Haynes Suspect Thought Seen in Dallas

MAN INQUIRES ABOUT CAR AS POLICE CALLED

DALLAS, Jan. 14 (U.P.)—Roy Roberts, used car salesman, informed police today that he believed a man who attempted to purchase an automobile from him was Fred Orrin Haynes, sought for questioning in connection with the kidnap-murder of Charles Mattson.

Roberts said the prospective purchaser "resembled exactly the picture of the former convict that appeared in a morning paper."

The salesman said the man told him he wanted to buy an automobile. Roberts told the customer to "look around" then called police. When he returned, the man was gone.

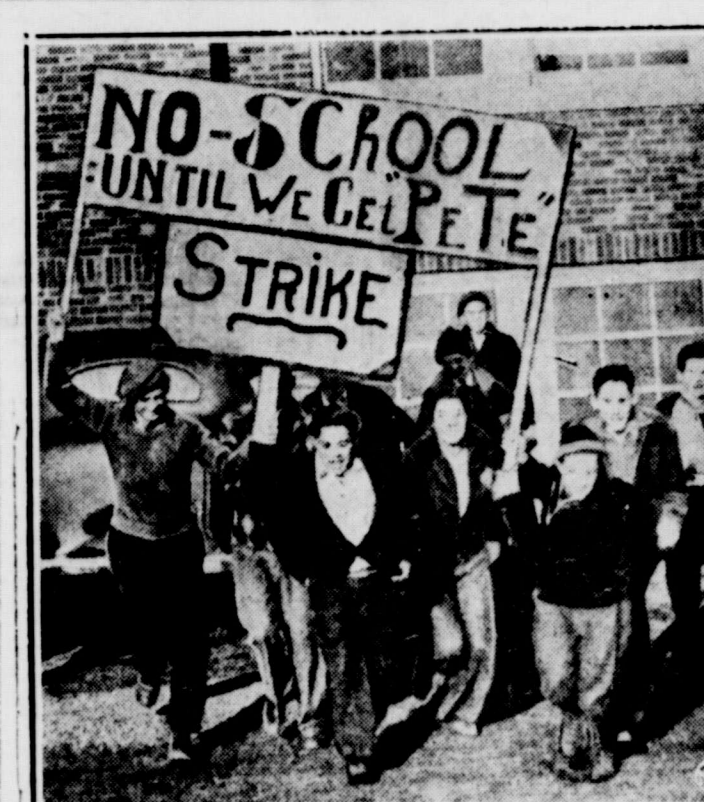

Prison officials at Folsom, Calif., were reported yesterday to have revealed that the States Criminal Investigation Bureau had been asked for fingerprints of Haynes, a former convict.

HOOPER REFUSES TO COMMENT ON MATTSON CASE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (U.P.)—Director J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation today indicated G-men believed more than one kidnaper may be involved in the abduction and slaying of Charles Mattson.

Hoover appeared before a house sub-committee to testify on the Justice Department Appropriation bill. He told United Press that FBI had "nothing to say" about the case until it is solved.

Pupils Strike to Save Cop's Job strike in his behalf. A group of boys above carry high the banner that defied school authorities to aid their favorite cop on the job. Eckley meanwhile refused to surrender badge, uniform, pistol and key to the village's only traffic light.

LIONS TO STAGE MINSTREL OF FUN AND BLACK MAGIC THURSDAY

Cisco Lions who are known to do the unusual when they attempt to work for the interest of their club and community, have completed preparations for an entertainment, outstanding in nature since it will encompass black magic, fun and backed by a black-face cast that is scheduled to provoke a million laughs while the youngsters will marvel at the air of mystery that surrounds the doings of J. B. Moreno, who is assisting in the staging of the event.

The club has gone to considerable expense to provide an hour or two of real comedy with plenty of dress parade, burlesque and fast, furious action that will make every minute thrill with anticipation in wonder of what is to come next. And the next will surpass the preceding.

The program is to be well balanced with outstanding novelty acts, eccentric dances, catchy novelty songs. A background of ladies and men voices will back up the queer antics of the black face comedians.

Mr. Moreno, whose father was Spanish, and who acted as interpreter for Uncle Sam's emissary to South America a few years ago, will be in charge of training and he will astound the audience with his deep dark secrets of Black Magic, in which he has been schooled since early childhood, and of which he is a past master.

The Lions minstrel will be staged at the high school auditorium next Thursday evening January 21, and tickets will be on sale at once, it is announced.

All funds will be used for community work of the Lions in their plans for the coming year. Committee in charge is, J. W. Copps, Horace Conditly, H. L. Dyer, and E. L. Smith.

AGE PENSIONS CAUSE UPROAR IN TEXAS BODY

AUSTIN, Jan. 14 (U.P.)—The Texas house had an early uproar today over the administration of old age pensions. A resolution lost, calling on County Commissioners to assist in investigating applicants.

The proposal set off a torrent of charges that certain old people in Texas are being allowed to starve; that funds are being squandered and that an investigator does not need a college degree to determine whether old men and women are in want.

The resolution intended to expedite investigations would have the county commissioners for eight weeks, assist the Old Age Assistance commission.

Sixty-four house bills, fifty-four senate bills and thirteen proposals to change the state constitution save the legislature its first problems today.

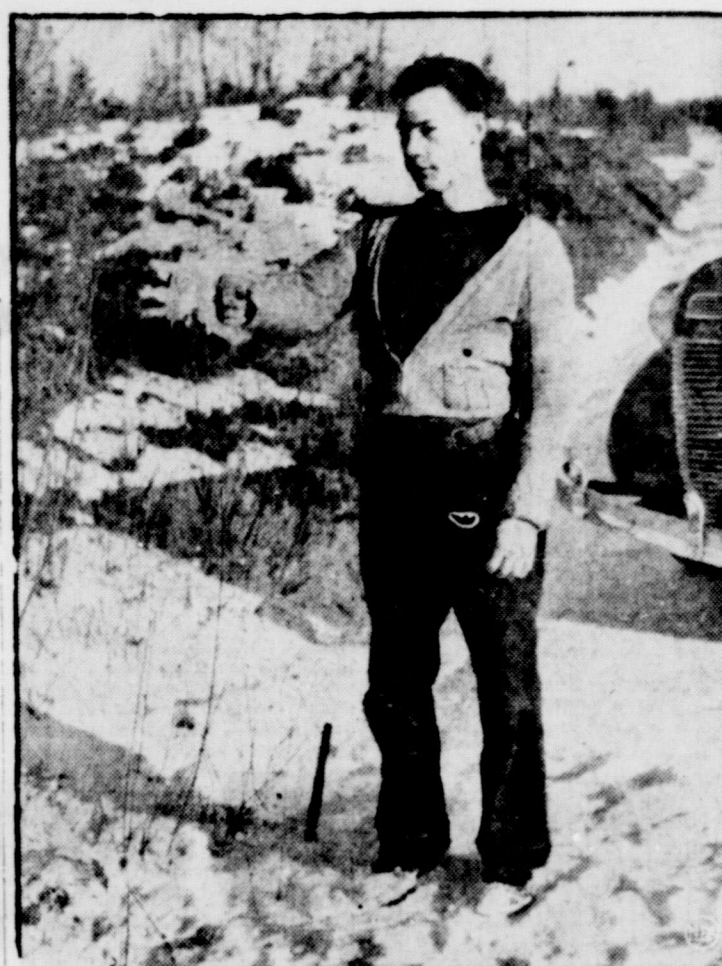

The chief revenue producer in bills now offered was believed to be a franchise tax law proposed by Representative Herman Jones of Decatur. Industries that will bear it, say the load would be $12,000,000 or more each year.

