Troops Halt Invasion of Union Workers

MARTIAL LAW DECLARED AS FIVE INJURED

ANDERSON, Ind., Feb. 13 (U.P.)—National guardsmen ordered to repel a mass invasion of men from Michigan in a feud between union and non-union auto forces reported today they had halted a caravan of 30 autos 13 miles north of Anderson.

Military officers reported the cars all bore Michigan plates. There were 150 men in the party.

The troops under command of Captain Jeff McIntosh enforced strict martial law over this county and blocked all highways. Troopers erected machine guns at highway intersections and stood guard with bayonets.

National guard officers reported they had confiscated eight shotguns, one pistol and several clubs at union auto workers headquarters at Alexandria.

It was there that troopers halted the caravans.

Adjutant General Elmer Straub said the cars would be escorted back to the Michigan-Indiana line.

Five were wounded by guns, two seriously, in violence which broke out early Saturday.

The city was quiet but tense as guardsmen took charge.

Gov. Clifford Townsend declared martial law after the five persons were injured, 274 troopers arrived in less than an hour after the governor passed orders.

Facing New Trial of Balm Demand

To look at the happy faces of Peggy Garcia (top) and Dave Rubinoff (being kissed by his sister-in-law below) you'd never think they were the principals in a $100,000 breach of promise case that had been declared a mistrial as it neared conclusion. Now all the vexing moments will have to be gone through again before a jury can decide whether or not the radio entertainer had begged Peggy to marry him.

BOOS DROWN SUPPORTERS IN BAR MEET

FORT WORTH, Feb. 13 (U.P.)—Supporters of President Roosevelt proposed judiciary reform were drowned out with boos today as Fort Worth bar association voted 103 to 10 to condemn the program.

The few attorneys who favored the proposal including an increase in membership of U. S. Supreme court were met with chorus of "no" and "boo" and shouts to "sit down."

The Fort Worth Bar association action followed similar opposition by lawyers in other cities.

The state legislature at Austin likewise overwhelmingly condemned the court proposal this week.

DALLAS BAR HAS STORMY MEETING

DALLAS, Feb. 13 (U.P.)—Shouts of "don't forget states rights Robert E. Lee" and "Thomas Jefferson" punctuated a stormy second of the Dallas Bar association today when that group voted 152 to 25 against President Roosevelt's proposal to increase the U. S. Supreme Court membership.

Former State Senator Thomas Love and M. M. Crane, former state attorney general, led the unsuccessful fight in support of the plan.

PRESIDENT CONFERS WITH SENATORS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (U.P.)—Three senators all outspokenly opposed to President Roosevelt's judiciary reorganization proposal were called to the White House today for personal conference with the president.

While administration leaders in congress sought support of those not committed to either side of the controversy Mr. Roosevelt held conference with Senator Wm. King of Utah, Frederick Van Nuys of Indiana and Edward Burke of Neb.

The senators left the White House after an hour and half. Indications were that they had not changed their stands with the possibility of King King said "I was pleased with the president's views and am giving them serious consideration."

SENATE JUDICIAL COMMITTEE TO MEET FEB. 22

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (U.P.)—Chairman Henry Ashurst of the senate judicial committee today cancelled the scheduled meeting Monday of the committee proposal for supreme court reorganization.

Ashurst said the committee would meet Feb. 22. The reason given for calling off the session was that there were no reports demanding consideration at the present.

A snow plough was ordered from Flagstaff after communication was established with the lodge where the party was snowbound.

WHEN GOOD SCOUTS GET TOGETHER

PAYROLLS ARE PADDED DURING LAST MONTHS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (U.P.)—First month payrolls for the 75th Congress revealed today a similarity in names suggesting nepotism, a legal but frequently criticized method of giving jobs to relatives is still widely practiced.

The payroll revealed that some representatives defeated in 1936 added to payrolls during their last few months in office persons bearing their own last names.

Rep. Thomas Blanton dem. of Texas defeated in the run-off primary last August, shifted his clerical list from Oct. one through December 30.

