Justice Van Devanter Tastes the Joys of Retirement

Relaxing and unbending as his retirement from active judicial work nears, U. S. Supreme Court Justice Willis Van Devanter enjoys a stroll through a grain field on his farm near Elliott City, Md.

Since his announced retirement tomorrow practically means that he has completed a judicial career that began with his appointment to the Supreme Court in 1910, Van Devanter has evidently enjoyed the slackening of tension. Cordially he posed for cameramen who came to see the farm which has increasingly occupied his attention in recent years. Though he is 87 years old, the justice takes an active interest in the farm's management.

SIXTY WOMEN EMPLOYED BY THE EIGHTH STREET SEWING SCHOOL

Sixty women are now employed at the Cisco WPA Sewing School at 108 West Eighth street. The women make anything from infants' apparel to adults' clothing. They produce infants' apparel mostly and the garments they make are made entirely to be given away to the people who are in relief. The clothing is not given out here, but is sent to district headquarters to be distributed among the different sections of R-relief Aid. These women are paid every ten days and they work six hours a day, beginning at eight and ending at three with an hour off for lunch beginning at twelve and ending at one. This schedule was adopted the first of June. Infants' clothing ranges from sizes of six-month-old to five years of age. The boys' clothing ranges from six to fourteen years of age. The girls' sizes are the same as those of the boys. Men and women's sizes range from fifteen to forty-two. Anything above a forty-two is called a special size and the school is not allowed to make any special clothing. Household furnishings such as towels, sheets, pillow cases, rugs, etc. are produced by the school. After the garments have been cut out the waste material is then sent to the quilting department where piece quilts are made. The leavings from the piece quilts are made into scrap quilts. Pieces of material too small for use in the scrap quilts are then sent to the rug department, where the strings are crocheted into rag rugs. Nothing is wasted. The sewing department contains...

Another 4-inches of rain fell this morning bringing the precipitations to 1.1-inches for the total in the past few days. Gardens and many crops will be benefited by the added moisture. Grain cutting is being delayed.

Aside from traces of rain at Dallas and Corpus Christi, San Antonio, Austin and Lubbock were the only government weather stations reporting rain. San Antonio was deluged with 6.02 inches and rain fell continued Tuesday.

She was accompanied by her navigator, Captain Fred Noonan. Last March 17, Miss Earhart took off from Oakland on a westward flight around the world. It failed when she crashed at Honolulu.

Rupture Between Germany, Vatican

BERLIN, June 1 (UP)—A possible rupture of normal diplomatic relations between Germany and the Vatican was threatened in a note to the Holy See, published here today. The note was in response to the Vatican's reaction to Germany's protest against the recent speech of Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago, belittling Adolf Hitler. Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Jones and children spent the week-end visiting friends in Temple.

PRECIS OF A YEAR'S WORK AT CISCO HI

Cisco high school began her record-breaking career in the Spring of 1937. As far back as last fall the students had begun training in the different extra-curricular activities for the interscholastic meet on April 1, 2 and 3. It was at the county meet that Cisco high school began her voyage on this high and eventful year of winning trophies, banners, medals and honors.

To the Lobo band we make a salute. To the members of the band as well as the Bandmaster, Mr. Robert L. Maddox, for their fine work at Abilene, winning the honor of being the best band in this district. We pay even higher tribute to the band for winning first place in the West Texas Band Contest held at Lubbock. As a result of winning the contest at Lubbock, the Cisco Lions Club sent the group to the National Band Contest at Oklahoma City. Here the band won third place, no band in Texas placing higher. Now Cisco boasts the best band in the state.

Next we wish to recognize the livestock judging team of the Cisco high school department of vocational agriculture. The team was headed by Clarence Dill, who won first place as a stock judge, the best in this state. Other agriculture students won honors. The Livestock Judging Contest was held at Fort Worth. Cecil Edwards and Evatt Horne won honors this year in the National Journalists Tournament. The home economic department of Cisco high school is proud of the...

