School Prepares for County Meet

BULLETINS ON EVENT MAILED OTHER TOWNS

Plans for making the Eastland county meet here this spring one of the best as well as the largest in the state were going forward Saturday as Superintendent R. N. Cluck, director general of the meet, sent bulletins on it to the various member schools of the Interscholastic League.

Forty-five schools of the county have signed up for participation in the meet, Cluck announced.

Cisco will be hosts to the pupils and teachers of the county on March 27 and 28 when most of the events of the meet are staged. The county schools annually set aside one day as a county meet holiday. Many school buses will bring contestants and pupils from the schools to Cisco on that day and the one following.

Debate Contests

Eliminations in debate will be held in Eastland March 21, with finals at the general meet. Ward school debate contests will be held two weeks after the county meet, inasmuch as they are not a part of the Interscholastic League program.

The junior track and field meet will be April 4, a week after the senior meet.

Schools which will participate in the meet are Alameda high, and grammar schools, Carbon ward, Cooper ward of Ranger, Crossroads, Desdemona high and ward, East Ward of Cisco, Eastland high and junior high, Flatwood, Gorman high and grammar, Grandview, Hodges Oak Park of Ranger, Kokomo Long Branch, Mangum, Morton Valley high and grammar, Pioneer high and grammar, Ranger high, Rising Star grammar, Romney, Scranton high and elementary, Eastland South Ward, Cisco West Ward, Ranger Young Ward, Union, Eastland West Ward, and Bullock.

Cisco 1937 Site Of Church Association

At a close of a two-day meeting of the seventeenth district of the Baptist association which was held at Hamlin Thursday and Friday, Cisco was chosen for the 1937 meeting place.

Registration totaled more than 600 for the two days. At an election held Friday afternoon, all officers were re-elected. Rev. L. A. Doyle, Anson, is president, and the four vice presidents are: Rev. Roy Shahan, Rule, director of B. T. U., George McBee, Rotan, Sunday school; Mrs. E. M. White, Abilene; W. M. U. L. H. Welch, Breckenridge, Brotherhood.

MAN CHARGED AFTER CAR IS STOLEN, SOLD

Officers Saturday night believed the theft of an automobile near Lovers Rereat two weeks ago had been solved with the arrest of Cecil Williams of Haskell, identified as the man who left the keys here a days later.

Highway Patrolmen M. C. Myers and Ernest Daniels, Police Chief M. L. Perdue, and a man who identified Williams, went to Haskell Friday and made the arrest. It was revealed Saturday, Williams was brought to the jail here and later transferred to the Palo Pinto county jail to await action of the grand jury.

MARCH 30 SET FOR SKELETON MURDER TRIAL

Special to Daily News

EASTLAND, March 7.—(U.P.)—Trial of four persons charged with murder in the "hanging skeleton" death of H. L. McBee at Rising Star three years ago was set for Monday March 30, by Judge B. W. Patterson of Eighty-Eighth district court Saturday.

The four persons charged in the case are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Henry and Jack and Lynn Smith.

The Henrys are in Eastland county jail, no bail bond having been set since they were indicted by the grand jury this week.

The two Smiths were to be brought to Eastland Saturday from the Coleman and Callahan jails, where they have been kept since they were arrested.

Mrs. Henry is a former wife of the late highway worker. After McBee disappeared from Rising Star in 1933 she obtained a divorce and married Henry, with whom she is named in the murder charge.

HITLER SENDS REICH TROOPS IN RHINELAND

(Copyright, 1936, by United Press)

BERLIN, March 7.—(U.P.)—Adolf Hitler sent troops into the demilitarized Rhineland zone today and thereby tore to shreds the last repressive clauses of the Versailles treaty.

Coincidentally he announced that the Locarno treaty which guarantees the frontiers of Germany, France, and Belgium—and the Rhineland zone—had ceased to exist because of France's new military alliance with Russia.

But, in his final defiance of the World War allies, Hitler offered all Germany's neighbors a program he said would bring a real lasting peace and friendship to nations.

FRANCE WILL ASK PENALTIES FOR GERMANY

(Copyright 1936 by United Press)

PARIS, March 7.—(U.P.)—France today decided to ask the League of Nations to employ financial and economic penalties against Germany for its denunciation of the Locarno pact and reoccupation of the Rhineland.

The French decision said that sanctions asked would include "measures of a military character."

The French appeal to the League council came after a long conference of France's leading military and civil officials. Attending the conference were the premier and foreign minister, the navy and war ministers, and the chief of staff and his assistants.