M. Blanton and W. W. Blanton were put on as clerks both at $208.33 a month.

'WORKING LEGISLATURE' RETURNS TO REVENUE-RAISING MONDAY

AUSTIN, Feb. 13 (U.P.)—Officially termed a "working legislature" Texas senators and representatives will return Monday to earn the commitments given them by Gov. Allred.

Revenue measure bills included a tax of 10 cents a barrel on oil, a franchise tax and an old age assistance bill carrying levies on natural resources. These include 4 cents per barrel on oil and two dollars per ton on sulphur.

Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes will be here Friday to address legislators despite the high-hatting of four senators who failed to concur in the invitation because of Ickes' views on federal oil controls.

Postmaster General James A. Farley is expected to address the legislature March 24, the day after he dedicates Waco's new post office.

Thirty-two legislators took a week-end bus trip to Lubbock, which was climaxed by dinner in their honor Saturday night at Texas Tech. Friday night they were guests of Sweetwater.

SCOUT SERVICE AT METHODIST CHURCH TODAY

Observing Scout Week, officers were named to man the city during Saturday and to impress upon the people the importance of observing traffic regulations at street intersections and on the Eighth street highway. A. G. Bardwell was named mayor and did his part well.

At a joint meeting of troops 101 and 4 Friday night at the Presbyterian church, an official family for Cisco was named to act Saturday. In addition to the official roster, all scouts were detailed for active duty about the city streets at pivotal places. Coming to their unusual activity in warning and directing traffic it is safe to say that a better observation of rules and regulations regarding stop signs will be in the public mind.

As another feature of scout week, a special service is to be held at the 11 o'clock hour at the Methodist church today. Rev. Joe I. Patterson, a scout enthusiast will speak especially to the troop members who are to attend in a body. The Court of Honor will be held here next Friday.

Professor Turner of the Grammar school, made an interesting talk to the scouts at their meeting Friday night.

This is the official scout roster for the city which acted Saturday: A. G. Bardwell, Mayor; Harry Gray, City Secretary; Tommie Wilson, City Attorney; Five Commissioners; Yowell Sherrell, Finance Commissioner; Howard Tableman, Police Commissioner; Lee Smith, Sanitation and Health; Robert Grantham, Water Commissioner; Robert Donovan, Street Commissioner; Charles Yates, City Health Officer; James Ponsler, Desk Sergeant; James Flournoy, Fire Chief. All other scouts were on duty as traffic officers and city policemen. Traffic fines go to Scouts fund.

ONTARIO NOT WORRIED OVER QUIN KIDNAP

TORONTO, Ontario, Can., Feb. 13 (U.P.)—Attorney General Arthur Robb said today Ontario government officials did not take "very seriously" the reported plots to kidnap the Dionne quintuplets.

"When we heard that there was a plan to kidnap the quintuplets we did not take it very seriously," he said, "but at the same time we left nothing undone to protect them."

Highway Survey Asks Users Assistance

The car owners of Eastland county can aid tremendously in furnishing official information to the State-Federal Highway Planning Survey for use in working out a logical plan on which future road and street construction will be based. Mr. C. H. O'Brien, the Assessor and Collector of Taxes, has been given a number of post cards which ask for fundamental information that is needed in road planning, thus affording the motorist opportunity to participate in outlining his future road program. These cards, to be distributed to car owners as they pay their 1937 registration fees, require no postage and are self-addressed. The number of cards which have been furnished Mr. O'Brien was judged according to the number of motor vehicles which were registered in the county during 1936. The number of cards allotted to Eastland county is as follows: 6900 for passenger automobiles, 1550 for trucks, and 350 for trailers and motorcycles and 125 for owners of five or more vehicles.

The business of constructing and maintaining highways, streets, and roads has become a tremendous task within recent years, and it now affects the well-being of every citizen. Obviously, every effort should be made to plan our public road system so that it will serve all our owners in an equitable manner and so that the tax burden for roads will be distributed justly. The information sought on these cards is vital to the establishment of an equitable well-rounded program. In order to work out such a program, the Texas Highway Department and the United States Bureau of Public Roads are conducting a State-wide Highway Planning Survey, and it is to the advantage of each County to participate to the greatest extent possible.

