REBELS IN SPANISH CAPITAL SURRENDER

GOVERNMENT IN CONTROL OF LARGE AREA

MADRID, Spain, July 20. (U.P.)—While Americans were being invited by the United States embassy to take refuge there, the government announced by radio today that the right wing army revolt in Madrid had been crushed. All rebels in the capital have surrendered after serious fighting, the announcement said. There was no direct word of the situation in other cities, although reports were received of fighting and casualties. The interior minister issued a broadcast admitting that the cities of Zaragoza and Calatayud were in the hands of rebels, but claiming that the government controls the remainder of Spain. The broadcast said hundreds of rebel officers in Madrid had been placed in prison. It urged calmness among laborers and the militia. Government forces were asked to refrain from answering periodic firing in progress in various parts of the city. Loyal warships, the broadcast said, have been bombarding Cadix and the fall of the city is expected momentarily. A special train bearing 1,000 armed workers was being prepared to move to Seville.

Thermometer Runs High on Sunnyside A slightly hot wind and a thermometer reading of 109 1-2 at the Daily News plant brings no good for anything except as it may hinder the boll weevil ravage on cotton since no self-respecting weevil is going to do much work under such heat conditions. Summer gardens will soon die under such conditions and late feed crops will only survive where the seed-bed has been well prepared. Sun corn and maize crops can stand lots of punishment and if showers should come, only slight damage may occur. The Dean Drug thermometer shows 102 in the shade.

HEAT WAVE IS BROKEN PLAINS REMAINS WARM

Local showers, he said, will fall over Iowa, northwest Missouri, Illinois and northeast Missouri, southern Illinois and Indiana tonight or tomorrow. "It still is warm on the central plains and temperature will remain high in Kansas, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Nebraska and Missouri."

JAPAN OFFERS NEW COURTESY TO FOREIGNERS TOKYO, July 19. (U.P.)—A new phase of Japan's foreign policy has developed with the insistence of officials that visiting foreigners be treated with greater courtesy and not subjected to the irritations of over-strict police surveillance. The move commanded wide attention in the Japanese press and was started with a speech by Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita at the conference of prefectural governors. "Complaints often have been heard among foreign travelers in Japan to the effect that they were subjected to unwarranted treatment as a result of which they obtained an unfavorable impression of this country," Arita said. "Such complaints have a regrettable effect on our foreign relations. Efforts are being made by the foreign office authorities to guide foreigners to a correct understanding of Japan, and I trust that local government officials and particularly policemen who come into direct contact with foreign visitors will cooperate with the foreign office in this direction. "Suspicion Called Unwarranted "It is, of course, not necessary that special courtesy be extended to these visitors because they have come from foreign countries. However, on the other hand, to subject them to over-trict surveillance or to look at them with suspicion because they are foreigners, is not warranted. "Rigorous measures should, of course, be taken in case they violate the laws of the land. However, to take such measures against them in the absence of concrete evidence does not conform to the greatness of the nation."

Heavy Artillery Dragged Out in Governor's Race By United Press Five candidates for the Texas governorship dragged out their heavy artillery for five days of bitter canoodling. The first Democratic primary next Saturday will determine which of four opponents will go into the August 22 run off with Governor James Allred. Former Governor James E. Dead Wood in the Schools!

Texas is buying $100,000 worth of deadwood so as to throw it away.

It has started a survey of the public school curriculum, with a view of modernizing it and getting rid of antiquated subject-matter and obsolete practices.

The survey follows one made of the colleges, which dealt primarily with procedural and administrative obsolescence and inefficiency, and which, its sponsors say, already have paid the state back several times over. Meantime, Texas' standing in public school education has not kept up with other states.

Progressive educators for years have considered the schools were giving too much emphasis to old-time, strictly formal or classical elementary and high school education, and have been urging liberalizations in the direction of practical and vocational subject-matter.

A new danger-signal recently was raised, when the federal government began spending huge sums in a parallel system of informal education in the CCC set-up and other emergency agencies, with the stress entirely shifted to an economic view of training and accomplishment. Fears have been expressed that such a system, responding to what seemed to be public needs and a well-discerned public demand, might break down all the old formal standards and regulations, and deeply encroach upon the financial support of the school system.

The survey, when made, will produce a voluminous report, dealing with the whole field of elementary and high school education. It no doubt will carry recommendations, or conclusions as to desirable or needed shifts of emphasis. Educators now believe it will cause a far-reaching change in the subject-matter of public schools, and in the method of teaching, such as greater latitude in optional subjects, dropping of much of the difficult algebra, geometry, Latin and foreign languages, and much greater emphasis upon such subjects as civics, history, modern English, economics, business, semi-vocational and purely vocational subjects and modes of training.

