Grammar School Graduation Friday Night

THREE FORMER GOVERNORS WERE PRESENT

41 STUDENTS CANDIDATES FOR DIPLOMAS

Forty-one members of the high seventh grade of the Grammar school will be candidates for graduation into the high school Friday night when they present a drama entitled "A Day in Grammar School"—a story depicting the growth and work accomplished by their school system for the year which is closing, and at the same time beginning for them anew.

Every pupil will be represented in this dramatization. No other person has had anything to do with their play nor will have anything to do with their graduation exercises save Rev. G. M. Meglasson who gives the invocation and Prof. C. C. Duff, principal of the Grammar school, who presents the class to Supt. R. N. Clark for their diplomas of graduation.

Parents are especially urged to attend this exercise which carries out the new idea of pupils furnishing their own programs. The idea was begun in all the Cisco system last year and was manifested in the commencement exercises of both Grammar and high school. The idea of "doing" is paramount in all new ideas of educational programs, said Mr. Duff, and the Grammar school program conforms to that advanced educational idea.

Exams are being given this class today. Other exams will be given Wednesday and Thursday.

The mothers of the class are to entertain the student body at the Country Club Wednesday evening at 7:30. It is announced.

Years Change Inaugural Day Only Slightly

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (UP)—The deep ringing bell of old St. Paul Church in New York City, had just ceased tolling the hour of noon when a slowly moving carriage, drawn by four horses, swung into Queen Street, in full view of wildly cheering crowds—cheering George Washington, who in a few minutes was to become the first President of the United States.

That was the scene on April 30, 1789, when Washington rode from his Cherry Street lodgings to Federal Hall to be the first American to officially repeat the Constitutional oath.

Ceremonies began at sunrise when a booming cannon from Fort George announced that the President was to be installed that day. A few hours later church bells called together their congregations to pray for the new government and president.

FORD PLANT IS PICKETED BY STRIKERS

LEICHT, Jan. 19 (UP)—United Automobile Workers, rejecting the last gesture of conciliation in General Motors strike today threw a "wall of men" around the gates of Briggs Manufacturing plant, where Lincoln-Zephyr bodies are made for Henry Ford.

They continued to picket despite efforts of police and company guards who used tear gas.

The demonstration was not connected directly with the strike in General Motors plants.

Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers, sharply rejected the offer of the Flint alliance to withdraw his request for collective bargaining with General Motors.

"By the same magic that General Motors waved the Flint alliance out of the picture, they can wave it back," Martin said. "Our membership cannot be placed in the position again to trust General Motors' mere declaration of good faith."

Police restored order at the Briggs plant and permitted peaceful picketing by 100 men to continue.

Meanwhile, Martin telegraphed a request for intervention to Governor Frank Murphy who was in Washington conferring with John L. Lewis and Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins.

SUSPECT SAYS GLAD MATTSON BOY KIDNAPED

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 19 (UP)—A man arrested today became engaged when questioned about his possible knowledge of the Charles Mattson kidnaping and shouted to officers:

"I'm glad the boy was killed." The suspect, who had a newspaper clipping of the crime in his pocket, gave his name as George Wilson. Police said he resembled descriptions of the kidnaper.

Police said the man trembled with rage when the Mattson case was mentioned and blurted out:

"I'd like to see every member of the Mattson family killed. I wouldn't hesitate to do it myself. I'm glad the Mattson boy was kidnaped and glad he was killed. I'd like to kill all families like that. They haven't done anything but starve me to death."

The man admitted he had been in Tacoma, but said he left that town six weeks ago. He said his home was in Rockford, Ill., and he had been treated in a Louisville, Ky., sanitarium.

Other search for the murderer went forward today, but without the intensity of the early days of the hunt.

Local police believed the slayer has taken his life. Federal agents, whose record in clearing up kidnaping cases as almost perfect, had no comment.

AUSTIN, Jan. 19 (UP)—Governor James V. Allred and Lieut. Gov. Walter Woodall took their oath of office at noon in the house chamber today reinaugurating them for their second term.

On the speaker's stand were former Governors James E. Ferguson, Pat M. Neff and Dan Moody. Neff introduced Allred.