Also at the conference, which resulted in the momentous appeal to the League, were the heads of the navy and air forces and the minister of communications.

Shortly before the conference announced its decision, the French ministry of war cancelled part of the usual weekend leave for sections of the army.

League Stupefied By Hitler's Decision

GENEVA, March 7.—(U.P.)—Adolf Hitler's denunciation of the Rhineland clauses of the Versailles treaty and his abrogation of the Locarno pact stupefied the League of Nations today.

The League is the guardian of both the Versailles and the Locarno pact.

No less surprising to League officials was Hitler's announced readiness to reenter the League under certain conditions.

INCREASE IN SCHOLASTICS IS FORESEEN

Cisco's scholastic population will increase for the 1936-37 school year this is what was last year, it was revealed by Superintendent R. N. Cluck Saturday.

Since the census enumeration began last Monday, Cluck said, approximately 1,450 children of school age have been listed by the school officials. Last year the census showed 1,480 of school age.

Cluck said he believed that during the rest of this month, which is the time set by the state for taking the school census, the last year census would be passed and more than 1,500 children listed.

"There are still a few parents we have not been able to see," Cluck said. "The Cisco school is entitled to a state apportionment for each child here between six and 18 years of age before next September 1."

"Every parent should be interested to see that his child and that of his neighbor is listed on the census, so that the apportionment can be paid and the Cisco school can have the advantages to which it is entitled."

He asked persons whose children have been missed in the census enumeration to call the high school, 25, the school board office, 152, or his home, 241.

Junior C of C--a Challenge

The first meeting of the recently formed Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday evening will offer an opportunity for the young men of the city prove their contention that they are interested in the future of Cisco and that their interest and willingness to work can be of permanent benefit to their community.

In the past there has been a lamentable lack of young men's work here. That is the fault of no one. The Chamber of Commerce has been doing its work for the good of the city. So have the Lions and Rotary clubs. But nevertheless there has been a group of young men, interested in Cisco but not working for it, not reached by any of the existing organizations. The Junior Chamber of Commerce is the answer.

Most of the people of the city favor the new organization. Some are frankly critical of its worth. It remains now for the young men to prove that they are as good citizens as anyone else, that they are willing to use their spare time with no pay except that the fun of working for a good cause, the association with other young men sharing their interests, and the satisfaction of a job well done for the betterment of their town.

The Chamber of Commerce has turned over to the new body—before it is even organized—the job of carrying on a cleanup campaign. There have been cleanup campaigns in the past, but perhaps never one quite so important as this in Cisco. First, it is a move to show off Cisco to advantage during the Centennial. Second, it is a challenge to prove, with the biggest and best campaign ever staged here, that the young men who have advocated the forming of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the value of enlisting young men in civic work have really struck upon an idea that can prove worthwhile to Cisco.

The Air Rifle Threat

In recent weeks a "harmless toy" has become not only a nuisance but a public menace in Cisco as well. Air rifles, firing small lead pellets, have been damaging both public and private property and forming a threat to citizens as well.

It all began with the shooting out of street light bulbs. Twenty-seven of the bulbs were shot out in a single week and the police took a hand in the matter. The light-shooting died down but the boys behind the rifles extended their activities to include automobile windows, complaints to local officers charged.

That's serious business. While shooting out of street lights is expensive and may result in wrecks at the darkened corners, shooting through automobile windows is far more expensive and forms a direct threat to the safety of the drivers and other persons in the cars.

It has been pointed out countless times that a flying bit of lead—or glass—can inflict permanent injury upon a person it strikes. A BB shot in the eye, or a chunk of glass knocked out by such a shot and grinding into the eye of an

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—In the new farm bill, the administration had to choose between the farmer and the consumer, and its decision was purely political.

Farmers are well organized and consumers are not. Hence, although both the White House and Secretary Wallace really are sympathetic toward the latter group and abhor the principle of scarcity production as well as its eventual political dangers, they just didn't dare urge the Wagner amendments which would have insured city families against food shortages under the new crop control-soil conservation program.

It's a mistake to blame the administration for anything more than failure to insist on the rights of one group as well as those of the other. The strange popular delusion that Secretary Wallace and Undersecretary Tugwell, rather than the farm leaders themselves, were the master minds behind the AAA program shouldn't be allowed to persist, now that there's a new program.