Funds for Demos—

Continued from page one. The checks for the several towns should be in Mr. Lyeria's hands not later than Saturday, Jan. 16.

On just yesterday the president pointed out that more than $150,000,000 had been appropriated by the national government to Texas, and Eastland county has received, and is receiving, her just part of this amount. Nothing new is being asked of Eastland county, but we are only being asked to pay the balance of our original assessment and the deficit assessment. We can not afford to fail. Let the committee in each and every town get busy and let's make this snappy and get it over with.

Who Pays For Texas Highways? Is Asked

HOUSTON, Jan. 14—Propounding the query, "Who Pays for Texas Highways?" the Texas Railroads today answered the question with a series of figures, allocating the costs of the existing highway system, and showing the sources of the three-quarter of a billion dollars to date.

Contrary to what is perhaps the popular impression, it is shown that the general taxpayer, whether he owns a car or not, is or should be as vitally interested in the highway services for which he pays. His share in the cost of the highway system, paid through ad valorem taxes, has been to date $281,009,000 or 33 per cent of the total, while of course if he is a car owner he has paid his share of the $202,000,000 in motor license fees and the $176,000,000 of gasoline tax, and finally a part of the $91,000,000 of federal aid which Texas has received for its road program.

Big trucks, engaged in inter-city freight transport, are shown to have paid a relatively insignificant part of the total cost of the highway system, through their use of the roadways has tremendously enhanced the cost both of construction and maintenance. Actual count shows, according to the summary as issued, that there are but 36,000 trucks, each registered in the state for a gross weight, vehicle and load, of 8,000 pounds or more. These large trucks, representing 2 3-4 per cent of all vehicles on the state's highways, have paid toward the road system $14,500,000 in license fees and $11,200,000 in gasoline taxes, a total of $25,700,000, or 3 1-2 per cent of the total cost of the system.

Thornton to Stock Watson Cotton Seed

On account of drought conditions in Eastland county last year, a fact that made cotton seed in this section unfit for planting, according to J. Thornton, he is stocking a variety of seed for the local farmers which he says has the highest government recommendations for a big yield per acre and the maximum gain turn-out.

Mr. Thornton, who has had wide experience as a sinner and who is an educated man along scientific agricultural lines, will handle the Watson Cotton Seed and urges his farmer friends to avail themselves of this opportunity to secure seed that will boost their yield for the coming year.

It has been proven by actual experiments over and over that good seed pay in any line of agricultural work. Watson seed, says Mr. Thornton, have the following good points: Heavy yield, high gain, turn-out, earliness, drought resistant, premium staple, large 5-lock bolls, light foliage and highest germination, which insures perfect stand and rapid growth.

Mr. Thornton invites farmers attention to this seed and will talk to them further concerning the good qualities of this seed.

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Leveridge and young son of Brownwood spent yesterday in Cisco with friends and relatives.

CHAPTER I

A TALL, black-haired man in a gray business suit stood on a terrace beside the royal lodge and moodily watched the evening shadows sliding over clipped hedges and flawless lawn.

Twenty miles away, to the east, the lights of the capital city of the great empire of Northumbra put a glow on the darkening sky. The lodge—no rustic affair of logs, despite its name, but a great mansion of cut stone—rose behind him, its vast bulk seeming to express the solidity and massive weight of the empire whose monarch it housed. The man turned restlessly, looking from the eastern glow in the sky to the pile of masonry behind him.

Lights gleamed from French windows in the wall at his back. The windows swung open, as he gazed at them, and a trim young man in the uniform of a naval lieutenant came out and stepped briskly across the flagged pavement. Halting a few yards from the tall man in gray, this officer clicked his heels and said, "Your majesty, it is ready."

The tall man straightened with an air of relief, and flipped his cigarette into the shrubbery.

"Curtain for the last act, eh?" he said quietly. "All right, Bart, I'll be right in."

The officer wheeled formally, as if he stood on a quarterdeck in the presence of an admiral, and went back inside. The tall man took one more look around him at the exquisitely artificial landscaping, the formal flower beds, the hedges in which not one leaf was out of place, and drew a long breath. Then, thrusting his hands deep into his pockets and throwing his head back with a half-defiant gesture, he followed the officer through the French windows and into the room.

Half a dozen men stood about the spacious room; some of them were in uniform, some in formal civilian attire. All of them automatically drew themselves erect as the tall man came in. Their eyes were fixed on his face—the black mustache, the tired eyes and the boyish mouth that were recognizable in every country on the globe—and they murmured, "Good evening, sire," as he crossed briskly to an inlaid table before the wide fireplace.

HE acknowledged their greeting with a careless flip of his hand and bent over the table to look at a single sheet of paper that lay on it. The royal crest decorated the top of the sheet; there followed a dozen typewritten lines which stated that "I, King Paul the First of Northumbra, hereby surrender, renounce and abdicate all rights to the throne of the empire." The tall man read it through quickly.

Beside the table stood an elderly man in evening clothes. He had an imperious Roman nose that jutted proudly above a luxuriant white mustache, and his eyes had the direct, piercing look of a man who is accustomed to command.

"Your majesty," he said, "I regret profoundly that I am obliged to offer this paper for your signature."

The king looked at him and smiled suddenly.

From a stand of ornately carved gold he picked up a pen. . . "Well, gentlemen, it is all over," he said.

"Isn't my brother here?" he asked.

"He has gone to his rooms," said the hawk-nosed man. "He asked me to tell your majesty that he was too affected to remain. He wishes to see your majesty immediately afterward."

The king smiled again—rather sadly, this time.

"Poor Joseph. He takes it hard," he said. Then he turned to the table. From a stand of ornately carved gold he picked up a pen. For a moment he stood looking at its point, as if he had never had a chance to examine a pen point before; then, as if he had come at last to some decision, he put pen to paper and in a steady hand wrote "Paul, R." at the foot of the waiting sheet. He laid the pen down carefully, stood erect, and looked about the room.

