LEGISLATURE PLANS TAXING PIPE LINE

About Our Friends
By STEPHEN A. LONG

Easy to Give Custard
A three-year-old was teasing his mother for some custard she had made, but she did not want him to eat between meals. The young one was so persistent and became importunate that his mother told him she would spank him if he did not stop eating; whereupon the three-year-old abandoned the object but commented as he walked away, "Be calmer to give me custard."
It would be easier to give a child a spanking than to spank him if he had to stay up all night with a sick youngster, that is the policy of doing the easy thing. The policy of doing the easy thing has gotten many people into trouble. It is easier to float down stream than to row up stream; if what you want is down stream one is inclined to let what one wants is up stream, then one had better get to work to row up stream.
To take somebody's word for the goodness of the deed is easier than to search the title and verify the description of the land, but if one is later on that one does not own the property that one has taken for that isn't so easy.
It is easier to accept one's fire insurance policy and stick it away somewhere than to read it and understand its provisions, but if one's house burns down one can't get an insurance because of some technicality of the contract. That isn't easy.
It is easier to take a chance with a spring mechanism than to examine the working parts now and

INDEPENDENT OIL MEN PASS RESOLUTIONS

C. H. Hines, president of the West-Central Oil and Gas Association, today announced that the association has passed a resolution which is being introduced in the Legislature. The resolution is a plea for an increase in the present gross production tax on oil and gas from four to fifteen cents per barrel. Any such legislation would, without doubt, result in the wholehearted abandonment of stripper wells throughout this area and also throughout any new exploration work which may now be in progress in the search of new oil pools. Hearings on this resolution will be held in Austin.
Resolution follows:
Resolved, That the Directors of the Independent Operators and Oil and Gas Association and Other Independent Operators and Business Men at a Meeting Held in Cisco, Texas, Sept. 22, 1937: WHEREAS, the oil and gas industry within the West-Central Texas District, comprising the counties of South Young, South Jack, Eastland, Shackelford, Taylor, Brown, Coleman, Jones, Callahan, Fisher, Haskell, Pecos, Pecos, Throckmorton, Comanche, Buntin, Erath, and Stephens, constitutes a very important

Safe Blowers Leave Without Getting $400

Jap Shells Endanger U. S. Marine Outposts

CHINESE SAY MET NO JAPS IN ADVANCE

SHANGHAI, Oct. 2 (U.P.)—Japanese shrapnel shells exploded dangerously near United States marine outposts on the north border of the international settlement today.
The Japanese artillery batteries in the Hangchow section, the Japanese-controlled eastern part of the settlement, opened a heavy bombardment of the north railroad station and Markham Road Junction areas.
Shrapnel bursting from shells fired on the Markham road junction area endangered the marines on duty along the Soochow Creek lines of the international defense force.
Japanese airplanes continued routine bombing of the Chinese scale all week.
During the day the Chinese asserted, they had advanced two miles toward the civil center north of the city without meeting Japanese resistance, or a trap, which they feared.

Insurance Laws Not Clear, Daniels Says

AUSTIN, Oct. 2 (U.P.)—R. L. Daniels, Texas life insurance commissioner, today recommended rewriting of the Texas life insurance laws in a report to Gov. James V. Allred. Many conflicts exist, Daniel said, and many laws are unclear.
He suggested there be a law fixing capital requirements for organizations of stock insurance companies, a limitation on the percentage of assets placed in home office buildings and a limit on the proportion of assets that may be put in one project, or loaned to one individual or corporation.