Every insider here knows that the most important fellow in the secret councils on new farm legislation is always President Ed O'Neal of the American Farm Bureau Federation. AAA Administrator Chester Davis is more powerful in the farm administration than Wallace (Tugwell is almost completely out of the picture), and that is because Davis plays closely with O'Neal and has O'Neal's support.

When administration leaders obtained consent of O'Neal and other farm organization leaders to the soil program as a means of farm aid, they decided not to ask for anything else, fearing an agrarian revolt in favor of the export debenture or some other plan. Some of the so-called farm leaders are linked with middlemen and other special interests to which they have brought farmer support. But this is a campaign year and politicians dare not antagonize them.

Hence, when O'Neal strode from Roosevelt's office, demanded immediate Senate action on the bill, and expressed opposition to consumer-protection amendments, Wagner's amendment seemed a gone goose. It was defeated, 51 to 25. Attempt will be made in the House to insert a similar amendment. But similar factors will operate and the amount of the national food supply probably will be left to administrative discretion in a new act which will cover all types of food instead of but a few, as under AAA.

THE militant position taken by John L. Lewis at the United Mine Workers' convention has brought a flood of requests for his personal appearance before groups of workers over the country.

Organizers of industrial unions, beset by attempted inroads of craft unions seeking their members, are especially eager for him. The United Rubber Workers claim to have added 4000 members since Lewis addressed their meeting in Akron.

Attempts are being made by Lewis and the Committee for Industrial Organization to merge the three chief automobile workers' unions into one strong industrial union, but the ambitions of three existing sets of officers appear to be a hindrance to the committee's desire to make its first big drive in the automobile field.

A Raise By Any Other Name

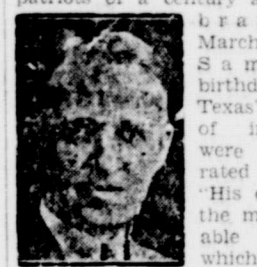

innocent bystander not at all interested in the target practice, can result in permanently blinding the victim. A boy can have a lot of fun with an air rifle. Most boys do. He can try out his aim on old cans, bullseyes, or other targets. But he should remember that a stray shot can be as dangerous as though it were fired directly at a passing automobile or a pedestrian. He should remember to shoot his air rifle only when he knows that there is a good background that will stop his shot, and when that background is not a passing car or the reflector behind a street light. In most cases mothers and fathers have bought the air rifles for their boys. It now becomes their duty to see that they are used carefully and only in a spirit of fun.

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER

United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, March 7—(AP)—Three

governors brushed up on their Texas history and walked the paths of patriots of a century ago at celebrations on March 2. General Sam Houston's birthday and Texas declaration of independence were commemorated together.

His death ended the most remarkable career of which we have record," said former Congressman Joseph Weldon Bailey, Jr. of Dallas. Bailey acted in behalf of J. E. Josey, Houston publisher, in presenting to the state "Stambaugh House," in which Houston died. Josey bought the house from private interests.

Bailey pointed out that General Houston preceded in office two distinguished men who set on the lecture platform at Huntsville. They were Governors Hill McAlister of Tennessee and James V. Alfred of Texas. Houston also was treasurer of Tennessee and twice president of the Texas Republic.

Governors Alfred and Philip LaFollette of Wisconsin visited Brenham, old Independence, and Washington-on-the-Brazos before going to Huntsville. At Independence stands another former home of Sam Houston and the Baptist church where he was converted. The church once burned and only part of the original furnishings remain.

The high-backed pews, ancient oil-lamp chandeliers and velvet-covered pulpit chairs combine with the musty odor to make visitors "feel the ages." Across the street is the plot where Mrs. Houston, her brother, and two family slaves lie buried.

Governor Alfred was impressed with the historic documents possessed by old families of Washington county. He hoped all would be given to the state for preservation. Much early day history could be gathered from letters passed down from generation to generation.