SUPREME COURT RULES ADVERSE TO NEW DEAL UTILITY CASES

WASHINGTON, June 2 (UP)—The supreme court concluded its 1936-37 term by acting adversely to new deal pleas in three important power and utility cases brought before it. The utility action involved court order rather than written decision. The court ruled: 1. That it would not as requested by the government consider a lower court ruling which ordered the Tennessee Valley to trial in an attack brought by the Tennessee Electric Power Company. 2. That it would not as requested by the government and the utility hear the Electric Bond and Share Company test of the Utility Holding Company Act until the Circuit Court of Appeals has first heard the case. 3. That it would hear despite the protest of the government an appeal by two utility concerns which denied their right to challenge constitutionality of PWA power loans to municipalities.

IF YOUTH BUT KNEW

By CHARLES M. SCHWAB
Chairman Bethlehem Steel Corporation

My idea of the successful life is the man who has successfully accomplished the object for which he set out, to do something that is worthy of the real American man. Money is often a matter of chance or good fortune but is not the mark of a successful life. It is not the thing that brings the throbs of pleasure or a thrill into my life; but when I look about me and see the multitude of friends that I have after 40 years of business association, when I see the great lines of smoking stacks and blazing furnaces that have come into being because of my interest and activity of life, when I see a work that I set out to do successfully accomplished and meeting the approval of my fellow man, then a real thrill comes into my heart and I feel that I have done something worth while.

If I were asked to say the most important things that lead to a successful life I should say that first of all was integrity, unimpeachable integrity. No man can ever be anything of any great value in life and have the confidence and approval of his fellow men or be successful in his undertakings with other business men if he does not have the reputation of being a man of honor and integrity.

A man must also be a true democrat. The educated man must not get the idea that education makes him superior to any other skilled man who has devoted his life to mastering one business.

The hardest struggle for all of us is to be something different from what the average man is. I do not believe in "super men," for the world is full of capable men but it's the fellow with determination who wins out.

Another important thing is loyalty. Be loyal. What mensur of success I may have won in life I attribute to the loyalty I had to a dear old friend who was my first steel master. The great man in life who has won great acclaim and reputation is the very man who is willing to share and give the honor to others in doing the things that made him great. You must learn to let others share with you in that which you are doing, and honor and credit will be reflected upon you for so doing.

Be friendly. Lead the life that will make you kindly and friendly to every one about you and you will be surprised at what a happy life you will live.

There are other things in life than mere work. I believe an appreciation of the finer things in life, the learning to know the beauties of literature and art and music, will help any man in his career. No active business life, whether it is manufacturing or something else, should prevent you from enjoying the beauties of life. These finer things will contribute to your success.

If you have any influence in the world to give you a start in life do not use it. Start upon your own merits and start some lowly position no matter what it is.

Go at your work. You may not find yourself the first year. Do not hesitate to change, if you find it is not according to your taste and ambitions, then change and go into something else that is more pleasant. No man can be successful at work if he does not find the work that he has to do pleasant.

Opportunities must come naturally. The only way they can come naturally is to give your whole heart, give your whole soul, give your every thought, give your every act to the accomplishment of what you are going to undertake.

English Girl Athletes to Compete For the Title of "Miss Venus of 1937"

LONDON, June 1 (AP)—A feature of the Festival of Youth to be held on July 3 at Wembley Stadium in aid of the King George V memorial fund will be a parade of 30 British girls with figures as near that of the Venus de Milo as can be found. They will represent the Women's Amateur Athletic Association.

The association has circulated 50 affiliated clubs seeking the "perfect" figures. Nothing is said about faces, but each candidate must have these measurements:
Height—5 feet, 4 inches to 5 feet, 6 inches.
Bust—33 to 34 inches.
Hips—36 to 37 inches.
Just to refresh memories, the measurements of the Venus de Milo are:
Height—5 feet, 4 inches.

Bust—37 inches.
Hips—38 inches.
Mrs. J. Cornell, an official of the national A.A.A., hastened to explain that not for years has Venus been accepted as the perfect figure so far as bust is concerned. Then why were these measurements specified?
"We want to show that women can be athletic without losing their figures," Mrs. Cornell said. "People get the idea that as soon as a girl takes up sports she must lose her figure, and become a huge, masculine hulk."
"Well, it isn't so. Athletics help girls keep their figures, and this parade will show how well. There are plenty of girls in the association whose figures conform to these requirements, and all are trained athletes.

