About Our Friends

W. P. A. LONG

Mr. R. Hale, of the Ideal Cafe, plans to do all the cooking now, says his wife, since the cafe has been remodeled. The front room has been done over with new linoleum and pretty curtains at the windows... but the kitchen is even better... a little nook cut off for the hamburgers and sandwiches to be manufactured... the kitchen is so handy... It's really like playing dolls to cook in here....

Abraham Lincoln's birthday will be celebrated tomorrow and the most masterpiece of eloquence, the Gettysburg address, will be read in thousands of schools... Great soul, so was, seemingly born for a mission, and pushed by one sorrow after another so that his great untiring energy would not abate until that mission was accomplished... defeated time after time in his life for various offices that might have turned him aside had he so desired... had he been elected to the senate, in all probability he would not have been elected president a year later... who can read the inscrutable mind of destiny?

But through all time the great Abraham Lincoln will grow bigger and more super-human in the minds of those who come after us and who appreciate the swelling heart of love for his country and humanity....

None could more fully appreciate the great sacrifice necessary to conduct a raw country and bring it under a recognized government than

FARMERS ASK FOR REMOVAL OF PROFESSOR

AUSTIN, Feb. 11.—Dr. H. Y. Benedict, University of Texas president, is to comment today on accusations by Central Texas farmers that Dr. A. B. Cox, head of the school's bureau of business administration, for allegedly criticizing President Roosevelt and his policy, can but let the matter rest. All I know of it is I read in the papers," Dr. Benedict said. Dr. Cox could not be reached for a statement. Cox has frequently criticized President's cotton control policy, and that it upset not only cotton farmers but many other industries of the south which are directly affected by cotton.

The sculpture is worse than none, Doble said, "because once it can't be hidden." He said he was "certainly in favor of a select committee of not more than three individuals with and knowledge to pass on the mural work being promoted by the Texas Centennial commission."

Snowbound Midwesterners Face Starvation

THREE WEEKS ARE COLDEST FOR CENTURY

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—(U.P.)—Winter's most violent attack of the century increased fear of starvation and exposure in many midwest communities today. Stinging cold today made the 21-day period the coldest three weeks on record in Chicago. The death toll over the nation mounted to more than 270. Iowa, digging out of the worst blizzard in 40 years, was the most seriously affected. Householders, unable to buy coal for two weeks, today could purchase only small quantities of groceries, meat and milk. Farmers in Iowa and the Dakotas were burning corn cobs and stalks to keep warm in houses literally banked to the roofs with snow. Temperatures were somewhat higher yesterday but abnormally cold weather continued today from the Rockies to the Atlantic seaboard. North Dakota cities reported 25 below zero today while it was four below in Chicago.

Heiress Guarded

A telephone call from a man who is reported to have impersonated her father, interpreted by police as a likely prelude to an attempt to kidnap pretty Virginia M. Peyton (above), Wellesley College senior and heiress to the Mallory hat fortune, caused a careful watch to be maintained over her. Miss Peyton is the daughter of Mrs. Nathaniel Wagner and Donald C. Peyton, who were divorced 19 years ago.

GOP ATTACK ON FARM BILL BEGINS TODAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(U.P.)—A republican substitute for the administration's new farm bill was introduced in the senate today as the minority party directed a fresh assault on the proposed soil conservation program. The republican substitute was introduced by Senator Charles McNary, republican floor leader, after a fresh attack on the administration bill, which is expected to come to a vote late this week and be taken up in the house next week without a gag rule. The administration substitute for AAA would provide for a soil conservation program, providing benefits for farmers cooperating in production control. It would set up AAA units in each state. The bill was attacked by republicans as an attempt to evade the supreme court's invalidation of AAA and as concentrating vast power in the hands of the secretary of agriculture.

