CHINA WILL FIGHT TO END IS ANNOUNCED

NANKING July 29 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, head of China's central government, called on the nation tonight to mobilize all its resources for war on Japan. "China is determined to fight to the last man," he declared, adding that he has made all necessary arrangements to defend the country against encroachment. Chiang emphasized that he is the highest political and military authority in China and therefore is responsible for present conditions in the north. He said that General Sung Chen-yuan, who quit his governmental post in Peiping under pressure "must not receive the blame alone." The generalissimo issued a belligerent declaration while Chinese sources excitedly discussed the possibility of severing diplomatic relations with Japan, probably leading to a formal state of war. "Minor defeats do not mean eventual defeat," Chiang said. "The nation should not be discouraged by the latest setbacks."

"Yes," Eden replied, "we very much regret the situation, more so as we were hoping for improvement."

The fascination which water has for folks these summer afternoons causes perspiring mortals to go down to the sea in some queer-looking ships. At top, Barbara Chase and Anne Holmes of Augusta, Me., achieve solid comfort on their excursions by making a mattress support their outboard motor. Justice Gordon L. Stewart of Kalamazoo, Mich., sans shirt, in the lower photo, wouldn't trade his motorized raft for the fastest powerboat on the lake. The raft will do seven miles an hour.

IDLE HANDS ORDERED TO COTTON PATCH

GONZALES, July 29 (AP)—"Kidnapers" of cottonpickers were warned to leave town and idle field hands were ordered to go to work by the sheriff's office today as Gonzales county prepared to harvest its biggest cotton crop in years. Two warnings were posted: "Cotton pickers' kidnapers: Get out of town or you'll land in jail," and "Idlers: get to work or go to jail." Deputy Sheriff Wallace Ray said he was determined that the bumper crop shall be harvested before "rain or stormy weather ruins it." The warnings to pickers and agents for growers in other counties were posted after field hands had been "lured away" with promises of better crops and easier picking elsewhere, Ray said.

What Will You Do About It?

The Lion stepped up to the newly elected president, held out his hand in congratulation, and said: "You are president now. What are you going to do about it?"

I was standing close by. The words startled me, for my first thought was that they were intended to be offensive; but the Lion was quite sincere in his congratulations, and was genuinely interested in helping his president.

The Lion is a man I have known for many years. He appears to be a free, happy-go-lucky sort of individual; but he is an enthusiastic, hard-working person who believes that each individual is here for a purpose. His question presumed that the incoming president realized the opportunity that lay before him, an opportunity that was not likely to recur; for, especially in the larger clubs, a man can only be president once in a lifetime.

In this light, "What are you going to do about it?" is a very logical question. Undoubtedly it is the mark of a man worthy of responsibility that he definitely makes plans to "do something about it," whenever he is placed in a position of leadership.

This particular incoming president is such a man. He had laid plans to develop the goodfellowship and friendship within his clubs, and set his first energies to straightening out all differences that may have existed. He got his club together as a team, all putting in the same direction. He has seen that the club started out under him with a soundly budgeted financial program and a membership development program. After the individual members of his club had been helped to find their positions in the club, and the club itself was off to a good start, he directed its energies to helping the community. He has a fine club, and is developing into a splendid leader. He is using his opportunity.

The fact that serving as president for one year in a Lions Club can develop a man greatly and benefit him individually, may seem insignificant from the viewpoint of the club. "Yes, serving as president has done wonders for Tom." Haven't you heard that before?

But think of the good that is being returned to the club. Every family tree has been shaped by its members, through centuries. The same is true of a Lions Club. The influence of a good president is not over when he retires from office. His character has kindled sparks in many others of the club, so that the club will for a long time reflect in some degree the men who have been its officers.

The Lion who asked his president that question, "What are you going to do about it?" was probably right in putting it that way.

He knew that there were great opportunities ahead for his president, and he realized that the president's reaction to them was very important to him and to every member of the club, for the club would assimilate part of the character of its president.

Lion President and Lion Secretary, your opportunities are great this year for both yourself and your club. Probably it will be your one chance to hold that office.

Lincoln said, "I like to pluck a thistle and plant a flower." He knew the tremendous influences which our small acts of goodness, performed today, have tomorrow on our friends and our descendants. Johnny Appleseed cleared the forest and planted appleseeds carelessly—each apple tree a small thing in itself. The apple crop of today's central United States is the result.