Cid Independence has another claim to fame. The crumbling ruins of Baylor University's first buildings are there. Former Governor Pat M. Neff, president of the present Baylor university at Waco, proudly showed visitors around the hallowed columns. Neff also stood by as Cullen Thomas, federal Centennial commissioner general, pecked out "There's a Land that is Fairer than Day" on the piano in the Baptist church of Independence. Color was evident both at Brenham and Huntsville and it wasn't all from the flags and uniforms. Alabama and Coshatt Indians came with their white chief, Sam Clem, Polk county attorney. Negroes from the tenant farms and towns were in their holiday best. Sam Houston, principal of Huntsville's negro schools, gave a five-minute talk on the program with the three governors. He is the son of Joshua Houston, former slave and body servant to General Houston. Joshua is still alive. The Indians in their muslin ceremonial robes were hardly dressed warmly enough for the cold, drizzly rain. One suz-chief trotted up to the desk clerk in a Brenham hotel and asked if there was a fire in the building. The answer was "No." "Well, if you don't mind" said the Indian, "I'd like to light that stove over there pointing to a lobby heater. One of the braves rode over on a truck and almost froze to death." The fire was lighted and the Alabamas and Coshattis filed through the doors to toast themselves before it. Wick Fowler, highway patrolman who handles public relations for the safety department, missed one parade on the "tour of the governors"—but that is a small matter to him. Fowler has appeared in 27 parades since joining the department since last July. The Huntsville parade would have been Number 28.

OUT OUR WAY

but it could not be included on Fowler's program. Fowler's biggest parade was in Gonzales last fall when ceremonies commemorating the first shot of the Texas revolution were held. Governor Alfred's address to University of Texas ex-students at Houston was one of the few speeches he "practised." He had to prepare it in advance and speak it beforehand. The Houston program allotted exactly five minutes for Alfred on a national radio hook-up. He had to know that his speech would fit in that time, allowing pauses for introduction of Governors La Follette and McAlister. George M. Clarke, former newspaperman and administration secretary to Governor Alfred, is back in Austin with Mrs. Clarke after a surprise wedding in Houston. Clarke and Miss Helen Harper of Austin left Saturday afternoon for Houston where she has relatives. Friends thought it was merely a visit. They were married at 7 p. m. and shortly afterward Governor Alfred received the news at Austin in a telegram. He responded with best wishes as the newlyweds left for a honeymoon in Monterey, Mexico. Mrs. Clarke is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Harper of Austin, and the grand-daughter of Mrs. Mary J. Bowman, prominent charity worker. She was graduated from the University of Texas in August, 1935. Clarke was graduated from the same school in 1933. While at Texas he was president of the glee club, president of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and a writer for the Daily Texan and Ranger, campus newspaper and magazine.

Most every house in Cisco has been subject to window frame and door frame shrinkage and as a consequence, cold air continually sweeps in and makes the fuel bill pile up when you try to stay comfortable. This weather stripping is easily put on and gets results. Our carpenters can put it on for you economically, or you can do it yourself. PLANTS GIVEN FILM ROLE IN NEW TEACHING

BERLIN, March 7.—(U.P.)—The patience, knowledge, and planning behind an educational short of plant or animal life is apparent in a visit to the UFA Kulturfilm studio at Neubabelsberg.

The educational film usually occupies such an insignificant part in any program that the general public is rarely made aware of the difficulties to be surmounted or of the time involved in production.

A commonplace film showing the growth of a plant provides a simple yet striking example of the problem confronting the "film-maker," who for such work must be scientist, director, set builder, and cameraman rolled into one.

This role at UFA is played by Dr. Junghans, who reigns supreme in the unimposing, little brick buildings, which houses things botanical and zoological.

Many Obstacles Faced Before beginning the actual photography of the plant, he must make a careful study of its needs and habits. Most important is the amount of light required for healthy growth. Unless this can be closely determined, the plant might be killed by excessive light or heat from bright photographic lamps.

After mastering these botanical details, Junghans is ready to set up his photographic apparatus. Knowing how long it will take the plant to grow, he sets his camera for periodic takes somewhere between the maximum speed of one shot every fifteen seconds and the minimum of one every ten hours.

Worked by an automatic device, the camera then toils on faithfully, sometimes remaining before the same plant for a year at a time.

Attached to the camera and working in conjunction with it are a switch for the high powered lamps and a machine for closing curtains over the hot house windows. Thus uniform lighting is provided for every take without sacrificing the ordinary daylight and darkness so necessary to the growth of the plant.

Bats Trained for Camera Some time ago Junghans made a short involving the habits of bats. His first problem was to accustom the bats to living indoors.

Some time ago Junghans made a short involving the habits of bats. His first problem was to accustom the bats to living indoors.

After patiently preparing the animals for the picture, he had to prepare them again just as patiently to resume their outdoor life.

These problems are comparatively simple ones in the life of an educational film producer. Hidden from the limelight, these men work quietly and expertly for months on a single picture so that the public may peek for a scant few minutes into the secrets of nature.

TIMING DEVICE FOR RING ENDS HUMAN ERRORS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 7.—(U.P.)—Long counts will vanish from the prize fight ring if every club and arena adopts an automatic timing device which has been perfected by two Sacramento men.

