PRESIDENT TO INSIST FIGHT TO BE FINISH

Proposal to Brace These Court 'Pillars' Stirs Storm

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt will accept no compromise in his fight to reorganize the U. S. Supreme Court and the judiciary system, sources close to him said today.

Unless they retire voluntarily, six men whose long inactivity of the law of the land has identified them as the 'pillars' of the supreme court, may find six new justices helping them carry the load.

Reforms proposed by President Roosevelt provide that when a federal judge fails to retire at the age of 70, the president may name an additional judge, provided the total for the supreme court does not exceed 15.

Knudsen said the company had "recognized the union as spokesman only for its own members."

4. Demolition of national guard at Flint only enough troops to take care of trouble will remain."

MODEL SYSTEM TO STREAMLINE STATE GOVERNMENT PRESENTED FOR APPROVAL IN CONNECTICUT

By WILLIAM D. CLARK United Press Staff Correspondent HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 11 (AP)—The Connecticut legislature today had under advisement one of the most vital governmental reforms since adoption of the Fundamental Orders 300 years ago—establishment of a virtual Utopian form of operation.

Completing an 18-month survey of the state's 112 departments, commissions, boards, officers and scattered agencies, the governor's commission to study departmental reorganization suggested sweeping changes, which included: 1. Election of the governor for a four-year term, in even-numbered years intervening between presidential elections, to eliminate national sentiment from swaying state elections.

2. Appointment, rather than election of the comptroller, secretary of state, treasurer and attorney general. 3. Establishment of a legislative council to engage continuously in study, research and planning. 4. Creation of an executive budget, under direct supervision of the governor, combining divisions of accounting, personnel, purchasing and treasury.

5. Merit System Advocated—Adoption of a merit system of personnel, to eliminate patronage and political evils. 6. Establishment of a governor's cabinet, consisting of administrative heads of all departments, to advise and consult with the governor "in co-ordinating and integrating the work of the executive department."

7. Compelling independent audits of all state accounts at least once a year. 8. Empowering the governor to remove executing officers from office after a hearing on written charges has disclosed just causes for dismissal.

These measures, the commission stated, "are essential if the general assembly and the governors are to be given the necessary means to provide for the efficient and economical conduct of the state's affairs with endangering the rights and liberties of the citizens."

Cisco-Dublin Game To Draw Big Crowd

The Cisco high school basketball team will meet the Dublin basketball squad here on the high school court tomorrow night at 7:30. The boys from the peanut country have defeated Carbon twice and the Carbon team has defeated the Lobos twice by close margins, so the Lobos will go into the game as the underdogs.

The local lads have played the past few games without their full strength due to illness and injuries. Win or lose, the Lobos have been giving the opponents much trouble this season and have made a good showing considering the fact that the small amount of material on hand, Coach Cooper has done a good job since Cisco high has not had a winning basketball team for several seasons.

The starting lineup for the game tomorrow night will look like this: Forwards, Odell and Marcell Harrison; guards, Slicker and Sherman; center, Bacon and Marcell.

Odell and Marcell have been playing good basketball all season and have seen much service. Slicker and Sherman have been guarding the opposing teams well and are not bad at shooting the ball. Bacon, center, is improving in every game and is handling the tip-offs well.

The Dublin boxers will come to Cisco with their basketball team and will meet the local prides in eight thrilling bouts. Fighters from Cisco who will probably see service are: Waymon Johnson, district Golden Glove winner and a mean lad to get in the ring with; Joe Dan Johnson, brother of Waymon, who has not been defeated in his first two fights and won last week's fight by a knockout; Lander Cleveland, lighthavy who packs a mean punch in either hand and has not been defeated yet in the home ring; James McQuary, a local lad who has shown much stuff in his fights; Robert Cone, who is making a better showing every time he steps into the ring and has won his last fight on a knockout against a tough Mineral Wells boy.

A capacity crowd is expected for this double-feature program as the fights and basketball promises to be packed with thrills.

What's News Today

The House passes the Summers bill by a big majority and thus sanctions the president's supreme court retirement schedule, paving the way for appointment of new justices who may not choose to retire on their full pay allowances.

The next step is the senate where friendly sentiment for the program is gradually taking shape. An effort to get the justices who will be affected to speak regarding their plans for retirement will be made. The medicine gradually works and the end approaches.