Man Is Jailed In Theft of Chickens

EASTLAND, Feb. 11.—(U.P.)—A man was jailed Monday afternoon following filing of a theft charge by Deputy Sheriff Steele Hill in Justice of the Peace Milton Newman's court. Twelve chickens allegedly stolen from Marvin Hood Wednesday were recovered at a farm seven miles northwest of Eastland by Deputy Hill from a man who assertedly stated they were obtained from Curtis on a trade.

American Sledgers Drop in Olympics

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 11.—(U.P.)—America's bob sledgers, defending the title they won in 1932 at Lake Placid, were dropped to fifth place in the four man event late today when teams representing Switzerland and Great Britain completed brilliant runs. The American cause was not hopeless, however, for only a mere 3.65 seconds separated the American sleds from the number one Swiss sled which captured the lead with a dash of 1 minute and 18 seconds for the mile.

Love Triumphs Over Sea, Spanish Mama

MADRID, Feb. 11.—(U.P.)—Young love, which triumphs over all obstacles was rewarded in San Marcos church today when Juan Pombo was married to Maria Riveco, for whose sake he flew the Atlantic to plead his case. Ships Along European Coast Fight Mountainous Seas in Roaring Gale

LONDON, Feb. 11.—(U.P.)—Ships all along the coast of Europe fought mountainous seas toward shelter today in a roaring gale expected to last another day. Messages from signal stations reported large and small steamships in dangerous situations. Ships were jammed in Plymouth harbor and other ports seeking shelter. Naval exercises at Plymouth, Portland, and Portsmouth were postponed. Seven persons were known killed in the storm and three life boats which went in answer to calls for aid were unreported. Coast guards of the east, south, and west coasts of Britain said they could not remember when they had so many calls.

Program Given By Cisco Music Club

The Cisco Music club presented a program Sunday afternoon at one o'clock at the Twelfth Street Methodist church. Elbert Ezzell had charge of the program, which began with several songs sung in unison. Quartet and duet selections were given by members of the club, after which Jim Flores was presented in several Spanish songs. Following the program a business session was held in which Mr. Ezzell presided. A program committee was named as follows: Mrs. Ruby Rouse, Mrs. Eva Sutton, Mrs. H. Barron, and A. A. Coats. The chairman encouraged the congregation to be present at all singings, also to attend each class period in the afternoon and each night in the home of Fred L. Chunn, East Eleventh street. Boyd Stewart was charged with petty theft and four separate counts of fence cutting in connection with the alleged disappearance of five sides of meat and one live hog belonging to Vin Gamblin, who lives three miles south of the city on the Rising Star Highway. City police, informed of the loss of the meat Monday morning, had recovered it yesterday afternoon and made the arrest. They reported that fences had been cut to form a trail to the Gamblin residence. Stewart was awaiting action of the grand jury in connection with the fence cutting charges.

EASTLAND, Feb. 11.—Number of witnesses due for the trial of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Henry in 91st district court starting Feb. 17 increased to 114 Monday afternoon when Frank Judkins, attorney for the man made application to District Clerk P. L. Crossley for issuance of 27 subpoenas. Mr. and Mrs. Henry are charged by indictment with connection in the murder of H. L. McBee, May, 1933. Mrs. McBee is a former wife of the late highway worker. The couple were charged after the skeleton of McBee was found hanging from a tree in a wood near Rising Star, December, 1934. A special venire has been summoned for the trials, one of which is scheduled to begin Monday. Criminal District Attorney Grady Owen has made application for issuance of 51 subpoenas for witnesses at the trial. Previous to Judkins' application Monday, total defense witnesses totaled 36. Indictments returned during that period totaled 173. The 18 persons, possibly less since some individuals not placed in the custody of officials up to Tuesday may have been charged by several indictments, are classified according to the "true-bills" as follows: Forgery, two; theft of money, two; theft by bailee, one; selling mortgaged property, one; driving intoxicated, two; theft, two; two over $50, three; burglary, four; and aggravated assault, one.

