SOVIET CONSULATE RAIDED BY JAPAN

AMERICANS TO BE EVACUATED FROM DANGER

TOKYO, Aug. 4 (U.P.)—The foreign office rejected a protest filed today by the Soviet Charge D'Affaires against a raid on the Soviet Consulate in Tientsin. The protest alleged that the Japanese army had some connection with the raid.

TIENTSIN, August 4 (U.P.)—Japanese airplanes went into action against Chinese troops in the area south of Tientsin and northwest of Peiping today. Japanese military authorities said their planes had bombed two Chinese troop trains and one armored train.

SHANGHAI, August 4 (U.P.)—Encouraged by widespread reports that Soviet Russia will threaten military pressure unless Japan gives her "sat factories" for Sunday night's raid on the Russian consulate in Tientsin, China tonight rushed additional troops to the Yellow river and prepared for a showdown fight.

The Chinese based their hopes of Soviet intervention on these factors: 1. Russia would like to regain her dominant position in Manchukuo and regain the vital Chinese eastern railway which Japan forced her to surrender following the Chinese-Japanese war of 1931-33. 2. Russian control of outer Mongolia and the penetration of the area west of Peiping will be checked and Soviet influence in Central Asia wrecked if the Japanese gain control of all north China.

3. Moscow fears that Japan plans eventually to seize Russia's Siberian maritime provinces to complete the Japanese program for "domination of northern Asia." Meantime, events moved rapidly toward a general war in which more than 500,000 men may be engaged with the fate of 100,000,000 Chinese in five northern provinces at stake. Chinese took the offensives on all fronts.

However, three engine Japanese bombers roared south, west and north, and rained bombs on Chinese troop concentrations.

FARMERS FAVOR COTTON MARKET AS PROTECTION

Dallas, August 3 (U.P.)—Texas farmers who annually produce one-third of the nation's cotton crop went on record today as favoring government protection against the rapid fall of the cotton market as the state picked the first of its bumper crop.

The Texas farmers will urge congress to authorize loans of 15 cents on cotton. Under terms of a resolution passed here, farmers would receive 12 cents a pound upon delivery to a bonded warehouse and the remaining 3 cents a pound would be paid in compliance with a long time agriculture program.

Missing Pan-American Plane Found Today

NO SIGNS OF PASSENGERS OR OF CREW

WASHINGTON, August 3 (U.P.)—A missing Pan-American plane en route north from Santiago, Chile, was found about 30 miles northeast of Christoval today, according to word from the navy in the canal zone.

The message said the plane was found submerged with no sign of life aboard. Naval authorities were uncertain to the fate of the 11 passengers and 3 crew members. The dispatch received here did not indicate their fate.

Naval authorities said there was a possibility that those aboard the plane were taken off by a rescue plane.

Sixty-four planes and four service vessels were dispatched by army and naval authorities in the canal zone to hunt for the Pan-American craft which was lost as it prepared to land at Christoval.

The ship piloted by Stephen Dunn, a six-year veteran, was due at Christoval at seven o'clock last night. At 6:30 p. m. the plane radioed it was over Bilbao on the Pacific side of the canal zone. It said it was flying in clouds at an altitude of 5,000 feet.

An hour later it reported it was circling over Christoval in a heavy rain. It had 5,000 feet altitude and reported that visibility was good. No more was heard from the plane after that.

NOTED DOCTOR CALLED TO SEE ONE OF QUINTS

Brown of Toronto, one of Canada's leading specialists in children's diseases, was summoned today to examine Emilie, third largest of the Dionne quintuplets, who, according to Dr. Allen Roy Dafeo, their physician, is suffering from a respiratory infection.

Dr. Dafeo called Dr. Brown "because, although the infection did not seem particularly serious, I thought it best that we should investigate carefully and if possible trace it to its source."

CISCO GIRLS WINNERS OVER CARBON GIRLS

Cisco will meet Eastland in an all-star game which will be played tonight at the soft ball field. Only one game will be played, with nine innings.

In the game last night between the Cisco girls and the Carbon girls the score was 9 to 7 in favor of Cisco. Carbon had 7 runs, hits and 5 errors. Cisco had 9 runs, 8 hits and 6 errors.

