FREIGHTER REPORTED SINKING FAST

SHIPS ON WAY TO AID CREW TO SAFETY

SEATTLE, Wash., March 27 (U.P.)—The Lykes Brothers freighter Volunteer sent out repeated calls for help today reporting that it was taking water rapidly through a hole in its number 1 hold.

The position was given as 550 miles southeast of Yokohama. The British freighter Yako City was 240 miles away and was speeding to the rescue.

The volunteer pump had clogged and was useless. The SOS messages were intercepted by the Globe wireless and Mackay Radio in San Francisco and in Honolulu and Seattle by the United States coast guard service.

The volunteer carried a crew of 36 under command of Captain M. W. Geldert of New Orleans, from where the ship operates. The liner Empress of Canada was standing by to make its powerful further from the scene, but was radio available for relaying messages.

Latest messages indicated the volunteer had hove to and was awaiting aid, but was out of control.

HOUSTON, March 27 (U.P.)—The Lykes Brothers freighter Volunteer reported sinking today in the Pacific off Galveston and left there on February 16th for the far east.

The freighter was on its first voyage under the Lykes flag, although it had made several charter trips previously for the Lines.

MISS PERKINS THINKS STRIKE TO BE SETTLED

WASHINGTON, March 27 (U.P.)—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins today expressed confidence after a white house conference that the dispute between Chrysler Motor Corporation and its employees would be settled over the week-end "possibly within a few hours."

Miss Perkins expressed her gratitude for the work Governor Frank Murphy has done in the Chrysler strike and added:

"It is quite clear that the crisis is over in that area. We are all thankful that the community has gone through this without anything happening, such as people being killed."

"Now we can begin anew—fresh—without anything behind to mar the picture."

Children will be grouped in three divisions according to age: group one, up to 5; group two, 5 to 9; group three, 9 to 12. Boy Scouts will assist Lion members in hiding the eggs and conducting the hunt in an orderly manner.

Those in charge of the Easter event are Charles Sander, A. G. Tuttle, Neil Lane and A. W. Hubbard.

Those donating prize eggs redeemable at their places of business Monday morning are: Cisco Lumber & Supply, Cisco Gas Corporation, Dr. Charles Hale, The Leach Store, Nance Motor Co., A-G Motor Co., and Community Natural Gas Co.

The club will have gold and silver prize eggs for each child group.

MAN STRIPPED OF CLOTHING IN EXPLOSION

Bearman Townsite Setting Casing

The Bearman townsite test in the southern part of the city is drilling just short of the 600-foot mark, at which depth the 15 1/2-inch casing is to be set. The walking beam has been hitched on and everything is working smoothly, making about 100 feet each 24-hour day, according to information furnished by Tool Dresser Sam Kimmel.

REBELS DRIVEN BACK IN SOUTH CENTRAL SPAIN

ITALIAN EMBASSY DENIES PACT WITH GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON, March 27 (U.P.)—The Italian embassy today denied it had given any fresh assurance to Great Britain that Italy would refrain from sending more soldiers to Spain for the rebels there.

The United Press simultaneously learned authoritatively that Premier Benito Mussolini's instructions to the Italian ambassador here, Dino Grandi, to refuse to discuss any proposal to recall foreign volunteers from Spain would stand intact.

A spokesman at the embassy emphasized that Italy already was bound to prohibit departure of fresh troops to Spain.

ITALY PLANNING TO AID REBELS

VALENCIA, Spain, March 27 (U.P.)—Morning papers said today that they had learned from an "absolutely reliable source" that Italy is planning to send 100,000 men to Spain to fight with the rebels.

The press in the loyalist war-torn capital here, said Italy was assembling arms at Turin, Milan and Genoa for shipment to Spanish rebel territory.

It was also charged that Germany was using the port of Pillau in East Prussia for shipments to rebel-controlled Spain in the civil war against the leftist government.

Earlier loyalist estimates said that there already were 80,000 Italians and 40,000 Germans fighting with the rebels.

He Is Risen

Easter, Symbolic of Life

By W. H. LaROQUE

Nearly 2,000 years ago an angel stood at the tomb of Joseph where they had laid the crucified Jesus and said to Mary Magdalene and the other Mary who came to pay homage to, and weep over, the grave of their Savior, "HE IS RISEN!"

