

SENATE SUSTAINS BONUS BILL VETO

FAILS TO GET ENOUGH VOTES TO OVERRIDE

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The senate today sustained President Roosevelt's veto and killed the Patman bonus bill. Champions of the $2,200,000 measure battled to the last during the dramatic session but they could not win the two thirds majority necessary to have the senate join the house in overriding the veto.

The vote was 40 to sustain and 54 to override the veto. The vote against the Patman plan definitely killed it for this session but did not end the bonus issue.

Bonus supporters planned soon to offer a plan giving Mr. Roosevelt a chance to pay the bonus either through use of regular treasury financing, through use of work relief funds or by issuing United States notes.

They believed offering this proposal might win votes of some senators who opposed the mandatory currency insurance provision of the Patman bill.

FDR Warns
Pres. Roosevelt had warned that the Patman bill would set the nation on a dangerous course. The tone of his veto indicated he also would veto any other plan for immediate and full cash payment.

The proposed strategy of the bonus forces to offer their alternative plan as a rider on an administration bill may gravely complicate the New Deal's legislative program for the remainder of the session.

As debate proceeded before packed galleries, Patman forces tried to swing votes their way.

Senator Elmer Thomas, democrat Oklahoma, warned that sustaining of the veto would not kill the issue. Already bonus advocates have begun to play for a new attack.

"I've been beaten before, and I can take my beating as well as any other," Senator Huey Long said. "If I be the only one beaten, it wouldn't matter, but it is the veterans who are being beaten."

ONE ARRESTED AFTER HOLDUP OF OFFICERS

HILLSBORO, May 23.— Sheriff R. F. Wilkenson of Hill county reported today that one of two men who disarmed him and a deputy at a shack near here last night had been arrested and jailed. The prisoner gave his name as Alec Fulford, 21, of Seven Knobs, Somerville county.

He said he didn't know the name of his companion, who fled under cover of a saved-off shotgun held on the two peace officers when they entered the shack.

Fulford was arrested this morning when he wrecked his car near Blum, 30 miles from here. Stolen supplies from a store which the two were suspected of robbing were found in Fulford's car and burglary charges were filed against him.

FALSE TEETH
TACOMA, Wash., — Alice Tice had her fiancé, Harold Dahl, arrested on an assault charge because he allegedly took her false teeth so she couldn't "step out" on him.

6 Navy Fliers Killed In Pacific 'Battle'

PLUNGE INTO OCEAN DURING PLANE RESCUE

Blends Brains With Beauty

ABOARD U. S. S. PENNSYLVANIA, WITH THE PACIFIC FLEET, May 23.—Six navy airplane crew members were killed Tuesday night while directing rescuers to a stricken sister plane, it was revealed today.

The men died when their plane plunged into the Pacific after circling above a second craft which had descended in distress 40 miles south of Midway Island.

The disaster was the most serious of the series of accidents which have marked the elaborate fleet problem 16 in which virtually the entire sea forces of the United States are concentrated in the Pacific.

The lost plane members were part of the defending forces of the fleet. The craft to whose rescue they had gone was one of the attacking force.

The plane was scouting the open sea early Tuesday evening about 40 miles south of Midway Island when it sighted the other ship in distress on the water. The rescue plane radioed immediately for destroyers to go to the rescue of the sister ship.

It circled about the spot, maintaining radio communication and directing the rescue craft. An hour later, a few minutes before the light cruiser Raleigh reached the spot, it plunged into the sea.

Curriculum Meet To Be At Texas Tech

LUBBOCK, May 23.—The second annual curriculum conference at Texas Technological college will be held June 29 and 30. Dr. A. W. Evans, head professor of education has announced.

Dr. Henry Harap, Western Reserve university of Cleveland, Ohio, one of the foremost authorities on curriculum revision, will be one of the principal speakers.

Others appearing on the program will include: Dr. F. C. Ayer, University of Texas; Dr. W. A. Steigler, director of the State curriculum revision work; State Superintendent L. A. Woods of Austin; B. B. Cobb, executive of the Texas State Teachers' association; and C. N. Shaver, president of the T. S. T. A. These men will be assisted by leading educators in this portion of the state.

Negro War Hero, 103, In Austin Hospital

AUSTIN, May 23.—Centenarian Nathan Stokes, a negro hero of the Civil War, soon may join his "men in gray" for the last voyage.

Stokes, now 103, lies on an Austin hospital bed where, from doctors say, he will never arise. He was the sergeant of Major George W. Littlefield, Texas pioneer and University of Texas benefactor, and is credited with saving his master's life in a Tennessee campaign of 1862.

Companion to Major Littlefield in the army, the dandy saw his master fall a thigh shattered by a Yankee "minnie ball." Stokes braved the enemy's fire to carry Major Littlefield to safety behind the lines.

After the conflict, the confederate officer brought his servant to Austin, where he has remained in service to the Littlefield household. The family provided that his closing days should be spent in comfort and he is given best medical attendance possible.

Reorganization of the city softball league for night play was begun Wednesday night at a meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce. Night play will probably start for the league next week.

All teams must be certified by their managers not later than 5 p. m. Friday of this week, it was decided. The league will be composed of the whatever number of teams that managers have entered by that time rather than any definite number.

All team managers automatically become members of the league committee, which of Rex Page was named chairman.

A registration fee of $2 was set.

Outnumbered more than 25 to 1, girls of North Carolina State school of education still are able to show the boys a scholastic champion — miss Christine Shepherd, above, Greensboro senior, who has won a sorority scholarship award for three successive years. Christine never graded below 93 of a possible 95, and earned a large share of her expenses — as well as rating high in beauty competition.

MURDER TRIAL FOR STAFFORD CASE BEGINS

LUBBOCK, May 23.—Legal skirmishing began today in the unusual trial of four prominent West Texas men on federal murder charges in connection with the machine gun slaying of Spencer Stafford, federal narcotics agent.

Federal Judge James Wilson withdrew a ruling temporarily on a defense motion for removal of the trial to Post, where Stafford was slain February 7.

Defendants in the case, the first charging murder ever tried in a federal court in West Texas are: Sheriff W. F. Cato of Garza county; Dr. L. W. Kitchens, Post veterinarian; and Tom Morgan, Garza county farmer. As selection of jurors preceded the venire panel of 60 was quickly reduced to 45 by excuses and disqualifications.

Colored School's Exercises Tonight

The colored school will hold its closing exercise at the city hall auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock, it was announced.

Supt. R. N. Cluck, Secretary W. F. Walker of the school board, and Principal Frank Evans of the colored school in Eastland, will be guest speakers. A special invitation was extended to the white people of Cisco to attend.

Alvin Karpis Is Reported Captured

OMAHA, May 23.—A United Airlines plane which left here for Chicago at 12:10 p. m. today contained two federal agents who had in custody a prisoner heavily manacled and clad in pajamas.

Although the agents refused to say who they had in custody, it was rumored that the prisoner was Alvin Karpis, one of the few remaining southwestern desperadoes. It was reported that Karpis had been captured at Boise, Idaho.

The school was planned to prepare young men to enter the cotton business, to train cotton growers to market their cotton intelligently and profitably and to assist cotton buyers to become more familiar with low-grade and off colored cotton and to judge staple. It will offer instruction by professional cotton men with years of experience as teachers.

Grading, stapling and cotton trade procedure will comprise the subjects to be taught. Facilities of the Department of textile engineering, including the cotton mill, will be available for instructional work. Lectures will be given daily covering subjects of general interest.

The matter of selection of umpires was referred to the league committee, which will rule upon legality of delivery and will have the authority to bar players persistently using an illegal delivery.

Support of umpires in their decisions by both players and managers was asked, in the hope of having stricter decisions and building up the standing of the game.

The league committee will hold a meeting at the Ramona Motor company at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, it was announced by Chairman Rex Page.

63 GRAMMAR CLASS PUPILS GET DIPLOMAS

Sixty-three seventh grade pupils will receive their grammar school diplomas from Supt. R. N. Cluck at their graduation exercises this evening at the high school auditorium. The program is to start at 8 o'clock.

Rev. J. B. Curry, presiding elder of the Cisco District of the Methodist church, will be the commencement speaker for the grammar school.

Miss Margie Linder will be valedictorian, having made the highest average among the seventh grade pupils during the year. Miss Barbara Blythe will be the salutatorian, having won second scholastic honors.

The complete program for the exercises, as announced by Principal O. L. Stamey, this morning is as follows:

Program
Processional, Martha Joe Pass. Chorus, "Texas, Our Texas," class. Invocation, Rev. Luther Pryor. Salutatory, Barbara Blythe. Class Poem, composed and read by Martha Rhew Dawkins.

Vocal solo, Mary Olive Garrett accompanied by Mary Louise Poe. Class Statistics, Jack Hunter. Piano solo, Catherine Draganes. Class grozier, Miss White. Vocal duet, Tylene Phillips and Louise Graves, accompanied by Mrs. Clifford Yeager.

Valedictory, Margie Linder. Address, Rev. J. B. Curry. Presentation of awards, Principal O. L. Stamey. Presentation of diplomas, Supt. R. N. Cluck.

Following is the list of those who will receive diplomas tonight:

COTTON CLASS TO BE HELD AT TEXAS A. & M.

COLLEGE STATION, May 23.—Problems of street buyers will be emphasized and typical cotton transactions will be demonstrated as a part of the course of the twenty-sixth annual session of the summer school of cotton which will open at the Texas A&M college June 4 and continue through July 13.

Prof. J. B. Bagley, head of the department of textile engineering of the college, will have charge of the school.

The school was planned to prepare young men to enter the cotton business, to train cotton growers to market their cotton intelligently and profitably and to assist cotton buyers to become more familiar with low-grade and off colored cotton and to judge staple. It will offer instruction by professional cotton men with years of experience as teachers.

