SHANGHAI, August 16 (U.P.)—Chinese and Japanese airplanes, artillery and anti-aircraft batteries rained death on this city of 3,500,000 people today as the struggle for control entered its second week. Dead in the foreign-controlled areas, including military, were estimated at more than 3,500 and the wounded at triple that number. More than 140,000 Chinese and Japanese battled along a front of about 25 miles. Both sides were supported by scores of airplanes and the Japanese by at least 40 warships including one or more aircraft carriers. The great majority of the civilian dead were Chinese. No Americans were listed killed in addition to the 3 men killed in Saturday's bombing by Chinese planes. The battle for control of the city was the greatest ever fought in Shanghai. Neither side gave detailed figures on military casualties but it was certain they were running into the thousands. The battle has raged continuously for more than 80 hours. Evacuation of all foreign women, children, tourists and men civilians who wished to leave was taking place as rapidly as possible. It was believed that evacuation of more than 4,000 Americans could not be completed before the end of the week. The Japanese admitted that Chinese bombing planes were hampering landing of army regiments. The cabinet was in continuous session in Tokyo. The loss in foreign-owned property, including American, thus far in the war is estimated at more than $2,000,000.

Search for Rea had been intensive since late yesterday, when he kidnapped three fishermen near Austin and forced them to drive him to Houston. He was wanted in connection with the slaying of B. N. Payton, Austin farmer, last week, and for numerous robberies throughout the state.

Ball Game on Field Tonight At 8:30

One of the best softball games of the season is expected tonight when the Scranton crew meets Smitty's Sinclairs, the first half champions. Scranton almost got the Red Front last week and played them the best game of any one. Reports from Scranton say that there will be no slip up tonight and that they will really give the Sinclairs a licking. That remains to be seen because Smitty's bunch is never licked until the last man is out in the last inning. At any rate, the fans can be assured of their money's worth by coming out to see these two teams tonight.

Pickrell saw the men leave the building through the hole in the roof. One of the men left his hat at the lower end of the dangling rope. Highway Lighting for Safety

'At least 95 per cent of the night fatal accidents, it seems reasonable to believe, should be prevented by the provision of adequate highway lighting,' according to a report on Technological Trends recently submitted to President Roosevelt by the National Resources Committee.

Citing statistics compiled by the Travelers Insurance Company and the National Safety Council, the report proves the vital relationship of visibility to night fatalities, which in 1935 numbered 21,480 and comprised over 60 per cent of the total day and night traffic deaths, even though only one-fifth of the 24-hour traffic is on the road after dark.

From figures submitted by the states of New Jersey, Oregon, New York, North Carolina and Pennsylvania, it was observed that fatality experience was about the same for the summer months of May, June and July as it was for the winter months of November, December and January—with this one important exception: Between the hours of 5 and 8 p. m., fatalities were 58 per cent higher in the winter months when it is dark, than in the summer when it is light, and despite the fact that traffic volume is considerably less in the winter. The report estimates that a reduction of 47 per cent in night fatalities during the winter period should be expected if sufficient light were supplied.

Studies made by R. E. Simpson in 60 cities, quoted by the report, showed that the average day fatality rate per M.T.U. (million traffic units), on streets carrying 1,500 automobiles per hour, was 0.046. The ratio of night to day fatalities on these same streets, according to the grade of street lighting, varied from 8 to 1, to 47 to 1.

'While the extension of highway lighting may be justified on the basis of sold dollars-and-cents economics, based on anticipated reduction of night accidents, numerous other social effects may be expected,' the report continues, mentioning the advantages resulting from the reduction in highway crime, more efficient utilization of highways, and increased comfort and enjoyment in night driving. Estimates show that about 80 per cent of traffic moves in the daytime as compared to 20 per cent at night—a fact which indicates that the tremendous investment in our highway system is in large part being wasted during the hours of darkness.

The West Depends on Mining

Recovery has brought with it a substantial revival in consumption of copper. Prices have been reasonably stable. This is good medicine for Western America. Mining made the West—and mining still does much to maintain it. Increased demand for the base metals especially, means more employment, higher payrolls and stimulated purchasing power in many states.