Applause interrupted the governor's inaugural speech but once, and that was when he declared "the people, not the interest, must be kept continuously in the saddle."

Because of rainy weather a platform built in front of the capitol was abandoned and the exercises moved indoors.

"Give me wisdom and knowledge," the governor quoted the Bible in his short speech of acceptance. He announced the aim of his administration to "secure the maximum number of happiness for 6,000,000 people."

Presiding the inauguration, Ed Clark of San Augustine, took the oath of Secretary of State in the governor's reception room. Clark had been first secretary to the governor.

LOBOES WALK ON BULLDOGS BY BIG SCORE

Coach W. E. Cooper and his Lobo boys went on a rampage at Ranger Monday night with both first and second teams taking the scores in the double header. First team taking the long end of 40 to 12, second taking the win by a score of 18 to Ranger's 5.

The personnel of the Lobo first team was forwards: M. Harrison, 11 points; O. Harrison, 10 points. Rainbolt at center was good for 8 points; guards were Slicker, 2 and Sherman, 8.

Tonight Cooper plays Eastland and they are said to be as tough as they were during the football season and perhaps more so. A hard scrap, fought every moment of the time, is anticipated. The game will be played at Eastland.

Exams will occupy the boys Wednesday, but Thursday night the Lobos play Mineral Wells. Another hard fought game is expected, said Cooper.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY LUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Friday conferences of President Roosevelt, some of his closest advisers, and certain labor leaders who really count at the White House resulted in several decisions of major importance as to forthcoming proposals for labor-industrial legislation.
1—Instead of seeking to legislate a national maximum work week of 30, 35, or 36 hours, as proposed by various labor leaders, the administration will support a bill to delegate to a board or commission the power to set maximum hours and minimum wages in industries whose business obviously is of interstate character.
2—The administration proposal will be exclusively a "labor bill," in that it will cover only wage and hour regulation. It will have no provisions as to anti-trust law exemptions, price-fixing, or trade practices such as characterized the NIRA.
3—Roosevelt is now willing to meet the U. S. Supreme Court issue head-on. The new wage-hour law, if passed by Congress, will be the gage of battle. The administration will not participate in any movement to obtain a constitutional amendment or otherwise to curb the court's power pending a supreme court ruling on that measure.
If the court should declare the law unconstitutional, Roosevelt—judging by the way he is now leaning—would summon the power of organized labor behind him and attempt to jam through a constitutional amendment with all possible speed.
The conferees agreed that it would be impractical to try to

Another Question About CARDUI

MOTHERS RECOMMEND IT
"Why do so many MOTHERS recommend Cardui to their daughters?"
Isn't it natural that any good mother should tell her daughters about Cardui if the mother herself felt that she had been benefited by this medicine?
It is impressive that so many women report having taken Cardui on the advice of their mothers.
Cardui has been found to benefit women when weakened by malnutrition (poor nourishment); and it helps to relieve much discomfort at monthly periods.
Thousands of women testify Cardui helped them. Of course, if it does not help you, consult a physician.

Young Statesman

Both the candidates for Chief Clerk were from Dallas. Both were women. The Texas Legislature has had a woman chief clerk continuously since it was the first legislature to elect a woman to such a responsible post. The office was held continuously by Mrs. Louise Snow Phinney of Dallas from the time she was selected as successor to her husband Carl Phinney. Phinney resigned to become secretary to Gov. Dan Moody.

The race between the two overshadowed interest in the Speakership contest.

Rep. Abe Mays of Atlanta has an understanding ear for the Government's recommended road safety program. Mays was in an automobile wreck en route to Austin for the session. He escaped injury but Mrs. Mays was injured painfully. The accident occurred near Taylor. Mays drove his car into a ditch in trying to avoid collision with an automobile that had turned across the road without warning.

Another reminder of highway danger that impressed legislators was the serious injuries of Mrs. B. L. Rogers, Farnsworth. She is the wife of former Rep. Rogers, who became a candidate for assistant reading clerk of the House of Representatives of the 45th legislature. Mrs. Rogers was struck by an automobile while here with her husband for the 44th legislature. She was injured so seriously that her life was despaired of. Then it was conceded she might live but never would be able to go about. Rogers devised an adjustable couch for her comfort. By its use, she now is able to be up and hopes for eventual complete recovery.

