AND NOW here comes President Roosevelt with a catch of a six-foot tarpon. Why should the president want to horn in and destroy local fishing records just as W. J. Leach is putting K. H. Pittard over as a fisherman of note. This beats the one Leach is displaying at his store.

THAT Cotton Pickers quartet, as they call those future farmer students. They were unusually good in their numbers at the community program at the high school last night. They were called for repeatedly. Billy Dawkins on the harmonica was outstanding while Henry Boatman made one think of the violin in the radio barn dances. Jesse and Melvin Cleveland were the other members and they were equally as good. Which reminds us that the glee club and choral club under the direction of Misses Lucille Robinson and Ella Andres were bits on the program. and the songs of those West Ward boys. which leads us on to say that Miss Addie Stephens and Miss Ola Howell deserve medals of honor for the way in which they have trained that Rhythm band to almost perfection in their renditions. Little Bandmaster Poe was a knockout in his directing. Should really take him to Oklahoma City and let him direct one number in the contest. he would go over big. They will be good material to keep the honors of the band going during the years to come.

Wally and Duke Happy After Re-union

HAPPY COUPLE GET OVATION FROM FRENCH

MONSIEUR, France, May 4 (UP)—The Duke of Windsor obviously happier than any king, stood on the terrace of the Chateau Cande this afternoon with Mrs. Wallis Simpson, both waving to the French peasants who cheered this historic love match. A few hours before their re-union had occurred in the shadowy interior of the castle's library, with all reporters and spectators hundreds of yards away outside the main gate. No one outside the house saw the first meeting of the famous lovers made possible by the final divorce decree granted Mrs. Simpson in London yesterday. They arranged not to meet on the terrace of the Chateau when the duke arrived after a dash by train and automobile from Austria. Instead, Mrs. Simpson waited inside the great main hall with her hostess, Mrs. Charles Bedeaux and her friend, Mrs. Herman Rogers. Bedeaux and Rogers met the duke on the terrace and escorted him inside. Rogers said there was no display of emotion beyond show of gladness to be together again when the two met in the hall. The first appearance together of 'crème King Edward VIII and Mrs. Simpson since the abdication occurred' after lunch when they came to the terrace and acknowledged the cheers of peasants. 'Mrs. Simpson met the duke inside the house where not even her closest friends saw the re-union,' Rogers told the United Press.

Purchased Share In Rail Empire

A share in the control of the Van Sweringen rail and real estate "empire" went to Allan P. Kirby, above, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., when the holdings were sold by the George and Frances Ball Foundation through George A. Ball of Muncie, Ind. Kirby joined with Frank F. Kolb and Robert R. Young, New York financiers, in paying $6,375,000 for the Van properties.

STADIUM WORK BEGINS MONDAY, FIELD DRAINED

Actual work will get under way for building the football stadium Monday, and any preliminary work this week will not interfere with the all-schools picnic lunch and afternoon program at Chesley Field Friday, said Supt. R. N. Cluck at last night's program at the high school auditorium. The stadium will be built on the same spot occupied by the old bleachers on the property which was recently purchased by the school board from Chesley heirs. The schools now own the entire park. The first work, according to O. J. Russell, president of the school board, will be to break up the grass field, fill in with leaf mold soil and round up at the center, giving a turtle-back contour for drainage. COMANCHE—Miss Mary E. Jones has been selected by Comanche Chamber of Commerce to represent this city as sponsor at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Brownwood May 10-12. Miss Jones will compete with other sponsors in the West Texas Follies of 1937 for the title of "Miss West Texas of 1937."

LEGISLATURE SEE-SAWS ON LAST MINUTE BILL EFFORTS

AUSTIN, May 4 (UP)—Governor Allred's veto of joint rules of the Texas legislature was challenged today. The house accepted the veto and voted to change the rules to meet his objections. The senate killed a plan to change the vetoed rules, 18 to 11. An attempt was admitted to speed action on race repeal. Under the old rule, Allred said, a minority was blocking a direct vote. Robert Calvert, speaker of the house, meanwhile sustained a point of order and killed a senate bill providing a universal fishing license in Texas. The senate passed the measure under the impression it was a local

PICKETS PACE BEFORE SHOW IN STRIKES

HOLLYWOOD, May 4 (UP)—Leaders of striking motion picture workers announced that downtown Los Angeles and Hollywood picture theatres would be picketed tonight to boycott distribution outlet of studios. Charles Leasing, executive secretary of the Federated Motion Picture Crafts, disclosed that huge placards were being prepared, which read "studios on strike. Do not attend theatre." The strike leader said an appeal was being sent to labor organizations through the United States and Canada to establish similar boycotts against theatres until the film producers grant union recognition. Despite a cold, foggy day a full crew of pickets was at each studio. Leasing said the pickets were not molesting non-striking workers, but were taking their pictures for a "rogues gallery" of labor. Fat Casey, representative of the producers said production is proceeding on a normal basis.