"The modern girl has a better figure than the Venus de Milo; the girls in the association can prove it—and will on July 3."
There's no doubt that plenty of British girls have figures approximating these measurements. Most American girls are taller than the American average, and a national characteristic is a tendency to a large bust and hips.
The 36 English Venuses will wear white vests and black shorts in the parade.

AMERICANS TREK TO CANADA

FORT ERIE, Ont. (AP)—A great increase in purchases of summer homes here by Americans is reported by border customs officials. The purchases, it is understood, have been stimulated by the provision in existing custom-exercise regulations that allows Americans to bring in duty free all the furniture they need.

Luckily Detective Bumps Into His Man

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Perhaps it was luck—or just a coincidence.
Detective Fred Cain opened his mail and studied a circular from New York authorities which described Harry Becker, 48, wanted for parole violation in that state.
Detective Cain filed the circular on his hat and started to the corner lunch-wagon for a morning snack.
On the steps of the police station he collided with a man who answered Becker's description.
Arrested, the man admitted his identity. He was returned to New York.

CARDUI

In this modern time something wonderfully worth while can be done for practically every woman who suffers from functional pains of menstruation. Certain cases can be relieved by taking Cardui. Others may need a physician's treatment.
Cardui has two widely demonstrated uses: (1) To ease the immediate pain and nervousness of the monthly period; and (2) to aid in building up the whole system by helping women to get more strength from their food.

CHAPTER V
PEACEFUL, methodical days in the Monterey suite had come to an end. Any and every hour of the day or night Rosie descended upon the locked apartment. She was rehearsing for the new play and hinted that her part in the red-heads was meager and allowed no opportunity for her special talents. With a proprietary manner she dragged Don out for dinner night after night, invited herself for lunch and for tea. And Don seemed powerless against the surge of her attentions.

Inwardly, Pats was a seething torment. She looked on Rosie with an all-consuming hatred; more than that, she feared her. Rosie was working toward a goal. She was brazenly clever, openly seductive. Some day Don would find himself married to her. Pats was sure of that.
But she had underestimated Don's will power. One morning, while Rosie was rehearsing, he called Pats into the living room and closed the door.
"I'm at the end of my patience," he blurted out, pacing back and forth, his jaw set determinedly. Pats knew he referred to Rosie but she said nothing. She had come to the place where tears trembled behind her eyes every time Don spoke to her. "I've got to make the next move and I'm going to make it right now," he went on. "Perhaps you'd better sit down while I tell you about it." Pats sank into a chair, her bewildered eyes never leaving his face.

"I NEED a wife," he said flatly. "If I had a wife I'd get some peace from designing females. You've seen me suffer." He laughed shortly. "That's why I'm asking you to be generous enough to marry me."
Pats gasped, as if he had thrown ice water in her face. "This is my proposition," he continued in a business-like tone. "You are the only woman I know who does not irritate me, who allows me a little life of my own. You have protected me from that office-like a good fellow and I'm asking you to extend that protection to my private life. If agreeable to you we will go quietly and be married. You will live in this apartment. I will introduce you as my wife. The world need never know the facts, that it is merely a business arrangement, to be ended immediately at your wish or mine."

Pats sat still. Objects in the room whirled about her head. In vain she sought to steady her reeling brain; desperately she tried to hear and understand what he was saying.
"My lawyer has drawn up these papers," he indicated a legal document on the desk. "It's something like a partnership or a corporation, subject to almost instant dissolution at the wish of either party."

When Pats remained silent he continued. "For this service I shall offer you five hundred dollars a month and your living will be taken care of. If the agreement is ever ended by me, and I promise you on my honor that you shall have your freedom without question if you desire it, I will settle a substantial amount upon you. Does the idea appeal to you?"
Pats came out of her daze to ask, "What would my duties be?"
"Point well taken," said Don. "Your present duties would be turned over to someone else. Naturally a man doesn't want his wife to work." The words were casual but they sent the blood racing through Pats' veins. "His wife!" Magic words. "If you accept my proposition you will accompany me everywhere I go, to the theater, to cocktail parties, dinners, dances, when I go out in my car you will sit beside me."
"I see," Pats broke in weakly. "I'm to be a sort of human buffer."
He laughed. "That sounds a bit harsh but you are right."
"But what about me?" she asked rather wistfully.
"I know the idea sounds grossly selfish but after all, is it? I understand you are obliged to work for your living and this position I offer would be easier and better paid. There's one thing. . . . He stopped and frowned uneasily. "Of course if there is a man—someone you love. . . ."