"Well, gentlemen, it is all over," he said.

NO one moved. He looked at their faces, as if trying to read the expressions on them; but all were elaborately impassive as if each man had donned a mask.

"The king, gentlemen," said Paul, "is upstairs. I am going to him now. He will be down directly."

He strode across the room, passed through a wide hall, and climbed a great flight of stairs to an upper floor. He moved jauntily, as if some profound weight had fallen from his shoulders. And, indeed, he reflected, that was precisely the case. He had dropped the weight of a great empire.

He tapped at a door at the end of a hall, opened it and went in. The room was dusky, the tall windows standing out as gray oblongs in the dark walls. A slim young man stood by one of them, silhouetted indistinctly against the deepening twilight. He did not turn around as Paul came in. Paul walked rapidly across the room and laid his hand on the youth's shoulder.

"Well, Joseph," he said affecttionately, "it's all over. The king is dead. Long live the king—and may God protect and preserve him."

The young man turned a pale, anxious face looked up through the gloom at the man who had just renounced the throne.

"Oh, Paul!" said the young man. "Paul! Why . . ."

His voice was unsteady, and his features worked as he strove to control himself. He gripped Paul's upper arms with his fingers. Paul smiled the affectionate, pitying smile of an older brother.

"Why?" he said softly. "Surely we've gone into that enough. Let's just say that I've laid down a job I ought never to have taken up. Let's say that after giving thirty-five years to the empire—twenty-five as prince, and ten as king—I am trying to get a few brief years for myself. And let's also say, Joseph, that the throne and the crown are in better hands now than before—for they are held by a man who really believes in them."

JOSEPH looked into his eyes for a long time. Then he jerked himself away, almost savagely, and with a visible effort straightened himself and regained control of his emotions. When he spoke his voice was flat and expressionless.

"I suppose they're waiting for me—down there?"

"They are. Go on down, King Joseph."

"You're leaving—at once?"

"Right away. I expect the car is at the door now."

"And I'll never see you again." "Never again. You don't belong to yourself any more, my boy. You belong to the people—to millions upon millions of them, carrying the hopes and the aspirations and the dreams of all of them around on your shoulders. You'll want to get away from it; you'll feel all of that as an actual, tangible weight, pressing down on you without a let-up, day and night, as long as you live. It'll be hard, especially when you see poor-downtrodden people look up at you out of their misery and say, 'God save the king!' with a break in their voices, so that you'll know that unless you help them no one will . . . and then you'll discover that the throne and the scepter are only make-believe, after all, and that there's a pitifully little you can do for them . . ."

He stopped abruptly and stroked his brother's shoulder.

"Go on down, your majesty," Paul said lightly. "And—goodbye. Try not to think too badly of me."

The young king gripped his hand, hard. "Think badly of you? You've always been—my king! And you always will!"

Joseph turned and went out hurriedly without looking back.

THE open doors threw a fan of yellow light into the parte cochere. Paul came down the steps and got into the waiting automobile. A guard saluted rigidly, the car door closed with matter-of-fact finality, and the car sped noiselessly off down the drive into the darkness.

Half an hour later the car swung in through the medieval gate of ancient Fort St. Gregory. It rolled quietly past the great battlements, turned, and came at last to an open meadow which had been grazing ground for the garrison's cattle, since time immemorial, until a new kind of warfare had come along and turned it into an airport.

It took but a few moments for Paul to get into the gray monoplane that waited.

And then they were out over the ocean, and the land fell behind them, and the lights of the capital rimmed the invisible horizon far in the rear. And Paul did not look back, for he was through with the past and all its memories. He peered over the pilot's shoulder at the unfathomable blackness ahead, as if he were trying to make out the fair shape of a future that was to be his own.

Whom Shall I Marry and Why?

The plan of Rev. Joe Patterson for interesting young people in the all-important subject of choosing a proper mate for the marriage union, is a forward step in church interest for young people who are in many instances becoming negligent in church attendance. The essay plan develops subject matter for his sermons, furnished from the ideas of the young people themselves, and is a worthy plan.

The idea which calls for high school and Randolph College students to write essays on the kind of man or woman they would choose and why, is a unique one. The cooperation of the English teachers is both commendable and necessary. These papers are to be given the Methodist pastor and the ideas gleaned from them will be interwoven into the material for his sermon.

That they will be interesting to young people of both sexes, goes without saying. He will be given the young people's slant on the all-important subject of marriage and a happy union without the fast-increasing divorce to end an impossible situation, oftentimes created by a lack of serious sober judgment or thought on the subject.

The idea of the Family Week, wherein the whole membership of that unit are assembled, in a program of entertainment and directed play, is the accomplishment of the ideal situation being sought for many years. If it can be accomplished with this program as outlined by the pastor, it will be worthy of serious study and adoption by ministers everywhere in planning for their yearly programs.

Which all goes to show that an aggressive leader such as the pastor of the First Methodist church, has value in a community, not only to his own organization, but to the community as a whole. Such leadership will always have the backing of all churches, the school, the civic clubs and of all good people who want the highest attainment for the moral welfare of their city.

Plan for the Home Beautiful

Much of the preparation for the summer's flowers and shrubs should be made now. Lady gardeners will be interested in hints that will serve to make Cisco bloom like a rose next summer.

Fall and winter planting of trees, bush fruits, grapes, shrubs, and roses is becoming universal. By doing so, a whole year is gained. The plants take root earlier, make stronger growth during the next summer, and require less watering. Both evergreen and deciduous shrubbery should be planted as soon as dormant. Many perennials and annuals should be planted in the fall.

For the edge of a grass plot or pavement use low perennials or annuals. Choose these for their foliage effects as well as for their bloom. Use medium-sized plants in the little clusters—plants such as sweet williams, pyrethrums, heliotrope, and calendulas. Place peonies or other bushy plants singly at special points.

Group lemon lilies, delphiniums, hollyhocks, and zinnias in accepting clumps. Scatter in plants of more delicate habit such as columbines, scabiosa, poppies, and snapdragons. Brilliant-hued phlox is another charming border plant.

Make paths for flower beds where colors can be massed or blended. In some beds it is well to plan for a succession of bloom as the seasons change. In others, permanent color schemes may be worked out with such plants as petunias, gaultherias, verbenas, and periwinkles.

