Belgian Premier And Wife Arrive

HIGHWAY WORK CONTRACTS TO BE LET LATER

AUSTIN, June 25 (U.P.)—Texas Highway Commission issued an invitation to the National Association of Highway Officials to hold the 1938 meeting in Dallas. The importance of the Pan-American highway was heard in behalf of a Texas senate. Other developments at Thursday's hearing included: A Katy highway grade-crossing separation at Cisco was requested to be put on the works program at a cost of $130,000. The request now goes to the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

The East end of Highway 1 through Cisco was placed definitely as a project of highway building for 1937-38 in an order recently passed by the department, and the overpass was placed on the order for work when the highway department scheduled the Cisco bridge-building in its authorization of Thursday's sittings at Austin. The order as passed was scheduled as follows: "Other appropriations for bridge projects by counties were, Eastland—Ordered added to grade elimination program, separation of highway 1, at M. K. T. tracks in Cisco."

Money will be available for 1937-38 projects immediately following July 1, and some projects will be let on the sixth of the month, others are expected to follow. Since both the East end of the highway and the overpass have now been definitely placed on the work order these lettings may occur at any time thereafter. It has been generally understood that highway building will precede the work on the overpass, however, both contracts may be let at the same time.

Slayer to Die in Chair

Trial for Lester Brockelhurst started, and ended yesterday in his assessment of death penalty in the electric chair. He fainted when the verdict was rendered. His feminine companion (also above) of highway trips, Bernice Felton, awaits trial which is scheduled to begin today.

WORLD NEWS FLASHES ON WIRES TODAY

LONDON, June 25 (U.P.)—The government informed the House of Commons today that there is grave danger of war in Europe, but that with patience and caution, Britain may avert it. Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain made a dramatic speech that members of commons struck as a parallel to the historic speech of Sir Edward Gray late in July 1914 when he warned of the danger ahead. Sir Anthony Eden, foreign secretary joining in the debate said, "There rests on the government the appalling responsibility to take no steps to provoke conflict."

ROME, Italy, June 25 (U.P.)—The Genoa Shipping Company announced today that the 10,000 Spanish cargo boat, Magallanes rammed and sank the 5,000 ton Italian steamer Capo Pino in the Dardanelles straits today. The 12 passengers were saved but a cargo of wheat was lost.

ROME, Italy, June 25 (U.P.)—Premier Mussolini has ordered Italian warships to station themselves just outside the mile limit of Spanish waters and to be ready to defend any Italian.

Across Pacific in Iron Lung

Frederick B. Snite, Jr., 26, infantile paralysis victim who was stricken in China and has breathed for more than 447 days by an especially contrived mechanical lung, was safely transferred from ship to train at San Francisco, Calif., and has just completed his journey from China to Chicago. Only worry was a stiff neck, which his two Chinese nurses are doing their best above to alleviate.

Are We Drifting Is Sermon Subject

Attendance at the 12th Street Methodist church last night was good and almost every one present responded to the re-consecration appeal made by Rev. G. C. Williams who is doing the preaching at the revival services this week. Pastor Preston Broxton says much good is being accomplished by the challenging sermons.

The subject announced for tonight is "The Drifter" from Hebrews 2:1. "Therefore we ought to give the more earnest heed to the things which we have heard, lest at any time we should drift away from them."

Are we drifting with the trend of the times; following the course of least resistance? Or is our life original, and aggressive?

Miller vs. Miller In Grudge Game

The Millers tie into their grudge game tonight at the soft ball field. Last week Miller's Man Store won the grocery bill according to their statement, and this week Butch Miller's grocers say the Man's store will be out a new suit for their leader.

Both managers are highly confident and aver they will resign if beaten. The score must reach 20 points and anyone playing good ball will be removed from the game.

A. C. Donica Reports On Georgetown Meet

A card received from A. C. Donica, who is attending the Young People's assembly of the Methodist church at Southwestern University Georgetown, reports all are having an enjoyable time, and expect to return home Saturday.

Ciscoans Attending De Leon Tabernacle

Dr. David F. Tyndall, who is holding a meeting at De Leon, was honored Thursday evening by the presence of the following Ciscoans: Mmes. B. F. Benedict, F. M. Hooks, G. W. Troxell, Howard D'Spain, James Mobley, Bob Winston, V. E. McClaren, David Tyndall, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Flournoy and Misses Marie Winston, Alice Bacon and Mary Sue Mobley.