The president also elaborates on his plan for the Great Plains section which includes Texas. The plan is far-reaching and will be complicated. Land is to be divided as to agricultural and grazing. Vast acreage will have to be purchased and then resold. Small farms will be combined so as to make tracts large enough to assure a living for those who farm them. To Texans who have been used to the freedom of the wide open spaces without interference from the government dictation, this will seem like the work of a dictator from the Old World, but they will grudgingly accede to the innovation. It will be a decided revolution in the ways of free America.

The predictions now are for a settlement today of the General Motors strike situation that has been holding thousands idle in the factories and other thousands idle in dealer organizations over the country. Parts as well as automobiles, are not to be had in some sections and are scarce in all agencies. Sales forces in dealerships have suffered from lack of something to sell. Gov. Murphy is optimistic and does not give up.

The police do not talk after further examination of the Mattson suspect. While he is said to bear a strong resemblance to the kidnaper, others who have resembled the shadow figure, have been examined and released. Meanwhile, they are searching for a red-headed woman who may know something about the matter.

Texas solons roll up their sleeves and tackle the hard battle to raise the revenues that Gov. Allred says must be forthcoming before he will okay any bills requiring funds. So, at it they go.

Oil comes in and the major companies say they can take it, while independents say it will drive them out of business. Lower poll taxes are suggested. Drivers' licenses are being tampered with and suggestions are for more teeth in the law. Race horse betting is being tested on the floor of the House of Representatives to get an idea of sentiment.

There is some hard sledding ahead for the Texas boys and some mighty growling and hair pulling but then they asked for the job. Jimmie waves the big stick and says, "Get results, boys."

Secretary of Agriculture speaks of compulsory laws regarding farming as he prepares for the conferences with farm delegates. The United States wants no let-up in production that may cause an embarrassing situation if prices are

In her address, Mrs. Rigby gave a message from the Worthy Grand Matron whose theme for the year for the chapters of the state is "Charity." Attractive gifts were presented to Mrs. Rigby and to Mrs. Joiner, the presentations being by the conductress, Mrs. Gid Tarpley and the associate conductress, Mrs. J. H. Q. Where and when was Soule University established and how long was it continued?

A. Soule University, a Methodist school, was established at Charpell Hill, Washington county, in 1856, on effort of the Methodist church to replace Rutledge College which was merged that year with the Texas Monument and Military Institute at Bastrop.

Q. Why did Americans come to Texas and take land away from the Mexicans when they had more at home than they could use?

A. There were many reasons, chief of these being: most of the early settlers had lost their homes and resources in the panic of 1819 and sought to retrieve their losses in a country where land was given away; they had the adventurous, pioneering spirit of their forefathers; Mexico was unable to induce Mexicans to settle and develop Texas and welcomed foreigners and their certain restrictions; opportunities for acquiring homes and making money seemed better in Texas.

Q. When and by whom were the first town lots surveyed in Houston?

A. In November, 1836, by Moses Lapham, a native of Ohio and a hero of San Jacinto.

Q. For what is Aransas Pass most noted?

Q. What was the total travel and hotel bill of Texas officials and employees for the fiscal year and how was it distributed?

A. For the fiscal year which ended August 31, 1936, the total travel expenses was $1,057,867 as follows: oil and gasoline $122,408; operation of individually owned cars at 5 cents a mile, $492,441; railroad and bus fares $46,832; hotels and rooms, $178,601; meals $202,403; miscellaneous expense items, $115,182. Wet-Dry Students Ponder Protests Fly

Wet-dry students in this city are studying with interest the various Senate and House resolutions which have just been introduced in Congress, dealing with the liquor problem.

Senator Morris Sheppard, co-author of the 18th amendment, has re-introduced his resolution (S. J. Res. 34) proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States prohibiting manufacture, sale or transportation of alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes and repealing the 21st Amendment.

Other similar measures which have been introduced since Congress opened, as reviewed by the National Voice News Bureau, are:

S. J. Res. 35 (Sheppard): Proposes amendment to Constitution of United States granting power to Congress to restrict or prohibit traffic in alcoholic liquors. Reintroduced.

H. R. (Culkin): To prohibit the transportation in interstate commerce of advertisements of intoxicating liquors, which would include advertising over the radio. Identical with the Capper-Culkin anti-liquor advertising bill of the last congress.

State Accepts Cisco Eighth Street Road

Highway Engineer A. D. Schmid, for the state, announced today that the department had accepted the work of the three jobs just completed for highway One through Eighth street and had relieved contractors, Wommack & Tenning from further responsibility. The Federal inspector will pass on the road work sometime during the month for the federal highway department.

