ERS SAVED BY LEAP WHEN PLANE BURNS

ANNING, Calif., June 22 — Three fliers leaped to safety by parachute when the army observation plane they were flying from Field to Brooks Field, San Fran, caught fire at an elevation of 200 feet.

Men were Capt. R. I. Dugan, F. H. McDuff, and Sergeant Miles. McDuff was pilot. Dugan and McDuff dropped 2,000 before opening their parachutes. It was only 200 feet from earth when his parachute opened. They fell without injury.

The plane, falling four and a half west of here, started a brush which burned over several acres.

VULCANIZING SAVES LASH, Says Lankford

itors could save a lot of money in the opinion of Eugene Lankford, if they quit throwing tires just because they have them. Lankford, along with brother, Livius, has recently taken over Gene's Tire Shop, 105 Fifth street.

He demonstrated how scientific vulcanizing makes a tire almost as new and at the same time down expenses.

There are three important elements in good vulcanizing, he said. They are heat, pressure, and proper time.

The two young men are working tire shop to earn money to attend college next fall. Eugene wants to the University of Texas and to Randolph.

Ciscoans Warned To Look for Bogus Money

CALL POLICE
ADVICE GIVEN BY ATTORNEY

Cisco merchants Saturday were warned that there is a great deal of counterfeit money being passed in this part of the country, and that they should inspect money carefully as they accept it.

City Attorney R. E. Grantham warned that both counterfeit bills and bogus coins are being passed.

"All counterfeit money should be reported to the chief of police immediately," he said. "This is the only way we will be able to trace it and find the counterfeiting ring."

At least one counterfeiting ring has passed bad money here recently, it was thought by city authorities.

The city attorney said that, although the counterfeit money is a rather good imitation of the real, it can be detected by the average person if he is looking for it.

Bills being passed were said to be of $1, $5, and $10 denominations. They were described as printed with a darker ink than the real money and on inferior quality paper.

The bad coins circulating are quarters and half dollars. They are lighter in weight than the real silver coins, little darker, and of a different ring when dropped.

Trains Again Run In Flood District

WHARTON, June 22 — Residents harried for a week by Colorado river floods, planned to go to the railroad depot today and "watch the train come in."

The train will negotiate several miles of damaged track. It will be its first arrival since Tuesday. Railroad employees said the right of way is still was inundated in several places.

The river continued to fall today and stood at 37.5 feet, more than a foot lower than the crest.

Water drained slowly from business streets but highway traffic still was cut off. Roads were covered by several feet of water.

Man Confesses To Slaying of Girl

PEORIA, Ill., June 22 — Police said today Gerald Thompson, 25 year old machinist, has confessed he murdered pretty Mildred Hallmark, 19, member of a respected Peoria family because she bit his hand when he tried to make love to her.

Thompson, a handsome, dark-haired man, broke down after 20 hours of questioning. He confessed when Mildred's blood stained garments were tossed into his lap.

He admitted he followed the girl Monday night, forced her to get into his car, and drove to the cemetery. When she resisted his advances, he said that he struck her on the chin, knocking her out.

Roper Vindicated At Senate Hearing

WASHINGTON, June 22 — Ewing Roper's charges of "graft and corruption" in the department of commerce, from which he was ousted as assistant secretary, appeared today to be a closed incident so far as the senate commerce is concerned.

Chairman Royal S. Copeland said at the conclusion of the three-day hearing that he believed the commerce department had been completely vindicated. "I am frank to say the charges were merely inventions," he said.

Copeland said he believed Secretary Daniel Roper and other officials had answered Mitchell "sufficiently and completely."