The Jaycees lost to the Carbon boys last night in a score of 16 to 3. Jaycees had three runs, 7 hits and 3 errors and Carbon had 16 runs, 14 hits and 1 error.

Hal Dyer, Assistant manager and announcer, said that Carbon had the snappiest team that had played on the field this year, with plenty of enthusiasm and pep.

Walter Boyett relieved his brother in the first inning after five runs had been scored. Starring relief Boyett in the sixth inning Miller batted for Boyett in fifth inning.

Set up for games were as follows: Cisco girls: Reames, 3b; Morris, 2b; Bell, 1b.

Old Simp Looney Home is Burned

A house burned Monday night on Randolph Hill on Austin Avenue. It was known as the old Simp Looney residence.

The occupants were not at home, and their names could not be learned. The fire occurred a few minutes before 10 o'clock, and, according to Mr. Stubbiefield, the fire trucks put it out before the fire had completely demolished the building.

Mr. Palliaserro has had several years experience in departmental work and will serve the people of Cisco efficiently.

The morning of June 2 came and the first thing I had to do was say good-bye to one of my night nurses, who was unable to make the trip. This cute little Chinese girl was named "Ke" and I called her "Coo Coo." She took care of me from the first day of my entrance into the hospital. She had a heart of gold and we parted with a few tears.

A little later, Father Rice brought me Holy Communion, as he had done on each Sunday morning during the previous year. I had always felt it important to receive the Blessed Sacrament before starting out on any long journey. And so Father Rice was kind enough to make it possible for me to conform to this good habit.

Eleven o'clock came and everything had been packed away except the patient and respirator. With the aid of five hundred foot extension cord the machine (respirator) was kept running while we descended in the elevator and rolled through lengthy basement corridors. These corridors were lined with the curious and well-wishers who wished to witness the start of this adventure. Finally, coming to the service entrance, the power was switched over to a gasoline motor. The respirator was then loaded onto a truck by means of a portable runway. The gasoline dynamo had already been mounted on the truck.

On the way to the station with the help of a mirror, I was treated to my first and last real view of the streets of Peiping. I felt that I already knew the way from looking at the thousands of snap-shots the Colonel (my father) had taken and shown me. Again, at the station, there were hundreds of people present to say good-bye to our party.

Ohio Town Tries 'Barrel Justice'

The whipping post in another form has returned to Powhatan, O., as the picture above proves. In the last five years Marshal Edward Carpenter has laid approximately 200 boys across a barrel and soundly whipped or paddled them, and as a result, juvenile misdemeanors have been greatly minimized. Although Judge Harry L. Albright, county juvenile agent, has "heard reports" of the "barrel justice" whippings, he knows only that Powhatan's juvenile delinquency somehow has become less of a problem.

WAGE AND HOUR BILL DELAYED BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, August 3 (U.P.)—The House Labor Committee acting, according to Representative William Lambert of Kansas, at the request of President Roosevelt today delayed final action on a wages and hours bill until Wednesday.

The move came after President William Green of the American Federation of Labor urged house leaders to stand by the tentative house draft of the wages and hours bill instead of substituting the milder bill passed by the senate.

The White House announced that Green would confer with President Roosevelt later today.

Fort Worth Funeral Attended By Ciscoans

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Hittson have returned from Fort Worth where they were called on account of the death of their aunt, Mrs. Henry Hittson, who died Friday at the family residence on Route 1, Fort Worth.

Mrs. Hittson, who is well remembered by many Ciscoans, was 76 years of age, and has surviving her two sons, J. H. Hittson of Fort Worth and R. Hittson of Jackson, Miss. Two daughters, Mrs. J. M. Bass, Springfield, Mo., and Mrs. E. L. Smith, Hurst, Tex. A brother, J. K. Anderson, Fort Worth. She is also survived by 11 grandchildren, and five great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 10 o'clock Monday, Rev. E. D. Reese, officiating, assisted by Rev. F. M. Porter, pastor at Hurst.

Mrs. L. M. May of Tyler is in the city visiting her sister, Mrs. Marvin Hickman and Mr. Hickman.