Let all of us who serve this year as Lion Club officers say, "I pass this way but once; therefore, any good thing I can do, any good thing I can say, I will."—MELVIN JONES, Secretary General.

Best-Dressed Woman BY HELEN WELSHIMER COPYRIGHT, 1937, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER I OUTSIDE a storm was raging. Even in the velvet recesses of her dressing room at the most exclusive couturier's in New York, Judith Irving felt the tremendous rhythm, the daring, the grandeur of it. Now the slim white buildings that barricaded the horizon were slashed with rain, and the tip of the Empire State building caught lightning and flared it like a slim green banner of fire. Green fire—Judith looked down at the dinner jacket she wore, a jacket whose vivid green was a bright light against the storm-black of the heavy crepe dress. There was a similarity. From the striking cheval mirrors in the dressing room, she watched her striking, slender, black-haired selves walk back and forth. Tomorrow the newspapers would announce that she, Mrs. Philip Godfrey Irving, had paid $800 for that jacket, that she had purchased five other jackets as costly—one in silver, one in Coronation pink, one in royal gold, a blue that was slippery and a white that was dull and powdery. Best dressed woman in America! Best dressed woman in the world, some artists and stylists said.

Illustration by Virginia Krausmann "Darling, I'm stealing your husband for an hour or two," the newcomer said gaily, but her eyes weren't laughing. "You don't mind, do you?"

Suddenly, with the swift, lithe grace that distinguished her, she seated herself before the mirrors, studied her effect. There was a light knock on the door. She turned casually. It would be only Annette, with the pale blue evening dress adorned with scarves of long flame crepe which she would wear to dinner at the theater tonight. "Come in," she said quietly, no hint of disturbance in her voice. It wasn't Annette. It was the woman about whom she had been thinking when she sat down to study herself before the mirrors. "Darling, I'm stealing your husband for an hour or two," the newcomer said gaily but her eyes weren't laughing. "You don't mind, do you?" Judith wanted to say: "Do I mind? I mind so much that I have to clench my hands to keep from telling you what I think of you! I mind so much that I can't see why Phil wants to be bored for one half second—" But she didn't. Instead, she answered easily and nonchalantly: "He told me. He said he was having tea with a beautiful woman who wanted help about investments, and I guessed you. Have a good time and rescue him from the cinnamon buns. He's the handsomest man I know but the waistline may creep out on him."

Phil's father, who had disinherited him after that, helped him through law school and had left him his money. Now, at 34, Phil was not only rich, but a brilliant and successful young corporation lawyer. I'm having tea with her tomorrow. Maybe that really was the gist of it all. Maybe... then her natural common sense asserted itself. Any man got a romantic throwback in the applauding limelight of a pretty woman's smile—and Marta Rogers, with her bluish-gold hair and blue-ame-thyst eyes, was as pretty as any debutante. Jealousy was a green cat that should be drowned in any rain barrel. Suddenly she became gay. Phil was kind and devoted during the evening but she thought his spirit wandered sometimes and then his mind would hurry back to her. She smiled in the darkened playhouse—she could see it coming, tripping over itself to get back before it was missed.

WHEN Mrs. Rogers had gone, and Judith was dressed in her brown wool ensemble whose jacket of hyacinth blue had butterflies done in warmer colors, she seated herself once more at her mirror. Intently she looked into her own cloudy gray eyes. Phil—Phil... He was hers. That is, as much as one human being could belong to another. It had been that way for six years now. They didn't just love each other—they liked each other, which was even more important. Phil... He wasn't handsome. Rugged was a better word. Tall, broad shouldered, slim waisted, with rough-edged blond hair and blue eyes that some seafaring relative had given him. He had worked his way through college where he had been an All-Ameri-

VERY quietly she replaced the telephone and when she went into the living room where Phil was waiting in his immaculate dinner clothes she was as cool and composed as the silver metallic sheath that wrapped her slim body. "You're gorgeous," he said. "A movie version of Joan of Arc done in excellent taste." Now she smiled, but it did not reach her eyes. Phil knew it. She sensed it in the tightening of the muscles at his mouth. Suddenly he felt the need of explanation—and they never explained to each other. It wasn't necessary. "Marta Rogers called. I'm helping her with some investments."

serve; they have laid waste and pillaged palace and homestead. "Notwithstanding all this there are people blind enough or selfish enough to take sides with the Reds—who would prefer to see them win rather than the Nationalists. Many people are prejudiced to the extent that they do not care to see where the truth lies. But, with their support, or even subjected to their anti-path, the Nationalists will win through. Let them reflect, let them truly ponder over the question, and I am sure that, if they examine the problem in all fairness, they will accept the truth and give us their wholehearted support."