The instrument not only times the rounds and rest periods and rings the gong at the start and finish of each round, but automatically records the seconds - in lights—when a referee tolls off the knockdown count.

The official timer may operate the instrument by means of a button and need not take his eyes off the fight to keep them glued on a stopwatch.

Timer Press Button A push button operating the knockdown indicator is the only manual control in the three-piece device. The knockdown timer is driven by a synchronous motor similar to the type used in fine electric clocks. The button controls a series of numbers from one to 10 at one second intervals.

When a fighter is knocked down, the official timekeeper needs only to press the button and hold it down until the fighter rises. For each second the fighter is down, a number is illuminated in an upright sign placed near the ring so that all in the arena may see it.

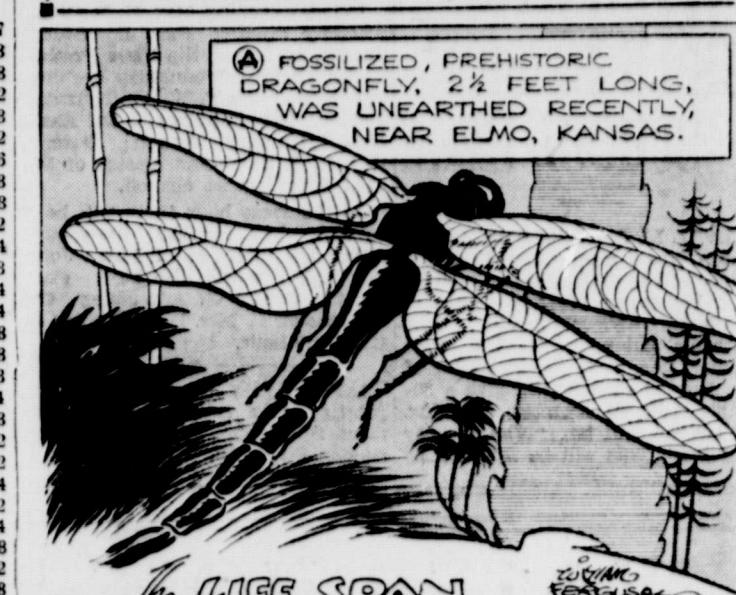

If 10 seconds elapse, the number 10 flashes red, denoting a knock-out and the timer automatically stops, thus giving the exact time the fight ended.

Lights Tell Story Should the fighter rise to his feet before 10 seconds have been tolled, the time keeper releases the button, and the lighted numbers go out.

The timer is another synchronous motor that records rounds and rest periods. A bell sounds the start of the fight as the referee gives the starting signal. A little revolving timer operates for three minutes, then the bell sounds the end of the round. The time continues to operate during the rest period. At 50 seconds a buzzer warns the seconds to leave the ring. At 60 seconds, the bell rings to start the next round.

The entire device is compact and easily carried about. It was invented by A. N. Walsh and H. A. Lain.

New Machine Writes Telegrams in Code

LEIPZIG, March, 7.—(U.P.)—Absolute secrecy and accuracy in correspondence by codes is assured by the use of a highly specialized form of typewriter. The inconvenience of wrong drafting, incorrect placing of the code letters and misunderstandings in transmitting are removed.

The typist using the new device merely inserts a telegraph form in the machine and copies the string of letters in groups of five. If a checking letter is to be attached the typist merely has to copy the letter which appears in the check-recording window of the machine.

The new machine, exhibited at the Leipzig Fair, simplifies use of the code books and makes possible a rapid drafting and deciphering of code telegrams.

GIRLS STAGE FIERCE FIGHT FOR 'MISS PACIFIC FLEET' PICTURE

On stand-by-duty—two seamstresses with needles and thread; two first-aid men with necessary emergency equipment; one responsible person with portable strong-box.

That was the unusual notation on the "call-sheet" at Warner Brothers studio one day during the production of "Miss Pacific Fleet," now showing at the Texas Theatre. It aroused curiosity even among studio employees who are accustomed to seeing queer assignments on call-sheets.

"And those people are all going to be needed, too," explained Director Raymond Enright who was asked about these "stand-bys."

In the picture, "Miss Pacific Fleet," Joan Blondell and Gladys Farrer in the "cellar" roles, a free-for-all scrap breaks out over the result of a popularity contest," he said. "Forty extra boys playing sailors, start slugging each other.

Forty extra girls, playing sailors' sweethearts, start battling among themselves. It's quite a scene!