INVESTMENT THOUGHT POOR IS NOW GOOD

EL PASO, Oct. 2 (U.P.)—A $30,000 poor investment 56 years ago by the late Frank B. Cotton of Brookline, Mass., today was expected to establish a department of fine and applied arts for women at the state College of Mines.
The investment has increased in value to more than $600,000 and has been bequeathed to the college by Judge Walter B. Grant of Boston executor and trustee of the Cotton estate.
In 1881, Cotton, a director of the American Tube Works in Sumnerville, Mass., purchased nearly 30,000 acres of land in El Paso county because, he was told, the land contained valuable copper deposits. The land failed to develop copper in valuable quantities.
Cotton died in Boston in 1907. His will specified his estate was to be used "for the founding of an institution or other instrumentality for the purpose of enabling women

Gustafson Requests Fire Prevention Aid

Fire Marshal Gustafson calls attention to Fire Prevention Week beginning October 3 and continuing through the week. It is a time set apart for centering all forces of the town to the prevention of costly fires by cooperating through cleaning up the premises and removing all possible fire hazards.
If you have accumulations of old papers or old closets long neglected, it would be well to give them a going over. Dirty rags sometimes create spontaneous combustion and start fires that do great damage. Gus says, "Let's keep Cisco free from fires and get the lowest key rate possible for insurance premiums."
Mr. and Mrs. Karl Armstrong are spending the week end with relatives at Tulsa, Okla.

"Through the courtesy of the City Police Department, the West Ward School has been granted the privilege of temporarily closing the following streets, so as to allow the children to cross these streets and go to the adjoining vacant lots to play while the grass on the school grounds is given a chance to root:

To those who find it necessary to enter these streets to reach their garages with cars we will be glad to so arrange an entrance for those purposes necessary if you will talk to the Principal of West Ward School. LEGAL DOUBT TURNS SOLONS TO INCOMES

AUSTIN, Oct. 2 (U.P.)—The special tax session of the 45th legislature will begin its second week Monday with increasing pressure for passage of an omnibus bill directed mainly at natural resources and a state business men's protest launched from without.
Plans were under way to pass some bill to tax pipe line companies as suggested by Governor James V. Allred. Because of legal doubt, a proposal to levy a 3 per cent income tax on pipe lines to raise an estimated $3,500,000 a year and was laid aside for more study.
Representative Cecil Baker of Rosenberg had a bill that attracted attention. He estimated it would raise $11,000,000 a year in gross receipts—gross income taxes. Three-fourths of the money derived from the bill would be given to counties that collected 90 per cent of their ad valorem taxes and made a $3,000 homestead exemption as the state now does.
As a house sub-committee prepared the omnibus bill for public hearing Monday, the economy movement collected speed in the senate and in South Texas. The Senate Economy group, headed by Sen. Tom Holbrook, made plans to block taxes and to force a downward revision of appropriations for the present.
The South Texas Chamber of Commerce from its San Antonio headquarters was sponsoring a "no-tax march" on Austin when

His speech ended all reports that he might resign or that he would accept any suggestion that he should resign. He endeavored to close finally the public controversy grow-

BIGGEST CANAL FOR IRRIGATION NEARLY READY

By ARTHUR N. SUVERKRUP
United Press Staff Correspondent
CALEXICO, Cal., Oct. 2 (UP)—The world's largest irrigation canal will be completed within the next two months, at least by Nov. 1.

Engineers in charge of the excavation of the $30,000,000 project said their work now is in its final stages.

When completed, and water is turned into the big ditch, the threat of disastrous summer drought and equally disastrous Colorado River floods forever will be eliminated from the Imperial Valley—melancholy basket of the United States. The flood control feature of the canal will operate in connection with that other gigantic project of the Southwest—the Boulder Dam.

With excavation complete, Jerome H. Fertig, engineer in charge of the work here for the U. S. Reclamation Service, said water will be flowing in the ditch by the spring of 1939—making available for cultivation 500,000 acres of land, the largest irrigation district in North America, if not in the world.

Engineering Problems Difficult
In the construction of the canal, tremendous engineering problems were overcome before the operation of the big ditch could be assured of success.

Undesirable silt deposits, which have been a problem to Imperial Valley farmers since Colorado River water first was diverted for irrigation, will be eliminated by a desilting plant which will shove heavier silt back into the river below Imperial Dam.

