13 'BLACK LEGION' MEMBERS ON TRIAL

TO COMPLETE TESTIMONY FOR STATE

DETROIT, June 3—(U.P.)—Michigan's effort to pin another killing on Black Legion began today with a hearing for thirteen legion members charged with participation in the execution that led to the unmasking of the secret terroristic society continued in court.

Captain Ira Marmon of the state police appeared before the Wayne County coroner to request exhumation of the body of Roy Piedcock, a Wyandotte, Michigan, steel worker, whose body was found hanging in an abandoned shack on the Detroit river two days after the bullet-punctured body of Charles Poole, a WPA worker, was found in a roadside ditch.

Black Legion Says Death For WPA Man

DETROIT, Mich., June 3—(U.P.)—Death was decreed for Charles Poole 32, by Colonel Harvey Davis and other Black Legion, an hour before the WPA worker was kidnapped and assassinated by the vigilantes, their "trigger man" testified today in court.

Dayton Dean, stock curley haired slayer of Poole, testifying voluntarily at the examination of thirteen legion members charged with the slaying, said Poole's death was to be the end of a "one way ride" for the man charged by the legion with beating his wife.

Jurors Chosen For Rev. Etridge Trial

HOUSTON, June 3—(U.P.)—Only three jurors remained to be chosen in court here today to set in the murder trial of Rev. C. Edgar Etridge, slayer of Ed O'Reilly, police chief of Orange.

Four jurors were accepted from a new panel of 125 veniremen who were summoned today after a special venire of 300 was exhausted yesterday, with only 5 jurors approved.

SPOON, SOAP AND BLANKET AID FREEDOM

SHERMAN, June 3—(U.P.)—A spoon, a bar of soap and several blankets brought freedom today for four prisoners in Grayson county's escape proof jail.

The four used the spoon to dig out a steel bar in the concrete ventilator shaft, then they grasped their bodies with soap to force themselves through the seven inch space provided, and with a rope made of blankets, lowered themselves four stories to the ground.

The four were brought to the new jail on top of the county court house only three days ago, despite a warning to county commissioners that the ventilator shaft barred by an iron pipe sunk little more than an inch in concrete, was impracticable.

Four other prisoners did not attempt to escape. The break was discovered by a janitor when he arrived for work this morning.

WEATHER

EAST TEXAS—Partly cloudy to night and Thursday; cooler north-east and north central portion to night.
WEST TEXAS—Generally fair tonight and Thursday; slightly warmer in Panhandle Thursday.

Swedish Premier Ardent Bowler

CONSTITUTION REFORM NEW DEAL ISSUE

WASHINGTON, June 3—(U.P.)—Proposed constitutional reform moved closer today as a campaign issue as a result of President Roosevelt's caustic comment on recent supreme court decision outlawing new deal legislation.

Methodist To Hold Educational Meet

Large delegations from Texas, New Mexico and Colorado are expected to attend the three assemblies during June in the Sacramento mountains near Cloudford, New Mexico, under arrangements made by the Board of Christian Education of the New Mexico conference, Methodist Episcopal church, south.

CHAIN LETTERS ASK ZIONCHECK TO QUIT PLACE

SEATTLE, Wash., June 3—(U.P.)—The chain letter business picked up today as cards spread through the Seattle district asking Congressman Marion Zioncheck to resign.

SAYS SHE WILL STICK TO HUSBAND

WASHINGTON, June 3—(U.P.)—Mrs. Marion Zioncheck, wife of the Seattle congressman, confined to Gallinger hospital for mental observation, said today she would stick to her husband.

COALITION IS GOP TALK AS PARTY MEETS

CLEVELAND, O., June 3—(U.P.)—A lively movement towards a coalition campaign of republicans and democrats today stirred three conventions' interest in this city where the GOP convention will convene June 9.

Governor Alf Landon's boom echoed loudest on the presidential front. Flags were out, hotel lobbies were filling and elevator service was beginning to lag under pressure of convention crowds in a hurry to get from where they are to somewhere else.

PHILADELPHIA ZOO HEALTHY

PHILADELPHIA—(U.P.)—The beasts and birds in the Philadelphia Zoological Gardens have lived longer than any other group of captive animals in the world, Dr. Roderick MacDonald, director of the institution, says.