On a sitdown strike, New Jersey gravediggers have been staying nights in a cemetery. It seems a problem that could be settled by arbitration or a "boo."

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—It looks as if one of those who inspected it was Congressman Allen T. Treadway of Massachusetts. Treadway is one of the most persistent administration critics in the House. According to the way politics in Washington might easily have kept silent, thus implying that something was funny about the return. But he showed his good sportsmanship when he insisted on saying publicly: 'In my opinion the report showed that the President had made an eminently fair return.' 'Mercy, how melodramatic we are today, Professor!' laughed the Duchess. 'Is that what you learned poking around the tiresome mummies? From what you have told me yourself, those long dead, dry as dust, princesses all had more than one Pharaoh to their credit. You should have learned a few things from them.'

IT is practically impossible to think of anything else very nice here in Washington and readers are referred to a public statement by Congressman Tom Amble of Wisconsin, in part as follows: 'The climate in the District of Columbia is probably the worst in the country, not excepting Death Valley. For three months in the summer sustained mental effort is impossible.' 'Nevertheless, it is more or less pleasant to report that the home of the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes is being saved from the wreckers to become a sort of a shrine, and that the famous old turreted, brownstone Henderson Castle on 16th street has become a rooming-house. 'I'll say you're tiresome today, Professor. You've been here two hours and not a single smile in all that time. Must certainly I shall get acquainted with the handsome young man across the hall. Maybe he can save me from absolutely passing out with ennui.'

SOMETHING else rather decent also happened. The tax loophole committee looked over a report on President Roosevelt's income tax return after Republicans had suggested that F. D. R. might be evading or avoiding.

OUT OUR WAY

Under the Dome—

The first governor to have an office in the present state capitol building, Nevill, then a lad, recalled the dome in those days was unfinished.

'I remember the building well as I viewed it,' he recounted. 'My strongest recollection is of the unfinished dome. I can see the scaffolding about it still clear in my memory.'

An application for Tarrant county water improvement district No. 1 for recreation rights on Bridgport and Eagle Mountain lakes precipitated an official discussion of how far fishing and hunting rights may be placed in private or corporate control.

An act of the forty-fourth legislature gives water districts power to adopt reasonable sanitation regulations for bodies of water. It also permits them to regulate residence hunting, fishing, boating, camping and all recreational and business privileges.

How far a district can keep the public from fishing in a stream is doubtful. There is a court ruling that fishermen have the right to use Medina lake so far as they enter it from a state highway without trespassing on the banks owned by the lake corporation. The state department of safety had its second anniversary this week. The birthday was not celebrated in any way. Col. H. H. Carmichael, director, was at Camp John A. Hulen, Falacios, being a national guard officer as well as head of the safety department. The department boasts a record of clearing up numerous crime mysteries since its organization—still mullied over the major case, disappearance of the Biancos near San Perlita Nov. 18, 1936. The ban on husband and wife working for the same state department has been lifted in the new departmental appropriations by the state. It had been inserted as a rider on previous bills, prohibiting use of any of the appropriated funds to pay for employing two persons from the same family.

Questionnaires sent by a senate committee to state department heads call for a full explanation of the duties of additional employees. Failure to supply the information sought has delayed the committee in compiling a report.

AUTO DRIVES ITSELF

NEWTON, Mass. (AP)—Walter L. Thompson owns a 'drive itself' car. Thompson parked his car at the top of a hill and apparently forgot to put on the emergency brake. The car rolled 200 yards at high speed, keeping in the center of the road, and then parking itself between a sidewalk and railing and bridge girders.

Love Gets a Lift

BY IDA RINER GLEASON Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS KATHLEEN O'SHAN—heroine, writer of greeting card verse. BOB McTAVISH—hero, detective story writer. 'PAT'—the junior who played cards. THE DUCHESS—patron of surrealist art. PROFESSOR BRACEY—Egyptologist.