Whenever we stopped at a station for any length of time, my nurses would open the door and hold a mirror so that I could see out. A large crowd would quickly accumulate and I would try out the little Chinese I had learned. They understood very little because of my Mandarin pronunciation. In China, as in many countries, people from different parts of the country have various accents, so that a person from the north cannot understand a person from the south, etc. The written characters are all the same. During these stops the audience would see my nurses wearing masks. These are still worn, not because of contagion, but for my

When 111,000 Americans Died

A generation has passed since the sinking of the Titanic, yet that great disaster is still well remembered. Fifteen hundred persons died.

The Johnstown flood will never be forgotten—the world was aghast when the death total of 2,229 was tabulated.

The World War was the most sanguinary conflict in history. In it, 50,000 Americans lost their lives, and they are still mourned.

The recent Texas school explosion, which killed 294 children, brought universal sympathy and horror.

Yet last year 111,000 Americans met accidental death—more than twice as many as were killed in the great war—and it caused hardly a ripple in the flow of news. We read of some of those accidents in our paper—"John Jones, aged 45, died in emergency hospital after being struck by an automobile"—turned the page, and forgot them. This astounding callousness—this attitude of "Accidents always happen to the other fellow, not to me or mine"—is death's greatest ally.

Among men, heart disease is the only thing which kills more men than accidents. Such plagues as cancer, tuberculosis, pneumonia—plagues which are being fought by all the resources of science—are down the list. Recklessly driven automobiles, burns, falls, drownings, and so on—these are the great killers.

Practically every accident is preventable—and this is especially true of the motor car, greatest of all the great killers. Care, competence, courtesy—these make up the accident prevention triumvirate. It's up to you—to all of us.

Lighted Cigarette, $70,000 Gone

A short time ago, a careless Oregon motorist tossed a lighted cigarette from his car. An area of 5,000 acres, covered with good young timber, was burned. At the present average lumber price, that means $70,000 in payrolls and supplies was lost to the state. And, according to a conservation authority, "it would really amount to a loss of well over a million dollars in the future resources of the state."

Many decades are required before a burned tree is replaced and devastated land becomes valuable again. Preventing fire is said to be 75 per cent of reforestation. And more than 90 per cent of all forest fires are man-made. In every lumber state, you can see thousands of ghostly acres, covered with only the blackened stumps of once great trees—grim monuments to ignorance and carelessness.

Every individual owes his fellow citizens an obligation when he goes into the woods, or drives through timbered country. That obligation is easily discharged—but failure to do so may result in the loss of millions of dollars, and the ruin of irreplaceable natural beauties. Take the utmost care.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY WHEELER NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The vaunted dignity of high courts doesn't prevent them from taking an occasional sly kick at the judicial pants of other high courts.

Here's one, planted squarely on the derriere of the U. S. Supreme Court, itself, by the sixth circuit court of appeals in a recent obscure labor case.

The "kick" in the decision, couched in the kind of "whereas and aforementioned" language so hard for you and me to understand, follows. But first, keep in mind that the Carter Coal case has been for years the key one by which the Supreme Court asserted that such businesses as coal mining were local and hence could not be regulated by Congress under the interstate commerce clause of the Constitution. The Fruehauf Trailer case, one of those vindicating the Wagner Act only recently, takes a directly opposite view.

Caught between the traditional Carter decision and the new Fruehauf decision, the lower court rather sourly stressed that it must follow "the latest decisions" of the Supreme Court, and put its decision thus: "Per curiam: This court thought that Carter vs. Carter Coal Co. and the authorities there relied on, required a holding in Fruehauf Trailer Company vs. National Labor Relations Board that the trailer company, in its relation to its employees there involved, was not subject to regulation by Congress under the commerce clause of the Constitution of the United States. The Supreme Court, on review of the decision, held that it was. There is no substantial difference between the status of that company and its employees to commerce and that of the appellee here, James Vernon Company, and its employees. "We again follow the latest decisions of the Supreme Court, and hold that the decree herein should be vacated, the motion for injunction denied and the bill dismissed. It is so ordered." A distinguished lawyer advises your correspondent that this means simply: "Lower courts are now forced to explain the inconsistencies of their decisions on the ground that they are following the inconsistencies of the Supreme Court."

