About Our Friends

By STEPHEN A. LONG
Do you believe in dreams? We had a friend one time not a great while ago. "Do I?" he said. "Do I believe in bulls? Certainly I do and I've had both," he said. "My wife and I have been a consistent couple of interest to me ever since I remember. . . . When I was a child, I had some awful dreams of horrible monsters coming out of the dark after me. . . . I was awakened with no clothes on my back. . . . but as I became a man and more tranquil in mind, I was more careful of diet my dreams were less strenuous. What one does in the daytime and what one does around nighttime, play a part in the character of one's dreams. . . .

One is apt to be depressed by a recurring dream unless one considers the source. . . . A dear acquaintance of mine whose children are far and apart from her is constantly thrown into deep melancholy because of dreams that picture children in disaster. . . . she helps feeling that those who mean something, and when anything like bad news comes to her children after dreaming these dreams she says, "Didn't you?" How can she help having a dream come true once in a while when she dreams so much? It is like betting the odds will elect a president, if I just keep betting long enough I will finally win. . . . The mother of the children's welfare at heart thinks about them often and anxiously. . . . When she is asleep her dream comes true. . . . about the guidance of reason. . . . the painful mental pictures paint themselves. . . .

Dreams are usually fantastical, unreal things, but not always. . . . sometime ago I was thinking of a young woman and an old man who had married and gone west. . . . That

PRETTY GIRLS MUST HAVE ONE SATURDAY OFF

AUSTIN, March 8 (U.P.)—Pretty girls of four theatres called a brief sit-down strike today, heard joking pleas of an owner not to "wreck or blow up" a show business, and then returned to work under a truce. . . . The girls demanded Saturdays off, although Saturday would do, although the busiest day. . . .

WILL HORWITZ, owner of the theatres and his general manager, Jack Smith, admitted they were taken by surprise and immediately began conferences which ended in the truce. . . .

Miss Jane Sleight, pretty headliner, spoke for the sit-downers, while patrons crowded at the ticket booths. . . .

"Give us Saturday, or nothing," said Miss Grant. "We've got coats, extra clothing and everything to 'sit'." . . .

She promised to give them one day, but would not specify Saturday. . . .

Improvement was reached they agreed again at four theatres to

Would Remit Five-Year Taxes to Counties

HOUSE VOTES FAVORABLE IN COUNT TODAY

AUSTIN, March 8 (U.P.)—Five year remission of ad valorem taxes to all counties again received a favorable vote in the Texas house of representatives today, but its supporters failed to muster enough strength for immediate final passage. . . .

KIDNAP THREAT DOESN'T BOTHER MRS. ROOSEVELT

FORT WORTH, March 8 (U.P.)—Unperturbed by an attempt to kidnap a Fort Worth oil man who lives near her son's country home, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt proceeded with plans for a lecture series to-day without further reference to the "pistol toting" she described Saturday in New Orleans. . . .

It's Beastly, This Sit-Down Strike

When bustling activity around winter quarters of the Al G. Barnes-Sells Floto circus near Los Angeles indicated the road season was about to begin with its resultant labor of pushing wagons, the circus pachyderms demurred. How did they demur? They sat down. . . .

ANDERSON-DREWERY TO DRILL DEEP TEST SOUTHEAST OF CISCO

Two applications to drill in Eastland county were among records filed in the Railroad commission office at Eastland for the week-end Saturday. . . .

Location is 700 feet from the east line and 1,400 feet from the south line of the Grist boundaries. The operation will mark the sixth for the firm in that sector. . . .

Drilling is slated to start before Sunday, March 15, on J. A. Bearman at No. 1 Mrs. R. L. Poe, section 79 H & T. C. R. R. survey at Cisco. . . .

Other applications filed in the commission office were in Palo Pinto county. . . .

W. K. Gordon was to start immediately on No. 2 S. B. Canty estate, section 42, block 2, 12 miles north of Strawn, in a 4,200-foot operation. . . .

YOUTH TAKES MONEY UNDER QUIET THREAT

LAST RITES FOR GARLAND NANCE SUNDAY

A funeral service that perhaps drew the largest number of people and saw the most abundant floral offering that has been in Cisco in a long time was that of little Garland Nance Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist church, when sorrowing relatives and sympathetic friends saw all that was mortal of the plucky little lad, laid away in a casket his soul gone to the Father who gave it. . . .