CHAPTER IV THE Duchess companion raised his black eyebrows and turned to look at her. 'Him—did you say? Oh, yes, of course. In that case you would be interested. But look out, my dear, that no one usurps my place in your fickle affections.' He leaned over and touched with one dark finger a splendid string of amber beads around her throat.

'Now Professor Bracey, surely you wouldn't get jealous if I made a new friend, would you?' She clasped her arms behind her head, so that her loose satin sleeves fell back. 'A girl has to have more than one man friend, you know, to fully appreciate the right one.' 'If a man could only be sure he was that lucky right one,' the professor muttered. 'You play one against another until—'

'Mercy, how melodramatic we are today, Professor!' laughed the Duchess. 'Is that what you learned poking around the tiresome mummies? From what you have told me yourself, those long dead, dry as dust, princesses all had more than one Pharaoh to their credit. You should have learned a few things from them.'

BOB himself would have been surprised if he had suspected the Duchess was taking any special interest in him. He had passed her once in the hallway and thought what a queer-looking person she was, wondering idly if she was young or old, with her strange mop of hair. Probably some actress or medium. Her large eyes, with their heavy make-up, that seemed to dwarf her small face, looked hypnotic enough for anything. He decided she was a girl he didn't care to know very well.

Now he was sitting opposite Kathleen at the little table in her studio, asking for more bean soup. 'You were right about the soup, it's the best ever, isn't it, Schmatz?' turning to the waiter, who was watching them with bright-eyed interest. 'You know I'm glad you've taken that studio upstairs,' Kathleen was saying. 'All the other people who have studios here go home at night and it leaves the building pretty empty.'

'Then you stay here all the time?' he asked with some astonishment. 'Yes. It's the only place I've got,' she answered. 'You see the folks back home—my aunt and uncle, I live with them—didn't want me to come to the city in the first place. They wanted me to teach school and—well, be nice to someone I didn't like very well. That's why I don't want to go back.'

'I SHOULD say not,' agreed Bob with rather more emphasis than was necessary. 'I'm on my own, too, instead of going into my Dad's business. Scion of a good family turning to a life of crime and all that, you know. My mother didn't teach me to commit robbery and kill guys, but I'm paid to do it.' 'Of course it is nice to be independent,' said Kathleen, adding a little wistfully, 'Only sometimes it's awfully—well, awfully lonesome and worrisome, and—'

STATES OIL CORPORATION FINISHES TEST IN COUNTY AS 3 MILLION FOOT GASSEY

States Oil corporation No. 5 J. W. Henderson, seven miles north of Eastland, NE-4 section 8, block 4. H. & T. C. RR. company survey, has been completed for 3,000,000 feet of gas from the Bond sand topped at 3409 feet and bottomed at 3415 feet, total depth, representatives of the firm stated Saturday.

Connection has been made with the Arab Gasoline corporation. The well prior to deepening was a gas producer at a lesser depth. The new gas production is said to be richer than the other.

Hickok Producing and Development company No. 2 Grover E. Cleveland, section 477, S. P. R. R. company survey, 8 miles northwest of Cisco, was drilling at 3,643 and reported to be making approximately 3,000,000 feet of gas. A pressure of 800 pounds had been registered.

James D. Kittrell of Dallas filed an application with the Railroad Commission to drill No. 1 Mrs. L. B. Reynolds heirs, about 8 1/2 miles southeast of Eastland. Depth contemplated is 3,000 feet. Reports, unconfirmed stated a 1,000-foot well would be undertaken also by Kittrell in the same vicinity. The exact location of the proposed 2,000-foot test has not been announced.

Gallagher-Lawson et al No. 1 Mrs. Bobbie I. Terry, N. H. Kuykendall survey, half mile south of Desdemona, slightly over in Comanche county, was drilling below 4,005 feet after eight-inch pipe was set at 3,960 feet.

Hickey et al No. 1 W. M. Martin, two miles southeast of Desdemona, in Erath county, had progressed past 2,400 feet.

Dorothy Oil company No. 1 Taylor-Beard, seven miles east of Eastland, and three miles west of Ranger, E. Finley survey, had been drilled to 900 feet.