Grading, stapling and cotton trade procedure will comprise the subjects to be taught. Facilities of the Department of textile engineering, including the cotton mill, will be available for instructional work. Lectures will be given daily covering subjects of general interest.

Support of umpires in their decisions by both players and managers was asked, in the hope of having stricter decisions and building up the standing of the game.

The league committee will hold a meeting at the Ramona Motor company at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, it was announced by Chairman Rex Page.

It May Be Great Life; But This Would Weaken You

CITY EXPENSE OF YEAR MORE THAN INCOME

Disbursements for the city of Cisco were approximately $33,000 more than receipts for the fiscal year of May 1, 1934, to April 30, 1935, a report from the city secretary's office showed today.

The total receipts for the year were listed as $111,568.87 as compared with a total for disbursements of $144,724.55.

Receipts were analyzed as follows: Taxes accounts receivable, $64,606.20; water and sanitation accounts, $38,480.10; corporation court, $593.30; miscellaneous revenue, $1,815.14; tax revenue, $742.84; interest, $2,633.89; water deposits, $903; water revenue, $1,181.81; police department expense refunded, $19.12; water construction, $12.50; street department expense refunded, $516.50; water department expense refunded, $116.50; administration expense refunded, $23.12; real estate, $50; fire department expense refunded, $1.50; total, $111,695.52. Less $126.65 discount water bills, $11,568.87.

Total expenses were listed at $78,896.15. Other disbursements and sundry accounts are as follows: Administration department expense, $10,828.24; water department expense, $15,241.51; street department expense, $13,688.45; sanitary department expense, $14,901.99; fire department expense, $5,474.49; police department, $8,705.34; park and cemetery expenses, $4,736.41; Chamber of Commerce expenses, $5,319.72.

GRISSOM NEW JUDGE OF 11TH APPEAL COURT

AUSTIN, May 23.—Hon Clyde Grissom, Haskell, youngest district judge in Texas, today was appointed justice of the 11th court of Civil Appeals at Eastland.

Dennis Ratliff, Haskell, was appointed district judge to succeed him. Judge Grissom was a member of the 42nd and 43rd legislatures.

Judge Grissom was here today in conference with Gov. James Allred. Judge Grissom is 37 years old. Just 10 years ago he was associated with Gov. Allred, then district attorney at Wichita Falls, in prosecuting a case transferred to the Haskell district.

After serving as prosecuting attorney, he succeeded Judge Bruce Bryan, first assistant attorney general when Allred was attorney general.

The appointments today followed the naming of Judge J. E. Hickman of Eastland as a member of advisory board of the Texas supreme court yesterday.

Music and Speech On Rotary Program

Cisco Rotarians today heard Miss Elizabeth Spencer play two piano sections and P. Pettit speak on articles taken from the Rotarian, club magazine.

Miss Spencer played the first movement of a Beethoven sonata and "Under the Double Eagle." Pettit's talk hinged about "Service Above Self." They were introduced by E. P. Crawford, program chairman.

It was announced that the Cisco club had advanced from fortieth to one of the first five in Texas in attendance during April.

Softball Game Is Scheduled Tonight

It is announced that tonight the softball players will play on the lighted field for the adjustment of lights. Tomorrow night the season will open with Cisco All Stars vs. All Stars of Ranger. Saturday night there will be a game between Cisco all stars and Phillips 66 from Iteax.

The public is invited.

FIND GRAVES
HINSDALE, Mass.—ERA workers digging in a pasture here unearthed a long-forgotten cemetery whose gravestones dated from 1790.

MY OFFICER FOUND GUILTY OF 2 CHARGES

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Col. William Williams of the army master corps was found on two counts by a court today and sentenced to be discharged from the service.

Williams was found to have obtained a loan of $100 from the representative of a tube concern which was making war department contracts November 1933.

Williams at that time was a brigadier general in the transportation department of the quartermaster and the representative was to interest him in the contracts.

Williams was also found guilty of false testimony before a military affairs subcommittee investigating army contracts.

Yard Well Is Producing Gasoline

INGTON, Calif., May 23.—A yard of a backyard oil well that is nearly pure gasoline sent a rush of gasoline to purchase equipment today.

Discovery was made by Crisfield, who sank a well in search of water. At 29 feet struck oil. He installed a pump and, with the aid of his six children, produced 15 barrels of oil a day.

Engineers said the oil probably is in the underground pool tanks in oil refinery storage nearby which were cracked earthquake of two years ago.

The Eternal Prediction For Youth

In the oldest books known to man we find youth being censured for its bad conduct and wilful ways, and predictions being made that the world will suffer from the wilderness of the young. Every generation finds fault with the manners of the adolescents, and decides they will come to no good end. And when these adolescents develop into men and women fathers and mothers, grandfathers and grand mothers, they also shudder at the thought of what will happen to the world when the young grow up.

When a preacher stands and shouts "The young people of today are sending the world straight to hell!" (I quote verbatim), he is simply repeating what has been said in every language in every age. If the world has progressed, then the young of each generation have been better than those before them.

"It is almost impossible to know what a man will be, difficult to know what he is, but easy to know what he has been. One must neither distrust nor trust blindly in young people, and one must take care not to depend upon men, nor condemn them; all is yet within them, the metal in a state of fusion is running into the mold. It is only God who knows what the statue will be."

Thus George Sand summed up what our attitude toward youth might be, if we were more charitable.

Youth believes that happiness is its due and its right; consequently it is natural that the later period of youth is troubled and made miserable by the pursuit of happiness as though there were no doubt that it can be met with somewhere in life.

So, it is that the young man is dissatisfied with the position in which he finds himself, whatever it may be; he ascribes his disappointment solely to the state of things that meet him on his first introduction to life, when he has expected something different. It has been said many times that it would be a great advantage to a young man if his early training could eradicate the idea that the world has a great deal to offer him. But our first ideas of life are generally taken from fiction rather than from fact, and the usual result of education is to strengthen this delusion.

Remember that in the bright dawn of our youthful days, the poetry of life spreads out a gorgeous vision before us, and we torture ourselves to see it realized. The youth expects his career to be like an interesting romance; and there lies the germ of that disappointment. Just as the chief feature of the earlier half of life is a never satisfied longing after happiness, the later part is characterized by the dread of misfortune.

Oceans of Water Cover Drouth Bowl

Mother Nature is wiser than all the wise men in the world of science and the world of politics and the world of industry and all the lesser worlds inhabited by man — who struts like a pouter pigeon when prosperity reigns and passes out like a dead flea when crises come and starvation is threatened in desolated areas.

There is water everywhere in the dust bowl of America. This includes the areas of farming and from North Dakota to the Panhandle of Texas. Charles Goodnight was known as "The First Gentleman of the Panhandle." In the long ago he remarked to a newspaper writer who was his guest: "When it is dry in Texas, it is as dry as hell; when it rains in Texas, it rains like hell." Well, after the drouth it appears to be "raining like hell" from the Rocky mountain foothills across the Gulf to the Mexican state of Yucatan.

Relief of the Needy is Service to All

The public relief problem that has been with us for the last five years has been a good deal like Topsy. It just grew, and it grew so fast and so unexpectedly that we never had time to chart our program very far in advance.

As a result, the transition from private charity to public funds was upon us before we realized it, and we made the change as a matter of necessity rather than choice.

Today, with all indications pointing to a progressive decline in the relief rolls, it might be profitable to re-examine the whole question and see what attitude should be taken in the future.

Homer Folks is secretary of the State Charities Aid association of New York City, and in that capacity has had long experience in the matter of giving relief to the needy.

In a recent speech before the Philadelphia Welfare Foundation, he suggested that the greatest danger is that we shall lose our "instinctive belief that kindness to a person in need is not only a service to him, but a social service to the community."

A few years ago Elihu Root declared that the most notable change he had seen in America during his lifetime was the growth of the spirit of compassion. A generation ago, he said, people were not always moved to pity and action by the sight of suffering; today they are.

This new quality of active sympathy he thought a most important factor in American life.

Mr. Folks suggests that whatever the change in our relief methods may be, it is supremely important for us to retain this attitude.

"If we turn from the thought that it is an obligation of the community to see that need is relieved, that distress is averted, are we not unconsciously turning away from the very spirit and content of democracy itself?" he asks. "Are we not turning away from rule by persuasion, by group thinking, by patience, and to a rule that inevitably must be coercion—by the strong arm and, in no distant time, by mass force?"

This, then, is perhaps the fundamental point at issue in our mapping of a future relief program. The mechanics of the program may vary. We may even return to the old idea that in ordinary times private charity can carry the load, with the state taking it over only in emergency.

That is not so important. What really matters is that we continue to realize that the relief of want is a community responsibility—that when some of us go hungry, all of us are made to suffer.

Summer Sweethearts

By Mabel McEllicott © 1933, NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
KATHARINE STRYKERHURST, daughter of wealthy VICTOR STRYKERHURST, is deeply attracted by MICHAEL HEATHEROE, who runs a riding school. Katharine is disconcerted and restless under her stepmother's rule. Thrown from a horse, she is taken to the home of VIOLET MERSER, who once was in love with Katharine's father. Violet is drawn to the girl and they become friends.

DR. JOHN KAYE, just back from Europe, visits the Strykerhurses.

ZOE PARKER, Katharine's closest friend, is in love with GIBBS LARKIN, and persists in seeing him in spite of her parents' objections.

Katharine, driving her car, encounters Michael suddenly and her heart leaps.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIII

THE girl at the wheel of the big car sat slim and straight and golden in her white frock, her fair hair ruffled in the wind. She looked straight into the eyes of the man on the big black horse.

"I'm all right," she said coquely. Their glances clung. "You were so quick, I think you probably saved my life . . ."

She was conscious that nothing she said made any particular sense, but it did not seem to matter. Nothing mattered save the fact that it was morning in summer, that she was young and alive and that Michael Heatheroe was staring down at her as if he had never seen her before.

"You'll try the riding again?" he muttered vaguely.