The brave fight and the practical mental reactions to the religion he had been taught by his parents, were the subjects of the pastor, Rev. Joe Fatters, as he pronounced an eulogy upon the character of the little lad who bore excruciating pain attendant to his operations and treatment as he fought for life to continue his sojourn on this earth. . . .

Miss Hull Charged With Shooting Man

EASTLAND, March 8 (U.P.)—Miss Wanda Hull, was charged with assault to murder today in connection with the shooting of Lawrence Gaugler, Brownwood O.C.C. enrollee. . . .

What's News Today

Germany's desperate struggle for colonies to provide her with food and raw materials might attract her to the Americas, Rear Admiral Yates Stirling, Jr., (USN, ret.) declared today.

"There is no secret in regard to Germany's urgent needs of both food supplies and raw materials," he writes in the current Liberty magazine as it adds: "The fulfillment of the current desire for expansion must be contingent upon British sanction, otherwise the formidable British navy will stand in the way."

The world's first line of defense against the empire-hungry Nazis, he points out, is the British navy and if it suffers defeat the United States would be America's sole protector.

"The United States and its sister republics and Canada are 'sitting on' the most valuable sources of raw materials in the world," he says. "With Great Britain's sea power destroyed, the integrity and security of the Americas would depend on the sea power of the United States."

Germany's potential navy should not be underestimated, Rear Admiral Stirling warns: "Already she has a formidable nucleus of a fleet, and all the ships have advantage of being the most modern. The 10,000-ton pocket battleships armed with 11-inch guns may be found to be a match for Great Britain's pre-Jutland dreadnaughts. Now Germany is laying down 30,000-ton ships, and, having started at scratch with all her obsolete tonnage destroyed at Scapa, it seems evident that her new fleet when ready for its mission will be more homogeneous and modern than that of Great Britain."

But this is more propoganda to spur us to a bigger naval program. And, as he has said before, a well armed nation stands in a good position for continued peace.

The big battle begins on court reforms. The enemies of these measures have accepted the president's challenge to take it to the people and they, too, are using the air and the press of the nation to combat any change in the Supreme Court at this time. The cry of "dictator" will be shouted loudly and long.

Radio waves will be kept hot on pros and cons in the matter this week.

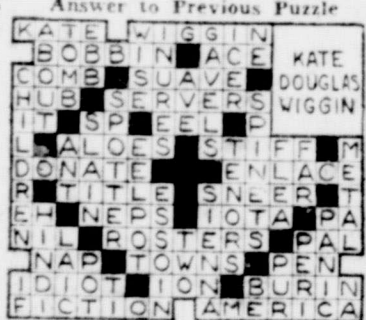

Meanwhile, the war continues between labor organizations. The AFL led by William Green has declared war on the CIO, headed by John L. Lewis, and they are at it hard and strong. The CIO draws first blood as 6,000 aluminum workers quit the craft union and join the rebels. Move is being made to textile employes where more than a million recruits may be obtained. While the war goes on, we in

OUT OUR WAY

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, March 8. (UP)—Local bills which affect only particular communities are making faster progress than usual at this session of the Texas legislature.

The speed is being accomplished by smoothly working agreement. About once a week, a night session of the House is held at which the agreement is in force. The agreement permits members not interested in any of the bills to be absent without danger of missing something of importance to them. The agreement is that at the night session no bill that is not a local bill nor an uncontested bill will be voted upon.

The objectors can sidetrack any bill that is called before such a night session. There is also a committee on uncontested bills. Any objector can call the bill out of that class by giving notice to the committee.

Legislators who argue that natural resources belong to the state had something to think about this week when it was announced that oil is being brought to the surface from nearly two miles under the earth's surface through the enterprise of oil operators. How long it would have been before the state discovered such a deep seated resource is a guess.

A well at the Old Ocean, Brazoria county, has been drilled to a depth of 10,420 feet. Production is from a higher level but the drillers went to the greater depth as an exploration matter. Even this record drilling falls short of a well in the California, producing from 10,560 feet.

For a former chairman and present member of the Committee on Taxation of the Texas House of Representatives, Rep. Walter E. Jones, Jourdanton, has a paradoxical philosophy—he does not believe in mere taxes.

"Jones of Atascosa," he is addressed in the House to distinguish him by his county from other Representatives. He has a fatherly attitude toward a committee largely made up of young members.

"Boys," he told his fellow committee men. "I do not believe more taxes are needed. What we do need is a spirit of re-orientation to live within the budget. When the tax burden has been increased 420 per cent within the space of a few years, it's time to call a halt."

