Missing Attorney's Body Is Found

SPURS SEARCH FOR 5 VICTIMS OF MAD YOUTH

PURCELL, Cal., Dec. 11—Discovery of a body tentatively identified as that of Ray Evans, missing attorney, today spurred renewed vigor the hunt for bodies of three owners believed slain by Lester Comer, slain youthful madman.

The body, partly eaten by wandering dogs, was discovered a half mile north of Liberty Hill school by farmers hauling a load of cotton to town.

J. B. Mitchell, Pauls Valley deputy sheriff, telephoned the sheriff's office here that a body "believed to be that of Ray Evans" had been found.

The area was searched several times by possees from the hundreds of persons who combed three counties for the bodies of five persons in whose disappearance Comer was suspected.

Findings of the body redoubled the search in this area for the bodies of L. A. Simpson, farmer, and his son, Warren, and Mrs. Lucille Comer, second wife of Comer, all of whom had disappeared. Officers feared they were slain by Comer.

Comer died in an Oklahoma City hospital two weeks after he was shot by a constable "bodies, lots of bodies in a ditch" but never gave any statement which could lead officers to the missing persons.

The mysterious disappearance of the fifth person, Mrs. Elizabeth Comer, was cleared shortly after Comer died, when the body of a young girl, found slain near Kansas City, Kan., in Oct. 1934, was identified as Mrs. Comer. She was his first wife.

The Brunk entertainers, featuring the singing of Miss Irene Wolf, the singing and dancing of little Miss June Brnk, the piano performance of Prof. Clink Lemon and the clever witicism of Abe Rosewall, brought a breath of the outside world to the Lions program today that was a delightful charm to the membership. These entertainers are all artists in their line bring their program with a smile that is infectious.

PRESIDENT OF CUBA RESIGNS OVER DISPUTE

HAVANA, Dec. 11—Cuba's troublesome political situation was freshly confused today when Carlos Mendietta resigned as provincial president because of a dispute regarding regulations for election of a constitutional president.

The cabinet accepted the resignation and named Jose Vinagres, 71, secretary of state, a career diplomat without political affiliation, to succeed him.

It formally offered Vinagres its resignation. Vinagres declined it. Arrangements were made for him to take the oath of office today at noon and Mendietta to remain at the president's palace until then.

The capital was quiet and conditions normal. Residents did not learn of the resignation, which was offered shortly after midnight, until late this morning.

Midgets End Perfect Season With Shutout

Fighting to maintain their perfect record of an uncrossed goal line, the Cisco Grammar School Midgets yesterday battled to a 13 to 0 victory over the Cisco Scouts on Chesley field.

The win clinched for them the honor of being one of the very few unbeaten, untied, uncrossed goal lines in the entire United States during the 1935 grid campaign.

Taking advantage of their opponents aerial game, the Midgets used their forward pass defense to score both touchdowns. In the first quarter Coy Warren, diminutive quarterback, grabbed a heave and ran over for the initial score. Tipton converted with a dropkick. In the final period Tipton snatched another heave out of the air and raced across for the final touchdown.

Although they relied upon their defense all season, the Midgets did not sacrifice scoring chances in order to maintain the uncrossed goal line. When their ground game was halted in the fourth quarter yesterday, they began heaving aerials, and on the last play of the game carried the ball deep into Scout territory with a pass.

Although fumbles on both sides marred the game somewhat, the Midget team worked together consistently, while the Scouts played brilliant football in spots.

For the Scouts Donohoe, Stubblefield, and Yarbrough were outstanding. For the Midgets the offensive play of Stewart, Tipton, and Warren was practically effective, while that of Doggett, pint-sized end, on defense was perhaps the standout of the entire game.

MARY LOU HOWELL GRANTED ANOTHER TRAIL ON ROBBERY CHARGE IN THREET SLAYING

AUSTIN, Dec. 11—The death penalty given Clifford Doggett on conviction of killing L. F. Threet in August, 1934, was affirmed today by the court of criminal appeals.

A robbery conviction against Mary Lou Howell in the same transaction was reversed and remanded for retrial. She had received a 20-year sentence in Callahan county on the robbery charge.

Elmer Van Cleave's testimony, quoted by the court, was that Threet and Miss Howell were in Threet's pasture in Callahan county, sitting near a water tank when he and Doggett came up, armed with a .22 rifle and a .30-30 rifle. She obeyed an order to raise her hands. Threet did not. He was shot through the head with the .22 rifle by Doggett. Then Threet was robbed of more than $100 and both were tied up. Threet later died in a Cisco hospital.

A peaceful solution of the war between Italy and Ethiopia appeared today to be a possibility, but only a possibility.

Peace seems possible for African war, a long, weary period of negotiation and argument is likely before the French-British proposals could be put into effect and failure is just as likely as success.

The Cutoff Pavement

Beginning of work on the Leary cutoff brings to mind the fact that the system of roads about Cisco is rapidly reaching perfection.