Katharine laughed and looked away, answering him. Of course she would ride. That was nothing—the tumble had been nothing.

Up the hill a car honked imperiously. Two chickens, trotting out of the door yard of the farm below the riding club, crossed the macadam with slow dignity. Behind them a little tiger cat appeared in a series of flying leaps. The chickens scattered.

"This—is this is nice up here," commented the girl. "I love it—love to live on a farm."

"Yes, you would," he said, laughing. "Feeding pigs and gathering eggs and picking windfall apples . . ."

"I would. Honestly."

He glanced significantly at her hands, those slender, rosy-tipped hands fresh from Isebel's ministering fingers. Katharine, accepting the unspoken comment, shrugged her shoulders.

"Can't help it that my life has been so easy."

"No, you can't. That's true." His voice was grave and she stood, as it were, convicted.

Katharine flushed. "You—you despise us all as wasters, don't you?"

"I do!" said Michael Heatheroe, on a note of honest surprise. "Wherever did you get such a notion?"

"Ship it!" cried Katharine gayly. "I was just talking . . ."

"I think you're grand," said the man soberly.

"Oh, Michael, do you really?"

THE moment hung, poised, precarious and fragile as a drop of summer dew. But what Michael would have said she was not to know. There was the angry bray of a French horn behind. Katharine, obedient to its challenge, swerved her car to the right, in the narrow road, and a long, low chariot gleaming with cream colored paint and bright work swept past. Sally Moon was at the wheel.

She pulled up abreast of the man on the black horse. "Oh, Michael, don't forget about tonight!"

"I won't." His voice was expressionless.

"If you're a minute now I want to talk to you about those trotters," said Sally languidly.

"Goodby then," Katharine said coolly. She slid her car into gear and was off like a streak before he could detain her. Was there a gleam of triumph in Sally's opaque dark eyes as she passed?

"I hate her—how I hate her," Katharine cried to herself, taking the curves at a dizzy rate of speed.

Don't forget about tonight, indeed! Pretending she owns him. Nasty little thing. Her cuddly ways, too. I've heard about Sally Moon. Probably he tells everyone he thinks they're "grand."

Katharine drove her foot viciously down upon the gas-pedal and the little car leaped madly ahead.

What a fool she was, to be looking her head out a pleasant young man who had a way with horses! What, after all, did she know about him? Precisely nothing!

BERTINE was very cool because Katharine was late for lunch. "Dr. John telephoned," Bertine said as they rose from the table. "He's coming out for a swim."

"That's nice." Katharine was politely disinterested. As if it mattered whether John Kaye stayed or went . . .

"I do think you might show a little interest in our guests," said Bertine bitterly. "Since you met that woman—that Mrs. Merser—you don't seem to have time for anyone . . ."

Katharine did not answer. Everything was horrid today. Heat had descended on the village like a blanket. Bertine made home undurable, with her scoldings and complaints. Nothing was as you thought it would be . . .

She went to her own room and brushed her hair and changed her frock for a brief bathing suit of leaf-green silk. In it she looked like a dryad. There was a little cove on their beach where an old maple tree threw pleasant shadows at this time of day. There she would be secure from everyone. In an hour or two she would go in swimming by herself. Let John Kaye find her if he could!

Katharine settled herself in the curve of the rock wall with her plaid beach robe and a book, but her eyes kept roving from the printed page as she reviewed the brief encounter of the morning.

"I think you're grand," Michael had said. Probably that didn't mean a thing . . .

Presently she fell asleep.

There were voices behind her when she awoke. A man and a girl. They must be below the ocean hedge. Probably one of the males who had slipped down to talk to her beau.

Katharine felt heavy and drowsy. The heat was intense. She had no inclination to move.

Those voices sounded familiar, although neither was lifted above a whisper. "I've fixed it," said the man easily. "We drive up to Greenwich about 10. We meet Howe and the minister at 10:30. Howe has fixed up the license business. Then we send the folks a wire. How does that strike you?"

"Marvelous!" a girl's voice said. Zoe's voice. Katharine stirred uneasily from her lethargy. She ought to make some sound—cry out that she had overheard.

There was the sound of a kiss. The sound of half-hysterical laughter. Katharine sat up, rubbing her eyes. Had she dreamed it all?

But no. To the left a dinghy painted red sped out toward the little yacht bobbing at anchor. Gibbs Larkin's boat.

ZOE PARKER sloping with Gibbs! But that was preposterous. Katharine hoped, uneasily, that she had dreamed it. After all, even if it were true, was it any of her business?

She shook herself, sprang erect. She ran to the end of the pier and dove, a flash of green and white against the dazzling summer scene. The man smoking a cigaret on the balcony opening from the gas room watched her intently. He was a slim man in a gray business suit. His blunt-tipped fingers were the fingers of a clever surgeon. His eyes were keen behind his glasses.

When he came down the pebbled stretch of beach several minutes later Katharine was swimming. She shouted to him. "Come along in!"

"Later!" The heat shimmered on the pier; the sun made a bright cascade of molten reflections on the water. A boat with a sail painted emerald green bobbed at anchor off the point.

Katharine swam back and hauled herself up by the iron ladder. "Oh, John, it's grand. You ought to come in."

"Going to in half a minute." "John, are you mad at me?"

He looked at her with his familiar smile and for a minute Katharine was struck by the quality of it.

"I wanted to have a talk with you, Katharine," he said, his voice oddly trembling.

"Did you, John? Look—first of all I want to tell you something. It's the most cock-eyed thing that ever happened to me, but I've got to tell someone. Not half an hour ago I heard Zoe Parker planning to slope with Gibbs Larkin."

"Well, what's all the shouting for?" inquired the man, watching with lazy interest the play of emotion in her mobile face.

"He's terrible, Johnny. We can't let her do it. The other night—you remember—when you came down on the beach and found me? You saw a man dash off, didn't you? I could tell by the way you looked."

He nodded. Something flashed across his quiet face.

"Well, that was Gibbs. He'd been seeing Zoe. I didn't think it would ever be so serious. The Parkers would never forgive me if they knew I'd helped."

"What," asked Dr. Kaye equably, "do you want me to do?"

S. E. Thompson, publisher of the Chicago Times, says: "A fellow sitting behind me in the Associated Press meetings asked me what I thought of conditions in Chicago. I told him they looked good to me. Our school teachers, police and firemen were being paid regularly for the first time in a long while. The stores were selling merchandise, factories were employing a few more men, and newspaper advertising and circulation were improving. "But what," said he, "is going to happen when inflation comes to take care of the government's four billion dollar war relief program?" "I don't know," said I. "Business is better for me and for my town than it has been. It's a lot better than it was when the New Deal started. I am trying to take care of it the best I can, and I haven't any time left to worry about things that I am paying my government to take care of. How are things with you?" "Oh, we are doing pretty well," said he, "if we could just be more certain of the future." "There's the trouble with half the people in the country today."

SISTER OF MRS. ANDERSON COUNTESS IN "PANATHENA"

Mrs. Jack Anderson has returned from Athens where she attended the "Panathena," an annual coronation fete staged by the Athens high school for the crowning of a queen. Classes were represented by the most popular girls, who in turn, named their escort. Miss Dorothy Mayberry, sister of Mrs. Jack Anderson, who attends Athens high school, was named most popular girl of the sophomore class and Countess for the "Panathena." Miss Mayberry was beautifully gowned in white net over ice blue satin. She carried a bouquet of tiny pink rose buds and wore a small cluster of buds in her hair. She will be well remembered in Cisco because of frequent summer visits with her sister.

CITY FEDERATION OF CLUBS TO MEET FOR LAST TIME

There will be a last meeting of the County Federation of Women's Clubs Saturday, May 25, from 11 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. with a picnic on Lake Cisco grounds. Clubs from all over the county will be represented.

A very interesting program has been planned including an address from the district president, Mrs. Joseph Perkins of Eastland. New officers for the coming year will be introduced. All members are urged to be present and bring a picnic lunch.

AMERICAN LEGION HOLD MEETING

The American Legion Auxiliary met in the home of Mrs. H. G. Bailey Monday night at 8 o'clock in a business meeting and program.

Mrs. Charles Robart, president, presided over the business meeting. New officers were elected for the coming year, which included: Pres. Mrs. Haynie, vice president, Mrs. McPherson; Miss Mayme Estes, secretary; Mrs. W. C. Clough, treasurer, re-elected Mrs. Robart, historian; Mrs. Estes, chaplain, re-elected Mrs. Yates, sergeant at arms.

The program consisted of an interesting address by Mrs. Shepard "Tribute to the Memory of our Dead," quoting Theodore O'Hara's "Bivouac of the Dead," Thomas William Parson's "To One Who Fell in Battle," and "In Flanders Field." Following this was a round table discussion of war days. Little James Haynie blew taps and the program was closed with a prayer by Chaplain, Mrs. A. D. Estes.

Refreshments were served Mesdames H. A. Bible James Haynie, Charles Robart, A. D. Estes, W. A. Phippen, P. P. Shepard, E. C. McClelland, W. C. Clough, Leon McPherson, and Misses Mayme and Letha Estes.

15 MOST POPULAR SONG HITS ARE CHOSEN WEEKLY FOR "HIT PARADE"

The fifteen most popular song hits of the week compose the program of the Lucky Strike "Hit Parade" heard over the National Broadcasting company Red Network every Saturday evening. How the choice of the American public is determined each week is an interesting story.

When the idea of the "Hit Parade" was first conceived it was admitted that a weekly personal poll of the 124,000,000 humans in the United States was obviously impossible. Many "short cuts" to obtain the same result were considered and finally four dominating factors were decided upon as fair barometers of the popularity of a song. Namely, they are: The sales of sheet music; second, the sales of phonograph records; third, the number of times played on the air in favorite national broadcasts; fourth, the number of times requested of orchestra leaders in hotels, night clubs and similar spots by the dancers on the floor.