IMBIBERS FACE SANCTIONS

KENOSHA, Wis.—(U.P.)—The Kenosha retail gasoline dealers' association has taken steps to apply economic sanctions against the drunken driver. It urges enactment of an ordinance prohibiting the sale of gasoline and possibly other necessary automotive fuel to intoxicated persons.

Lovely "Sweetheart of Texas"

To millions of people throughout the nation, who have read with interest the Texas Centennial's booklets describing the beauties of Texas, lovely Janice Jarrett was known simply as the "girl on the cover." But in response to a wide public demand Centennial officials revealed her identity as the San Antonio girl who won fame in New York as America's best-loved model and became rank.

N. Y. Celebrities To Judge Lions Revue

The Lion group which journeyed to Fort Worth Tuesday to ask Billy Rose or a representative to act as judge in the Lions' bathing beauty contest, secured four instead of one—two celebrities from New York City and two Fort Worth businessmen; secured the cooperation from the Fort Worth club in a program and visited Weatherford and Ranger Lions.

PROBATES ARE HELD INVALID IN COURT ACT

AUSTIN, June 3—(U.P.)—Probation officers in many Texas counties are holding office by invalid appointment, according to a decision of the State Supreme court here today.

The ruling was made in the case of Happie Dell Simpler who sought to collect $100 monthly salary as probation officer in Potter county. Judge Richard Critz found that a legislative mistake has made a large part of the probation officer law void. The invalid section applies to counties with less than 7,000 population.

FARM ORGANIZATIONS PREPARE RECOMMENDATIONS TO OFFER TO BOTH MAJOR POLITICAL CONVENTIONS

United Press learned, will offer these proposals for inclusion in the 1936 platform agriculture planks at Cleveland and Philadelphia. Upon their reception may hinge a sizeable bloc of farm votes.

The "farm problem" will receive serious consideration by both major parties. The New Deal, however, is expected to stand by the soil conservation act, voted by congress this year to replace the invalid, dated AAA.

The republican attitude has not taken definite form. Senator Arthur Vandenberg (R., Mich.), a possible presidential nominee, said in a radio address May 31 that he favored the principles of the old McNary-Haugen bill, which has as

C OF C URGES COOPERATION WITH LIONS

A number of matters were discussed at the meeting of the board of directors for the chamber of commerce at their regular meeting last night, said Secretary Spencer, among which were forming resolutions pledging cooperation of the body and asking cooperation of all Cisco citizenship in assisting local Lions to put on the convention in a manner befitting the well-known Cisco hospitality.

The chamber of commerce pledged its hearty cooperation to the Lions following their letter of invitation already sent out to the 1,300 Lions in District 2-E.

The directors also pledged their endorsement of the Milk plant here located by the Western Produce company in its efforts to establish a market for milk products in this territory.

A report of the program of the Broadway of America at Colorado was made by Mr. Spencer, in which much publicity was sought for making travel by this route more favorable over the country.

The efforts of the highway department in making travel information of easier access to the public through the establishment of information offices in various cities along important highways wherein chambers of commerce may place information regarding the route through their cities, was discussed and plans to use the opportunity for Cisco publicity were made.

A committee composed of Ed Huestis and Dick Lauderdale was appointed to plan for a clean up of vacant windows of the town, removal of out-of-door window cards and other advertising as a move to get ready for the Lions convention and for the centennial which will be coming through Cisco soon.

Plans were also formulated for folder advertising for publicizing Cisco during the Centennial and Frontier show, for which a committee has already been appointed.

J. J. Collins presided at the meeting last night at which following directors were present: B. A. Butler, F. E. Clark, C. P. Cole, J. J. Collins, Dr. Charles Hale, E. J. Poe, F. D. Wright and S. R. Wood.

To the business men and citizens of Cisco: On June 16 and 17 the Cisco Lions club and Cisco will be hosts to the annual convention of District 2-E of Lions International. The Cisco Lions have made every possible effort to entertain the hundreds of visitors who will be here and who represent the best professional and business classes of the area and it is our belief that this will be one of the most important

Funeral Held Today For Margaret Rains

Margaret Nadine Rains, age seven months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Rains, of 400 Jefferson street, Cisco, died this morning at one o'clock.