The interview took place in Nationalist headquarters, the palace of the Bishop of Salamanca. Ybarra reports that Franco spoke cordially and eagerly in an effort to explain his aims to the people of the United States. Among other statements made by the Nationalist leader were the following: "In foreign relations the new Spanish State (Franco assumed eventual victory for his forces) will adopt a friendly attitude toward those other states which have offered her moral support from the inception of the Nationalist movement. There is one nation that the new Spain will never recognize or maintain friendly relations with—and that needs to say, is Soviet Russia. "A military dictatorship will only be necessary until the country freed from the political strife which has harassed it during past years, can return to normal conditions, under a system of government that will insure order, peace and progress in the land. "A firm, stable government, capable of imposing its will on the people, and capable of ruling the country, is all that Spaniards need and yearn for." WOMAN, 100, STRIVES WORK RECINA, Sask (AP)—Hard work a large family and a contented mind were the main reasons why Mrs. G. Ziegler has lived to be 100 years old, she told interviewers Mrs. Ziegler said she went to work at the age of 6 as a weaver.

The fascination which water has for folks these summer afternoons causes perspiring mortals to go down to the sea in some queer-looking ships. At top, Barbara Chase and Anne Holmes of Augusta, Me., achieve solid comfort on their excursions by making a mattress support their outboard motor. Justice Gordon L. Stewart of Kalamazoo, Mich., sans shirt, in the lower photo, wouldn't trade his motorized raft for the fastest powerboat on the lake. The raft will do seven miles an hour.

IDLE HANDS ORDERED TO COTTON PATCH

GONZALES, July 29. (U.P.)—Kidnapers of cottonpickers were warned to go to work by the sheriff's office today as Gonzales county prepared to harvest its biggest cotton crop in years. Deputy Sheriff Wallace Ray said he was determined that the bumper crop shall be harvested before "rain or stormy weather ruins it." The warnings to pickers and agents for growers in other counties were posted after field hands had been "lured away" with promises of better crops and easier picking elsewhere, Ray said.

SPAIN'S BATTLE WORLD-WIDE FRANCO SAYS IN INTERVIEW

NEW YORK, July 29.—The Spanish Insurgent forces are fighting not only for control of Spain but for the "destruction of Communism throughout the world," according to General Francisco Franco, rebel leader. In an exclusive interview with T. R. Ybarra, European correspondent, General Franco delivered a special message to the people of the United States, emphasizing that his objective is world-wide. "It is not generally realized," he told Ybarra, "that we are intent on a crusade that will ultimately lead to the destruction of Communism in the world. Russia has seen this; and that is why, with the help of the French Socialist government, she has made such frantic efforts to supply Valencia (Spanish government headquarters) with men and armaments. Had it not been for this, the war would have ended long ago. "Just as Spain saved the civilized world from the Turks at the Battle of Lepanto, she has now engaged in another such historical feat against the modern but no less dangerous scourge. "We have time and again proved that there is no government at Valencia; by their own behavior they have proved themselves to be Communists, thieves and antipatriots. They have systematically desecrated churches, assassinated priests, murdered peaceful citizens, slaughtered men, women and children. They have stolen and exported the national treasures which the whole world used to admire; they have despoiled the nation of its gold reserves for this, the war would have ended long ago. What Will You Do About It?

The Lion stepped up to the newly elected president, held out his hand in congratulation, and said: "You are president now. What are you going to do about it?"

I was standing close by. The words startled me, for my first thought was that they were intended to be offensive; but the Lion was quite sincere in his congratulations, and was genuinely interested in helping his president.

The Lion is a man I have known for many years. He appears to be a free, happy-go-lucky sort of individual; but he is an enthusiastic, hard-working person who believes that each individual is never for a purpose. His question presumed that the incoming president realized the opportunity that lay before him, an opportunity that was not likely to recur; for, especially in the larger clubs, a man can only be president once in a lifetime.

In this light, "What are you going to do about it?" is a very logical question.

Undoubtedly it is the mark of a man, worthy of responsibility that he definitely makes plans to "do something about it," whenever he is placed in a position of leadership.