To gather this information quickly and accurately, a large organization has been established with headquarters in New York, branches in every city throughout the United States and correspondents in many smaller towns. In each of the offices, there are four groups of investigators, each allotted to one of the four main sources of information. One group contacts sheet music jobbers, distributors, and dealers, using phone, telegraph and personal calls to ascertain their best sellers at the moment. The second group makes a similar survey of the phonograph record field while the third group contacts the fan mail requests of the local broadcasting stations and checks these against the number of times a selection is played on the air. The fourth group devotes itself to orchestra directors in hotels, night clubs, and other spots in which music attracts customers. The number of requests to these orchestras is accurately tabulated.

Constantly, the tabulated figures of the branch offices are being wired to New York, where they are compiled and a daily national consensus is prepared. Early each week from a glance at the latest consensus, it is readily apparent that about five songs have so entrenched themselves as leaders that their inclusion among the fifteen numbers is a virtual certainty. These songs are then given to Lennie Hayton, the musical director of the "Hit Parade," to go to work on as the skeleton of the following Saturday's show. Orchestration is made, special arrangements prepared, and allotments made to the vocal soloists for their parts. By Thursday morning the consensus will indicate another five who have "clinched" places in the select list and they are put into the mill to be worked on. Thursday and Friday bring the battle of the "tail enders" with sometimes as many as ten songs battling neck and neck to make only five places left at the

Seeking To Abolish Capital Punishment

HOUSTON, May 23 — Abolishment of capital punishment in Texas will be sought in an organization which Miss Camille Openshaw, attorney, and Miss Fannette Boswell of Houston, announced they would form soon.

They were active in efforts to obtain clemency for Raymond Hamilton, youthful Dallas desperado who was electrocuted with Joe Palmer on May 10, for the murder of a prison guard.

"I feel sure that 80 per cent of the 40,000 men and women who signed the petitions asking for clemency expressed themselves in the hope that we would continue with the work," Miss Boswell said.

"They said they saw the futility of the electric chair as a preventative for crime."

Organization plans will be announced shortly, they said.

The Eternal Prediction For Youth

In the oldest books known to man we find youth being censured for its bad conduct and wilful ways, and predictions being made that the world will suffer from the wildness of the young. Every generation finds fault with the manners of the adolescents, and decides they will come to no good end. And when these adolescents develop into men and women fathers and mothers, grandfathers and grand mothers, they also shudder at the thought of what will happen to the world when the young grow up.

When a preacher stands and shouts "The young people of today are sending the world straight to hell!" (I quote verbatim), he is simply repeating what has been said in every language in every age. If the world has progressed, then the young of each generation have been better than those before them.

"It is almost impossible to know what a man will be, difficult to know what he is, but easy to know what he has been. One must neither distrust nor trust blindly in young people, and one must take care not to depend upon men, nor condemn them; all is yet within them, the metal in a state of fusion is running into the mold. It is only God who knows what the statue will be."

Thus George Sand summed up what our attitude toward youth might be, if we were more charitable.

Youth believes that happiness is its due and its right; consequently it is natural that the later period of youth is troubled and made miserable by the pursuit of happiness as though there were no doubt that it can be met with somewhere in life.

So, it is that the young man is dissatisfied with the position in which he finds himself, whatever it may be; he ascribes his disappointment solely to the state of things that meet him on his first introduction to life, when he has expected something different. It has been said many times that it would be a great advantage to a young man if his early training could eradicate the idea that the world has a great deal to offer him. But our first ideas of life are generally taken from fiction rather than from fact, and the usual result of education is to strengthen this delusion.

Remember that in the bright dawn of our youthful days, the poetry of life spreads out a gorgeous vision before us, and we torture ourselves to see it realized. The youth expects his career to be like an interesting romance; and there lies the germ of that disappointment. Just as the chief feature of the earlier half of life is a never satisfied longing after happiness, the later part is characterized by the dread of misfortune.

Oceans of Water Cover Drouth Bowl

Mother Nature is wiser than all the wise men in the world of science and the world of politics and the world of industry and all the lesser worlds inhabited by man—who struts like a pouter pigeon when prosperity reigns and passes out like a dead flea when crises come and starvation is threatened in desolated areas.

There is water everywhere in the dust bowl of America. This includes the areas of farming and from North Dakota to the Panhandle of Texas. Charles Goodnight was known as "The First Gentleman of the Panhandle." In the long ago he remarked to a newspaper writer who was his guest: "When it is dry in Texas, it is as dry as hell; when it rains in Texas, it rains like hell." Well, after the drouth it appears to be "raining like hell" from the Rocky mountain foothills across the Gulf to the Mexican state of Yucatan.

Relief of the Needy is Service to All

The public relief problem that has been with us for the last five years has been a good deal like Topsy. It just grew, and it grew so fast and so unexpectedly that we never had time to chart our program very far in advance.

As a result, the transition from private charity to public funds was upon us before we realized it, and we made the change as a matter of necessity rather than choice.

Today, with all indications pointing to a progressive decline in the relief rolls, it might be profitable to re-examine the whole question and see what attitude should be taken in the future.

Homer Folks is secretary of the State Charities Aid association of New York City, and in that capacity has had long experience in the matter of giving relief to the needy.

In a recent speech before the Philadelphia Welfare Foundation, he suggested that the greatest danger is that we shall lose our "instinctive belief that kindness to a person in need is not only a service to him, but a social service to the community."

A few years ago Elihu Root declared that the most notable change he had seen in America during his lifetime was the growth of the spirit of compassion. A generation ago, he said, people were not always moved to pity and action by the sight of suffering; today they are.

This new quality of active sympathy he thought a most important factor in American life.

Mr. Folks suggests that whatever the change in our relief methods may be, it is supremely important for us to retain this attitude.

"If we turn from the thought that it is an obligation of the community to see that need is relieved, that distress is averted, are we not unconsciously turning away from the very spirit and content of democracy itself?" he asks. "Are we not turning away from rule by persuasion, by group thinking, by patience, and to a rule that inevitably must be coercion—by the strong arm and, in no distant time, by mass force?"

This, then, is perhaps the fundamental point at issue in our mapping of a future relief program.

The mechanics of the program may vary. We may even return to the old idea that in ordinary times private charity can carry the load, with the state taking it over only in emergency.

That is not so important. What really matters is that we continue to realize that the relief of want is a community responsibility—that when some of us go hungry, all of us are made to suffer.

S. E. Thompson, publisher of the Chicago Times, says:

"A fellow sitting behind me in the Associated Press meetings asked me what I thought of conditions in Chicago. I told him they looked good to me. Our school teachers, police and firemen were being paid regularly for the first time in a long while. The stores were selling merchandise, factories were employing a few more men, and newspaper advertising and circulation were improving."

"But what," said he, "is going to happen when inflation comes? To take care of the government's four billion dollars work relief program?" "I don't know," said I. "Business is better for me and for my town than it has been. It's a lot better than it was when the New Deal started. I am trying to take care of it the best I can, and I haven't any time left to worry about things that I am paying my government to take care of. How are things with you?"

"Oh, we are doing pretty well," said he, "if we could just be more certain of the future."

"There's the trouble with half the people in the country today."

*MOTORISTS WHO KNOW THESE FACTS WILL SAVE MONEY!
Motor oils refined by the usual methods have some oiliness and film strength, but they may form carbon and sludge, which lead to expensive motor repairs.

Other oils may form almost no carbon and sludge, but are so over-refined that they are robbed of oiliness and film strength they need to prevent motor wear.

Germ Processed Oil is refined to eliminate carbon and sludge troubles and then the Germ Process adds extra oiliness and 2 to 4 times more film strength than any straight mineral oil, as tests on Almen and Timken machines have proved.

COTTON CLASS TO BE HELD AT TEXAS A. & M.

COLLEGE STATION, May 23 — Problems of street buyers will be emphasized and typical cotton transactions will be demonstrated as a part of the course of the twenty-sixth annual session of the summer school of cotton which will open at the Texas A&M college June 4 and continue through July 13.

Prof. J. B. Bagley, head of the department of textile engineering of the college, will have charge of the school.

The school was planned to prepare young men to enter the cotton business, to train cotton growers to market their cotton intelligently and profitably and to assist cotton buyers to become more familiar with low-grade and off colored cotton, and to judge staple. It will offer instruction by professional cotton men with years of experience as teachers.

Grading, stapling and cotton trade procedure will comprise the subjects to be taught. Facilities of the Department of textile engineering, including the cotton mill, will be available for instructional work. Lectures will be given daily covering subjects of general interest.

JUDGE HICKMAN ON COMMISSION TO HELP COURT

AUSTIN, May 23 — Hon. J. E. Hickman, chief justice of the 11th court of civil appeals at Eastland, today was named by the state supreme court as a member of commission to assist the court.

The place was made vacant by appointment commissioner Richard Critz, Taylor, to a place on the court bench, succeeding the late associate justice William Pierson. Judge Hickman will fill the unexpired term, and was also appointed for the six-year term beginning June 30, 1935.

Judge Graham Smedley, formerly of Wichita Falls, was reappointed a member of the commission.

To prevent motor damage when you

...you must have oil of high film strength

DID YOU know that idling along at 10 miles an hour or picking up suddenly can cause as much motor wear as high-speed driving?

All three put extreme pressure on your connecting rod and crankshaft bearings. If your oil does not have enough oiliness and film strength to withstand these high pressures, your motor parts suffer damaging wear. That's why you need oil with the greatest possible oiliness and film strength.

Straight mineral oils have no more oiliness and film strength than they had 10 years ago. Some, because of over-refining, have less!

Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil has more oiliness and 2 to 4 times more film strength than straight mineral oils! The Germ Process—adding concentrated oily essence to highly-refined, paraffin-base oil—puts into this oil more film strength and oiliness than any oil possesses naturally, no matter what crude oil it is from!