The body was prepared for burial by Neil Lanes' funeral home, and is being viewed by friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gay Alsop at 402 West 18th street.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at the Nazarene church, afternoon at the Nazarene church. Interment will be in Oakwood cemetery.

Choir Aids Revival At First Methodist

The Methodist revival had a great song-service Tuesday evening with several additions to the choir. A quartet made up of Frank Walker, Bobbie Kilpatrick, Lorey E. Boyd, and Ernest Boyd sang two numbers.

The pastor, Rev. Wm. Cole, preached on the subject of a "Posing Church" taken from the Master's Words in Rev. 3:1-5. This church was at Sardis where the richest man in the world lived, materialism was his aim, mammon his God, and pleasure its shrine.

The church in Sardis instead of lifting the world up to its Christian environment permitted the world to drag it down to its low level.

Christ came to this church and read the list of names on its roll; yes he knows the register of every church. When he had finished reading he said: "Thou hast a few names even in Sardis which have not defiled their garments, and they shall walk with me in white, for they are worthy." Jesus said on another occasion: "My Father which is in Heaven, how glorious it will be to have our names read out before the angels in heaven. It is the faithful minority that redeems the community and saves the lost."

The subject of the sermon for Wednesday evening is: "The Church Before An Open Door." Scripture Rev. 3:6-13.

How Many Gamblers Do You Know?

A short time ago an earnest young man got up in Sunday school and discoursed well on the evils of gambling. The next evening on his way home from the office he was halted by a train that was blocking the street. Not wishing to be delayed he started to crawl under. The train moved and he lost a leg. A leg, according to law, is valued at approximately $5,000. But what able bodied man would take $100,000 for a leg?

This young man who had stood up and talked so sincerely in Sunday school about gambling had taken a chance that the most reckless professional gambler in the world would not take. He gambled a leg worth at least $5,000 against a minute of time worth at most a nickel. Do you suppose any gambler however rabid would bet $5,000 against a nickel?

Every day you see persons who would be horrified if somebody should ask them to play cards or billiards or dominoes or checkers for money, doing just such gambling as that young Sunday school gambler did.

A chap who has married a high class girl from a wealthy high class family, and who is holding a high class, high salaried job in an establishment belonging to his wife's folks, will risk his home and his mate and his job and his social standing just to slip his arm around a pretty stenographer with a come-on eye. Isn't that gambling of the most absurd sort?—with nine hundred and ninety-nine chances out of a thousand to lose and nothing to gain worth having if he wins.

Take the fellow who knows that his brakes aren't right. Isn't he a gambler? Sometimes he is a minister of the gospel, or a deacon of the church who lifts his hands in holy horror at those who hazard against a chance. Yet he will risk an automobile full of human freight, including himself, against the chance that those brakes won't slip at the wrong moment.

A man who loves his wife and children better than all the rest of the world put together will take a chance on an unsafe gas connection which may slip off at any moment and asphyxiate the whole family. He gambles the lives of those he holds dearest against a dollar's worth of rubber tubing.

A man will install his radio aerial without a lightning arrester. He gambles his house and furnishings and perhaps the lives of his folks against a little contraption costing a dollar or a dollar and a half.

Not all the gamblers are to be found at Monte Carlo or in the blind room of pool parlors or rolling the bones in back alleys, but are on Cisco streets every day. How many do you know?

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON.—Chairman James M. Landis of the Securities and Exchange Commission, after prayer and thoughtful consideration, has decided to stay on the job in Washington instead of returning to his law professorship at Harvard. That doesn't mean that Landis of anyone else outside of Wall Street is especially satisfied with the record of SEC to date. He and many others who were once enthusiastic about the securities and stock market acts are disappointed at the commission's failure to grapple successfully with the many complex problems presented by the securities markets. The SEC staff is weak. There has been constant dissension between a large group known as "Wall Street stooges" and another group made up mostly of liberals many of them dissatisfied with Landis. Personal jealousies and bickering have been rife. This, plus the difficulty of getting able men to work for the salaries offered and the caliber of men picked by former Chairman Joe Kennedy—with tacit approval of Landis and other commissioners—has made it impossible for SEC to present a strong front on any major issue. The result is that Landis, originally considered a crusader against Wall Street malpractices, is unwilling and perhaps unable to do so.

