1,400 a year. It progresses to $4,700 in counties with $150,000,000 valuation.

Rep. J. C. McConnell, Palo Pinto, asked Attorney General William McCraw for a ruling to determine whether salaries of officials can be changed during the term of office for which they were elected. The ruling was good for the officers, bad for the state.

It is that an official's salary may be increased during his term, but cannot be decreased.

The man who gets head-over-heels in debt can now salvage more of his property than formerly.

Gov. Allred has signed House Bill 166 which was sponsored by Harlee Morrison of Terrell. Besides the property a debtor might formerly keep, the law now saves to him his wearing apparel, two mules, 20 goats, 50 chickens, 30 turkeys, geese, ducks and guinea.

Gov. Allred was given the opportunity this week to sign a bill that his predecessor, Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, vetoed. He seized the opportunity.

The bill makes the hunting season for dove and quail concurrent in the South Texas hunting zone. The open season will be Dec. 1 to Jan. 15, both inclusive.

Under the old law, it was found that many hunters supposedly out after doves, were actually shooting quail.

The cheapest investigation conducted by a legislative committee was that to look into reported brutalities at Retriever Prison farm. The committee spent $37.14 for its five members and a stenographer.

"We feel pardonable pride in reporting the total cost," wrote Chairman Kenneth McCalla, Houston.

Lobbyists are shrinking violets usually, about the bills they advocate before the legislature.

But John Darrouzet of Galveston and Austin is willing to proclaim that he and William Ryan, Houston, worked diligently for submission of the constitutional amendment to permit furnishing free text books to privately supported schools as well as the public schools.

Darrouzet, known in legislative circles as the "Black Eagle of the Gulf," is an old legislative attendant. Ryan, a St. Edwards university graduate and star debater of the University of Texas, is one of the younger legislative addicts.

W. H. Gallagher, Fort Worth chairman of the legislative board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and therefore prominent in advocating labor's cause before the legislature, doesn't think the solons gave labor a fair deal.

A "skilful minority," Gallagher said, retarded action and seemed to have both a political and economic purpose—to discredit the Allred administration and to prevent any curbing of their "profitable privileges."

"Labor feels that it has been betrayed," Gallagher said.

Indianola expeditions were fitted out for the long westward trek to El Paso and California. Early German settlers, after a long Atlantic voyage, saw American shores for the first time at Indianola, traded their German gold for Texas onions and weapons and journeyed into the interior to settle Baron Von Braunfels grant near San Antonio.

M. M. McFarland of Austin is president of the Indianolans. Mrs. Johanna Runge, also of Austin, was elected first president when they organized six years ago at Port Lavaca. The third Sunday in May each year survivors and descendants of the Indianola flood meet to revive memories of Indianola, and keep alive the friendships of long ago.

DIDN'T LIKE WINDOW

GLACIER PARK, Mont. — People who live in glass houses better steer clear of one Rocky Mountain goat. Recently a ram strolled up to the front of Many Glaciers Hotel here, gazed belligerently at his reflection in a huge window, lowered his head and rammed through. He repeated the process enroute out from the hotel lobby.

AIR CORPS HAS GIGOLO

WASHINGTON. — The Army Air Corps has a "gigolo." Although not a fit partner for a young lady, the Air Corps' gigolo has been defined unofficially in static test circles as "a dancing device which excites response in the body to which it is attached." The device is being used in vibration tests on a new Material Division motor mount.

WORK TAG RACKET

BERKELEY, Cal. — College boys at the University of California have found a way of beating the Berkeley parking ordinance. It's simple—they first get a tag for over-parking then stick it on the windshield every day thereafter. The theory is the police will pass it by as already tagged.

Texas Topics

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, May 13 — Coke Stevenson having decided two terms is enough for him as speaker of the Texas house, three, four or five able young members have emerged as prospective leaders of the race for speaker in the next regular legislature.

Rep. Sidney Latham of Longview, Rep. Homer Leonard of McAllen, Rep. R. Emmett Morse of Houston, are regarded as likely entrants.