BAKERS STRIKES ARE WIDE-SPREAD

KANSAS CITY, May 4 (UP)—The full force of a bakers strike approached this area of 700,000 persons today and housewives prepared for it with biscuits, muffins, homemade cakes and plain corn-bread. Bakeries in small towns were doing a rushing business. WANT CO-OPERATION TO AVERT STRIKES WASHINGTON, D. C., May 4 (UP)—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins called upon leaders of labor and industry today to cooperate with state and federal government in averting strikes and lockouts.

PRESIDENT GETS TARPON; MOVES FLEET SOUTH

GALVESTON, May 4 (UP)—President Roosevelt, with one tarpon already to his credit as a fisherman, moved his three-boat fishing fleet 150 miles southward along the Texas coast today. The U. S. S. Potomac with the President aboard, sailed this morning from Port Aransas to Port Isabel, most southern port in Texas at the mouth of the Rio Grande River. Although communications from the President did not say, it was believed that rough seas off Port Aransas caused the move. The Potomac was escorted by two navy destroyers, the U. S. S. Moffett and the U. S. S. Decatur. By catching a 5-foot tarpon late Monday, President Roosevelt became a member of the Port Aransas light tackle club. He made the catch with a six-ounce rod, and an 18 pound cast line, considered very light tackle for tarpons.

J. S. Yeager Visits Daily News Office

J. S. Yeager, father of Miss Mildred Yeager, Putnam News editor who is still in the hospital as a result of an automobile accident five weeks ago, called at the Daily News office today, giving us a breath of news from his section. Mr. Yeager, in the prime of life and health, looks on life with optimistic eyes and sheds pleasant sunshine where ever he goes. He expects Miss Mildred to be handicapped for some little time yet from her injuries.

Where Do Authors Go In The Summertime?

THE answer to that is easy! Why, they go fishing. And at least four of America's top-notch spinners of letters who cast a fly as deftly as they fashion an idea. From left to right they are: Courtney Ryley Cooper, Corey Ford, Jack Eaton, editor of sporting motion pictures; Irvin S. Cobb and, in the center, Rex Beach, dean of sportsmen and weaver of tales of stirring outdoor adventures.

CISCO WATERS PUREST FOUND SAYS EXPERT

A member of the government water survey, operating in this section, testing surface waters for purity and availability of underground supply, conferred with Mayor J. T. Berry recently and remarked that he had tested the waters of Lake Cisco and found them the purest in the state. Which is good news for Cisconians, but regardless of the unimpaired condition of our present city water supply, we are safe since our treating plant now complete except for a few pieces of machinery now in transit, makes it possible to treat our waters for chemical impurity should the need come to do so. The Mayor stated that we would not use the plant unless it should be found necessary to do so. However it is finished, most of the machinery ready with the remaining already shipped. On its arrival, it will be installed ready for use.

Traffic Safety Group Meets With City Dads

The traffic safety council recently appointed has been called to meet with the city commission tonight, it was announced today by O. L. Stamey, chairman of the council. The council has had only one meeting since its appointment and there will be a number of matters to talk over with the city commission with which it will act in its work for traffic safety for the city.

Many Parents See Community Program

The high school auditorium was packed, bottom and top floors, at last night's community program when a few numbers as cross sections of all schools were given in a program that, entertained from the rise to the fall of the curtain—Supt. R. N. Cluck was master of ceremonies and announcer, and the Future Farmer boys as Cotton Pickers, were interspersed between acts with their quartette numbers. One could pick out much talent from the various casts presented and could easily imagine what honors might come to some of those should they develop abilities along acting or speaking lines.

80 Ranchers Enter 1937 Agri Program

County Agent Elmo V. Cook reported Saturday that 7,200 acres of range land has been signed up by 80 ranchers in the 1937 soil conservation program. Inspection by Range Supervisor T. E. Castleberry is scheduled.