NYA Labor Sought For Golf Course

LUBBOCK, Feb. 11.—(U.P.)—NYA labor has been solicited to build a nine hole golf course on the Texas Technological college campus. President Bradford Knapp of the college announced. Application for approval of the project has been filed at NYA headquarters in Austin. The project would be one of several throughout this section and the state to employ young men of families on relief. The college will contribute a small amount of money toward the project.

New Typewriters Purchased for High School; More Credits Awarded Cisco

Purchase of new equipment and the award of additional credits to the list offered by the Cisco high school were announced by Superintendent R. N. Cluck today. Superintendent announced that 24 new typewriters, recently purchased for the high school commercial class, were delivered this morning. An extra half unit for typing was announced at the same time. The extra credit was not due to the purchase of new machines, however, the superintendent said. The home economics department has been placed on a 10-months basis, which will allow one and a half units of credit instead of a single unit for each year, up to four credits, Cluck said. Placing the work on a 10-months basis, Cluck said, is giving the home economics the same opportunity to do project work in the home or elsewhere, that the vocational agriculture department now has. Another teacher doing part time work in the home economics department was recently shifted to the high school faculty.

STORAGE FOR OIL READY AS PIPE PULLED

Interest of Ciscons was centered on the Gus Wendé well six miles south of the city today as workmen were busy pulling pipe preparatory to swabbing the hole tomorrow. Prospects were that there would likely be some definite developments by tomorrow. Two storage tanks of 150 barrels each had been erected to take care of the flow of oil. These were described by officials at the well as "just test tanks." Drilling of the well was stopped at about 3,232 feet Friday until this storage could be provided, after a stronger pay had been reached and the column of oil had risen to within 300 feet of the surface. Good Showing Apparent. Officials at the well this morning were extremely reticent over prospects for a good producer or even over the procedure that will be followed in the next few days. But it was apparent that they believe they have a good showing and that the well may be good for a fair pay. They were unable to say whether the drilling will continue tomorrow or whether the well likely will be shot. One thing was certain, however. Nothing further will be done until workmen finish their job of pulling 15, 12 and 10 inch pipe. Ciscons have been keenly interested in the well since Wisdom and Parsons oil operators, have shown that they have prospects of a producer in the area south of the city. Visions of another oil boom for Cisco, on a smaller scale than the last but an oil boom nevertheless, have continued to bring hopes for returning prosperity to this area. Oil Men Interested. Oil men have shown a great deal of interest in the well also, inasmuch as it is in the same area as the Schor well, which has supplied Humboldt with gas for the last 16 years. During the last few days they have taken an unusual amount of interest in the test. It has been indicated that the Wendé Number One will bring a flurry of drilling in the area. Several wells are reported planned as offsets, among them one by the Phillips company. Nothing definite has been announced concerning the offsets, however. It was believed that a good well south of the city, coupled with the showing northeast of Cisco, might bring more drilling here than has been seen since the oil interest moved from this area to the East Texas, West Texas and Panhandle fields.

ALLRED WILL DELAY GALVAN FATE DECISION

AUSTIN, Feb. 11.—(U.P.)—Governor James Allred said today he will announce no decision on a requested commutation of a death sentence of Raul Galvan until Thursday. Meantime he was making personal inquiries about reported new evidence claimed by Carroll Smith, El Paso attorney. Galvan was convicted of slaying Border Patrolman Ivan Scott near El Paso July 20, 1929 and given a death sentence. The conviction was upheld by the court of criminal appeals but the presiding judge dissented and said that in his opinion Galvan should be given commutation to life imprisonment. Governor Allred followed the advice of the board of pardons and paroles and granted a 60 day reprieve while he studied the case.

Railroad Strike Is Called in Mexico

NOGALES, Ariz., Feb. 11.—(U.P.)—The entire west coast of Mexico faced a tieup of business today as employees of the Mexican Southern Pacific railroad served notice of a general strike Feb. 20. The employees' move immediately was followed by an embargo on freight from the United States over the company's line. Railroad officials also issued an order all freight from the affected Mexican states along the 1,000 miles of the right of way must be moved by Feb. 17, when operations will be suspended.

