What is Traffic Control?

A noted traffic authority recently discussed the traffic accident problem in terms of three types of safety. The first in personal safety, the necessity for protecting the limbs and lives of us all.

The second is moral safety, the necessity for building an apprecation of the values of proper regulation. Motor vehicle traffic inevitably involves the law and law observ-fits which accrue for the wide-spread use of the automobile. is always susceptible to spontaneous ignition. Traffic accidents not only cost millions of dollars directly values, slow up business tournover, reduce the value of in- nomically. vestment portfolios, large and small.

Our understanding of the traffic problem might be better served in thinking about it we substitute for the relatively narrow term "traffic safety" the more accurate term "traffic control." Traffic control means the application of certain logical principles to motor vehicular movement which will at once ease congestion and reduce hazards.

An important step in the direction of effective control is the publication of the handbook, "Creating Safer Communities." Published by state motor vehicle and safety authorities in 24 states in cooperation with the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, the handbook tells how to set up a community traffic safety organization and presents a series of procedures for reducing accidents by removing their causes. It describes how essential accident information is secured. It gives instructions for developing enforcement, engineering and educational programs in line with advanced, tested methods of making traffic safer and less congested.

In just this kind of coordinated community approach to traffic problems can we hope to achieve mastery of a grave menace to the nation's personal, moral and financial safety.

Springtime is Clean-up Time

You can see signs of spring fever almost everywhere. Farmers are plowing and sowing their fields. Suburbanites are planting their gardens. Housewives are cleaning and revamping homes. Communities are starting improvement projects.

Winter is apt to be a time of general neglect-partly because of severe weather and partly because of the press of other matters in that busy season. Vacant lots, yards and even streets become unsightly. Now is the time for a thorough spring cleaning, extending through the community, in the interest of health, safety and civic progress.

Such a clean-up campaign is a splendid activity for civic clubs, chambers of commerce, Boy Scouts and similar groups to sponsor. Every town should emulate those communities, which, through a spirit of fine cooperation, have succeeded in gaining the name of "Spotlesstown."

When a movement to paint up, clean-up and beautify sweeps a community, it leaves in its wake a healthier, happier town. From the standpoint of fire safety alone, the movement pays big dividends-as the records show, many a disastrous fire has been caused by rubbish and litter. Drop a cigarette or a cigar butt into an accumulation of trash