POLK COUNTY COUPLE TAKEN BY 4 CONVICTS

GLEN ROSE, June 25 (U.P.)—Deputies from three counties searched the rough country of southwest Somerall county today for four men believed to be escaped convicts from Eastham prison farm.

The quartet kidnaped Harold David, 23, and Mildred Dearing, 18, at Corrigan, Polk county, Thursday night and rode with them all night to Covington, Hill county.

David said the men stopped in several towns seeking an opportunity to steal clothes, gasoline and razor blades. At Covington, they held up a night watchman and went with him to the home of J. A. McNally, a mechanic. McNally was forced to open his garage and the bandits took the automobile of M. T. Davis, bank president.

The Davis car stalled after failing to make a sharp curve, four miles northwest of Covington, and the couple was left with the abandoned car.

David was made to change clothes with one of the men. He said the bandits spoke of plans to rob a bank.

The fugitives last were reported a few miles southwest of Glen Rose speeding toward the rough country where officers believed they had friends who would shield them.

Somervell, Hill and Johnson county officers organized a search.

Eastland to Tell Neighbors of Fete

EASTLAND, June 25—A motorcade to advertise the July 3, 4 and 5 celebration here next week will visit 14 towns for extension of invitations.

The Eastland high school band directed by G. W. Collum, will accompany the motorcade. All trips are to be in the afternoon. The list of towns in the schedule is as follows: Tuesday Oden, Ranger, Strawn, Desdemona De Leon, Gorman and Carbon; Wednesday, Cisco, Rising Star and Cross Plains, and Thursday, Morton Valley, Breckenridge.

Baptist Picnic to Be Tonight at Lake

Baptists, take notice: All Baptists, families and friends remember the basket picnic this evening at seven o'clock at Cisco Lake.

All those desiring to participate in this picnic, are urged to meet at the church and those who do not have cars will be provided ways of transportation. Those who have room in their cars are requested to be at the church also in order to give rides to those who do not have a way to attend this picnic.

All-Stars Play Free Game Here

Ranger Lone Star team will play Cisco Gas Corp at the local field here Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock. It has been announced. This game will be played in connection with the program of the Lone Star picnic and no admission will be charged. A big crowd is expected.

SOLONS PASS OUTLAW BILLS FOR GAMBLING

AUSTIN, June 25 (U.P.)—Bills outlawing bookie shops and dog racing with heavy penalties for violation finally passed the Texas legislature today.

Conference committee reports were adopted by the senate late yesterday. This morning the house passed the bookie bill 110 yeas to 9 nays and the dog racing bill 109 yeas to 12 nays.

Betting on horse, dog, motorcycle, automobile or any other race, football and baseball games, and all sporting events is prohibited in the new law.

Penalty for accepting bets gave one to five years in the penitentiary or ten days to a year in jail, and a $100 to $1,000 fine. Furnishing sports information for book-making is punishable by a $100 to $1,000 fine.

The heavy majority vote the bills received will make them immediately effective upon the governor's approval.

'BATHING REVUE DIFFERENT' MISS ZONA MILLER PROMISES

Miss Zona Miller, who is in charge of bathing revue events for the big Cisco celebration at Lake Cisco, Monday, July 5, says this will be something quite different from any like event in past years. The preliminary bathing event will be held Saturday night, July 3, to choose Miss Cisco who will represent her town in the Oil Belt beauty contest to be held on Monday evening, July 5.

A water pageant will be held Sunday night, July 4, said Miss Miller, and plans are now being made for that event.

Miss Cisco will compete against all contenders at the Monday evening Oil Belt revue. Miss Miller is holding her bag of tricks tightly closed on the nature of the event. She says the old time program will be dispensed with and a delightful surprise will be in store for the thousands who witness this stella attraction to the big show that has brought record breaking crowds to Lake Cisco ever since the recreational grounds have been created.