It was! It attracted every masculine studio-worker who could sneak down to the street where it was made.

Four pairs of extra girls were told off to do their battling in the foreground, with promise of pay—one-half if they really put their hearts into it. All the rest were to mix it up, too, but not so violently.

When the director called for "Action!" on the scene, he certainly got it. The girls, especially those in the foreground, tore into each other. Heads of red and blonde and brunette hair were tousled. Squeals of excitement rent the air.

The light fabric of summer dresses ripped and torn. Shoes slipped off scuffling feet. Hats fell to the ground and were trampled underfoot. The battle lasted for three minutes.

CISCOANS TO BE INVITED TO STOCK SHOW

Special to Daily News

PORT WORTH, March 7.—An invitation to attend the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show, March 13-22 will be given residents of Cisco at 9:55 a. m. next Monday by approximately 100 members of the Fort Worth Credit Men's Association and the Ad Club.

These members will arrive in Cisco in chartered buses as part of the activities of the Southwestern Exposition Roundup Club which has arranged eight invitation tours in the interest of the stock show.

With the invitation tours will be Bob Calen one of the three foremost and fancy ropers of the world who has been a star at the stock show rodeo for a number of years. Bob and Gene McLaughlin, the youngest of rodeo performers, who were sensations at the Madison Square Garden Rodeo for the past two years will also be aboard the buses. Bob, 7 years old, and Gene, 5, do a trick and fancy roping act which for technique rivals the rope twirling ability of some of the world's greatest lariat artists.

Attendance at the stock show will be urged by those men who regard this institution as one of the greatest economical educational amusement features of the southwest.

Cowboy mounted football embodying all the struggle of the conventional gridiron game with the speed of polo will be introduced at the Fort Worth rodeo for the first time. Larger premiums in classes including horses and livestock insure more competition and better entries.

Herman Waldman's nationally famous dance orchestra will play at Rainbow Gardens where a floor show assembled from Paris, New York and Chicago will be presented.

GROUP TO BE HERE WEDNESDAY MORNING

Secretary J. E. Spencer of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce Saturday received a letter from Jack H. Hot, manager of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, announcing that the Fort Worth Clearing House Association and Chamber of Commerce would send a delegation here Wednesday at 10:30 a. m. to invite Ciscoans to the Stock Show.

Literature Types Ages Are Defined

ATHENS, O., March 7.—(U.S.P.) Persons between 20 and 29 years of age inclined toward writing should be producing narrative poetry, tragedies, odes, elegies, ballads and travel works, say two Ohio university professors.

Those of 30 to 39 should be doing novels, comedies, short stories and narrative prose.

Not later than 40 to 49 is the time for satires, educational writing and scientific and political works.

Between 50 and 59 persons probably will be writing philosophical works or history.

Biographies are written not later than 60 to 69.

Then after 80 a writer turns back to poetry again.

These opinions were offered by Prof. Joseph B. Heider and Dr. Harvey C. Lehman.

BECAUSE of the earth's daily journey in its orbit around the sun, it must spin on its axis a little more than one complete revolution before the same place on its surface arrives again beneath the vertical rays of the sun. Thus, during one year, one extra revolution is made.

CRUISE TO NOWHERE

BEGAN HERE TODAY

JANE WESTON feels her dreams have come true when she sets out on a three weeks' ocean cruise, accepted in payment for the salary due her when she worked as typist for which she worked as typist suspended publication.

On board the ship, she meets handsome DIRK STROM, expert ski jumper, an aviator as herself. The two are much attracted to each other. Then a misunderstanding comes between them. Jane is attracted by the attentions of TINO ROSSI, opera singer, and Dirk becomes the frequent escort of NORA LANE, famous actress and owner of the look-alike diamond.

Others among the passengers are SNOWSHOES, a detective; MADAME DOREMUS, wealthy and eccentric; GUY LENZ and MAXIE JACKSON, blacksmiths; and KEN MARTIN and LINDA HAYES, floor show entertainers.

Snowshoes leads Nora Lane to turn the look-alike diamond over to the pursuer. They go to her stateroom to get it and find Maxie Jackson, dead from a bullet wound. The diamond is missing. Snowshoes takes charge of the investigation. Most of the passengers are not aware of the murder, though they know of the theft.

Leaving Nassau behind, a storm comes that prevents her from seeing a hurricane. Stewards notify passengers to get their life belts. Maxie Jackson reports that Millie, her companion, is missing.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXII

The steady roar of the big blow down the sound of every other thing except the pounding noise of the waves and of decks awash. The great giant slugged and shook off the countless tons of water. People simply looked at one another and asked the awesome question, "What is going to happen now?"

