About Our Friends

BY STEPHEN A. LONG

Neighbors report that J. D. Lauder is going to post an open season sign on his wooded acre in Cisco. ... limit, only one deer and three rattlesnakes to party. ... Now just what could he be talking about? ... Could it be that he has a vacant lot somewhere in Cisco? ...

That District Lion Governor D. Bowles, Breckenridge, spent last night fishing. ... said he understood it was going to be the shortest in the year so why go to bed just a little piece of time? ... Bowles went from his fishing trip on to the state Lions convention at Brownwood this morning. ... No sleep. ... should be in condition to growl. ...

A. G. Tuttle and Nick Miller among their morning cup of coffee. ... some men work so hard that they must have more fuel by midnight. ... Wyatt Jacobs thinks temperature unusually high today. ... Pank Thornton starting day off just right. ... L. B. Howell going somewhere. ... Mr. Mrs. J. B. Pratt spending a day. ... Harry Schaeffer back wherever he has been. ... man Reimer with a sort of sub-air this morning. ...

Thousands of people sought the swimming pool route Sunday all over the country to find cooling spots against the hottest day of the year so far. ... Spent a few hours at Comanche municipal free swimming pool yesterday. ... and were like our own folks. ... manchettes were not there. ... pool was being enjoyed by out-of-town people. ... Regret to say water was not clear like Cisco. ... but it seemed to afford enjoyment to those who were in the water so that was all that was necessary. ... Largest crowds of the year were reported for Lake. ...

Speaking of the Comanche section. ... Crops are fine. ... fruit and beans have been good thus far. ... Grain threshing on, and wheat and oats making good turnout. ... in roasting ear. ... should have other rain at once to make the maximum crop. ... Every farm has fryers that look to be perfectly ripe. ... brought one back. ... will test it out today, probably. ...

Highway 36 is almost completed to Comanche from the southeast. ... supposed to build on into Rising Star. ... to Cross Plains and Comanche. ... Work is being rapidly completed from DeLeon through Springs to Rising Star on that highway. ... Opens up a fine scene for good roads. ...

GOVERNORS LEAVE CISCO TO LION MEET

Three past district governors of the Lion Club and a past president left Cisco this morning for the Brownwood state convention when C. P. ... who is just becoming a member together with Past Governor ... picked up Past Governor ... and Past Governor ... on their way to the convention this morning. ... said the meeting would be an exclusive business session with no entertainment features scheduled. He expected adjournment by 3 o'clock this afternoon in time for him to reach his home in Decatur tonight. ... and Bowles are all proud in their praise of Cisco. ... convention they ever attended. ... and Dyer are delegates from Cisco. ...

Al Smith Bolt Provides Chief Excitement

DEMOS OPEN CONVENTION ON TUESDAY

Philadelphia, June 22.—(UP)—Al Smith bolt and a brewing platform fight to outdo the republican monopoly plank, whirled the democratic national convention today toward the formal session which begins tomorrow. The Smith bolt provided the chief excitement as the smooth functioning convention machinery prepared for the opening. At least one New York state delegate urged Smith to come to the convention but all indications were that he would rest his case with the telegram dispatched to delegates by Governor Joseph Ely, former Senator Reid, Banbridge Colby, and Daniel Cohan. Should he change his mind and come to Philadelphia, however, national chairman James Farley promised him a hearing just "like any other delegate." There were at least two factors in the platform monopoly controversy. Those were a desire to win the applause of those who supported Senator William Borah's fight for a strong monopoly plank in republican platform and at the same time attract anti-monopoly aggressors who might swing to the third party ticket of Representative Lemke of North Dakota. With this thought in mind, the suggestion was presented of incorporating in the democratic 1936 platform, the same 1912 democratic monopoly plank which Borah used as a basis of his suggestion to the republican convention.