LAGUNA HOTEL REDECORATING FOR SUMMER

Manager Chapman Williamson is redecorating the Laguna hotel and making many improvements about the lobby, halls, kitchens, and rooms. Interior is being repainted with much more to come, it is announced. The service kitchen and back hallways of the roof garden are being treated to new coats of paint. On the arrival of other paints additional redecorations are to take place, said Mr. Williamson. Venetian blinds and window curtains have been ordered for the upstairs, guest rooms. Drapes will be re-hung. An automatic water pump is to be installed to boost water pressure to upper rooms this summer should the city pressure become weak on account of unusual use by city customers, Mr. Williamson added. Some new furniture has been bought and slip covers for lobby furniture and that of the mezzanine floors.

ENCOURAGED LOYALISTS DEFER EVACUATION OF BILBAO AREA

BILBAO, May 4 (UP)—Encouraged by victories against insurgents pressing toward Bilbao, Basque authorities (today postponed) the evacuation of 2,300 children until tomorrow, to permit 1,000 more refugees to embark on the Spanish liner Habana for southern France. The Habana was scheduled to sail today, but it appeared that loyalist victories made it possible to hold the liner over a day to take aboard the additional 1,000 refugees. The French and British consuls each offered two additional merchant ships to assist in evacuating the 300,000 civilians trapped in Bilbao. The delay in evacuation plans followed loyalist victories. The Basques forcing back rebel General Emilio Mela's invading troops at several points. British and French men-of-war were off the coast. General Franco, nationalist dictator, had protested angrily that the evacuation was an intervention on the loyalist behalf. German and Italian submarines were reported in the harbor east of Bilbao. British and French war ships had orders to repel by force any attempt to molest the refugee ships outside the three-mile limit. Cisco Fish Hatchery Gets $24,546 Funds The state fish hatchery at Cisco, D. C. Harper and L. A. Proctor in charge, has been allotted $24,546 for improvements under the Works Progress Administration. Federal funds of $17,169, sponsors fund $7,337. Sixty men will be given employment.

PROGRAM WILL STRESS PUPIL SELF-ACTIVITY

The Grammar school will give its graduation exercises Friday evening, May 28, 8 o'clock, at the high school auditorium in a program distinctive of the class and school. The class numbers 90 members who will be candidates for graduation. The nature of the program will be one of student participation featuring self-activity but will differ somewhat from that of last season. Class honors will be a feature of the pre-graduation activities and their emphasis will be a part of that event. The graduation of Seventh graders last year so distinctive that they became known as the "Distinctive Class" as they entered the high school and performed their functions during the present session. In many ways last year's Grammar school graduation was unique and tradition breaking. The class this year is strong and original and we may expect something unusual from them in their program. They are backed by an unusually strong faculty which will leave its impression upon the class and its future activities. Personnel of Grammar school teaching force including the principal is as follows: Principal C. C. Duff, Mrs. James Moore, Mrs. Lucine Lewis, Carlos J. Turner, Miss Leta Latch, Mrs. Lucille Gragg, Mrs. O. L. Stamey and Mrs. Geraldine Campbell. A. H. T. A. UNIT DISBANDED JACKSON, Mo. (UP)—A balance of $41 remaining in the treasury of the Cape Girardeau County Agri-Hortshief Association has been turned over to two orphanages. The association has dissolved, having outlived its usefulness.

LIONS MAKING START TOWARD OKLAHOMA TRIP

The Lions have a full sized job in sponsoring the trip to Oklahoma City for the Lobo band members as a result of the outstanding honors won at Lubbock last Saturday. The club is already working on the matter and a survey of the situation has been made preliminary to actual fund getting. The committee named to raise the necessary funds was J. A. Bearman, Charles Klemer, and Charles Sandler; publicity committee named was W. H. LaRoque, E. L. Smith and J. W. Copps. Lion Bearman is cruising the Caribbean Sea, Charles Klemer is visiting his family at Tucson, Ariz., leaving only Lion Sandler on the ground. However, the club has not been idle. President Grantham, Secretary Dyer and the directors have gathered information and have made a survey of the situation and while they have made no definite progress, said Mr. Dyer, the way has been cleared for action. It will require nearly $600 to make the trip for the band. If 200 fans, including the band, could be persuaded to take the trip and charge it up to an outing, the cost would be about $4.50 each for the tickets. But these Lions never fail. There is no such word as CANT in their vocabulary, and while they do not see the way clearly, the trip will be made and Cisco and her band will be advertised. And the kind of publicity will be up to the band itself.