This particular incoming president is such a man. He had laid plans to develop the goodfellowship and friendship within his clubs, and set his first energies to straightening out all differences that may have existed. He got his club together as a team, all putting in the same direction. He has seen that the club started out under him with a soundly budgeted financial program and a membership development program. After the individual members of his club had been helped to find their positions in the club, and the club itself was off to a good start, he directed its energies to helping the community. He has a fine club, and is developing into a splendid leader. He is using his opportunity.

The fact that serving as president for one year in a Lions Club can develop a man greatly and benefit him individually, may seem insignificant from the viewpoint of the club. "Yes, serving as president has done wonders for Tom." Haven't you heard that before?

But think of the good that is being returned to the club. Every family tree has been shaped by its members, through centuries. The same is true of a Lions Club. The influence of a good president is not over when he retires from office. His character has kindled sparks in many others of the club, so that the club will for a long time reflect in some degree the men who have been its officers.

The Lion who asked his president that question, "What are you going to do about it?" was probably right in putting it that way.

He knew that there were great opportunities ahead for his president, and he realized that the president's reaction to them was very important to him and to every member of the club, for the club would assimilate part of the character of its president.

Lion President and Lion Secretary, your opportunities are great this year for both yourself and your club. Probably it will be your one chance to hold that office.

Lincoln said, "I like to pluck a thistle and plant a flower." He knew the tremendous influences which our small acts of goodness, performed today, have tomorrow on our friends and our descendants. Johnny Appleseed cleared the forest and planted appleseeds caselessly—each apple tree a small thing in itself. The apple crop of today's central United States is the result.

Let all of us who serve this year as Lion Club officers say,

"I pass this way but once; therefore, any good thing I can do, any good thing I can say, I will."—MELVIN JONES, Secretary General.

serve; they have laid waste and pillaged palace and homestead. "Notwithstanding all this there are people blind enough or selfish enough to take sides with the Reds—who would prefer to see them win rather than the Nationalists. Many people are prejudiced to the extent that they do not care to see where the truth lies. But, with their support, or even subjected to their antipathy, the Nationalists will win through. Let them reflect, let them truly ponder over the question, and I am sure that, if they examine the problem in all fairness, they will accept the truth and give us their wholehearted support."

The interview took place in Nationalist headquarters, the palace of the Bishop of Salamanca. Ybarra reports that Franco spoke cordially and eagerly, in an effort to explain his aims to the people of the United States. Among other statements made by the Nationalist leader were the following:

"In foreign relations the new Spanish State (Franco assumed eventual victory for his forces) will adopt a friendly attitude toward those other states which have offered her moral support from the inception of the Nationalist movement. There is one nation that the new Spain will never recognize or maintain friendly relations with—and that needless to say, is Soviet Russia.

"A military dictatorship will only be necessary until the country, freed from the political strife which has harassed it and hampered all activity during past years, can return to normal conditions, under a system of government that will insure order, peace and progress in the land.

"A firm, stable government, capable of imposing its will on the people, and capable of ruling the country, is all that Spaniards need and yearn for."