Near $83,000 was spent in the construction of the 1.8 miles of road for the West end of the project consisting of 8,460 man-hours of work. The minimum wage was 30c per hour, the average being about 32c amounting to $32,000 in salaries, about 90 per cent of which remained in Eastland county about 140 working days were used in the construction. The road is an unusually good one, Mr. Schmid says and should last a quarter of a century if properly maintained.

COMMON COLD TREATED WITH SNAKE VENOM

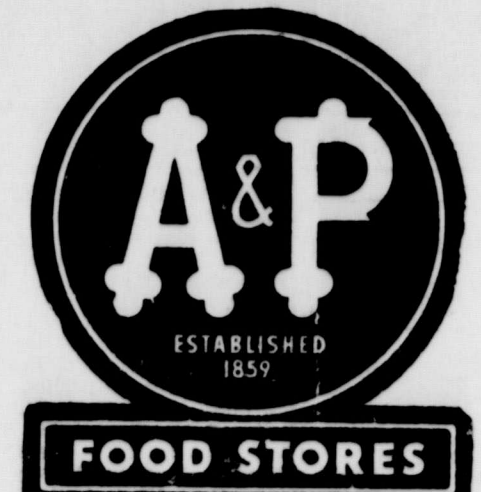

By F. C. M. JAHN
 Staff Correspondent
 SNA, Feb. 6U.P.—Poisonous remedy against common colds by the government controlled Austrian Sero-Institute of Vienna in-the name of "viperin" the after long and careful work has produced an which soon will be avail-the public. As indicated by the effective component injections, carried out by private physicians and in hospitals, surprising results. A single injection, in many cases, sufficient to make the rhum as well as accompanying headache within a few hours. It was questions, however, may be reduced several times without fear of effects because, despite its being a venomous snake, the remedy is harmless, according to the institute.

 freedom of application compared to most other ointments against nasal catarrhs, vitamin the additional advantage can be applied on any part of the body for instance on the arm, according to research workers.

 The institute, however, emphasizes that, while experiments have shown the efficiency of the remedy in most cases, not every organism responds to viperin.
 On the other hand, viperin provided also helpful in cases of so-called vaso-motoric rheum in which patients suffer from long spells of sneezing which are not due to cold.
 Another interesting medical announcement has been made here regarding the age-old "earth rays" cause cancer. Prof. Hermann Beitzke, head of the Pathological Institute of Graz University, declared the theory was worthy of serious consideration.
 Two years ago this research scientist, after many painstaking investigations, reached and announced the conclusion that, in his opinion, the "earth-ray" theory of disease origin appears to be without foundation.
 Today this same expert, on the basis of further experiments, is so convinced that his earlier conclusion was wrong that he has revealed the details of his more recent experiments in the hope that other cancer research specialists with more money at their disposal will carry the study further.
 Found at Water Sources
 The particular rays on which Dr.
 Beitzke has concentrated his attention may be related to or even identical with those which interest diving-rod practitioners, namely, those emanating from the earth at some varieties of water sources.

'Third Degree' Murder Case Stirs Pennsylvania As 12 Go On Trial

SOMERSET, Pa., Feb. 8 (AP)—The Monaghan "third degree" case, which Governor George H. Earle branded "the most horrible, brutal and barbarous occurrence" in Pennsylvania history, will reach its courtroom denouement this month. As the result of the death of Frank C. Monaghan, a hotel man in Uniontown, Pa., on Sept. 12, twelve men went on trial here this week, seven charged with murder, five charged with aiding and abetting after the crime.

road his throat cut from ear to ear. Police accused Monaghan. In early morning they questioned him in the basement of the Fayette County courthouse. Several hours later Monaghan died. Baitz, the coroner, first said death was due to a heart attack, "superinduced by chronic alcoholism." When several persons reported they heard screams from the courthouse basement, Professor Monaghan rushed to Uniontown and demanded reopening of the investigation. An autopsy showed that Monaghan had suffered 11 fractured ribs, fracture of the right jaw, fracture of the nose, internal hemorrhages, and hemorrhages of the throat "due to a blow." Two days later Baitz filed murder charges against Stacey Gunderman and Anthony Sanute, state policemen, and Wilbert Miner, county detective.