How fitting it was that the Savior should have taugh the resurrection into new life by example at this time when all nature was putting on new clothing, and the saps of plants were arousing them from their winter slumber—when animal life was putting on new skin, vegetation dressing itself in verdant beauty—man rising to new ambitions and clothing himself and his, in new raiment, symbolic of the resurrection belief given him by his Master.

The word "Easter" is derived from the east wind, which, just after the vernal equinox, came sweeping across the land bringing moisture-laden clouds that contained rain, freshness, warmth and Spring.

Man was said to have been made in the image of God. That means that a divine spark is planted in the breast of man, which makes him instinctively recognize the need for his Father and give him the desire to worship a creator. It also gives him the instinctive belief in a God and a life after death, whether it be the "happy hunting ground" of the savage, or the life of "voluptuous ease and contentment" of the Orient.

Wherever man has been found, whether in the jungles of Africa or the far islands of the tropics, he has made himself some kind of a god and established what is to him a religious practice. And this because of that divine spark given him by his Maker.

When the warm season of Spring follows the cold of winter, these same savages have been filled with exuberance of new life blood, which is the same blood-sap that brings the vegetable creation from its dormant stage to the flowery beauty and cool, green foliage, shading the earth with delightful loveliness—a glimpse of Heaven.

And so man takes hope, celebrates by clothing himself in bright, new colors; women changing the fig leaves to new frocks and hats, the creation of artists in their line—celebrating in blind obedience to the spark of divinity placed there, so that we can never get away from a worship of God and a belief in the resurrection.

FORMER TEXAS NEWS EDITOR BUYS DAILY

Announcement is made of the purchase of interest in the Nashville Tennessee newspaper by Silvanus Evans, former Fourth assistant postmaster general and now president and chairman of the board of the Maryland Casualty company.

He is associated with Paul M. Davis, brother of Norman H. Davis, ambassador at large, in the purchase, and his present work with the Baltimore firm will not be affected, it is announced.

Mr. Evans formerly lived in Fort Worth and is well known in Cisco being the son-in-law of Mrs. L. H. McCrea and brother-in-law of Luther and Nancy McCrea of Cisco. Mr. Evans was a breakfast guest of Postmaster General James A. Farley in Dallas during the Farley visit to Texas recently.

Evans was a former newspaperman, having served with the Fort Worth Record, Dallas News, Star Telegram and as Austin and Washington correspondent with the United Press service. He was connected with the consular service in Denmark.

From newspaper work Evans went into aviation, serving first as vice president of the Texas Air Transport. In 1929 he went with American Airways as vice president, where he remained until 1933 when he was appointed Fourth Assistant Postmaster General by Farley. He succeeded John W. Philip of Dallas.

Evans resigned his "little cabinet" post in 1934 to go with the Maryland Casualty Company as vice president and a few months later, upon the death of F. Highland Burns, the president, he became head of the company. Last year he was named board chairman.

Evans attended the Polytechnic High School in Fort Worth, between 1911 and 1913 and in 1924 married Miss Lucille McCrea of Cisco, Texas. They have two children.

FDR HURRIES HOME TO AIR MAJOR ISSUES

WASHINGTON, March 27 (U.P.)—Three problems of state-labor relations, judicial reorganization and the cost of relief—occupied President Roosevelt's attention today as he hurried back to Washington from a spring vacation in Georgia.

In robust health and cheery spirits, Mr. Roosevelt planned to start work on the first question this afternoon when congressional leaders call at the White House to discuss the sit-down strike situation.

The President also will devote time to his judiciary program over Easter week-end, canvassing the strategic position of his drive to enlarge the Supreme Court.

Mr. Roosevelt's special message outlining the 1937-38 relief plans and costs will go to congress within the next week or 10 days. He tentatively allotted $1,500,000,000 for job making in the budget for fiscal 1938.

Dr. Ross T. McIntire, his personal physician, said the President is "in the best possible shape" for the arduous month ahead after two weeks of swimming and basking in the sun at Georgia's Warm Springs Foundation.

POPE PIUS XI MAKES SECOND PLEA FOR CHARITABLE GIVING

VATICAN CITY, Italy, March 27 (U.P.)—Pope Pius made his second appeal within 10 days to those well-to-do with worldly goods to help their less fortunate fellows.

In his encyclical addressed to the Roman Catholic Hierarchy of Mexico, the Pope recommended religious and economic assistance to industrial and land workers, comprising the lowlier and needier of the Mexican people, "in order that we may reach their souls."