FRENCH MAIL PLANE SOUGHT NEAR BRAZIL

PARIS, Feb. 11.—(U.P.)—A dispatch boat was sent from Dakar and off the Brazilian coast today to search for the four-motored French airmail plane City of Buenos Aires, missing with one passenger and a crew of five. The mail plane, making its second round trip across the Atlantic, left Dakar yesterday. It should have reached Dakar early last night but has not been reported since it was seen 700 miles off the coast. Another missing plane, piloted by Lieut. Antonio Talez, Cuban naval aviator on a goodwill flight to Spain, landed safely at Gambia today.

Freedom of the Press

Very near and very dear to the hearts of Americans—and all Anglo-Saxons—are freedom of speech and freedom of the press. The people of Great Britain and the United States have long looked upon it as their inalienable right to think for themselves and to express their thoughts. Very seldom have they been challenged in this view and when they have been they have protested so strongly that they immediately set forth again not only the doctrine of free speech and free press but that of the sovereignty of the people as well.

One of the latest challenges to freedom of the press was invoked by the Louisiana state legislature upon the request of the late Senator Huey Long, in which a gross receipts tax upon newspapers was levied. In invalidating the tax law, which the newspapers of the nation had looked upon as a "gag law", the supreme court yesterday held that the statute was "not an ordinary form of tax but one single in kind, with a long history of hostile misuse against the freedom of the press."

The supreme court went further than that in pointing out that the newspapers, magazines, and other forms of periodicals of the country, "have shed and continue to shed more light on the public and business affairs of the nation than any other instrumentality of publicity, and since informed public opinion is the most potent of all restraints upon misgovernment, the publicity afforded by a free press cannot be regarded otherwise than with grave concern."

The newspapers of the nation have jealously guarded their freedom and will continue to do so. There have been times when this freedom has been abused, yes, but for the most part it has tended to act as a check upon misgovernment through informing the people and allowing them to think for themselves.

There is not a nation in Europe with a dictator at the head of its government that has a free press. There is not a nation anywhere with a free press that has a dictator.

As long as the people of the United States have as their right freedom of speech and freedom of the press, they will continue to rule as a sovereign people. To destroy that right is to destroy the freedom of the people.

Wilson Advocate of Publicity

Senator Gerald C. Nye of North Dakota is the chairman of a senate subcommittee investigating certain phases of the World War and why Uncle Sam was dragged in. He has severe critics who pose as the champions of the World War president of the United States. Senator Black of Alabama is an outstanding investigator. Harper's magazine for February opened its pages to the senator from Alabama. This is the curtain raised:

"If there is nothing to conceal, then why conceal it. Everybody knows that corruption thrives in secret places and avoids public places, and we believe it a fair presumption that secrecy means impropriety. So, our honest politicians and our honorable corporation heads owe it to their reputations to bring their activities out into the open."—WOODROW WILSON.

It was the voice of the dead speaking to the living. Senator Gerald Nye should take notice:

"If there is nothing to conceal, then why conceal it?" Again, he should ask of his critics why Wilson said, "We believe it a fair presumption that secrecy means impropriety." It was the belief of the great democrat who became governor of New Jersey and President of the United States that "our honest politicians and our honorable corporation heads owe it to their reputations to bring their activities out into the open." As a champion of "pitiless publicity" during his entire political career and as a servant of their people, Woodrow Wilson was close to the public heart and mind. Hence, "if there is nothing to conceal, then why conceal it?" If the people are the masters they should be kept well informed and if the slogan "Let the People Rule" is to be observed to the letter, then why shouldn't they be informed?