Storm Warnings Are Down as Wind Wanes

HOUSTON, June 22.—(UP)—Storm warnings along the Texas Gulf coast were taken down today after a tropical disturbance first headed for south Texas blew inland 150 miles south of Brownsville, Texas, attributed to the storm. Ray Urban, 17, of Houston was drowned late Saturday at Galveston when caught in an above normal undertow while bathing in the Gulf.

Tommy Bomber Falls On French Normandy

RYDE, Eng., June 22.—(UP)—Lieutenant G. K. Horsey, flying a royal air force torpedo bomber, crashed onto the fore deck of the Normandy as the ship lay off Ryde today.

Recruiting Station Moved to Dallas

The Marine Corps announces the opening of the District Headquarters Recruiting Station, Dallas, Texas. Applications for enlistment in the marine corps from Texas and Oklahoma on record at the recruiting station, New Orleans, La., have been transferred to this station for the convenience of applicants in this district, and men enlisting at this office will be transferred to the marine corps base, San Diego, California, for a short period of training. Any further information relative to the marine corps, and duties of a marine ashore and afloat, both at home and on foreign stations, will be furnished by the officer in charge, Recruiting District of Dallas, Room No. 822, Allen Building, 1700 Commerce Street, Dallas, Texas, on request.

Boss Case is Sent To Cuero for Trial

CUERO, June 22.—(UP)—Vince Boss, Houston youth was nonchalant today as attorneys began questioning prospective jurors in his trial on charges of slaying Albert Brennan, cheese salesman. The trial was sent here from Houston after a recent hearing at Houston in which Boss was found sane. A change of venue was asked by both sides, in view of the wide publicity the case received in Houston.

Duce's Daughter Aids Court's Rise

Elevation of Count Galeazzo Ciano to Minister of Foreign Affairs in Premier Mussolini's cabinet turns the spotlight again on the young nobleman's wife, Countess Edda, daughter of Il Duce, shown in her new portrait. Since his marriage Ciano's rise to positions of trust in Italy's Fascist government has been unusually rapid.

UNVEILING OF MONUMENT IS IMPRESSIVE

In response to the request of Sovereign W. H. Hurd, deceased, that the Woodmen of the World bury him with appropriate ceremonies, the monument erected to his memory was unveiled Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the presence of his immediate family, local and visiting camps, and hundreds of friends, with ceremonies that were deeply impressive of the brotherhood and protective care of that ancient order for its departed members.

OREGON INVITES VETERANS

SALEM, Ore. — (UP)—Governor Charles H. Martin, a retired major-general himself, proposed organization of a committee to invite retired army and navy officers to make their homes in Oregon instead of California, where the majority now go.

CISCO BOILS 103 IN SUN TEXAS HOT

Texas sizzled again Monday in a heat wave which in several localities broke all records for June temperatures and came near equalling the all time march record by government weathermen. The excessive heat was blamed for the death of a negro woman in Dallas who dropped dead of heart attack. Austin and San Antonio both reported high temperatures of 106 Sunday. The official government thermometer in Dallas, on top of a 15 story building, recorded a temperature of 105 Sunday, the highest for June recorded since the government weather bureau was established in Dallas in 1913. Thermometers on public buildings downtown showed as high as 110. Dr. J. L. Cline, government meteorologist at Dallas, attributed the heat wave to a low pressure area southward near the center of a tropical disturbance between Brownsville and Tampico, Mexico. This caused an influx of hot wind from the middle western states, he explained. Dissipation of the tropical storm along the coast of Mexico was expected to result in a wind-shift within a few days, bringing cooling Gulf breezes to inland Texas cities again.

Valera Says Irish Still Want Freedom

DUBLIN, Ireland. (By Eamon D. Valera, President of Irish Free State, written exclusively for United Press). The Irish people ask now and have asked during the years that I have been in public life for only one thing: that their sovereign right to govern themselves in their own land without interference should be recognized and unequivocally acknowledged by Great Britain.