Consumer Carries the Tax Load

The $18-a-week laborer or clerk who owns no property pays $116 a year in hidden taxes, contained in the prices of goods and services he buys, or twelve cents out of each dollar he earns, according to a detailed twelve-months analysis of the effects of taxes on prices, just completed by Northwestern Life Insurance Company.

The mechanic or minor department head whose $150-a-month salary permits the operation of a used automobile pays $229 annually in taxes, even though he owns no other property and is a family man exempt from income taxes, according to the study. This amount represents 12.7 cents per dollar earned.

Based on analysis of the tax and sales records of 206 manufacturers, jobbers and retailers, the study finds that the "invisible" taxes contained in retail food prices average 7.1 per cent in clothing prices, 8 per cent in fuel and light bills, 9.5 per cent in sundries and miscellaneous household items, 10.2 per cent. Records gathered by the company on 7,964 single- and multiple-family dwelling units in 48 cities reveal an average of 25.3 cents for taxes in each dollar of rent paid by the average tenant family.

The tax load on used automobile ownership and operation is 20.1 per cent, the report states. Analysis of finance company check records reveals that the used car of the average $150-a-month worker was priced at $350 when he bought it. If he drives such a car 6,000 miles and buys one new tire per year, according to the study, his car costs him, including depreciation, $14.50 a month or $174 annually to own and operate, of which $34.32 or 20.1 per cent represents taxes. This figure includes car license and sales taxes on gasoline and oil, as well as hidden indirect taxes.

Watch Middle-Age Repairs!

"Diseases of childhood" remarks a state commissioner of health, "are no longer the terrors they once were." But he reminds the public: "The degenerative diseases of middle age, such as heart disease and diabetes, are taking bigger toll than ever before." It is getting to be an old story to many, yet it seems necessary to keep on repeating it, because the majority seem oblivious of the situation. People read statistics telling of the years added to the average human life through medical progress in the present generation, and do not realize that nearly all of this gain is made by saving children from dying in their early years.

People continue to die in middle age about as much as ever, and the mortality from some middle-age diseases is worse than ever before. Children are taken care of now almost automatically. School physicians, child clinics, child health propaganda of many kinds, center attention on their needs. Some of the most deadly child diseases have been conquered. Nearly everybody thinks about their health and tries to keep them well. But the middle-aged men and women usually neglect their own health, and are neglected by others.

What is to be done? The same practical advice is to

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—New federal taxes within the year despite reassurances from the White House and Capitol Hill, still look like a 50-50 bet.

The President of the United States has a delightful talent for divergency in his remarks as to the budget and the federal finances from time to time. His best friends have to agree that he has never been so frank as he is now when he points out that the pressure, of course, also changes.

"I am convinced," Mr. Roosevelt has now said, "that the success of our program and the permanent security of our people demand that we adjust all expenditures within the limits of our budget estimates."

On the other hand, there are these points:

- 1. There is no assurance whatever that Congress can be kept within the budget figures. It will be an unusual Congress if it is.
2. Roosevelt has asked for $1,500,000,000 for 1937-38 work relief and experts agree that he will feel compelled to ask for more later to get through the fiscal year, unless the federal relief policy is to be radically changed.
3. The administration is now more deeply concerned with the need for balancing the budget than ever before. There is reason to believe it will prefer to tax rather than borrow further beyond present anticipations.
4. Conservative Democrats favor keeping the WPA appropriation down to a billion dollars instead of a billion and a half. Roosevelt has insisted he will not compromise on that point. The indication is left that the conservative, who would cut the WPA expenses rather than other costs, will be stubborn about holding down those other costs and try to place the blame on the President and his insistence on maintaining the WPA policy.

5. Nearly all Roosevelt's closest advisers, except Secretary Morgenthau and the Treasury group, are convinced that the wisest policy is to raise income taxes. They will continue to insist to the President that the only way to keep the economic system in balance is to siphon off a larger share of big profits and big incomes in order to pour them back into the bottom economic levels. This may be the most important factor of all.
6. The First Circuit Court's decision holding the federal old-age benefits payroll tax illegal has begun to stir up those who believe a federal old-age benefit system should be financed from the proceeds of income taxes. If the Supreme Court should now uphold the lower court's adverse decision, the demand for the latter method of financing might well become overwhelmingly strong, resulting in legislation requiring hundreds of millions of dollars in new revenue at once.