That extra film strength and oiliness enable Germ Processed Oil to stand the job and prevent wear under the extreme pressure and heat. It helps Germ Processed Oil give long mileage with greater motor protection, as proved by the famous Indianapolis Destruction Test.

Germ Processed Oil protects your motor another way. Because it penetrates and combines with metal surfaces, it forms a "Hidden Quart" that stays on your motor and cuts down wear during the starting period.

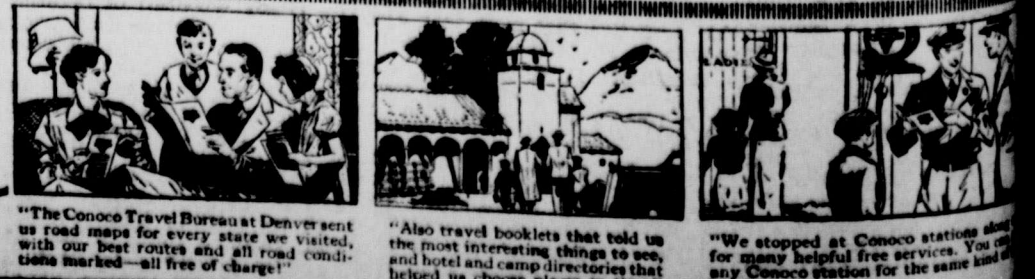

Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil is the oil you need in this day of slow driving, speed on the highway and sudden acceleration everywhere. It protects your motor and saves you money!

SOFTBALL LEAGUE IS REORGANIZED FOR NIGHT PLAY; FRIDAY AFTERNOON WILL BE ROSTER DEADLINE

Selection of the city softball night play was held at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, which probably will start for next week.

The player limit for each roster was raised from 15 to 18 men to allow more people an opportunity for play. The league committee will rule upon eligibility of new players.

The matter of selection of umpires was referred to the league committee, which will rule upon legality of delivery and will have the authority to bar players persistently using an illegal delivery.

MURDER TRIAL FOR STAFFORD CASE BEGINS

LUBBOCK, May 23 — Legal skirmishing began today in the unusual trial of four prominent West Texas men on federal murder charges in connection with the machine gun slaying of Spencer Stafford, federal narcotics agent.

Federal Judge James Wilson withheld a ruling temporarily on a defense motion for removal of the trial to Post, where Stafford was slain February 7.

Defendants in the case, the first charging murder ever tried in a federal court in West Texas are Sheriff W. P. Cato of Garza county; Dr. L. W. Kitchens, Post veterinarian; Dr. V. A. Hartman, Post physician; and Tom Morgan, Garza county farmer. As selection of jurors preceded the venire panel of 60 was quickly reduced to 43 by excuses and disqualifications.

Improvements Made At Cleaning Plant

Reacting to the split of progress that seems to reside in the human system of Cisco business concerns, Roan's Cleaning plant has joined those who are applying a little paint installing more modern machinery and giving a little more value to what they have to offer the general public in the way of service or merchandise.

A new washer, embodying the latest improvements known to the cleaning industry, and hooked up to a continuous flow system of filtered naphtha, has been installed and is now in operation in the above named plant.

"We wanted to be in the front row of progressiveness," said E. D. Roan, when seen today. "We think the people of Cisco are entitled to the best and our customers are going to have the best as long as we have anything to do with getting it for them," he continued.

Paint has added its part in touching up the interior and making it more spring-like—a few changes here and there, also aid in giving the maximum of service.

SISTER MARY'S RECIPES

BY MARY E. DAGUE

THIS year meat is high, and so it behooves every one of us to use every scrap of meat to get the utmost of food value.

The initial meat cost per pound is determined by supply and demand and naturally is out of control of the home-maker. But the cost of waste due to thoughtless cooking is the cook's responsibility.

Porterhouse steak is an example of thoughtless waste in many households because it seldom is cooked to give it its full value. Aside from the waste in bone and fat, the tail is usually overcooked and inedible.

Has Fine Flavor

Yet it has a fine flavor and if properly cooked is just as desirable as the tenderloin.

Try trimming the meat from the fat and put this piece of lean "tail" meat through the food chopper twice. Season with 1-4 teaspoon salt and a few grains of pepper. Mix with a few dried bread crumbs and add one or two tablespoons milk. Stir lightly with a fork until thoroughly mixed and shape in a small cake the thickness of the steak.

Fit the cake into the side of the steak where it came from and bring the fat end of the tail around it. Rub a skewer through the fat and meat cake into the loin of the steak to hold it secure.

Broil as usual. Remove skewer after steak is on platter.

unusual circumstance in connection with the graduation of Carl Robert. He is the sixth child of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Robert to graduate from Desdemona high school during the past 12 years and with only one exception they have been either first or second honor graduates.

L. E. Clark, accompanied by Grady Burnett, went to Austin on Tuesday of last week. At DeLeon they were joined by several business men who went with them to appear before the state highway commission and ask for the extension of highway No. 81 from DeLeon to Desdemona. This highway extends from DeLeon to Fredericksburg and connects with other important roads.

Sincere sympathy is being extended to David Parks on account of the death of his mother which occurred on May 9 at Iredell. Mr. and Mrs. Parks had visited her a few days before her death and went to the funeral. She was over 80 years old.

The many friends of Mrs. Betty Vestal daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bedford will be glad to know that she is expected to be able to leave the Burnett sanitarium at Fresno, Calif., on Saturday after having been there two weeks being treated for serious injuries received in a head-on collision of two cars. The most serious of her injuries was a dislocated vertebra and a broken ankle. For the past two years Mrs. Vestal has made her home in Fresno.

John McDonnell is improving slowly after having had one of his arms broken and several minor injuries by a fall several days ago.

Rev. and Mrs. Z. C. Chambliss are here this week during the vacation before the opening of the summer session of the Baptist seminary at Fort Worth. Last Thursday they were called to Tulla, Texas to attend the funeral of one of his sisters who died of dust pneumonia.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Unhulled strawberries, cereal, cream, potato omelet, bran muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Cream of asparagus soup, croquettes, sandwiches filled with marmalade and nuts, sliced bananas in cherry gelatine, lemonade.

DINNER: Porterhouse steak, new potatoes in cream sauce, buttered green beans, cucumber and lettuce salad, apple sauce, ginger bread, milk, coffee.

One vegetable is served with milk in order to add milk to the menu. If you prefer baked potatoes or French fried potatoes with the steak then serve the beans in a thin cream sauce.

French Lamb Chops

Rib lamb chops are cheaper than loin but they, too, may be served just as attractively if boned and rolled. Ask your butcher to French the chops for you. To do this he will scrape the meat from the bone. Then you can disjoint the rib from the bit of backbone and curl the meaty end back against the eye of the chop. Fasten with a skewer to keep in shape during cooking. Broil as usual and remove skewer before serving.

MOUNT SHERMAN, Ark. May 23 — A New Testament and a prayer started Wilderness Library. It has grown to 3000 volumes, read by Ozark mountain folk for miles around. James T. Richmond, the prayerful founder-director of the log cabin library, has visions now of adding 10,000 more volumes to circulate through branches established in nearby communities.

There is no rent on the books — Richmond circulates them as part of his plan for a spiritual and educational development. The single shelves that started with only the New Testament on its shelves expanded into many shelves as donations increased. Richmond is building an addition to his 10 by 20 feet log cabin into which he will move his kitchen giving more room for shelves.

The modest director, however cautions against any exaggerated ideas about his library. There are seldom more than a few hundred of the 3,000 circulating books on the shelves at one time. They are out being read by eager mountain folk. No pretentious library, this wilderness collection — just a place where humble people come in quest of knowledge.

No Railroad There

Up in this hill country of Newton county, where no railroad enters, their folk live close to the nature of their forefathers in simple goodness. Richmond's love for these folk and a conscientious desire to help them prompted the idea of Wilderness Library.

The people who walk down the many trails leading to his log cabin know Richmond affectionately as "The Wilderness Man."

It all started one night down in the abyssal darkness of an Ozark cave. Richmond, who explores caves near his 160-acre homestead, had spent most of the night squeezing between crevices of a cave in the Buffalo River country when his carbide lamp flickered and went out. As he sat striking dampened matches he pondered the idea of the library. The decision to found it came as one of the last matches sputtered and ignited the carbide. Then and there he dedicated the library to his mountain friends and his mother who spent two years before her death on his homestead. The small Testament he carried with him was the first book on the shelf.

Mrs. Bessie Aids

Donors include Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Dean Walter Williams of the University of Missouri, School of Journalism, Raymond Meley and Rexford Tugwell. Contribution have come from Miss Edith Koronos of Budapest, Hungary.

Richmond has established branch libraries in six surrounding communities. He hopes to add others as donations of additional books permit.

What kind of books do the people read?

"If there's only one book in an Ozark Mountain home," Richmond said, "it had a mighty good chance of being the Bible. People of the Ozarks still read it and still believe it to a great extent."

Like Poetry

Children read animal nature and Bible stories while serious minded farmers pore over volumes of biography, history, economics, politics, natural history and science.

The library needs more books, magazines and newspapers. Richmond said, but it also needs "the best jackass in Christendom for collecting and distributing books over backwoods trails, plowing the director's garden, dragging up logs for the fireplace and helping old folks over Twilight Trail that leads to the cabin library."

YS KISSING F HANDS IS ON INCREASE

May 23 — Andre de Fouquieres, the arbiter of male elegance and setter of men's fashions, has declared that the age does not lack chivalry, using a lady's hand is on the increase in France. At times it was only the aristocrat who indulged in the fine art of kissing a lady's hand, but today it is the married lady who is honored by this gesture. No one is this honor bestowed only on the married lady. The "Madeira" comes in for lots of it. Formerly hand kissing was reserved to a man's own home, but now it is a well known sight in places, in tea rooms, restaurants, stations or cafes. According to Fouquieres, it is the and Hollywood who are responsible for the increase of hand kissing. Repeated exhibitions of the hair-dressed screen idols benightedly over the white handkerchiefs of the actresses has made the art which was formerly gentlemanly. In popularizing kissing, the gesture has lost its qualities. In the old days a mark of greatest respect today it has become a mere reflex action which signifies, but retains the charm of chivalry.