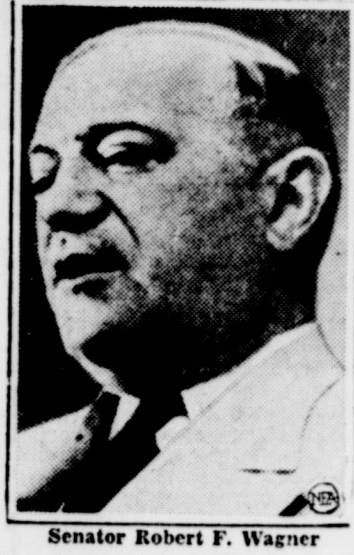

A Minute Portrait

MR. O. J. RUSSELL. Manager of West Texas Utilities company, was born in Callahan county at Eastland. He has lived in Cisco 17 years. He is the president of the Rotary club. His favorite sports are golf and hunting. His hobby is quail hunting.

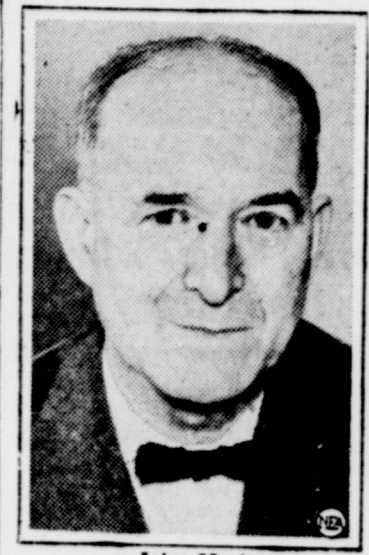

4-H Club Members Close 15th Annual Meet Held at Eastland

EASTLAND, Texas, June 22.—The fifteenth annual encampment of Eastland county 4-H club boys and girls closed Saturday afternoon at Eastland with 143 of the 200 delegates attending an Eastland theater. The session was opened Friday morning at the City Park. The encampment was under the direction of Assistant County Agent Hugh Barnhardt and Assistant county Home Demonstration Agent Miss Cornelia Faye Stewart. They were assisted by County Agent Cook and Home Demonstration Agent Miss Raye. Boy delegates, visitors and sponsors: Meritt Speegle, Scranton; Walter Ray Browning, Grandview; Joe Don Meroney, Ranger; Bill Bohanan, Carbon; Harold Duncan, Flatwood; Elbert Bennett, Vernon; Jack Caudle, Kokomo; Carl Peoples, Morris Miller; Morton Valley; Charles Bob McPadden, Bluff

Cast for Important Convention Roles

Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, above, is expected to head the resolutions committee, which will have the important task of formulating the party's platform, at the Democratic national party, opening June 23rd.

Judge John E. Mack of New York, above, who made the nominating speech for Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932 in Chicago, again will have the honor of presenting the president's name at the 1936 Democratic conclave.

Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri, above, is slated for the rules chairmanship at the Democratic convention in Philadelphia. This post carries the responsibility for setting any disputes over seating delegates.

BONUS CHECKS ARRIVING IN CISCO MAILS

Postmaster L. H. McCrea reports that his office has certified $48,100.00 worth of bonus checks representing 113 people, the first checks arriving at the Cisco office Saturday. About 25 per cent of the people are not cashing their checks, he said, but are saving the bonds for future use. About two-thirds of the checks have not arrived as yet. It had been estimated by the American Legion officers here that about 250 checks would be received by Cisco people. The remainder of the checks are expected by tomorrow's mail. It is easy to imagine what even $48,100, if spent in Cisco, would mean to the business circles of the city. This much money put in circulation, if no more should be spent, would revive business equal to an oil boom, without the consequent depression.

British Quell Anti-Jewish Fight

JERUSALEM, June 22.—(UP)—British military authorities pressed airplane tanks and armored cars into service today to quell Arab demonstrations against Jewish immigration that resulted in three pitched battles yesterday. The fighting took the lives of two British soldiers. Several others were injured. Many Arabs were killed or wounded. Airplanes opened fire with machine guns in North Palestine where 60 Arabs ambushed a detachment of British troops escorting a convoy. One soldier died of his wounds and two others were injured seriously.