Both House and Senate patriotically celebrated Texas Independence Day with the rest of Texas on March 2 although by legislative reckoning it was only Feb. 8. What's more, the day was officially "Feb. 8 continued," in the House of Representatives, which had recessed instead of adjourned from the preceding day. A recess, indicating the same legislative day is continued, is important in calendar maneuvering for it holds the same bills before the house as were under consideration the preceding day.

City Announcements

the south who are no part of the industries or workers will suffer from price rises, either with the excuse of scarcity of production or costs owing to raise in wages. Jones pays the freight and non-manufacturing interests are the goats. But Cisco wants to become industrial minded and may do so. These strikes are going to make capitalists think of the south and its abundant cheap labor.

Duke Edward will give the king precedence and will withhold his wedding until after the coronation ceremonies, but serves notice he will not attend, neither does he expect any of the royal family to attend his wedding. There has been a lot of conferences with the duke lately in an effort to save the family breach. But Edward displays the English stubborn spirit and stands his ground.

Down here in Texas the week's interest will be watching the progress in the Texas senate of the oil tax measure and the race betting bill. These fights are supposed to stir the state as both sides are determined in their convictions. Oil thinks it is being made the goat for excessive fund-raising. A religious fervor has been aroused against race betting. Much heat of action will result. Much oratory expended in the senate and lots of newspaper space used in the telling.

The navy is a grim proposition. If it keeps in condition, it is bound to have occasional accidents. Tragic as they are, such accidents simply prove that the navy is doing its job.

School Superintendent Works Out Plan to Aid Students in Studies

Supt. R. N. Chuck has worked out a leaflet to be used in all schools of the city system. The title is "How to Learn the Most From Studying" and it is so clear and specific that parents will do well to study it carefully to the end that they may cooperate intelligently and helpfully with teachers and pupils in their efforts to follow its guidance. We publish in full.

How to Learn the Most From Studying

I. General Conditions

1. See that the light, temperature, chair, and desks are favorable to study.
2. Provide yourself with all the necessary tools for studying.

II. When, Where, and How Long to Study.

1. Form a place-time-study habit.
2. When possible, prepare the next assignment directly after the recitation.
3. Don't stop when you have just barely learned the material; continue.

III. How to Concentrate

1. Take the physical and mental attitude of attention.
2. When you sit down to work, begin promptly.

IV. General Rules of Procedure in Studying

1. Get a clear notion of the aim.
2. Before beginning any advance work, review rapidly the previous lesson.
3. Next, make a rapid preliminary survey of the assigned material before using them.
4. Do your studying alone.
5. Attempt to judge the importance of items in the lesson.
6. Adjust the manner of your reading to the task in hand.
7. Seek daily to enlarge your reading, writing, and speaking vocabulary.
8. Learn to use tables of contents, indexes, the dictionary, and references.
9. Do not ask for help until you have to do so.
10. If the material requires sev-

PHILADELPHIA TO BOOM PORT

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — The city has been asked to contribute $2,000 toward expenses of a promotion trip through Pennsylvania designed to "sell" the Port of Philadelphia.

WOMAN GETS QUIET JOB

MANCHESTER-BY-THE-SEA, Mass. — Mrs. Vera Tenney, 43-year-old mother of three children, has been elected field driver of this town. Her duties, according to laws written in colonial days, will be to round up all stray cattle.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DAPHNE BRETT, charming young New York advertising executive, rents her deceased father's Connecticut estate to LARRY SMITH, attorney, social architect, and promptly likes him tremendously. Daphne has one sister six years younger, JENNIFER, who is just home from college and at her first job. Jennifer resents Daphne's guidance and proceeds to date whom she pleases, including TICKET ALICE, a playboy and one-time Daphne's beau. Next she learns that Larry is not married and makes a play for his attention. This develops a struggle between the two sisters for the same man. One night Larry arranges to date Daphne. Jennifer, meanwhile, announces she is going to see Tuck again. Daphne refuses her permission, protesting against Tuck's sophisticated crowd. Then Daphne leaves for the evening with Larry. Soon after, Jennifer, desiring her sister's wishes, accepts a date with Tuck's young son. It is a crisis in the permanent relationship of the Brett sisters.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER X

LARRY SMITH slipped his hand under the great collar of Daphne's coat and pushed it up around her ears. Then he whistled for a taxi. It was the tenth taxi he had tried to get. An icy wind tore through 53rd street but Daphne didn't feel it.

"Let's walk," she said, "we'll never go" one with this theater crowd. My place is only a few blocks."