BOY SCOUTS FINE 70 PEOPLE; COLLECT $18.85 FOR TROOPS

Approximately 70 people were fined and 30 more were reprimanded by the Boy Scout mayor and his police court Saturday in the scout drive to secure more safety in driving in the city limits and a better observance of stop signs at street crossings.

The troops secured $18.85 in fines which Troop Four and Troop One hundred and One will divide between them. This money will go into the scout fund for promoting their each violation of safe driving. About 30 scouts participated in the directing of traffic and all boys seemed to enjoy their jobs. In most instances the boys were very courteous to offenders and they did not forget their scout training in their dealings with drivers.

Young Mayor A. G. Bardwell, a very manly scout, wishes to express his sincere appreciation to the officials of the city hall and to the people with whom his organization had to deal in working out their problem for the advancement of scout training. In most cases people were kind and took their fines and reprimands in a splendid spirit, which was very gratifying to the boys who were being taught lessons in courtesy by those being found in error.

Scoutmasters Ernest Hittson and Standlee Mc-Cracken express their thanks to the citizenship of Cisco who cooperated with the scouts in their object lesson in courtesy while trying to render Cisco more safe from reckless driving, and to secure saner observance of traffic regulations.

What's News Today

The judiciary reform proposal by President Roosevelt continues to raise a storm of protests but this protest is not taken too seriously by the president. He wonders if the opposition voiced in certain quarters will not prove a boost rather than a hurt to his program.

Alf M. Landon, republican candidate for president, makes a very short speech but his careful refraining from mentioning the judiciary by name surprises his friends and others.

The president, wise in diplomacy, is letting the opposition burn itself out while he carefully marshals his arguments and when the protests have blown themselves out he will launch his aggressive attacks and win by overwhelming odds.

The U. S. Senate is concerning itself with neutrality laws to keep the United States out of pending European struggles. Meanwhile, Japan is spending more for armaments than ever before. Practically 50 per cent of its budget is earmarked for the army and navy. If all nations are arming for a struggle which seems sure to come. Some have held that the way to keep peace is to be armed for trouble. Some wisdom in that.

The WPA forces are to be enlarged and much money is to be spent in the nine flood damaged states of the Ohio and Mississippi valleys. Administrator Hopkins says the bid is to be taken off and 50,000 more workers put on the working force. But it means more employment and more circulation of money. And after all, the problem of any nation is to keep money circulating. The tendency is to collect in the hands of the few and lodge in the vaults of banks. This will help prosperity to get under way thoroughly during 1937.

Disease is taking toll in flooded cities, but the situation is well under control by organized working units. New Orleans gets a scare when water begins bubbling up near its levees. The father of waters is thought to be well in hand now and flood dangers past.

A grandson is born to the king of Italy. Present indications are that he may never rule on the throne of the Romans. Education and enlightenment are fast dissipating supreme rule by kings. What all depends upon whether the country is enjoying peace and prosperity or not. In times of stress, people instinctively turn to some strong man to guide them and are willing to give him almost kingly powers, let him abuse that power in happy conditions and they overthrow him at once. There is little danger of a dictator in times of prosperity when there is no danger threatening. Let him make a misstep and over he goes.

Nine war bonds under construction are said to be awaiting steel to complete them. A shortage gives the labor unions a good opportunity to get concessions from their masters and evidently they expect to play a trump card or two since they announced at the ending of the automobile strike that steel would be the next point of attack. Much turmoil seems to be in store for 1937, but it will be a year of prosperity for aggressive business. The world must be fed and provided for while vast armies of men stay in camp and train for battles that may come soon or may never come at all.

FRANCE'S CHIEF "G-MAN" DELAYS RETIREMENT TO SOLVE MYSTERY OF RUSSIAN'S MURDER IN PARIS

By PETER C. RHODES
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 PARIS, Feb. 13 (U.P.)—France's greatest living detective, Marcel Guillaume of the Paris Special Police, planned to retire Jan. 31, but a new murder mystery arose that may occupy him for a few more months.

Just five days before Guillaume hoped to step down, the body of a former Soviet citizen, Dmitri Navachine, was found in the Bois de Boulogne. A witness said he had seen the murder occur. Guillaume took charge of the case, which appeared to hold international political complications.

