SWEET N' SOUR

By A. DILL

No monarch ever wore a nobler robe of royal purple than the one the thistle blooms give September, and no lady ever owned a stole of so gossamer a weave as the one Indian Summer drapes across her shoulders.

A few weeks ago, the Baird Garden Club pilgrimage to Curley Seale's home to see her beautiful yard and some especially fine specimens of cock's comb that are the owner's pride and joy. Sunday we followed the steps of the Garden Club and our Ohs and Ahs must have been just as loud as those of the club for the Seale's yard is indeed a lovely one. The cock's comb is not only of enormous size but we counted eight distinct colors in one bed. How the flowers, the lawn, and the trees attained their beauty is a story worth telling. It not only took work and planning, it took vigilance and weeks of battling the summer insects that threatened it with total destruction. During a two week period, Curley kept a count of the grasshoppers she killed (not including the ones killed by poison) and it reached a staggering amount of over 1100. Despite all the work and worry it must have been worth it for the Seale yard is beautiful. And no one could leave without a word about Curley's lovely ranch home which, like its mistress, seems to breathe graciousness and hospitality. Our visit was a most pleasant one.

Did you see the football game Friday? Then you know that even though the Bears ended up on the short end of the score, they were no push-overs for Robert Lee. It was a hard-fought game with the Baird team looking better and better all the time.

And speaking of looking good, our Majorettes and Pep leaders take second place to none.

And here's some real headline news - a boar owned and raised by David Lynn Canada of Route 1, Baird, won Grand Champion of the West Texas Fair, plus

Humble Introduces "Football Review"

A new and different kind of program will be offered football fans in the Southwest beginning the week of Sept. 16 when Humble Oil & Refining Company's "Football Review" begins its 13-week fall television schedule.

The new 30-minute program will temporarily replace Humble's "Texas In Review" and will extend telecasting area to include New Mexico.

Kern Tips, nationally known sportscaster and veteran Southwest Conference football announcer, will host the program. The new format will continue to include Tips' colorful description of football action from each week's Southwest Conference games and, in addition, will bring outstanding personalities before the cameras for behind-the-scenes stories and sidelights.

Guests on the show will include coaches and officials whom Tips will interview about strategy and outstanding characteristics of each Conference school.

"Football Review" will bring to football fans in the Southwest many intimate aspects of the game such as explanations and demonstrations of winning plays, officials' signals, and football fundamentals as well as human interest stories.

The extreme interest in Southwest Conference football among Texas and New Mexico fans prompted Humble to offer the new "Football Review." It is aimed at entertaining and enlightening veteran "sideline quarterbacks" as well as those not so familiar with the finer points of the game.

Rep. Paul Brashear Believes Special Session Will Be A Needless Waste of $500,000

State Representative Paul Brashear believes that the October 14th special session of the Texas Legislature will be a needless waste of approximately $500,000 in taxpayer's money. His attitude toward the session just called by Governor Price Daniel was expressed in a statement to The Star today.

"It has been my understanding that special legislative sessions should be ordered to deal with emergencies," Mr. Brashear said. "The governor has called this session to (1) provide for registration and regulation of lobbyists, (2) require registration of persons who represent others before state agencies, (3) recommend to the next session ways and means for improving law enforcement, and (4) create and finance a water planning agency for research and flood control."

Mr. Brashear, who represents Eastland, Shackelford and Callahan Counties in the Legislature, pointed out that Article 180 and 182 of the state penal code, which has been a law since 1907, provides safeguards and penalties against lobbyists. There has been little effort to enforce this law which provides, that in the event of conviction $200 to $2,000 fine or six months to two years in the penitentiary. He added that the crime commission, lobby control bill, and water planning proposals were before the Legislature during the last session without results.

"None of these four subjects mentioned by the Governor in his call could possibly be construed as an emergency," Mr. Brashear stated. "As the elected representative of this district, I will attend the session and do my job, but it seems needless to waste half a million dollars without a good reason for it."

A copy of the special session call reached Mr. Brashear on Monday. It ordered the representative to be in Austin on Monday, October 14th, at 10 a. m.

Mr. Brashear said he was pessimistic about anything being accomplished at the special session in view of the Legislature's handling of the subject at the regular session and in view of the fact that a majority of house members said in a recent poll that they were opposed to the session.