"You don't think I'm going to let you go home, do you? We're seeing the town, young lady. TAXI!"

Then, laughing because they had darted across the slippery pavement to triumphantly capture the prize, they continued to laugh. They'd been laughing all evening, Daphne remembered, laughing over nothing.

They'd talked so long over their pigs' knuckles and sauerkraut they'd been late for the theater and the next day neither of them could have told you what happened at the theater because, with their eyes on the stage, they'd been aware of nothing but each other.

Larry found her hand and swallowed it in his own.

"Having fun?" he asked.

"She murmured something that sounded like "Umm." But he knew. They both knew something that needed no words. They needed nothing but to be together.

THEY went to the most expensive night club in town and sat looking into each other's eyes. She hadn't heard from him, he said, as though it was important to explain everything to her from now on, because he'd been off on a business trip. His uncle, in whose firm and whose footsteps he was one day to follow, was bidding for construction jobs in a midwest exposition.

"Do you often go far away for such a long time?" she asked and felt suddenly bereft, as though loneliness in the future was already weighing her down.

"Perhaps you'll be glad to have me away when you realize how much of you I want to see."

Her eyes denied it.

He said: "Look, we've got to arrange our program."

"Are we going to have a program?" If anyone other than Larry had said that, she'd have dismissed the idea immediately.

But Larry wasn't any one person.

"We'll have to discover what plays you want to see. And how you feel about winter sports—"

What she wanted!

Later Daphne would wrap herself in the warm comfort of what that meant, his complete regard for the things that would make her happy. Now she was content to listen.

"And what about hockey? And the six-day bicycle races?"

"Love them both," she responded promptly. But if he had said, "Do you like to stand for hours watching men excavating?" she'd have said it was her favorite pastime.

"We'll do them all. Let's begin with a new show on Saturday. Sunday, if it's clear, we might try skating and later we'll go—"

"Wait a minute," Daphne implored, laughing. "It's Thursday now and Saturday and Sunday are so nearby here. Aren't you rushing me?"

"Certainly," he said, "but I'm twenty-eight years old and up to now my life has been müsspent. I've got to make up for those years."

There was wonder in Daphne's eyes that looked back into his—and into the years ahead.