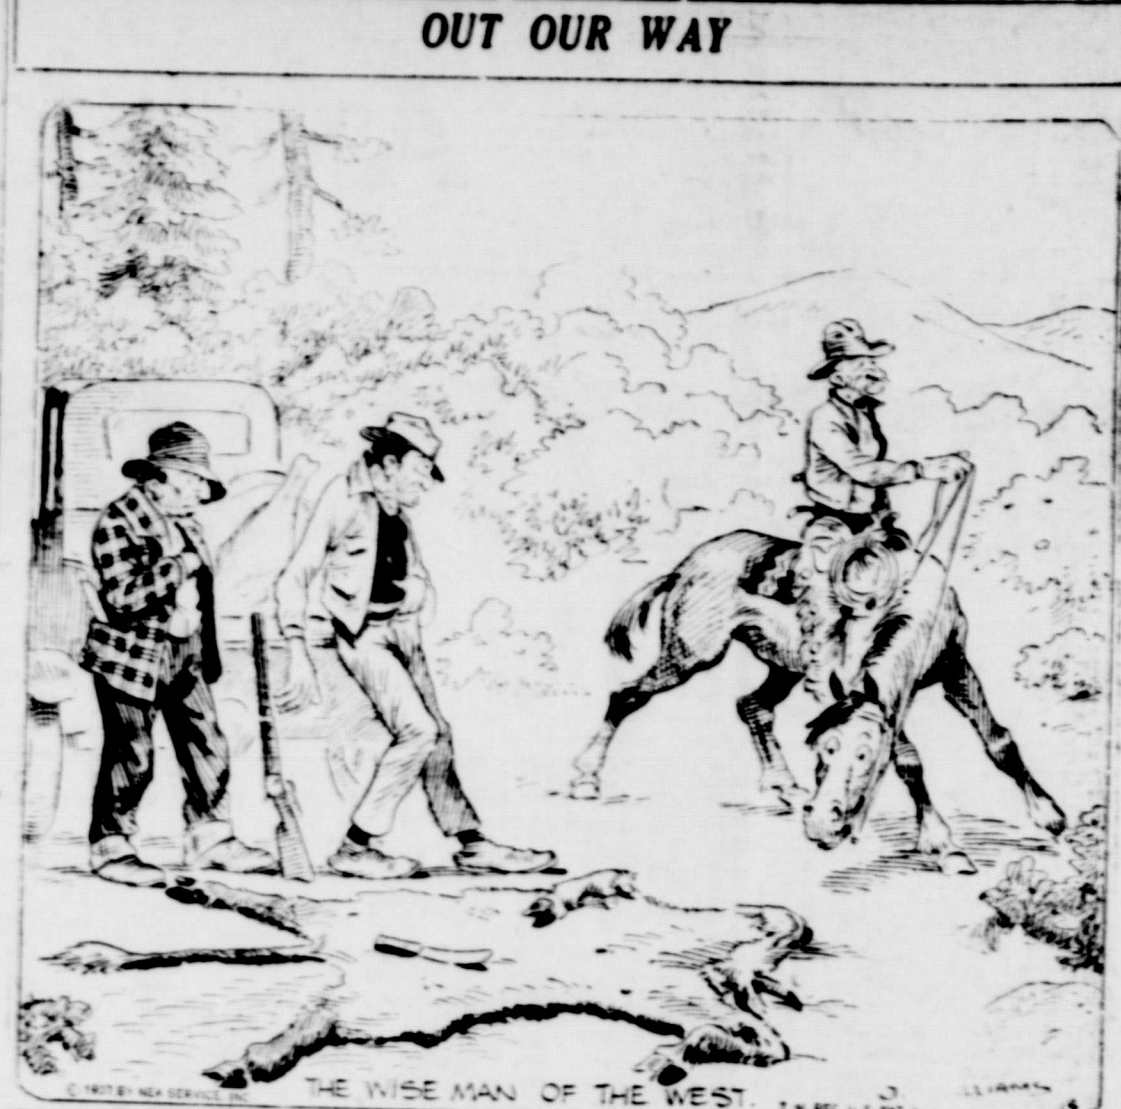

In order to have beautiful cutting materials, much space should be allowed for such annuals as dahlia-flowered zinnias, fluffy China asters, and African marigolds. Plant in rows in the vegetable garden, to be thinned out later by transplanting. Seed of the softly graceful annual larkspur, the gray-colored annual poppies, and sweet peas must be sowed extremely early—preferably in the fall—where we want them to flower, and to be thinned out later if necessary.

California Youth Arrested in Ranger

RANGER, Jan. 14 (AP)—A youth wanted in California for burglary, grand theft and violation of parole, was arrested in Ranger Tuesday afternoon, less than an hour after a circular was received through the mails giving his description. The arrest was made by Guy Fledger of the Ranger Police Department just 45 minutes after he arrived in town.

Fledger stopped at the police station and looked over a circular that had come through the mail stating that Reynolds Peterson, alias George H. Hudson, alias James Zane, 16, was wanted by the sheriff of Mendocino county, Calif. As he drove away from the police station he noticed a youth that answered the description and picked him up for questioning.

At first the boy denied his identity, but when shown the circular he readily admitted that he was the one wanted. A wire was sent to the sheriff at Ukiah, Calif., and an answer was received stating that extradition papers were being brought to Texas and that youth would be returned to California.

It is charged that on Dec. 17, 1933 Peterson stole a Colt revolver, one Hamilton watch, one black leather suitcase, one pocket book, one bill fold, one roll of magnetic tools, one ladies wrist watch, one gold bracelet, one pair of earrings of Mexican silver, one pearl necklace, one pendant and chain, one gold locket and one chain, one American Legion pin, one string of pearl beads, one silver jewel case, one silver stamp book, along with other miscellaneous items. Reynolds admitted to police that he had taken the articles described.

Reynolds, when interviewed in the Ranger jail today, said that he had been in Ranger but a few minutes when picked up.

"You never would have recognized me from that picture if you hadn't been looking at it just a few minutes before you saw me," he said, "and if you hadn't seen me when you did I would have been gone. I had a good job at Eastland working in a hotel, and should have stayed there. I guess I started working there last Sunday."

Reynolds said that he would not fight extradition, but would go back to California and "face the music."

He claims, however, that he is 21 years old, instead of 16.

"When I was arrested in California," he explained, "I claimed to be only 16 years old so that I would be so young to be sent to the penitentiary. But I found that if I was convicted as a juvenile I would have to go to a reform school and stay until I was 21, which would be five years, while under the burglary and theft charges I would likely get but two years. When I go back I am going to admit my right age."

Reynolds is a good-natured youth about five feet nine inches in height with light wavy hair. He has a ready smile and seems not the least worried about having to remain in the jail and does not seem to be gloomy over the outcome of his trial when he is returned to California.

"But what if the governor of Texas won't sign it?" he asked.

"Don't worry," he was told. "He will."