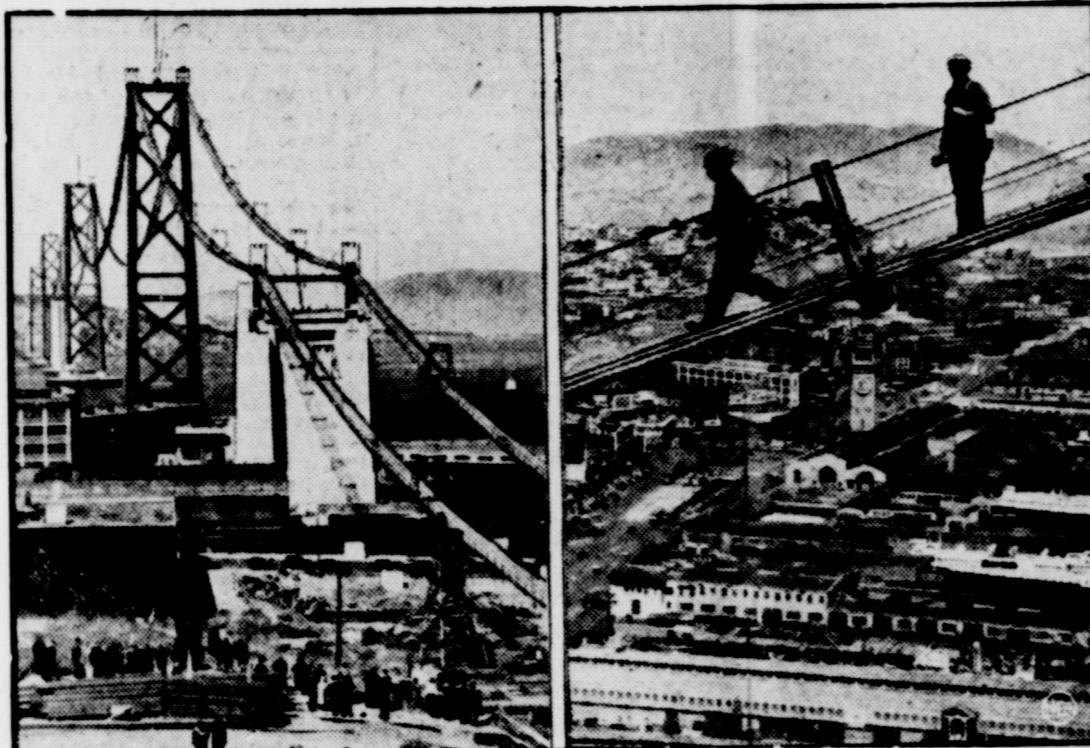

Roosevelt Issue Young Demo Puzzle

DALLAS, June 22 — Young demonstrators of Dallas still were all adithers today over the issue of whether young Elliott Roosevelt is to retain the first vice presidency of the organization.

The organization was threatened with a split as the triumphant Roosevelt faction threatened to "kick out" his opponent.

Both sides admitted that defeat of the resolution which would have demanded his resignation had not ended the issue.

Both sides admitted that defeat of the resolution which would have demanded his resignation had not ended the issue.

A program is being worked out by the various committees it was announced Saturday. It will consist of a welcome by Cisco representatives, followed by the picnic at 7 o'clock. Booster talks will be made by Houston officials following the meal.

The Humble Boosters for four years have been sponsoring outings which bring together Humble employees of this division. In addition, employees gather here each month for safety meetings.

ALASKA FARM COLONY TO GET INVESTIGATION

WASHINGTON, June 22 — Appeals from relief administration colonists in Alaska for correction of "intolerable conditions" today brought promises of a thorough investigation.

The senate, after hearing reports that "nearly every one of the 2,000 colonists is sick and there is only one physician and a nurse," ordered Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins to report immediately on conditions in the colony.

Telegraphic appeals from the colonists in the far north wilderness and reports of a possible epidemic spurred senate action. Hopkins promised that "a report would be forthcoming promptly and in full course."

The colonists were selected last spring from relief rolls in Minnesota, Michigan, and Wisconsin. Civilian Conservation Corps men preceded them to Palmer, site of the Alaskan village settlement. Government ships transported the colonists to Alaska recently.

Since then reports of discontent with conditions have trickled back to the states but have been minimized by relief administration officials. Some of the CCC workers were reported to have left the colony and returned to the states.

Winners of the district auditions will appear on broadcasts from WFAA, Dallas, scheduled for their respective districts and will return for another appearance on the final broadcasts from the same station. Winner of the grand prize, the outstanding amateur of Texas, will be awarded a trip to Hollywood with a tour of the major motion picture studios, a stopover at the San Diego exposition and an audition at the Los Angeles N. B. C. studios. Other finalists will be afforded an opportunity to appear over WFAA.

The contest is to afford capable amateur performers an opportunity to demonstrate their abilities, for the purpose of discovering new radio talent.

The district audition will be held at the Palace theatre here July 3 it has been announced.

GAS WORKERS GIVEN HONORS FOR RECORDS

Performing their tasks with roaring machines and in storm and blizzard without a single loss time accident for periods of from one to five years brought honors and words of praise for the personnel of 16 stations and plants of the Lone Star Gas System in the Laguna Hotel last night.

