Letters Of Bryant Are Valuable Find

PALM ALTO, Cal., May 17 — Five musty letters with the signature of William Cullen Bryant, famous American poet and editor of last mid-century, found in a private library, are proving the most important literary "find" of the year in this scholarly Stanford university campus town.

Their discoverer was Bernhardt Hoffacker, Palo Alto High School student and grandson of Bertrand J. Hoffacker, a New York composer of Bryant's day, to whom they were addressed.

One of them is addressed to Abraham Lincoln when he was president. It evidently was written when the author of "Thanatopsis" was editor of the New York Evening Post.

The "Lincoln letter" was an introduction to the president for Hoffacker describing the latter as "a man of the most fervent loyalty which he has taken more than one occasion to express in spiritual airs and harmonies."

The other missives were personal notes to Hoffacker, one of them thanking the composer for setting to music "a little poem of mine which I wish were more worthy of the music to which it will be set."

OWNED MINE

PALUN, Sweden — The oldest chartered industrial concern in the world is the copper mine here in Dalecarlia, one of Sweden's most picturesque regions for travelers. The mine has been owned by one family since 1220, and so much ore has been taken from it that its excavations would hold the Cheops Pyramid.

SHE REDUCED 14 LBS. IN 3 WEEKS

Paid No Attention To Envious Gossipers

Mrs. J. H. Valentine of Freeport, N. Y., writes: "I lost 14 lbs. with Kruschen and my husband took off 12 lbs. in 3 weeks and intends keeping up the good work. I think Kruschen is simply wonderful."

Intelligent folks like Mr. and Mrs. Valentine don't listen to gossiping folks who tell them it's impossible to reduce safely.

Kruschen Salts is one safe reducing treatment — it's a health treatment—physicians prescribe it—just take a half teaspoonful in a cup of hot water first thing every morning—tastes fine with juice of half lemon added—a jar lasts 4 weeks and costs but a few cents.

SEND - A - DIME CHAIN LETTER CAN'T PAY OFF

CHICAGO, May 17 — Only one thing is wrong with the fast-spreading send-a-dime chain letter. Somebody has to pay for them. That's the verdict of Father Francis J. Gerst, professor of mathematics at Loyola university, and that, presumably is the verdict of the Federal government that ruled them illegal.

The expert will tell you there's money in it if you get in at the right place. But therein lies the hitch: you've no way of knowing.

Father Gerst says the thesis of chain-letter profits lies directly opposed to a fundamental of economics: that except where productive work is concerned, nobody ever wins without somebody's losing.

The Catch In It
For instance, if you send the man at the top of the list a dime and put your name at the bottom, and you sent the list to five friends, instructing them to do the same, you should get your rakeoff several thousand dollars, when your name reaches the top. But — there would be the multiple of senders contributing each and every dime to each man's little fortune, and you would be among them. And by the time the unbroken chain — if it stayed unbroken — was completed, so many persons would have been invited in that the scheme would fall through.

U. S. Officers Busy
The federal government juts overlocks this fairly convincing argument and asks: do you know anyone who has collected?

Proceeding on the theory that you do not, the government agents have labeled dime chain letters sending a racket. The U. S. Post Office Department has ruled it a scheme to defraud and Denver's Postal Inspectors are delving into tons of correspondence to ferret out the original idea man.

'STUDIES' ENGLISH
FANDUSKY, O. — Seeking to master the English language, a 21-year-old Italian graduate of an agricultural school in Florence Italy is spending a few days in each class of the public school here. The student, who altered plans to enter Ohio State university, started his training by entering the first grade here instead.

MEET FOR FIRST TIME
MARLBORO, Mass. — Two brothers, Melvin Little, 24, of Marlboro, and Gordon Baker, 29, of St. Johnis, N. B., met each other for the first time recently. Adoption of one of the brothers caused the separation and a death in the family brought them together.

GOLD FESTIVAL PLANNED
MOJAVE, Cal. — This desert town's joy over the discovery of the rich Silver Queen mine which renewed gold mining activity here, will be expressed in a Gold Festival May 18 with free food and a '49 celebration.

Constipation Pains
Constipation allows the form in the bowels and feel sick. At the first constipation, take Black-Draught for prompt relief. It has helped of men and women.

Mrs. A. J. Davenport of Ky., writes that "Black-Draught" acts well and seems to insure regularity. It always has Black-Draught in its roots of plants highly their dependable medicine. THE FORD'S BLACK-D