Work is slated to begin Monday on G. D. Chastain No. 1 Mrs. Beatrice Weddington, section 2466, S. P. R. R. survey, five miles northwest of Cisco.

Beard and Taylor No. 1 Carol Fox, lot 28, league 2, McLennan County school land, near Eastland and Ranger, was spudded in.

Hoffmann and Page No. 1 A. C. Justice, section 28, H. & T. C. survey, block 2, four miles south of Eastland was plugged and abandoned at total depth of 1,450 feet. The test had registered a show of live oil from 1,294-96 feet. At the total depth water was reached.

Domont, manager of the Sand Lake waterfowl refuge here, are increasing rapidly. Established several years ago under direction of the U. S. Biological survey and now one of the leading waterfowl sanctuaries in the Northwest, the refuge will return actual profits other than preservation of America's fast dwindling waterfowl. Dumont believes. At least 8,000 gull nests have been found by refuge workers on the north side of Mud lake, scattered throughout the newly created marsh areas. Dumont expects this number will increase appreciably later. And the diet this summer of the birds has consisted almost exclusively of grasshoppers. Several hundred hoppers are taken each day by each gull. 'Of course,' Dumont says, 'there are a lot of grasshoppers to be eaten before long we will have a lot of gulls too. And do they like a bunch of grasshoppers.'

XIT RANCH TELL STORES AT REUNION

DALHART, Texas, Aug. 16 (AP)—If you've ever wondered how cattle brands were born, listen to the story of the XIT ranch, whose former employees recently met in reunion here. During the 1880's a Chicago syndicate acquired 3,000,000 acres of west Texas range land in exchange for building the huge red granite Texas capitol building in Austin, the syndicate commissioned Barbecue Campbell, first XIT foreman, to buy an entire outfit—cattle, horses, and chuck wagons. With one outfit came Ab Block, greatest of the Texas trail drivers.

'I need a brand,' said Campbell, one that will be hard for a rustler to change and one that can be made with a single iron bar.' Blocker thought a moment, then he designed on the ground with his boot heel. 'How's that?' he asked. It was the XIT, designed to be among famous throughout the cattle country. XIT cattle roamed literally millions of acres and the exploits of its cowboys were known throughout the area.

XIT has no cattle now and its ranges have been made into small plots and sold. The syndicate now has only a few thousand acres of land, and that too is being sold. Its old-timers, however, have formed an association which meets every year to swap stories about the old days. Many stories concern Barbecue Campbell, the foreman. Once he needed a smoke and didn't have one so he ordered a whole carload of brown cigarette papers.

VIEW, Aug. 16. (U.P.)—"The woman" has a half-Nelson on her cash, according to a made of Longview automobile.

When a man came to his lot a car, his first question was "you married?"

When a woman first on the scene when the fam- contemplates buying a new "little woman" is shown the more times than not, she goes to see another car and buys one of her own choice.

When she seeks information concerning the mechanism, construction of main bearings, and approximate mileage.

When a woman asks two questions, "What will it run? How much is it?" Immediately upon answering the car, the woman will look at it, looking at its appearance, and then look over the hood.

When a woman asks "What's the name of the woman?" said the woman, "never point out the name on the speedometer, please to believe you and that you open for a piece of her concerning used car salesmen."

When the man tries to pay off the mortgage on the car, it is the woman who drives it the most during the day, and who is the money at filling stations.

When filling station attendant ask out one major difference between women and men in keeping up their cars. "A woman will bring in her auto and only want it washed to be pretty, while the man will forego the washing for a grease job," he said.

But when it comes to free service, the men hold the upper hand. They want everything that is free. On the other hand, friend wife just "doesn't have time." Often while an attendant is wiping the windshield or brushing the interior, a woman will say "never mind" and drive off, they report.