Teo Filo Garcia in Starr County Wins First Bale Prize

MALLEN, June 22.—(UP)—A race to produce the world's first bale of 1936 cotton apparently was won by Starr County, Texas, today for the fifth time in seven years. A bale grown on the farm of Teo Filo Garcia, in southeastern Starr county was ginned here and sent hurriedly to Corpus Christi cotton exchange where a cash prize of $500 was offered for the first bale. It weighed 478 pounds and was classed as middling. Garcia has produced the first bale in two previous years.

DR. SANDEFER PRESIDENT HSU IN CISCO TODAY

Dr. Sandefer, president of Hardin-Simmons university, Abilene, was in Cisco today after a visit to the oil holdings of his son, J. D. Sandefer, Jr., of Breckenridge, in the Brown county holdings. Dr. Sandefer was a guest at the Laguna pending the arrival of a train to take him to Dallas for a business conference. Hardin-Simmons university has an unusually large endowment of cash and trust funds, having secured a total of more than $1,000,000 dollars with prospect of large sums for the near future. A 5-year building program was recently adopted for the raising of $2,500,000 for buildings and endowment. This college has been the envy and wonder of other institutions on the ease of its financing through the years.

INDUSTRY FOR CISCO MIGHT BE SECURED

Here is a letter received this morning that should interest those of Cisco who are industrially minded and who want to bring industries to Cisco. We print the letter which is self-explanatory: "Location is wanted for the Lenert Aircraft Co. Factory and Airport, in a town of 5,000 to 10,000 population. We are presenting this opportunity to a progressive town that will offer some material inducements. Would your business men and property owners get behind a movement for a new industry that will bring prosperity to your town regardless of what may be going on in other parts of the country? "The Lenert Aircraft company will make a specialty of Army and Navy Planes for the U. S. Government and Foreign countries. "The Lenert Aircraft company will employ men for assembling work that any able bodied man can do, besides skilled labor. Wages averaging not less than $30 weekly, a payroll of $5,000 weekly is possible within a year's time. "Our idea in locating in a small town is not to get cheap labor, but it provides better living conditions for the men working for us. "On account of the high speed of War Department Planes — Land (fairly level) must be available for an Airport with one mile runways, this is very important as we will want to build new factory buildings on the Airport, and we do not want the factory to far from the town itself, therefore, another reason why we seek location in a smaller town. "Is yours a progressive town — have you any vacant building for temporary use—is there a fully equipped machine and Sheet Metal Shop in your town? "Fairly quick action is necessary. "Awaiting your early reply we are, "Yours very truly, "LENERET AIRCRAFT CO. By W. LENERT. "We are to the aviation industry what Ford was to the auto industry. "We have no stock to sell."

A & P Grocers Have Annual Picnic Here

More than 100 A. & P. employees and their families and friends representing the Wichita Falls and Abilene Districts, gathered at Lake Cisco Sunday for their annual picnic. The entire day was spent at the lake where swimming, hiking, visiting the zoo, exploring the hollow dam and dancing completed the day's program. An old-fashioned picnic lunch was spread on tables in the Lions-Rotary park. LIFE OWED TO COW CAMROSE, Alta. — (UP)—Adolph Sauers owes his life to a cow. He was trapped in his burning barn, unable to find his way out because of smoke. As he stumbled around, a cow brushed past. He grabbed its tail and was dragged to safety.

3 OF FAMILY MOURN DEATHS ON DAD'S DAY

MADDISON, Maine, June 22.—(UP)—It was Father's day, so Irwin Jones went for a walk with his oldest son and daughter. At home he left his wife, Annie, 34, and three other children, Robert and Edward, 4-year-old twins, and Norman, 2. After the father and the older children had been gone ten minutes or so, Mrs. Jones wrapped a bundle of cookies and took the twins and Norman, to an oat field behind the house for a picnic. She took clothes line cord from the basket, bound the twins hand and feet, then tied all three together with a rope about their waist. Hours later, Jones and his daughter, Shirley, 13, found the bodies. Each of the children had been shot once through the temple. Beside them lay the body of their mother with a bullet in her brain.

