'Stepping Stone' in Film Romance

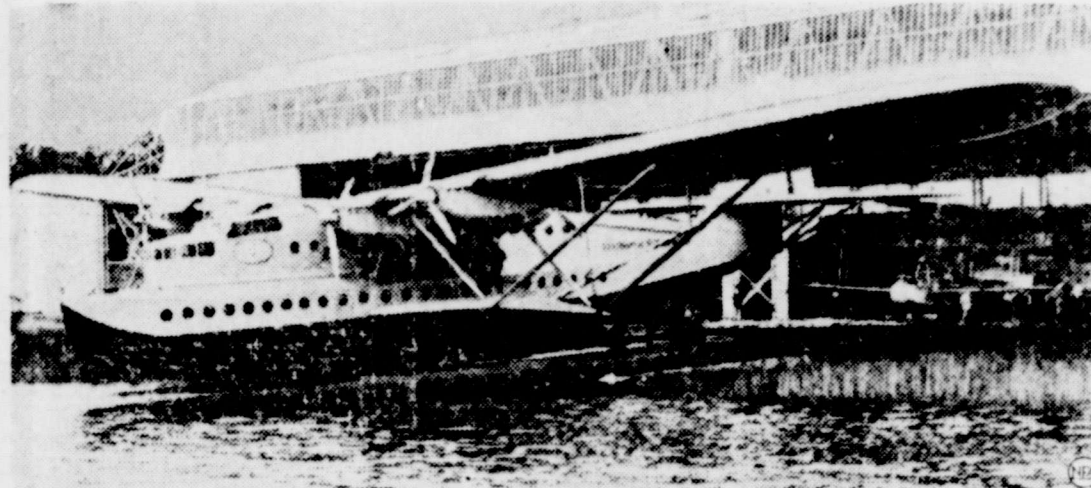

Red-haired, green-eyed Paula Stone, above, first gave Hollywood something to think about when she shunned a screen test because "they are such horrible things" and then jumped right into featured roles. Now she has surprised the colony again with news of her plans to marry Walter Masch of Hollywood. Paula, one of the "Stepping Stone" daughters of Fred Stone, comedian, was noted as a dancer before she went into the films.

AUSTIN ASKED FOR DELAY TO INVESTIGATE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (U.P.)—Senate confirmation of the nomination of Sen. Hugo L. Black to the supreme court today faced delay until next week, when Chairman Henry Ashurst said he would not call a special meeting of the Judiciary Committee to act on the appointment. A bloc of republican and democratic senators who fought President Roosevelt's supreme court program were seeking to delay action but friends of Black were eager for a speedy vote. Ashurst, however, said he would not call a special meeting. The sub-committee voted five to one to approve the nomination with only Senator Austin voting against his Alabama colleague. Consideration of the nominee must be taken up by the full judiciary committee. The sub-committee action was taken despite a motion by Austin to delay a vote until investigation was made of the eligibility of Black to hold the supreme court post. Austin cited a constitutional provision prohibiting members of congress from holding offices created during a member term of office. He contended that Black was a member of this congress which passed the supreme court retirement law under which Justice Willis Vandevanter quit. Meanwhile, President Roosevelt told a White House press conference that Attorney General Homer Cummings had considered the eligibility question and ruled that Black was fully eligible to the high court. Mr. Roosevelt also declared he is not considering submission of a constitutional amendment concerning the supreme court.

WRECK VICTIMS ARRIVE HERE AT NOON TODAY

The bodies of Mrs. Charles Kleiner, 26, and her son, Charles, Jr., 9, arrived at noon today on the east-bound Texas and Pacific train. Accompanying them was the body of Mrs. W. M. Barnes, the Kleiner governess, killed in the same accident. Harvey Lee Hayes, cousin of Mrs. Kleiner, W. M. Barnes, father of the governess, and her son, Pete Barnes, accompanied the bodies here. It is reported that a governor on the sedan being driven by Mrs. Kleiner prevented a speed in excess of 60 miles an hour, and information had reached Cisco that they had been side-swiped by a truck, which contributed to the accident. Funeral services for Mrs. Charles Kleiner and Charles, Jr., will be held at the First Baptist church on Wednesday.