Rep. Bullock Hyder of Denton is considered a potential candidate.

Rep. R. W. Calvert of Hillsboro, who ran Stevenson a close race in January, is a logical candidate next time, if he should conclude to make the race.

Leonard perhaps got a shade of the start for the race. He is chairman of the appropriation committee, chief committee post of the present session.

Morse remained a prospective candidate for speaker of this legislature until Stevenson's second-term race was formed.

Latham's service, in his first term and in this second term, has been marked by a high order of ability. He is among those who, including others in this future list of campaign prospects, are known as working members — those who take the drudgery of the session seriously, sit up until midnight in windy committee hearings, and study bills and listen to speeches. Latham, coming from the oil country, has given special attention to petroleum legislation.

It is suggested as a possibility that if Lieut. Gov. Woodul of Houston seeks re-election, Rep. Morse might stay out of the race on the theory that Houston would otherwise claim to furnish presiding officers for both houses.

Hyder is serving a second term and is a consistent and faithful worker. Calvert's popularity and leadership were recognized in the big vote he got in January; and he has won other friends in that the

STRAT WIDOW SPENDS HOURS IN WORRYING

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., May 9 — The widow probably never will become as general an institution as the golf widow, but it's far more nerve-wracking.

Take it from Mrs. Orvil A. Anderson, whose husband will pilot the National Geographic Society and United States army's balloon when it attempts to reach 75,000 feet above Rapid City, S. D., this summer.

Hours of Worry She's spent many hours worrying about her intrepid husband who with two other balloonists leaped from their gondola at 50,000 feet over Loomis, Neb., last summer when the gigantic silk bag exploded.

However, Capt. Anderson likes his work and that's enough for Mrs. Anderson, who is here visiting her parents until time for the take-off, scheduled about June 1, if weather conditions are satisfactory. If he fails to make stratosphere flights Mrs. Anderson also is in favor of them.

Selected From Many Of course, she's proud that her husband was selected from scores of army pilots to navigate the larger and greatly improved balloon when it takes off the natural bowl at Rapid City. But there are many weeks of preparation for the flight; such as entail her husband's presence in many parts of the country and that's where the "widow" part comes in.

Now stationed at Dayton, O. army flying base, he recently was at Amarillo, Texas, where he superintended loading of helium gas into drums for inflating the balloon. Helium has been substituted this year in favor of hydrogen gas which was believed to have caused the explosion last summer.

She will motor to Rapid City where she will await the actual take off.

Drouths Occur Only Every Eleven Years

MONTGOMERY Mo., May 13 — Droughts occur only once in every 11 years, according to Capt. Tom See, veteran astronomer, who recites history over a period of 1,000 years to prove the assertion.

"This regular cycle of droughts is caused by sunspots," the weather observer says.

The basis of theory is a book outlining the history of China. His findings—the results of painstaking study of weather data were placed at the disposal of the government in a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace.

Capt. See believes his discovery will be more important to agriculturists than any data government weather forecasters can produce under their "haphazard system." He has found that the 11 year cycle of cold winters and plentiful rainfall in this country against cycles of drought in China coincide with records of European weather compared with the drought this country suffered last year.

The observer went into history of the ancient Greeks to show that in 1184 B. C. or 38 cycles of 11 years back from 1929 intense suffering from cold marked the battle of Troy.

Bringing his observations up to date, Capt. See predicts no more serious droughts until about 1944-45.

Summer Sweethearts

"I've simply got to see Gibbs." Zoe cried abruptly, reverting to her original theme.

"I won't have a thing to do with it," Katharine declared.

"Oh, how mean of you!" Katharine strode up the lane without a single backward look as Zoe, after one or two reproachful mutterings, slid the car into gear.

Oh, it was altogether a horrid day! Now Zoe would be angry and Katharine felt within herself the murmurings of a deep discontent. She loathed, suddenly, to be doing something important—going to Paris to study art, taking a school in the southern mountains as Harriet Greene had done, making something real and important of her life.