Special Lay Services At Methodist Church

Rev. Joe I. Patterson writes from S. M. U. Dallas, where he is officiating in the Methodist activities to say there will be a special layman's service at the First Methodist church in Cisco, Sunday at 10:50. S. H. Nance, church lay leader, will preside. District Lay-Leader E. E. McGlamery will bring the message.

About 2,000 persons including officials, employes and their families of the Lone Star and Community Gas companies, will invade Cisco Saturday to stage their annual picnic celebrations at Lake Cisco and the country club grounds. A basket picnic, golf events, swimming fishing, boating, and an honor luncheon for officials, will be included in the schedule for the day. Every thing has been completed in the arrangements to make this a gala day in the annals of Lone Star recreational activities, which have been features of each year during their past history. Prominent officials of both Lone Star and Community Natural gas organizations are due to be present. The general committee consisting of Sam Gamble, Hal Hunter and Hal Dyer, aided by the local chamber of commerce, have provided a schedule for the day's entertainment as follows:

Program
12 noon, Luncheon, honoring the officials and department heads from Dallas. Sponsored by the Cisco Chamber of Commerce. Employes who wish to attend this luncheon may purchase tickets from J. E. Spencer, Secretary of the Chamber

DOPY PRISONER SHOOT DOCTOR WHEN AROUSED

PLAINVIEW, June 25 (U.P.)—Dr. E. F. McClendon, 69, pioneer Panhandle physician was wounded fatally today by a prisoner he was called to treat at the Hale County jail.

Bill Shook, deputy sheriff, was shot through the left shoulder, but the injury was not critical.

The prisoner said he was H. E. King, 39, from Harris county. He was arrested at Paterburg, 12 miles southeast, last Thursday on a report that he was "acting peculiarly."

About four o'clock this morning Deputy Sheriffs Shook and Nath Burkett called Dr. McClendon, County Health officer to administer a sedative. The deputies entered the cell first to quiet the prisoner. But Burkett was knocked down with a broom handle and his gun taken. The prisoner fired three shots. One struck Dr. McClendon in the heart.

District Attorney Charles Dean prepared to file murder charges against King today.

Scout Meet Tonight Has Been Postponed

A wire from L. B. Denning, president of the Lone Star Gas Company to E. P. Crawford, states that on account of activities of the Dallas chamber of commerce, of which he is president, relative to entertaining distinguished guests at the Pan-American exposition now in session, he will be unable to attend the boy scout meeting scheduled for tonight in Cisco.

The scout meeting will be postponed until such time as Mr. Denning, who is a prominent scout official, can be present, said Mr. Crawford.

Leach Gets Revenge For Earlier Defeat

Leach stores soft ball team went out Thursday night to get revenge for the defeat given them by the Nance Motor company last week and they got it to the tune of 19-8. Nance Motors started off fast by grabbing a four-run lead in the first inning and made it look like they might repeat their last week's win. "Cotton Bill", Nance center fielder and leadoff man, got a single in the first inning; W. Bell followed with an out. McQuary got a life on an error; Elliott came through with a hit, scoring Bell; Eddleman got on by an error and E. K. Sherman came through with a nice hit to clear the bases. Nance had scored four time to

The Dead Fish Shake

His hand lay in mine like a dead fish, said a man, speaking of the way another had shaken hands with him.

Dead-fish hand-shaking is not heart warming. What is the sense of striking hands at all unless one is going to put a little soul into the proposition?

The time was when putting the palms of right hands together had an important significance; it showed that those palms concealed no weapons.

The reason still for shaking hands is to show either friendship or courtesy or both. And there isn't much of either expressed in the dead-fish shake.

Also, what do you think of the individual who listlessly extends one finger toward you as a substitute for a hand shake?

"The next time she does that," said a woman referring to a woman who had the one-finger habit, "I am going to stick out my finger and put the end of it on the end of her finger, and see what she thinks of that."

Most folks like to receive a cordial hand grip—not too cordial of course, one never cares to feel as though one has had one's hand in a stone crusher; but most persons do like to get the impression that there is some substance and vitality in the grip of another's fingers.

The listless hand shake indicates a cold heart, indifferent temperament, doesn't it? And the hearty vigorous one denotes a whole souled, warm spirit, doesn't it? Don't let that fool you. One of the finest, most loyal, big-hearted persons we know shakes hands as though his fingers were made of weiners. And one of the slickest, most undependable, consciousnessless men we have met prabs your hand as though that were the one thing he had been yearning to do all of his life.