With a laugh Reynolds went back into his cell, apparently anxious to return to California, as he was figuring how long it would take Sheriff E. L. Williams of Mendocino county to get to Texas and have the extradition papers signed.

and lived in a cave. Some boys tormented him. He said, "If you keep on throwing stones at me, I'll turn the bears on you and they'll eat you up." And they did, and he did, and the bears did. Principal O. L. Stamey sometimes teaches boys in a Sunday School class. He will easily imagine this smart lad who was being taught about the Good Samaritan. Answering the questions as to what the lesson meant to him, he replied, "It means that when I am in trouble, my neighbors must help me."

R. E. Grantham, like all lawyers, carries a small briefcase. He was coming out of a railway station and rather an aggressive persistent boy accosted him with, "Carry your bag, sir?" "No, thank you," "Carry it all the way for a dime?" "I tell you I don't want it carried." "Don't bother." "No." The boy had to run to keep up as he asked curiously, "Then what are you carrying it for?"

Texas Press Ass'n Opposes Child Law

The Texas Press association has gone on record on two separate occasions as opposing the Child Labor Law, taking the position that we have no child labor problem in Texas. They now urge parents to oppose the proposed action of the Texas legislature in creating or passing a Child labor law for this state. The following is one of two messages they are urging be published for the information of all parents in Texas:

Future of Our Boys And Girls on Trial

There are 45,000,000 boys and girls in the United States under eighteen years of age.

It has long been recognized that it is an American heritage for parents to rear their children without any Governmental supervision as is often the case in some foreign countries.

Do you now wish to relinquish this heritage in favor of a bureaucratic Governmental control?

If the Texas Legislature, which convenes on January 12th, ratifies the Child Labor Amendment, it will in effect mean that you relinquish many of your parental prerogatives in favor of inspectors and bureaus appointed by the Government.

These inspectors will seek to prevent your children under eighteen years of age from doing any work of any nature around the home and the farm.

What would the normal farmer do were it not for the aid of his sons in doing necessary chores around the house and on the farm?

What would the normal farmer's wife do if the daughter under seventeen years of age were prevented by Governmental agencies from assisting with the farm home's household tasks?

If you believe that you, as a parent, should be the one to decide these vital questions, write your Senator today in Austin and ask him to vote against ratification of this so-called Child Labor Amendment.

L. R. Pearson, Ranger attorney and oil man, was severely burned on his right hand Tuesday afternoon when an engine he was helping to start backfired. Pearson was aiding in starting the engine and reached over to adjust a valve, just as the engine backfired. The flame struck him in the palm of his hand, inflicting severe burns.

He was given medical aid at the Ranger clinic, and when his hand was re-dressed Wednesday it was stated that the burn, though severe would not prove dangerous.

Who Pays For Texas Highways? Is Asked

HOUSTON, Jan. 14.—Propounding the query, "Who Pays for Texas Highways?", the Texas Railroads today answered the question with a series of figures, allocating the costs of the existing highway system and showing the sources of the three-quarter of a billion dollars to date.

Contrary to what is perhaps the popular impression, it is shown that the general taxpayer, whether he owns a car or not, is or should be as vitally interested in the highways as in any other of the public services for which he pays. His share in the cost of the highway system, paid through ad valorem taxes, has been to date $281,000,000 or 23 per cent of the total, while of course if he is a car owner he has paid his share of the $202,000,000 in motor license fees and the $176,000,000 of gasoline tax, and finally a part of the $91,000,000 of federal aid which Texas has received for its road program.

Big trucks, engaged in inter-city freight transport, are shown to have paid a relatively insignificant part of the total cost of the highway system, through their use of the roadways has tremendously enhanced the cost both of construction and maintenance. Actual cost shows, according to the summary as issued, that there are but 36,900 trucks, each registered in the state for a gross weight, vehicle and load, of 8,000 pounds or more. These large trucks, representing 2 3-4 per cent of all vehicles on the state's highways, have paid toward the road system $14,500,000 in license fees and $11,200,000 in gasoline taxes, a total of $25,700,000, or 3 1-2 per cent of the total cost of the system.

Yet, the statement continues these large trucks add tremendously to the cost of highway construction and maintenance. Two feet wider than passenger cars and small trucks, they require four feet of additional road width, representing about 25 per cent increase in pavement cost for this item alone. Their weight is such as to make it necessary to build thicker pavements, this factor adding from 25 per cent to 60 per cent to the cost. Wider and heavier bridges and increased maintenance costs are shown to swell the total highway cost requirements to almost double that required for small trucks and passenger cars.

Any addition to the load limit or the size and speed of these larger trucks will, it is asserted, further increase the burden of costs for highway building, with the owner of the small truck or passenger car and the power of ad valorem taxes having to pay a greatly disproportionate share for the sole benefit of a small fraction of the total number of motor vehicles on the highways.

Thornton to Stock Watson Cotton Seed

On account of drouth conditions in Eastland county last year, a fact that made cotton seed in this section unfit for planting, according to J. L. Thornton, he is stocking a variety of seed for the local farmers which he says has the highest government recommendations for a big yield per acre and the maximum gin turn-out.

Mr. Thornton, who has had wide experience as a sinner and who is an educated man along scientific agricultural lines will handle the Watson Cotton Seed and urges his farmer friends to avail themselves of this opportunity to secure seed that will boost their yield for the coming year.

It has been proven by actual experiments over and over that good seed pay in any line of agricultural work. Watson seed, says Mr. Thornton, have the following good points: Heavy yield, high gin turn-out, earliness, drought resistant, premium staple, large 5-lock bolls, light foliage and highest germination which insures perfect stand and rapid growth.

Mr. Thornton invites farmers attention to this seed and will talk to them further concerning the good qualities of this seed.

Family Week For Methodist Church

Rev. Joe I. Patterson is making preparations for a series of sermons during the first week of February aimed to interest the young people of the Methodist church and is laying the foundation of the subject matter to be used by staging an essay contest among the students of the high school and Randolph College on the kind of a man or woman they expect to marry and why.

On February 7, Rev. Patterson will preach on the subject of "The Man I Would Marry." This will be followed by another of the series on "The Woman I Want to Marry."

This will be the beginning of Family Week for the church. On the night of Feb. 15, the parents will entertain the young people at the church in an interesting program.

P. Bybee, geologist in charge of University lands. The sale will include tracts in blocks Nos. 3 in Upton county, 58 in Upton and Reagan counties, 35 in Ector county, 30 and 31 in Crane county, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 in Andrews county and 24 and 26 in Pecos county.