Colorado River water will enter the canal from Imperial Dam, 20 miles above Yuma, Ariz.

Below Yuma the canal will parallel the Mexican border for a short distance then circle northward soon to veer back toward the border near Calexico. The serpentine 80-mile course of the canal ends in the Westside Main canal at the western limit of Imperial Valley's cultivated area.

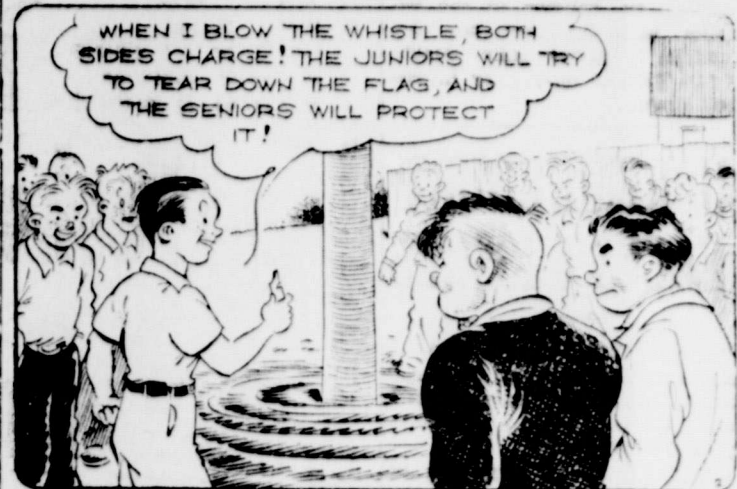

When the canal begins to serve valley farms, ranchers no more will worry about how much water is being taken below the border.

Present Flow Restricted
The present canal flows for miles through lower California and the rich agricultural area there has first claim on the water.

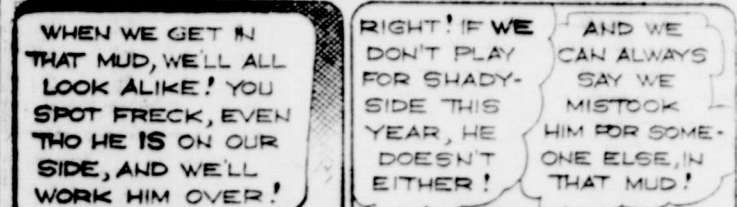

Imperial Valley's early settlers proposed the idea 20 years ago, and in the long fight to obtain legislation and funds from the Federal government, had to sell the nation on feasibility of the project as a national asset.

string of fails to their feet and to the old-time enthusiasm.

A word about Big Spring as told by our friend Hart himself.

Weidon Bigony No. 33 is the captain and the team's biggest threat. The team stacks up okeh when comparing secondaries but the line is woefully weak, mostly made of sophomores and juniors. Only Homer Adams and Dopey Anderson, ends, Doug Rayburn, center, will be lost out of the line. Of the others Wheat is a soph. Callahan a junior, Hart a junior, Owens a junior, Luck a junior and Hall a junior.

In the backfield, Williams, Settles and Bigony have lettered and are playing their last year. Bethel, biggest all-around threat in the backfield, is only a sophomore. Bostock a sophomore and Winslow, junior.

Winner by Default

The battle expected by Mrs. Malcolm Douglas, above, of Seattle, for the presidency of the American Legion auxiliary failed to materialize. She won the office by default when her only opponent, Mrs. A. H. Hoffman of Des Moines, withdrew. Mrs. Douglas succeeds Mrs. Oscar Hahn.

structed on the canal for the Imperial Irrigation District under the contract with the Reclamation Bureau, and revenue derived from the sale of electric power generated by canal waters is expected to repay the entire cost of construction in 40 years.

Funds for building the first power plant were made available in August when a temporary court order was signed in Washington, releasing PWA money for this purpose.