Nora Lane took up the Punch and Judy show, and loved small children, eyes stark with terror, into play again. The orchestra in the ballroom played, trying to allay the fears. People stood around listening, trying to forget the shrieking elements outside. Ken Martin sang.

Down in front of the orchestra sat Linda Hayes, the little dancer. As Ken sang of love, his tenor voice came as a bell though he was coughing with his real emotion—fear for Linda's safety.

Ken knew that the detective thought his girl was in the know on the murder of Maxie Jackson. And even as he sang, his eyes watched the whole scene in the recreation rooms, fearful.

Something of Ken's anxiety conveyed itself to Jane, who sat momentarily charmed by Ken's crooning for love.

Jane knew what Ken's fears were. She sat close to Linda, thinking it might help Ken to know she was watching Linda, too. Feeling these things intensely Jane thought she was witnessing a love that transcended all the petty avowals of affection one heard in the course of shipboard romances.

BUT then it happened before Jane's stricken eyes. There was a freshening of the roar outside and a roll of the boat as the waves pounded amidship. Ken was flung from the orchestra stand, and going down, his head hit a corner of the piano.

When Linda reached Ken his face was white and a thin trickle of blood coursed down the side of his head. She worked feverishly over him, calling out his name, "Ken! Ken! Speak to me. Oh, Ken, speak to me!"

The blow on his head had stunned him. The ships doctor was sending one of the desperately ill on board. Somebody cried out for ammonia, brandy—any stimulant. None of these was at hand, and Linda stood up, her face lined with distress. She faced Jane.

"Oh, he can't be—" Linda couldn't bring herself to say the word. "Oh, I love him, I love him. Can't somebody do—"

She tore herself loose from the crowd and ran across the ballroom. "I've a medicine kit in my stateroom," she called over a shoulder to Jane. Jane had to run to keep up with her. A steward tried to keep them from going below, but they broke loose from him when Linda kicked his shin.

The lights were dim in the passage ways. In Linda's stateroom they showed feebly, almost extinct. "My life belt is under the lower berth," Linda said. "Get it for me while I find the kit."

Jane knelt beside the berth, reaching for the life preserver, while Linda went inside the bathroom.

Linda pulled the mirror back and grabbed the medicine kit inside the case. She slammed the mirror back and reached up for a bottle of ammonia. She faced the mirror, and then at the sight she saw over a shoulder, she clutched the medicine kit to her, and screamed.

Not observing Jane in the dim light a masked man had entered the stateroom and was crouched over Linda, preparing to strangle her!

When Linda screamed he lunged toward her, but a roll of the ship sent his body crashing against the wall. She slipped away from him and came to Jane, who had heard her scream and stood wide-eyed at the sight of the man lying on the bathroom floor. It was too dark to see him plainly. She grabbed Linda's hand, and they fled from the room.

BREATHLESSLY, they reached the recreation rooms on the boat-deck again. Linda went to Ken, who was murmuring feebly now, calling out her name.

Somebody had produced a bottle of brandy, and was pouring a few drops through his lips. Ken shook his head, then stared up at Linda. For a moment he didn't know what had happened, but his first thought was for Linda.

"Darling!" he said. "Don't leave me. I'm afraid for you."

She gathered his head in her arms, and the tears which she had denied herself all evening, since they had quarreled about the interview with Tino Rossi on deck, flowed. "You fool!" she murmured. "You adorable fool. How can you doubt—"

Linda didn't say any more. She merely looked down at him, and she knew by all the signs that a woman knows, that he trusted her. But she was going to tell him now.

She looked up and saw the detective standing over her, but she didn't falter. "Yes, I knew Dutch Lenz. I worked for him at the Tip Top Club in New York. I didn't want you to know, Ken, that's all I've kept from you." "I don't want to know anything about your past," Ken said. "All I want to do is keep you safe—now!" She kissed him, still tearful, while the people looked on.

But the detective said, "I couldn't find Dutch Lenz below

Two floors of the Armory will be given over to the show and nearly 200 different exhibitors, representing all sections of the country, will offer displays brought from every climate and corner of the globe.

Little Ceremony At Transfer of Alaska

SEWARD, Alaska, March 7.—(U.P.)—There was little ceremony to mark the formal transfer of Alaska from Russia to the United States 68 years ago at the Kodiak Island mission. Father Nicolai Kashavarov, 76, of the Greek Orthodox church, recalls.