DISTRICTS TO REMAIN AT $22 PER CAPITA

AUSTIN, August 13 (U.P.)—Ghent Sanderford, chairman of the State Board of Education said today he expected the apportionment of state aid to school districts to remain at $22 per scholastic. A court injunction against a change in the apportionment was dissolved at San Antonio yesterday. The Board voted 6 to 2 for the $22 apportionment, and there has been no change ordered since. I do not expect to call a meeting to make a change," said Sanderford. Governor Alfred, seeking a reduction in the tax rate, had questioned the right of the board to set the apportionment in advance of the state tax levy.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 14 (Saturday) (U.P.)—Japanese cruisers shelled Chinese forces between the Waiangpoo river and Kiang today as an undeclared war raged in the streets of Shanghai. Japanese bluejackets and Chinese troops fought through the streets. Great sections of the native city were in flames. Tanks were rushed up by the Japanese and anti-aircraft guns were set up. With Japanese artillery bombarding Kiangwan, the gravest concern was felt for the American Oriental Missionary Society, located in that section. The organization cares for foundling children. A hundred U. S. Marines assigned police in patrolling the boundary of the international settlement. The Chinese let their batteries go tonight. Their fire was directed at Japanese positions outside Shanghai University, adjacent to which their landing forces were attempting to construct an airfield. American naval patrols were landed from the U. S. S. Sacramento. Japanese troops were met in the Peiping and Tientsin areas by a suddenly rejuvenated Chinese army. Serious fighting developed 15 miles southwest of Peiping on the Hang-kow railroad and near Tientsin.

EMERGENCY MEETINGS TO BE CALLED DAILY. TOKYO, August 14. (U.P.)—Announcement of the calling of an emergency cabinet meeting for tomorrow followed late today by reports that such meetings would probably occur daily for the present, gave some circles a faint optimism over the Shanghai situation.

JAPANESE TROOPS OCCUPY NANKOW, NEAR PEIPING. NANKOW, August 14. (U.P.)—Japanese troops occupied Nankow, 25 miles northwest of Peiping today and pressed on in the face of determined Chinese resistance to storm the Nankow mountain pass. Chinese resistance which once seemed at an end, had stiffened. Japanese commanders brought into the battle their airplanes and tanks in an effort to remove the Chinese from the path.

EX-CONVICT IS SEARCHED FOR BY OFFICERS

AUSTIN, August 13 (U.P.)—Officers searched today for Lawrence Rea, ex-convict, as the suspected slayer of R. N. Payton in an attempt yesterday to steal an automobile to escape questioning concerning last Monday's $1,700 robbery of the San Antonio Public Service Company. A son, Leon Payton, 16, said that a photograph of Rea looked like the man who forced him to ride in the Payton car after shooting the elder Payton, his wife, and another son. A black hat found after the shooting also was identified as Rea's.

County Man Named Peanut Co-op Head

W. B. Starr of Dan Horn, Eastland county, Wednesday at Brownwood was elected president of the Southwestern Peanut Growers association, cooperative peanut marketing body, which will work with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration for stabilization of prices. Organization of the association completed at the meeting, is the result of three gatherings of peanut growers in Texas, who convened when it became known a large crop is threatening low prices. One of the meetings was held at Eastland. Beside Starr other officers of the association are J. E. Britte, Pleasanton, first vice president; T. D. Rebinett, Comanche, second vice president; M. M. Miller, Arlington secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Gladys Cartwright, Brownwood, assistant secretary. Brownwood will be headquarters. The association will work with two similar associations organized in Southern peanut producing states, it was stated. The marketing plan will include delivery of peanuts by members to designated warehouses at prices fixed by the growers committee and AAA representatives. The peanuts will be sold by the association. County Agent Elmo V. Cook also attended the meeting.

ELEPHANT LETS MAN RIDE IN ITS MOUTH

FORT WORTH, August 13 (U.P.)—Elephant travel in India is customary, but a Fort Worth man, Arthur Huff, is among the few in the world to have traveled 500 miles in an elephant's mouth. Now Huff is no Jonah, but his elephant mileage was compiled while he was a star performer with Ringling Brothers circus. His partner was Yasso, "the wonder elephant." Each afternoon and night for several years, Yasso carried Huff in her mouth—285 feet in each performance, and estimated total of 200 miles. The tragic death of Alfredo Codona, famous trapeze performer, in California recently, brought recollections of a big top to Huff—who was forced to retire from the circus in 1933 because of an accidental fall of one of Codona's trapezes. Codona and Huff were friends. One day, however, when Codona's rigging was being removed, it crashed from the top of the tent and tore Huff from Yasso's mouth. Huff's left ear was ripped off by the impact and he was knocked unconscious. The audience saw something else that was not on the program. The bewildered elephant tenderly lifted Huff's unconscious form in her trunk and carried him to the animal tent. For several minutes she stood guard there, trumpeting defiance at all who tried to approach her master's body. Huff was carried by the head burper in his act, and had only one other serious accident. Yasso one day clamped down on him too hard and fractured his skull during training. Huff is now employed as a stage engineer by the Fort Worth recreation department.

Lake Cisco Lights Have Been Improved

Joe Clements, city street commissioner, reports that the lighting at Lake Cisco State Park has been very recently improved. Fifteen additional lights have been added, and instead of the usual 60-watt globes, 100-watt globes have taken their place. Mr. Clements says that the light of the park is more than ample what the old lights were. Several men have also repaired the barbed wire and put them in order for use. These men have replenished the wood around the pits and the public is invited to come out and use the park freely.