Known throughout the world for his work in clearing up the "Prince murder mystery," a development of the Stavisky affair that brought France to the verge of civil war, Guillaume is credited with having ended a crisis which many believed was leading France to a dictatorship in 1934.

Thirty-seven years in the Paris judiciary police brought Guillaume in contact with some of France's worst criminals and posed mysteries which would have daunted less skilful men, but he retired with the boast that his department has cleared up 80 per cent of the crimes it set out to solve.

Officer of Legion
 Recipient of France's highest honor, the title of Officer of the Legion of Honor, for his distinguished work in solving the Prince affair, Guillaume admits that it was the biggest job he ever tackled. With France seething over the revelations of government corruption after the suicide of Stavisky, and the Croix de Feu using this as the fulcrum of street riots in the exciting days of February, 1934, affairs suddenly were made worse by the discovery of the body of a high official named Albert Prince on the railroad tracks near Dijon. Prince had been summoned as a witness in the Stavisky affair and a hush-murder was suspected.

With the announcement of the finding of Prince's decapitated body on the railroad tracks, party hatred flared again in France and rightists began a violent attack against parliamentarism and the government. The head of France's national police, the Surete Nationale, already was suspect and the government decided to turn the case over to Guillaume.

Suicide Theory Established
 Starting from the thesis that the mysterious death was due to unknown persons wishing to eliminate the star witness in the Stavisky case, the police chief finally established suicide as the motive. A good Catholic and without any suspicions of leaning to the left, Guillaume received approval for his work in silencing the government opposition only from the budding Popular Front groups. The right-wing press heaped abuse on his head and tried to insist that the case was clearly murder and not suicide.

Scotland Yard men, who had been called in on the case, agreed with Guillaume's thesis, and the police chief then wrote a 6,000-word report which denied all the murder hypotheses in the case. Star witness in the preliminary trial, it was Guillaume that convinced the state that further search was unnecessary. However, almost three years after the finding of Prince's body (Feb. 29, 1934), new facts have appeared in the case.

New Discovery Revealed
 Police have been informed that five vials of ethyl of chloride were found near the scene of Prince's death. Already newspapers are calling for Guillaume to renew his research with this evidence, while the state attorney general has announced that the entire case will be closed shortly.

Guillaume's first real case was as thrilling as any crime movie. While he was still serving as secretary to the former head of the judicial police, Jouin, his chief, decided to visit a den of gangsters led by a certain Bonnot, with headquarters in the Paris suburbs. It was April, 1912. As his chief prepared to leave Guillaume asked, "You haven't forgotten your gun?" Jouin answered with confidence, "My fists are enough."

But he hadn't counted on his adversaries. A tough band of thieves who would have been a match for any modern American gang, the Bonnot gang disposed of the police chief. Two hours after his departure Guillaume suddenly was at the head of a posse of detectives hunting down the criminals. For five days and nights he hardly slept, but then picked up the trail and trapped the gang leader in a wooden mill in the provinces. Besieged for several hours by police and Garde Mobile armed with carbines, Bonnot committed suicide with his last two bullets.

Promoted Chief in 1930
 In 1930 Guillaume was promoted to the chief of his bureau. By that time the French underworld had been purged of such gangs as that of Bonnot, and the cases that followed were of minor criminals working on an individual basis. Working scientifically, Guillaume raised the efficiency of his squad even higher.

He had planned to retire at the end of January, making way for his young subordinate, M. Roches. The grizzled 65-year-old veteran with the walrus blond mustache, snappy eyes and elastic step, will be succeeded by a bespectacled, clean-shaven youngster whose main qualification for the job is a thorough course in the scientific school for detectives which was formed under Guillaume's charge.

And with the Navachine murder mystery shaking political circles again, it is even more doubtful if Guillaume will have the opportunity to retire to the writing of his memoirs and the direction of a private detective agency, as he wished. Nothing has yet been announced about Guillaume carrying on the present case to the end, but it is almost certain that he will do so.