One of the largest general safety meetings to be held by the company in Cisco in several years heard of officials from Dallas, representatives of local civic organizations, and city officials praise the men who have carried on their public service work without accidents.

Appreciation for the hearty welcome extended Lone Star employees and praise of employees for their safety records were expressed by Frank L. Chase president of Community Natural and vice president-general manager of Lone Star. He congratulated Cisco on its energetic Boosters club and chamber of commerce.

To Grow With City

"We appreciate the welcome we have received," he said. "We want to be your friends, and we want your good will and respect. We are proud of our men and our service and feel that our organization has won your respect. We look forward to growing and developing with your city."

Present economic conditions were considered by Chase. He pointed out that Texas has the greatest gas reserves of any state yet are far behind in consumption and use of this valuable fuel.

"Texas has brilliant prospects of becoming the nation's most important state, but I fear that present national legislation will tend to retard further development and realization of benefits from our great natural gas resources rather than accelerate," he said, speaking of the proposed Wheeler Rayburn bill.

"This matter should be seriously considered by the business men of Cisco, it has a vital bearing upon your future prosperity."

The life and physical welfare of an employee of a large company is well protected these days by educational safety meetings, intelligent safety work, and cooperation in accident prevention by the employees. Dr. E. L. Graham of Cisco said.

Outdoor Life Urged

Dr. Graham gave some practical advice for first aid and advised more healthful exercise of mind and body. "Get out in the sunshine and fresh air," he advised. "If you let sunshine into your mind, it will eventually get into your heart."

John Cox, president of the Cisco Boosters, and J. E. Spencer welcomed the Lone Star employees to Cisco.

Norris Would Amend the Constitution

Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska is one of the noted statesmen and lawmakers of the nation. He was born a republican, he began his official career as a republican and he has many noteworthy achievements to his credit. His friends and political admirers long ago voted him "The Grand Old Man of American Politics" and one of the most sincere advocates of the rights of the masses, regardless of party affiliation, the restoration of power, high purchasing and otherwise of the growers of things.

Likewise, he has been a powerful advocate of most of the demands of the wage workers of the country. He never hesitates to battle for his convictions or his legislative programs. He voted for Alfred E. Smith against Herbert Hoover, regardless of the fact that he was a life-long prohibitionist. He voted for Roosevelt and Garner and the new deal policies of the administration.

He sponsored the Tennessee valley project. He is responsible for the one-house legislature which will function in Nebraska next year. Really, he is the chief legislative dreamer and many of his dreams have come true.

Now by amendment of the constitution he has moved that the American people "act to limit the power of its supreme court." He has introduced a joint resolution in the senate to authorize a constitutional amendment to require that seven of the nine supreme court justices agree in order to wipe from the statutes a law the court holds unconstitutional and that supreme court action must start within six months after enactment of law "if it is to be eliminated."

Senator Norris is not of the tribe of the wild radicals of the period. He professes at all times to be a republican, but free to follow the candidates of his choice. During his political career he has vanquished all the machine leaders of Nebraska. He has survived the powerful opposition of the leading republican newspapers of Nebraska. His influence and his voice led to the destruction or rather elimination of the Nebraska senate and now it is to be substituted by a one-house legislature. In a sense, he is the iconoclast of American politics. He is brainty, "he is sincere," he is as poor as a church mouse after many years' service as a national lawmaker and he "does not expect speedy action on his constitutional proposal." He paved the way for ratification of his lame duck amendment which changed the date for inauguration of presidents and the convening of congress. In other words, he made congressional lame ducks a thing of the past in the political life of his country. He has the confidence of millions of Americans. He has the tenacity of a fighting bulldog. He never employs press agents to sound his praise or beat his drums. Regardless of this there is dynamite in most of his creations and he is a battler who has never run up the white flag since he invaded the arena of politics as an American lawmaker.

England and Germany as Future Partners

Statesmen of Great Britain and Germany, speaking of two powerful nations represented by John Bull and Adolf Hitler, have signed naval compact. A London cable carries the news that the statesmen of Great Britain "regard the program as being satisfactory to all parties concerned."

Well, Brother Jonathan was not consulted. He was not invited to sit in. Later along he may be given a bid. The fathers of America fought naval battles for the freedom of the sea. This was in the long ago. Regardless of this, Great Britain claims to be the mistress of all the seven seas and Brother Jonathan has taken it on the chin in all years known as the machine civilization. He demanded the freedom of the sea at the close of the World War.