Report Forms TUCC to be Revised Soon
AUSTIN, Aug. 16. —Revision of forms for quarterly reports will enable the Texas employer to make almost all of his wage reports to the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission and the Federal government in one operation.
Orville S. Carpenter, chairman-director of the Unemployment Compensation Commission, announced today that the Texas form (TUC-4a) which is used for reporting of individual employees every quarter has been altered to conform to the size and printed matter of the federal form (SS 2a). Both forms can be filled in at the same time, the state form being acceptable to the Unemployment Commission as the first carbon.
It will be necessary that the exceptions occasioned by the differences between the Texas Act and the Social Security Act be observed such as full reporting of wages in excess of $3,000 per year and the reporting of wages paid to persons over 65 years of age, as well as showing the full time weekly wage where obtainable.
Printed five to the sheet, these new forms will be distributed about September 20 for the quarter ending on September 30. Employers are asked to destroy any of the old forms they might have on hand.

SIGN READ 'NO BIG APPLE HERE PLEASE'

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Aug. 16. (U.P.)—It started in Columbia, S. C., a few days later it was reported in a college town. Then it began to appear in resort cities up and down the coast. Now it has become epidemic along the entire Eastern seaboard from Key West to Bangor, and there was every indication that it would sweep inland and keep going until it struck the opposite coast.
No one felt any alarm at first—except operators of dance halls in loosely constructed buildings. They were afraid it would wreck their places. Many put up signs which read: "Please don't big apple here."
The Big Apple is a dance. It is a primitive dance, so unless you're ready to "go to town" don't try it. It calls for everything you've got in the way of muscular energy, spiritual abandon and looseness of the joints.
The Big Apple was put together at Columbia in a negro night club, which gave the dance its name. It combines the most violent and indecorous qualities of the Charleston, the Black Bottom, Truckin' and Suzi-Q, the Shag, the overtones vaguely reminiscent of the Virginia Reel and the Square Dance.
Some college boys went slumming and saw the dance. A prom was coming up. They took notes.
It spread north and south along the coast and recently hit Harlem where it became a No. 1 lease-breaker.
With some of the more barabrie qualities softened a bit, the big apple moved into metropolitan night clubs, and managers of such tony spots as the Rainbow room and the Starlight roof even now are keeping their fingers crossed lest it penetrate there.
Two persons in a pinch—on a desert island, say—could "apple" but the dance was intended, according to Helen Taylor of the Arthur Murray dancing school, for a group of at least eight or 10 persons.
"That's the beauty of it," she said.

HITS HERE, TOO

There can't be any wallflowers at a big apple party. Here, as Miss Taylor described it, is the way to do the big apple: Join hands in a circle, the men and women alternating. Take your temperature and pulse you feel certain you're in the pink and not likely to burst an artery.

The dance opens with all the subtlety of bacchic courtship. Each dancer extends his right foot and raps out a few taps. Then everybody sort of relaxes and lets go, starting with a loose-jointed and lazy version of the Charleston—the Old "Vamp-Til-Ready" Business—and progresses from there until a state of wild frenzy is attained.

At this point if the dance were held in Haiti a voodoo priestess would shed whatever encumbrances she had on, wriggle to the center of the circle and do her stuff. In more "refined circles, however, it is best to make no such concessions to freedom of movement—although, Miss Taylor said, it is possible to kick a trifle higher than your grandmother might like.

One person or perhaps a rhythmically attuned couple moves to the center and "apples" in his own individualistic way until exhausted. Then another person (or pair) takes his place, the participating "audience" swaying in time, tapping or bursting into more vigorous action as the various inner urges present demand.

Asked once what made him the greatest right-hand hitter in baseball, Rogers Hornsby replied: "I'm steady." Joe DiMaggio, above, youthful hero of the New York Yankees, does it on spaghetti.

PERFUME BASE TO BE MADE IN GRAFORD PLANT

GRAFORD, Aug. 16. (U.P.)—This Palo Pinto county village, nestled in the cedar brakes along the Brazos river, has developed the largest plant in the southwest for making the base for perfume from cedar logs.
Milady probably isn't aware that a great part of her Nuit-de-Something-or-other is made up of the juice of the scraggy cedars from the Brazos bottoms and shipped to France and Japan and back again. But that has furnished a steady income for the Graford Refining company.