A map showing the location of all University oil and gas leases, and their geographical relation to known oil fields has been prepared by the University Land Office, and copies may be obtained for a nominal sum from that office, 805 San Angelo National Bank building, San Angelo. Dr. Bybee said prospective bidders may at any time inspect the records concerning production of wells in the immediate vicinity of lands advertised for sale, on file in the University Land Office. No charge is made for the privilege of geological and geophysical inspection of these lands, though permits must be secured in accordance with rules set up by the University Board of Regents.

Shooting permits have been issued for such inspection on blocks Nos. 1, 2, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 in Andrews county, 30, 31, and 35 in Crane and Ector counties, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25 and 26 in Pecos county, and 2, 3, 4, 5 and 8 in Reagan and Upton counties, Dr. Bybee said.

Careful geological examination has convinced the Board for lease of University Lands that many of the tracts to be offered for lease at the February 26 auction are advantageously located for the production of oil. Dr. Bybee said, "Especially well located appear to be the tracts in Block No. 35 Ector county, situated as they are between two producing areas. During the present winter and past fall wells ranging in size from 600 barrels to 14,000 barrels have come in within from two to four miles southeast of some of these tracts. Some of the tracts in Andrews county lie within a mile or two of well established production."

AUSTIN, Jan. 9 (UP)—Women officials for girls' games, especially matched games, is one of the conditions insisted upon by all authorities in the field of physical education for women. Preston Suspicious Of Two Large Bills

L. J. Preston at Burton-Lingo Lumber company refused a $20 and a $10 bill Tuesday when they were offered to him in separate payments for a tube of paint and a pair of strap hinges. The money did not look just right to Preston who told them to just take the items on rather than give out good money in change for the items which were only fractions of a dollar in value. The men became indignant over the matter and refused to take the items. Con Collins also had calls to change a bill of large denomination but did not do so. Later announcements came that two men with bogus bills were working their way westward from Abilene with a get-change graft. But the police were not notified until the men had departed eastward, apparently.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson. A map of the United States showing the path of a total solar eclipse in 1945. The path starts in the Pacific, crosses the continent, and ends in the Atlantic. Text: 'THE UNITED STATES WILL SEE SIX MORE TOTAL SOLAR ECLIPSES DURING THE TWENTIETH CENTURY'.

THE next total eclipse of the sun, visible in the United States, will occur on July 9, 1945, and the path of total eclipse will cut across Idaho, Montana and North Dakota. This phenomenon will take place at, or near, sunrise, and will be of little scientific value.

NEW YORK—With Fred Perry and Ellsworth Vines and Don Budge and Bobby Riggs crossing the continent, the former pair to launch their professional tour in New York and the latter to participate in winter fixtures in Florida, Davis Cup talk starts with the birth of the new year.

Perry going on the gold standard leaves the competition for Dwight F. Davis' mug more open than it has been since the bounding Briton made possible his country's four-year reign in 1934. America can strike back with the gangling Budge as the nucleus of a young team.

Germany has Baron Gottfried von Cramm and Heiner Henkel. The veteran Jack Crawford speaks of retiring and won't be what he was if he does compete, but Australia still has the brilliant youngsters, Vivian McGrath and Adrian Quist.

Bunny Austin will remain in the thick of things for England, which also has Hare, Wiley, Pat Hughes, and C. R. D. Tuckey.

France has been losing Bernard Estreanu, Pierre Pelizza, and Yvon Petra just as it schooled Rene LaCoste, Henri Cochet, and Jean Borotra for several seasons before they crashed through to repel Big Bill Tilden, Little Bill Johnston, and Francis T. Hunter in 1927.

Having tried veterans and a combination of old-timers and youngsters with disastrous results, the United States Davis Cup committee has adopted the French plan of concentrating on the brighter baby stars.

OFFICIALS believe that Gene Mako, Francis Hunter, and Bobby Riggs should play back within the United States is now far from dormant, Rosenbloom declared. "The United States Brewers' Association's survey of the liquor control situation in various states shows that substantial gains in local options throughout the country were effected in 1935 over the preceding year."

ECONOMIST IN RESEARCH ESTIMATES MILLION JOBS CREATED BY REPEAL

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 14. (U.P.)—A million persons obtained employment as a result of legalization of beer, wine and liquor in 1933, Morris Victor Rosenbloom has computed in his book, "The Liquor Industry."

The book, written as a University of Pittsburgh thesis for a master's degree in economics has become a handbook for the liquor industry. At the suggestion of Walter P. Grosscup, former chairman of the Pennsylvania Liquor control board, Rosenbloom has enlarged the book to bring it up to date.

He chose the liquor industry as the subject for his thesis because for several generations his family has been associated in that business. From various sources, he has computed that repeal put to work 1,000,000 persons.

"The dry movement in the United States is now far from dormant," Rosenbloom declared. "The United States Brewers' Association's survey of the liquor control situation in various states shows that substantial gains in local options throughout the country were effected in 1935 over the preceding year."

An increase of 94 per cent in the number of dry counties and 149 per cent in the number of dry towns was divulged in the report. According to C. D. Williams, secretary of the United States Brewers' Association, out of the 48 states, 31 have provisions for local option, 13 have none for beer but do have provisions for hard liquor, and two have technical provisions for hard liquor and two have technical prohibition.

Skyscraper Idea Old; Used 1,000 Years Ago

America with towns having miniature skyscrapers when England was wilderness inhabited by savages who dressed in the skins of wild animals and painted their bodies blue.

Such was the picture of civilization in one section of the America that existed in the days of William the Conqueror, according to Carveth Wells, who will take his radio audience to the site of this country's early "skyscrapers"—Mesa Verde—in the Continental Oil company broadcast, "Exploring America with Conoco and Carveth Wells," over station WFAA, Dallas at 6:30 Saturday night.

Situated in the extreme southwest corner of Colorado, Mesa Verde is 15 miles long and 8 miles wide. "As yet," explains the popular explorer-reporter, "the riddle of this region's mysterious ruins remains unsolved. But the hundreds of prehistoric cliff dwellings that have been discovered at Mesa Verde prove that this great Green Table was once inhabited by hundreds of thousands of people who, for some unknown reason, seem to have suddenly deserted their homes and left them as ghostly reminders of an America that was flourishing more than a thousand years ago.

The regular charge of 50 cents will be made for the meal, the announcement said.

Blanton Suit Puzzling, Regretful Says. Representative Garrett, Washington

By HOUSTON HARTE
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Congressman Clyde Garrett said today he had not had time since coming to Washington to any more than read the 48-page petition in the $100,000 libel suit which has been filed against him by his predecessor, Thomas L. Blanton, but that the casual reading he had given the long suit had left him confused as to the purpose as well as the damages charged.

"I can't tell whether it is a suit for alienation of affections or non-support," the congressman said as he looked out across the Capitol grounds toward the inauguration stands through a slow drizzle which always makes a West Texan feel like things are going to be better.