Two persons, Clyde Wotering, en route to Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. Orla Pence, en route to Do-watic, Mich., were traveling with him. The two said they had been offered the ride from California, because Mr. Turner said he suffered from a heart ailment and did not like to travel alone.

Mr. Turner, a native of Pennsylvania, is survived by two sons, William and Wilton, both of Meadville; and two daughters, Mrs. Longenberger and Mrs. Eckhardt. His wife died two years ago.

Luncheon Club To Build First Picnic Unit In New City Park

Callahan County Luncheon Club met in regular meeting Wednesday noon, in the basement of the First Methodist Church.

After an enjoyable dinner, served by the Methodist ladies, a general discussion was held in regard to developing the new City Park. Following talks by several club members, President James Eubanks appointed a committee of Charles Reeves, Tom Barton and Curtis Sutphen to plan and supervise the construction of a table and barbecue pit in the park. This committee is also responsible for the landscaping of this first unit, with trees or shrubs of their choice.

This construction will be the first picnic table in the park and it is hoped that all the other clubs of Baird will also build picnic units.

Curtis Sutphen, Park Board member, told the club that the board had picked out the most likely areas for picnic units, and that the City of Baird had completed water lines and faucets so that any area could be reached with water.

Randall Jackson announced that the T&P Railway Co. had notified the Baird Boy Scouts to begin the job of moving the old Putnam depot to the park to be used as a Boy Scout Club House. The movers will begin this work early next week.

Fish Hatchery Has Heaviest Year

AUSTIN — More than thirty thousand applications for additional fish from Texas hatcheries were on the books Sept. 1, when time for taking applications for this year's production closed. This figure has been given by the Chief Engineer of the Game & Fish Commission.

"This year's hatchery production will amount to some 13 million fish distributed to lakes, streams and ponds throughout the state," the Chief Engineer said.

Production of the hatcheries was curtailed some because of flood damage, principally at the San Angelo hatchery. Repair work at this hatchery has been in progress for some time, and the water supply to the hatchery will be completed in another 30 days. Meantime, bids are now being taken on additional drainage work.

An engineer was sent to the Dundee hatchery near Wichita Falls this week to survey improvements that must be made there, as well as to repair damage.

"Heavy rains in the spring filled every farm tank in Texas," the Chief Engineer said. "Many of these tanks had never been stocked before. We are attempting to supply them with fish as fast as possible."

Reminiscing with Sidney Harville...

Not long ago over Putnam way, wife and me visited some friends of mine. And as we traveled on Highway 80, we thought that it sure was fine.

When I was a boy, the road over the hills, sure was mighty steep and rough. And to get a bale of cotton to town then, we thought the going sure was tough.

The big hill that the highway cut through, well, we went right over the top. There was a level place about half-way up, and it was there we would always stop.

When the team had rested a little while, we could then pull over to the other side. So when we traveled on that old road then, it sure was a rough old ride.

About halfway between Baird and Putnam was what we called our old Hadley place. The highway went through the pens and corral, when trying to pen the cattle I had many a race.

Tom Hart told me he rode a horse out of the pens, and had a job keeping himself together. That it was one time in his young life, he found himself pulling some leather.

All the fence in the old corral, was made of long cedar rails. Things that happened there in yesteryear, could be interesting tales.

I use to ride to Baird on my pony, and I did not think it very far. I carried home, tied on my saddle, the Dallas News and our good old Baird Star.

Total rainfall the past week was another 1 1/2 inches, bringing the total amount to 3 inches since the rains started this month.

To all who were not present at Oplin Sunday afternoon for the Callahan County Singing Convention, you missed one of the best singings we have had in a long time.

We had visitors from Baird,

Clyde, Cross Plains, Lawn, Abilene, Dudley, Denton Valley, and possibly from other places I did not know about.

The next convention will be at the Clyde Methodist Church on the 3rd Sunday afternoon in October.

Mrs. Elbert Crawford and family visited her aunt, Mrs. Grace Ford, in Abilene Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Sherrod of Abilene visited Mrs. Kate Crawford and Irene in Denton Valley, and later the four visited Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Harirs.

I got the news that Dolph Hodges was coming home Sunday from Temple, where he has been for more than two weeks for surgery. The report was that he is recovering nicely.

Mrs. Dave Poindexter was a brave mother to take her three children, LaRie, Dewane and Donnal to the Fair Saturday afternoon.