SOMEONE she loved. Pats' heart almost turned over. The man she loved was brazenly asking her to be a fence behind which he might hide, a smoke screen for his protection. But, and the thought brought little ripples of excitement, he was asking her to accept his name, to live near him, to share his life. It was something—it was a lot.

"When would you want me to—do it?" she faltered.
"As soon as possible. I've stood about all I can," he confessed.
Pats spoke slowly. "I'm practically alone in the world. I shall consider this offer as an advancement and accept on your own generous terms."
Don looked at her almost fondly. "You're a wonderful woman," he said warmly. "A darn good fellow. Would—would you marry me today?"
Something thundered over Pats like the wash of waves. "Why not?" she heard herself saying.
With Sims as a witness they signed the legal document and Pats hurried home to change. Don told her to take a few things and they would keep out of sight until the thing blew over.

They drove to Jersey City. Pats wondered if any marriage had ever been so utterly devoid of romance, so plainly matter of fact. When it was over and she sat beside Don in the deeply cushioned roadster, she had the queer feeling of waking from a ridiculous dream or of being someone she had never heard of. The only tangible proof that the thing had really happened was the circlet of diamonds on the third finger of her left hand.

THEY drove along the Hudson, their destination being the unoccupied summer home of one of Don's friends.
"I'll have to stop calling you Miss—er—Warren," Don was saying, laughing at himself. "And I hadn't the slightest idea of your first name until I bought the license. Let me see—is it Patricia?"
"Patricia," she told him.
The house where they were to spend their strange honeymoon was large and rambling. An elderly custodian and his wife were in charge. Don and Pats dined in state, one at each end of a long table, separated by three yards of damask and six lighted candles. Don was courteous itself but Pats knew she had no place in his thoughts. After dinner he found a suitable table, unpacked his typewriter and set to work.

Long after Pats had gone to bed in a lovely chintz hung room she heard the rhythmic tap-tap of the keys. Don had said he supposed he could call her darling, it was a pitifully small thing to remember on her wedding night but the casual word of endearment had been magic on his lips.

Canadian Racket Million a Week

MONTREAL (UP)—Financial racketeers rob Canadians of nearly $1,000,000 a week, the annual report of the Montreal Better Business Bureau reveals.
 The report shows that the costliest frauds are perpetrated by racketeers who establish credit, obtain goods from wholesalers and then disappear with them—loan sharks, fake charity promoters, advertising swindlers and cash bond racketeers.

ROAD STUDY UNDERTAKEN
 BISMARCK, N. D. (UP)—Future policies of the North Dakota highway department will depend in part, at least, on results of a study now being made of past records of foundations, surfaces and maintenance procedures.

Fifty to Ride Mountain Trail

BANFF, Alberta, June 1 (UP)—Mouna Assiniboine, long known as the Matterhorn of the Canadian Rockies, will be the objective of the annual five-day ride from Banff starting July 30 and ending Aug. 3. The trip, arranged by the band of outdoor enthusiasts known as the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, will be headed by their new president, R. H. Palenske, of Chicago.

Riding trail by day and sleeping under canvas at night, the group will spend two nights in the camp at the base of the 12,000-foot mountain, with plenty of extra time for fishing in nearby Marvel Lake or for hiking.

This cavalcade will set out along Brewster's Creek for Brewster Camp, where the first night will be spent, and then continues to Mt. Assiniboine, remaining there the next two nights. The fourth day's trek is through the Simpson Range and over the 7,000-foot Simpson Pass to Sunshine Camp. On the following morning the group follows Healy Creek into the Borgeau Range for the annual Pow-Wow before re-entering Banff. The party will consist of 50 riders, plus a crew of guides, cooks, horsehandlers and a pack train of 50 horses to carry camping gear and supplies.

The Trail Riders' membership of more than 1,200 is scattered on all the five continents, and includes representatives of the arts, professional and business worlds. Ransay MacDonald and the ex-King and Queen of Siam are active members.