Father Kashavarov, a native Alaskan, remembered the incident as he saw it as a boy of 8. The Russian flag fluttered to the ground and the American flag went up the staff. Life moved about the same.

RATS UPSET ASSEMBLY
TIFFIN, O.—(U.P.)—Assembly at Heidelberg College suddenly became a panic when a score of white rats invaded the hall. While screaming co-eds stood on chairs, several students assisted President Charles E. Miller to capture the rodents and return them to the biology laboratory.

Keen interest being shown by New Yorkers in the Texas Centennial Celebrations is illustrated by this show window in downtown Manhattan. "Visit Texas and enjoy the state-wide Centennial Celebrations," the placard proclaims, and from all indications a host of New Yorkers will accept the invitation. Texas decorations have become vogue in the metropolis.

GYPSIES BARRED
SAN FRANCISCO.—(U.P.)—Gypsies don't even rank with hoboes in California. Nineteen carloads who arrived in Tehama county from Oregon, instead of being merely met by the Los Angeles "foreign legion," were met with a local posse armed with sawed off shotguns and escorted out of the county.

MOSQUITO SQUAD
ALAMEDA, Cal.—(U.P.)—The city has developed a mosquito fighting squad, mounted on motorcycles, equipped with a pressure oil tank and spray gun nozzle, that oils regularly 10,000 sewer catch basins, the most prolific breeding place of the fresh water, night-biting type mosquito.

ROUNDUP FOR TEXAS DUE TO DRAW CROWDS

Special to Daily News
AUSTIN, March 7.—Roundup time anywhere in Texas is an important time of the year, but at the University of Texas in Austin, it is the biggest time of all.
For when several thousand ex-students come back to look over the campus with its new buildings and to talk over the old days with all their old classmates, it's some crowd. But they will all be taken in charge by Dean T. U. Taylor of the college of engineering, who is general foreman. This year the Roundup has been scheduled for three days, April 3, 4 and 5. In former years the Roundup has been only a two-day affair, but the more time it takes, so the executive council of the Texas Ex-Students' Association has made this year's program out for three full days.
Athletic contests galore will greet the returning exes. John A. McCurdy, executive secretary of the Association, has announced, W. E. Metzenthin, chairman of the committee on athletic events, has arranged a football game between two spring training crews, a track meet, and two baseball games.
Socially the Roundup is the most important time of the year at the University. The Roundup revue and ball, at which the sweetheart of Texas is crowned, is the occasion at which every co-ed wears her best—if not better.
Honor classes will be those of 1886, 1911 and all others with numerals ending in 1 or 6. These groups and others will have reunion breakfasts and luncheons, and at the Roundup luncheon April 4 they will all get together.
Letters coming in to the offices of the Association indicate that the attendance at this Roundup will be the largest in history.

Woman Heads Boys Club in Chicago

CHICAGO, March 7.—(U.P.)—Completely in charge of one of Chicago's largest boys' clubs is Miss Mabel Vera Sones, 28, attractive, champion cake baker and former Iowa farm girl.
Miss Sones learned about boys playing and working with her five brothers, she said.
"The best way to treat boys is to be fair and square with them and show that you're not afraid of them."
She is a comrade of the 3,000 boys whose recreational activities she directs, yet holds their respect with commanding discipline when necessary.
Her ultimate objective is to prevent youngsters of tenement districts from growing into lawless ways, and to improve their tastes for art, music, drama, literature and folk ways.

Tech Judging Team Ready to Compete

LUBBOCK, March 7.—(U.P.)—A junior livestock judging team and a dairy cattle judging team from Texas Tech will compete in the Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth March 13-22. Last year the Tech juniors won first place.
The Fort Worth show serves as a training school for future members of the senior livestock judging team who competes at Kansas City and Chicago in the fall of each year.

BONDS IN BLUE ACCEPTED
PORTLAND, Ore.—(U.P.)—Even though $30,000 in Northwestern Electric company bonds were crudely printed by letterpress instead of lithographed, in blue ink instead of gold and contained several typographical errors, they were accepted by an eastern bond firm, and sent here for refunding.

BARRISTERS COMPARED
VANCOUVER, B. C.—(U.P.)—American bar is far more conservative and holds far more tenaciously to old practices and systems than the bar in Britain and Canada, leaves S. S. Taylor, K. C., who returned to practice in Vancouver after 15 years' absence in the United States.