He had furnished millions of soldiers to the Allies. He loaned billions of dollars to the allied governments. He mortgaged the American people for a hundred years to come to pay the loans. To date all loans have been repudiated. When Brother Jonathan sits in on invitation at another world conference he should carry the farewell address of George Washington, the first liberator, who advised his people to avoid entangling alliances with foreign nations and attend to their own business through the coming years. George Washington was a very wise man, a great soldier, a patriotic leader "and ever first in the hearts of his countrymen."

Soil Erosion Advocates Have Evidence

Advocates of soil erosion have been furnished the evidence for their argument for quick action by American lawmakers. After spending its fury in the valley of Texas, the Colorado river deposited its water as well as millions of tons of soil in the Gulf of Mexico.

Four states contributed to the soil losses and the millions of dollars in property losses swept away in the wild rampage of the flood which were let loose by the water-sheds of the river. There have been huge losses to the taxpayers everywhere. Bridges have been destroyed. Miles of roadway have been washed out. Damage to growing crops has been appalling. Thousands of river valley dwellers lost their places of shelter and their household goods.

Thousands have been placed on the relief rolls of the state and the nation. For years and years soil erosion has taken place whenever the flood waters sent the river out of its banks and devastated the living conditions of man, ruined his growing crops, robbed him of his personal belongings and inflicted incalculable damage to the soil of the commonwealth.

Why shouldn't the rivers and creeks of the commonwealth and country be harnessed and the flood waters conserved for the needs of man? Why talk of our superior civilization, the onward march of science and the mighty inventions of the men of genius in the face of disasters that have swept over in the world in the years of 1934 and 1935. This is a scientific age. This is the period of laboratory achievement. Why should man be left to grope in the darkness as he did in the days of the tallow-dip candle and the oxcart of ancient history.

Texas Topics

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, June 22 — Gov. James V. Allred delayed the West Texas vacation trip he had planned two days in order to work with authorities in dealing with the Central Texas flood. He personally helped in efforts to get families moved out of lowland two areas, and in doing all possible to safeguard life and property in the flood's path. The governor threw

into the service

all the resources of the Texas National guard and enlisted the cooperation of the United States army authorities at

time, the state highway patrol was giving valuable service in inspecting and patrolling bridges and highways endangered by floods.

Recently U. S. Sen. Norris demanded an investigation of the source and cost of litigation forced by utility companies in trying to hamper cities in rate control and trying to hamper public agencies in affording utility services and reasonable rates to consumers.

Clarence R. Wharton, Houston utility lawyer, filed an intervening plea in the test suit of Lower Colorado River Authority to establish validity of bonds to be offered the government for funds for a flood control program in the Colorado river. He failed to delay the decision of the case.

The same Attorney Wharton filed an injunction suit in federal court to restrain the public works administration from lending money to the city of Liberty, Texas for the construction of municipal utilities.

A news dispatch from Liberty said "Every attorney in the city has volunteered his services free of charge to defend the city against this attack of the utility company."

Now Texas Utilities company has filed a suit in federal court against the city of Plainview, trying to prevent the city from signing a contract with the public works administration for funds for municipal utility construction.

It seems a well-deined, however short-sighted, policy of the utility companies to try to use the federal courts as an agency to hamper the public, acting as cities or districts in construction or expansion of utility plants, or development of flood control projects.

Example of recent floods has been the destruction of vast quantities of the property of hundreds of thousands of people.

If the courts are to stand primarily as defenders of property, there is a strong plea of behalf these 100,000 citizens whose property has been destroyed by floods, as against the dividends of Electric Bond & Share.

Texas, after much delay and trouble, has put upon its statute books a strong law to regulate and license so-called travel bureaus.

These agencies are "go-betweens" to pass passengers for hire in unlicensed, unregulated transportation facilities such as privately-owned cars.

They charge fees for their service, but afford no guarantee that an individual who pays his money to car-

owner will not be stranded anywhere in the trial.

Under the law approved by Gov.

Allred, existing travel bureaus are given 60 days from the effective date of the act, to secure a license from the motor transportation division of the railroad commission, and to

service. They are required to present a $50 filing fee along with the application. They are required to show that motor carriers to whom they are complying with reasonable regulations. They shall execute and keep in effect a bond of $1,000 to protect any person suffering loss under a transportation contract, and shall pay a $25 annual license fee.

EDSON WAITE

Shawnee, Okla.

It is thought by some that a cheap dollar will enable a country to sell more of its goods to other countries.