ARMOR OF AIR SAVES HUMANS FROM METEORS

CHICAGO, May 23. — Humanity would be bombarded and slaughtered by millions of meteors if it wasn't for the protecting armor of air surrounding the earth, according to Henry W. Nichols, curator of geology at the Field Museum of Natural History here.

Nichols in charge of the largest collection of meteorites in the world, said that the bodies are 80 miles and travel at such high velocity, human existence would be disastrous, if not impossible, should they reach the earth's surface.

The air, however, forms an obstacle through which few meteorites can pass. Those few that do succeed in passing the barrier are so cushioned their speed and size are reduced enough to make them practically harmless.

Recorded history there is only one instance of a person being harmed and only a few cases of property damage.

"Most meteorites are small, comparable with grains of sand in size," Nichols explained.

"But, as most of them enter the air at speeds between eight and 48 miles per second, even such small particles would be deadly projectiles."

Terrific Force "A meteorite that weighs only one pound, moving at a speed of 44 miles per second, would strike with a force of 800,000,000 foot pounds. The smashing power of a meteorite of even moderately large size would be much greater," he said.

As the body meets the resistance of the air, the friction of passage rapidly reduces its velocity. That friction generates sufficient heat to melt the surface, forming a film of molten matter. The powerful air currents generated by the passage, blows off the film, which trails behind, leaving the luminous train seen behind meteors and shooting stars.

HORN RACKET IS THREATENED BY OUTSIDERS

MINNEOLA, May 23. — If you haven't heard of the "horn racket," listen and you shall hear.

The horns of Texas longhorn cattle, dressed and polished, are among the most popular souvenirs visitors like to carry away as tokens of their visits to Texas. Furthermore, the horns are becoming more and more scarce each year, because Texas longhorn cattle are practically exterminated.

Many years ago, L. D. Bertillon of Mineola, then a silver prospector, discovered a cave near the Rio Grande in West Texas where a herd of longhorns, unable to find the exit, had died.

The horns provided a rich harvest for Bertillon, who gave up prospecting, developed a method of dressing and polishing the horns and became the "horn king" of Texas, as the cave supply seemed inexhaustible.

In Spain, Italy and Portugal, where, it seems, the cattle also are equipped with long horns, certain individuals saw a nice profit in shipping horns from their cattle over to Texas.

Since the Europeans could acquire, dress, polish and ship the horns to Texas for less than a dollar, a pair, and sell them as high as $15 a pair, with plenty of takers, it seemed like a "racket" well worth horning in on, they did.

Now Bertillon is afraid that Texas Centennial visitors next year will buy Spanish, Portuguese or Italian longhorns, instead of the grade-A, bona fide antlers of the proud Texas prairie cattle. Bertillon says what worries him most is the fact that foreign cattle have such diseases as anthrax, rinderpest, and others of which Texas cattle are free.

Rice To Hold Track Meet On June 7-8

HOUSTON, May 23.—Track stars of the South and Southwest have been invited to attend the meet of the Gulf Association of the A. A. U. June 7-8 at Rice Institute.

Jack Rafferty, A. A. U. official, said Dr. Gaylord Johnson, business manager of athletics at Rice, had invited Jack Torrence, world's shot-put champion, and "Slats" Hardin of L. S. U. and Buddy Neugas of Tulane.

The junior meet will be held on June 7 and the senior events on the following day.

SEATTLE — Mrs. Elizabeth Strom and Mrs. Magdalena Applequist claim to be the oldest twins in the Pacific Northwest. They celebrated their 80th birthday recently.

BRITONS SLAKE THIRST IN SEA OF NEW DRINKS

By H. L. PERRY United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, May 23. — aPatriotic Britons are getting gloriously pie-eyed trying out all the new Silver Jubilee cocktails and drinks.

All the swank bars have invented some concoction which they choose to call "Silver Jubilee," "Jubilee," or what have you.

There's Harry Craddock, dean of cocktail-shakers, at the Savoy Hotel, for instance. Harry calls his "Royal Jubilee," and says it consists of one-half Calvados, one-quarter Cointreau, and one-quarter fresh lemon juice.

Then there's Billy Taring at the Cafe Royal with a "Silver Jubilee" consisting of half gin, quarter creme de banal, quarter fresh cream.

Alex at the Cumberland Hotel also has a "Silver Jubilee" shake-up. It's made of one-third Canadian whiskey, one-third dry sherry, one-third Calvados, the white of an egg, and just a spot of some new liqueur, whose name Alex won't reveal.

Americans, they say, like Alex's "Silver Jubilee" best. Tony at the Trocadero waves a Union Jack and produces an all-Empire work of art, consisting of two parts London gin, one part Kan der Hum from Cape Town, one dash of Gomme syrup, London-made, and a dash of lime, or lemon juice, from the British West Indies. Like Craddock he calls it "Royal Jubilee."

Seeking To Abolish Capital Punishment

HOUSTON, May 23 — Abolishment of capital punishment in Texas will be sought in an organization which Miss Camille Openshaw, attorney, and Miss Fanette Boswell of Houston, announced they would form soon.
They were active in efforts to obtain clemency for Raymond Hamilton, youthful Dallas desperado who was electrocuted with Joe Palmer on May 10, for the murder of a prison guard.
"I feel sure that 80 per cent of the 40,000 men and women who signed the petitions asking for clemency, expressed themselves in the hope that we would continue with the work," Miss Boswell said.
"They said they saw the futility of the electric chair as a preventative for crime."
Organization plans will be announced shortly, they said.

15 MOST POPULAR SONG HITS ARE CHOSEN WEEKLY FOR "HIT PARADE"

The fifteen most popular song hits of the week compose the program of the Lucky Strike "Hit Parade" heard over the National Broadcasting company Red Network every Saturday evening. How the choice of the American public is determined each week is an interesting story.

When the idea of the "Hit Parade" was first conceived it was admitted that a weekly personal poll of the 124,000,000 humans in the United States was obviously impossible. Many "short cuts" to obtain the same result were considered and finally four dominating factors were decided upon as fair barometers of the popularity of a song. Namely, they are: The sales of sheet music; second, the sales of phonograph records; third, the number of times played on the air in favorite national broadcasts; fourth, the number of times requested of orchestra leaders in hotels, night clubs and similar spots by the dancers on the floor.

To gather this information quickly and accurately, a large organization has been established with headquarters in New York, branches in every city throughout the United States and correspondents in many smaller towns. In each of the offices, there are four groups of investigators, each allotted to one of the four main sources of information. One group contacts sheet music jobbers, distributors, and dealers, using phone, telegraph and personal calls to ascertain their best sellers at the moment. The second group makes a similar survey of the phonograph record field while the third group contacts the fan mail requests of the local broadcasting stations and checks these against the number of times a selection is played on the air. The fourth group devotes itself to orchestra directors in hotels, night clubs, and other spots in which music attracts customers. The number of requests to these orchestras is accurately tabulated.

Constantly, the tabulated figures of the branch offices are being wired to New York, where they are compiled and a daily national consensus is prepared. Early each week from a glance at the latest consensus, it is readily apparent that about five songs have so entrenched themselves as leaders that their inclusion among the fifteen numbers is a virtual certainty.

These are then given to Lennie Hayton, the musical director of the "Hit Parade," to go to work on as the skeleton of the following Saturday's show. Orchestration are made, special arrangements prepared, and allotments made to the vocal soloists for their parts. By Thursday morning the consensus will indicate another five who have "clinched" places in the select list,

TEXAS PERMANENT SCHOOL FUND SUFFERS LOSS ON INVESTMENTS

AUSTIN, May 23.—Texas' permanent school fund suffered grave losses through investments in depression years, according to a report by the house of representatives investigating committee, of $41,412,000 invested. The committee's investigators estimated 25 per cent of the bonds held are "good, 25 per cent, fair, and 50 per cent undesirable."

The investigation was ordered by the house after a report had been filed by the state auditor criticizing the investment of school funds. He estimated that $1,318,000 was invested in worthless securities. The permanent school fund consists of money received from sale of school lands, leases and oil royalties from the land.

40 YEARS LONG WAIT

POMEROY, O. — After 40 years, Mrs. Martha Harris has given up hope of her husband returning and has filed suit for divorce. She married William Harris Oct. 25, 1894. She says he disappeared soon after the wedding. She asks restoration of her maiden name.

OLD FIRE PUT OUT

PLENTYWOOD, Mont. — Fire, which has been raging in the McCoy coal mine here for approximately 15 years, finally has been extinguished. The task was accomplished by a crew of 14 men, working since May of last year. Cost of the project was about $10,000.

BIG ROSE BUSH

FRESNO, Cal. — Only Californians will believe this one. W. P. Frame, Fowler rancher, boasts a rose bush measuring 40 feet across, 20 feet high, and covering 2,000 square feet. The trunk is four feet around at the base. The bush, of the Lewis variety, is 23 years old.

CAUGHT DUCK

ROCHESTER, Ind. — Halbert Thompson, Kokomo, wants to know if fishing for ducks is against the law. Thompson baited his hook with a minnow one night and retired. The next morning he found that a Blue Bill wild duck had snapped at the minnow. He freed the bird.

'STOW AWAYS'

CLEVELAND — Two diamond-back rattlesnakes, thought to have hidden in shipments of food from South or Central American countries, were killed on the street here, near a food terminal. The snakes are not native to Ohio.

TAX DEPUTY HERE

For the convenience of the people, J. E. Blitch, county deputy tax assessor, will be at the Chamber of Commerce building for the next few days. Ciscoans were asked to see him there at that time and render their tax valuations so that their property will not be on the unrendered list.