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER

United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, July 20 (UP)—What burden is to be placed on the backs of Texas tax payers this year will become known this week. Several months ago a reduction of 10 per cent was in sight. Then the State Board of Education appointed an additional dollar to schools. That set up more than $1,500,000 which would be a strain on the state's treasury to start computing the new rate.

The state school tax will depend on what the Board of Education does this week about the 1936-1937 appropriation. How much the variable taxes will be already known—they will be the maximum possible under the state constitution.

The school appropriation is the amount per scholar to be given schools by the state to supplement local school taxes. There are approximately 1,555,000 names on the scholastic census. Each dollar apportioned takes $1,555,000 out of the treasury.

The state ad valorem tax for general revenue will be 35 cents on each $100 of assessed value. The tax to pay Confederate pensions will be seven cents. Last year the state school tax levy was 20 cents.

It was believed that this year the school levy could be reduced to 16 cents. That is hardly likely since the extra $1,555,000 that would have been on hand will be gone. How much the tax will depend on whether the Board again makes an initial allotment of $17.50 or allows $18.50 or more. The Attorney General ruled that $17.50 is not a maximum.

Formal setting of the tax rate will be made by an automatic tax board. It members are the governor, state comptroller and state treasurer. Their board duties are strictly ministerial. So much so that the board is designated the Automatic Tax Board.

The board must follow a formula. Money unexpended under current appropriations becomes a nest egg for another year. The school appropriation is part of the needed amount. An estimated revenue from special taxes is arrived at by taking the receipts for half of the present year and the last half of the preceding year.

This too is deducted from the total.

Gov. James V. Allred has a medal. It pictures a cowboy riding a bucking bronco. The inscription reads: "Ride 'em cowboy." It is a Texas Centennial medalion designed by McClelland Barclay, New York, and was presented to the governor by the Centennial's publicity staff.

Expended significance is: The horse represent the difficulties Texas has had to meet; the cowboy the eagerness and skill with which obstacles have been overcome.

It was a burning cigaret that caused the fire resulting in the death of John Pope, late assistant attorney general at Tyler. Pope's most notable success as a state official was in connection with cigarets. He fought through successfully the state's battle to enforce collection of cigaret taxes on packages shipped into Texas and distributed from central stations. Resulting increase of state tax income is estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars a year.

It don't seem like them labor fellers are ever satisfied. As soon as a factory or shop opens they start hollerin' fer a closed one.

The feller who has nuthin' to say gen'ly shouts it from the housetops.

total of money needed. Valuations are received from county tax assessors and a tax levied large enough to produce the net amount needed.

The state automatic tax board is expected to meet July 20 to do the computing. Expected is the word. Usually the time is postponed because the reports on values are not complete. A second notice has been sent out by the State Comptroller to Tax Assessors asking speed. Reports already received indicate that the valuation are running about the same as those a year ago when the total was $3,191,608,320 after deducting homestead exemptions. Special taxes are showing a decided increase. Tax relief, if given, will come from them.

The father of Grady Warren, electrocuted last Friday, failed to appear before the State Pardon Board because a letter giving him notice of the hearing, set for July 6, lay in the wrong post office.

Warren had written to the board. His letter was headed "Tyler, Texas." In it he gave his post-office address as Whitehouse.

The reply, setting a date, was sent to Tyler. When Warren's relatives did not arrive July 6, the board delayed a day, believing floods prevalent at that time might have prevented attendance. Finally the adverse report was sent to the governor. An appearance likely would not have changed the result. Board members are very positive in their report.

Jim Boy, Governor's Allred's 6-year-old son, is thoroughly enjoying the state political campaign. He is particularly interested in the red Allred stickers for automobiles, and passes them out with the skill of an old time campaigner.

He feels confident that his father will be re-elected.

Decorations in the governor's reception suite in the State Capitol are said to be the "fast word" in interior decoration. A noted home economist teacher and experts from two large Texas furnishing concerns, assisted in making the selections.

Results: Blue Bonnet blue walls, a mulberry carpet, some chairs upholstered in Alice blue; others in yellow and black and draperies in yellow and gold. The yellow is supposed to be gold. The raperies were imported from Italy. Colors desired were not found in any American stocks, so drapes were specially woven.

END FORESEEN FOR BIG SCALE FARMS IN U. S.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 20 (UP)—Walter B. Pitkin, educator, author and farm manager, sees irrigation, financed with money saved from flood damage, as the "cure" for the dust bowl.

Pitkin toured the drouth-stricken Northwest, and formed the theory that irrigation throughout the Missouri Valley and a chain of a thousand lakes along the river to trap flood waters is the solution.

"In a large part of the Northwest, and parts of western Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas there are but two 'outs' for the farmer if he does not want to stay on his acreage and starve," the author of "Life Begins at 40" said.

"He must either move to other sections of the government will have to pay him money to enable him to exist.