"I am apparently charged with a conspiracy in depriving Judge Blanton of the affection of his former constituents and then I am alleged to have deprived the former congressman of the continued remuneration of the office. As near as I can make out that is alienation and non-support. I am being asked to pay $100,000 alimony."

"Of course the suit is unpleasant. Following the second primary, Judge Blanton announced that he expected to 'take it on the chin.' I did not know just what taking it on the chin meant until I got to dodging deputy sheriffs the last few days I was in my district. Ordinarily, I can't see much to be gained in dodging service and certainly I would not consider such a practice, except that had I been served I would have been forced to appear in Abilene during the opening days of congress and would thereby deprive the people of the 17th district of representation at the beginning of this session. I cannot understand why Judge Blanton did not bring this suit in the District of Columbia. I understand he is to engage in the practice of law in the District. I believe I will be here for some time. Judge Blanton has always exercised great concern over what he considered the welfare of the people of the District and would have secured as impartial a hearing here as in Texas. Certainly it would have been more convenient for both of us.

"It may be that my attorneys will ask that the case be transferred to Eastland county as I am afraid that if the length of the petition is any criterion as to the length of the trial it will take several weeks to try the case. In that event it would be much more convenient for me to live at home, and if Judge Blanton really expects to collect any money off me, he should be interested in the conserving of all my resources, for Blanton knows it will require many years up here for me to save up the $100,000 he covets."

"If there was any assurance that the case could be tried in a few days, I would be only too glad to try it in Abilene and Taylor county, for the good people of Abilene

PITTED AGAINST BLAZING OIL-WELL

"Smoking Camels helps to keep my digestion in trim," says Patton, oil-well fire-fighter

CLAD in an asbestos suit (left), "Pat" Patton tackles a blazing oil-well. "After that I can tuck away a hearty meal provided I have Camels handy," says Patton, enjoying a hasty bite (right). "Smoking Camels helps keep my digestion in proper trim. And Camels don't get on my nerves." Camels increase the flow of fluids—alkaline digestive fluids so vital to a sense of well-being after eating. Camels are mild!

"CAMELS ARE GRAND at mealtimes," says this New York matron, Mrs. Vincent Murray. "I smoke them during meals and afterwards."

ALL-AMERICAN Hockey Star, Phil La Bette says: "Good digestion and healthy nerves are 'musts' in this game. So I smoke Camels."

COSTLIER TOBACCOS

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS... Turkish and Domestic than any other popular brand.

"A BRONC BUSTER takes a terrible jouncing," Alice Greenough (left), explains. "But Camels help me enjoy my food. Smoking Camels with my meals smooths things out for my digestion. I like Camel's mild, delicate flavor."

SPORTS REPORTER AGREES 100% with "Pat" Patton that Camels help digestion along. James Gould (right), speaking: "My job's a strain on nerves and digestion too. And my smoke is the same as 'Pat' Patton's. Camels set me right—give me a cheery life!"

STEPHENVILLE SEEKS ENTRY IN CLASS 'A' BALL

Regarding Stephenville's request to be admitted into the class A football schedule this next season, Presy Anderson of Abilene has this to say:

Last week the interscholastic league tossed out a feeler to its class A football members for sentiment on these proposals to solve the problem created by too many entries in the race; increase the size of the districts; increase the number of districts; limit class A competition to school of 500 enrollment or more; form a new conference consisting of schools of 1,000 enrollment or more.

No referendum was asked, but if there had been, Abilene's ballot would have been to toss out of class A all the sub-500 schools, thus automatically eliminating the necessity of taking any of the other steps mentioned.

Supr. R. D. Green said as much yesterday, expressing opposition to opening the door when and if Stephenville raps thereon at next Saturday's gathering of the Oil Belt fathers. Mr. Green supported his opposition with figures, a column of them. Stephenville last year had an enrollment of 352, while the number of boys and girls pursuing a high school education at Coleman was 371, at Coiorado 361, at Stamford 334, at Haskell 310, at Winters 262.

"If Stephenville wants and gets into class A," inquired Mr. Green, "what is to prevent Coleman, Colorado, Stamford, Haskell and Winters wanting and getting?"

The answer was obviously, "Nothing," so that was the one I made, and it seemed to be satisfactory.

Former Cisco Girl Married Recently

News has been received here of the marriage of a former Cisco girl, Miss Lucille Clements of Big Spring, to Mr. Tommy Young of Ozona, which was solemnized Wednesday evening January 6.

Marriage vows were recited at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Tandy of Ozona at 10 o'clock with Rev. Eugene Slater, pastor of the Ozona Methodist church, performing the ceremony in the presence of a few close friends of the young couple.

Preceding the rites, Mrs. Tandy sang "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," and then played Schubert's wedding march.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Clements of Big Spring. She is a graduate of Cisco High School, after which she was a student in Texas Tech, Lubbock for three years. Mr. Young is the son of the late Dr. T. L. Young of Chillicothe. He attended the University of Texas and Texas Tech where he was a pre-medical student. The couple will make their home in Ozona, where Mr. Young is manager of the Smith Drug Store.

Whatever the difficulties
"Service must go on!"

The "blue north" is nothing new to West Texas... cattlemen have faced its hazards for many years. Cowboys uttered no complaint as they urged ponies into the biting wind, bent on finding the straw cow or dogie that fled from the teeth of the blizzard. These are hardships all too familiar to West Texans.

There, too, is an esprit-de-corps among utility workers. It is developed by that high sense of responsibility which attends supplying the wants the entire public. The "trouble-shooter" knows that "service must go on!"

Blue north or blinding snow storm... utility workers frequently perform many heroic deeds, quite "in the day's work"—deeds unheralded and unsung. Fingers so numb they can scarcely move them, operating on snatches of sleep, they keep going till interrupted service is restored, never forgetting that an entire community's comfort and safety depend on their skill and persistence.

There's the job of eliminating danger to business in general... costly destruction at the hands of unruly elements. Frequently they take their lives in their hands, where a single misstep or fault in judgment may result fatally to themselves.

Sometimes the task is gigantic, in its entirety. But always your utility workers crash through, restoring the service you expect. To its public servants—those men who brave menacing weather as an incident rather than an impediment—the public service owes more than it will ever know.

Judkins Funeral Held on Tuesday

Funeral for Frank Judkins, 59, Eastland attorney who died Monday morning at a Fort Worth hospital, was conducted Tuesday afternoon from the First Methodist church, with Rev. P. W. Walker, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in Eastland cemetery. A heart attack was held responsible for death. It was believed automobile injuries suffered recently while on a visit with a brother at Odessa was contributory. His trip made last week to the hospital was in connection with his auto injury.

Judkins had in his 29 years residence at Eastland been identified as an attorney with many sensational criminal and scores of civil cases.