The character of the hand shake does indicate more or less the temperament of the shaker. Extremely conservative persons are not apt to shake hands with great gusto. They don't do much of anything with great gusto; yet they may be staunch and true; while flighty, effervescent persons may seize your hand with all sorts of energy.

The hand shake affords a chance for much make-believe. A fellow may give your digits a hearty, affectionate squeeze because he wants to sell you a piece of real estate or steal your wife. A pretty woman may shut down on your phalanges as though you were the soul she had been seeking through eternity, simply because she wants you to vote for her husband.

After all there isn't much occasion for the hand shake today. In some circles it is sparsely employed. There are folks who don't like to have their hands taken hold of by Tom, Dick and Harry. Hand-shaking is all right if one likes it; but it has come to be more or less a perfunctory matter like woman's kiss to woman, which really doesn't impart much of anything except fibs and microbes.

Some public men always disinfect their hands thoroughly after going through a hard hand-shaking ordeal.

CAST OF CHARACTERS CAROLEE COLTER, heroine, prospector's daughter. STUART BLAKE, eastern "dude" tourist; Carolee's lover. HENRY POTTER, prospector. PAUL AND SILAS COLTER, prospector's sons. NINA BLAKE, Stuart's sister.

Yesterday, The Blakes meet the Colters and a shot rings out of Fred Potter's store. Officer Burke sprouts to the scene.

CHAPTER II

NO more shots were fired, but Officer Jim Burke caught a glimpse of frozen drama when he entered Potter's store. Mutual surprise, astonishment, seemed to be written on everyone's face. Fred Potter came to life first.

"Now, now, Jim, it's all right! It's all right!" Fred greeted him. "We just had a little—"

"The hell it is! I wish I'd killed him! I'll do it yet!" Paul Colter was almost shouting it. He struggled to be free from his father and his sister who held him.

"Now, now, gentlemen—let's all calm down—let's all—"

Fred Potter and Mr. Blake, Sr., were bustling about in a silly manner, both talking and both saying nothing that aided Officer Burke. Carolee Colter pleaded with her brother to be quiet.

The policeman made a quick and unexcited survey of the situation, then addressed his remarks to a rather handsome, well-dressed but somewhat bloody young man sitting awkwardly on the floor.

"What about you, brother? You shot? Who's done what here, anyhow?"

Stuart Blake looked up. He nursed his chin in the palm of his hand. Blood dripped between his fingers. But he gazed at the policeman and grinned.

"Listen, officer," said he, "don't ever kid a stranger about hunting for gold. Might touch a sore spot. And especially don't make a pass at his pretty sister."

"Who you been kiddin'?"

Not Stuart Blake's, but a feminine voice, answered the officer.

"He was not kiddin'!" spat out Carolee. "He was insulting! He got to mocking my brother, as if he were a yokel. It's he that ought to be arrested, not Paul."

"Paul now, who'll he be?" asked Officer Burke.

"Wait—wait a minute—I'll tell 'em the whole story, Jim!" Fred Potter had collected his wits. "It was what you might call an accident. Won't do to have a mess in this store. Everybody's guilty, nobody's guilty. Blake, here, called this man 'Si' and acted smart without reason, right enough. Happens the man is named Silas, and 'Si' is a sore point with him."

"His brother, Paul, is quick-tempered—gosh, man, you're a fool to be shooting like that!—and when Silas cut Blake with his fist, Paul jumped over his rifle. It went off, but done no harm. I can testify to this accident at headquarters, Jim; that is, if Blake here sees to it that glass is paid for." Officer Burke has been on that beat as long as Fred has been in that store. They understood each other.

"Fred, you're a damned liar, but I believe you! Accident it is. But what's the girl to do with this?"

"Nothing. She was just—"

But young Blake interrupted here.

"Yes," she had, officer," said Stuart. "She saved my life! That rifle was aimed—I mean it was accidentally falling right at me when she jerked it aside!"

"Yeah? Thought you told me you was gettin' fresh with her?"