Canal Crosses River
Additional structures along the length of the canal will include besides the four power drops, three drops to take care of natural fall; highway bridges where the canal goes under roadways; flood over-chutes in the desert to protect banks of the canal in heavy rains; a series of turnouts to furnish water to farm lands served by present laterals; and siphons including the New River siphon, a $500,000 unit will carry the all-American canal across New River in two steel pipes, 16 feet in diameter, supported on concrete piling 12 feet above the water level, for a distance of 374 feet.

Uninterrupted continuation of the canal project was assured earlier this year by inclusion of $1,500,000 in the Department of Interior appropriation bill. Authorized together with Boulder Dam by act of Congress in December, 1928, construction of the canal was approved by PWA in October, 1933 and $6,000,000 made available to start work.

Excavation was begun early in 1934. Work at Imperial Dam, where the water will enter the canal, should be completed next spring.

Yellow Jackets Trim Loboes by 45-0 Score
The Cisco Loboes were swamped by the Stephenville Yellowjackets last night in Stephenville by the score of 45-0.

The local team played poor on the defense but did well on offense. The Loboes made five first downs to the Yellowjackets' four. Early in the first quarter, Woods crashed over for the first tally of the game. Later in the quarter an end sweep netted another score. The Loboes were doing better with their ground attack as the game progressed. At the half the score stood 25-0 against the Loboes.

Phillips scored in the third quarter and the extra kick by Woods was good. In the fourth quarter source of revenue for this area and any factor such as an increase in the gross production tax on oil which would disrupt and interfere with the continued operation of the wells in this district will immediately be reflected in serious injury and loss of business to the merchants and other citizens; and WHEREAS the present daily production of oil in this district is derived largely from stripper wells, there being in the district a total of 7,312 wells, of which 4,273 have an average daily production of 28 barrels. The state and local taxes paid by the oil operators in this district are now approximately 10 cents per barrel, which equals or exceeds the net profit to the operators. Any increase in the present tax will undoubtedly result in the abandonment of many of these small stripper wells, with consequent loss to the operators and to the county government and school districts as a source of present tax revenue, thereby forcing an increased tax burden on other property; and

WHEREAS railroad commission figures show that 1,765 wells have been abandoned in Texas this year and 70 per cent of these abandonments were in the stripper well district of West Texas. These abandonments have been largely due to the present heavy tax burden, coupled with increased labor and material costs; and

WHEREAS the oil industry in Texas comprises 19 per cent of the state's property values and pays 42 per cent of its taxes, and has contributed to the state's revenue million dollars more in 1937 than in 1936 and will, without any increase in the present gross production tax, contribute approximately million dollars more annually in 1938 and 1939 than it has paid in 1937, we feel that any increase in the present gross production tax would be unfair and confiscatory and

WHEREAS thousands of families living in this district are directly and indirectly dependent for their livelihood upon the oil and gas industry, and any increase in tax causing abandonment of additional oil wells will result in loss of employment to large numbers of men and serious business curtailment in the whole district.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: That the above facts be furnished to the members of the legislature from this and other districts and an appeal be made to them to oppose any legislation designed to levy additional taxes upon the oil industry, and further that they seek to find ways and means to reduce the state expenditures in order that the basic industry of this state may not be ruined but allowed to continue as the major employer of labor in Texas.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That a copy of this resolution be furnished to the press in order that the people generally may be aware of the seriousness of the situation touching the welfare of an industry so vital to the entire state; and that they call to their attention that taxation of the oil industry is reaching the point of persecution rather than fair and equitable basis, as provided for in our state Constitution.

WORTH BALKS SLICED
WASINA, Sack. (U.P.)—William, a Chinese cook, wanted to get outside by drowning but he had not had enough water. Yong jumped into a nearby Wasina Lake, landed in mud. The lake had 40 ft. A policeman saw him and saved him.