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER

United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Jan. 19. (AP)—As Gov. James V. Allred lunched in an El Paso coffee shop while attending the Sun Carnival there, a young man walked up and asked, "Know Me?"

Allred smiled. "Hy Jimmie," was the Governor's response.

The young man was James Bell, the other of two Jimmies who had existed in the U. S. Navy together at El Paso at the time of the World War. Allred then was stationed at El Paso in a minor position in the border service. So was Bell.

"If you enlist in the Navy, I will, one Jimmie told the other. They shook hands on it. We both got scared afterward, but we went through with it," Allred said. On the Pacific coast they were assigned to different companies. Bell is an automobile supply dealer at El Paso. Allred would be at the Sun Carnival, he went to El Paso to renew his acquaintance.

Mrs. Jimmie Matson of Dallas as candidate for Chief Clerk of the Texas House of Representatives helped one representative pick cotton, hung out the family washing for the wife of another and sat all afternoon in another member's grocery store while he marketed a load of produce.

In her campaign she covered nearly every county in the state. She visited the homes of most of the members. The trip was made by automobile.

"I made up my mind that if that is the money I had for gasoline ran out, I would walk the rest of the way rather than give up the campaign," Mrs. Matson said in reviewing her experiences. "It really cost me very little. I spent practically nothing for room or board and had so many invitations to stay with the families of members that it was difficult to keep up with a schedule I had mapped out to follow."

She centered her campaign efforts on new members. As Calendar Clerk of the 44th Legislature, she said she thought the old members knew her qualifications.

Both the candidates for Chief Clerk were from Dallas. Both were women. The Texas Legislature has had a woman chief clerk continuously since it was the first legislature to elect a woman to such a responsible post. The office was held continuously by Mrs. Louise Snow Phinney of Dallas from the time she was selected as successor to her husband Carl Phinney. Phinney resigned to become secretary to Gov. Dan Moody.

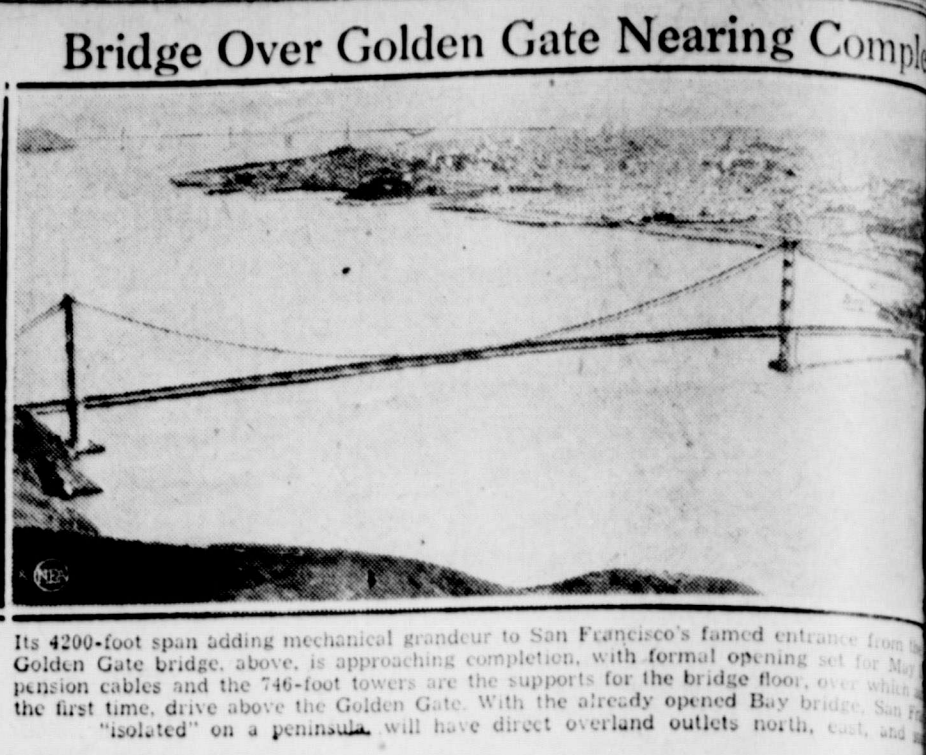

The race between the two overshadowed interest in the Speakership contest.