CROP LOAN SOLUTION BRIGHTENS CONGRESSIONAL ADJOURNMENT

WASHINGTON, August 13 (U.P.)—Congressional adjournment prospects brightened today with apparent solution on a tax loophole bill, but dispute continued over wages and hours. The farm compromise announced by Senator Theo Bilbo of Mississippi after a conference with Mr. Roosevelt provides that the White House will authorize loans to insure a 12 cent return per pound return on cotton. Loans will be authorized when and if congress approves the Bilbo resolution, favorably reported by the senate agriculture committee, which makes production control the first order of business at the January session of congress. This agreement it was believed, might aid in solving the wages-

260 BOY SCOUTS AND LEADERS ATTEND CAMP BILLY GIBBONS

Two weeks of camping on the banks of Brady Creek at Camp Billy Gibbons has left more than 260 Scouts and leaders more eager than ever to attend future camps of this area. Almost 70% of the Scouts were first-year campers and had never before realized the value of fellowship, camping, hiking and friendly competition among Scouts in camp, but by the end of camp they had learned much to guide them on the road to better citizenship. Under the leadership of Scoutmaster Frank Runkles, who had his Indian Village in camp, many boys learned Indian dancing, costume-making, sign language, and Indian characteristics in general. Several camp fire programs were carried out in the ceremonies, war dances and Indian socials. Fourteen of the tee-

Recalling the Spirit of the Nation's Youth

Rarely is the nation treated to such a heart-warming echo of its lusty, virile boyhood as it was recently in the track-laying race between the Central Railroad of New Jersey and the Pennsylvania line at Linden, N. J.

Rival gangs of workmen labored side by side, at break-neck speed, trying to be the first to reach a through highway. The prize to the winner was reputed to be bridge rights over the road into a hitherto blocked industrial area.

On the scene before dawn, swinging sledges, dropping ties and clearing right of way until after dark, members of these crews were recreating, in miniature, the raw, boisterous legends of the track-laying race that gave the United States its first transcontinental line.

Of course, there is a vast difference between the competition of a couple of section crews in the year 1937, and that of the men who stretched the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific across mountain and plain, and made them meet, back in the 1860's.

But there is something vastly profitable in being reminded just how we came to forge the steel ribbon of commerce which first tied the nation together, from ocean to ocean, amounting to $16,000 a mile in the plains country, $32,000 a mile in the hill country, and $48,000 a mile in the mountains, plus valuable land along the tracks.

And that was prize enough to send thousands of men into action. On the west, the marathon began at Sacramento, where Chinese coolies and white adventurers toiled and sweated to thread the Central Pacific across the coast ranges. On the east, other conglomerate crews started the Union Pacific from Omaha.

The link was completed at the cost, to the workers, of death and torture by Indians, starvation, murder, robbery, arson and assorted other crimes and mishaps. Luck and the devil accounted for the rest. But the link was completed and the sum of it all was a spectacle of pioneering enterprise in brains and brawn which the world probably never will duplicate.

That link was the trail-blazer for today's streamlined trains, auto traffic, and even today's airplanes. And other benefits accrued from it a thousand fold. It made the United States a truly big nation.

Thus, there is value in being reminded of that bragging, staggering era. Today's flashback indicates that the old competitive spirit still lives and that initiative still has an avenue, albeit narrower, for expression.

But the important thing, it seems, is that the little contest in New Jersey offers a grown-up and somewhat disillusioned nation a chance to pause and ponder over the days when it was young and there were worlds to conquer.

"We are continuing our absurd policy of obliging the Soviet government by purchasing at $35 an ounce all the gold it is digging out of the Ural mountains, and then proceeding to rebury that gold in a hole in the ground in Kentucky."

Headline says grain market sags, affording a bond of sympathy for the young housewife trying to avoid that very thing with the biscuits.

ALIMONY LAWS NEED REVISION, JUDGE ARGUES

CHICAGO, August 13 (AP)—A Superior Court judge who each year hears the complaints of hundreds of men and women seeking divorce, believes revision of alimony laws necessary to give the husband an even break.

Under present laws a vindictive wife or her lawyer pressing for his fee can jail a man for failing to pay, and keep him there until "satisfactory" arrangements are made.

According to Judge John C. Leve, "The practice of sending a husband to jail when he falls behind in his alimony is too frequently abused," Judge Leve said.

"Only in the most aggravated cases should this procedure be resorted to."

Suggests They Be Indicted
Instead of commitment for contempt of court upon failure to pay as is the usual procedure Judge Leve suggested that aggravated cases be made indictable offenses.

"In this way the state's attorney and the grand jury would bring the charge, and a guilty man punished with jail."

Lawyers, he said, found the contempt of court procedure the easiest way of pressing their alimony case.

because the courts were too ready to commit a man to jail.