"I was. But I didn't mean it. All I said was, 'You've got one pretty nugget in the family already.' Her brother took it wrong. I'm sorry, gentlemen, and I apologize. I butted in on your affairs. I'm good at that, but I don't often get shot at for it."

THEN Stuart walked over to Silas Colter and offered to shake hands. Silas only glared, motionless. Paul, too, was openly hostile. Hatred shone in his eyes. For the Colter brothers, young Blake epitomized all that they had come to despise. Clannish, unrefined, surly, they distrusted anybody who clung nearer the other end of the social scale.

"Well I—it's all I can say, now," Stuart was obviously embarrassed. This was his first experience at having an apology refused. And curls, Carolee offered sharp contrast to the others of her family.

"Sure! Sure, Miss—I didn't learn your name," the young man almost murmured, in his confusion. "It was all my fault. I didn't mean to be fresh when I called you a pretty nugget."

"You weren't fresh."

"Yes, I was. You said so. Anyhow it's the way we say things, not what we say, that sounds awful sometimes."

"But you weren't. It's not an insult to call a girl pretty. We like it!" She smiled at him then. "I got mad because I—well, I have had some advantages that Paul and Silas haven't, and I won't have them embarrassed about it. They're good to me. But they're strange boys, men really. And we're pretty desperate about money. I mean about this gold mine. Father and the boys bought a map which a man swore would locate it, and you called it a gold brick. I don't know—I was glad enough for a change, but Paul and Silas are sensitive about it—and—"

"I know, I pop off too much, acted like a heel, Miss—"

But the girl didn't supply a name. She just smiled again, turned and went away. The two Blakes, Officer Burke, even the cab driver, watched her re-enter Potter's store.

"Doggone!" exclaimed the officer. "Nothing illegal about that. Her family may be from the sticks but the girl—she shines!"

FIVE minutes later a drugstore boy brought a box of candy into Potter's and presented it to Carolee. "Swell looking feller, miss," the boy announced. "Said to tell you he was very very sorry ma'am."

Carolee colored a little, then opened the five pounds of chocolates.

"See? See?" Fred Potter was elated as if the candy had come for him. "What'd I tell you! Everything's all right! Nice young man, that Blake. Meant no harm. You folks'll prob'ly be seeing them again. Didn't they say they was going up in the mountain, too?"

The Colter men glared at the candy, but they said nothing. Other people had come in, and the Colters were ill at ease under so much attention. The old man herded his family back out to their rattle car.

A half hour later, when the store had cleared momentarily of customers, Fred Potter said to his assistant manager, "Danged if I know what it is, but there's something about Superstition Mountain that breeds trouble. It dogs everybody that starts up there. Look at them people this mornin'—"

"It's the Indians' curse on gold," the assistant quoted sonorously, yet half seriously. "Ma, I ain't goin' up there."

BIT OF WALES IN OHIO LIVES AFTER HEYDAY

BROOKFIELD SLOPE, O., June 25 (UP)—The "Slope" is a Buckeye state "ghost town" that has never died.
There are many "deserted villages" scattered statewide that boomed and then died when some industry failed.
But the "Slope" isn't that kind of town. Its industry has been long dead, but the little community that should have died at the same time lived on—and thrived.
The "Slope" is in Trumbull county, just across the state line from the Shenango Valley steel mills at Sharon, Pa. Its supporting industry at one time fed the maws of the Sharon steel mill furnaces of the "Slope" has been a thriving coal mining town.
The mine is 60 years old, gave employment to 200 men and kept the Sharon furnaces hot. But those furnaces proved to be gorging coal-gluttons disastrous to the tiny mining town, for they ate up the "Slope's" entire coal vein. The mine's workings soon caved in, the shaft collapsed and was covered with dirt.
Town Is Garden Spot
Yet today the "Slope" thrives. The lawns are green, the flowers bloom and the tiny cottages nestling against the hillsides are freshly painted.
There is a reason for this continued survival—the people.
They are sturdy Welshmen—as rugged as the hills they live on.
Their "never-die" town is a bit of Wales transplanted to Ohio.
There are five veterans that live to tell of the old Brookfield Slope and the Buil Colliery. Ranging in years from 75 to 90, they are still active despite their years spent swinging picks in the damp underground tunnels.
The men are William R. Williams, 90; Henry Hacker, 89; Benjamin Broad, 82; John J. Davies, 78, and his brother, R. H. Davis, 75.
These men mined "Ohio block coal" found in seams and slips. This vein is rare in Ohio and is particularly adaptable as steam coal.
"Coal mining now is pretty much a picnic compared with our work at 'Slope' 60 years ago," Williams said.
Only Hand Tools Used
"All we had then was a pick and shovel. Today, they have electric cutting machines, mine trolleys and electricity in the working rooms."
Average pay, the veterans pointed out, was $25 to $30 in two weeks. Production figures at the Buil did not run into big figures. A good day's work averaged 330 tons.
The five old miners can give no explanation for their long and healthy lives. They merely point out that the "Slope" existence was a quiet one, devoid of high-pressure amusements.
Why didn't the town die with the mine? The miners answer that question. They liked it.
And as to the question of why the mine suspended operations—they answer that also.
"When there isn't any coal in a coal mine, there isn't any use in a coal miner mining!"
They had mined all the coal the company owned.