and children returned several days ago from their vacation trip in their car to Pittsburgh, Penn., which was his former home. They report having had a delightful vacation.
 Rev. O. D. McDonald, pastor of the Methodist church is preaching at Bullock this week, assisting Rev. A. B. Armstrong in a revival meeting.
 A. B. McBride of Cisco was here Monday afternoon visiting the Gallagher & Lawson well. Mr. McBride is an experienced oil operator and was quite interested in the progress the drillers are making through the Ellenberger lime. They are making an average of 50 feet every 24 hours, still making a 10-inch hole. Charlie Greenhaw and V. V. McMurry of Cisco had come down Sunday and brought an 8-inch bit and ball to have ready for use when needed. The further down the better chance there will be for casing off any water that may be encountered.
 Mrs. Horace Morrison and baby Fatsie and her cousin, Mrs. Files were guests Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bedford and their daughter, Mrs. Betty Vestal. Mrs. Morrison and baby went home with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Tomlinson who live at Sealey, near Houston, after the tragic death of Mr. Morrison early in May and this was her first visit here since that time. Fatsie who was a year old the 8th of June acted as if she remembered her many friends here. Mr. Morrison had taken her down town with him from the time she was two weeks old and she was quite a favorite with everyone. Mrs. Files, who lives at McAllen, went by Sealey and brought Mrs. Morrison to Gorman to visit their mothers who are sisters. Mrs. Morrison will stay at Gorman a month with her two sons, Herbert and Gene Crenshaw.
 Friends here have received interesting cards from Mr. and Mrs. Bill Farks and their daughter, Gaynell, who are on their vacation trip in east and south Texas. They were at Galveston a few days.
 C. C. Bragg recently elected Supt. of Ciden school, spent several days there last week.
 The Methodist Missionary Society met at the church Monday afternoon and had the World Outlook program. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Chas. Lee. After a short business session the program was led by Mrs. S. E. Snodgrass who gave the devotional and then had a study of three great Missionary personalities. Mrs. Snodgrass gave a sketch of the life of Adoniram Judson who started with his wife in 1812 as Missionary to India from the American Congregational church but during the voyage accepted the Baptist faith and on their arrival at Calcutta were baptized and caused the organization of the American Baptist Board of Missions. Miss Mollie O'Rear then sketched the life of Mary Slessor sent as a missionary to Africa by the Presbyterian church of Scotland in 1876. The 3rd personality was Miss Laura Haygood, Methodist missionary from Georgia, to China where she went in 1884 and remained until her death in 1900. The sketch was given by Mrs. W. C. Bedford who had had Miss Haygood as guest in her home in Searcy, Arkansas, when Miss Haygood and her brother, Bishop Haygood were attending a conference. Mrs. Preston Sparks was then hostess at a social meeting, honoring Mrs. C. O. Bragg with a handkerchief shower as she is moving to Olden soon. Mrs. Bragg has been one of the most active and efficient members of the society for two years. Refreshments of cake and punch were served to the members and other guests.
 The Baptist revival being conducted at the tabernacle by Rev. Lunford, is being attended by good crowds and much good is being accomplished. Services are held each morning and each night. In between services the pastor, Rev. H. N. Baldere and Rev. Lunford visited in the homes of the members and homes where there are those needing to hear the gospel and also where there are those who are sick.
 Mrs. John C. Spradley and two sons left Sunday morning for their home at Longview after a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Stover. They were to stop at Gladewater to see her sister, Mrs. A. D. Jones and family. Mr. and Mrs. Stover had just gotten word that A. D. Jr. who had spent the past two months here with them, had fallen into a pit where trash had been burned and there was still fire and he was badly burned. A year ago he went home and was out at a swimming and fishing pond and dived to get a fish, broke his neck and had to have it in a plaster cast several months.

OIL ACTIVITY IN EASTLAND COUNTY AREA

EASTLAND, July 29 (SPL) — Barnett Petroleum Corporation No. 2-A L. C. Downtown, section 2, F. T. R. R. survey, block 6, one and a half miles southeast of Eastland this week end was preparing to be placed on pump for testing.

The oil sand formation was from 1,487 to 1,499 feet. Total depth is 1,502 feet. The well is 450 feet west of the No. 1-A Downtown which found 25 barrel production with 50,000 feet of gas in the hard, tight oil sand from 1,481 to 1,494 feet. The sand in the first well in the pool opener was topped at 1,458 feet, however.

Newest operation in the county Hoffman & Page No. 1 A. C. Justice, section 28, H. & T. C. survey, block 2, four miles south of Eastland, a 1300-foot test was drilling today below 225 feet.

States Oil Corporation No. 5 J. W. Henderson north of Eastland NE 1-4 section 8, block 4, H. & T. C. survey, was drilling at 2,630 feet in quest of production at 5,600 feet. Formerly this well was a gasser producing about 6,000,000 feet of the fuel in the winter when there was a demand.

Upon what this county undoubtedly stakes its reputation as one of great oil production, the Gallagher & Lawson et al No. 1 Mrs. Bobbie I. Terry, in center of the now fabulous Desdemona pool, but one-half mile over in Comanche county, was drilling at 3,450 feet, 25 feet off which was in the Ellenberger lime.

Nearby, two miles southeast of Desdemona, but in Erath county was the Hickory et al which set eight-inch at 1,835 feet.

The only well in Eastland county seeking gas production was the Hickok Producing and Development company No. 2 Grover S. Cleveland section 477, S. P. R. R. survey, eight miles northwest of Cisco, which was drilling below 3,000 feet.