He advised application of the principle of justice and charity "in order to assure to all at least that minimum of this world's goods which

Highway 36 Being Routed to Abilene

A local bill authorizing the creation of a special road district along the proposed route of highway 36 in Callahan and Taylor counties was created by the state legislator in session last week.

The special district—known as a sheering district—is created in order that a special tax may be levied to finance the purchasing of right-of-way, fencing and other expenses incidental to placing the road in condition to receive designation by the state highway department.

Civic groups of cities along the route of highway 36 are pushing efforts for its re-designation and improvement to afford this section a direct inlet to the coast and South Texas. The road is routed through Cross Plains, Comanche, Hamilton, Gatesville, Temple, Cameron and thence to Freepport on the coast. The southern end of the road is paved.

It connects with Abilene to the northwest, and will give this territory an outlet to Abilene as a shopping district.

No Development on Football Stadium

Still no definite hearing on the PWA football stadium project for Cisco since an important official at Abilene is sick, but intimation is given that the project will be accepted as planned by Cisco school officials and Engineer Wesley Harrell, and work probably begin around April 1 or on the following Monday.

Our Easter Prayer

Holy Father, we have heard Thy call to come to Thine house this glorious Easter morning, and behold we are here present to know what Thou wilt speak to us. We know, our Father, that it is indeed the resurrection day—that day that completes the world's hope of immortality—day that gives promise of our own resurrection.

We thank Thee that our eyes again behold the Easter morning. May we worship Thee today in spirit and in truth, in the very beauty of holiness.

Christ is triumphant; let us triumph because we abide in Him. Christ is victor; let us be victors also, abiding in Him our hearts rejoice; but let us not in our gladness forget that we must live the resurrection life from day to day.

O God, make us earnest, faithful and courageous, and fill us with divine blessings. Let praise be manifest in our strong and faithful lives. Let us fix our eyes on the eternal gate of day. Hear us, our Father, and forgive us all our sins, as we realize afresh, the Lord is risen indeed and becomes our hope and our salvation.

In Jesus' name Amen.—Selected.

What's News Today!

As nations celebrate the resurrection of Jesus and the dawning of spring, with all its peace and gladness, Mussolini holds his soldiers in readiness to send them to aid the insurgents in Spain, an act that may plunge the whole of Europe, if not the world, into carnage and bloodshed.

England holds the balance of power in her hand. If she stands firmly against such an act and displays the old-time British doggedness, her "No" may deter this ambitious Italian from his move. If, on the other hand, she follows the council of Eden and others who are halting, the Italian despot will hurl his soldiers into the southern peninsula of Europe and another Ethiopia epoch will have been repeated.

England fears to act lest she plunge Europe into a bloody war but Mussolini would not fly in the face of a stern act by England. Will England have the nerve? The world is asking that question now.

A. L. Lowell, president emeritus of Harvard University at Boston, issues a letter pleading with Vice President John N. Garner and the senate to stop the sit-down strikes which are becoming a menace to law and order in the United States.

Mrs. Wallis Simpson gets into the limelight with nothing but "old clothes" to wear for Easter. As her approaching divorce and marriage the latter part of April nears, she will become increasingly in the forefront because writers know that the feminine world will hang eagerly on her every act. The world is given the news it likes.

Attend some church today. There are many good Easter programs and sermons to be in progress. Delightful musical programs, eloquent sermons—any of which would be well worth your while.

DAILY NEWS—AMERICAN AND ROUNDUP

Trailer Adventure

BY NARD JONES

©1937, NEA Service, Inc.

Apparently, he had won Betty, for now she appeared, too, quite as if she'd known Gerry Neal all of her life.

BEGIN HERE TODAY MARTHA BRIFFAIN and BETTY HAYNES overheard on their California vacation trip and had themselves stranded in San Diego. They answer an ad of the Airspeed Trailer Company and obtain an assignment to travel up the west coast demonstrating the new de luxe trailer. Their suspicions are aroused somewhat when ARNOLD SLOSS of the Airspeed company fails to ask for either bond or references.