You know what it means to take youngsters to a fair. They always want a friend to go along, so Dewane took J. D. Windham and LaRie came by for Lynda Crawford. I think they all had fun, especially when they rode the Farris wheel. Donnal, being five, cried a bit and the others were afraid to look around and enjoy the ride.

Lynda spent the night with LaRie.

September 20th is the deadline for filing and a few of the claim forms are available at the County Agent's office. If you need one of the claim forms, write me a card and I will send it right away.

Proper harvesting of cotton can add $2.50 to $19 a bale to the income from this year's cotton crop. Some harvesting suggestions are: do not harvest when cotton is wet, machines must be kept in good repair, do not allow grass to be gathered with the cotton as the best of gins cannot remove the grass from lint cotton, defoliating necessary will help prevent boll rot and aid in preventing green leaf stain which lowers quality. Surely it is worth a little extra time at harvest time to do the best job possible after taking a whole season to grow a crop of cotton.

A fall application of fertilizer on the lawn will help it to go into the winter in a vigorous condition. Apply a complete fertilizer with a 2-1-1 ratio or a 1-1-1 ratio, and it should be applied about a month before the first expected frost. When summer grasses are pushed into lush growth by late fertilization, some grass may be damaged by a hard freeze. Also, applying the fertilizer too late prevent the grass from getting the most out of it before going dormant. About 2 pounds of actual nitrogen per 1000 square feet and soak the soil to a depth of at least six inches. Extension Bulletin No. 203, Home Lawns, gives a good discussion on lawn care and it is available at the County Agent's office.

The Callahan County Bears Roebuck 4H Club Gilt Show was held Saturday morning (Sept. 7) with Bruce Williams of Putnam, doing the judging. IT'S THE LAW
In Texas . . .

SCHOOL SEGREGATION

With schools opening for the fall semester, the matter of segregation is back in the headlines in Texas and elsewhere, and some school boards may now be pondering upon a law passed by the 55th Texas Legislature.

By now everyone knows that the Supreme Court of the United States has decreed that segregation of public school pupils by race is unconstitutional. Since the Court's decision, however, the Legislature passed House Bill 65. The constitutionality of this law has not as yet been tested.

In effect the bill provides for local option elections to determine whether dual school systems shall be continued or abolished. It prohibits any board of trustees or any school authority from abolishing its dual school system (desegregating or integrating) prior to an election on the question. A prerequisite to such an election is a petition filed by at least 20 percent of the qualified electors residing in the school district.

The election is to be conducted in a manner similar to elections for school trustees. It can be called on the same date as a school trustee election if the petition was filed within 90 days of the trustee election. Otherwise the election must be called within 60 days after the petition has been filed. Subsequent elections upon the same questions cannot be called within 2 years of any prior election.

Under this law those schools which integrated during the 1956-57 term are permitted to continue integration unless this system of operation is abolished by an election held in the manner mentioned above. Another provision under a section of the law dealing with integrated schools is that a student shall be denied transfer from one school to another because of race or color.

The bill provides that if a school district should desegregate without first being authorized to do so by an election of the qualified electors residing therein, then the district becomes ineligible for accreditation and ineligible to receive any Foundation Program Funds. In other words, it loses State School Support funds.

The same penalty is placed on a school district, already integrated, which fails to segregate its school after an election calling for such action.

A fine of not less than $100.00 or more than $1,000.00 is provided for any person guilty of violating any of the provision of this Dual School System Law.

A Closer Look At Insect Poisons

The past two decades of agricultural progress have greatly eased the farmer's burden through any number of inventions, developments and general improvements. One such area of agricultural improvement has been the development of effective insecticides and pesticides which lessen the farmer's fear of crop destruction.

The insect may be asking for a pack of trouble when he invades the farmer's field today; but, so may the farmer be asking for trouble if he fails to use the highest possible caution in selecting and applying these farm poisons. While highly valuable in holding down infestation when properly used, certain insecticides and pesticides can be harmful if mishandled.

Such a group of insecticides which mix blessing in effectiveness with caution in application are those classified as Esters of phosphoric acid or certain of its derivatives. Much of the original work on these compounds was done by the Germans during World War II when they were seeking chemical warfare agents.

This is not to say, however, that the insecticides developed in this connection are to be avoided. They are of great agricultural value when used with the proper amount of care.

Phosphate ester insecticides on the market today are those which contain malathion and parathion, known under various trade names. They are most effective as farm poisons, but, being dangerous to humans and small animals absorbed through the skin, inhaled or swallowed, they should never be put to domestic or home garden use.