Dorothy Oil Company No. 1 Taylor-Beard, seven miles east of Eastland and three miles west of Ranger, B. Finley, survey, was drilling below 100 feet in search of production at 1,300 feet.

Dr. R. C. Ferguson No. 1 Carolee Fox, league 2, McLennan county school land, block 38, seven miles south of Ranger, found salt water at the anticipated shallow paying depth it was reported.

Outstanding records in the Railroad Commission office here included:

N. A. Moore No. 1 C. Q. Hassard estate, 1,419 feet from north line and 150 feet from east line, section 57, Coleman county school land survey, block 8, Coleman county Depth contemplated is 2,131 feet.

Stanley F. Rogers partnership No. 3 C. A. Davidson, section 610, J. M. Mess survey, Leach field, six miles west of Brownwood, Brown county Depth proposed is 730 feet. Location is 156 feet from the north line and 320 feet from the No. 1 location.

Ford to Dedicate Roads to World

DEARBORN, Mich., July 24 — The "Roads of the World", a half-mile roadway comprising sections reproduced from 18 historic world highways which witnessed the march of civilization down through the centuries, was formally opened to the public today in the grounds of the Ford Rotunda, visitors' gateway to the Ford Rouge Plant here.

Consular officers of countries represented in the roads, as well as highway and good roads association officials from the United States and Canada, took part in the dedication which followed an informal luncheon held in the executive lounge of the Ford Rotunda.

Invited guests included: Thomas P. MacDonald, Chief of the U. S. Bureau of Roads; Murray D. Van Wagner, Michigan State Highway Commissioner; Clark Greene, Superintendent of Public Works and Frederick Storrer, City Engineer both of Dearborn; Thomas P. Henry, President of the American Automobile Association; Charles L. Weeks, President and Richard Harist, General Manager of the Automobile Club of Michigan; Edward H. Nines, Chairman of the Wayne County Road Commission, and A. J. Gordon, K. C., President of the Essex County Automobile Club, Windsor.

Also A. O. Bray, acting British consul; Maxime Rainguiet, French consul; Fritz Haller, German consul; P. Testaguzza, acting Italian vice-consul; Pierre J. Boeye, Belgian consul, and Carlos Balacioux, Mexican consul.

The permanent Roads of the World exhibit at the Ford Rotunda is an outgrowth of the first such exhibit at the Ford Exposition at the Chicago World's Fair in 1934. It is intended to preserve in permanent form famous highways whose construction has paced the progress of transportation through the centuries. It includes representations of virtually every type of road service used since highways first were constructed.

Noteworthy among the highways represented are the Appian Way, the famous Roman military highway; the "Summer Palace" road over which the Manchou emperor, rolled from the old capitol in what is today modern Peiping to the royal summer palace; the ancient Grand Trunk Road of India, whose northern reaches led through the fabled Khyber Pass, and the Diamond Rush Road of South Africa over which Cecil Rhodes transported fabulous fortunes in diamonds from the rich de Beers mines to Port Elizabeth. Material from the original highways has been incorporated in these sections, slabs from the Grand Trunk Highway and soil from the Diamond Rush Road.

Other highways represented include Belgium's ancient Chausse d'Aerschot, Australia's western highway, the Oregon Trail, Japan's Tokaido, the Vaughan Plank Road of Canada, the Lincoln Highway, the Boston Post Road, the Wilderness Trail blazed by Daniel Boone, the Dixie Highway, Great Britain's Watling Street, the Cortez Road of Mexico, Germany's Gergstrasse, France's Route de Quarante Sous and Detroit's Woodward Avenue which for years was a "laboratory" for experiments in American city street paving.

Automobiles driven by trained guides will follow the route opened today to take sightseers through the roads exhibition as a part of the tour of the Ford Rotunda and the Ford plants.

QUE, N. M. (U.S.)—Dr. Warner, newly appointed medical director in the U. S. Army Service, holds the honor of being the only regular corps of commissioned personnel in the U. S. Army Service.

MINE APPEARS AS JAIL

VAST AIR BASE FOR ARMY USE RISES IN WEST

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 29 (U.S.)—Work is being rushed here for the completion by January, 1939, of what will be one of the nation's most important military aviation centers.

When completed, it will be a base for the repair and maintenance of all military flying fields, planes and materials west of the Rocky Mountains.