TOMATO VINES 7 FEET TALL
MIDDLETOWN, N. Y. (U.P.)—Joseph Cox is frankly puzzled about his tomato plants. They're seven feet tall now and still growing. In his 30 years of gardening, Cox not only never has had but never has heard of tomato plants reaching such a height.

BRITON INVENTS SKY TORPEDOES

HIGH TRIBUNAL READY TO BEGIN NOTABLE TERM

SWANSEA, Eng. Oct. 2 (U.P.)—Behind an electrified iron fence guarded by a notice which warns "Keep Out," a lonely building set amid a thousand acres of desolate Welsh mountain-land, houses a remarkable invention which, it is said, can make Great Britain safe from aerial attack.

It is a rocket aerial torpedo which discharges projectiles bearing steel wires, to the ends of which bombs are attached. The aim of the invention is to lay an "aerial mine-field" for raiding aircraft.

Full details of the device have been revealed by the inventor, Harry Grindell-Matthews. He believes that the use of anti-aircraft guns will be futile against the bombing machines of the future that will choose their own time, fly in cloud-layers high above the earth, and use instruments to tell them the position of their objective.

To counter this, he has invented a rocket aerial-torpedo which, using a special fuel, will attain an altitude of 33,500 feet in a few seconds. At this height the rocket will discharge 20 or more paratrobes to which fused bombs are attached by high-tensile steel wires.

The parent rocket is provided with its own parachute which blows out at the end of the run, thus enabling the container to float to earth and be retrieved for recharging.

Large numbers of these aerial rockets can be discharged every minute. They will release colonies of 20 to 30 smaller rockets, so creating an aerial mine-field. Areas of sky can be mined as the sea was during the last war. The cost of these rockets is several hundred dollars each.

The plan has been inspected by leading aeronautical experts. The period of research and experiment is drawing to a close, and soon Grindell-Matthews' work shops will be manufacturing these defense rockets.

Attacks on validity of the Securities and Exchanges act are contained in three suits brought by two Florida oil royalty investment firms.

SUPREME COURT FACES 6 ISSUES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (U.P.)—Here are some of the major questions on which the Supreme Court already has been asked to rule during the 1937-38 term.

1. Will the tribunal, in view of economic and social needs of the court's majority from a conservative to a liberal outlook, reverse its earlier ruling holding the municipal bankruptcy act unconstitutional and thereby open the way for reconsideration of numerous 5-to-4 decisions invalidating New Deal laws?

2. Did Congress exceed its power in enacting legislation seeking to regulate the nation's security markets and futures dealing in commodity exchanges?

3. Did the Federal courts have authority to enjoin sit-down strikes?

4. May the Department of Justice continue its suit for dissolution of the Aluminum Company of America on the grounds of alleged violations of Federal anti-trust laws?

5. Do such industries as the shipbuilding industry, purely intrastate according to those engaged in it, have sufficient effect on interstate commerce to come under the National Labor Relations Act?

6. Can a person who refused to surrender liberty bonds in compliance with the treasury's 1935 call now demand—and collect—interest payment on the bonds in gold of the same weight and fineness as called for on the face of the bond, despite the dollar devaluation act?

RATS CHARGE FIREMEN
FOND DU LAC, Wis. (U.P.)—When firemen responded to an alarm for a fire at the city dump they were charged by hundreds of rats, seeking to escape the flames. The rodents ran up the firemen's trousers, covered the hose lines and hindered the work of extinguishing the fire.

ZINC MINING BOOMS
JOPLIN, Mo. (U.P.)—Zinc and lead mining activities in the tri-state district of Missouri, Oklahoma, and Kansas are the greatest in 10 years, according to Arnold Griffin, head of the Missouri state inspection bureau.

WASHINGTON LEADS IN PULP
OLYMPIA, Wash. (U.P.)—Washington produced more pulp than any other state in the union in 1936. Its mills turned out $27,549,529 worth of pulp, or 895,797 tons. Wisconsin was a few dollars behind second-place Maine, which produced $23,680,643 worth of pulp. Oregon's pulp-wood industry was valued at $6,695,145.