Terrible to be a girl—even in this day of much vaunted freedom for women. Poor girls, Katharine mused, had all the luck. They could strike out for themselves. They could have the infinite satisfaction of doing work that was fascinating or important or both. She hated her soft, easy, uninteresting life. To go back home, to listen to her stepmother talk prettily of bridge and new silpicoes for the morning room, seemed unendurable.

"Why Johnny Kaye!" Katharine exclaimed. "Wherever did you drop from?"

dered how it was done. Sally knew distaste. "It makes me—well, just a bit sick."

"There, you see?" cried Zoe. "I knew it! You're on the heights most of the time. And," she added mysteriously, "they don't like it!"

"Who doesn't?" Katharine, comprehending perfectly, was purposely lofty.

"Sally has her points," Zoe said carelessly, as if she read her companion's thoughts.

"Oh, I don't doubt it!" Even to Katharine herself the words sounded vaguely bitter. She wouldn't stoop, she told herself, to the sort of thing Sally indulged in—brushing against a man's shoulder, appearing to stumble and catching the nearest masculine hand or arm, spraying oneself with the most seductive perfumes...

"You're a funny girl," Zoe said curiously, almost speculatively. "Don't you like men?"

Katharine stiff the door lever open, jumped lightly to the ground in the bright light of early morning. Her skin was flawless, ivory stained faintly with an apricot glow. Her fair hair curled in little tendrils about her face. "Why, she's gorgeous looking, really," the other girl thought. "What wouldn't she be like if she waked up!"

"Oh, I don't believe it," Katharine said sharply. "Why, Kay, I believe you don't like that girl."

"What? I didn't hear you?" Katharine's tone was confused, her cheeks flaming.

"Be a darling and think over what I said about taking a trip to Maine," Zoe coaxed. "Mother wouldn't mind a bit if you suggested it. She wouldn't even suspect."

"Oh, really!" Katharine was unaccountably nettled by the suggestion that she, at 20, was so staid and reliable that a willful, pretty child like Zoe might be trusted with her any where. What did people think she was made of, anyhow? She had feelings like the rest of them. Anger swept her, swift and unreasoning. She wanted, recklessly, to strike out, to hurt someone. She felt savage—she who was usually so cool and judicious.

Zoe was in no hurry to get on. She lighted a cigaret now, from the little silver case she always carried, and offered Katharine one. The other girl refused.

Zoe nodded in the direction of Sally Moon's departing figure. The absurd yellow cap could be seen, bobbing in tune with the mare's jouncing trotting movements. "Hear she's refused Howe Mackenzie!"

"Oh, I don't believe it," Katharine said sharply. "Why, Kay, I believe you don't like that girl."

Katharine shrugged her her shoulders. She hated the subject, but was fascinated by it. Howe Mackenzie, fat and rather stupid, a bore at 30, was in the nature of a town joke. Yet Sally had been sought in marriage...

Not that Katharine wanted marriage. But, from her chilly and rather powdered heights, she pronounced...

KATHARINE shrugged. "All this talk of flutters," she said with a thimble.

Land Of Promise Is Disappointing

INTERNAT'L FALLS, Minn., May 13 — Carl Lund, Norwegian, who came to the "Land of Promise" with prospects of acquiring money to marry comfortably and return to his native land, is returning home after 23 years of suffering and disappointment.

Lund left his home in Litterstrom, Norway, in 1902, coming to northern Minnesota where he worked in lumber camps. He intended to work only a few years and then return to Norway to be married and bring happiness to his mother.

At the end of four years, Lund had saved enough money to fulfill his anticipations but was stricken with rheumatic fever. His funds were exhausted after his illness and he was forced to work three additional years to earn the amount necessary to pay for the trip.

At the end of three years he again was stricken by the same illness. A third time the disease struck, Lund has been a helpless invalid since 1913.

He spent 13 years in various hospitals in northern Minnesota and in 1926 was moved to Fergus Falls where patients with incurable diseases are cared for. Despite his sufferings Lund never gave up hope of returning to his mother in Norway.