SENATOR BURT WHEELER. Better court plan foe, spent an hour and a half with Roosevelt recently and later flatly denied Senator Minton's charges that he had let parts of the conversation leak out. Also, out of the visit of the "four freshmen" senators, who went to suggest a recommitment of the bill, came a distorted story to the effect that Roosevelt had said he was philosophically resigned to letting the Senate do whatever it wanted about the court plan. Solution of both mysteries may be found right here: 1—No one knew that Senator Homer Bone of Washington, friend of Wheeler and supporter of Roosevelt who arranged the interview, sat in on the conference at which Wheeler delivered impassioned speeches. Bone later whispered a bit. 2—Senator Guy Gillette of Iowa, one of the "four freshmen," made a report to Burke of Nebraska. Then Burke passed the word around which was later denied.

with smoking materials—and don't throw matches and butts, even though you think they're out, from your car. Watch campfires like a hawk, and when you leave, saturate them with water, then bury with dirt. Obey the law—especially the local rulings that are put into effect during fire seasons in areas where hazards are especially great. Remember that forests are our heritage, and that it is up to us whether we dissipate or conserve that magnificent legacy.

own protection from cold and other germs. It was funny to see those who crowded around the door holding their handkerchiefs to their noses thinking to ward off the poliomyelitis germs.

Some of my Chinese nurses have never been very far away from home before and spent a good portion of the time gazing out of the train window. When they arrived in Shanghai, which is very much a foreign city, their eyes were wide open and some strained their necks looking at the high buildings. Wait until they see San Francisco and Chicago.

June 11

In Shanghai the transfer from the train to hospital, and hospital to tender, was also made without any difficulty in quite the same way as the one already described in Peiping. The President Coolidge does not go alongside in Shanghai and it was necessary to take a tender down the river to where the ship was anchored. When the tender reached the ship, I was moved from the respirator, placed on a stretcher, and with the aid of a positive pressure apparatus, carried to the state-room where a new respirator had already been installed.

During our 3-day stay in Shanghai, I was a guest at the General Hospital, which is municipally owned, but operated by the Sisters of St. Francis. They really treated me comfortably. The food was excellent; far superior to what one might obtain at the hotel. On the second morning Father Moore, fellow patient, brought to the Blessed Sacrament and the following morning, which was Sunday, the nuns had arranged for mass to be celebrated right outside my door. Joy of joys—I cannot express the thrill experienced during the Holy Ceremony after having been away from it for fourteen months. I soon learned that Father Moore was to be a fellow passenger returning to America, because of his health. We have now become good friends. He brings me Communion each morning and twice has said Mass in my room. He is also to accompany us on the train to Chicago.

In Peiping and again in Shanghai, there were many farewell gifts of flowers, candy, tea and other ar-the bedroom. They turned on saffron lights, drew the curtains and glanced at the dressing table. "I had nothing of any value along," Judith said. "What could she have wanted? Perhaps a clean handkerchief." Then she remembered. Her hand went to her throat. No, she had not put on her pearls this morning. She opened a case. They were not there. She would not tell Millicent. Better to keep this quiet until Phil could take charge.

But Millicent was aware of her action. "You aren't wearing your necklace. Sure it's around?" "In a drawer or something," Judith lied deliberately. Millicent nodded. "I understand. I hear voices. The others are here. Come on, Judy."

Marta, yellow-haired, blue-eyed, fragile as a Botticelli angel, was standing in front of the hearth, wearing simple, silken black to-night. Her women were a little bored, eager to return to town before it grew too late. The maid was announcing dinner, and the odor of a roast came through the air. For a second the two women, descending the low stairway, caught their breath. Marta was wearing a strand of pearls—a strand of pearls like the ones that Judith had worn above her turtle-necked sweater the night before.

It was later, much later that night, when Marta had been deposited at her own door, and Phil and Judith had driven home in awkward silence, that Judith mentioned the matter of the beads to her husband. His face was so cold that it frightened her. "You are implying that Marta, the—the woman I love—" He flung out the words like a banner—"could do such a thing."