AUSTIN — For the 72nd time in Texas, the Legislature will convene in special session Oct. 14.

Throughout the summer there was lively debate as to whether such a step should be taken. Gov. Price Daniel put an end to speculation by setting the date. Purpose: to enact laws in regard to lobby control, representation before state agencies, crime study and water development.

Calling special sessions has been more the custom of Texas governors than not. Of the 71 previously called since Texas became a state, 41 have fallen in the 46-year period since 1911 — almost one a year.

Almost all Governor Daniel's predecessors in the past 30 years called lawmakers back at least once. (exceptions: Beauford Jester and W. Lee O'Daniel) Gov. Dan Moody holds the record for keeping the Legislature busy. In 10 months of 1929 and 1930 he called five special sessions.

Runners-up are Gov. Miriam Ferguson, who called four in 1933 and 1934, and Gov. Ross Sterling, who called four in 1931 and 1932. Gov. James V. Allred called three in 1935-36 and two more in 1936-37.

In those days a legislator had to keep his bag packed.

What were the issues that kept the lawmakers so busy in those days? Mostly, the same ones they're working on today.

In the day of Governor Moody's five calls, regular sessions were only 60 days, so a lot of routine business overflowed. But he also called their attention to special problems.

Many sound familiar — improvement of the Prison System "along modern and scientific lines," regulation of securities sales, investigation of charges against a state official. At one time Gov. Moody vetoed all the appropriation bills and told the Legislature to try again — within the budget.

Governor Sterling asked legislators to enact a program to conserve natural resources particularly oil and gas, and to help farmers, hard hit by sagging cotton prices. Sterling also had a states rights vs. federal courts problem in that the U. S. Supreme Court had negated Texas' oil proration laws.

Mrs. Ferguson had to call lawmakers back again and again to wrestle with the "hard times" of the thirties. Relief bonds to help the unemployed and destitute were passed. In one of her calls, Mrs. Ferguson, with an eye for housewifely problems, called on lawmakers "to make needed appropriation for refrigeration in the Governor's mansion."

Governor Allred's special sessions dealt with some of the most stirring issues of the thirties. He asked for liquor selling regulations following the repeal of Prohibition and for a law banning pari-mutuel betting at race tracks. He also asked for money for old age pensions ($15 a month in those days) and for more taxes to get the general revenue fund out of the red.

In most cases the governors got the laws they wanted passed — sometimes by calling one session on the end of another, sometimes in a session as short as nine days.

Water Program Okayed — In one area — water development — legislators have their work cut out for them.

A 150-member statewide water committee approved a three-point program proposed by the governor. It calls for:

1. Appropriating $1,024,000 to set up a planning division under the State Water Board.
2. Laws enabling the state to contract for water storage space in federal reservoirs.
3. An all-out push to rally support for passage of the $200,000,000 water bond amendment to be voted on Nov. 5.

Harry Provence, Waco editor, is chairman of the campaign committee. Lon C. Hill, Corpus Christi businessman, is co-chairman.

Window-Jumping Deferred — Several people in Austin have suggested forming an "I'm bored with BenJack" Club.

Their attitude stems from Promoter BenJack Cage's refusal to testify about his part in IOT affairs during his appearances in Austin. During his flamboyant return to Texas several weeks ago Cage promised to tell things about the bankrupt company's affairs that "would have people jumping out of windows."

Cage stayed only 10 minutes when he appeared before the Travis County grand jury. When called by the House investigating committee, he invoked the Texas brand of the Fifth Amendment and refused to testify.

If sensational information is to be revealed, it apparently will not come until Cage comes to trial in Dallas on charges of embezzling IOT funds.

Officer Hits Traffic Laws — Texas is behind other states in traffic regulations and ahead on traffic accidents, says a Texas safety official.

C. G. Conner, assistant chief of the Highway Patrol, said Texas has one of the highest traffic death tolls in the nation. It's as much as three times as safe to drive in some other state where more up-to-date laws are being enforced, he said.

Texas had 250,000 accidents last year, Conner reported. He suggested more driver education courses for teen-agers, more traffic courts, more arresting of drunk drivers.

Officer Licensing Proposed — Serving as a peace officer should be a profession, like law, medicine and teaching, says Atty. Gen. Will Wilson.