800 Optomists Meet For Silver Jubilee

FORT WORTH, June 22.—(UP)—Celebrating their silver jubilee, 800 Optomists gathered here today for the opening session of their International convention. Registration was expected to reach 900, and is twice as large as registration last year at St. Louis, when 405 out of town members registered. Attorney General William McCraw delivered the address of welcome on behalf of Governor Allred, an optomist, who is in Philadelphia for the democratic national convention.

TWO FUGITIVE CONVICTS TAKE 1-ARMED MAN

BRENNHAM, June 22.—(UP)—Two fugitive convicts who murdered a Retriever prison farm guard, kidnapped a one-armed cemetery caretaker at Columbus this morning and escaped officers at Brenham after the caretaker almost brought about their capture during a fight at a filling station. The cemetery caretaker, J. W. Caggagne, 65, was kidnapped by the two convicts about 6 a. m. They drove away with him in his automobile toward Brenham. Shortly after ten a. m. the convicts stopped at the filling station of Arthur Geick on the outskirts of Brenham. They ordered the gasoline tank filled. Caggagne grappled with the men. "He was putting up a terrific fight and I joined in," Geick said. The convicts drew pistols and managed to escape. They circled through Brenham, got gas and soon their trail was lost. Caggagne, an uncle of the wife of Judge Boyd of Houston was put out of the car. The men escaped Friday from the prison farm.

MEXICAN SHOT BY ROBBER OF BEER TAVERN

DALLAS, Texas, June 22.—(UP)—One Mexican was killed and another was wounded today when they resisted the attempt of a robber to hold up a beer tavern near downtown district. Francisco Garcia, 30, was shot and killed, when he leaped on the robber and attempted to disarm him. A. M. Rozales, 30, operator of the tavern, was wounded when the robber shot off the little finger of his left hand. Garcia had worked for Rozales for 2 years.

League May Be Saved for World Peace

Looking at the dark skies overseas, it is exceedingly easy to say that the League of Nations has failed abjectly. Nothing could be more foolish, however, than to say that because the League has failed it must continue to fail; to assume that, because it is not at present organized so as to banish war from the world, it never can be so organized.

We built the league in an hour of great terror. The World War had dragged its bloody way to its last corpse, and we were uncomfortably aware that a little bit more of it might have done for everything that we value in our civilization. So we erected the league as a fence to keep out this dreadful menace.

Now the fence is broken down. If mankind has half the sense it is supposed to have, something will be done to redesign this league so that next time it may not fail. And the best service any friend of peace can render now is to discuss ways and means of making the league effective.

A good starting point for such discussion is to be found in a bulletin recently sent out by the League of Nations association in New York.

This group offers four major proposals. They are: That the League accept the Kellogg treaty as the fundamental principle of its existence;

That it call regular international conferences at which nations which feel that they labor under unjust treaties, lack sources of raw materials, or suffer from any other international injustice, could get redress in a peaceful manner.

That the burden of military sanctions be made a regional matter;

That the league covenant be unconditionally divorced from the Treaty of Versailles.

Here, at least, is a basis for discussion. It gives us the rough outlines of a league which would not be content to sit on the safety valve, but which would actively work to make the nations of the world feel that they need not fight to get what they must have.

A league whose members pledged in advance not to go to war, functioning regularly to work out peaceful solutions of their troubles, would be a league in which peace-lovers could have some confidence.

It is not the kind of league we have had to date. The old league existed to save the spoils of war for the allied victors, and that it fell apart when the crucial test came is neither tragic nor especially surprising.

A new one, concerned solely with international justice and peace, would be the sort of thing the war-sick people of the world have dreamed of.

It might be the sort of thing the people of America would be willing to support.