"There are other ways of collecting alimony—by the entry of a judgment, as in any other civil debt or by sequestration of the defendant's property," Judge Leve said.

Abuse of the law makes revision necessary, he believes.

Stresses One Abuse
"I have even been told that when a man makes part payment to gain his release, his wife's lawyer has been known to keep the money for his fee. This is, of course, not generally true, but such abuses do occur."

Judge Rudolph P. Desort, author of several divorce reform measures, has been considering a bill abolishing the commitment of man for an alimony debt by contempt of court proceedings.

An equitable substitute, he believes, would be to collect through judgment proceedings.

Whole sale divorce reform is contemplated by Chief Justice George Niemeyer of Superior Court. Niemeyer's plan, which he says will be put into effect in the fall, would use but one judge instead of three to hear divorce proceedings.

"Divorce," Judge Niemeyer said "has been made too easy."

Relief Cost Up In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, August 13 (AP)—The cost of administering unemployment relief in Allegheny county has more than doubled since the low point of the depression despite reductions in the number of unemployed.

This was revealed here in reports by the Bureau of Business Research, the Allegheny County Emergency Relief Board and the WPA.

Figures released by the bureau showed that employment had been holding steady for two months at around 99 per cent of the 1929 "boom" year average. Bureau statisticians said that "it was probably a little better than 90 per cent in Allegheny county."

Up 1-2 Million
Despite this, records of the relief board and WPA revealed that more than $2,500,000 was spent here on direct and work relief during July of this year, compared with a little more than $1,000,000 during March, 1935 when unemployment was at its worst.

The number of relief board and cost of administering relief despite reductions in the number of cases is that the amount of money now given each family or case is much higher than in 1933.

In March of 1933, families on relief got only food, fuel and shoes. These grants averaged $16.77 a month per family.

All On Direct Relief
Today, direct relief recipient get checks covering all living costs figured on a meager scale. The average amounts to about $31 a month. Another factor entering into the situation is that there was no work-relief in March of 1933. Everyone was on direct relief.

WPA wages constitute the major item in today's increased relief cost. The average WPA worker in Allegheny county gets $64.42 a month.

Other interesting figures revealed by the bureau are that there are 36,669 employable persons who are not working for private industry in Allegheny county at present, compared with 30,000 unemployed during 1929. The bureau's latest estimate of the number of workers employed in private industry in Allegheny county is 503,000.

City's Population 'Weighed' by Rain

CHAFEL HILL, N. C. (AP)—Three marksmen who tested their skill by shooting rats at the city garbage dump benched today the installation of an incinerator and the work of a professional rat-killer who poisoned the rodents.

E. A. Brown, Arline Carawan and Obie Davis, the marksmen, said sometimes they killed as high as 100 rats each at an afternoon's shoot.

CHAPTER II
"WONDER what that little Irishman meant?" muttered Bob McTavish, as he closed the door behind Pat. "Probably an old shack like this is lousy with writers, and artists and such. I'll have to make it very plain that I have to work for my living. Can't be having the neighbors running in." He retrieved a crumpled cigarette from underneath a pile of books and looked down at the dog.

"Well, Schmatz, it's up to us to get unpacked if we are going to finish that last chapter tonight." He took off his coat and hung it on the back of a chair, rolled up his sleeves, and went to work.

After several hours of sorting things, and shifting them around to the best advantage, he stood back and surveyed his future home. It had evidently been the bedroom of the one-time mansion. An ornate fireplace with a large mirror above it took up one end of the room. The walls were light, the woodwork plain, and the long, narrow windows had scalloped green blinds and little inside shutters that looked as though they had never been dusted.

But Bob had flung them all open at his back, moved his big chair and typewriter stand in front of the bookcase, and noted with satisfaction that his only view was the blank wall. Blank walls were highly conducive to creative work. He could weave the threads of his plot and pursue the dastardly villain without anything to distract his attention. And Bob had to run just so many criminals to earth each week, if he and Schmatz expected to eat.

It had been a very hazardous step for him when he decided to come up to the city and try his hand at fiction writing, instead of going into his father's real estate firm as his two older brothers had done.

"I'd smother with so much family hung about my neck," he had said.

"And you'll likely starve in the city," his father had retorted, "while the other boys are making a snug berth for themselves. Well go ahead and let me know when you're ready to come back home."

BUT so far, Bob had been able to keep just one jump ahead of the wolf, which always lurked within sight of his door. He had even been able to move into this new place, which was vastly better than the room where he first lived when he came to the city, and Schmatz had always had his bone. Take it all in all, they had not done so badly. The men down at Police Headquarters were beginning to know Bob now, when he came nosing around for a possible plot, and were willing that he go through the place in search of ideas. Several of them had even gone so far as to read some of his yarns when they were published, and would often tip him off to some timely new angle.