If Roosevelt comes back next February to ask Congress for more relief money, he will only be repeating his own history. Some of the $1,500,000,000 asked for next fiscal year probably will have to be applied to WPA for the tail end of the current fiscal year. The U. S. Conference of Mayors a year ago estimated 1936-37 WPA costs at $2,340,000,000. Actually the costs are running somewhere over $2,300,000,000. This year it has been said a continuance of federal policy would require $2,200,000,000 for 1937-38.

Why should Sybil dislike me? Joan asked thoughtfully, after a moment. "I wondered that, too. But now I've found out." "Why?" "Sybil is in love with Bob Andrews." Joan gasped. "Oh, no!" she cried earnestly. "I'm sure she

CONFEDERATE VETERANS ASSEMBLE JUNE 9TH IN JACKSON, MISS., SCENE OFF FIRST AND MAYBE LAST RALLY

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—United States Marines, state administrative officers, and social leaders will combine to entertain the few survivors of the United Confederate Veterans who will bivouac in Jackson on June 9, 10, 11 and 12.

Approximately 400 of the nearly 5,000 who still live are expected to attend this reunion—probably their last, many persons fear. Preparations are being made to receive and entertain the aged men who once were Dixie's stalwart fighters. Other reunions have been brilliant, but those in charge of arrangements insist that the forthcoming event will be even more distinctive in pageantry and display.

It was in Jackson just 46 years ago that the gray-uniformed fighters for a cause they thought right, assembled for the first time. They picked the capital of Mississippi for the initial reunion—because this was the state which had been the home of the Confederacy's only president, Jefferson Davis. Only a score or more of Missis-issippi's 313 living veterans will attend, state officials have announced. The state officially invited the veterans to hold the reunion here, the legislature appropriating $3,000 to help defray expenses. The Hinds county board of supervisors also appropriated $1,000. Additional funds are being raised through popular subscription.

Officials of the U. S. V. will be housed in the appropriately named Robert E. Lee Hotel. The rank and file of the Confederate veterans will bunk in Central High School building, across the street from the Robert E. Lee. The encampment will be known as Camp Atkinson, custom decreeing that the camp be named after the commander-in-chief, Gen. Homer Atkinson, of Petersburg, Va. J. L. Gray heads the Mississippi division.

Definite assurance has been given that the United States Marine Band will be sent to Jackson for the reunion. Mrs. Hugh I.

AFRAID to Love

By MARION WHITE

CHAPTER XII THE following Saturday, Dorothy followed up Sybil Hendry's precedent and gave a tea herself for Joan. To it she invited all of the smart young things who had been at Sybil's, as well as several of the young married women whom Joan had not met. Dorothy, to be sure, was also a stranger in Green Hills, but she had visited her cousin at frequent intervals, and she knew the important people in town. So, recalling Sybil's tactics, she made up her invitation list wisely and shrewdly.

Sybil swallowed a bitter pill the day Joan moved into the Downs' home. Here was this little nobody—this ordinary little stenographer whom she had planned so carefully to discredit before the world—being publicly accepted as the guest of one of the community's leading families. It took the entire situation out of Sybil's capable management.

Sybil's nerves were indeed sorely overtaxed. It was no actual falsehood, therefore, when she declined Dorothy's invitation on the plea of illness.

"What do you think of that?" Dorothy beamed when Sybil's message was received. "We've frightened off the scheming siren already."

Joan shuddered. "I'm frightened to death myself, Dorothy," she confided. "It's all so deliberate."

"Of course it is," Dorothy admitted. "Deliberate and ridiculous. But it's a form of social warfare that goes on in every community. Sybil played a pretty deliberate hand, I'd say, trying to make a monkey out of you. And this afternoon I'm out to call her cards."

"Why should Sybil dislike me?" Joan asked thoughtfully, after a moment. "I wondered that, too. But now I've found out."

"Why?" "Sybil is in love with Bob Andrews." Joan gasped. "Oh, no!" she cried earnestly. "I'm sure she couldn't be. Why, Sybil has known him for five years. If she wanted him, . . ."