GRADUATION IS KIND TO TEXAS NINE, RUNNERS

AUSTIN, May 23 — University of Texas baseball and track teams, which coasted to easy victories in the Southwest conference this spring, will return almost intact next fall. Graduation will remove Bohn Hilliard, regular second baseman; Captain Buster Baebel, center fielder, and Del Jamary, utility outfielder, from Coach W. J. Ditch's line-up, but his freshmen reserves are doped to offset the loss. Clyde Littlefield's powerful track squad, champions four times in a row, should be the strongest in history, if all eligibles return for next season. Moody Pickett, sprinter; Frank Hubbell, javelin thrower; and Osborne Hodges, weight man; are the only losses to his team this year.

Sophomore recruits next year are the most promising in years, with Sprinter H. V. Reeves, Jr., former Schremer Institute star, likely to furnish Texas the fourth man for the nation's finest spring relay team.

Wallender, Rockhold, and Grunstein, fastest of the record breaking relay sprinters this season, all return for competition. MINISTER FOREST RANGER TULARE, Cal. — A minister in the winter, the Rev. Arthur Rice of the Tulare Congregational church will become a forest ranger in Yosemite this summer. He held the same job in 1933 and 1934 while a pastor in Salt Lake City.

WARSAW, Ind. — A spring tax installment of $28.16 was paid with 1.19¢ penalties and 12¢ dimes by a Harrison Township farmer at the county treasurer's office here. The money was saved during the past year.

COWS EMULATE GOATS SANDUSKY, O. — These are the things Dr. P. V. Howard, meat inspector for the city, has found in the stomach of Erie county cows at one time or another: nuts, bolts, screws, wire, nails, a pitchfork prong, and the most surprising of all, a purse filled with coins.

JAIL GOES AESTHETIC PITTSFIELD, Mass. — The Berkshire county jail has gone aesthetic. Sheriff J. Bruce McIntyre is having a lily pond constructed in the jail yard, where prisoners, from cell windows, may watch the antics of frogs and turtles.

FISHING POLES TAXABLE BELLEFONTAINE, O. — Fishin' poles are taxable under Ohio's sales tax law. Mrs. Nellie Martin was fined $25 and costs in justice court for failing to collect the tax on rent of a fishpole.

PAID TAX WARSW, Ind. — A spring tax installment of $28.16 was paid with 1.19¢ penalties and 12¢ dimes by a Harrison Township farmer at the county treasurer's office here. The money was saved during the past year.

COUPLER FOUND FREMONT, Neb. — An old railroad car coupler link, which railroaders say is a rarity today, is on exhibition here. It was found by workmen beautifying the former site of a railroad derrick yard. The coupling, thick with rust and weighing about 10 to 15 pounds, was outlawed in 1900 as too dangerous to switchmen.

SCOUTS HOLD MEET Troop Four of the Boy Scouts met in regular session Friday night at the First Methodist church to hear an address by Dr. Hubert Seale. His subject was "First Aid."

Farmer Hurt When Mule Attacks Him

SAN AUGUSTINE, Tex., May 23. — R. L. Reynolds, farmer living about 18 miles south of San Augustine, was recovering today from severe injuries received when he was attacked by a mule. Reynolds was riding the mule in the field where he had been working, when the mule threw him and put his foot on the farmer's chest, breaking his collar bone.

The farmer managed to free himself, after nearly dislocating his right arm, but the mule followed him and knocked him to the ground. The animal then bit him on the back and shoulders, inflicting painful flesh injuries.

Reynolds was finally rescued by Jessie Albright, farmer, who happened to be nearby. Physicians reported the case very unusual but said Reynolds' condition was not serious.

Valley Produce Is Expected to Drop

SAN BENITO, May 23 — Fruit and vegetable shipments from the Lower Rio Grande Valley this season were expected to fall approximately 5,000 carloads under an early estimate of 25,000 carloads.

Tomatoes, one of the largest crops, were slow in moving in carload quantities because of the unusually low prices. Most of the tomato crop has been shipped by truck.

The decrease in shipments is primarily due to a late freeze which almost completely destroyed the Valley's potato and cabbage crops.

The normal shipment of potatoes is approximately 1,000 carloads. This year it was expected that less than 300 carloads of potatoes would be shipped.

ATTORNEY FOR WIFE MEMPHIS, Tenn. — When Mrs. Josephine Hubbard Houston decided she wanted a divorce on grounds of abandonment, she could think of no better attorney than her husband. She hired him; he procured the papers—and now they are separated.

CHARLOTTE, N. C. — After working side by side for years, issuing marriage licenses Margaret Ferguson and Julian L. Martin obtained one for themselves.

Less Cost Foreseen For Relief Setup

AUSTIN, May 23.—Reduced administration costs are expected under the newly-created relief department division of finance, State Director Adam R. Johnson said today.

J. T. Duke, formerly auditor and coordinator for the state board of control, heads the new division. He will supervise the departments of purchasing, research and statistics, accounting and disbursing.

The new set-up will allow coordination of relief expenditures, Johnson said, and allow supervision of county budgets.

TCU To Grant Two Bachelor Degrees

FORT WORTH, May 23 — Beginning with the school year 1935-36, Texas Christian University will grant two degrees—Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science.

There has been no curtailment in the university's work, only a change to conform to more established usage," said Dean Colby D. Hall in making the announcement.

Old Bronze Crucifix Turned Up by Plow

BEAUMONT, May 23 — An ancient bronze crucifix, apparently hand wrought centuries ago, was turned up by a plow by Lewis Kevia, farmer, living near Kountz, Texas.

The crucifix has a chain attached and his believed to have been the possession of an early Catholic missionary possible a member of LaSalle party who was slain by Indians.

HARDWORKING HENS TIFFIN, O. — Chickens in the flock owned by Mrs. Joseph Clouse are placing their own interpretation on the AAA's effort to curtail production. One hen determined to observe the principle of restriction in the letter, if not in the spirit, by packing three ordinary eggs into one shell. The egg weighed four ounces and had a circumference of 7 1-3 inches. Another hen hatched a chicken with three legs.

LIKE BAND MUSIC NAMPA, Idaho. — In the interests of musical culture in their community, a group of 30 women in the Horseshoe Bend Improvement club has purchased and maintained musical instruments for a 35-piece orchestra. The instruments are loaned free of charge to all seriously interested persons, the only stipulation being that the borrower practice daily and play in the orchestra.

FAVORS OWN WINES SACRAMENTO, Cal. — California has at least one market "seeded up" in its own state. Preference for California wines is shown in a recent report of the state board of equalization. Consumption totaled 1,610,377 gallons last month, of which only seventenths of one per cent was produced outside the state.

GETS YOUNG'S LIBRARY NEW PHILADELPHIA, O. — A library of 400 volumes, including a number of foreign language books, which was the property of Denton T. "Cy" Young, famous old major league pitcher, has been secured by the Brewster high school. Young disposed of the property recently when he left to go in training for a series of exhibition games.

Little Known Facts About Banks

If Banks Were Operated for Profit Only

Nowhere in the world do the banks service to the community ahead of profit as in the United States.

The truth of this is shown in a recent survey, which revealed that "in the average bank 50% of the depositors can but 3% of the total deposits" . . . other words, American banks sacrifice profits by providing better banking facilities to more people than is considered necessary by banks in other countries. But that is the "American spirit" of American banking.

Need we add that service to the community comes first at this bank? Here the small depositor receives the same service as the larger depositor, and his account is just as welcome.

Golden Rule Use Is Urged to Save Fruit, Tummyache

The police department Saturday appealed to the boys and girls of Cisco to give the Golden Rule a chance to work, and maybe save themselves a stomach-ache as well.

The appeal came as an effort to save the fruit just beginning to ripen on trees in the city.

"We want to ask them not to take any of this green fruit," Chief M. L. Perdue said. "The owners are asking them to give it a chance to ripen, because they want to get some benefit from it too."

"We want to ask the boys and girls to treat the owners of the trees the way they themselves would like to be treated."

FORD V-8

Everything you want in a modern motor car

When you talk to the man who owns and drives the car, you're pretty sure to get an opinion you can bank on. We asked a recent purchaser of a Ford V-8 how he liked it.

"It has everything," he said. "Everything I've ever wanted in a motor car."

Nothing spectacular about that—no loud shouting. But it sums up the whole story of the Ford V-8 and the reason it is setting the pace for 1935. That has been the Ford idea always—to give people a well-balanced, all-around car. No one feature is stressed at the expense of others.

Of course the V-8 engine stood out from the beginning. The idea of putting into a low-priced car an engine which had always been associated with the most expensive makes was new and revolutionary. But it was not an experiment. We knew it would prove to be economical as well as smooth and powerful—because we had tested it.

In this 1935 Ford we have tried to bring the entire car up to the modern performance of the V-8 engine. We have aimed for beauty and balance and comfort—as well as usefulness and economy. You probably know some people who are driving this car. We would like to have you ask them how they like it.

SILVER PRICE RISE RECALLS MINING SUIT

DEADWOOD, S. D., May 23—The recent rise in the price of silver has focused the eyes of the mining world on Galena, center of the silver industry in the northern hills since the late 70s. The Double Rainbow Mines Corporation is expected to resume operations in silver and lead mines at Galena in the near future. With silver at 77.57 cents, mines can be reopened and operated at a profit according to local mining men.

Early prospectors searching for gold found the vein of almost pure galena which gives the town its name and located the famous Sitting Bull and Richmond claims now part of the Double Rainbow holdings. It was over these two adjoining claims that Col. J. H. Davey, owner of the Sitting Bull, and Pat Duggan, then owner of the Richmond, had their famous feud which finally was settled by one of the most important decisions ever returned by a mining court.

The ore vein had its top on Davey's claim and its apex underground on Duggan's holdings. Duggan accused the fiery Colonel of dipping into the ore vein on Duggan's property and declared that Colonel Davey under no circumstances had any right to go over the end lines of the claims.

