About Our Friends

By STEPHEN A. LONG

Salt Lake, ancient sea bed, lying about 22 per cent salt, interesting sight. It is watered by Jordan river and a fresh lake above but has no outlet to the sea. Thousands enjoy its bathing waters for bathing purposes. A few miles from Salt Lake situated the bathing beach where a kind of Coney resort is established. The beach runs up to a great extent during summer season and runs out from Saltair about a mile in length to the waters range from a few inches to its greatest depth of 25 feet. It had read much of its ability on account of its great and of course was anxious to get out for ourselves, which we not only found that it is very difficult to keep one's feet from the bottom after a depth of a few feet has been reached, but very hard to get one's feet after they are up. The only danger for swimmers is getting tangled. But from the fact that life guards are maintained and one is sent with the swimmer, no danger is anticipated, even if a little tram train takes swimmers and visitors the mile to the water's edge. During winter rains, we were told that waters reach up to the pier of the pavilion, concessions and amusements evaporated the waters of their salt supplies. A giant salt works plant is established near the lake. Utah one is never out of sight of snow-capped mountains, from the melting snow and living in the reservoirs for irrigation that makes the valleys the growing farms in the western state house of Utah is one of the richest appointed and loveliest in the world. Japan Says Will Blockade Chinese Coast

TO INCREASE SOLDIERS TO 250,000 MEN

SHANGHAI, August 25 (UP)—Japan, determined to smash military resistance throughout China, tonight announced a blockade of more than 700 miles of the Chinese coast against Chinese shipping. Simultaneously the Japanese prepared to bring their total strength in China up to 250,000 soldiers. Meantime, the great Japanese military machine went into action on four fronts along a line of more than 1,000 miles, against Chinese armies estimated to total 750,000. An unprecedented battle was under way in Shanghai. In north China, two Japanese columns converged on five Chinese divisions, trapped between Nankow Pass and Kaigan. The position of 2,000 American and thousands of other foreigners in the International Settlement at Shanghai was desperate. There was grave danger that Chinese soldiers would be driven into the settlement. The Chinese central government announced receipt of new British proposals "for cessation of hostilities in the Shanghai area." "These proposals are acceptable to China in the event Japan likewise will agree to them," the foreign minister said. There was no word, however, from Tokyo.

NOT PLEASED; TO CONTINUE COURT FIGHT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (UP)—President Roosevelt placed a reluctant approval on the lower court reorganization bill today, but emphasized that it did not fulfill his ideas and indicated he would continue to fight for his supreme court objective. As a climax to six months of bitter controversy over his original judiciary reorganization proposals, Mr. Roosevelt signed the lower court reform bill last night and announced the action this morning. The announcement was accompanied by a presidential statement that he felt the measure which was dictated by opponents of the original plan did not satisfy the judicial needs of a "great and growing nation." The president renewed his criticism of the conservative element of the supreme court on which he based his original demand for the right to appoint six new justices. "It seemed," he said, "that a veritable conspiracy existed on the part of many of the most gifted members of the legal profession to take advantage of the technicalities of the law and the conservatism of the court." "But," he added, "the lower court bill moves in a general direction of reform."

Abandoned Dry Hole Begins Flowing Oil

HOUSTON, Aug. 25 (UP)—A 14-year old wildcat oil well in northern Harris county, abandoned as a dry hole, has started flowing oil. A standstill oil and gas company crew swabbed the No. 15 Warren for water samples and failed to cap the six-inch casing. A passerby found the old well making a head of oil every 25 minutes and flowing for about 10 minutes. Oil men were at a loss to explain the delayed flow.

Bevins Breaks Tie For Huestis' Win

An early lead by Red Front last night at the soft ball field was overcome in the rally by Huestis in the third inning to keep the two fighting teams tied until the last half of the seventh when Bevins batting as a pinch hitter and Robinson running for him, brought in a score that made Huestis winner by a score of 8 to 7. The game was full of thrills and good plays sprinkled with a few errors and enough fun to keep the game from becoming too serious and robbing it of sports life. The pitching of Wilson for Huestis and Everett for Red Front, were outstanding events of the entire game. A home run by Steyer brought loud response. Everett struck out 5, Wilson struck out 10, two got bases on balls from

HUESTIS AND RED FRONT NOW TIED IN LAST HALF SERIES

The victory of Huestis' Sinclairs over Red Front at the soft ball field last night after they had played neck and neck almost throughout the entire game, brings about a rather complicated situation that may not be understood by some. H. L. Dyer, announcer for the games explains the present status of the last half of the series as follows: The Red Front and Huestis are scheduled regularly to play a game with each other next week. Red Front has no other schedule for the series. Huestis is also scheduled to play Scranton here Thursday night. In the event Huestis is defeated Scranton and Scranton wins from Red Front next week (perhaps next Tuesday night) then the two teams