There is a good highway, recently completed, from Albany on the north, through Cisco and on to Brownwood. There is a federal highway through Cisco on the route between Fort Worth and El Paso. The Leary cutoff will connect Cisco with Breckenridge and form a connecting link in the Oil Belt road system.

For many years Cisco has needed the Breckenridge road improvement. The Chamber of Commerce here has worked upon the project for a long while, and finally succeeded in getting a designation of the work. Then came an appropriation for the straightening and repairing of the road bed. Recently Ciscons were gratified to learn that the road was about to have a layer of crushed stone placed on it. Then the stone base became a reality and there was a pause in operations. Finally came the news that the road was actually to be paved, and further news yesterday that the paving has actually begun.

When the road is completed it will be a model highway. At least that is the intention of the state highway department, which is using the cutoff as an experiment in types of paving.

As a model highway, the cutoff will bring much traffic to Cisco which is now being routed through Eastland, and at the same time will connect Cisco and Breckenridge more closely.

Most of us have been concerned chiefly with the news of the road improvement. We have not stopped to consider that the road did not simply come into being between Cisco and Breckenridge. There were men working on the project to improve the cutoff and bring Cisco and the Stephens county seat closer together.

The Cisco Chamber of Commerce, as in the case of most of the other highways about Cisco, has been the principal worker for the road improvement. All of us will appreciate and enjoy the new road, which is to be a reality within the next month. But we should pause to express our appreciation to the workers who made the road possible.

Filling Station Era

There are symptoms that a unique period in the development of Texas cities is ending.

Up to now, choice corners—nearly all corners not already used—have been bought up or leased for filling stations of the few major companies. Unreal valuations on this real estate helped the owners of these lots, and influenced the value of all real estate on business streets. An unhealthy filling station business developed, wherein buyers of gasoline had to support more people in the retail business than was justified, and had to support them whether willingly or not.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Democrats from New Jersey are whispering that Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City will succeed Jim Farley as postmaster-general, and Democrats from Michigan are whispering that Senator Jim Couzens will desert the Republican party next year and run as a Democrat.

The decision has been made. Of the two predictions, the second is the easier to believe. Couzens is understood to have told certain friends that he feels his ideas are so much more in accord with the administration's than with those which Republicans are likely to espouse next year that the only "honorable" thing for him to do is to declare as a Democrat.

Points of honor are more important with Couzens than with most politicians. He isn't the most brilliant man in the Senate, but there's none more honest. He has usually voted with the administration and his criticisms of it have been negligible.

On the other hand, he doesn't care at all for his colleague, Senator Arthur Vandenberg, Michigan's candidate for the G. O. P. presidential nomination.

THE yarn about Hague, one of the nation's most famous—or, his enemies would say, "notorious"—political bosses, is traceable to Senator Harry Moore of New Jersey, a Hague protégé.

Immediate reaction of the more idealistic New Dealers is that such an appointment would give the administration a black eye. Others argue that it's unlikely because Hague, though he has since come into camp, was such a bitter foe of Roosevelt at the 1932 Chicago convention.

The Hague backers, however, are insisting that Hague is an "honest boss" who has never made a nickel out of politics, that Roosevelt is determined to keep a Catholic in the cabinet, that the political situation calls for appointment of a strong eastern political boss to fill the postoffice job, and that Hague obviously is the man who answers to the qualifications. Also they say Farley approves Hague as his successor.

All any insider can say assuredly now is that Roosevelt has been "considering" Hague. There's violent disagreement as to whether he has the vaguest thought of appointing him.

DUMORS of cabinet changes have been almost as thick as injunction suits against New Deal laws. Your correspondent invites attention to the suggestion that there may be no cabinet changes at all. Two things inspire that shot in the air:

First, Roosevelt has told certain intimates that he would just as soon reshuffle his top appointees until after election.

Second, Farley, who at one time expected to resign the postmaster-generalship no later than September, has begun to show signs of coyness. Chief reason for the Farley resignation which Jim and everyone else once expected was that Farley was under fire.

Senator Huey Long, most effective and vocal of the sharpshooters, is now dead. Senator George Norris of Nebraska, who once consistently attacked Farley's double duty as postmaster-general and Democratic national chairman, hasn't been heard from for months.

MODERN MISERY 12-11

are getting the corners. There seems an understanding that enough retail outlets have been created, with further development only to follow the fan of spreading urban growth.

There are several reasons. One was discontent at paying such an overhead for too many stations and too much investment.

One relates to the saturation point. Another, and perhaps a major reason, is that federal and state regulations no longer permit the salting away of profits out of other phases of the industry—refining, pipelines and so on—into long-term real-estate investments underwritten by the public. Profits can still be made in each phase of the business, but they will stand out in the reports without the barrier of street-corner lots to shield them from the winds of taxation.

Texas Topics

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, Dec. 11—The Texas ranger force hasn't wholly lost its identity, even though integrated into a general state police system; but the reservation largely is retention of the name.

Really, the ranger force lost its identity with its colorful past when it was put on wheels; when the hard-riding men of the law—saddles and ponies and got into Fords. From then on it was a different organization, even though it had and has men as brave as skilled and in many cases more perfectly qualified for the job than the heroic figures of its fine tradition.