S. A. Jones owns the plant, which has a capacity of 40 gallons a day although it seldom runs at top speed. That doesn't sound like much, but it figures importantly when it comes back in cut glass bottles at $15 an ounce or more.
The cedar juice is extracted a great deal like moonshine whiskey once was made in the same brakes before repeal made the business unprofitable. The sticks and logs are shredded, then boiled in great containers. The "juice" is then distilled and put into 50-gallon barrels for shipment abroad.
The cedar extract is lighter than water and is among the world's most delicate liquids. A cord of wood yields from seven to eight gallons of extract, which sells at an average price of $1.30 a gallon.
The cedar foliage, distilled in the same way, is sold as camphor. The boiled shavings are dried and used as fuel or sold to manufacturers of floor sweep.

NYA Program to be Continued for 1937

AUSTIN, August 16.—The NYA Student Aid Program, under which thousands of needy Texas boys and girls have been enabled to earn a part of their expenses while going to school, will be continued through 1937-38, J. C. Kellam, Texas Youth Director, announced this week. Inquiries received at the State NYA Office from all parts of the state indicated that again thousands of youths want an opportunity this year to work their way through school.

The number of part-time NYA Student Aid jobs available in Texas this year will be about 75 per cent of the quota allotted to schools and colleges last year, Mr. Kellam said. A youth who wishes to obtain a NYA Student Aid job should communicate with the president of the college or university or the principal or superintendent of the school, which he wishes to attend. Mr. Kellam said that it is the function of officials of institutions approved by the National Youth Administration for participation in the Student Aid program to select the youths employed.

The quota for each participating college and university will be calculated as eight per cent of the total number of resident undergraduate and graduate students under 25 years of age enrolled at the institution on October 1, 1936, who were carrying at least three-fourths of a normal schedule of study. Students employed on College Aid jobs are enabled to earn an average wage of $15 a month.

The quota for each participating secondary school will be determined by the State Youth Director who will be guided by recommendations of the County School Superintendent and a committee of local school officials. The county committees will consider the youth relief load and the availability of school facilities in making recommendations regarding the allotment of jobs, within a county. Students employed on School Aid jobs are enabled to earn as much as $6 a month.

To be eligible for employment under the NYA Student Aid program, a youth must demonstrate to the satisfaction of officials of the institution that he is in need of such assistance in order to enter or remain in school. He must be a citizen of the United States or have filed a declaration to become a citizen. He must be of good character and possess such ability that he can give assurance of performing good scholastic work. He must continue to do good scholastic work as a full-time resident student, carrying at least three-fourths of the normal schedule of work. Students must have reached their 16th birthday before they can be assigned to Student Aid work, and those who have reached their 25th birthday are ineligible.

Mr. Kellam said that a supply of copies of the rules and regulations concerning School Aid will be sent soon to the County Superintendents for distribution to local school officials.

CARD OF THANKS

From the depths of my heart and on behalf of my babies, I wish to express my gratitude for the kindness and sympathy that have sustained me in the tragedy that has come to us with the loss of our loved ones. It is impossible for mere words to convey my thoughts and feeling, but I wish each and every one to know that their actions and words, no matter by what means they came, are deeply, deeply appreciated. God bless you for your thoughtfulness and kindness, and when grief comes as it must, God sustain you even as your sympathy and help have supported in ours.

Ever Taste Peach Jelly? Now's The Time to Make It

Peach Jam
3 1/2 cups (1 1/2 lbs.) prepared fruit
4 1/2 cups (2 1/2 lbs.) sugar
1 box Sure-Jell

To prepare fruit, peel about 2 1/2 pounds fully ripe soft peaches, and grind or crush thoroughly. Measure sugar into dry dish and set aside until needed. Measure prepared fruit into a 5- to 6-quart kettle, filling up last cup or fraction of cup with water if necessary. Pour over hottest fire. Add Sure-Jell, mix well, and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once pour in sugar, stirring constantly. (To reduce foaming, a teaspoon butter may be added.) Continue stirring, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Make about 8 glasses (5 fluid ounces each).