Wilson suggested a state licensing program whereby would-be peace officers would have to meet certain requirements.

It would be slow getting established, said Wilson, but would raise standards and emphasize the importance of the officer's work.

About Your Health . . .

AUSTIN — An apparent worsening of the venereal disease picture in selected areas and for the country as a whole is the forecast of national venereal disease officials.

For the first time since 1948, the total number of reported cases of syphilis in the United States shows an increase.

Although the apparent increase is not large, it includes nearly all stages of syphilis. Increase in early infections and in congenital syphilis appear to be disturbing indications of an increased attack rate.

It was only five years ago that the forces of venereal disease control were on the offensive. The panacea was spelled p-e-n-c-i-l-i-n. In state after state, aggressive control programs were gaining the advantage.

Under the integrated system of information, case-finding, referral and rapid treatment, the venereal diseases were melting away — or seemed so on the surface.

The optimism resulting from the rapidly decreasing venereal disease rates almost proved disastrous. In many areas, the high intensity of venereal disease control was lessened.

Today, however, hope of eventual eradication of venereal disease is again on the rise. The increased use of contact investigation, now employed with every reported case of syphilis, has developed into the leading case-finding procedure.

This technique has rapidly been improved to the point that cooperation between interviewer-investigators and persons contacted is at an all time high and one the rise.

This cooperation enables the highly trained interviewer-investigators and public health nurses to discover the chain-of-infection of these contacts. Armed with the identities of these contacts, the venereal disease control team is able to eliminate a whole chain of contacts rather than a single reported case.

It is these increased case-finding techniques that give the illusion of an increased venereal disease rate, when actually the venereal disease has been with us all the while.

Motorists Advised On School Bus Law

Three state agencies joined in urging the continuation of a state-wide program to acquaint the public with the Texas law requiring all vehicles to stop when approaching a school bus loading or unloading children.

The Texas Education Agency, the Texas Highway Department and the Texas Department of Public Safety are making a joint request that school superintendents, newspapers, radio stations, and television stations participate in efforts to acquaint drivers with the school bus law.

"Superintendents and news editors performed an outstanding public service in this safety campaign last year," said J. W. Edgar, Commissioner of Education. "Yet 7 lives were lost during the school year in collisions involving school buses. There is a continuing need for a program of safety education."

There were two more fatalities during 1956-57 than were reported to the Department of Public Safety in 1955-56. The total number of accidents declined, however, from 379 to 335. (During the past year the Highway Department erected signs on all major roads warning motorists of the safety measure.) The law says in effect, that upon meeting or overtaking a school bus which has stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging children, the driver of any vehicle shall stop immediately before passing. After coming to a stop the driver of the vehicle can proceed with due caution at a speed which is prudent and does not exceed ten miles per hour. The law does not apply within city limits.

Vehicles are not required to stop on highways with separate roadways when the bus is on a different roadway from that of a passing vehicle. Vehicles are not required to stop if the school bus is stopped in a loading zone which is a part of or adjacent to a controlled-access highway and where pedestrians are not permitted to cross the roadway.

All public school buses are painted yellow and have "School Bus" painted in large letters on the front and rear of each bus. They are equipped with flasher lights usually mounted high on the front and rear of the bus. These flashing lights are used only when the bus is in the process of stopping or is stopped to receive or discharge children.

What do big girls dream of?

Ever dream of tossing a coin into the fountain of Trevi? Ever picture yourself dancing the tropical night away and seeing the moon come up over Kingston town? If you're like most girls working today, you have.

And vacation dreams like these can come true. Your two weeks with pay or three months away from schoolroom chores can become once-in-a-lifetime thrills.

And here's how. Sign up for Payroll Savings where you work! Or make arrangements to buy U. S. Savings Bonds regularly where you bank.

The rest is automatic. Any amount of money you stipulate will be saved for you each payday and invested in Savings Bonds. You'll be surprised how fast your Savings Bond nest egg will grow.

The main thing for you to do now is to stop just dreaming about strolling up the Champs-Elysees or cruising down to Caracas—and to start making these dreams come true. Start investing in Bonds today!

And now Savings Bonds pay better than ever! Every Series E Savings Bond purchased since February 1, 1957, pays 3-1/2% interest when held to maturity. It pays higher interest, too, in the earlier years, and matures in only 8 years and 11 months. Now, more than ever, it's smart to save with U. S. Savings Bonds.