"Perhaps it's more a matter of Bob not wanting her."

Still Joan couldn't believe it. "I can't understand any man not wanting her, as you say, Sybil is the most striking girl."

"What made you think that, Dorothy?" "I didn't think it myself. Millie Sanders told me."

It was incredible, yet it was the only answer to Sybil's purposeful dislike, Joan thought.

"Was Millie Sanders at Sybil's last Wednesday?" she asked.

"No. She's not like the rest of Sybil's friends."

THAT afternoon, when Joan met her, she remembered her as one of the pleasant matrons to whom Bob had presented her at the spring party. She liked her immediately. As a matter of fact Joan felt much more at home at Dorothy's party than at Sybil's.

Perhaps it was the room itself, Joan thought. There was none of the chilling smartness in it that Sybil's home reflected, though it was equally luxurious. A cheerful fire roared in the great fireplace, and its flames were reflected in dazzling splendor by the diamond on her left hand. The ring, too, she realized, gave her the self-confidence which she had lacked before. It gleamed as the emblem of Bob's devotion, for all the world to see—a symbol of his presence at her side.

Instead of cocktails and canapés, served by a formidable Jennings, Dorothy had tea and tiny sandwiches and delectable cakes, and Mrs. MacDonald, the Downs' housekeeper, passed them around with the friendly fussiness of an old mother hen.

After they had served tea, Dorothy led the way upstairs to her aunt's sitting room, and there, in the center of the room, stood an enormous old chest, elaborately bedecked with crepe paper bows and paper hearts, and bulging with daintily wrapped gifts.

"Surprise!" A dozen voices echoed the word. Joan, too stunned to speak, looked at Dorothy, and her eyes flashed appreciation. There was a lump in her throat, and her heart was filled with sweet bewilderment. This was a shower for her—for Joan Barrett, the outcast, who had never known a single friendship in all her life. Here were gifts from friendly neighbors who asked nothing further than the fact that she was their neighbor's fiancee and Dorothy Starke's friend!

White, wife of the governor of Mississippi will be official hostess for the entire South.

Those in charge of the reunion point out that automobiles now carry the once proud-marching men who until a few years ago scorned any means of conveyance unless it was a horse—when parading at their reunion.

Old-timers in this section who were too young to fight in the Civil War, fear that this will be the last time the gray horde meets in a reunion which has become traditional throughout Dixie. They believe that the ranks of men who followed Lee, Jackson, Job Stuart Forrest and other Confederate heroes will be too thin next year and that those who still live will be too feeble to turn out.

READING HABITS DECRIED

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Americans read so few books that in the typical case of Ohio they add only one volume a year to their libraries, according to Dr. Paul A. Witty, director of the Northwestern University psycho-educational clinic. The opinions of most Americans, therefore, he said are formed largely by newspaper headlines and "medium grade of magazines."

Oil Well Put on Admission Basis

FORT WORTH (AP)—E. G. Wallace, Fort Worth oil man, wants operators of this city's Frontier Fiesta to take a lesson from the builders of the Empire State Building in New York City.

Owners of that huge building found revenue from renting space was low, but they made hundreds of dollars a day in admission shares from sightseers. Wallace wants to do the same thing with an oil well.

The city council granted Wallace a permit to drill a well on property adjoining the show grounds. If he strikes oil, the city gets a 25 per cent share in the revenues.

But if the test is unsuccessful as most geologists believe it will be, Wallace still would make money because he plans to charge 25 cents to all persons who want to see the well in operation. The

Keep Smiling and Live to Be 100, Advice of 4 Healthy Nonagenarians

VIENNA, May 4 (UP)—The secret of longevity seems to be two words—"keep smiling!" That is the composite of experiences told by four healthy nonagenarians in this city of waltz, wine and Schubert songs.