Henry Ford and Edsel Ford with the first and 25 millionth Ford cars

IT HAS never occurred before in automobile history that 25 million cars of one make, bearing one name, have been manufactured under one management. The 25,000,000th Ford car rolled off the Ford Rouge Plant production line on January 18, 1937.

25 million cars since 1923 . . . more than one-third of all the cars ever built . . . enough cars to transport the entire population of the United States.

The figures represent a remarkable contribution to the social welfare, the industrial stability and the general progress of our country.

People respect Ford efficiency. They know Ford uses fine materials, the best workmanship at good wages, the most exact precision measurements. They know these things are passed along to purchasers in the form of extra value.

Naturally, they like to do business with such a company. That's why it has been required to produce 25 million cars.

Naturally, too, they expect more of a Ford car, more this year than last year—more each year than the year before. They have every right to.

The experience gained in building 25,000,000 cars enables Ford to produce today a really superb motor car at a really low price—with the beauty, comfort, safety and performance of much more expensive cars.

The 1937 Ford V-8 combines advanced design, all-steel construction, extra body room, and brilliant brakes with a choice of two V-type 8-cylinder engines—the most modern type of power-plant.

The 85-horsepower engine provides top performance with unusually good economy for its high power.

The 60-horsepower engine gives good performance with the greatest gasoline mileage ever built into a Ford car—at the lowest Ford prices in years.

People expect more of a Ford car because it's a Ford—and they get more, for the same reason. It is undeniably THE QUALITY CAR IN THE LOW-PRICE FIELD.

COLLEEN MOORE BUYS EXPENSIVE GEORGIA ESTATE

CONYERS, Ga., Feb. 12 (U.P.)—Colleen Moore, whose flashing Irish eyes made her one of Hollywood's greatest stars of the silent films, has purchased a large tract of land near here on which she plans to build a home.

L. M. McDowell, clerk of Rockdale County Supreme Court, revealed that about 2,000 acres have been purchased over a period of several months, half the acreage being listed in the name of her mother, Mrs. Agnes Morrison, and half listed jointly in the names of Miss Moore and John H. Hewlett, Atlanta, the former actress' business manager.

The land is located about 30 miles from Atlanta. Miss Moore is reported to be planning a swimming pool, tennis courts and other conveniences for the estate. She also plans to farm a portion of the land and establish a cattle and sheep farm.

Elk's Order Builds National Home

In recognition of the growing need and response to a general demand throughout the Order of Elks the Grand Lodge in 1902 established the first Elks National Home, for aged and indigent Elks at Bedford, Virginia, having acquired a site upon which an acceptable building was already erected.

In the course of time this building became inadequate to meet the increasing demands upon it, but the geographical location had proved ideal. And the Grand Lodge, in 1911, authorized the construction upon the same site of a more spacious, a more modern and a more suitable Home, designed to admit of extension and enlargement as future needs might require.

On July 8, 1916, the new Elks National Home was formally dedicated. From time to time substantial additions have been made increasing its capacity to care for more than five hundred residents. The initial cost of the Home was provided by assessment upon every member of the Order.

The general maintenance cost is a Grand Lodge expense covered by the annual dues paid by every Elk. The subsistence expense of each resident of the Home is paid in part by the Grand Lodge and in part by his own lodge only upon whose application he may be admitted.

The Elks National Home is a beautiful structure, most effectively combining classic and mission features of architecture. In its appropriate setting the first view of it compels an admiration which grows as the details of its arrangement and its furnishings, and the completeness of its equipment to fulfill its purposes, are more carefully noted.

The Order has maintained a distinctive policy in the administration of this haven for its aged and indigent members. It has never been regarded as an ordinary charitable institution, to be peopled by inmates who might there receive merely shelter and food and whose conduct and movements would be rigidly prescribed and hampered by irksome institutional rules and regulations. On the contrary, it has been consistently conducted as a real Home, in which each resident brother has the fullest possible freedom of action, with every consideration for his right of personal privacy, and wherein every effort is made to insure his comfort, well-being and happiness, as a worthy and esteemed Brother Elk.

The Elk National Home is regarded with pride by every member of the Order who has visited it, or who knows of the splendid fraternal service which is there being performed, and in which service he shares.