At Angleton in recent years he was defense attorney for Clyde Thompson, accused of a prison murder. The case was widely publicized because of the judge's effort to ban printing of testimony by newspapermen.

While never asking office, Judkins was active in county and district politics. For many years he was associated as a partner with O. F. Chastain, who has since moved to Kilgore.

Several terms Judkins was Ector county attorney. Later he moved to El Paso and subsequently to Eastland.

Survivors are two daughters, Miss Mary Pearl Judkins of Ysleta, near El Paso; Mrs. Mack W. Ready of Eastland; one sister, Mrs. T. R. Burnett of El Paso; three brothers, Dr. Oscar Judkins of San Antonio; Charles Judkins of Odessa and Arthur Judkins of Midland.

Hamm's Undertaking company was in charge of Eastland arrangements.

Active palbearers were Judge W. P. Leslie of Eastland, Carl Springer of Eastland, Milburn McCarty of Eastland, W. D. R. Owen of Eastland, I. J. Killough of Eastland and Frank Sparks of Eastland.

Honorary palbearers were: Judge Clyde Grissom, Eastland; Judge O. C. Funderburk, Eastland; Judge J. E. Hickman, Austin; Earl Conner, Sr., Eastland; Mrs. C. C. Robey, Eastland; R. C. Grisham, Abilene; T. P. Grisham, Abilene; Perry Sayles, Austin; H. G. Owens, Austin; J. S. Grisham, Tyler; Judge W. S.

FOR TEXAS HIGHWAYS?

Texas' highways, to date, have cost Texas taxpayers approximately seven hundred and fifty millions of dollars.

License fees from motor vehicles have contributed $202,000,000. Gasoline taxes have accounted for $176,000,000.

Federal aid has donated $91,000,000. YOUR PROPERTY TAXES HAVE CONTRIBUTED $281,000,000—MORE THAN ONE-THIRD OF THE TOTAL.

Large trucks—those weighing more than 8000 pounds loaded—have paid a total of $27,000,000 in license fees and gasoline taxes, or 3 3/4 per cent of the total cost.

Yet these trucks have been responsible for an additional cost of construction and maintenance amounting to approximately 50 per cent of the total—an amount far in excess of their contribution. These wider trucks result in 25 per cent increase in pavement costs.

Their bigger loads have required thicker pavements, costing from 35 to 60 per cent more; their size has made wider and heavier bridges necessary; maintenance costs have increased through their use and abuse of the highways.

Such extra expenditures are almost solely for the benefit of the big trucks, and are not necessary for the small trucks and passenger cars. YET THEIR COST IS BORNE BY THE OWNERS OF PASSENGER CARS AND SMALL TRUCKS AND BY THE GENERAL TAXPAYER, WHO MAY NOT EVEN OWN A CAR, WHILE THE BIG TRUCKS THEMSELVES HAVE PAID ONLY 3 3/4 PER CENT.

Any increase in present truck loads, size or speed limits will further increase the highway costs which all of us, the people of Texas, must pay.

Texas railroads provide and maintain their own rights-of-way; afford employment to 60,000 men and women (who are also taxpayers); pay large taxes in support of city, county, state and federal governments; and, in addition, pay annually more than $900,000 toward state highway costs. The interest of the railroads in highway regulation is precisely parallel to that of the public.

ONE OUT OF EVERY FOUR ADULTS HAS—

Sinus Disease

* Only a Cold... but serious disease may follow!

According to leading doctors, "sinus trouble is one of the most prevalent and troublesome diseases of today. This dreaded and sometimes fatal disease is caused by and follows the COMMON COLD."

All kinds of serious complications besides sinus infection follow the common cold. America's Public Health Enemy Number One, THE COMMON COLD GERM, relentlessly wages its attack to pave the way for such serious illnesses as bronchitis, pneumonia, tuberculosis, and other serious health-wrecking diseases. Frequently cold infection extends into the ear or mastoid.

During the common cold months, or winter season, it is especially important to take every precaution to protect your health. Quick changes of temperature should be avoided. Sudden changes of temperature, such as occur when going from a warm room into a cold one, makes it easy for you to "catch cold." Don't give a common cold an even break. Prevention is the best remedy. However, if you should catch cold, consult your family doctor before it has an opportunity to undermine your health.

For your health's sake, and to obtain the greatest value from the fuel you use, heat your entire house and provide adequate ventilation during the short winter season.

The common cold germ is responsible for more than two hundred million illnesses each year.

SECOND OATH OF GOVERNOR TO BE GIVEN ALLRED ON JANUARY 19

By FRANK McGRATH
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Jan. 9 (U.P.)—James V. Allred will realize for the second time the fulfillment of a vision he had 18 years ago when he takes the oath of office at noon, Jan. 19, 1937, re-inaugurating him as governor of the state of Texas.

Second in the family of five sons born to Mr. and Mrs. Renne Allred, Borje, Texas, James was in turn bottle washer, bootblack, newsboy and sailor.

The history of his whirlwind career which has started old time political leaders throughout the nation, began in San Francisco in 1919. At that time, Allred surprised three ex-sailor companions by announcing: "I am going back to Texas and run for governor!"

Allred returned to Wichita Falls, near his home and took a clerical job in a law office. When he had saved enough money, he entered Cumberland Law School in Tennessee. He returned to Wichita Falls in 1921 and started in the law office of Martin and O'Neal. The same year, he met Miss Jo Betsy Miller, talented musician.

Allred took up his first duties in a public office at the age of 24. Gov. Pat M. Neff appointed him to fill an unfinished term as district attorney at Wichita Falls. A public career began in which Allred has tried to eliminate "political hooey" and present conditions and problems to the people of Texas in a language they understand best—their own.

In his first term as governor, Allred fought spectacular battles with a resolute legislature. He was one of the first governors to sponsor state aid for the aged and devise forms of taxation to finance the old age pension plan. Opposing legislators defeated his plan for state regulation of public utility rates.

Allred resigned his office of district attorney to run for attorney general in 1926. He was defeated in the election by Claude Pollard of Houston.

On his return from the campaign Allred stopped in Dallas and married Miss Miller.

In 1930, he again entered the campaign for attorney general against the popular Robert Lee Bobbitt. The result was an upset as Allred emerged from the election with a margin of 123,000 votes. Again in 1932 he won the election after a spirited fight against large oil companies.

As a gubernatorial candidate in 1934 Allred, with his "plain talk", lively fighting tactics, and friendly personality came out ahead in the Democratic primaries and the final election. He was renominated without a run-off over five opponents.

The first fulfillment of Allred's youthful vision came June 15, 1935, when, with his wife and two boys at his side he stood on the capital steps and took the governor's oath.