Cisco Charity Makes Semi-Annual Report

Report of The Cisco Charity and Welfare Organization from October 15, 1936 to April 20, 1937, inclusive.
This Organization, supported by contributions from individuals and business firms, has during the past winter served eighty-two families with an average membership of five. Practically every family on the records has been personally visited in their homes, some, many times.
Around fifty-seven garments and three hundred pairs of shoes have been given away. All of these donated by Cisco men and women. Only in cases of illness have new gowns, sheets or other garments been bought. New shoes have been bought only when necessary to keep children in school. Four new blankets were bought for the sick.
Approximately seven hundred dollars have been spent, the larger part of this going for groceries and medical supplies. Many jars of canned fruits, vegetables and jellies donated by individuals and through the school were distributed.
Numbers of Interstate and county cases were handled. Many letters written in the interest of various clients. Also records established and letters written for pension applicants.
The transient problem has been less acute than for several winters past.
The Welfare Organization owns a sewing machine that has been in constant use by mothers in making over garments to clothe their families.
An unusual amount of illness weather conditions and discontinued Old Age Assistance has made the past winter's work heavier than at any time since 1933. But a sincere effort has been made to relieve suffering and want wherever found.
The office has been opened regularly three afternoons each week and when necessary every afternoon.
The elected officers of the Charity and Welfare Organization are: J. C. McAfee, president; E. P. Crawford, vice-president; Roy Wilson, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Sandier, recording secretary; Mrs. Philip Pettit, executive secretary.

Fishing to be Legal in the Pymatuning

CLEVELAND (AP)—The rod and reel men of Ohio and Pennsylvania and others who wish will be allowed to cast in the waters of the Pymatuning Reservoir, 65 miles east of here, on July 1 for the first time.
This is a hot tip for fishermen, experts say, for Pymatuning's depths are alive with fish, anywhere from 60,000,000 to 55,000,000 in number stocked there for the past two years.
The 14,000 acres of the Shenango water area are paddied by large and small-mouthed bass, wall-eyed pike, bluegills, perch, crappies, catfish, bullheads and a few muskies.

Hundreds Search For Runaway Boy

GONZALES, May 4 (AP)—While hundreds of searchers looked for him in a 2,000 acre ranch pasture, expecting to find him dead from snakebite or an accidental gunshot, Leroy W. Nidel, 15, was calmly riding a bus on a boyish runaway trip, a postcard from him revealed today.
The card received by his parents, was mailed yesterday at Victoria while more than 100 Gonzales citizens searched the countryside for Leroy.
Horseback riders still were searching today when a rural mail carrier delivered the card.

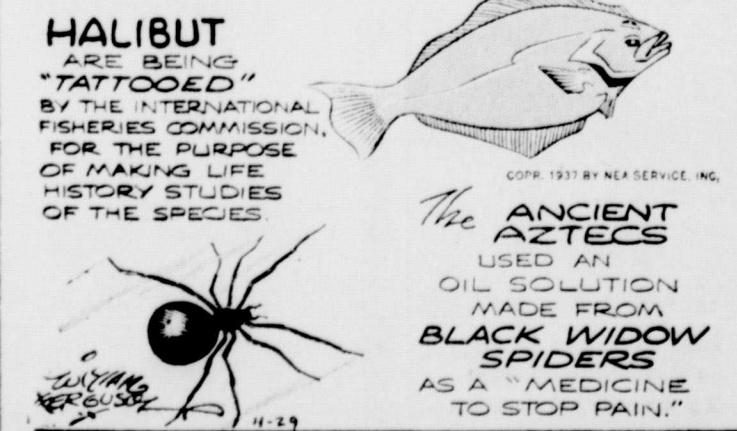

'Be Good to Heart' Says Physicians

ALBANY N. Y. (AP)—Be good to your heart by keeping your activities within your capacities," says the New York State Medical Society.
"Every person, who reaches 40 should give a little thought how to avoid stress and strain, yet get as much work done and perhaps more real enjoyment in life," said the society.
"At this age," the society quoted a "wise old doctor," everyone should begin to learn to grow old gracefully."