Since the buildings were built several beautiful modern additions have been erected, the money for which was provided in large part from the net earnings of The Elks Magazine, a publication in which the Order of Elks takes great pride.

A EULOGY

By FRED HARPER
Past Grand Exalted Ruler

Not far from the Blue Ridge Mountains in Virginia — almost in the shadow of the mighty Peaks of Otter — there stands a magnificent structure, dedicated to a glorious service. It is the National Home provided by the Order of Elk for those of its members who may have been overtaken by adversity, and whose whitening heads have become bowed before the hostile winds of adversity.

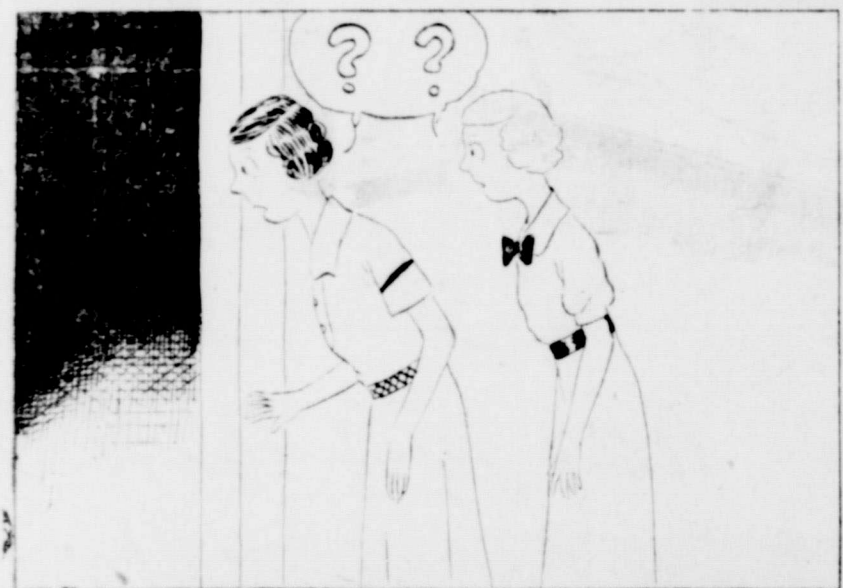

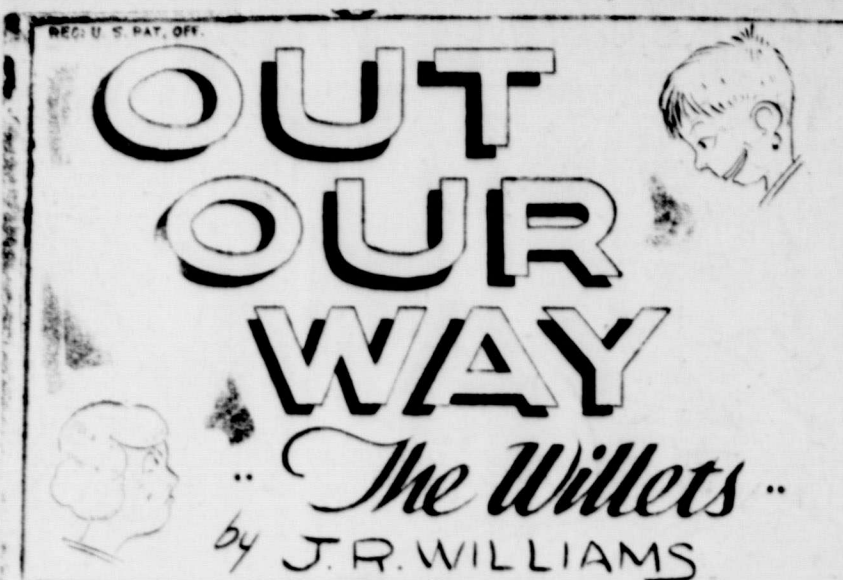

It is not an asylum to be filled with inmates as a matter of charity or of public policy. It is not an ordinary elementary institution in which those who are destitute may receive mere shelter and food, but it is a HOME; a home prepared by the vigorous and stalwart members of a great family for the occupancy of their less fortunate brothers.