The new Sacramento air depot, will be located on a 1,200-acre tract of land seven miles northeast of the state capital. It will include an amazing array of huge steel and concrete buildings, housing plane shops, warehouses, engine shops, aero shops, hangars, offices and many other structures.

It will also have a military post, including a headquarters building, barracks, hospital, quartermaster's facilities, guardhouse, fire stations and quarters for officers and "hon-coms."

More than 200 men are working on the base now and this number will be increased to 1,000 when construction is in full swing, according to Major Arthur W. Parker, in charge of the work.

Three Concrete Runways
 For test flying, there will be a large, completely equipped airfield with three concrete runways each 4,000 feet long and 150 feet wide. Leveling the field involves the movement of a million cubic yards of soil.

When finished and in public service the depot will provide regular employment for about 500 civilian mechanics and a good sized staff of office workers.

Its military force will consist of from 25 to 40 officers and 150 enlisted men.

The outstanding feature of this great base will be the building which will house the engineering shops and the repair dock. It will be 900 feet long and 600 feet wide, or approximately three city blocks long and two blocks wide, covering nearly 13 acres.

Although it will be only one story high, it will require 5,530 tons of structural steel. Its three main doorways will be 250 feet wide by 50 feet high. The doors will be opened and closed by powerful electric motors. Surmounting the vast structure will be a 90-foot flying control tower.

Within this 13-acre plant will be a row on row of aeronautical machinery, including everything necessary for overhauling and repairing any type of plane.

Adjoining the engineering shop will be the depot supply warehouse with nearly 10 acres of floor space. It will be 850 feet long and 430 feet wide with a one-story height.

Most remarkable from the standpoint of construction, however, will be the two-story equipment repair building, in which plane instruments will be kept in tip-top shape. Its walls, extending 220 feet in one direction and 72 feet in the other, will be almost wholly made of glass block four inches thick and without windows.

An air conditioning system will provide ventilation and regulate the temperature. The reason for this is that aero instruments are so delicate they can be properly regulated and tested only in rooms which are dustproof, and where the atmosphere is controlled.

The main office building will be 300 feet long and 70 feet wide and three stories in height. Two additional structures will house the engineering and operating offices.

Several Warehouses Outlined
 Also in the layout, will be an engine testing building, a warehouse for salvaged equipment, another for paint, oil and wing "dope," and still another for chemicals, gasoline storage facilities, water and sewer systems.

There will be more than 20 miles of railroad spurs, including double tracks into the engineering shops, a ditch supply warehouse.

All of these will connect directly with the principal railroad systems in the Pacific Coast.

Once the entire plant is completed, officials declare it will be one of the most important links in the building up of an aerial defense base on the Pacific Coast as well as the entire region west of the Rockies.

FILM PLAYERS RUSH TO TAKE ROAD TO ROME

By JOSEPH D. RAVOTTO
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 ROME, July 24 (U.S.)—Just as in England when the movie industry first "perked up" there, American actors are coming to Rome to take roles in Italian films.

This summer, with Italy initiating a drive to regain its old place in the cinema industry, there are several Americans taking lead roles in pictures being turned at Cine Citta, Italy's new Hollywood on the outskirts of Rome.

For the last few months there also has been a strange lot of nondescript Italian cameramen and directors loitering about the Italian studios hoping to crash into the local industry while it is still on the ground floor.

John Lodge, of Boston, socialist brother of Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge and his wife Francesca Braggiotti lead the parade. They have opposing lead roles in the Italian talkie "Tonight at Eleven."

Both Speak Italian
 Both speak fluent Italian although Lodge's knowledge of Italian is scant but his accent is faultless and he repeats the lines recited to him euphontically.

Mrs. Lodge is partly of Italian extraction, although born an American citizen. Her present film is her second in Italy. She made her debut in "Scipione l'Africano," Italy's greatest film since its regeneration. It is scheduled for release this fall.

Upon the completion of "Tonight at Eleven," the Lodges will leave for Paris, where John is due to make two French films and then to London for four English films. Mrs. Lodge may get parts in these pictures.

A week's dancing engagement at the Teatro Valle, Rome's leading theater, and an appearance before the King and his family, has won Maria Gambarelli, Roxy's favorite ballet dancer, a warm place in Italian hearts.

Greater Popularity Likely
 She is before the camera in "Doctor Antonius" in a light, pleasing role where her dancing skill alone would suffice. The slim, blond American is prepared for a long sojourn in the home of her ancestors. Her present film may be the first of a series.