ADMIRATION — TRIPLE-SEALED IN "CELLOPHANE"

WANT TO SAVE 260 Cups OF COFFEE?

Two hundred and sixty cups of coffee is a lot of coffee!

But did you know you will save the price of that many cups of coffee in a year if you buy Admission in Cellophane bags at a price of about 4c per pound less than other methods of packing? It's an actual fact! That is, if your consumption of coffee is the small-family one of a pound a week. Of course, the more you use, the more you will save.

Such a saving is real economy, because the Admission you buy in moisture-proof Cellophane bags is the same as that put up in cans and jars—just as fresh, just as fragrant and just as delicious. Triple-sealed bags, plus the fastest coffee delivery service in America, guarantee its freshness at all times.

Buy it in the bag and save the difference.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Robinson visited their parents at Ranger Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Powers had as their guests Monday night, his brother-in-law, Andrew McMillan and two sons of Hermleigh, Texas.

The Methodist Missionary Society met Monday afternoon at the church and had the World Outlook program. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Charles Lee and the program leader was Mrs. Preston Sparks. Others who took part on the program were Miss Mollie C. Rear, Mmes. S. E. Snodgrass, W. H. Whitworth, G. S. Bruce, O. D. McDonald and W. C. Bedford.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Frasier returned Friday from a ten days visit with relatives at Longworth and Sweetwater. Miss Capitoa Browning had charge of their cafe while they were away.

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. Ford Reid and children, and Miss Charlotte Joiner returned Sunday morning from a five day fishing trip on the San Saba river. Mr. and Mrs. Lee McGuire drove down and spent Thursday with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Lane and daughter, Bobbie Jean, spent the week end at Abilene with Mrs. Bertie Wagoner, sister of Mrs. Lane. From there Bobbie Jean went to Big Spring to visit her grand mother Miss Bernice Roe of Abilene spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Roe.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Sloan of Stephenville were here Monday afternoon. He was selling candy to his regular customers and Mrs. Sloan visited her old friends, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bedford.

Rev. and Mrs. W. M. Ford of Ladonia, East Texas, came in Friday to visit for a week with her daughter, Mrs. Walter Henry and family, and also with her mother Mrs. E. E. Browning and family.

If we are correctly informed, W. H. Davis one of our leading merchants, is due the thanks of the community for the dust being abated on Main Street by having a tank of crude oil sprinkled on it, Mr. Davis got the donations to buy the oil from the Prairie-Sinclair Co., whose eight oil trucks run day and night in moving the oil from their tank a few miles south of town to the two tanks which they bought from the Magruder Co. and which are in the north west part of town.

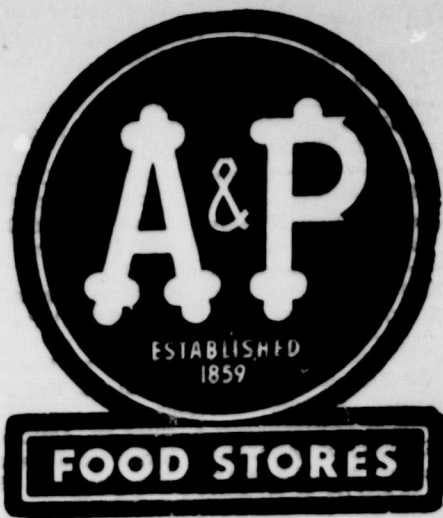

Work on the Gallagher & Lawson No. 1 Bobbie Terry deep test well is progressing nicely. The depth at noon Tuesday was 1700 feet, almost one third of the contract depth. Among the visitors at the well today was Carl Baker, formerly of Desdemona but now of Ranger. His many friends are glad to know that his broken arm is now improving after being treated several months.

