UNDER THE GOME AT JUSTIN

By LONDON K. SHEARER
Special Staff Correspondent
JUSTIN, Jan. 8 (U.P.)—A "taxless" slogan is urged by the slogan-cra. They mean no new taxes. Their slogan is popular, but before making such a recommendation to the Texas legislators for their four-month session opening on Jan. 12, Gov. James V. Alfred wants to look at the balance sheet.

Finance Chairman John Luffkin, sees a bright prospect for no new tax. John T. Smith, ex-legislator and editor of the Texas Tax Journal, believes the state can balance its budget by collection of past-due taxes.

The San Antonio Express headed that the tax payer's load, has been limited by a constitutional amendment, but Smith warns of a precedent already under way to have that limit. It is 35 cents on $5 valuation for general purposes. An additional 35 cents may be levied for schools and seven for the Confederal Pensions.

General Parsons takes a stand against further diversion of funds for purposes other than road building. C. W. Byringer, Wichita Falls, president of the Texas Association of Home Owners and of the Property Owners Association, says the latter organization will support a constitutional amendment to increase the tax after 1938.

Advocate propaganda has led to many changes in Texas. Some want to junk the present system of a House and Senate. A single body like the British House of Commons, says C. G. Bonkins, Gonzales, says to have trials of suits over pollution take place where pollution causes damage—not where the pollution originates. Un-ble plan if what Fort Worth did in the Trinity river caused a Dallas legal action would be in Dallas county instead of Tarrant county.

No deaths from exposure have been reported, but two persons were killed in El Paso when high winds which preceded the blizzard toppled a huge electric sign from an office building crushing pedestrians.

Copy of Petition Against Gambling

Rev. Joe I. Patterson, pastor of the First Methodist church of Cisco, brought in the following petition and requested that all those interested sign their names to the blank spaces provided at the end, clip the article and either present it to him, or mail it to the legislature at Austin immediately.

The article follows:
Petition
To the Honorable Senators and Representatives of the Texas Legislature.

We, whose names are hereto signed believe that all good citizens should desire good laws and cooperate to obtain good laws and repeal those that are bad. It is generally known by the people of Texas that the laws permitting pari-mutuel gambling on horse races and dog races and permitting the bookmakers to permeate our cities and promote such gambling is working harm to the business interests of this state. It is also known by every body acquainted with the facts and conditions that the practice of gambling on other things having in them the element of chance has amazingly increased since the pari-mutuel gambling laws were enacted. It is also known that it is very difficult to obtain convictions for the violation of any law against gambling since the said pari-mutuel laws were enacted.

It is a matter of common knowledge that many men and women gamble away a large portion of their earnings and are not able to buy goods which they need or to pay their bills. Thus, the substantial business interests of our towns and cities suffer continually because of the practice of gambling which is constantly becoming more hurtful to the business interests of Texas. All of our laws should build the substantial prosperity of our people and promote the business interests of this state. Gambling tends to poverty and is destructive of business interests as is well known.

Other implements of gambling, the marble boards, are found in towns and cities throughout this state. They produce no article of value, but constantly drain the resources of those who patronize them and divert such resources, aggregating a vast amount every month, from legitimate and helpful business.

We, therefore, earnestly, sincerely and vigorously as citizens of the State of Texas, petition your honorable body, and each member thereof, to repeal at the earliest possible date, the laws permitting pari-mutuel gambling on horse races, dog races, or other methods of gambling. We also, earnestly petition you to enact a law or laws, forbidding such instruments as marble boards, or other similar devices from being placed in drug stores, restaurants or other places in our towns and cities for the purpose of gambling. We, hereby, promise your honorable body to do what we can as citizens to enforce good and wholesome laws promoting prosperity and social order; but we earnestly desire and petition the Senators and Representatives of the Legislature of this state to repeal these laws, far reaching in their hurtfulness to the business interests of this state.

Under the Dome

federal constitution will be staged at the approaching session of the legislature. Organized labor has made it a preferential measure and Women's Clubs are lining up to be organized workers in behalf of ratification. Changes in the State Senate membership make them hopeful that four previous failures will be wiped out this time.

Oil law changes will be proposed in both House and Senate. Rep. Harry N. Graves, Georgetown, wants to repeal the law under which oil production is prorated. Sen. Joe Hill, Henderson, wants to repeal the law under which oil produced in excess of proration allowances, is confiscated. Other members say there may be a counter movement to lighten the effect of proration by reducing the amount of oil that must be permitted to flow. A preferential "marginal" well law sets a minimum. New wells have been drilled as numerous that to keep many people prefer Black-Draught production within some field limits.

Lily Pons Adds Ballet to Talents

When she sings the Queen in Rimsky-Korsakov's opera, "Le Coq d'Or" at the Metropolitan Opera House, Lily Pons isn't going to even try to take the spectacular dance role calls for. Here she's being instructed by Michael Fokine, famed New York ballet master, in the proper steps.

Boulder Dam

When the area of Lake Mead is compared with the thousands of square miles over which show-ers are distributed, and when the fact that the vapor of evaporation from the lake surface is taken into account, it is at once apparent that no important effect on local rainfall is likely to be found.

Inland Sea Created

In 1905 and 1906 the Colorado River broke its banks and overflowed into the low-lying Imperial Valley of California, forming Salton Sea in what previously had been a desert basin. Before the river was returned to its channel, Salton Sea covered 440 square miles. Sager points out that it has been conclusively shown that the creation of Salton Sea had no effect on the rainfall of the surrounding area and none on the temperature and humidity of areas more than a quarter of a mile from its shores.

Yet the surface of Salton Sea more than twice that of Lake Mead. Construction of Boulder Dam and the creation of Lake Mead has exerted and will continue to exert a great influence on the Southwest. Acting Commissioner Page said.

"The character of the Colorado River below Boulder Dam has been changed entirely from an erratic stream to a perennial stream on which irrigators can rely confidently. The contributions made by Lake Mead through increasing the flows of the river during summer droughts have added to the security of tens of thousands of persons.

"No magical influence on the climate of the Southwest has been claimed for this project and none is necessary to complete its justifications."