Between 1,500 and 2,000 teachers are expected for the meeting. The program has not been completed, it was stated Saturday, but it is known definitely that a banquet would be held Friday night and that the morning and afternoon sessions Saturday, March 20, would be general sessions of the convention. "It is not known as yet, who will be the principal speakers," Lanier stated Saturday at noon. "But we are in touch with several prominent men of the state and more than likely one from this group will be the speaker." Although the meeting will be a two-day affair and nearly 2,000 teachers are expected, only between 500 and 600 are expected to stay in Ranger for the full two days, the others being able to drive back and forth from their homes each day. Lanier said that housing plans for those who would have to remain overnight were being discussed by the committee Saturday afternoon. There are 15 counties represented in the Oil Belt group, with the possibility that Erath County might join the association this year. "Ephrenville has always been particularly friendly to the Oil Belt association," Lanier said Saturday, "and since the football team has been admitted into the 1937 grid schedule no doubt Stephenville and Erath county will want to be included with our group." The 15 counties now included in the Oil Belt are Eastland, Palo Pinto, Callahan, Taylor, Nolan, Mitchell, Howard, Scurry, Fisher, Jones, Haskell, Throckmorton, Stephens, Young and Stonewall.

Letter Shows Flood Aid by Red Cross

J. E. Spencer, county chairman for the Red Cross chapter of Eastland county has received a letter from the Red Cross manager of the Midwest branch, with offices in St. Louis, relative to the nature and extent of aid given flood sufferers in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys. Since it gives information that is written in a very readable manner we reproduce the letter. "The following statement is for the information of all chapter officials who are receiving inquiries concerning the nature and extent of Red Cross disaster relief, with particular reference to the disaster which we are now dealing. Disaster relief presents two phases. The first is the emergency, when all efforts are expended to meet the immediate needs of the sufferers—rescue, food, clothing, temporary shelter and medical attention. The next step leads us to permanent rehabilitation. Every family affected by the disaster and without resources to re-establish itself unaided, will, insofar as possible, be given sufficient help so that supplemented by its own effort, it may again become self-supporting. The assistance which is given by the Red Cross is based on need, not loss. Although a person may have suffered heavily in the disaster, if his financial condition is such that he can stand the loss, without unreasonable hardship, he is not a proper applicant for relief. The relief fund being constructed by the American people is not to assume the place of insurance and to replace losses but is to meet actual needs and it will be used only to meet those minimum needs which the sufferers themselves cannot meet from their own resources. All help, financial or otherwise, given disaster sufferers is an outright gift from the American people extended through the Red Cross without obligation. The work of rehabilitation requires a careful study with the affected families in order that decisions may be based on a knowledge of the facts and insure the re-establishment of the flood sufferers on a self-sustaining basis consistent with their normal life before the disaster. It is particularly important in view of the many statements appearing in the press with reference to the responsibility for rehabilitation that may be assumed by federal, state, and local agencies that chapter officials understand the distinction between such effort and the service rendered by the Red Cross. The efforts of public agencies are directed primarily to general problems of sanitation, the repair of public property, including streets, sewers, lighting and water systems, et cetera. The responsibility assumed by the Red Cross for rehabilitation includes the provision of such services as may be necessary to maintain the health and welfare of the families of the flood sufferers and to assist them in the restoration of their homes. The Red Cross is prepared to meet these needs. Very sincerely yours, WM. M. BAXTER, JR., Manager" door crashed open under Gat's repeated attacks and the gangster jumped out into the cabin. The boy leaped from the pilot's seat to face this new enemy and reached for a monkey wrench with which to defend himself.

Gat came on, cursing, and swung his fist at Jimmie's head in what should have been a killing blow. Before the swing was finished, his beefy face went suddenly white. He pitched forward and sprawled on the floor unconscious. The altitude had been too much for his heart.

Jimmie wasn't feeling so well either. He staggered toward a small oxygen tank on the wall, managed to reach it and take a whiff. This revived him sufficiently so that he was able to push the stick forward and head down. Then he stared at the crowded instrument board helplessly. Why hadn't Speed taught him to fly when he had a chance!

"That kid can't land a plane," groaned Mac as his head thickly bandaged. He hurried up to welcome them.

"You're crazy," laughed Flash proudly. "He'll make it. Come on, I wanna see them pinch Casey and Gat." He ran toward a waiting police car.

Speed and Jerry dashed into the radio room and the former began giving last-minute instructions as the NCX-9 circled lower and lower around the field.

"Take it easy, Jimmie," he pleaded. "Now pull the stick back just a fraction. Lift her nose! Lift her nose! Oh, Lord! He's made it," he shouted as the boy landed with scarcely a bump and taxied toward the hangar. Then he and Jerry were dancing around the room, wild with delight.