So, it is still a ranger force in name; and rangers are able, with some difficulty, to manage accelerators and brakes with those narrow, high-heeled boots that are an insignia of the service.

The special need for a separate type of service, except perhaps in patrolling the border, which after all belong to another agency, is gone, and soon the officers of the public safety department will blend into a homogeneous, undifferentiated unit, each trained, equipped and available for any demand to which the state police system is answerable.

FIRST CLASSIC IN ROSE BOWL SEEN BY 7,000

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a second of a series of six stories in the Rose Bowl football games. It is written by George H. Beale, who has witnessed and reported the making of Rose classics for the 10 years.

By GEORGE H. BEALE
United Press Staff Correspondent
PASADENA, Dec. 11—The first modern series of Tournament football games must have been a disappointment to the sponsors brought Brown and Washington State together at Pasadena on Year's day in 1916. The particular idea of the East-game was to publicize Southern California's winter climate rain poured as the western sloped to a 14 to 0 victory. A fumble by half-back stopped the third just two away from the goal line. Interesting as a comparison to figures was the fact that Washington State's team averaged 10 yards.

Rheumatism Wracked Ancient Britisher
LONDON, Dec. 11—Even in the age, some 4,000 years ago, man suffered from rheumatism. It was shown by the skeleton of a man dug up in excavations at Notgrove long in the Cotswold Hills, in the west of England. This stone age vet showed extensive signs of osteoarthritis, indicating that when he was crippled with rheumatism he took this as a sign that climate of these isles was as at this time in winter as it is now.

Wales' Christmas Card Is Gay in Color; King and Queen's Are Rich in Sentiment

LONDON, Dec. 11—King George and his family mean to get ready for Christmas in plenty of time. Early this fall the Royal family chose Christmas cards. Hundreds of copies of the cards are being printed for there are hundreds of people, who for diplomatic or other reasons, must be remembered. The King's card fittingly reproduces the scene in Westminster Hall when, accompanied by the Queen, he received last May the congratulations of parliament on the silver jubilee of his reign. That was the occasion when the King, with tears in his eyes, humanly referred to "my dear wife."

AUSTIN, Dec. 11—State Auditor Orville S. Carpenter, recently named executive director of the old age assistance commission effective February 14, declared this week that no one, regardless of race or color, would be discriminated against, and stated that old people will be able to get pensions without assistance from agents.

Army To Mass 600 Planes at Miami Dec. 12-14 for All-American Tests

By FRANK M. MATTHEWS
United Press Staff Correspondent
MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 11—Eight hundred planes will roar through their paces in the opening show of the eighth annual All-American Air Maneuvers tomorrow. The nation's fliers will concentrate here for three days to show off approximately 600 fighting ships from military divisions, and 200 privately-owned planes. Some of the army's war hawks will streak over heads of the article-pated 45,000 spectators. An armada of 200 from the General Headquarters fleet at Langley Field, Va., the fastest and deadliest of air defense weapons, will demonstrate the newest versions of fighting craft. The slowest of the 200 GHQ planes will hurtle through the air at better than 200 miles an hour. The motors are almost noiseless, but whining of propellers and superchargers will combine to scream at the massed reviewing stands.

Cash Prizes Offered
Non-military pilots who compete in races and precision contests—bomb dropping, dead-stick landings and acrobatics—will receive more than $5,000 in cash prizes and many trophies. A special prize awaits the pilot who whips around the low pylons to set new world records. Outstanding among the attractions will be the 1,000-foot delayed "bat wing" parachute drop by Clem Eohn will broadcast his sensations as he swerves into whip-stalls and loops for two miles before opening his parachute. Eohn was the only parachute expert to perform last year. Others struck because, they said, "the officials must think more of a sack of flour than a human life." Eohn was under contract.

Bombing Prizes Resented
The parachute men, and two women, walked out when they learned prizes for bomb (sacks of flour) dropping winners were higher than pay for a mass jump. The program will include sportsman pilot events, women's races, acrobatics for men and women, and tactical maneuvers by the military divisions. It will be the largest concentration of aircraft ever staged in the south. The entire air force of the National guard has been ordered here by Maj. Gen. George E. Leach, chief of the National Guard bureau

Invited as Hunter SANFORD, Me.—Mrs. Shirley Ferry, of Sanford, didn't waste any of the hunting season this year. Just one hour and a half after obtaining her license, while hunting in the vicinity of Branch Brook, she bagged a large doe.

OLD CAR RUNS CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—Although it has wheezingly passed its 28th birthday, the automobile of the Rev. Query Reed still carries him around the streets of Cookeville. It is a three-wheeled vehicle, with two wheels in front and a third in back.

Helpful, practical gifts are preferred nowadays, so all Daddy will need is a hint. He will be glad to make it a Maytag. You might also remind him about the easy payments that help a Maytag to pay for itself out of what it saves. Maytag's many exclusive advantages and its quality construction make it a gift that will bring joy, helpfulness, and economy for years and years to come.