Elated at the prospect of the trip and money, nevertheless, the two purchase travel outfits and return to their apartment to pack. At their door they surprise a handsome young man trying to enter. Apologetically, he tells them he stepped off at the wrong floor and that his name is GERRY NEAL. At first alarmed, the girls soon incline to dismiss the incident. But Martha doesn't forget Neal. They start northward. And on the outskirts of a little town they are halted by an unshaven young man seeking a ride. He is Neal.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER III

If Neal recognized them he gave no sign of it. "I hope you'll pardon me," he said. "But it's really tough getting a lift these days. Would you object very much to my riding along with you?"

The question was put so frankly and in such a friendly tone, that Martha—despite Betty's frantic nudging—heard herself saying, "I—I guess not, but it's only a coupe."

The young man looked contrite. "I wouldn't want to crowd you," Martha looked at him. He did appear tired and down on his luck, and there was something about his eyes which made her, instinctively trust him and want to help him. She smiled. "Are you sure you don't remember seeing us before?"

"Why . . ." He searched her face hesitantly. "Say! You're the girls who lived in the apartment below me in San Diego!" "Yes," said Betty a trifle belligerently. "You were trying to get into our apartment."

Neal laughed. "I assure you it was a mistake. You see, I was a little excited. My intention was to get into my own apartment and quietly retrieve this suitcase—without paying the rent. I suppose I was so afraid of meeting the landlady that I forgot to watch my floor!"

His predicament was so parallel to the one they had faced that Martha and Betty found themselves joining in his laughter. "This is really mighty kind of you," Neal said as they climbed into the little coupe. "Especially in view of the fact that I haven't had a shave since yesterday morning and my clothes are a little road-weary."

He was openly curious about their trip, and as they drove along Martha told him the story of Car-ington and Arnold Sloss and the Airspeed Trailer. "I was suspicious at first," she finished. "But here we are, and at least we've our first week's salary and expenses."

NEAL was silent a moment. Then he said, "It does seem a little curious that those fellows didn't want some references. Have you girls had experience at this sort of thing before?"

"No . . ." said Betty dubiously. "And they never even asked if we had. Martha thought it was funny from the very first, but I didn't pay any attention to her. Now you've got me wondering."

Gerry Neal laughed. "Forget it! I didn't mean to put a damper on your good luck." He turned to Martha at the wheel. "Are you going into Los Angeles tonight?"

"Just as far as Long Beach. We're staying at the Golden State Auto Park."

"Mind if I stop at the next town and put in a long distance to a friend of mine to drive down from Los Angeles and meet me there?"

"Not at all." "His name's Jack Speddon." He paused a moment, looking at the two girls as if he believed they that she was going to get married. "But," remonstrated the mistress, "I do wish you would wait until I can find someone to take your place. . . . But mum, I hardly think I know him well enough to ask him to put it off."

Going the ten-word limit one better, the couple to whom a baby was born wired the grandparents. "Isiah, 9.6," thinking, of course, they would refer to the scripture passage which reads: "For unto us a child is born. Imagine their surprise when they received the reply. 'That's a fine healthy weight for a child but why name the poor thing Isiah?'"

The slow Scotch laborer responded to the call for help one dark night and found the minister had fallen into a pit and was unable to climb out. Before the deliberate fellow could even begin to help the minister, he was belabored and exhorted to hurry. "Well, well, no use to kick up such a noise, you will not be needed until the Sabbath and this is only Wednesday," the slow Scot said.

Jim had only been in town a few weeks and on his first party relaxed a little more than usual nipping every time he was invited, but he didn't want anyone to realize his condition. . . . The hostess was asked to show off the recent additions to the family and going to the nursery, she brought out the twins. Jim took a quick look, recalled his deficiency and stated with determinaation: "Handsomest baby I ever saw." "Indulge in no flights of imagination in this theme you are to write," admonished the teacher who admired veraciously. "Just write what is within you." . . . and she was astonished when one little embryo Shakespeare turned in the following: "In me is my stummock, hart, two apples, one piece of pie one stick of lemon candy and my dinner."

"Your honor, I noticed that this man wobbled about as he walked, but I wasn't sure he was intoxicated until I saw him put a penny in the patrol box at Fourth street, look at the clock on the Presbyterian church and say, 'Gawd, I've lost 14 pounds.'"