Advice to West
 "We are in a state of reorganization in this country. The West must go in for irrigation, and put back the buffalo grass which was plowed under for big scale farming.

"We have come to the end of big scale farming. The farm section of the West should be located within a radius of four miles on each side of the rivers for easy irrigation.

"Take Kansas City, Mo., as an example. From damage caused by floods by the Missouri and Kaw rivers enough would be saved for a vast irrigation system in the river valley north of Kansas City.

Colls 20 Acres Ideal
 "We as a nation must go in for farming on a smaller scale. In the irrigation country 20 acres is a large farm."

Pitkin declare that he would tell audiences in his lectures that there is now a chance to be agricultural pioneers, that vast regions of farm land can be substituted for the drouth area.

"There are the rich, irrigated regions of the Columbia and Coolee rivers in the Northwest," he said.

"There are fine, irrigated sections in Colorado and northern California, where they never have to worry about rain.

Praises Boulder Dam
 "Then millions of people could live on farms around Corpus Christi, Tex. I think the Boulder Dam a great project. There are vast acreages in the Gulf Coast country that can be drained, improved, and changed into rich farm country that will support a vast farm population.

"Year after year we go on having floods that kill and damage, while if we took the same money spent on relief and used it to irrigate, we could end floods and grow fine crops.

"It is so simple I can't for the life of me, see why we haven't done it years ago."

The author in recent years has had experience in farm management, and now operates 6,200 acres in New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland.

WPA DISTRICT RECEIVES NEW PAY SCHEDULE

ABILENE, July 20.—With the adjustments brought by the close of the fiscal year ending June 30 completed, Works Progress Administration projects in District No. 13 are operating under slightly altered regulations for the new year. The change has been accomplished without complete shut-down of projects, and with comparatively small loss of time.

Under the new wage scale, which was originated in the State Works Progress office, San Antonio, and based on prevailing wage rates in the various communities, workers will work fewer hours but will receive the same monthly wage as formerly paid them. The state has been divided into 24 groups as to wage scale, with the wage ranging from 20 cents to 35 cents per hour for unskilled labor, with skilled labor carrying a rate of from 65 cents to one dollar per hour, and intermediate labor class from 35 cents to 55 cents per hour.

District No. 13, which comprises 12 counties with Abilene as headquarters, falls in groups 11 and 24, with a range of from 22½ cents to 30 cents per hour for unskilled labor. In Taylor county, 30 cents per hour will be paid for unskilled labor, with a maximum of 80 hours per month. Forty-five cents will be paid for intermediate, with the same maximum of hours prevailing. Skilled labor will be paid 75 cents per hour, with a maximum of 64 hours per month. Professional and technical workers will receive 75 cents per hour, with a maximum of 71 hours. These rates will apply also to Eastland, Stephens and Nolan counties. The following rates will prevail in Callahan, Coke, Jones, Kent, Fisher, Scurry, Mitchell and Shackelford counties: Unskilled labor, 22½ cents per hour, with a maximum of 94 hours; intermediate, 35 cents per hour, with a maximum of 94 hours; skilled labor, 65 cents per hour, with a maximum of 60 hours; professional and technical workers, 65 cents, with a maximum of 65 hours.

Reduced hours of the new schedule will result in the consolidation of many projects in order to properly maintain remaining ones. In most instances, it is planned to work two shifts in order to carry work and supervision uniformly.

It is planned to carry on prevailing projects insofar as possible as a majority of these are road and paving projects formulated in units, which will eventually lead to completed road and street paving systems in the various towns and communities. It is not anticipated that a general call will be made for new projects, except in localities where the unemployed load demands or completing projects makes labor available.

A recent check of unemployed in District No. 13 gives a total of 6,629 registrants. District No. 13 is now operating under an assigned quota of 3,800 workers as set by the Works Progress Administration on May 30. In some instances, other districts have had severe reductions in quota since that date; reductions has been ordered for District No. 13 however.

With prospects for a bumper crops a heavy seasonal decline in workers is anticipated, which may cause shut-downs as cotton picking nears.

Under a recent ruling, relief owned and operated trucks will receive as much per hour for truck as is paid non-relief trucks and drivers.

So Much for Love

"Peter, to me there's nothing you could do that would seem foolish," Helena told him.