OUT OUR WAY

Breck Scouts Win In Meeting Friday

BRECKENRIDGE, June 22.—An enthusiastic group of Boy Scouts and Scouters numbering one hundred and twenty-five, gathered Friday night at the high school football stadium, under the big lights to participate in the quarter rally of the northern district. The local Scout troops numbering seven were the host troops to out-of-town Boy Scouts from Eastland county.

J. A. Bates, chairman of outdoor and camping activities, welcomed the visitors to Breckenridge, and wished them well in their contests. Guy N. Quirl, executive from Brownwood was in charge of the rally, aided by Commissioner Russell Jones.

Troop No. 18 won the rally, with Troops No. 31 and No. 17 placing second and third, respectively, all from Breckenridge.

The contests include signal towers, first aid, drilling, potato race, three-legged race, fire by flint and steel and fire by friction. Points were given for the best uniformed troop and for the troop having daily accredited registration cards. Scout Cary West won the essay contest for the best fifty word essay on "Why I like to attend the Boy Scout Camp at Billy Gibbons Ranch."

After the contests games were participated in and "stunts" were put on by the boys. Refreshments of ice cream were served before the dismissal.

Through the courtesy of the Bowen Drug company, who furnished a radio for the occasion, the big fight was heard during a recess in the rally.

At the close of the rally taps were sung as the Scouts and visitors joined hands. This closing ceremony was followed by the Scout benediction.

All Scouts voted it a big occasion, according to Mr. Bates, and the next rally is scheduled for after summer camp.

Give New Meaning To Word Vacation

CHICAGO, Ill., June 22.—According to Webster the word vacation means "the act of vacating—free from thought and action." The Western Railroads, however, have elaborated upon the dictionary's description of this all-to-brief holiday when the American public so eagerly anticipates each year, and have given the word a new meaning. They have dressed up "Miss Vacation of 1936" in attractive and modern clothing, and have put her outmoded sister of yesterday to shame.

After riding over seemingly endless stretches of hot, arid, cinder and smoke filled stretches of plains and prairie—"broiling" through intolerable heat waves, only to be uncomfortably "chilled" upon sudden ascent to higher regions the hour, yesterday's vacationist usually needed a "rest cure" upon his return home.

The railroads of the West have definitely changed this picture, and every Mr. and Mrs. America's vacation begins the moment they step on the train. No more "cinder eyes". No more dread of heat waves and stuffy atmosphere. Air-conditioning insures pure air at the right temperature at all seasons of the year, ending the former association of "banana fumes and parlour cars."

Milady may wear her newest and quaintest traveling frocks this summer with the confident assurance that she will end her trip with the same immaculate trimness in appearance as when she began it.

The cool comfort of air-conditioned rail travel, however, is only one of the many attractions "Miss Vacation of 1936" offers Western Railroad travelers. The interiors of today's railway coaches surpass yesterday's traveler. New color schemes the "last word" in modern, and soothing scientific lighting—in fact, all the conveniences of the ultra modern home are part of the standard equipment of Western railroads. Swift streamlined transportation—rapid time schedules—traveling time cut in half—lower fares—planned circle tours—it's easy to understand why the American public has become "railroad minded".

RUNAWAY BRIDE

By Helen Welshmer © 1936 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ON her wedding day MARCIA CUNNINGHAM bears her dance. BOB HASKELL, telling one of the bridesmaids, "SHE'S the girl he loves her but can't afford to marry her."

Marcia hurt and bewildered, sits alone on the trip that was to have been a honeymoon. On the ship she meets PHILIP KIRKBY, engineer. Phil is going to Paris to ask CAMILLA ROYAL, to whom he has been devoted for years, to marry him.

In Paris Marcia sees Phil and Camilla having tea together. She joins them and, looking up suddenly, sees Bob coming toward her.

Bob held out his arms. "Shall we dance?" he said.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IV

AS casually as though he had said good night a few hours before, Bob greeted Marcia, met Camilla and Phil, joined them, and talked of the crowded boat train, the smooth crossing. As naturally as though he had been expected, he accepted an invitation to join the party for the evening. Marcia, watching curiously, realized that she wasn't surprised. Somehow she had been expecting him.