SOVIET PALACE TO RISE ABOVE EMPIRE STATE

MOSCOW, May 4 (AP)—The projected Place of Soviets, designed to be the tallest and largest building in the world, will top the Empire State building literally by a head.
An architect's drawing of the building, published when plans were completed, showed the head of a giant statue of Lenin which will surmount the structure completely above a line projected from the top of the Empire State. Lenin's upraised arm parallels the height of the Empire State and his outstretched finger exceeds it.
The great statue, to be constructed of stainless steel, will be 328 feet in height, the head itself 45 feet high, the arm 98 feet long, ending in a thirteen-foot finger stretched over Moscow.
Height To Be 1,377 Feet
To the top of the statue, the height of the building will be 1,377 feet, as compared with 1,248 to the top of the tower of the Empire State, and 1,046 for the Chrysler building.
Deducting 328 feet comprising the statue the usable portion of the building will be 1,049 feet in height.
Plans for the building have changed often since it first was projected, although work has progressed on the foundations. Plans are now declared to have been worked out in every detail and finally completed.
The base of the structure will be 1,500 feet long and 836 feet wide, comprising an area of 121,203 square yards.
The steel substructure of the building will weigh 228,000 metric tons and will consist of alternating cylindrical and conic parts. Above this the lower construction, 234 feet in height, will consist of 32 pairs of huge columns resting on steel plates while the upper structure will be of chromium-copper steel, the formula or which was worked out after two years of experimentation.
Hall To Seat 30,000
The main hall of the palace will seat 20,000 persons in a round amphitheater having a diameter of 390 feet. Seats will be arranged in 31 rows. The hall will occupy an area of 14,352 square yards with a total of 370,000 cubic meters.
Part of the circumference will be assigned to seats for members of the Presidium, diplomatic corps and Soviet and foreign press. During conferences the audience will occupy the area of the hall, but when necessary the main floor space can be transformed into an indoor sports field or area for demonstrations by lowering the seats into a basement.
A circular foyer, formed by two rows of pillars supporting the central portion of the building, will encircle the large hall, displaying large paintings which will depict different episodes of the civil war and socialist construction.
A small hall will seat 3,775 persons in an area of 4,168 square yards, designed to be the biggest hall for theatrical productions in Europe. Its stage will occupy 1,435 square yards.
Terraces Around Tower
Terraces around the tower portion of the building, particularly the terrace planned at the feet of the Lenin statue, will afford a wide view of Moscow.
Designed to rapidly evacuate the 30,000 persons who may occupy the building simultaneously, 62 escalators and 39 elevators have been designed. Thirty thousand persons will be able to leave the building in 19 minutes, and elevators will make the trip to the base of the Lenin statue in three minutes.
Ventilation of the big halls will be accomplished through air vents in the backs of the seats to eliminate drafts.
It is estimated that the statue of Lenin will be fully visible only 90 days of the year, the rest of the time hidden partly or completely in clouds.

Spraying to Save Pecans Reported

Spraying of pecan trees to destroy the case-bearing small worm which is said to result in 90 percent loss of the crop, has been reported to County Agent Elmo V. Cook by two Eastland county men.
George P. Fee of Cisco sprayed approximately 200 trees and Leslie Grap of the Leon Power Plant about 10 trees, said Cook.
The spraying to destroy the worm were the first in the county, according to Cook.
Mixture used in the spraying recommended before May 10 as that date usually marks the worm's hatching, is four pounds of arsenate of lead to 50 gallons of water. One or two sprayings was declared as sufficient.

Roots Crossed to Curb Peach Tree

WASHINGTON (AP)—Through a triumph of tree budding and grafting, the Department of Agriculture has developed a peach tree said to be immune from root-knot.
Root-knot, a disease which causes extensive damage to trees in the light sandy soils of the South and Southwest, is caused by the eelworm, which lives in the soil and attacks the roots of the tree.
Two rootstocks for peaches, both so resistant to root-knot that they are virtually immune, have been introduced and tested by the department. Both promote vigorous growth of peach trees budded or grafted—also normal bloom and fruit.
Seedlings of the Shall peach, a variety grown in the extreme northwestern part of India, were reported resistant in 1934. Further tests have confirmed its desirability, the department said.
The second rootstock, a hybrid is from a cross between the Quetta nectarine and the Bolivian clint peach. The Shall may be propagated from seed. The hybrid propagates readily from root cuttings.

Loboes Preparing for Eastland Thursday

By TOMMY LA MORE
Sitting on the dizzy heights of first place in the western division of the Eastland county baseball league the Cisco Loboes are taking no chances and intense practice will be held every afternoon of this week in preparing for the championship game with Eastland on Thursday of this week.
So far the squad has only one game on schedule for this week besides the Eastland game and the rest of the time will be spent on infield and outfield practice along with batting practice. Several inter-squad games will be played and pitchers will round into form. The team has shown some fine fielding and the hitting has been fair. If the local nine defeats the Mavericks they will have won the western division and the right to play the winner of the eastern division for the county championship. They have won three games to no losses in conference play and won four and lost one in the season play.