As the boy leaped from the cabin and ran toward the radio room five policemen piled aboard the NCX-5 and came out dragging the limp bodies of Gat and Casey.

"Who're they?" asked a spectator. "I don't know," grinned Flash. "But I bet it will take them thirty years to get back."

Speed had Tommy Wade on the long distance wire when Jimmie burst into the radio room.

"The kid will be here in just a minute," the aviator was shouting. Then he added: "Say, Tommy, you've got a date with Jerry and me... We're going to get married!"

"Are we?" gasped the girl.

Then, as Speed hung up the receiver and gathered her into his arms, she added breathlessly.

"It's about time!"

THE END

"Looks like we've lost 'em," said Speed a quarter of an hour later as he surveyed an empty sky.

"We can't lose them, Speed," wailed Jerry. "They've got Jimmie." "I know it. But I'm helpless. Don't know where to look."

Suddenly through the microphone came the boy's frantic voice.

"Speed! Speed! I was calling. Can you hear me?"

"Yes," whooped the pilot. "Are you all right?"

"Yeah... I'm all right, but I'm lost. The NCX-9 is flying over a big body of water right now—headed south."

"Sounds like the Salton Sea. Where's the pilot? Tell him to throttle down. We'll catch you."

"They got him. I'm all alone. You should have taught me to fly."

"That ship will fly itself," Speed was beside himself with joy. "Do you think you can take her off the automatic pilot if I tell you what to do?"

"I'll sure try."

"All right. Now listen carefully. We're about 150 miles off the course... as soon as we're back on it you can cut in the automatic again." He gave detailed directions for making the shift, then added: "She'll buck a little but don't let that get your goat. All set. Go!"

There were several moments of silence, then Jimmie announced jubilantly: "I made it. She's headed north. What do I do now?"

"Keep her just where you've got

Alice Roosevelt Longworth tells how Senators choose a light smoke... considerate of their throats

"I often lunch in the Senate restaurant at the Capitol. Nearly every Senator and Representative there smokes, and the number I see take out a package of Luckies is quite surprising. Perhaps surprising is not the word. Because off and on, ever since 1917, I myself have used Luckies for this sound reason: They really are a light smoke—kind to the throat. It's simply common sense that these Senators and Representatives, whose voices must meet the continuous strain of public speaking, should also need a cigarette that is considerate of their throats... a light smoke."

Alice Roosevelt Longworth

In a recent independent survey, an overwhelming majority of lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc., who said they smoked cigarettes, expressed their personal preference for a light smoke.

Mrs. Longworth's statement verifies the wisdom of this preference and so do leading artists of radio, stage, screen and opera, whose voices are their fortunes, and who choose Luckies, a light smoke. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on your throat.

RUSSIAN ARMY, LARGEST IN WORLD NUMERICALLY, TO FIGHT GERMANY AND JAPAN SIMULTANEOUSLY

Russia's army, the biggest in the world, is now divided with a view toward fighting Japan and Germany simultaneously, writes Joseph M. Baird, a former Moscow correspondent. Soviet leaders list their forces at 1,350,000 men in active service, with 10,000,000 reserves and greater mechanization per man than in any other country.

There are really two Red Armies—one in the Far East, the other in the West—which, aside from central control in Moscow, operate as independent units. The European army is garrisoned along a broad arc extending south from Leningrad, down through Minsk, on to Kiev and the Black Sea. Its mission is to protect the Soviet Union from an attack through the Baltic States by Germany or a drive by Poland or Germany into the Ukraine.

Because of the long Japanese war scare, it is the "Special Red Banner Far Eastern Army," commanded by General Vassily Bleucher, which has been the favored child of the Soviet government. Upon this force, strung out from Lake Baikal to Vladivostok and numbering about 300,000 men, will fall the brunt of the Japanese invasion, when and if it materializes. It is backed by a large air force and a concentration of food and munitions to insure its existence until aid can reach it from European Russia.

To supply this army 4,000 miles from Moscow, the Trans-Siberian railroad has been double-tracked and a second line parallel by 100 kilometers north, has been projected from Lake Baikal to the Pacific. New sources of coal and iron have been exploited in Siberia to provide these sinews of war locally.