When Phil and Camilla left them alone for a little while, Bob smiled quietly. He seemed older, or maybe he was merely tired. "Why did you do it, Marcia, honey?" he asked.

"Scatterings weren't enough, Bob."

"I love you." He smiled, and when he smiled his face was warm and bright, and Marcia felt her heart stir restlessly. She wanted to believe him again, and she mustn't want to. These three words were a sesame he had used many times to many girls, of course! He had said, "I love you and Marcia and half a dozen other girls."

"I was a darned fool, Marcia," Bob's low, melodious voice pleaded. "I don't blame you a bit. Only you might have warned me. You were within your rights to walk out when I made a jackass of myself."

"Let's skip it," his former fiancée answered. "We might pretend we aren't engaged and it's fun to be together. As for anything else, Bob—I don't know!"

"I won't rush you, Marcia. Marry me when you get ready. But please get ready!" His smile was rueful and imploring. "Mind if I stick around, though? You seem to matter a lot."

He did not mention the canceled wedding and Marcia was grateful that he didn't.

dancing partners. "Oh, but you must. I'll go get Pierre. You'll like Pierre!"

She was gone for some time. Marcia was sure that she had forgotten her promise and was glad. Paying a man for a dance was a little disgusting. But eventually Rosita returned with a tall, dark Frenchman who bowed very low and danced very well. He began to hold her too closely and she tried to move away. When she did he laughed a little. Someone was taking flashlight pictures and attention was turned on the photographer. Advertisements, or Sunday news pictures, Marcia guessed. She hoped that the camera would miss her and this—this gigolo. Then, as though taking advantage of the fact that all attention was centered elsewhere, Pierre bent over, and kissed her on the lips—long, hard, unyieldingly. She broke away with a little scream.

Nobody heard. The flashlight was doing its stunt and the sound was lost. She ran back to the table, her face white and her eyes blazing. She was glad that Pierre did not come back to her but heard him asking for his franks from Bob a little later.

IT was spring in Paris and there were flowers on the street corners and music in the air. Together the four of them, joined occasionally by Jimmy, who was Count Von Wormstedt, went to the haunts of Paris. Seven moons slid down the sky. The trees in the Luxembourg Garden turned to an enchanted green. The group went to the Bois and watched the swans float on the cool black water. They visited the shops along "Ready?" he said when the song was done, and they came again into the sweet, dark night, and walked to a little park, nearby, where the silhouette of a new church was slim and black in the sky. Paris lay far below. Marcia leaned across a wooden railing, at one side of the park, and saw that steps led to Paris, far below.

"Let's walk down," she said, and held out her hand.

"Just a minute." Gently Bob swung her around until she faced him. "I promised to let you take your time. But I have to know, Marcia. What are you going to do about us?"

SHE turned back, her thoughts still lost in the music, not knowing clearly what her answer would be. Suddenly a girl's laughter was very near.

"Slumming in Montmartre? Isn't it a beautiful, beautiful night? I came for a breath of fresh air."

Bob turned swiftly and his brows were drawn in impatience. "Oh, Rosita. Good evening. Not alone?"

"I have an escort—in there." She motioned to the low, dark building.

"We were just going," Bob answered. "Marcia wants to try these steps."

"Oh, yes?" Rosita's laughter broke into hurried little bells. "But it will make you so tired! Remember how long it took the night we walked down, Bob?"

In the semi-darkness Marcia saw Bob's eyes narrow and the swift step he took toward Rosita. "It must have been some other man, Rosita. I've never been here with you."

"Oh, no? Then how did you know where to come?"

"I came with Jimmy one night after you girls had gone to bed. But see here, I'm not answering anybody's catechism. You're a nice little girl, Rosita, but run along. Beat it."