Los Angeles Bars Indigents

Los Angeles was named for the angels. There are times when its people are not angelic by any manner of means. Police Chief James E. Davis has organized a patrol to block every highway and railway entrance. It has been given orders to take into custody all persons who "have no definite purpose for entering the state." Chief Davis declared it an effort to keep "our unemployment and crime to a minimum. Hordes of indigents have flooded the state and in Los Angeles a majority of them settled. They not only increased the already perplexing problem of caring for the unemployed but were responsible for crime outbreaks in the city and county. State officials called it an attempt by Los Angeles "to take the whole state of California into its city limits."

Carl C. Taylor is assistant administrator of resettlement in California. In his article on commercialized farming in America, he said: "Over emphasis on commercialized production must bear its share of the blame for producing rural slums and encouraging human exploitation as it is known in few other sections of America." Speaking of California and its problems, he said: "If further evidence of the cultural costs of commercialized farming is needed, then let us cite the transcendent farm-labor gangs of the berry and onion producing section. It is calculated that there are today 500,000 transient laborers in California. Probably the toughest problem of relief is what to do for or with these first rural proletarians of America." Police Chief James E. Davis is attempting to solve one of the problems by blocking every highway and railway entrance from the state of Oregon, Nevada and Arizona. Where will they go from California?

HOGS GET MORE RAISINS

FRESNO, Cal.—(AP)—California hogs are assured an additional 10,000 tons of raisins during the year. That amount, damaged by rain, will be withdrawn by raisin growers from the market for human consumption and used for feeding hogs and cattle.

The STRANGE CASE OF JULIA CRAIG

by Nard Jones

Copyright NEA 1936

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JULIA CRAIG, secretary to GEORGE WOODFORD, lawyer, is ambitious to become a night club singer. Because of this she interviews with PETER KEMP, young lawyer who is in love with her. Julia shares an apartment with ANNY SANDERS.

Woodford gives a great party and asks Julia to come as a singer. Others in the party include TATIANA LEE, dancer; MRS. JOSEPH, widow; HUGO NASH and ROYAL NESBITT. They go to Evergreen Island where Woodford has a lodge. There Julia meets TOM PAYSON, young man who is in love with her. Julia secures her release on bail and Peter Kemp offers to defend her. Payson tells Julia he is in love with her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXIV
PAYSON brought Julia back to the apartment, then telephoned Smith Garland that she would not appear. "Was he angry?" Julia asked when Payson had finished. "Not Smith Garland. He said he got a lot of pleasure out of telling them they wouldn't see Nadine White tonight." Julia smiled. "He's a peach, Tom." Payson took up his hat. His eyes were troubled. "Julia, you're not falling for Smith, are you?" "I'm not falling for anybody," Julia told him. "But when Payson had left the apartment Anny guessed differently. "Payson was miles off, wasn't he, Julia?" "What do you mean?" "I mean you still like Peter Kemp." "I never said I liked him at all," said Julia, taking up a cigarette.

"You mean—" "I mean that things are happening pretty fast against you." Julia sat down, staring at him unbelievably. "You talk as if I were going to be accused of murdering Royal Nesbitt." "I'm afraid you are, Julia." Julia drew a quick breath. "But—how can they say I killed Nesbitt?" "You mean the motive?" Kemp frowned. "I don't know yet what Buchen will use. It may be that you wanted to escape from the yacht. He can prove you wanted to get away. He might build it up that you got into an argument with Nesbitt. I can't contend that the blow was a man's, not a woman's—because Nesbitt was stunned, then died by drowning." Kemp paced across to the table. "Or Buchen may build up some love angle. He's good at that." "But—how could he?" "You've never heard Buchen in action. And didn't you tell him that Nesbitt had been coming to your apartment long before you ever saw him on Woodford's cruise?" "But, no," Julia cried, half in answer to her thoughts. "They can't, Peter! They can't do anything to me, because I didn't do it!" Kemp studied her a moment, then walked across the room and knelt down beside her chair. "Look here, Julia. I've got to get you out of this. But if I do manage it you have to tell me the truth. Don't you see? In order to be prepared for Buchen I have to know what really happened. Julia, don't have to lie to me." Suddenly Julia realized what he meant. "Peter . . . Peter, you think that I—" "I want you to tell me the truth, Julia." "You suspect that I really may have killed him, and yet you'd help me?" "You had good reason," Peter said. "I'm sure of that." Slowly she regarded his eager young face, serious now with the weight of her troubles. "But you're not that kind of a lawyer, Peter. You don't believe in it—why would you do it for me?" "Because I love you, Julia. Isn't that reason enough? I don't care what happens to me after this is over—but they mustn't hurt you."