He ran his fingers through his mop of tousled hair, drew his chair up to his typewriter.

"This is pretty slick, Schmatz," he told the dog. He stretched out his long legs with a sigh of satisfaction.

would, and settle down to the routine of a small town. She wondered now why she had ever thought she could find a job in the city all by herself.

"Sorry, but we're not putting on any more people," had been the invariable answer, when she had to admit she did not have any experience selling things, or keeping books, or doing stenography.

THEN she had happened upon a firm that wanted rhymes for greeting cards. Yes, she could do that. Hadn't she made jingles all her life just for fun? Why not sell them then? That night she wrote Aunt Hattie that she had taken a job with a big publishing firm, which was almost true. Anyway it was better than Gloversville and Joe Williams and Aunt Hattie's fussy dictating of her every move, which was beginning to make her very restless. Though of course she really was grateful to Aunt Hattie and Uncle Henry for having taken care of her since her own parents died.

Cheer, near, hear, dear—that dog had had the dearest, bright black eyes, and such a cute red tongue. Schmatz was what the young man had called him. She wondered why such a queer name. Maybe some girl had given him to his master. Of course there would be a girl. No fellow that good looking could possibly escape. She hadn't seen Pat yet to ask about the new tenant. On dear, where was she?

A frown creased her pretty forehead, and she wrote down a line, then attentively inspected the eraser on her pencil as though it might hold an inspiration. Nothing happened, so she got up and made a cup of tea and poured it into a gay yellow cup which she took from the cupboard in her furnished apartment. What fun if she only had someone to drink the other cupful that the teapot held. Her glance strayed about the studio. It was really quite pretty. Gay cretonne drapes and red geraniums in brass pots made bright splashes of color. She certainly ought to be able to rhyme cheer and dear—if only that gnawing loneliness would let her.

In the hall outside, Pat's broom kept pace with his thoughts too. That young fellow upstairs did seem a likely prospect as a friend for Miss Kathy, but how to bring him to her notice. She wasn't like the Duchess now, who'd speak to any man if she took a notion.

The terrier came scampering through the door just then, dived between Pat's legs and knocked the broom from his hand.

"Hey ye little devil! Where ye goin'?" He grasped the wriggling creature. "Listen, ye don't need to be rushin' up to yer master's room yet. It's a good turn y' got to be doin' a loidy, see."

Feast Days Observed
When Japanese ships have been named after some Shinto shrine or god, the latter's feast day is celebrated by decoration of the shrine with silk banners and fruit while a collection is taken up for the Shinto priests.

If an accident should occur to one of the Japanese ships, the attitude of the crew is not that it was their fault but that they had done something to forfeit the protection of the Shinto god under whom they sailed.

But every happy arrival in a Pacific coast port leaves them firmly convinced that it was due to the protection of the Shinto gods and that is why they feel that every American who travels on one of their boats, or every American who purchases goods that have gone on the Japanese lines have a little debt of recognition to some one of the 8,600,000 Shinto gods.

Young Apprentices Seek Wisconsin Job

MILWAUKEE (U.P.)—Wisconsin's state government is seeking jobs for youthful apprentices.

The state has established a job placement bureau for apprentices with 23 branches. Youths may register at the state offices for apprenticeship. Field workers of the state employment service will seek jobs for them in industry.

Allen F. Weston, industrial commission officer, said the best opportunities for boys now are in building and metal trades, electrical work, railroads, and printing.

Dress shops, beauty parlors and military shops offer the best opportunities for girls he said.

Weston said that undertakers, bakers, automobile mechanics and watchmakers are working on plans to establish apprenticeship systems in their trades.

duces no seed. The variety is produced through grafting, which is done during the winter months. During late June and July the plants blossom and continue perennially for five or six years.

Hot Climate Necessary
Under a hot California sun, the plants require irrigation five or six times a year. They will not grow in a colder climate. Starr declared, as experiments in eastern states have proved.

Although highly specialized, they are not difficult to grow. Protection against potato bugs, cutworms and other insect pests is the main cause of trouble as sprays cannot be used on the plants.

Starr's experiments in the last two years have produced no improvements. He will not say, however, the limit of perfection has been reached, but each day looks for a new and more promising specimen in his plant laboratories.

Colors Range Widely
This year 32 men and 14 women worked on Starr's property, cutting and finishing the plants and dipping them in tanks of aniline dyes which provide hues ranging from orchid, lavender and green.

Starr's industry is growing each year. Next season seven more acres will blossom into whiteness and another dozen persons will be employed in the industry which is believed to command the largest market of any single plant concern in the world.

Each day hundreds of boxes leave the greenhouses. They are addressed to Florida, Eastern states, South America, Alaska, Greenland, Canada and Europe—they are not marked "perishable."