So far the SEC has merely worked out problems as to information for security buyers—and none too well, according to liberals who still talk about the Northern States power case, in which a registration statement balance sheet was approved showing a surplus which, in fine print subsequently, turned out to be a deficit. Landis wrote the opinion and Kennedy later engineered his selection as chairman. The commission still apparently has no plans to do anything about unlisted trading, over-the-counter sales, segregation of dealers and brokers, and similar large problems.

The most worrisome aspect of this is its seeming indication that SEC is unprepared to handle the next big bull market, with all the fast operations that may then be expected.

The term of Commissioner Robert E. Healy, famous for his investigation of public utility methods, is about to expire and it will be all right with quite a few SEC men if Roosevelt finds something else for him to do, instead of reappointing him for five more years.

The group opposed to Healy attacks him on several grounds, chiefly, they say, because he is cantankerous and so set in his ways as to be something of an obstruction.

JOE KENNEDY continues his "raids" on SEC personnel for his office in New York, where he has been engaged mainly with big corporate reorganizations. Following his hiring of Bill Hickey, one of the commission's best experts, he is taking back Joseph R. Sheehan, whom he brought here and who would make an ideal lobbyist in relations with SEC, because he was long in charge of hiring of personnel.

Kennedy is also after General Counsel John J. Burns, whose departure would be a distinct loss to the commission.

Group Opposes New Bus Line

Opposition to granting a permit to Continental Bus Line for operation of buses over State Highway No. 1 through this county from Dallas to El Paso was expressed in a resolution passed recently by county commissioners. The order stated the Southwest Greyhound Lines, Inc. is offering adequate service and another bus line would add to burdens and hazards of Highway No. 1. The resolution will be filed with the interstate commerce commission joint board No. 33 for the hearing.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GAIL EVERETT, winner of a prize for costume design offered by a large silk manufacturing company, comes to New York to find work. She is hired—due to a stroke of luck—by MADAME LIZETTE, proprietor of an exclusive shop. Madame proves temperamental and difficult to work for.

DEREK HARGREAVES, young artist, is interested in Gail, and offers her friendly advice. Frequently called see DICK SEARLES, whose sister, ROSEMARY, was her roommate at school.

Meanwhile, in Arizona, MARK CHAPMAN, long a wanderer, returns to find his old home in the hands of the Travers Mining Co. He does not know the whereabouts of his niece, Gail, rightful owner of the property.

REX HALL, Madame Lizette's son, is representing the Travers company.

Gail goes to spend the week-end at the Searles' home. Dick asks her to marry him and again she refuses.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XIII

NATALIE PRESTON swung into a step with Gail. "Hello," she said, "you look as though you'd won a fortune! Did you have a nice time over the week-end?"

It was late Monday afternoon and both girls were coming home from work.

"Gorgeous!" Gail told her.

"I want to hear all about it," Natalie urged as they entered the club house. "You certainly look pleased about something. Have you had any other excitement?"

"I should say I have!" Gail's voice was jubilant. "Madame Lizette couldn't come to the shop today, and I had to run things myself. Madame had an accident—not serious, though she cut her forehead badly when she slipped and fell with some glasses in her hand. I don't think she'll be down for a day or two."

Gail smiled as she thought how well things had gone that day. Maybe it wasn't just right for her to feel that way, but she hoped Madame would remain at home for several days.

"Well, with that on top of your week-end I don't suppose you'd care to dine with me tonight and take in a movie?"

"Natalie! You know I'd love to go with you! It's sweet of you to ask me."

When they met in the foyer later Natalie said, "I know a jolly little place just off Madison avenue where they serve delicious meals. The cooking is Swedish. Do you think you'd like that?"

"I'm sure I would."

A short walk brought them to their destination, and once again Gail felt as though she had been transported to some other land. The waitresses were dressed in elegant costume, and the decorations were typically Scandinavian.

After they had consulted the menu and given the waiter their order their talk drifted to Gail's visit at the Searles' home.

"You went to school with young Searles' sister, didn't you?" Natalie asked.

"Yes, Rosemary was my roommate at school. Dick says she's coming home soon. I'm sure you'd like her. Maybe we can have lunch together some day."

"I'd love that. I suppose lots of wealthy girls go to Merrywood Hall."