FOOTBALL STADIUM NEARS ITS COMPLETION; BUILT FOR SERVICE

Cisco's $13,000 football stadium is almost finished. It is a structure that would be the pride of cities much larger than Cisco and appears to be so strongly constructed that it will still be doing service when many of us who are now living will be long since laid in our graves from old age. The structure is of steel with concrete foundations, only using wood for seats, and this is so placed that if kept painted will last more than a lifetime. The press box is admirably located on the home team side and is so arranged that it appears members of the press who honor Cisco's games by attending to report actions and results, will have an unhampered view of every thrilling action of the opposing teams who may be contend-

Mechines and Music—Discord on the Air

The average radio listener, sitting sleepily before his loudspeaker, is only barely conscious (if he notices it at all) of those oft-repeated words "We will now listen to a recording by electrical transcription."

Every time those words come over the air, the listener is getting not only music but a phonograph record but also, right along with it, he is getting a concrete example of technological unemployment. It is an example that means a living to musicians.

The American Federation of Musicians considers the playing over the air of recordings so serious a threat to employment of its members that it has threatened a strike on Sept. 16 unless a working arrangement with broadcasting stations is concluded. It asks such control over the broadcasting of recordings as will make certain the employment of many more musicians than are now at work.

The musicians' union would allow no radio station to play records or electrical transcriptions unless that station was hiring a number of musicians satisfactory to the union. Union members would not be allowed to play for stations transmitting to other stations which do not hire enough musicians to satisfy the union. They could play for stations using recordings only if they were used under a set of stringent regulations laid down by the union. The AFM also insists on a number of stringent regulations enforced on recording companies, or it will not allow its member to make any recordings.

This is a fair example of the jam into which technological progress is leading industry after industry, and an equally good example of how necessary it is that workable compromises be made in all such cases. For there is much justice on both sides of this controversy.

A musician who plays a piece sees it recorded. And then throughout the rest of his musical life he hears that same recording popping up and taking his place in spots where he would otherwise have another job. You can't hate the musicians for wanting some restrictions on a mechanical competitor which uses their own music to take away their jobs.

A small broadcasting station finds recordings generally as satisfactory as live musicians or much of its program, and much cheaper. Along comes the union and insists that it hire 10 musicians to sit and twiddle their thumbs while the recording of a good band is played on the air. You can't hate the radio stations for wanting just as little of that as they have to take, either.

Between these points of view a compromise must be worked out, and undoubtedly it will be. These conflicts between man and his machines are going to require the application of every last ounce of the common sense of all of us, unless we are to see our mechanical ingenuity turned from a blessing into a curse.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The American organizations to bring been fixed now as that Secretary Exchange Commission William O. Douglas will succeed James M. Landis as chairman of the commission.

The man responsible for this is the man in the White House and if the heavy Wall Street opposition to the appointment may be taken to indicate how Wall Street will feel about the news, that financial community is going to suffer acute pain.

It has been a fairly open secret that Douglas feels that financial promoters and other men having to do with securities in one way and another have had too easy a time under the Landis regime.

His worst crime, in Wall Street eyes, has been his criticism of the way bankers have exerted their power over corporation management, industrial policies, reorganization and other business processes.

Landis and certain financial groups have promoted appointment of Commissioner George C. Matthews, as chairman. Large contributors to the Democratic campaign fund came from New York to argue against Douglas.

Douglas is experienced in the fields of securities and corporation law and was a law professor at Yale. His big job with the commission thus far has been the investigation of corporate reorganizations and the operations of so-called protective committees.

AFTER its organization the rural electrification administration began publishing a magazine full of news about its activities, distributing all copies free. A while ago it was decided to put the magazine on a paying basis, and all recipients were warned that in the future they must pay 10 cents a copy.

The only complaint came in an indignant letter from the Republican National Committee which declared the belief that the magazine should keep coming without charge.

PERHAPS the least surprising thing in the world is the fact that applications of Spanish citizens for emigration to the United States have increased tremendously in number.

The immigration quota for Spain is slightly over 1200, and there is a waiting list of 18,000. This represents an increase of 500 per cent within the year.

The figures are revealed in connection with the efforts of

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER United Press Staff Correspondent AUSTIN, August 25 (AP)—Texas law against nepotism would not prevent a Texas governor appointing his wife, brother or other relative as United States senator in the event of a vacancy.

Love Gets a Lift

CHAPTER XII BOB made a flying tackle, seized the professor from behind, and after a minute's fierce fighting, had Bracey down. "The statue—get it!" Bob gasped. The little image was finally handed to him. He turned it bottom side up and slid aside a tiny cover to the hollow inside. The next minute the famous emerald lay in his hand. He held it out to Steve, who was staggering groggily to his feet.

to name a senator. He can do so only if the vacancy occurs while congress is in session. He must call an election within 10 days after notice of a vacancy, and the election date must not be less than 60 nor more than 90 days after the vacancy occurs. An appointee would serve only until the election result became known.