Scranton Loses to Red Front 5 to 4

The Scranton soft ball team came to town last night after the league leading Red Front Drug team and almost got them, coming out in the short end of a five-to-four score. The game was the fastest and hardest played seen on the local field in several nights. Both teams were very stingy with hits and those that they gave up were well scattered.

Davis and Bailey, the two pitchers Scranton used, held the Red Front to six hits, while Boyett, hurling another fine game for the Reds held the Scranton boys to five hits. No player on either team was able to collect more than one hit. Three of the Scranton boys went out by way of the strike-out route and four of the Red Fronters went the same way.

Scranton gave Red Front the best game they have had since the second half of the league opened. Bailey looked plenty good last night when he went in the game to relieve Davis.

struction for beginners and advanced swimmers were given by Harvey Morris and Lowell Pounry.

Scouts found it a novel attraction to be photographed in moving pictures. Scoutmaster Hochhalter, Brownwood photographer, took several scenes in technicolor of camp activities—getting a movie of a happy Scout being thrown into the creek. Scouts and friends of Scouting will have an opportunity in the near future to see these pictures. Mr Hochhalter also gave instructions in photography.

There were many other highlights of the camp, notably the hikes. About 70 boys and leaders made the hike to Treasure Cave, a cavern formed of stalactites and stalagmites. Hikes were also made to the Old Chisholm Trail and other points of interest.

The food this year was better than ever before.

SCIENCE IMPROVES UPON NATURE AND DYES NON-WITHERING PLANT WITH RAINBOW'S LASTING COLORS

By CARL McCLUNG, United Press Staff Correspondent
TURLOCK, Calif., August 13 (U.P.)—Twenty years ago George H. Starr, a young Stockton florist, purchased an acre and a half of ground northeast of Turlock upon which he planned an experiment never before conducted.

Now in midsummer, thousands of plants on 27 acres which surround his nursery cover dusty fields with a billowy whiteness which draws acclaim from motorists and even old-time Turlock residents who annually witness the phenomenon which is matched nowhere in the world.

The blossoms are the only ones of their variety grown commercially. They are the gypsophila paniculata flora plena, or baby's breath, used in shops throughout the world for making floral pieces.

The plants—originally white—are dyed in 10 principal colors at the Turlock nursery, after being dried for a week and then sorted into bunches by women workers. Possessing the unique quality of retaining shape and color, instead of withering with time, the plants are one of the few types florists may keep on hand indefinitely.

Only Grafting Used
History of the flower's development is believed unique. Starr began experiments on blossoms of similar type 20 years ago and in three decades of hybridization, grafting and experimentation has brought the new plant to a highly specialized state, endowing it with its singular quality of retaining its shape and color indefinitely after being dried.

The baby's breath plant—which sometimes is called the florists' blessing—is so highly bred it pro-

Prunes Luck Out on Haberdashers 18-27

In a wild scoring spree, Norvell-Miller Prune Peddlers ran rough shod over the Nick Miller's Haberdashers. The score was one of the largest of the season turning out to be 27 to 18 and making the game, in doubt until the last inning was over. Hits were so numerous that it would have been much easier on the score keepers to have kept the number of times a player failed to hit when at bat in place of the number of hits he got. Jones and Burk started for the Prune boys by getting home runs, along with Moats. An all-time high total of thirty nine clean base hits were chalked by the two hard playing business men. Moates pitched for the Grocery boys and had them eating out of his hand all the way holding them to 13 runs. The Prune men last night were finally able to solve the deceptive slants of Nick Miller and Judge Grantham, the two star hurlers for the Clothiers.

Line-ups were as follows:
Norvell-Miller: Trvft, ss; Downie 1b; Mitt, 2b; Jones, cf; Coats, rf; Burk, 3b; Moates, p; Norvell, cf; Weathers, lf; Clark, c.
Nick Miller: Linder, c; LaRoque 1b; Ferguson, 3b; McCracken, ss; Harvey, lf; Bacon, Hoider, 2b; Huffman, cf; Saul, sf; Grantham, rf; Miller, p.

DESDEMONA

By MRS. W. C. BEDFORD

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gentry and sons, Blawyer and Rex, left Friday for their home at Robstown near Corpus Christi after a few days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Williams and with Mr. and Mrs. Ford Reid. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Gentry's father, who is a brother to Ford Reid's father, Homer Gentry who graduated with honors at Robstown high school did not come with his parents as he was going to the National Guards Encampment. Their many friends and neighbors were delighted to see the Gentry family again.

Faulk and his wife are glad to welcome them and their little daughter back to our town. Kenneth has opened up a tailor shop in the back part of the City Pharmacy building. As there was no tailor in town and Kenneth is a hustler, he will likely have a good trade.

Mr. and Mrs. Orin Hofack of Burk Burnett, were here Friday looking after their property and visiting old friends and neighbors. They moved to Burk Burnett about four years ago after having lived here a few years during which Mr. Hofack worked for the McMann Company.

