Now what happened in the western cotton area: Drouth, a depressed cotton market, over-expansion of a one-crop type of agriculture and an unstable tenacy system with a great demand fo rseasoned labor brought about the cotton growing problem of Texas and

Mr. Clayton has a remedy for all this. He is opposed to controlled acreage of cotton. He would lift the tariff bars. He would turn Texas and Oklahoma loose to supply the cotton demands of the world as well as the demands at

This excerpt is taken from the report on the Western coordinate all work toward a great Cotton Area: "The acreage under cotton cultivation in this er game, fish and bird-life supply area increased at a rapid rate after the World War, when the market price was high and it was found that the area was ravorable to cotton and unfavorable to the boll weevil. By 1929, over nine million acres had been opened to cotton representing over 40 per cent of the total acreage devoted to cotton in 1930." Then what happened? Many farmers and migratory workers came from other areas to take advantage of the cotton land boom. Then came a series of dry years. The cotton price fell. The price of cotton was not fixed in America. It was fixed by the foreign buyers in the markets of the world. Many of the farmers on small acreage could not compete with the big merchanized farms. They went bankrupt and were forced off their farms. Many went into the villages and towns along with the farm laborers who were also thrown out of work. This area had the nighest proportion of totally unemployed on rural relief former chief of the U. S. biologic of any problem area-reflecting the great extent to which farmers had lost their land. About 70 per cent of all relief activities, will be among the out family heads were unemployed.

Now the remedy of Dr. A. B. Cox and the very erudite William L. Clayton is to go back to uncontrolled acreage; cils. to eneap cotton for foreign buyers and millers, to ample assistance for the makers of things by law and the devil take the hindmost in the land where the cotton crop grows.

• WEATHER STRIP all windows and doors. This will keep out drafts of cold wind and will also keep out the dust when the spring winds begin. Most every house in Cisco has been subject to window frame and door frame shrinkage and as a consequence, cold air continually sweeps in and makes the fuel bill pile up when you try to stay comfortable. This weather stripping is easily put on and gets results. Our car-penters can put it on for you economically, or you can do it yourself. Weather stripping is economical and efficient, and will soon pay for itself. Call us for FREE information or demonstration.

This wasteful practice was intended to have been stopped last year when the Texas Legislature passed the anti-waste gas laws. effect, however," Clegg pointed out, injunctions were secured by stripping (natural gasoline) plants and pipelines alike—and field conditions are just as bad as ever.

An important recent development in the interest of gas conservation. Clegg said, was the decision of Federal Judge Randolph Bryant, of Sherman, to dismiss one of the most important injunctions against en-forcement of the state gas laws.

The case was that of the Cargray Gasoline Company against the state. Cargray operates the largest stripping plant in the Panhandle area, consuming approximately 200,000,000 cubic feet of gas

"The people of the Panhandle were mighty happy about Judge Bryant's decision," Clegg said. They were beginning to believe largest ever discovered, would be dissipated within a few years. This