Rep. Abe Mays of Atlanta has an understanding ear for the Government's recommended road safety program. Mays was in an automobile wreck en route to Austin for the session. He escaped injury but Mrs. Mays was injured painfully. The accident occurred near Taylor. Mays drove his car into a ditch in trying to avoid collision with an automobile that had turned across the road without warning.

Another reminder of highway danger that impressed legislators was the serious injuries of Mrs. B. L. Rogers, Farnsworth. She is the wife of former Rep. Rogers, who became a candidate for assistant reading clerk of the House of Representatives of the 45th legislature. Mrs. Rogers was struck by an automobile while here with her husband for the 44th legislature. She was injured so seriously that her life was despaired of. Then it was conceded she might live but never would be able to go about. Rogers devised an adjustable couch for her comfort. By its use, she now is able to be up and hopes for eventual complete recovery.

Its 4200-foot span adding mechanical grandeur to San Francisco's famed entrance from the Golden Gate bridge, above, is approaching completion, with formal opening set for Monday. The 746-foot towers are the supports for the bridge floor, over which the first time, drive above the Golden Gate. With the already opened Bay Bridge, San Francisco is "isolated" on a peninsula, will have direct overland outlets north, east, and south.

Congress Extends President's Power

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. (AP)—Congress passed and sent to the President a resolution extending to June 30, 1939, the authority of President Roosevelt to devalue the dollar and to use the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund to maintain the value of American currency in world markets.

Uncle Sam Looks to Texas in Battle To Rewin Markets Lost to Foreign

With more than 50 per cent of America's sulphur export market lost to foreigners in last six years, Uncle Sam is counting on sons of the Lone Star state to shoulder responsibility not only of recapturing our lost markets, but of preserving the domestic industry thus assuring U. S. farmers and factories an adequate supply of sulphur at low cost in time of either peace or war. So declares Porter A. Whaley, inset, upper left, general manager of Texas State Manufacturers' Association. Texans are already in forefront of this battle to regain lost markets and among leaders is J. T. Claborn, Jr., inset, upper right, native of Tarrant County, and vice-president of a leading sulphur company. SAN ANTONIO—America is counting on the sons of the men who defended the Alamo and fought with Sam Houston to regain the sulphur markets it lost nearly six years ago to foreign nations.

So declares Porter A. Whaley, vice-president and general manager of the Texas State Manufacturers' Association, who cites figures showing that Texas, which produced about 40 per cent of the total world's supply of sulphur in 1931, today produces only about 20 per cent.

"According to United States Bureau of Mine statistics," Mr. Whaley said, "America's exports of sulphur have declined from 855,183 tons in 1929 to 462,383 in 1935, a loss of more than 50 per cent of our foreign markets. The reason for this is not hard to discover. The war lords of Europe have stimulated production in their own countries with huge subsidies to producers and high tariff barriers. These government premiums on sulphur sometimes run as high as $7.00 per ton. Italy last year handled 30,000,000 lire over to her sulphur producers to be used in expanding export sales.

"Uncle Sam must rely on Texas as America's largest producer to shoulder the responsibility of winning back our sulphur markets," Mr. Whaley declared. "And, since the sons of the Lone Star state have never taken defeat lying down, I am sure that Texas can be counted on to do her part. We must realize sulphur's importance, not only on our farms and in industry, but in the defense of our liberty in event of conflict. With many a foreign nation rattling sabers and re-stocking arsenals in preparation for the next war, anything can happen, and while I don't want to be an alarmist, I think we must consider the importance of the preservation of the American sulphur industry from every cause we are a source of supply, its case of Texas against the world in the battle down the cost of sulphur own consumers.

Texas "boys who good" are in the forefront of the fight to regain the markets. Among them are now vice-presidents of the Texas State Manufacturers' Association: Roy B. Johns of Jonesboro, T. J. Knapp of Galveston and others well known in Texas.