Another on the list of Americans acting in Italian films is Barbara Fairbanks, daughter of Frank Fairbanks, painter and former professor, at the American Art Academy. With an Italian accent that is flawless Miss Fairbanks is making her debut in a comedy "The Last Days of Pompeii," directed by Mario Mattioli, who spent several years in Hollywood.

Others are on their way over. Others are negotiating. Bessie Love, star of the silent days, is dickering with Italian magnates and before long her name may be added to the list of Americans who are seeking to recapture the fame that once was theirs.

in collisions between passenger cars and trucks were in passenger cars and 93 per cent in collisions between passenger cars and buses were in the former.

Nature of injuries in fatal accidents showed fractured skull, 46 per cent; fractured spine, 3 per cent; other fractures 17 per cent and internal injuries 17 per cent.

The council reported that the higher the speed the worse the accident. At 20 miles an hour, one accident in 61 was fatal; and the rate increases until at over 30 miles an hour, one accident in every 11 is fatal.

Twenty per cent of the nation's traffic at night causes three-fifths of all deaths, the council reported.

Village Mayor is Reading Gas Meters

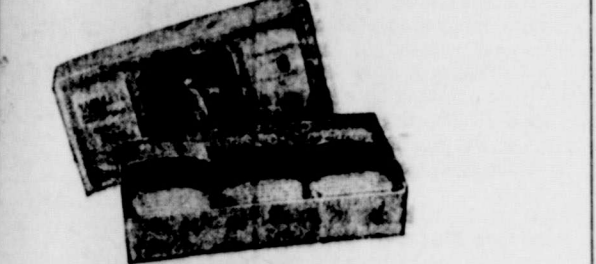

FAIRPORT, O. (U.S.)—Mayor John C. Rendrick, Fairport's versatile village head, not only administers the affairs of the village but also serves as branch manager of the gas company in Fairport.

In addition to attending to the village's affairs, the chief executive has charge of the servicing and installing of gas meters in homes of the village, maintenance of gas mains and the reading of gas meters.

The two jobs harmonize, Mayor Rendrick believes, as they provide for a more intimate contact with the villagers under his administration.

Gas Appliances Shown at Dallas

Latest modern gas appliances and conveniences for Texas people are on display at an exhibit sponsored by the Lone Star Gas System at the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition in Dallas. Featuring cooking appliances, and industrial uses of gas, the exhibit shows how gas industry is bringing improved service to consumers.

Covering 16,000 square feet in a wing of the Varied Industries building, the area is air conditioned by gas and affords a cool place for relaxation for Exposition visitors. The exhibit houses a comfortable auditorium which has a seating capacity of 250. The stage is equipped with a model gas kitchen.

A daily feature is a free cooking demonstration given on the auditorium stage by Miss Albertine Berry, home economics director for the Lone Star Gas System. Miss Berry prepares a complete meal for a family. At the conclusion of each demonstration, visitors are chosen from the audience by a drawing and invited to dine with a company hostess at a dinner, food for which is prepared by Miss Berry at the cooking demonstrations. Each cooking demonstration begins at 4:30 p. m. daily and concludes at 7 o'clock when the dinners are served in a private dining room near the auditorium. Adjoining the auditorium also is another model kitchen from which visiting housewives may secure suggestions for planning their own model kitchens.

In addition to sponsoring this exhibit, Lone Star System also furnishes as a hospitality center for women visitors at the Exposition the Pan American Hostess House the former Hall of Religion which was built for the Texas Centennial Exposition in 1936 by Lone Star stockholders.

Will Rogers Shrine To Be Singing Tower

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 24 — The beautiful Will Rogers Shrine of the Sun is to become one of the most unique ringing towers in the world. Spencer Penrose, who has built the granite memorial on Cheyenne mountain, half a mile above the Broadmoor hotel, is now having installed an elaborate system of Westminster chimes and vibra harp which can be operated automatically or through a console on which concerts can be given.

The silvery notes will be amplified and sent over the entire Pike's Peak region. Westminster chimes will be heard on the hour and each quarter hour, starting with the songs of the birds at dawning of each day and continuing until 11 at night when they close the day with a hymn. After dark, floodlights will illuminate the shaft like a jewel set in velvet. The lights will come on gradually ten seconds before the song of the chimes, and thirty seconds after the last note has been lost in the night, the light will be dimmed to extinction.