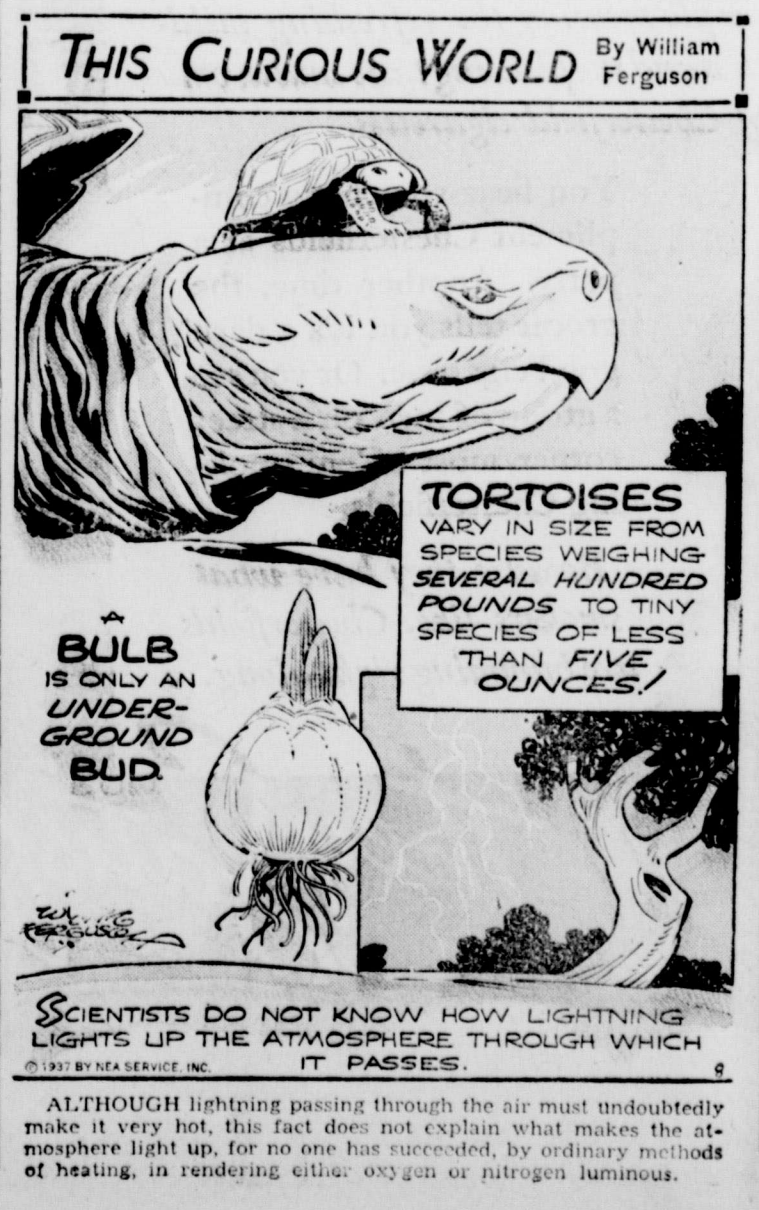

THIS has never happened to me before, Daphne thought. I must be careful because anything that can open such doors to my heart—this new feeling of coming home—can hurt me.

Later she would straighten it out with herself. Now, she could sip her drink and give herself to the moment.

"Saturday, it is," she said. She thought of Jennifer's method of "keeping 'em dangling."

Jennifer!

Fort Worth Stock Show Now Ready

FORT WORTH, March 8.—Cowboys and cowgirls from many states are drifting into Fort Worth. There are about 500 head of rodeo livestock in the corrals. The new $200,000 livestock building will be filled to the stall with purebreds in just a few days.

It's stock show time in Fort Worth. Stock show time means that Friday night at 7 o'clock the gates of the Southwestern Exposition and Fair Stock Show will swing wide open for ten nights and nine days of fun and pleasure.

Before the start it looks like several records may be broken by the approaching show. Livestock entries already have set new high figures in a dozen divisions.

Never before there has been such an array of livestock assembled for the world championship rodeo. More than 135 "outlaw" horses have been brought here by Verne Elliott of Johnston, Colo., and Eddie McCarty of Chugwater, Wyo. for the saddle bronc and bareback bronc riding contests.

The horse string includes 65 critters that were found on ranches of Montana and Wyoming and have never been bucked in the south. Out from the rodeo chutes will come some of the most vicious Brahmas steers that have ever been taken to any rodeo "rasslin'".

Probably the most spectacular downtown parade the exposition has ever held will be Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. There will be a section for old time buggies and carriages, another for latest models of automobiles and another in which more than 150 rodeo contestants and officials will ride horseback.

Several bands will take part in the parade. Among them will be the famous Texas Christian University horned frog group with its "swing" music, the North Agricultural College band of Arlington, the Glade-water high school band, the Fort Worth high school cadet band which will lead 1,200 mammoth cadets the 100-piece Future Farmers band and official Southwestern Exposition band.

All departments including the mammoth building with many new merchants and manufacturers exhibits, the enlarged Midway with new fun rides and shows, the poultry, rabbit and pigeon exhibits, will be ready for the opening Friday night.

At 7 o'clock the T. C. U. band will begin a free concert in front of the Coliseum and the show will be on. An hour later the rodeo and horse show will begin and at 10:30 Rainbeau Garden will open for the first time with dance music by Wally Stoefler's famous musicians.

Entertainment will be by the Kathryn Duffy adorables. Horses that have been the sensation of other large horse shows within the last year will prance in the Coliseum arena. The horse show barns will be filled with the purebreds.

About 12,000 Future Farmers are expected to attend the show on Saturday, their day. Attendance of 4-H club members from all over the state is expected to reach 15,000 on "4-H Day" Monday, March 15.

Waco is planning to send a motor caravan of 1,000 headed by a church band and a drum and bugle corps to the show "Waco Day," Wednesday, March 17.

Buyers from many states are expected to attend the auction sales in the new auction arena.

Churches Report Sunday Attendance

Some churches of Cisco are still reporting their Sunday school attendance and comparing it to that of the preceding Sunday in the hope that it will stimulate increased efforts on the part of workers to augment Sunday school and church going throughout the spring months.

Those reporting today are: First Presbyterian church, Rev. M. H. Applewhite pastor—Last Sunday 94 this Sunday 110, new members 2, visitors 9.

Humming right along

All over the country, you hear more people mention the refreshing mildness and the pleasing taste and aroma of Chesterfield cigarettes.

You hear somebody compliment Chesterfields at a party. Another time, the grocer tells you it's a darn good cigarette. Or you see a group of men on a street corner, most of 'em smoking Chesterfields.

Because they have what smokers like, Chesterfields are humming right along...