"Perhaps not. The beads are gone. I thought you should know." "Marta probably wanted an aspirin tablet. She asked me for one and I told her to go up to your room—I'd left a box on the dressing table. She came down with the pill and I got her a glass of water. Knight save me do it. So did the housekeeper. Does that satisfy you?" "Yes, I'm sorry, but the beads could have gone too. . . . " "Put on your hat." Even while he gave the terse command she loved him; the narrowed eyes in the lean face, the swift strides that carried him across the room and back again.

"Where are we going?" "To Marta's. You are going to see with your own eyes that she doesn't have your pearls."

ties; also numerous cablegrams from friends at home wishing us a pleasant voyage.

I have not previously mentioned Dr. Teng and Mr. Alston who were members of our party when we started out. Dr. Teng had just finished his term as resident physician at PUMC. He had become a very good friend of mine and helped us a great deal on the trip to Shanghai. This was not the only reason for his trip to Shanghai, however. A few days after our departure he was married to Dr. Wang, a former fellow-classmate at PUMC. Dr. Teng brought his fiancée to the hospital so that I might have the pleasure of meeting her. She is a sweet and charming young lady.

"Billy" Alston is the chief engineer at PUMC. It was largely through his efforts that things have gone so smoothly thus far. He accompanied us as far as Kobe, Japan. We all hated to have him leave us as he was really the life of the party. On his last night aboard a little farewell dinner was given in his honor. Afterwards he came to my room to sing a few Scotch ditties and go through the routine of some intricate tap dances. He is a most congenial person and we were sorely tempted to kidnap him for the remainder of the voyage.

Today is Monday; tomorrow is still Monday or Meridian Day. It promises to be the longest Monday in my experience. Reason: today we crossed the international date line and are now once more back in the Western Hemisphere.

For the last two days the water has been very smooth with no one sick for a change. Some of my nurses are so sensitive. I believe they would get seasick on a river. Thus far, I have not been sick, but then the captain told me this morning that this is a most peaceful Pacific and he has been on the water a mere 50 years.

There is no doubt about this being a lot better than hospital life. I should like to stay on board for a couple of more crossings. The food is delicious and what an appetite one does acquire while on the water. Morpheus has also been good to me of recent nights.

Yesterday, while strolling on deck, Nurses "Butch and Alice, struck up a conversation with a fellow-passenger. When they introduced themselves, the lady informed them that her name was Mrs. Peacock. A few minutes later when parting Alice said, "I am pleased to have made your acquaintance, Mrs. Cock-tail."

This afternoon, we had dancing class here in my cabin. Some of the nurses are anxious to master the art before they arrive in America.

And so it is time to stop again; Mary Loretto, my secretary and I find it difficult to make entries herein.

Golden Gate and strange to say I am not the least bit thrilled or excited. The ocean voyage has been so pleasant that I hate to see it end. Of course, I will be glad to see my friends in Chicago, but the business of becoming acquainted with new doctors and nurses is not appealing. My Chinese nurses have been with me so long that they know exactly how to make me the most comfortable. They know that when

Ghost of 'Shylock' Visits His Debtors

HYDERABAD, India (U.P.) - What is probably the world's most useful ghost is reported to be wandering about at large at Karimnagar, near here. He, or it, is the ghost of a money lender known during his life as the "Shylock of Karimnagar," who had difficulty in collecting his debts when he lived, but whose ghost is having none now. The debtors, who owed several thousand rupees at the time of the money lender's death, are reported to be rushing to pay their just debts before the ghost pays them a visit. It appears that the debtors settled down after the money lender's death with that "come and collect it" expression for his heirs. Then one of them was visited by a ghost one night; and then another, and another, so the story goes. The heirs, who in a less credulous district might be credited with having something to do with the "ghost" are sitting back and collecting both capital and interest as fast as they can.

"MAKIN'S" SMOKERS HERE STEAL THE SHOW ON ROLLING!

They Win Both Ways - On Fast, Neat Rolling and Mild, Tasty Smokes. IT'S great stuff when "makin's" tobacco rolls up so quick and neat as Prince Albert. And then when it smokes so downright mild and tasty, too - it's something to cheer about! No wonder 'most everybody 'round here rolls P. A. It's "crimp cut." Smokes mild, smooth, and mighty satisfyin'. (And say - you'll find Prince Albert great in pipes, too!)