Mrs. Raymond Sparkman and baby of Freer came Friday for a visit with her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Morrow.

Vivian Whitworth of Lubbock visited his step-mother, Mrs. W. H. Whitworth and her daughter, Valia Whitworth. He had been visiting his sister at Stephenville.

N. D. Gallagher and family of Cisco visited his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Cutting Saturday. They also spent some time at the Gallagher & Lawson well. The 8-inch casing had been set at that depth and cased off some water that had been encountered. Drilling is progressing nicely. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hester drove up to Ranger on business Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Williams and their children, Leslie, Calvin and Dorothy are spending this week at Robstown, with their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gentry, and family. Their son, Debert Williams, remained to look after their dairy. He is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Preston Sparks who are helping him out with the dairy.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Stamey and little daughter, Mary Lucile, and Mrs. G. E. ("Bit") Bedford, mother of Mrs. Stamey were guests Thursday afternoon of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bedford and their daughter, Mrs. Betty Vestal. The Stamey family and Mrs. Bedford had been visiting relatives at Cisco, their former home, and were on their way to their home at Houston. Mrs. Bedford and her family also lived in Desdemona during boom days. It had been several years since they had visited here and their visit was very much enjoyed.

Charlie Greenhaw, Hugh Greenhaw and V. V. McMurry of Cisco were here Thursday and Friday bringing down the 8-inch casing for the Gallagher & Lawson well. Others who helped in running the casing into the well were Gene Browning, Oral Browning and Odwin White. One of the visitors at the well said "running the casing" was the right expressing as it took about 10 minutes to get a joint from the pipe rack up the derrick down and joined to the next joint and on its way.

Hon. Ed T. Cox of Eastland, a pioneer settler and former member of the legislature, was here Wednesday visiting with old settlers of the county and gathering material for the History of Eastland county which he is writing. In 1902 Mrs. George Langston of Cisco wrote a history of Eastland county that was quite comprehensive and very interesting but 85 years have passed since then bringing many changes which Mr. Cox will include in his book.

Mrs. David Parks is still at Pyote with her father who had a stroke of paralysis a few weeks ago and was treated at a Midland hospital. The many friends of Mrs. Parks hope that her father may soon be well enough for her to come home.

Mrs. Roy Rushing returned from Little Rock on Friday and is again at the home of her mother, Mrs. John Williams, who lives in the Salem community. She had gone with her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. H. Rushing Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Stover and her mother, Mrs. Louise Lookingbill enjoyed a visit Sunday afternoon from Mr. and Mrs. D. Bell and his mother, Mrs. Josie Bell, of De Leon and Mrs. Spicer of Dublin.

Mr. Russell of Eastland, a deputy supervisor of the Oil and Gas Division of the Railroad Commission was here Monday visiting the Gallagher & Lawson well.

The Methodist Missionary Society met Monday afternoon at the church and had the monthly Bible Study program. The psalm that was studied was the 103rd and the subject of the chapter of comments was "Adoration and Praise." Those present were: Miss Mollie O'Rear and Mmes. Charles Lee, Preston Sparks, S. E. Snodgrass, W. C. Bedford, W. H. Whitworth, O. D. McDonald and Valla Whitworth.

Many friends have received cards from Weldon Rushing stating that his mother Mrs. J. H. Rushing, Sr. stood the trip to Little Rock very well. She went at once to the Research Hospital where she was put on a strict diet of fruit juice. The first treatment with anti-toxin was to be given on Monday of this week. Her many friends hope it may be successful.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Buchan of Raymondsville in the Rio Grande Valley were guests of Mrs. J. R. Buchan from Friday until Monday. Mrs. D. M. Buchan and Mrs. J. R. Buchan are cousins and their husbands were brothers. It had been many years since Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Buchan had visited here.

A "bargain" is sometimes a bargain --

A good many people look on August as their lucky month --and we don't mean those who spend it lying on the sand and taking in salt air.

We mean those people who have formed the habit of buying things when other people aren't ... porch rugs and luggage and towels and lamps and all sorts of things, for use now and for use next season.

Of course they have learned that "bargains" are not always bargains. They know how to recognize quality and styles and worth, how to find the strong points and how to avoid weaknesses. And much of their knowledge has come from the advertisements in this newspaper.

All of us follow advertising, but some people study it so thoroughly that they know exactly what they want and where to get it. They are the ones who find the real bargains. Their money buys more things and better things—in August and all through the year.

DEATH IN CHAIR FOR FAITHLESS WIFE INDICATED

By MOREY J. POTTER United Press Staff Correspondent HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 13 (U.P.)—Mrs. Margaret I. Karmendi, 24, errand worker, seems likely to become the second woman to die in Pennsylvania's electric chair, destroyer of 253 lives since 1915.