"Yes, I wouldn't have been able to stay after Dad died if it hadn't been that Miss Cranston was an old friend of my mother's and she insisted on keeping me there."

"I'm sure no one would ever grudge doing anything for you. I know I wouldn't."

"That's sweet of you to say so," answered Gail, wondering if her estimate of Natalie had not been harsh.

"You must have felt dreadfully when you found you were poorer," Natalie went on. "Still I should have thought if your father had any paintings they would have brought a good deal."

"No, they didn't. At the time my father died, lots of galleries were closed. A friend of Miss Cranston's told her that pictures which would sell for hundreds of thousands of dollars in normal times were being given away by artists for just enough to pay for a meal."

"Really?"

"Yes, I know lots about art and artists." Gail smiled as she remembered her own, impromptu father. The sale of a picture was always an occasion for a celebration—perhaps a grand dinner with a theater party afterwards, or in the summer a long week-end at some seaside resort. Peter Everett gave little thought to the future!

"THE waitress served them. Then, as she hastened away to attend to other customers, Natalie remarked, 'I've been thinking a lot about you since we met. How strange it must seem for you to be all alone. I've such heaps of relatives. They make me tired. I wish some of them had never been born!'"

"Natalie! What a dreadful thing to say! You don't know how I envy you. If I had even one liv-

YOUNG FRIEND, WHAT NEXT?

When your high school days are over, you begin looking about enquiring to decide what to do next. You may have perhaps thought of medicine, law, theology, or some other four year college course. You may finance yourself for four years in college? If you could, would you want to do so since you would be the profession over-crowded? The teaching profession is crowded so that thousands of teachers cannot secure schools. With all these perplexing problems before you, why not give serious thought to preparing yourself for a good position in a business office where you can earn a good salary, learn your chosen line of business, and one day become an outstanding business man or woman in your industry. It only requires a few dollars and a small outlay of money to enroll in Byrne Commercial College. There is a demand for College Graduates; over fifty thousand have been Byrne-trained. Almost a hundred graduates have accepted employment since the start of the year. Fill in and, with no obligation, receive full particulars. Post graduate work and employment service for those who have completed work in high school.

Bill McDonald Sees Old Timers on Trip

EASTLAND, June 3--Back home after a two weeks' swing into south Texas, W. H. (Bill) McDonald of Eastland declared today that he had met with "wonderful encounters" everywhere in connection with his candidacy for State Land Commissioner. "For instance, in San Antonio one of the leading political figures there told me that he had never seen a candidate for any state office have his campaign in such excellent shape this early in that important city as my race is," McDonald stated. On the day that the State Democratic convention was held in the Alamo city, the Eastland countian was busy meeting big and little leaders from all parts of Texas and in fifteen hours of steady campaigning handed out 1,000 cards one at a time. "I'm still meeting lots of former Oil Belt citizens everywhere I go and almost without exception they declare they will roll up their sleeves and go to work to help me win this race," McDonald continued. He mentioned seeing Ernest L. (Tubby) Thompson, star player on the state championship Breckenridge Buckaroo eleven in 1929. Young Thompson is now in business with his father, J. E. Thompson, former Breckenridge banker. H. L. Mobley, who formerly operated the Mobley Hotel in Cisco has charge of tax matters for the American National Insurance company and Moody interests in Galveston--a highly important position. Chapman Williamson, formerly of Cisco, is assistant manager of the magnificent Buccaneer hotel on the beach at Galveston. Mrs. Winnie Tichenor, former Ciscoan, is cashier at the Buccaneer. Owen Barker, former Cisco attorney, is one of the leading members of the Galveston bar and former district attorney. W. W. Housewright, whom McDonald saw in Houston, is head of the San Benito Bank & Trust company, which has over $1,000,000 in deposits. Housewright six or eight years ago was a Ranger banker. Clayton Orn, former Cisco attorney who now lives in Fort Worth, was in Houston while the candidate was there. Orn was appearing in a million-dollar oil suit in federal court. In San Antonio, there are a large number of former Eastland countians--Sam K. Wasaff (who used to live in Ranger), president and general attorney for the American-Syrian Association of America; Judge Joe Burkett, former Eastland official; Dr. M. C. Van de Venter, formerly of Eastland; Dude Campbell, (at one time in the furniture business in Eastland), general agent for electrical products; Newt H. White (formerly of Cisco), head of a real estate company; former Business Manager Reed of Randolph College, Cisco, and former Jeff Strickland, former Mayor P. C. Sanders of Strawn and lives in San Antonio. Former Eastland countians seen in Austin included Quiney Lee (Cisco), with Braniff Airlines; Miss Elizabeth Davenport (Eastland) and Miss Frances Cotton (Eastland), with State Comptroller's Department, and Bert Bollinger (Ranger), chief clerk, Fish, Game and Oyster Commission.