Ice Fights Ice To Aid Science

WASHINGTON, March 27 (UP)—New York women may now wear corsages plucked a few hours earlier from a California garden and rushed across the continent, packed in ice to keep them from freezing. Refrigeration specialists of the Department of Agriculture have developed a process for heating flowers with a coating of ice. Paradoxical though it may seem, this keeps the blooms from freezing. Heretofore it has been virtually impossible to ship flowers via air express across the continent in cold weather because flowers travel at altitudes where zero temperatures frequently are encountered. Ordinarily wrapping in insulation failed to protect the flowers. Durward F. Fisher of the bureau of plant industry developed the process whereby the flowers could be kept at a point just above freezing and held at this ideal temperature for several hours by taking advantage of the heat liberated when water freezes. Wrappings Watersoaked. First the flowers are packed in an ordinary shipping box, which is then wrapped tightly with wax paper, then in 30 thicknesses of ordinary newspaper that has soaked up about 10 pounds of water. This is again wrapped in wax paper to keep in the moisture, and then shipped into a corrugated paperboard shipping box which is bundled with 15 thicknesses of ordinary newspaper and one thickness of heavy wrapping paper. In a recent experiment, thermometers were placed inside and outside the package. The first leg of the air journey was over a wide mountainous region in which the plants fly at a high altitude where the cold is intense. Conclusive Proof Obtained. The outside thermometer showed the temperature soon sank to 4 degrees above zero and held at a dangerously low temperature from four to six hours. The inside thermometer held at just above 32 degrees the freezing point. NATURE MATCHES BURBANK. FORT ARTHUR, Tex. Homemakers Group

This cast of six pictured above who broadcast each Tuesday morning at 10:45 over WFAA. Dallas, will present a special program for the Lions Club Wednesday noon and for school students in the Cisco high school auditorium at 11:15 Wednesday morning. From left, right, are Margaret Marable, script writer who assists in dialogue; Hal Thompson, announcer; Albertine Berry, home economics director of the Lone Star Gas System; Sue Curd and Jack Primmore, singing stars, and Craig Barton, accompanist and pianist.

Homemakers Group To Broadcast Here

A special program showing "behind the scenes" activities of the "Modern Homemakers," a regular radio feature sponsored by the Community Natural Gas Company over WFAA, will be presented next Wednesday by members of the cast before the Cisco Lions Club and Cisco school students. The program for school students will be presented at 11:15 Wednesday morning in the auditorium of the high school and will be attended by grammar school students and high school students. The radio feature will be staged at the Lions club meeting at noon when the Lions group will observe its fifteenth anniversary. For both performances, the cast of three men and three women will present the radio program exactly as it is given in the studio at WFAA Dallas. Miss Albertine Berry, home economics director of the Lone Star Gas system, who heads the cast is well known in Cisco, having conducted several cooking schools and given demonstrations here during the past few years for the Community Natural Gas Company. She has been featured in a regular radio program for the gas company for the past three years on Tuesday mornings at 10:45 over WFAA. Miss Margaret Marable, author of the script, is employed in the advertising department of the company, and takes part in the program as an inquiring housewife, known as "Mrs. Williams." Hal Thompson, announcer for the program, has built a wide following as a sports announcer by his broadcasts of special sports events, and is heard regularly over WFAA in a special program "On Southwestern Campuses" Monday nights at 6:45. The voice of Jack Primmore, tenor, is familiar to Southwestern radio audiences, since he has been a featured vocalist over WFAA for the past five years. He won great popularity as "Tommy Tucker," and is now the star of many musical programs. Sue Curd, soprano, who sings in the harmony team with him, has been a WFAA staff singer with the trio known as "Jack, Jill and Jean," and has made a number of personal appearances with WFAA's Early Bird traveling show. Craig Barton, accompanist, is staff pianist for WFAA. He is a gifted concert pianist, and has also won wide recognition for his special arrangements of popular melodies in "swing" time. Arrangements for bringing the program to Cisco have been made by W. H. LaRoque, in cooperation with R. E. Grantham, president of the Lions club, and R. N. Cluck, superintendent of schools.