Twice convicted of first-degree murder for the "railroad spike" murder of her 3-year-old son, Matthew "Sonny" Karmendi, the former waitress' hope for clemency centers on the state supreme court which will consider her appeal for a new trial next month.

Falling there, her fate will be in the hands of a pardon board and Gov. George H. Earle who has allowed a dozen criminals to walk the "last mile" at Rockview prison since he assumed office in January, 1935. He never has acted against the board's judgment in a capital case.

Lockard Loses Appeals Mrs. Karmendi's clandestine lover, Roy Lockard, 24, WPA worker condemned to death for the same crime, lost appeals for clemency and will be electrocuted Oct. 4 unless the governor grants further respite.

Circumstances strikingly similar to the Lockard-Karmendi case led the first woman to Pennsylvania's electric chair.

Six years ago it was blonde Irene Schroeder, the West Virginia waitress who lured Glenn Dague from his family to a career of crime and died with him for killing Brady Paul, a state policeman.

In each instance, prattling of a young man spelled doom for the mother.

Mrs. Schroeder's 4-year-old son, Donnie, furnished the clue which eventually resulted in apprehension of the fugitive lovers after a gun battle in the Mojave desert of Arizona.

"Sonny" Karmendi, who accompanied his blonde mother to her rendezvous with Lockard, prattled often about "Roy" to his father who worked in the mills until 10 o'clock at night.

Father Makes Accusation Marton Karmendi's suspicion was not aroused until he heard Lockard addressed as Roy in the hospital where "Sonny" died of head wounds inflicted by a railroad spike.

Upon hearing the name, the grief-stricken husband immediately shouted: "Arrest that guy there for being with my wife!"

Lockard subsequently confessed the crime, blurring out: "The baby interfered with our dates."

At their trysting place near the Karmendi home the night of April 21, 1936, Lockard and the young housewife discussed their growing fear that "Sonny" would reveal their secret and decided to remove the obstacle in the path of their illicit love.

Hit-Run Driver Blamed The plan of removal they carried out involved blaming the death on a hit-run driver. Lockard's confession accused Mrs. Karmendi of striking the first blow.

Later, he said, they laid the child on the roadway at the outskirts of Altoona and he struck the child's head several times with a railroad spike.

They explained the fatal injuries by telling officers that the door handle of a hit-and-run driver's car struck the baby's head.

But the spike with strands of Sonny's hair held to it by his blood, was found along the route

R. A. Workers to Attend Conference

Three persons from the district 11 and county office of the Re-settlement Administration at Eastland will attend an annual RA rehabilitation conference August 23 to 27 at College Station.

Those to attend will be George I. Lane, county supervisor; Robert Fisher, district supervisor, and Miss Louise Johnston, district secretary. Also to attend will be Mrs. Lena W. Taylor, district home supervisor, who headquarters at San Angelo.

Cock and other supervisors have been asked to prepare suggestions which will be discussed at the conference. "It seems that this is to be a truly Democratic conference with discussions by all rather than speeches by a few," Lane stated. "Every committee will have a county supervisor as chairman. The committee findings will not necessarily be adopted by the regional offices, but they will certainly have influence."

The conference is being held this year at College Station, where it will be more accessible to the agricultural specialists who will take part. They will join RA workers in small committees which will report later to the main conference on methods of developing the live-at-home program which is required of rehabilitation borrowers.

Cisco Girls Lose To Eastland 8 to 2

One of the best teams to represent Cisco in some time, playing under the banner of the A-G Motor company lost a fast, close game to the best girls team in this part of the state.

The Eastland Fire Department girls won over the A-G girls by a score of 8 to 2. The score can in no way tell the story of the game. Going into the seventh inning the score of 4 to 2 but a couple of umpire's decisions that were so bad that their home crowd gave them a lusty "boo" so unversed the Cisco lassies that they were unable to stop a last inning attack. The A-G girls looked plenty good against their highly geared opposition and completed too double plays that would have been credit to anyone.

Will Rogers Memorial Shrine Awaits Dedication

Medieval in design, yet the latest word in architectural construction, the beautiful Will Rogers Shrine of the Sun on Cheyenne Mountain, near Colorado Springs, will be formally dedicated Sept. 6. Shown above, the pink granite monument to the memory of the late cowboy philosopher was constructed from 6500 cubic yards of stone taken from one huge granite boulder nearby, and contains no wood nor nails. Anchored on 28 feet of solid rock, it is surmounted by a sodium-vapor light that can be seen at a distance of 125 miles at night. Floors are of imported red Italian marble and terrazzo. Thirty men toiled for almost two years to complete the 100-foot tower, built under the direction of Spenser Penrose, Colorado Springs sportsman and art patron, whose tree-fringed estate is in the left background. The Penrose-owned Broadmoor hotel, pool, and golf course are in the right background. Continuing frescoes depicting history of the Pike's Peak region, the shrine is already open to the public.