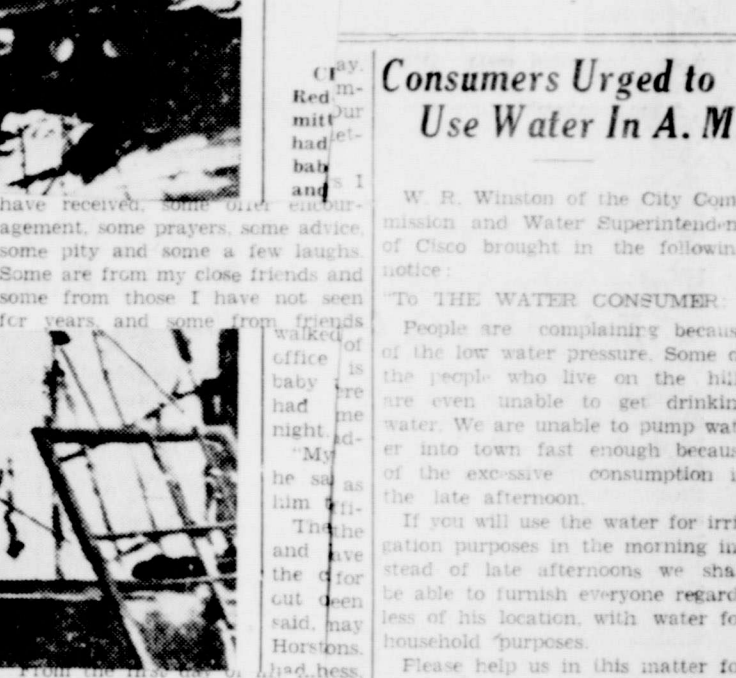

"I SEE you're rolling yours with Prince Albert," says the gent perched up on the baggage truck down by the station. "Bout time you got onto that good P. A. tobacco could draw so easy and smoke so slow and cool as P. A."

This afternoon the ship's engineer hung a mirror below my porthole so that a view of the Golden Gate bridge and bay bridge will be visible. He had previously hung a large mirror on the ceiling so I could see half of the room also out the ports. June 29 It is a long time and a long tance between entries. Here I starting my second week at Bill hospital and we are not through Golden Gate yet. On the 19th about 6 a. m. the long awaited fall was sighted. In short we were under the bridge and chored at quarantine. Mr. Griffin came out on the tender and it was certainly good to see him. Although we docked at nine, I was not transferred to the train alongside until one. During the interval I had pleasant visits with Ed Sheeran, Larry Condon, Jack Styksal, Jack Melley, Orville Lee and all the local boys. At three o'clock we were off for Oakland and then across country to Chicago. The entire trip was comfortable and enjoyable for me. Our car ran as a special section of the Overland Limited. The respirator was placed in the rear end of the observation car, permitting an excellent view of the passing scenery. Many places I saw for the first time, including Great Salt Lake. The officials of the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Northwestern went out of their way to do everything in their power to provide for my safety, comfort and happiness. Shortly before arrival in Chicago, the train passed through Elmhurst, the suburb in which we used to live. The platform was lined with old friends and it did my heart good to see them all again, even if it was only a fleeting glance. Again at the terminal in Chicago, there were crowds of our friends all glad to see us home, but none the happier than we to be there. The ride through the Loop down Michigan Boulevard and the Outer Drive was a real thrill. For the most part, everything looked the same as we had left it 18 months

People are complaining because of the low water pressure. Some of the people who live on the hill are even unable to get drinking water. We are unable to pump water into town fast enough because of the excessive consumption in the late afternoon. If you will use the water for irrigation purposes in the morning instead of late afternoon we shall be able to furnish everyone regard less of his location with water for household purposes. Please help us in this matter by the extreme heat and lack of rain will only last three or four more weeks. Respectfully, W. R. WINSTON, Water Superintendent."

UTAH PEACHES CUT HEAVILY SALT LAKE CITY (U.S.) - An almost total failure of peaches at Utah is forecast by Frank Andrews, Federal Stationer. The freezing of trees and dormant buds last winter is blamed for cutting the peach crop 554,000 bushels to an estimated harvest of 60,000 bushels for the summer. Since my return to Chicago, every one has been very good to me here in my new home. I have become acclimated much more quickly than I had anticipated.