party on that yacht—know who did it. One of them is guilty, and they've banded together to make you take the rap. You don't belong to the crowd, so you're 'it.' " "But I'm sure of one of them, Peter. I'd gamble my life that Cintra Lee had nothing to do with it." KEMP sat down, folding his hands together until the knuckles were white. "Who would you pick, then, from the others? Woodford, Nash, or the widow?" "I don't know." "You've got to believe one of them did it," interrupted Kemp. "Peter, I . . . I'm almost sure that the wound Nash gave Nesbitt wasn't an accident. And the night before, when Payson was in the lodge, Nash and Royal came to blows." She stopped, looked at Peter helplessly. "But I can't believe Nash would want to kill him for just that." Kemp stood up suddenly and reached for his hat. "There's only one chance for us, Julia. I'm going to see Woodford and try to bluff him. He knows the answer."

"What's the meaning of this?" he said icily. "I'll get to the point, Woodford, without ceremony, too. I want to know who killed Nesbitt." Woodford's face twisted in surprised anger. "I don't know what you're talking about!" Kemp stepped closer to Woodford. "Would it interest you to know that Miss Craig and I have just spent the last hour in your office? Miss Craig was kind enough to help me find your private files." "Why, you—" "Easy, Woodford," Kemp said drawing Julia behind him. "There's nothing you can do now. I've enough evidence in a safety deposit box downtown to keep you explaining yourself for a long time. The McLaughlin estate, for instance—and that Conley will—and your representation of the Zodiac Hotel trustees. . . ."

The older man whitened. "What the devil do you want, Kemp?" he asked huskily. "I want you to stop shielding the murderer of Nesbitt. Or did you yourself do it?" (To Be Concluded)

Mercedes Municipal Campaign Looms Hot

MERCEDES, Feb. 10—(AP)—Municipal political campaign preliminary to the biennial city elections in a number of Hidalgo County cities in April are expected to be started soon. The first candidate to announce for any city office in the county already has posted his notice.

H. J. Monton, pioneer Mercedes resident, announced his candidacy for the office of city commissioner subject to the election of April 7.

While only two commissioners are to be elected in April, Mercedes voters may be required to select three because of the resignation of Dr. E. G. Smith, who left his office to become an assistant surgeon at the Thayer quarantine station. Other officers whose terms expire this year are Commissioners John Polk and W. A. Tullis. Neither has indicated whether he will run for re-election.

No candidate has yet announced for the office of Mayor, now held by W. D. Chadick. Tullis is acting Mayor in Chadick's absence.

ICE CREAM HOUR URGED

SEATTLE—(AP)—Ice cream manufacturers and retailers are planning to inaugurate an "ice cream hour" here. They will ask that each afternoon at 3 o'clock to eat ice cream.

Bad Elimination Makes It Easier To Catch a Cold

With the right sort of food and proper exercise, constipation might be rare, but in actual living conditions, how few manage to escape it! Mr. Clyde Martin, of Ona, W. Va., recently very aptly wrote that "constipation is the root of a lot of sickness, but if Black-Draught is taken right it will keep down constipation."

"If I let myself get constipated," he explains, "and my system filled with impure matter, I feel bloated, take cold easily, and feel out of sorts in a lot of ways. I will take about two good doses of Black-Draught. It seems to cleanse my whole system and I feel like doing my work."