Tapping Rights are Granted in Park

STAND-INS AID IN REHEARSALS OF CORONATION

By DAN ROGERS. United Press Staff Correspondent. LONDON, March 27 (UP)—With venerable Westminster Abbey as the theater, the cast of the Coronation "see" is busy rehearsing the "lines" and "business" of the most elaborate production ever staged in the British Empire. The parallel between the Coronation and production of a Broadway show, or Hollywood movie, may be carried even further. The "stars," King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, have stand-ins to relieve them of arduous hours of posing, and stage "props" take the place of the real regalia. A cardboard crown substitutes for the priceless King Edward's crown and the blaze of jewels that is the imperial Crown of State. Wooden swords with cardboard hilts are solemnly carried in the place of the three-foot, two-handed sword of state and the smaller ceremonial swords. St. George's golden spurs, with sharp points instead of bows, are of cardboard, as are the king's orb, scepter and other regalia. Each is labored with its title. Town Mans Shovel To Repair Streets

QUINCY, Mass. (UP)—Pawsey Street residents are so eager to get the street repaired that they are willing to resurface the road themselves — provided the city gives them the materials. Meanwhile, woman residents have been doing yeoman work with buckets and shovels, attempting to fill in some of the worst holes with ashes. The housewives complain that mud and sticky clay get on their rugs and ruin them. Harley Weeks, who circulated a petition, says it's necessary to wear rubber boots to get about the street when it rains.

Advertisement for "TRAILER ADVENTURE" by Nard Jones, published by NEA Service, Inc., featuring an illustration of a vintage car.

BEGIN HERE TODAY. MARTHA BRITAIN and BETTY HAYNES overtook on their California vacation trip and find themselves stranded in San Diego. They answer an ad of the Air-speed Trailer Company and obtain an assignment to travel up the west coast, demonstrating the new de luxe trailer. Their suspicions are aroused somewhat when ALBIE, sales agent of the Air-speed company fails to ask for either bond or references. Clad at the prospect of the trip and money, nevertheless, the two purchase travel outfit and return to their apartment to pack. At their door they surprise a handsome young man trying to enter. Apologetically, he tells them he stepped off at the wrong floor and that his name is GERRY NEAL. At first alarmed, the girls soon incline to dismiss the incident, but Martha doesn't forget NEAL. They start north, and then on the outskirts of a little town they pick up Neal, hitch-hiking. He tells them he is to meet a friend, JACK SPEDDON, at Long Beach. But when the girls reach the city's auto camp, Neal has disappeared from the trailer. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IV "HIS suitcase is gone, too!" exclaimed Betty, climbing into the trailer. "I wonder what else is missing?" Martha joined her in the search, but to their astonishment nothing had been stolen. The washbasin was still damp. Apparently Neal had shaved, then slipped from the trailer. "He must have got out while we were going slow through some of those towns back there," Martha said. She looked at Betty. "I wonder if he's just—just odd, or whether there's something behind all this?" Betty grinned. "I think he's just odd. Or maybe not even odd. Suppose you were a man, and you'd hooked a ride, and had to borrow a washbasin to shave in—all from a couple of girls. Wouldn't you want to take a run-out powder at the earliest opportunity?" "Perhaps you're right," Martha said. "Want to start the dinner while I hunt up the manager and find out what it'll cost us to park here?" "He'll start it," Betty agreed, "and I'll finish it. But tomorrow night it's your turn!" "Right!" Martha laughed, and started out for the manager's cottage. But that laugh was no indication of her true feelings. Try as she might, she could not write off Gerry Neal's disappearance as lightly as Betty did. Even when she had paid in advance for her parking space, and obtained the manager's permission to display the trailer for advertising purposes, she returned to the Air-speed with Neal still in her mind. In the falling dusk she found Betty at the door of the trailer talking to a rather scrawny man who might have been anywhere between 30 and 40. At Martha's appearance he turned quickly. "Martha, this is Mr. Speddon," Betty said. "He's the man Mr. Neal telephoned." "Yes," Speddon put in. "I can't figure out why he'd phone me and then not come along." "Neither can we, Mr. Speddon. But no doubt he'll turn up. He seems to have a way of doing that." SPEDDON looked at her queerly. "I don't know about that. But it's mighty queer. You girls may not realize it, but this could be something kind of serious." "What do you mean?" Speddon hesitated. "Well, . . . I can't say exactly. Did you stop anywhere after he got into the trailer?" "Just at a gasoline station quite near here," Martha said. "But I'm sure he didn't get out there." "I'd like to find out, Miss Brittain. You see, Gerry's a friend of mine—and I happen to know that there's one or two people who might want him to disappear. Could you show me where that gas station is? I'd like to ask the attendant if he saw anybody get out of the trailer." Betty and Martha exchanged glances, and Speddon added, "I'll take just a few minutes, and I'll bring you right back in my car. Suppose you both come along?" "One of us had better stay with the trailer," Martha said. "Do you think you could show him, Betty?" All curiosity now at the strange turn of events, Betty gladly assented. Martha walked to the edge of the auto camp to watch them get into Speddon's car, a dark blue roadster, and as they drove off, some sudden premonition prompted her to note the license number. Hurrying back to the trailer she found a pencil and paper and wrote it down. She was soon to be grateful for this move. A half hour passed, then an hour, and Betty and Speddon hadn't returned. Frantic, Martha unhooked the coupe from the trailer and started for the gasoline station. To her relief