right. I—I can feel it."
In the end, it was the caretaker and his wife, with the justice who had married Peter and Helena and stayed on to visit with the caretaker, who were of the most help. Older and less confused, they met the emergency with a calm which none of the rest seemed to possess. Dimly, in the midst of her panic, Helena saw why this should be. Sandra Leigh's "gang"—young and impetuous—had rushed to Crest Mountain Lodge for pleasure. The wedding had further increased the degree of their camaraderie and excitement. When fate had struck suddenly, seemingly without reason, they were all too bewildered to meet the situation.
So they huddled around the big fireplace, while the caretaker and his wife, and the justice, stayed inside Peter's room. Smoking endless cigarettes and avoiding one another's gaze, they listened for the sound of the car which Blair Lowell was driving and which would bring the doctor from the town.
Finally the caretaker's wife, her arms folded nervously within her apron, walked into the room. They all looked up, expectantly, fearfully. But the good woman came toward Helena.
"Judge Simmons has managed to bring him out of it," she said slowly. "There's no water in his lungs, the judge said. But the concussion's bad." She looked down at Helena with troubled eyes. "He's asking for you."
Feeling as if she were in a dream, Helena got up from the davenport and went to a ward Peter's room. Inside were the minister and the caretaker, but they left when Helena entered. A crazy, irrelevant thought sped through her brain. "Isn't it queer that I should be the one he calls for—when only day before yesterday I meant nothing to him?"
Then, suddenly, fearfully: "If Peter dies I'll be a widow." Peter Henderson's widow. Unable to control herself, she flung herself down by the side of the bed and cried. "Peter! . . . Peter, you've got to be all right! You're going to be!"

HIS hand crept out weakly from the covers, seeking Helena's soft cheek. "Sure, darling. I—I'm going to be all right. She was frightened at the sound of his voice. His words issued as if with great effort.
"You'd better keep quiet, Peter. Blair is bringing the doctor—and after he's been here you can talk."
Peter's head moved against the pillow. "That was a foolish thing I did, wasn't it, Helena? But then I'm always doing foolish things. That was something you didn't know yet."
"Peter, to me there's nothing you could do that would seem foolish." With an effort she got to her feet, determined to let him rest, despite her longing to stay there by the side of his bed. "You must be quiet now."
He smiled slowly. "I'll be quiet. But I want you to do something for me. Will you?"
"Of course, Peter."
"I want you to telephone John Courtney in my home town. He's my lawyer. Tell him to take the plane into the little town near here. Then have Fain or Jack drive down to meet him."
"But, Peter, can't you wait until you're better to talk to him?" She grew suddenly whiter than before. "Peter, you can't believe that you—that you—" She stopped, stricken speechless for a moment. "Oh, Peter, you're going to be all right. Won't you believe that? You can't go away and spoil everything we planned."
He touched her arm. "Of course not, silly Helena. I've wanted to see Courtney anyhow. Should see him Monday, as a matter of fact. But it looks as if I'll be in bed here for a few days, so I want him over."
He looked up at Helena. "You'll long distance him? Right away?"
"Of course, Peter. Whatever you want."
"And . . ." he seemed to hesitate just the fraction of a second. "Tell him to bring Leah with him." Peter smiled. "You see, Leah is a—a friend of his. John may as

PORT ARTHUR'S 12-GRADE TEAM IS RULED O.K.E.H.

PORT ARTHUR, July 20 (AP) — Port Arthur's 12-grade school system does not give its football teams undue advantage over other schools in the state, according to findings of a special committee of the Texas Interscholastic League which was appointed to study the situation following a motion by Beaumont High school for a referendum against 12th grade football players.
The report, mailed to local school authorities by Dean T. H. Shelby, Chairman of the Interscholastic League, has been accepted by the League Executive Committee as its final action, Shelby stated.
The committee, which made a two-month study of the situation, reported that "from all the data, the committee finds that Port Arthur has about a one-year advantage in age over Beaumont when all boys enrolled in the upper six years of high school are considered, but that Port Arthur has an advantage of about one-half year only when football players are concerned."
"The committee finds that many eleven year schools in the state have football squads which equal or surpass the Port Arthur eleven in average age. It, therefore, seems evident that other factors than the 12-year system have an important bearing on the ages of football players. It is the opinion of the committee that any attempt to devise a local rule for the purpose of removing the small differences in age now existing between Port Arthur and Beaumont would have little chance for success in really solving the problem and would require action more drastic than the situation seems to warrant."

SIAMESE TWIN WORRIED OVER 'HONEYMOON'

DALLAS, July 20 (AP) — A honeymoon like anyone else, appeared wanting today in the marriage of Viola Hilton, Siamese Twin, and James Moore, a dancer.
Not only the bride and groom were perturbed, but Daisy, Violet's sister also was worried.
The trouble is that the girls and Moore are in the show business, and said Mrs. Moore, "we are scheduled to open an engagement in Cleveland and haven't heard whether we will be able to take our honeymoon now."
Moore and Violet were married in the Cotton Bowl stadium at the fair Saturday night.

Why Gulf is the Gas for July

The "DOG DAYS" start in July. Hot, sticky days that play hob with your car's mileage—unless you use a fuel tailored to the weather. If you don't want part of your gas to go out the exhaust unburned, wasted—get That Good Gulf in July. It's specially refined for summer driving—"Kept in Step with the Calendar." And that's why all of it goes to work, none of it goes to waste. Try it.

... it makes them win