How sweet it is to know that whenever and wherever a member of our Order with broken health and shattered fortune feels that he can no longer withstand the buffeting of the rough seas of life, he may know that even as in his Father's house there are many mansions, so in this brothers' Home there is a room that is all his own.

Though he may come from the rocky coast of Maine or from the blue waters of the far off Pacific, he is no stranger. But as a son is dear to his father, so he comes to claim what is his. A brother's welcome awaits him; loving hands surround him with tender care; and gentle hands lend willing service to his every comfort and his every need.

And there, seated upon the broad veranda, the green fields of Virginia stretching out before him, smiling in the sunlight; the towering mountains, whose majestic peaks pierce the clouds, standing eternal guard; beneath the blue skies across whose depths float fleecy clouds, like ships of pearl on a turquoise sea there, he may take his ease, at peace with the world and with his God. And when at nightfall, weary with the length of day, he seeks his couch for a night of rest, well may he bend his knee in reverence and ask God's richest blessing on such a Home — a Home prepared by faithful brothers for brothers who are faithful. A beautiful Temple of Fidelity.

McWhorter Award Made Permanent

We clip the following from the Edinburg Review on the honoring of the late John C. McWhorter, son of Mrs. W. E. McWhorter of Cisco.

The following resolution, creating the "John C. McWhorter Memorial — Annual Citizenship Award" was passed by members of the board of directors of the Edinburg Chamber of Commerce.

"A committee is expected to meet within a short while to complete plans for the citizenship contest and make plans for the plaque.

"1. Because we believe exemplary public service should be commemorated — that individual citizens should be acclaimed for outstandingly unselfish efforts in behalf of the public weal; and that such acclaim be of a nature which might tend to encourage and promote public-spiritedness on the part of residents of the Edinburg community — we, the board of directors of the Edinburg Chamber of Commerce do hereby institute a Perpetual Commemoration Plan.

"2. In the knowledge that meritorious service is of many sorts; and knowing too that singling out for special recognition one specific individual from among the many and acclaiming that individual may tend to develop a spirit of emulation on the part of some; it is the desire of this board that candidates for the above mentioned annual award be selected — not alone because of one or more particularly noteworthy efforts or accomplishments toward community progress, but should, rather, be deemed eligible primarily on their attributes of citizenship; in the broadest interpretation of the term.

"3. Edinburg has been blessed with many forward-looking, civic-minded citizens who have given unselfishly of their time, their money, and their thinking in efforts to make of Edinburg the outstanding community it justly should be. Men who have labored earnestly, and zealously for community welfare without thought of personal reward or public commendation; among them, Jno. C. McWhorter, whose death claimed on Jan. 20, 1937.

"It is the consensus of the board that while a resident among us, Jno. C. McWhorter exemplified to a marked degree such attributes of citizenship which, if established and nurtured in the hearts of a majority of the citizens of our community, would establish Edinburg high on the scale of progressive cities.

And so, with a desire to encourage community-consciousness; to foster within our citizenry a keen sense of public welfare to the end that many may subrogate personal gain to community advancement; Be it Resolved:

"(a) by the board of directors of the Edinburg Chamber of Commerce, Edinburg, Texas; in regular session; assembled, on this 4th day of February, 1937; that we immediately institute such steps as may be necessary to the promotion of the aforementioned Perpetual Commemoration Plan; and that said plan be designated the "John C. McWhorter Memorial — Annual Citizenship Award."

"(b) That the above mentioned award be in the form of a bronze or other durable plaque, of such proportions and type as will be suitable for hanging; and so designed and inscribed as to commemorate both the activities of the recipient—and the spirit of civic progression which fathers the award.

"(c) That a well defined program of award; giving due consideration to visible contingencies of the future) be formulated, recorded, and established as the ruling guide in all annual awards."

"Believe me"

If you have to shave in the just want to, you can get a clean shave with a Schick.

There's no messiness, for you NO LATHER. You can shave yourself, for it has NO BLADES. And it makes you look younger by doing away with old, blade-calloused skin. Beards and tender skin are one to the Schick. Come ask for a demonstration.