The last appointed United States senator from Texas was R. M. Johnson of Houston. He was appointed when Senator Joe Bailey resigned.

Why convicts are executed at night has been a puzzle to many inquirers. The execution must be that way under Texas law. The section of the criminal code on executions directs that they be held before sunrise on the date set. In practice, the execution usually takes place immediately after midnight. That allows time for repairs in event it should be found that there was anything wrong with the electric equipment.

Under strict construction of the day set, he probably could not be executed before sunrise of the day set, but probably could not be executed at any later time for the crime. There are exceptions in the statute, in case of escape and for execution after official reprieve sets a new date.

Texas legislators will find one $25,000 they appropriated ready for respending when they meet next month to consider taxes. The state board of control will permit a $25,000 appropriation for the division of welfare lapse back into the treasury.

The act authorizing the division did not become effective until the end of the fiscal year. That is Aug. 31. The board of control decided to defer organization of the division until the result of the constitutional amendments election Monday were known.

Two of the amendments affected welfare work that would be under the department. Now it is planned to wait to see what the legislature does.

Governor Allred believes the constitutional amendment to let the legislature return to a fee system of paying officers was presented to the voters too soon after the switch to a salary plan had been tried.

"Sentiment for a change would have been overwhelming if the test had been delayed until next year," Allred said.

Much of the abuse of the fee system had been corrected before the state abandoned it for a mixed plan of paying fees to some and salaries to others. This was made possible by a supreme court decision. Formerly it had been held that when a district judge approved a fee officer's account, it automatically became a valid claim against the state. The new decision was that the claim was open to contest by the state regardless of the judge's approval. The state paid far less for its share of law enforcement under the fee system than under the new plan.

Dispatch of 25 state safety men to Dallas led old timers to recall the time Former Ranger Bill McDonald was sent to Columbus, Tex. where a feud was in progress. When McDonald got off the train alone, he was asked where his force was. He replied he had none. Then the conversation ran:

"Do you mean just one Ranger came down here?" "There's just one feud, isn't there?" Bill queried it.

CORNELL TEAM MAY BE EAST'S GRID SURPRISE

By EDWARD N. FEINEN. United Press Staff Correspondent. ITHACA, N. Y., Aug. 25 (UP)—Although Cornell is being touted by rival coaches as the Eastern team "to watch" during the 1937 football race, Cornell's "new deal" coach, Carl Snavely, "new deal" coach of the Big Red, insists prospects are "uncertain" this year.

"We lost rather heavily by graduation and by academic casualties," the former North Carolina mentor who was brought here last year to pull Cornell out of the football doldrums, said. "We will have a steadier, more rugged and better seasoned team than last year. Our running game will be decidedly stronger and I believe we will show a better defense on the ground. But in kicking and passing we will be definitely weaker."

3 Won, 5 Lost Last Year. Last year, with a team composed mainly of sophomores, Snavely won three games and lost five. All games were marked by the fiery play of his "yearlings." With few exceptions, these sophomores return to action this fall.

Fifty-three aspirants have been invited to fall practice, scheduled to begin Sept. 6. Heaviest losses were suffered in the backfield. Jack Batten, ace passer and punter, was graduated and Dick Baker, triple threat back from Tonawanda, left school. In addition, Jim Sheffer, first-string fullback last year, is on the "doubtful" list due to academic difficulties.

Loss of these stars, "key" men in Snavely's deceptive attack, may force him to change his tactics this year and develop his offensive more on power plays.

Line to Be Rugged. A veteran line will be Snavely's forte. Back at center is Captain Ted Hughes; Jack Hemmings, Eliot Hooper, Al Roth and Jim Rutledge form a quartet of capable guards; Bill McKeever and Al Van Ranst, first-string men last year, plug the tackles; and Brun Holland and Carl Spang give Cornell two of the finest ends in the state.

In the backfield, returning lettermen include Bob Boochever, Oswald Gildersleeve, Bill Moulton, George Peck and Bob Rose. Peck and Rose were stars on last year's eleven as running mates to Batten. Baker and Sheffer, Boochever a shifty runner, who suffered a broken leg at the outset of last season, is being counted upon to play a major part in the backfield this year.

The eight-game schedule does not provide a "breather." Cornell opens with Penn State at Ithaca, Sept. 25, and then on successive Saturdays plays Colgate, Princeton, Syracuse, Yale and Columbia. Games with Dartmouth on Nov. 13 and Pennsylvania on Thanksgiving complete the schedule.