In addition, an unheralded but vitally important case will test whether the tribunal will consider reversing any of the 5 to 4 decisions by which it invalidated New Deal social and economic reform measures.

Decision Reversal Asked

The issue came before the court in the petition of the Merced (Cal.) irrigation district asking that the court review its 1936 decision by which it held unconstitutional the municipal bankruptcy act. The district's plea is based wholly on the theory that the court, in view of last spring's apparent switch in lineup to a so-called "liberal" majority now would hold in favor of that measure.

Observers generally agreed that the court probably will refuse to undertake the desired review of its earlier decisions. Should it grant the petition's request, however, the way would be opened for a flood of similar requests that it re-examine earlier decisions.

The tribunal will be called upon to decide whether the department of justice may continue its anti-trust action seeking dissolution of the Aluminum Company of America.

In cases involving the Bethlehem and Newport News Shipbuilding companies the court will be called upon to decide whether the National Labor Relations act is applicable to the shipbuilding industry, which the two companies charge is purely intra-state.

Propriety of the injunction against "sit-downs" comes before the tribunal in a case involving the Apex Hosiery Company of Philadelphia, which obtained a Federal circuit court injunction prohibiting striking workers from remaining on the company's property. The union which called the strike has challenged validity of the order.

Gold Suit Up Again

The court already has agreed to rule on the suit of Robert A. Taft, Cincinnati attorney and son of the late President and chief justice, challenging the treasury's right to refuse to pay in gold of pre-devaluation interest in liberty bonds called by the treasury in 1935 but which Taft refused to surrender.

The court will be on familiar ground when it considers a petition seeking a new review of one of the "Fotoboro cases." Twice the court has already saved the life of Hayward Fatterson young Negro found guilty of attacking a white girl by reversing death sentences imposed by Alabama courts and ordering new trials.

Questions of civil liberties will be involved in at least two other cases. One challenges the right of state motion picture censors to ban showings of alleged indecent motion pictures and the other again raises the question of whether evidence obtained by "wire-tapping" is properly admissible in criminal trials.

Validity of the Commodities Exchange act of 1936 is challenged and One Out of Seven Now Uses Electric Cookery

One out of every seven homes served by this company now uses Electric Cookery, statisticians announced today.

"The pioneering stage has passed—the element of chance removed" read the announcement. "Electric cookery frees the neatest from long cooking hours, cooks entire meals automatically, and surprises the family with tasty foods cooked with a minimum of water in their own healthful juices."

"Turning work into play, a Hotpoint Electric Range does all this faster, cleaner, cheaper."

A low electric cookery rate was credited with the growing popularity, making the range "the greatest advancement in cookery since the first cave woman drew a blister from her flint rocks."

All women are urged to visit the local office of the West Texas Utilities Company "to see what electric cookery can do for you!"

THE CHESTERFIELD, Hotpoint's newest built-to-the-floor model. Full porcelain enamel, with the new Flat Calrod He-Speed cooking coils. Beautifully styled, modestly priced.

CALROD is the name of Hotpoint's patented metal-encased Flat-top cooking coil that has revolutionized electric cookery. It has brought new speed, cleanliness, new economy and longer life to electric ranges.

FORGOTTEN MAN TO GET HIS FREEDOM

HOUSTON, Oct. 2 (UP)—One of the 16 "forgotten men" of the Texas Prison System has been offered hope of freedom.

Ernest Vickers, 37-year old convict of Belton, serving a commuted life sentence for murdering a Port Worth railroad officer, has served 15 years.

His chance for freedom was offered by Mrs. C. A. Teagle of Houston, member of the Texas Prison Board, who will take his case before the State Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Former Gov. Pat M. Neff saved Vickers from the hangman's noose by executive clemency 13 years ago.