Five marshals provide the brains and directive energy of the Red Army. They: Klementi Voroshilov, Commissioner of War and Stalin's closest friend; Mikhail Tukachev, Assistant Commissar of War; Simeon Budonny, Inspector-general of Cavalry; Vassily Bleucher, commander of the Far Eastern Army; Alexander Vesegov, chief of staff. At the end of the civil war period, the only officers with technical knowledge had been trained in the Imperial academies and were steeped in traditions of the former ruling class. Now 16 years later, officers of the higher ranks are virtually 100 per cent members of the Communist party. At present there are 13 military schools with a total enrollment of 16,000. The term was increased recently from four to five years.

What are the weaknesses of this gargantuan army? Precisely the same which were found in the armies of the Tsars: the extreme backwardness of Russia's system of communications and the Russian psychology of Nichevo, or "It doesn't matter."

Under the leadership of Iazar Kaganovich, Commissar Communist party in Moscow, the Soviet railroads are being improved. But this task is a formidable one and will take years for completion. Russian railroads were always backward and years of revolution depleted even the poor legacy left by the Tsar. Nor, save in a few sections, can troops depend on highways for fast transportation.

Russia's second great military weakness is psychological. It arises from a certain quality in the Slavic temperament best summed up by the Russian word Nichevo. Instances were reported in the World War when Russian troops lost tremendous opportunities because officers were loath to leave a card game or an attractive woman. Never mind! The battle could be fought tomorrow.

Against this psychology, Communist leaders have struggled constantly. Every effort is made to inspire the people with a keen sense of competition. It is too early to say whether such a basic trait can be stamped out in a few decades.

EARTHWORM NURSERY SET UP KAUKAUNA, Wis. (UP)—Hot-house fruits and vegetables frequently grace the tables of epicures but as far as is known, hot-house angletorns have never been fed to fish until this year, when members of the Kaukauna Conservation club established an earthworm nursery to feed the fish in their rearing pond during the winter.

Ranger Rancher is Killed Saturday

Funeral services for James Benton Ames, 42, who was shot and instantly killed in Ranger Saturday night, were conducted from the First Methodist church of Ranger Monday afternoon at 2:30, with burial in the Ames cemetery on the Ames farm near Ranger. Killingsworth Cox, had charge of the burial. Moody Carr, brother of Ames, directed the funeral. Carr was shot after the shooting and turned over to them a 44 calibre pistol, from which one shot had been fired, according to Justice of the Peace J. M. McFatter, who held an inquest in Ranger Sunday and rendered a verdict of death from gunshot wounds. Carr was released under $2,000 bond, which was set by Judge McFatter. Only Eye Witness Elmer Carr, Ames and a young daughter of Ames, were the only ones in the house at the time of the shooting, and since the child was asleep, the exact details of the shooting had not been learned. Judge McFatter stated, and since Carr wanted examining trial, no statement was taken from him by Earl Conner, criminal district attorney, who was in Ranger investigating the case.

Surviving relatives include two brothers, Frank A. Ames of Ranger and John Ames of Odessa; two sisters, Mrs. Ada Gordon of Albuquerque, N. M., and Mrs. Ida Hinman of Ranger, and two children, J. B. Jr., and Betty Sue. Native of County The decedent was born in Eastland county May 2, 1895, and had lived in the county all his life. At one time he was on the Ranger police force and had been a deputy sheriff. In recent years he had been a rancher and stock raiser, having a ranch near Ranger, on which he spent much of his time, although he made his home in the city. He was well known throughout Eastland and surrounding counties where his activities as a stock raiser carried him.

Death Instantaneous Chief of Police Jim Ingram said that he believed death was instantaneous and that Ames died before he fell to the floor, while Judge McFatter, who visited the scene said that Ames was shot while in the kitchen, that he walked through a dining room and bedroom, reached the door leading out of the bedroom and then fell back into the bedroom. He still held his case with which he had walked since sustaining a broken leg several months ago, in his right hand.

Judge McFatter stated Monday that the bullet with which Ames was killed, passed completely through his body, pierced the heart and struck a door facing and fell to the Modern Mothers Postpone the Need for Facial Changes By Using Electric Servants

Look in Thy Kitchen and Tell Your Husband Now Is the Time To Buy Electric Appliances!

Modernize that Kitchen, else "Thou dost beguile the world, unless some Mother." Electric service is the greatest blessing yet bestowed on human beings. While its merciful qualities have lifted burdens from both man and beast, its matchless gift to humanity lies in the relief from domestic servitude brought to women. Today no woman need be assigned a place among skillets and pans, as was true of yore when kitchen and nursery formed the boundaries of her domain. If she wishes to save her face, preserve her figure, retain the youthfulness that contributed to the happiness of her home as a bride... then she will insist on a Modern Electric Home.