Long known as the Matterhorn of the Canadian Rockies, Mt. Assiniboine (11,870 ft.) probably was seen in 1841 by the early explorer Sir George Simpson, and later named for the tribe of Assiniboine or Stony Indians who inhabit the region. The mountain's first accredited visitor was R. L. Barrett, who reached it in 1893 under the guidance of the late Tom Wilson of Banff. The first to climb this peak was Sir James Ostram, who in 1901 stood on its summit locked down its sheer wall to the shining glacier 6,000 feet below and counted a dozen lakes in the ranges that stretched before him. A dozen years ago the peak was scaled by Harry Pollard, Canadian photographer and charter member

Beauty Baths Aid Prize Hogs

FOND DU LAC, Wis., June 1 (UP)—A little knowledge about beauty culture has aided Lester and Louis Dyer, Fond du Lac county youths, in making a success of raising Poland China hogs.

Since 1931, when their father Eugene Dyer, a farmer, gave them two pigs, the boys have made $1,000 through application of scientific methods in breeding show animals. They have won 150 stage and county fair ribbons, 90 of them for first places.

Frequent baths with tar soap and a scrub brush make better hogs, they say. Twice a month during the summer their prize animals must be placed in a small crate and bathed. Before the fairs and livestock shows open, the animals receive five weekly scrubbings with olive oil to make them appear well-groomed and sleek.

Lester, a high school sophomore, plans to enter 22 animals in 7 county fairs, the state fair and the Mississippi Valley fair at Daventon, Ia., this summer. Louis, two years older than Lester, proudly exhibits two trophies he has won, merchandise prizes and one of 10 honor achievement pins presented by the state.

Together, the youths have raised 200 hogs from the original two which they bought. They have taken in $1,590, of which $590 went for expenses. Last year, six of the Dyer animals won places at the Wisconsin state fair.

Motorist, 89, Drives His 45th Automobile

BARRE, Mass. (UP)—Charles H. Follansby, 89, passed his driving test, compulsory at 65, with flying colors—but Barre residents didn't think it strange.
 For Follansby was the first man in town to purchase an automobile and has owned 45 during his life. He has held a license since 1909 and has made 38 transcontinental tours.

Mysterious Calls Continue 2 Years

ST. LOUIS (UP)—For two years Dr. and Mrs. Glenn R. Northrup silently endured a series of mysterious telephone calls here. Finally their patience gave out and they complained to police.

For the first 16 months, when Mrs. Northrup answered one of the calls, she heard a torrent of abuse, sometimes from a man and others from a woman, ending suddenly without a revelation of identity. When Dr. Northrup answered, he was summoned to a vacant building or lot.

Eight months ago, the callers changed tactics. Dr. or Mrs. North-

Boxer Fights Fires While Out of Ring

CLEVELAND (UP)—Paul Pirrone, Cleveland pugilist, fights not only in the ring but at fires as well.

Pirrone's hobby is hopping fire trucks and helping the Garfield Heights Fire Station No. 1 firemen put out blazes. In the past few years that he has practiced this hobby, the boxer has had many varied experiences.
 He once lost the decision in an attempted rescue of two canary birds.

RAILROADS ASK COURT ENJOIN STEEL UNION

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 1 (UP)—Three railroads today petitioned in federal court for an injunction to prevent the CIO steel workers union from blockading freight shipments to the Republic Steel Corporation's plant.

At the same time an action was filed in County Court by a stockholder of the Republic Corporation who charged that the company had illegally spent more than $1,000,000 for machine guns, revolvers, tear gas bombs and ammunition for employment of "company thugs" to combat the union.

Sheriff Roy Hardman of Warren said 1,000 pickets engaged a large number of men in a brickbat fight at the Republic plant there. Two men suffered head wounds.

Quaker Oats For Growing Children

"Yes," said Farmer Brown "we're growing better hogs and chickens better farm animals of all kinds since we learned how to feed 'em right."

"And we're growing better children, too—since we learned how to feed them right," said the extension worker. "Do you know, I've been reading reports where whole groups of children grew stronger and healthier, improved physically and mentally, all because they started getting the right kind of food. The right kind of food is just as important to youngsters as it is to farm animals."

And the extension worker is right. Every day we are learning more and more about the importance of proper diet for our children. Oatmeal is an example.