Sympathetic friends contributed funds for Lund to be sent back to his native land. He will make the trip on a stretcher under the care of Dr. A. Sommerfeld of Fergus Falls, who made arrangements for his trip.

POTATOE FOR HORSES

BELMONT, Wis., — Reading that dust storms had caused a potato shortage in Kansas, Albert Beaumont, Belmont Township farmer, filled a truck with his choicest potatoes and headed southwest. He found a farmer in Kansas who had a good team of horses, but no feed for the horses nor money to buy potatoes. He traded his potatoes for the team and brought the horses back on his truck.

TAKE DOMESTIC SCIENCE

MARLBORO, Mass. — Husbands who can cook! That seems to be the cheerful outlook for Marlboro girls since the high school here included a boys' class in domestic science in the curriculum. The class is designed to give boys instructions in preparing and cooking meals—and, among other things, the boys have to sample their own cooking.

DESSERTS THEIR DONATION

BRYN MAWR, Pa. — Bryn Mawr girls gave up desserts for a month to aid the college campaign for $1,000,000. The money saved by not serving desserts after meals in the six residence halls was used toward the undergraduates' quota of $20,000.

Says Child Should Earn Own Allowance

LONDON, May 13 — Children should earn their pocket-money, otherwise they will deteriorate in character, says Dr. Marie Carmichael Stopes, birth-control pioneer. Ever since he was four her own son, now 11 has had a "wages-book" which he signs when any payment is made. The book contains such items as: "Cleaning white paint in drawing room 2d"; "Laying turf straight in garden 4d"; "Chopping wood, 2d" and "Felling a tree, 6d". "The point is not that all help should be paid for," she said, "but that no payment should be made without some work being done in return."

LEARNS ABOUT BRAKES

CINCINNATI — Louis Ribbet, Chicago salesman, knew there was something wrong with his automobile, but he wasn't sure just what. So he turned it over to Robert Howell, 22, a mechanic, for inspection. Howell decided a trial ride would indicate best what was amiss. Driving a few hundred yards, the car skidded, went over an embankment and stopped, after knocking over a pole. Howell, uninjured, reported back to Ribbet: "Your brakes were out of order."

TEETH HALTED THIEF

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Solomon Moore believes he has a fool-proof method for stopping ransackers. Moore told police he found two men ransacking his home. When they fled, Moore chased them and overtook one of the pair. When the would-be ransacker attempted to break loose, Moore dug his teeth into the man's back and hung on until police arrived. Rioting Is Ended By Proper Dieting

COLUMBUS, O., May 13 — A proper diet is one way to end prison riots according to George C. Williams, newly appointed supervisor of food and cooking equipment for all Ohio welfare institutions. "A man properly fed always will be at peace because his stomach is full," Williams declares. "I intend to please all of Ohio's convicts by giving them proper food which they have not received in the past." A revision of menus served at breakfast was promised. ATHLETES SAY: "THEY DON'T GET YOUR WIND!"

Read below what leading sports champions say about Camels

With the preference of star athletes overwhelmingly for one cigarette, that cigarette has to be exceptionally mild! Its name is—Camel. Here's what an Olympic champion diver, Harold ("Dutch") Smith, says about Camels: "I've found a great deal of pleasure in Camels. They never interfere with my wind." Rip Collins, of the St. Louis Cardinals, says: "Here's the best proof I know that Camels are mild: I can smoke them steadily, and they never get my wind."

Rowland Dufton, of the New York A. C., says: "Camels never upset my nerves or get my wind. That's what I call real mildness!"

Dick Shelton, world-champion steer dogger, and these two brilliant campaigners in the golfing wars, Denny Shute and Helen Hicks, have come to the same conclusion—"Camels do not get my wind."

How this mildness is important to you too!

Camel smokers can smoke more—and enjoy smoking more. You get more satisfaction, knowing that sports champions have found Camels so mild that they never jangle their nerves or get their wind.

SO MILD! YOU CAN SMOKE ALL YOU WANT!