Backs Swindling Texans Say M. D.'s

The state board of medical examiners today warned against "eye-ty swindlers" and others allegedly engaged in obtaining money indelicately in Texas. The warning said that the alleged swindlers have been using a "cataract remover" and an "electric belt" for the curing of "Free lectures" who pose having the secret of longevity, rejuvenation, or some other attractive cure and who later sells this secret privately to pupils were also included in the warning list. "The people of this state should be warned that this board issues on Jan. 1 each year a 'permit' to practice medicine during the current year, which permit bears its number and a number of the practitioner's name; that any person who is without such permit is practicing in violation of the law, and he or she could be prosecuted, as any other violator should and probably will be prosecuted," the warning included.

STATE DUE TO GIVE LICENSE FOR DRIVERS

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Feb. 11.—(U.P.)—Texas is going to give away something valuable and is worrying how to get people to accept the gift. Beginning Feb. 14, any person old enough to drive an automobile and physically able to do so can get a three-year license to drive absolutely free.

There are no strings to the gift. The state is an "Indian giver" only to the extent that it takes back the license if it is abused. It is revoked, then only after a driver has had three court convictions.

John Smith, living anywhere in Texas, can get the license if he has enough arms and legs to operate an automobile and isn't so obviously blind or deaf that anyone can tell off-hand that he is a road menace.

The license law of the last session of the legislature will become effective on Feb. 14. At any time between that date and April 1, Smith can go to his county tax collector and ask for an application blank. He also can get applications blanks for other members of his family or for acquaintances. The application must specify the driver's name, sex, age, residence and physical description, including height, weight, color of hair and eyes. He also must reveal whether he has held a driving license in some other state. If he has, he must tell if the license was revoked, and if revoked, why.

Sign Own Application

The application can be signed before any official authorized to take an affidavit. A notary can certify to it but this is not necessary and notaries charge fees.

The signed application is then presented to the tax collector who will issue the driver's license. Each individual must sign his own application with the affidavit. One member of a family can present the signed applications and obtain license for all.

All of this will be without cost, so Director L. G. Phares of the State Safety Department thinks the John Smiths should attend to it promptly and not swamp tax collectors with drivers' license business late in March, when there will be a rush for automobile licenses.

Two million drivers' licenses are being printed with the expectation that there will be that many drivers among the state's estimated 6,000,000 population.

Revoking License

The licenses will be printed yellow clips, perforated into three sections. They may be folded on the dotted lines and will fit easily into a small card case or pocket book. When a driver is convicted of one traffic law violation, a first section of the license will be torn off, just as a part of a railroad excursion ticket is taken by the first conductor. A second section goes for the next offense and conviction. The third conviction takes all—and with it right to drive on Texas highways.