We have known for a long time that Quaker Oats was a wonderful food for youngsters; that oatmeal with milk supplied them with the food-energy and mineral active boys and girls need. Then science made an even more important discovery about Quaker Oats. In it scientists found a rich supply of a food element called Vitamin B—the precious element that protects young and old against nervousness, constipation, poor appetite, in cases where poor condition is the result of lack of sufficient Vitamin B in the diet. Thus, diet experts are more than ever urging that youngsters be fed a bowl of oatmeal every day. The medical experts watching over the famous Quaker Oats set an example for the whole world when they chose Quaker Oats as the cereal for the five world-famous babies. We've spent years learning how to grow better farm animals. Now the children are going to have their chance.

Jaycees Knock Over Red Front 6 to 5

The fast-improving and hustling Jaycees team knocked over the league-leading Red Front team 5 to 6 last night in a fast, close game. The soft ball games have been getting better every week. The Jaycees came from behind to tie Red Front and the game was a tie going into the last of the seventh inning. Aycock first man up for the Jaycees in the seventh inning struck out. Garrett fooled him and got his third walk for the night. Belew popped out. Harper followed and got a walk. Then with two men out and two ducks on the pond, Allen, the left fielder for Jaycees, got a sharp single into left field, scoring Garrett and ending the game.

Due to shifted lineups several errors were made by both teams, but the game was so fast that this did not take much of the attraction from it.

Boyet, for Red Front, got seven strike outs and gave up seven hits. Carmichael for Jaycees got three strike outs and gave five hits. Carmichael walked five men and Boyett seven.

FRANCE AND ENGLAND TO STAND UNITED

PARIS, June 1 (UP)—France and Great Britain have given Italy and Germany clear intimations that continued direct action in the Spanish civil war may have disastrous consequences for all Europe, it was learned today.

The situation resulting from the German naval bombardment of Almeria was one in which a misplaced bomb fired by some excited aviator or naval officer might provide Europe with the spark needed to set off the war for which all powers are arming.

Some German warships have left for the Mediterranean to reinforce the fleet there.

Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini who speak and act for their nations, were in close cooperation and left no doubt that they would act together in any emergency.

On the other side, France and Great Britain sought by all means to prevent a crisis, but the fact was that they seemed as united for the purposes of any emergency as the Nazi-Fascist combination.

First Meal in 10 Years Ice Cream, Potatoes

SEATTLE, May 31. (UP)—Unable to eat for 10 years because of a throat ailment, Carl L. Peterson, 78, of Kirkland, Wash., was relieved by two operations performed here.

"I pretty near forgot how to eat," he said. "But I didn't forget how to enjoy food." His first meal consisted of ice cream and mashed potatoes.

While he was disabled, Peterson was fed milk and other liquid foods through a tube.

RECORDS 40,852 BIRTHS

SAN DIEGO, Cal. (UP)—Adolph J. Mende, who in the last 25 years has guaranteed the legal existence of 26,154 boys and 24,704 girls, has decided it's time to quit work. Mende became the official recorder for the state in San Diego county in 1912 when he took office as registrar of vital statistics.

BIRTHDAYS TOGETHER

AMESBURY, Mass. (UP)—Barbara, Eleanor and Jean Andrews aren't triplets—but they celebrate their birthday anniversaries the same day. Last May 17, Mr. and Mrs. Percival Andrews presented their daughters with three cakes. Barbara's had 18 candles, Eleanor's 12 and Jean's seven.

MARRIAGE OF DUKE TO COST THIRTY CENTS

MCNTS, France, June 1 (UP)—The Duke of Windsor paced the floor smoking cigarettes today while the finishing touches were put on plans for his marriage Thursday to Mrs. Wallis Warfield.

It was announced that the ceremony would be held at 11:30 a. m. (4:30 a. m. Central Time) instead of noon as previously arranged. It was explained that the earlier hour was "more convenient."

Thursdays marriage will be devoid of pomp and will have no religious ceremony. It will last about eight minutes, will cost less than thirty cents, and there will be no royalty present.

DR. STEPHENSON OPENS GROUND FLOOR OFFICE

Dr. G. M. Stephenson, physician, osteopath, has opened his ground floor office suite at 310 Main street where he has arranged most perfect accommodations for his clientele with reception room, office, minor surgery, osteopath treatment room and lounge room.