Splenic Extract Aids Bone Knitting

MINNEAPOLIS (U.P.) - Broken bones heal faster when the patient is fed with splenic extract. Dr. Thomas Foster Wheelon of Richmond, Va., reported in a recent issue of Modern Medicine, a medical magazine published here. Administration of splenic extract speeds the firm union of the bones and also improves bone condition, the physician said. Since bones are composed largely of calcium, it is probable the splenic extract stimulates the deposit of calcium in the bone.

Dr. Wheelon has been using this treatment since 1931, and reported that in 45 cases only three failed to produce satisfactory results.

 A parade, picnic, group singing, public speaking, and athletic contests were on the program.

Texas Wild Turkey Crop Unusually Good

KERRVILLE, June 24 (AP) — The Texas wild turkey crop will be best this year since 1928, according to J. J. Dent of Kerrville director of the State Game Preserve. Dent reported a banner turkey year for Texas after he made a tour of the state recently.
 A total of 454 turkeys were trapped on the King Ranch in Kenedy and Willacy counties and transferred to preserves in the Palo Duro Canyon near Amarillo, the Big Bend country near Sanderson and in Brazos and Grimes counties. Turkeys from Sutton county traps were taken to other sections of the state.
 About 200 deer have been transferred from Mason, Gillespie and Blanco counties to preserves in East and North Texas. Dent estimated that 40 per cent of the fawn crop was on the ground by May 7.
 Heavy increases in deer and turkey near Amarillo have been noted in recent years. Hunting in the Leon county section is closed for five years, while no hunting is permitted at any time on the ranch near Amarillo.

The Fidelis Matron class of the First Baptist Sunday School met at the church Thursday evening to go in a body to the home of their teacher, Mrs. E. S. James, for a class surprise party.

On arriving at Mrs. James' home they presented her with two lovely paring gifts, a Pyrex baking dish set in a silver frame, and a set of refrigerator dishes.

Each pupil gave her their own favorite cooking recipe.

These thoughtful young ladies carried refreshments of punch and pineapple cake which was served to the following:

Mmes. Rayford Richardson, B. H. Bosworth, Harry Schaefer, Bruce Campbell, R. W. Smith, Jr., O. H. Dick, James Lee, Herman Weathersby, T. E. Lisbenbe, H. G. Aldridge, Lloyd LaRoque, Mart Agnew, of Lubbock, Jas. Huddleston, J. J. White, and the honoree.

Philadelphia Zoo Gets New Specimen

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—The Philadelphia Zoo has acquired nine new animals to be placed on exhibition. Temperamental, the animals had to be kept in seclusion until they became familiar with the strange territory.

Among the new specimens are three Grant's zebras, a blesbok which is so rare that only a few now survive in small domestic herds, a pair of nilgais (largest of Indian antelopes), a pair of muntjacs (small deer no larger than terriers) and a lechwe antelope.

get a lead that looked mighty good which they held until the fifth inning.

In the fourth from the big guns of the Leach store began to wake up, and in the fifth inning they awoke to a great roar. In this inning 18 men batted for Leach, scoring a total of 14 runs, which must be some kind of a record for scoring in one inning.

Nance was held to four runs during the remainder of the game, Leach likewise adding four.

Cotton Bill for Nance got two hits and scored two runs, all the rest of the Nance hitters were held to one hit. Pate Nance, although held hitless, aided the cause of his team by making some fine catches in the field.

Tony for Leach got three hits and scored three runs; Dick Smith and W. E. Cooper got two hits each and scored each time; O. L. Stamey was on the loud speaker and turned in a nice job. Chap Williams and Smitty Huestis were the umpires and contributed their usual fine performances. J. D. White a perfect score card which is really something in a game like the one last night.