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the State and its people. As evidence of good faith inquirers must give their names and addresses, but only their initials will be printed. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Q. What Texas city is called the "Rose City"? A. G. Wichita Falls. A. Tyler, which ships many carloads of roses to all parts of the United States. Tyler holds an annual Rose Festival, which attracts rose lovers from all over the country.

Q. Who conceived the plan of "camel trains" for Texas and what came of it? B. R. C. Atlanta. A. Jefferson Davis then Secretary of War in President Franklin's cabinet, secured an appropriation of $30,000 for buying and experimenting with camels for Army transportation in the arid section of the Southwest. A herd was acquired by purchase and gift in Egypt and Turkey and brought to Texas in 1856 and unloaded at Powder Horn Wharf near Indiana. They were taken to Camp Verde, near Comfort, where buildings had been prepared for them. They were used with some degree of success but the experiment was abandoned and the camels were sold during the Civil War.

Q. Where did William Jennings Bryan have a home in Texas? M. C. B. Alvarado. A. Near Mission, Hidalgo county, where he owned a citrus grove and planned extensive improvements.

Q. When and where did Stephen F. Austin die? B. R. O. Rockdale, Tex., Dec. 27, 1836 at his "Peach Point" home. There is a legend, which may be true, that his last words in the delirium of death were "Texas has been admitted."

"Texas Empire Builders of '36"

Every man, woman and child in Texas should know the principal events of the momentous period of Texas history from March 1 to April 21, 1836--events that changed the shape and the destiny of the United States. The facts essential to this understanding are briefly set forth in a 32 page booklet entitled "Texas Empire Builders of '36," telling of the stirring days which all Texans, like and adopted, are celebrating in 1936.

The booklet will be mailed post-paid for 10 cents. Send all orders to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Margie Linder Begins Summer Dance Schedule To Include New York City

Miss Margie Linder accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Lewis Linder, and her dancing partner, Buddie Martyn, left for Dallas today where she will receive a tentative schedule for her summer dancing tour that will take her to New York City theatres before the end of summer and perhaps usher her into the group of the nation's celebrities as an ultimate goal for her activities which have already brought her much local attention and favorable consideration, and secured her bookings by the Rain-bow Booking Agency, of Chicago.

Miss Margie is only 14 years of age but the intensive physical training which she has inculcated into her daily program, has made her into a young lady in size.

Elaborate preparations have been made for the tour. A new car has been provided for the party of four—a wardrobe maid will accompany the party—and nine costumes have already been arranged for Miss Linder and her dancing partner, a few of which are, a white frocktail suit; a Spanish costume which required 23 yards of cloth, trimmed with sequents, a truly dazzling costume; Winter Wonderland, made of white fur; College Rhythm, suit of knitted waist, white flannel skirt for herself and trousers for partner; and a metal cloth suit for tap dancing routine.

Mrs. Linder will accompany her daughter on the entire itinerary for the summer months.

Mrs. Mose Johnson Is Circle Hostess

Circle Three of the First Presbyterian church met Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the church with Mrs. Mose Johnson as hostess.

The circle chairman, Mrs. Slicker, led the business discussion, at which time it was decided to have a luncheon next week and a shower for Tex. Mrs. Crawford led the devotion on "marriage" taken from the book of Genesis. Mrs. J. E. Moriarty led the program and read an article on "Different Missionary Schools and Where they are Located." Mrs. Sue Bradshaw and Mrs. Homer Slicker told interesting facts about Pres. M. School at Tatt. Miss Alice Johnson read selections from "Seth Parker's Scrap Book."