BRITAIN MAY EXTEND CENSORSHIP OF MAILS

LONDON, May 31 (AP)—A plan for censoring British mails, as a method of stopping the growing scandal of "share-pushing" through the post, is being considered by the government.

The censoring power already exists in the case of letters from the Irish Free State which are suspected of containing Irish sweepstakes.

thirty sewing machines. The cutting department contains five tables. The sixty women work five days in one department and then work five more days in another department. This enables the women to learn how to do everything done in the school. There is an instructor in each department all of the time.

The last department is the finishing department where all garments are inspected and wrapped. If there is a flaw in a garment, it is sent back to the woman who made it for alteration or what ever needs be done.

The school has made 216 garments for the Cisco Nursery. They have also made 24 cup towels and 26 sheets for the infants.

A portion of the building is set aside for a store room in which materials and finished products are placed.

All workers in the school must have two smocks which must be worn in the sewing room.

"Happy workers" is the atmosphere of the room, "efficiency" is their slogan and "service and kindness to all" is their motto. No talking nor any use of tobacco is allowed by the women while working, and they must always be neat and clean.

Mrs. Callie D. Ward, the supervisor, said that she had excellent co-operation from the women. Mrs. Eva M. Oney is timekeeper.

The Cisco high school boys' basketball team consisting of Gordon Sherman, Odell Harrison, Marcell Harrison, Joe Slicker, Bill Donohoe and Royce Rainbolt, won over three county champions although they did not make such a fine showing at the county meet. The boys basketball team was under the direction of Coach W. E. Cooper.

Other extra-curricular activities that helped Cisco high school to win the trophy for being the best all-round school in this district are: the girls' playground ball team, under the direction of Miss Bradshaw; the boys' playground ball team, under the direction of Mr. Stamey; the tennis teams under the direction of Mr. Grasty; the typing team under the direction of Bandmaster Maddox; the girls' volleyball team under the direction of Miss Collins; the shorthand team under the direction of Miss Riek; and the essay writing team under the direction of Mrs. E. Cis Lomax won third place at Brownwood for his declamation on "My Home Town." Cecil Edwards was his only opponent in the try-outs at the high school to see who would go to Brownwood.

Toward the end of the school year this year Cisco high school elected a most handsome boy Mackie McGowan; prettiest girl Mary Francis Stansbury; wittiest boy Luther Ponsler; cleverest girl Louise Lawson; best all-round boy Joe Slicker; best all-round girl Martha Rhew Dawkins. The election was climaxed with the election of a King Lobo, who was to choose his Queen Lobo Frank Yarger was elected King Lobo and for his Queen he chose Noma King.

Last came the baccalaureate sermon by Dr. E. S. James, Sunday May 29. The seniors graduate tonight at 8:15, with Joe Slicker as the presiding senior.

In the 1936-37 term of the school year there are more than these things which they will want to long remember. Some of them are: the good-will trips made by the Lobo band; the Texas Tech Band; Texas State Teachers College Choir; the band clinic at Waco; Sam Baugh's visit to the Grammar school; the banquet; the election of Walter Roach for Cisco's football coach for the 1937-38 term; and especially Cisco high school wants to thank the various organizations of the city for their co-operation in preparing some of those splendid preparatory programs. Lesser things that added to the entertainment of this school year were Freshman Week and Senior Day. The students all enjoyed the little things that Mr. Stamey did for them like letting them hear the Coronation Speech of King George VI of England, and the many glad holidays he rendered.

In closing, we think it fitting that a little tribute be paid to the teachers for their co-operation in doing their best to make this school more entertaining and more useful to the student body, so the students say.

I used to be a Private Secretary

Before I married, I mean. Which was three years ago. But I still remember—and I'm never going to forget—how my boss ran his business.

I never saw such a successful man. When I first started to work for him, I thought he was just lucky. But I learned differently after I was with him for a while.

He never gave out a contract—never bought a thing, mind you—until he had studied all the bids made him, and compared all the points. I used to collect and file them for him, so he could get the facts when he needed them. So I know.

I know now, all right. That's the way I run my home. Only I don't have to collect and file my bids. I get them regularly in my newspaper. And do I study the advertisements carefully before I buy? You're telling me!

Advertisements are news. Vital, practical news.