CISCO GIRL TO GRADUATE TWC IN JUNE

The following article written about Mrs. Mary Jane Morehart of Cisco, student in T. W. C., appeared in the March 3rd edition of "The Rambler," a weekly paper published by the journalism students of the school.

Having never missed the honor roll and majoring in four subjects, namely, English, elementary education, social science, and secondary education with a minor in Spanish, that's Mary Jane Morehart who will be graduated in June.
Mary Jane moved into Ann Waggoner hall two years ago when she received her scholarship to T. W. C. for ranking second highest in her graduating class at Randolph College, at Cisco, where she studied two years.
After her graduation, she hopes to become the registrar of some university. The 110-pound senior was assistant registrar at Randolph College, and has been working 15 hours each week in the T. W. C. registrar's office. Miss Morehart has ambitions to do graduate work in Ohio State University if she does not find a position immediately.

Mary Jane was born in Bartlesville, Okla., in 1917, and later moved to Cisco, Texas, where she was graduated with high honors from the Cisco high school at the early age of 15 years. For seven years she played the saxophone in the Cisco Lobo band. She is a member of the T. W. C. orchestra.
Miss Morehart is a member of the Korosphan library society, the Alpha Rho Tau-art club, and one of the non-members who received honorable mention by the Alpha Chi honorary society. She likes sports and plays tennis, golf, swims, and dries horseback.
Her favorites, among stars, are Major Bowes, Bob Burns, and Rubenoff; among movie actors, Gary Cooper, Charles Laughton, Fredrick March, and of course, Clark Gable.

WPA NEAR END OF 80 MILLION AIRPORT WORK

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—The Works Progress Administration's $80,000,000 program to bring airport development to half of the nation's "minimum requirements" has been 60 per cent completed. At 534 airport sites, 794 projects had been finished or were about to be completed on Dec. 31, WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins disclosed in a quarterly progress report. He hoped that all useful units of the program would be completed by July 1.

The program was designed to bring airport facilities to a level with modern flying equipment, with special emphasis on construction where air traffic is heaviest. Work has been given to 48,000 needy employable men.

Military Aspects Considered
Airport and airway construction by WPA was regarded by government officials as of great importance to civil, commercial and military aviation and as the beginning of a national plan to assure orderly development of aviation ground facilities, the report said.

The American public has never been ready to adopt more rapid means of transportation and while past airport expenditures may have appeared large in comparison with air traffic of a few years ago, the rising curve of that traffic more than justifies this conservative airport program of the Works Progress Administration, Hopkins said.

Listed still under construction were the $4,645,782 Philadelphia Airport development, the $3,560,360 Floyd Bennett Field project in New York, a $2,264,796 project at Newark airport and a $1,174,940 project at Chicago. A $3,341,469 project as Cleveland Airport was described as completed.

Many Low Cost Projects
Other projects in the active and complete categories included scores of city, county and township improvements, many of them for only a few hundred dollars.

Leading all states in expenditures for WPA airport projects was Pennsylvania with $12,906,396. New York followed with $11,136,050 of which $6,147,760 was in New York City. California's total was $8,007,218 and Ohio's, $5,396,057.

Local governments provided part of the money and supplied sites. All in all 2,239 airway and airport projects have been submitted to WPA, and 1,963 with an estimated cost of $139,238,109 have been approved. Selection from those by state WPA administrators reduced the cost of the program to an estimated $80,416,760.

Sites, plans and specifications were approved by the bureau of air commerce of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

To assure usability of an airport if funds or labor gave out before the complete improvement was accomplished, airport construction projects were divided into units such as grading, paving of runways, and construction of hangars, accounting for the greater number of projects than airports under the program. In addition, many projects were for airparking to make routes between airports safer and more usable.