This, no doubt, will prove true for a while, but how long such a process can continue is another matter, for these money juggling palliatives bear little relation to true prosperity.

Temporarily people will spend money, but sooner or later a balance must be struck and no country will be able to sell more than it purchases from other countries.

No country can remain a seller only. If other people are willing to buy its goods, then they in turn must buy from the country to which they sell.

SERVICE WORK STRESSED FOR JOBLESS YOUTH

By JOHN W. STUDEBAKER
U. S. Commissioner of Education
Written for the United Press
WASHINGTON, June 22 — Deprived of apprenticeship in trades and industry, our young people are eager to express their energies in service. Some of them may hold the very life or form of self-government in their hands at this moment. They can be left outside to develop their genius against American democracy, or they can be invited into public service apprenticeship to contribute their brilliance to making democracy work. "But can youth contribute?" someone asks.

Pitt was prime minister of England at 21; Alexander Hamilton was a leader of colonial politics at 20. Who is bold enough to offer a potential Pitt a few hours of work relief and nothing else? Who will dare to suggest nothing but a few dollars a week to a budding young Hamilton? But what can we offer youth in activity?

Specific Jobs Suggested

From a superintendent of city schools comes a rather definite response: "Let me say that we are ready to co-operate in every possible way, and only wish you to instruct us what to do and how quickly to do it." He suggests the following projects:

"1. Clerkships in our elementary schools where we do not at present have clerks. (This will provide valuable preparation while at the same time it gives work.)

"2. Summer school teaching or tutoring by young college students who are unemployed.

"3. Directors of recreation work on summer playgrounds, and after school during regular year.

"4. Assistants to librarians.

"5. Assistant nurses in hospitals and schools."

This is just a sample of the scores of suggestions for putting youth into constructive service. Some have suggested the development of children's museums and the building of hiking trails, shelter houses, and camps.

Jobs Alone Not Enough
I believe there is enough genius in each community to solve this youth problem if that genius is put to work.

But I repeat again: Jobs are not enough. A few dollars a week for work-relief doesn't begin to touch the youth problem.

We must think in terms of protecting and preparing youth, and that means part-time work in public service occupations like those suggested by the superintendent, or in non-profit private social agencies, plus educational opportunities and recreation.

A young friend in Des Moines writes me:

"At least give us an opportunity to test our hearts in shaping our dream — the dream of an America where life can be lived in high promise and creative joy."

Youth Not Easily Satisfied
He who thinks this younger generation can be satisfied with lunch money and some hit-or-miss jobs for a few hours a week simply fails to understand the problem.

And it is good that youth can not be so easily satisfied, because it is youth's determination to push forward that offers hope for the future. The National Community Youth Service Program, described in this series, proposes to protect this desire for achievement and prepare these still hopeful young people by providing experiences for

Miss Cliett Gives Breakfast at Lake Saturday Morning

Miss Mary Elizabeth Cliett entertained Saturday morning for friends and their guests with a breakfast from 7:30 to 9 o'clock at Lake Cisco. The morning was spent in conversation, after which bacon and eggs, grape fruit juice, hot rolls, jelly and cinnamon rolls were served with coffee.

Present were: Misses Pauline McClinton and guests, Ellen Davis and Doris Zweifel of Fort Worth, Lois Puley and guest, Maxine Reece of Lubbock, Helen Crawford, Elizabeth Spencer, Marguerite Spencer, Mary Jane Morehart, Madeline Mitchell, Lillian Shertzer, Leila Mae White, Laura Rupe and guest, Alyne Caldwell of Texarkana, Mrs. Juston Butts, Mrs. Oscar Cliett and the hostess.

Miss Thames Bridge Hostess Thursday

Miss Wilma Thomas was hostess Thursday evening to members of the 8 Bridge club in her Humbleton home at 8 o'clock.

A Mexican motif was used in accessories for games of bridge in which Miss Titia Belle Simmons won high score prize, a novelty cigarette box. Mrs. Willard Miller was presented with cut prize, "what not" novelty, and Miss Catherine Pettit won a set of cocktail sticks for low score prize.

A salad course was served. Members present were Misses Laura Lu Waring, Blanche Van Born, Ora Bass Moore, Ester Hale, Agnes Bearman, Titia Belle Simmons, Catherine Pettit, Viola LaMunyon, and Mechanics Arthur Cunningham, R. N. Clark, Willard Miller and the hostess.