QUANAH FAR AHEAD WITH COOPERATIVES

QUANAH, Tex. (UP)—Quanah is far ahead of many southwest towns in the present trend toward cooperatives. The town has a cooperative filling station, lumber yard, feed store, farm implement store, grain elevator and cream station.

Texas farmers are fast joining cooperatives to secure maximum profits from their produce and crops. A group of Texas Chamber of Commerce managers recently made a tour of the state to determine if cooperatives were a threat to private business and injurious to financial interests of a city.

They found that the co-ops were not putting on competitive prices, but were staying at the price standard set by established merchants. Profits went to members except for funds for expenses.

Chamber of Commerce officials in several cities said that business men in almost every instance stated cooperatives helped their towns.

KING JEFF OF HOBOES DECLARES WAR ON TWO STATES OVER "BUM BLOCKADE"

By LEO H. PETERSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 2 (U.P.)—Jeff Davis, king of the hoboes, is on the warpath.

This time he is gunning for two states—California and Florida—which he accuses of violation of the 14th amendment through passage of legislation prohibiting destitute persons from crossing their borders.

Action designed to force the states to rescind the legislation will be passed at the 30th annual convention of the Hoboes of America, an organization of 819,000 members, at Altoona, Pa., April 9 to 16, the hobo king indicated.

"We are not concerned about ourselves," Davis said, "for state authorities cannot stop a hobo from entering the states if he presents his Hoboes of America membership card. They know that hoboes are not tramps or bums because hoboes work for a living."

Health Argument Used
"But we are concerned about aged, destitute persons who go to California or Florida for their health. We hold that the two states do not have the right to keep their health climates confined to persons of wealth or of prominence."

Davis came here in his most unregal conveyance, the humble boxcar, on one of the missions, which, in his own words, "makes this king business not what it's cracked up to be."

He is trying to get one of his erring "subjects" out of trouble.

It seems that Stephen Rief of Weiland, Ont., first peer of the hobo organization, accepted a job in Bellville, Ill., and Uncle Sam had serious objections when a Canadian citizen registered for Social Security benefits.

So Rief lost his job, was deported to Canada and instructed never to return to the states, according to Davis.

This, Davis said, threw a monkey wrench into the plans of thousands of hoboes all over the world as Rief was expected to attend his lord when the two left New York City as delegates to the convention of the Hoboes of the World in London, Eng., next February. Arrangements have been made for the two to work for their passage to Europe.

Davis therefore took it upon himself to persuade local immigration authorities that Rief is not an undesirable alien and won't please let him come back to this country so that he can board ship (galley or black gang) with his master in New York as scheduled.

Lamenters Trials of Job
"And by the way," Davis said, "it is being king of the hoboes is more of a problem than King Edward of England once faced. I spend most of my time on the road trying to convince people that I am really king of the hoboes—all the rest of the boys who claim to the title are imposters."

He pointed out that at the hobo convention in Pittsburgh in 1935, PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS!

As McLaughlins Couple Married in Jail at Quitman Started Divorce

After a superior court judge had attempted vainly for three hours to effect a reconciliation, the divorce case of Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin, top photo, and Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, lower left, wealthy Chicago sportsman, was ordered to trial. Barbara McLaughlin, 12, lower right, eldest of two children, was placed in the custody of a Philadelphia school pending the outcome of the case.

Pat Salman, hobo international secretary, put forth a motion for Davis' election for life and remarked, "what is the use of having a king if he really can't be king."

So the convention, Davis said, unanimously elected and proclaimed him king of the hoboes for life.

Fort Worth to Be Central PWA Office

FORT WORTH, Oct. 2 (U.P.)—Selection of Fort Worth as headquarters for a new public works administration region consisting of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Louisiana and Arkansas was announced by PWA officials here today.

Couple Married in Jail at Quitman

QUITMAN, Tex. (U.P.)—A couple booked in the Wood County jail has stepped forward to prove the adage that "Love laughs at locksmiths."