The hostess served delicious cake topped with whipped cream, ice tea and nuts to Mesdames B. S. Huey, E. P. Crawford, Sue Bradshaw, J. J. Tableman, Frank Bond, A. Sandhofer, A. J. Olson, J. A. Jensen, J. E. Moriarty, J. A. Lash, D. E. Waters, John Kleiner, Jackson, Homer Slicker, Borman, Miss Alice Johnson.

It was sponsored by fellow republicans. The house defeated the Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage refinancing bill last month.

The National Farmers' Union has not given up its fight for farm mortgage refinancing legislation.

"The reactionary leadership of both parties ganged up on us to defeat the Frazier-Lemke bill," Edward E. Kennedy, national secretary, said as he started a swing around the country to explain the situation to farmers.

"That bill was our baby. We spent five years trying to bring it up for a vote and then it was defeated because both parties used the power of office, influence and persuasion against us. It doesn't make much difference what the party platforms say; the candidates are the real issue."

The National Grange, one of the largest farm organizations, supports the export debenture as one of the solutions of the problem of agricultural surpluses but insists that others, such as Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace's "ever-normal granary" through farm storage and commodity loans and the preservation of "American markets for American Farmers" are necessary.

The American Farm Bureau Federation, largest single unit of organized farmers in this country, will draft a platform to be submitted to both parties at a meeting of its high command in Chicago next Friday and Saturday.

Edward A. O'Neal, national president, said: "Congress has been mighty good to the farmers and we won't forget it at the polls. Ours is a non-political organization but you may be certain that American farmers have got to have some production control. They will have it, too."

The National Grange's proposals include:

1. A soil conservation program of "wise rotation of crops" with governmental rentals to build up our national resources.
2. Speeding up retirement of sub-marginal land from crop production.
3. Expand the surplus commodity corporation to deal with agricultural surpluses through farm storage and commodity loans, export debentures for sending products abroad, and increase new industrial uses of farm crops.
4. Protection of "American markets for American farmers."
5. "An honest dollar, one just to debtor and creditor alike, and preventing uncontrolled inflation or deflation."
6. Support of farmer-owned, farmer managed cooperatives.
7. Maintenance of interest rates at the lowest possible rate.

Congressional leaders in former republican battles for farm relief indicated that they would not attempt to push their party toward their special ideas.

Senator Lynn J. Frazier (R. N. D.) will not make a special battle for the bill he introduced with Representative William Lemke (R. N. D.) although he is an alternate to the Cleveland convention.

Lemke, also an alternate to the republican convention, said he believes the equalization fee has been "buried" under the disillusionment of a decade of legislative battles for farm relief.

C. of C. Urges-- and beneficial gatherings Cisco has had the pleasure of entertaining. We are particularly anxious that the efforts of the Cisco Lions shall be rewarded with success and that Cisco shall gain the good will and the prestige a successful convention will mean.

To that end we urge that every Cisco citizen consider his or her responsibility to assist the club in this program and that everyone stand ready to respond to any request for aid. Business men can assist by taking special pains to make their stores attractive, dress their show windows, and keep their store fronts brilliantly lighted.

A special effort should be made to have lawns and gardens well trimmed and clean because of the impression such an appearance will make. As your chamber of commerce, we are anxious that our civic pride be exemplified in the neat appearance of our homes.

We also urge that the condition of our streets and alleys be given the attention not only of the officials charged with the duties of their upkeep, but that of all our citizens, who can aid the authorities on our buildings and streets should be removed so that our guests will not be attracted by evidence of civic carelessness to the detriment of the good features of our community.

Lastly, we urge that the Cisco people as a whole take seriously to mind the responsibility for making a success of this convention and entertaining our visitors with true Cisco hospitality during the course of this convention.

Cisco Chamber of Commerce,
R. L. PONSLER, Pres.
J. E. SPENCER, Sec.

3,000,000th V-8 Ford is Produced

HENRY FORD (left), Viscount Wolmer, head of a party of British cement manufacturers who were touring the Rouge Plant, and Edsel Ford, are photographed with the 3,000,000th V-8 Ford after it was driven off the final assembly line at the Ford Motor Company plant. The car is being driven to Dallas where it is to be displayed in the Ford Exposition building at the Texas Centennial. More than 24,000,000 Fords of all models have been built since the Ford Motor Company was established 33 years ago. The 25,000,000th Ford unit will come off the assembly line early in 1937.