Alone again, Bob caught Marcia's hand. "You don't believe her, do you? It's made up, though the devil knows why. She's wooing money and what she sees in my pockets."

He stopped short and Marcia knew that he, too, was recalling his own phase about marriage for financial advancement.

"You needn't believe me, of course," Bob said then, "but Jimmy will be a witness that he took me there."

"It doesn't matter, one way or the other," Marcia knew that her face was pale and her hands were trembling. She loved him! It swept over her blindingly. If she didn't, he couldn't hurt her like this! "Any mail, please?" she asked the clerk, to break the silence with Bob.

The clerk bowed and held out two letters. Wenda's return address was in the corner of one. Safe in her own room, with the wind blowing across the wide floor and the bed turned down, Marcia opened the letter and began to read:

"Marcia, my dear, I know you want to know what happened at the wake that followed your going, so I'll not waste time on inquiring about the state of your nerves and how you are coming along with the paste-pot and a lot of broken illusions. Here I go!"

LUBRICATION UNDER ACTUAL DRIVING CONDITIONS

.... DRIVE IN...SEE IT WORK....

- WE—Raise the body completely off the chassis with contact jacks, which jacks contact the frame at the center.
- WE—Pull the spring leaves back into their natural curl—we call it "Temporary Re-arching."
- WE—Put the proper lubricants where the ACTUAL WEAR takes place—the highest points of friction.
- WE—Do thorough lubrication, which means more than pumping grease through high pressure guns INTO OPEN CAVITIES.
- WE—Permit 100% lubrication, apply grease while the car is in motion and while the weight of the body is on the MOTORSWAY.
- WE—Locate that HIDDEN BODY SQUEAK; we detect impaired parts.
- WE—Spread spring leaves to actually put lubricants between the leaves—not just smear on the outside.
- WE—Free frozen shackles without the aid of a "Crow-Bar." The use of a "Crow-Bar" is DANGEROUS.
- WE—Examine and refill shock absorbers which can only be done with MOTOSWAY. (Optional, at slight additional cost.)
- WE—Lubricate "Knee-Action" cars. See it work. It's perfect while the parts are all in motion—"floating action."
- WE—Lubricate the "Enclosed Springs." How else can you do it? Only with MOTO-SWAY.
- WE—CHANGE YOUR OIL IN THE CRANKCASE WITH MOTO-SWAY; all old oils and sediments come out thus keeping repair bills away.
- WE—Make old cars ride like new ones, keep new ones riding like NEW—We prove it.
- WE—Challenge any other means of lubrication; the old stationary method has become obsolete. The MOTO-SWAY method is the only CORRECT WAY TO LUBRICATE YOUR CAR.

We are Giving you this Guaranteed and Certified Moto-Sway greasing and lubricating service at NO EXTRA COST.

VICTOR HUGO'S IN LOS ANGELES. The world of fashion calls Victor Hugo's charming Garden Room "Paris in Los Angeles"! And, as the diners pause to enjoy their Camels, Hugo says: "Our guests know fine tobacco. They have made Camels the outstanding favorite here."

ON THE RYDER CUP TEAM. Henry Picard (right) is rated the best golfer at full iron shots. "I know that 'Camels set you right!'" he says. "Smoking Camels aids my digestion. And Camels never get on my nerves."

"YOU KNOW WHAT nervousness and eating fast can do to digestion," says Claire Huntington, public stenographer. "I find that smoking Camels makes food taste better and helps digestion."

Camels stimulate digestion in a pleasant, natural way... increase alkalinity

The human digestion responds unfavorably to nervousness and strain. It is definitely encouraged by smoking Camels. Scientific studies show clearly the manner in which Camels aid digestion. Using sensitive apparatus, it is possible to measure accurately the increase in digestive fluids—alkaline digestive fluids—that follows the enjoyment of Camel's costlier tobacco. For a cheery "lift" and for digestion's sake, enjoy Camels. They never get on your nerves. They are gentle on your throat. You'll like the firmness of Camels too—no loose shreds annoy you.