Booked on minor charges, the pair decided to be married, while still in the jail with other prisoners as witnesses.

The bride, released four days before her husband, had to wait in Quitman for him to finish his sentence before they could start or their honeymoon.

ALLRED SAYS HOLBROOK IN BIG MINORITY

CONROE, Oct. 2 (U.P.)—Governor James V. Allred carried his battle for taxes on natural resources into this oil field center today with an address on taxation at the Montgomery County Fair.

He designated the opponents of new taxes as Holbrook & Company taking the name of Senator T. J. Holbrook, chairman of the Senate Committee that reported no need for new taxes. "This minority group" Allred said in my judgment does not even speak for a majority of the senate, much the whole legislature of Texas.

"Of all this prating about a deficit being a healthy thing if found, then why don't these gentlemen suggest that the deficit be doubled to make the state condition twice as healthy."

"Although he has tried hard, Senator Holbrook has not been able to talk the deficit away. Senator has been mighty long on appropriation and long on tax revenue."

public hearings on the omnibus bill are heard next week. Rep. Lehman of San Antonio predicted many Fourth Texans would fear to protest additional taxes, particularly on oil and pipe lines. Henry B. Baldwin of Corpus Christi predicted 1,000 would participate.

Representative Herman Jones, subcommittee drafting the omnibus bill had agreed upon a 46 per cent increase in taxes on the following: oil natural gas, sulphur, carbon black, cement and the gross receipts of telephone, water, light, gas and power companies. The bill also proposes a reduction to 40 cents in the tax exempt amusement tickets.

The w'll also expressed Cotton's desire that its executors retain the El Paso property during their pleasure and not to dispose of it until the proper time has come.

Cotton had said he believed the land would increase greatly in value.

Judge Grant is the only surviving executor. He offered the property to the College of Mines, and it has been accepted by the state board of regents.

The only condition standing in the way is that the state, county and city must waive taxes amounting to $106,697. With that done, the property will belong to the college.

College of Mines officials said they believed the property, now assessed at $629,325, may eventually be worth $1,000,000. Because of division in county lines since purchase, the land is now in Paso, Hudspeth and Culberson counties.

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of the college, is drawing plans to install a rounded-out fine arts and applied arts curriculum.

"Applied arts is stressed by Cotton in his will, and of course his wishes will be carried out," Wiggins said. "He wanted his estate to go toward preparing women to take care of themselves."

Home economics, interior decorating, and music and art departments are being considered. Business administration is the only subject under the classification of liberal and applied arts now taught at the college.

CHIEF BURNS RECEIVES 130-MILE ALARM

TYLER (U.P.)—Fire Chief M. P. Burns has received many fire calls during the score or so of years he has served in the Tyler department, but only once has he received a local alarm from a distance of 130 miles.

Recently a Tyler housewife, hurrying to get away for a week end visit in Waco, drove away and left some eggs boiling on the stove in her home here.

As she rode into Waco, she remembered the eggs. She hurriedly telephoned Chief Burns to tell him what she had done and where she had hidden the key to her house.

When firemen arrived at the house, they found it full of smoke but no damage had been done.

ing out of a newspaper expose of his former Klan affiliation.

Many Think Incident Closed
First reaction from public figures was favorable to Black, and many expressed the opinion that the matter now was closed.

But in Phoenix, Ariz., Sen. Henry F. Ashurst, (D., Ariz.), chairman of the State Judiciary Committee, said he could not discuss the speech because "I may be called upon to sit at an impeachment trial against him, and I could not risk disqualification by forming an opinion."

President Roosevelt was in Washington State preparing to begin his return journey to the East when Black spoke. Members of his staff said that he had not listened to the speech, and, therefore, could not comment on it.

"I did j'n the Klan," Black said, speaking each word slowly. "I later resigned. I never rejoined."

He paused an instant, then continued: "What appeared then, or what appears now on the records of the organization, I do not know."