Saturday to be a guest in the home of his mother, Mrs. W. H. Kittrell. He was accompanied by nieces, Misses Laura Frances and Louise Kittrell.

Buford Carroll returned this week from a two weeks vacation spent in California. He will return to his home in Abilene this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Elson and daughter of Houston are guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Moore.

BALKANS PLAN NEW AIRLINES FOR SECURITY

By STEWART BROWN
United Press Staff Correspondent
VIENNA, June 22.—An almost unnoticed but highly important decision to improve air communications between the Balkan states was taken at the meeting of the Balkan Entente in Bucharest.

According to military attachés, this decision is significant because it will mean a vast improvement in the air superiority of the four nations (Yugoslavia, Rumania, Turkey, Greece) belonging to the Entente, an organization founded on parallel lines to the Little Entente and aimed at preserving the territorial status quo in the Balkans against any threats from Hungary or Bulgaria.

The Entente members did not disclose their plans, but it is generally believed they will establish new airlines between Bucharest, Belgrade, Athens and Istanbul. They will attempt to organize a network of Balkan airlines which will be independent of the French, German and Polish companies presently operating in this territory.

Pilots Would Get Training

The advantages of this new setup would be to familiarize the pilots of these four countries with the entire Balkan peninsula, thus making them more valuable in case of war. At present only the French, German and Polish pilots are thoroughly familiar with Balkan flying conditions.

In informed circles it is generally believed France will find ways of supporting the Entente's plans because France is anxious to make the allies as strong as possible militarily.

Three international lines, the Air France, Lufthansa and Lot (Polish), are operating in the Balkans and it is rumored the British soon may enter.

The German line operates daily between Berlin and Salomiki, with stops at Vienna, Budapest, Belgrade and Sofia. The flying time between Berlin-Saloniki is 9 hours and 25 minutes, which represents a great saving of time over the train which takes about 36 hours.

French Line Operates

Air France flies between Paris, Strasbourg, Nuremberg, Prague, Vienna, Budapest, Belgrade, Bucharest and Istanbul. The planes leave Paris at 7:40 p.m. and are in Bucharest at 7:40 p.m. The lap from Bucharest to Istanbul is made the next day.

The Polish company (Lot) operates between Warsaw and Salomiki.

over Cernauti, Bucharest and Sofia, the flight requiring less than two hours compared to 18 by train.

Jugoslavia is the only Balkan country to have its own internal air lines, but as a result of the Bucharest decision it is expected the other states will develop domestic lines. Air travel is becoming increasingly popular in the Balkans because of poor train connections and accommodations. In the majority of cases fares are the same.

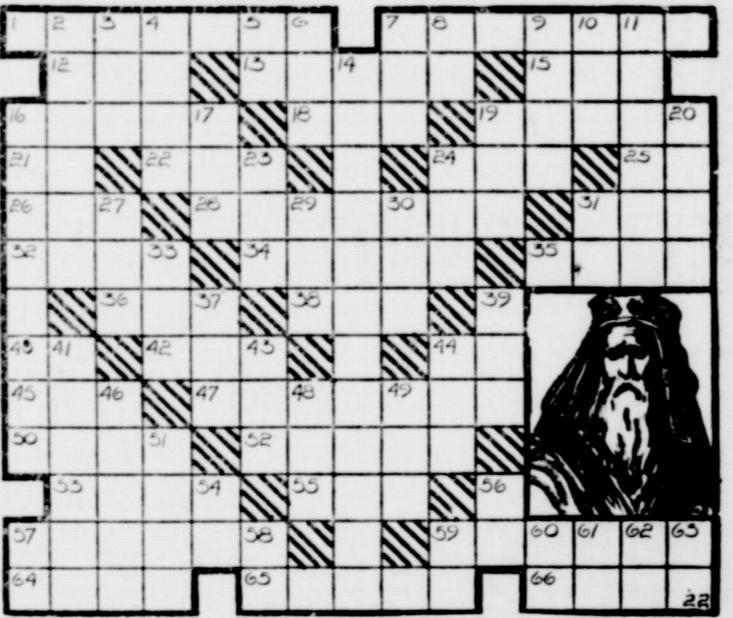

CHURCHMEN ASK PEACE

LONDON—An appeal to Christians in other lands for renewed action to "allay the fear and suspicion and hostility now existing between the governments of the world" has been signed by Canon C. E. Raven and the Rev. Henry Carter, joint chairmen of the Council of Christian Pacifist Groups, and by 12 other leading churchmen of different denominations.