The Colonel, however, felt that inasmuch as he was only following the vein he had found on his claim, he was going to keep right on digging regardless of how much Duggan might object. He did. He threw up a bulwark underground placed armed guards between the lines and in this way, was able to remove most of the ore before Duggan could tunnel into his own claim from the top and drift toward the ore vein.

In one of the quarrels that followed, one of Duggan's men was killed by the Davey forces. Duggan then obtained an injunction closing all the properties involved and proceeded to bring suit against Colonel Davey for damages.

The case after months of waiting finally reached Judge J. H. Church in the United States District Court. After a 65 day hearing the court arrived at a decision in favor of the plaintiff. Davey then appealed to the Supreme court, but before a decision could be handed down, he had exhausted his funds.

Opening Date For Centennial Is Set

DALLAS, May 23 — Date for the opening of the Texas Centennial central exposition at Dallas has been officially set for June 5, 1936, it was announced.

At a meeting Friday, directors of the Centennial set the opening day for the exposition, authorized the start of construction work as plans are complete, and voted to support a campaign to sell $50,000 of unsold bonds for the Centennial.

Col. J. Franklin Bell, formerly with the Century of Progress in Chicago, was appointed director of exhibits.

The plan to have a replica of the Mission of San Francisco de la Tejas near Houston, oldest Catholic church in the state, built for the fair, was also approved.

Musical Summer For St. Louis Planned

ST. LOUIS, May 23 — Lawrence Schwab of New York, new director of the Municipal Opera, summer-time attraction to thousands in the midwest, is preparing to make St. Louis "the summer Broadway of the nation."

His casting plans for the dozen presentations to be made on the outdoor stage in Forest Park are being patterned after the manner of show production in New York. A new cast for each opera is Schwab's plan.

"In the three months during this summer," he said, "St. Louis will have a series of shows that New York waits years for."

The natural amphitheater in the park is being prepared in June. A natural procession of trees will help to beautify stage settings.

Collegians Battle In Campus Election

OXFORD, O., May 23—As a prelude to campus elections, members of the "New Deal" and "Liberal" parties of Miami university here fought with decayed eggs, lists and water hoses.

Rioting started when members of the New Deal party attempted to stop a Liberal party rally. Fight started. Students marching in a parade were egged. Finally, party leaders stopped the disorder with pleas that the rioters "go home to bed."

PICKED UP BROKEN LEG. ARLINGTON, Mass. — Philby Zawatawski was struck by an automobile and received injuries to the extent of one "broken" and one injured leg. Zawatawski didn't make any outcry, but picked up the broken piece of leg and hobbled into an ambulance that had been called. It was his wooden leg that was broken and the hospital said it could easily be repaired.

POST CARD 45 YEARS OLD. ROCKLAND, Me. — A postcard addressed to the Rockland Free Press, out of existence for the past 40 years, was found when a partition was removed in the post office here recently. It was an order to discontinue sending the "Free Press" as the sender was "gone."

USSR SCIENCE IN NEW FIELDS OF ENDEAVOR

MOSCOW, May 23 — This year marks the highest point reached in Soviet science and exploration in the 17 years of the country's existence.

A new type batysphere now is under construction in a Leningrad scientific laboratory with which the start of construction work as record set up by Dr. William Beebe. This will be the first time that the Soviet has attempted to explore the depths of the ocean, but their success in the stratosphere has made them seek new fields.

In the Soviet campaign of "Conquer the Arctic for the Soviets" 76 ships will sail the Arctic waters this summer, establishing regular routes, prospecting for natural wealth and filling in the white, unexplored regions on the map.

One ship, the ice-breaker "Sever," will make an attempt to explore the stretches between 81 and 83 degrees northern latitude where only two ships have been in the past. It is believed that considerable stretches of clear water may be found in this region.

Top of the World Air Line. In the realm of aviation new planes are being built and new air lines opened. Special "freezerproof" planes, insulated against all cold have been built for Arctic flying.

A trunk line using this type of plane will be opened during the year running all the way from west to east over the top of the world, from Murmansk to the Bering Sea. Two new stratosphere balloons are being built for flight into the upper layers of the atmosphere this summer. They will have all the safety features possible to safeguard the lives of the pilots.

In the field of medicine scientists have announced that they can determine the condition and development of pregnancy by eye sensitive tests. Also that they are well on the road to the predetermination of sex.

GULLS GIVE LESSON. VICTORIA, B. C. — Seagulls have opened a swimming school for crows on the waterfront here. The gulls show the crows how to alight on the water. They spring from a log into the water and back onto the log. The crows, after watching the performance, try it with varying degrees of success.

HONORS MRS. ROOSEVELT. GALLIPOLIS, O. — The name of the new community center at Red House on Kanawha, a few miles removed from this city, will be changed to Eleanorville, honoring the wife of President Roosevelt. Mrs. Roosevelt visited and visited it several times during the construction period. Nearly all the 150 homes are now occupied.

27 YEARS TOO LONG. LOS ANGELES. — Mighty patient is the law, but 27 years is too long to wait. So Judge Edward Bishop dismissed a lawsuit filed March 2, 1908, by J. P. Dodson, contractor, against A. M. Smith, for a small sum said to have been due in a paving contract. The suit had never been followed up by prosecution.

Class for Anglers Is Being Planned

CHICAGO, May 23 — "Professors" of the Izaak Walton League are planning to conduct a real fishing school, to teach young hopefuls and the old boys the fine points of the pictorial art.

The "school" will be held in cooperation with the Junior Association of Commerce fishing trip, May 29 to June 3.

Classes, according to the "professors," will be open to both undergraduate and graduate students, and the curriculum will cover every important point in the noble art of plain and fancy rod and reel.

Fishermen who attend the school, according to Lester A. Colby, vice-president of the chapter and one of the organizers of the school will be required to take a special course in truthfulness.

"The notorious liar," Colby said, "is generally deplored by the real practitioners of the fishing art. We hope to stamp out this art. We will institute definite standards, demanding that our students submit photographs or produce eye witnesses to back up their stories of fish that got away. A good fisherman doesn't need to lie."

Lafayette's Last Home Is Reopened

PARIS, May 23 — The Chateau de La Grange-Blancou, of special interest to Americans because the Marquis de La Fayette spent the final four years of his life (1790-1834) there, now is open to visitors.

Arrangements for this have just been made with the Count Louis de Lasterie, former Minister of Finance, who is the present owner and occupant of this historic chateau.

Every week, some D. A. R.-ling, or other American visitor, is welcomed to La Fayette's one-time home which, only an hour from Paris, is becoming a Franco-American shrine.

Fourteenth century towers are covered with dark ivy, while the most surrounding the castle gives it an impressive feudal aspect. Within is a collection of paintings, primarily of La Fayette himself, including a portrait by Ary Scheffer and a bust by David d'Angers.

Could La Fayette return to La Grange-Blancou, he would find the chateau much the same as he left it 101 years ago. His study has been kept exactly the same as when La Fayette last used it. His writing table is there, seemingly awaiting his arrival, as well as his card table.

CISCO POLICE FORCE LAUDED BY MINISTERS

The second annual police banquet was held Monday night in the basement of the First Presbyterian church with an attendance of 53, consisting of city officials, ministers, and newspaper men of Cisco, and some invited guests from out of the city. The wives of most of those attending, were also present. The banquet was served by young women of the Presbyterian church.

Police Commissioner H. C. Henderson presiding and, saying he had no special program, called on all members of the police force and members of the city commission for short talks and then volunteer talks from the ministers, their wives, and from the visitors.

Most of these talks praised the police or their law enforcement work and pledged their hearty support in all such work. District Attorney Grady Owen of Eastland commended Cisco in her fine spirit of cooperation for law and order.

Much humor was shown in the talks. J. B. Cate, who was not allowed to use his trusty pipe, made one of the best talks of the evening. The climax of the program was the talk by Rev. Bryan Keathley, Presbyterian minister, recently from Graham, on "Capping the Snock."

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Grady Owen, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. LaRoe, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Grantham, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cate, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Foxworth, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Winston, Mr. and Mrs. J. "This Day We Sailed Westward Which Is Our Course"

When Columbus was upon the seas sailing toward this new land, he passed through and overcome difficulties that would have discouraged most men.

He encountered storms that tossed his frail ships about like chips.

Day after day, week on end, he sailed the uncharted sea, no land coming in sight.

After a time his men reached a state of practical mutiny and only by the exercise of will could he keep them at the task.

Yet on his log day after day following the story of his troubles appeared the closing entry:

"This day we sailed westward, which is our course."

This phrase is commended to you, for entry in your logbook of life.

Difficulties beset you, life's tempests almost overwhelm you, sometimes mutiny arises in your own heart, you become discouraged to the point of giving up your ideals, your ambitions.

Don't Do It!

Keep on studying—keep up your program of self-improvement, keep working toward your ambition, keep striving for your ideal, continue onward toward your goal and let the close of each day see this entry in your logbook of life—

"Nevertheless this day I continued on my course!"

"THEY DON'T GET YOUR WIND" ATHLETES SAY

So mild, athletes smoke as many as they please—and that's real mildness!

Of course you want mildness in a cigarette. And the athletes—to whom "wind," healthy nerves, "condition" are vitally important—insist on mildness. Lou Gehrig, baseball's "Iron Man," says: "Camels are so mild they never get my 'wind.'"

George Barker, intercollegiate cross-country champion, says: "Camels are so mild, they don't cut my 'wind' in any way." Bobby Walthour, Jr., star of the six-day bike grinds, says: "I've got to have 'wind' in bike racing. For my cigarette I long ago chose Camels."

Tommy Armour, speaking for golf, Bruce Barnes for tennis, and Betty Bailey for the aquatic sports—all agree: "Camels don't get your 'wind.'"

What this mildness means to you!... It means you can smoke as many Camels as you please. Athletes say Camel's costlier tobaccos never disturb your nerves—never tire your taste—never get your "wind."