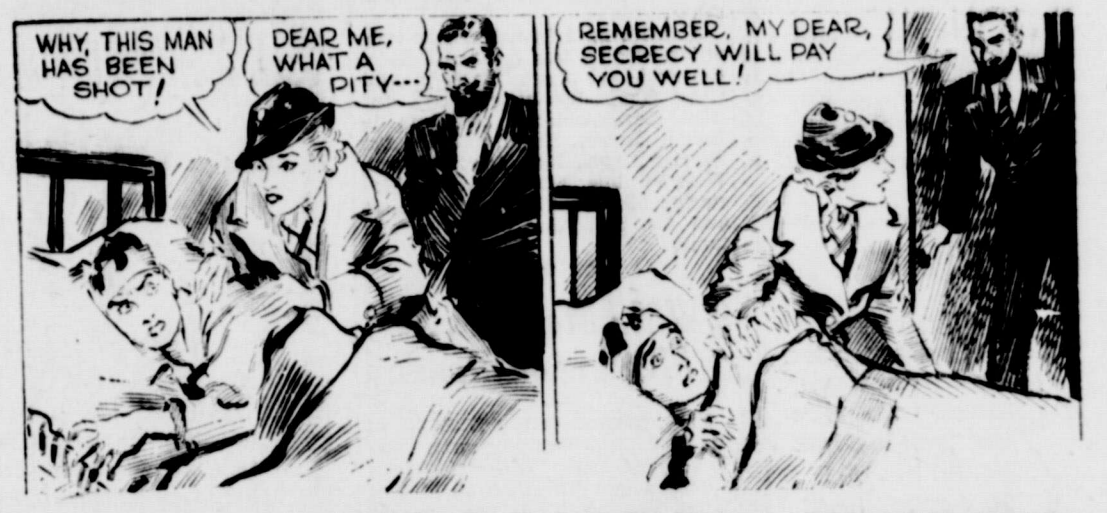

The 2,000,000 licenses will be doubly indexed. They will be filed numerically and alphabetically in the state safety department. In effect, the licenses will be aggregated by counties, for licenses will be signed to counties by numerical brackets as automobile licenses are distributed.

A motorist wishing to avoid delay and waiting can get both the license for himself and the 1936 license for his car beginning Feb. 14. In fact, automobile licenses were sent out to counties ready for issuance on Feb. 1. The drivers' license law is not effective until Valentine Day. Both vehicle and drivers' licenses must be procured before April 1.

Valentines to Emphasize Sincerity As 'Love' Becomes 'Like' in Style of 1936

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—(U.P.)—Judging from the 1936 valentines, there's going to be more work for the little Boy Boy than for several seasons past. St. Valentine's day this year will see a number of new ideas incorporated into several seasonal messages. The up-to-date variety of sentiment no longer goes in for cooing turtle doves and extravagant effusions, but it's just as sincere. In fact, Valentines this year are more sincere in their expressions than in many seasons. They seem to shy just a bit from the word "love." Even the ones intended to convey that idea are just as likely to say "like." Modern youth inclines to understatement in such affairs of the heart, it seems. Then, too many of the greetings stress firmly the idea of friendship. A typical verse reads: We went around a lot this year, Had lots of things to do, But everything seemed much more fun Because I went with you! Even the comics are complimentary this year. Mostly they go in for casual sketches in an off-hand manner, and the punsters probably will get a lot of fun out of their play on words. One, for example, suggests with fervency: "If I ate a peck of garlic and a ton of onions too, I couldn't tell you even then how strong I am for you!" Husbands and wives, it seems, will exchange Valentines in a big way this year. Some of them are a bit on the sedate and dignified side. Others are lightly humorous, and stand firm for the up-to-date principal of sauce for the goose. One, illustrated with a sprightly series of sketches, announces to hubby: "I'll sew on your buttons and mend your socks; I'll cook your meals, and I'll wind the clocks; but it's just as sincere. Going to town with Luckies A LIGHT SMOKE of rich, ripe-bodied tobacco

Over a period of years, certain basic advances have been made in the selection and treatment of cigarette tobaccos for Lucky Strike Cigarettes. They include preliminary analyses of the tobacco selected; use of center leaves; the higher heat treatment of tobacco ("Toasting"); consideration of acid-alkaline balance, with consequent definite improvement in flavor; and controlled uniformity in the finished product.
All these combine to produce a superior cigarette—a modern cigarette, a cigarette made of rich, ripe-bodied tobaccos—A Light Smoke.

Luckies are less acid

Recent chemical tests show that other popular brands have an excess of acidity over Lucky Strike of from 53% to 100%.

124-Year Old Plow Offered Centennial
HOUSTON, Feb. 11.—(UP)—The search of the San Jacinto Centennial Association for a century-old plow to turn the first earth for the San Jacinto memorial has ended abruptly.
The hunt was dropped when scores of old plows were offered to the association—one of them being 124 years old.
B. M. Mayer, Austin, said he owned a plow that was brought to Texas in 1841 from Perthshire, Scotland.
According to Robert A. Wallace of the University of Edinburgh, the plow was made by his grandfather James Wallace of Dumfriesshire, about 1812 several years before the Battle of Waterloo.
