possible. In 1976, due to surgery he had to stay in a Nursing Home long enough to recover. "Those Doctors," he chuckles "Some of them thought an old fellow like me was about done for. But I sure fooled 'em!"

While in the Nursing Home he painted a still-life picture depicting a vase of flowers in various sun-tinted colors. It hangs on the wall of his living room, facing a line of sunny windows. "I like lots of light on me while I work," Lewis explains.

And people who know him say he needn't worry—the light has always been on his work. From vigorous pioneer days to the exciting times we live in, Lewis Starr has always managed to glean as much beauty from life as possible.

Few In Such Total Control As Lewis Starr

Lewis Starr

By Viola Payne Most people have some influence over their environment, but few are in such total control as 89 Yr. old Lewis Starr of Cisco. Meeting him causes a person to believe a bit stronger in heredity, and the power of the human mind. An artisan and lover of beauty, he surrounds himself with the things most important to him: flowers, good music, photographs of his lovely daughter, Hope, his granddaughters, paintings, and various things he has created. While he does routine work in his home, or works at crafts, he likes to saturate the atmosphere with FM radio or recorded music—semi-classical, classical, soft, singing melodies. Sometimes he drives out on errands, over to visit friends in Nursing Homes, or to the Presbyterian Church. He is noticed everywhere he goes—a tall, striking man, with level brown eyes and a shock of white hair. He is using a cane now due to a recent touch of arthritis, but has excellent health otherwise. "I don't have a care in the world," he declares. Lewis Starr comes from a family of craftsman and artists. His sister, Mina Starr of Weatherford was a well-known artist who worked in all art media. The Starr family came to Texas from Virginia after the Civil war, and eventually came to Weatherford. The town was a frontier settlement at that time, a supply center for western Texas. Lewis was born there in 1890. An uncle of his owned part of a wholesale grocery supply business, as well as banks in the Weatherford area. Lewis's father, Lewis F. (Bud) Starr, was a leather craftsman. He owned a saddle shop which employed eight people in making elaborately hand-tooled saddles, chaps, and other ranch gear. Bud Starr died, however, when Lewis was only seven years old, and the business had to be closed. Bud Starr had belonged to "The Knights of Pythias", and after his death the men of this Organization watched over young Lewis. "They really gave me some advantages," he recalls. "I had the run of their businesses, with these men explaining all sorts of details to me. Life was a little too interesting at times—I wanted to slip away from school to the grown-up world. I'll never forget when I saw my first car—in 1906. I was wild about cars from then on." He was also interested in music, and the Vaudville theatres which flourished in Weatherford and Ft. Worth. But his mother did not encourage him to play the piano. "He was afraid I might play in some of the saloons around," Lewis chuckled. "But I did learn to sing, and sang for a number of years for the fun of it." About 1908 Lewis went to Ft. Worth, where he worked for Nash Hardware Company. He enjoyed the well-crafted products of those days, which roused his interest in designing and making things. His spare time was spent at parties, the theatre, Grand Opera, or watching the flickering motion pictures of that day. "I liked people and music and excitement," he remembers. "A whole group of we young people would meet and sing, while some of the girls played the piano." At the Vaudville shows he saw Eddie Cantor, George Jessell and other entertainers who were beginning their careers. Mutual friends introduced him to Walter Huston, and a long-time friendship developed with this actor. For some time Lewis was interested in an actress named "Honey", but he never quite proposed marriage to her.

In 1920, in the middle of the Oil Boom, Lewis moved to Cisco to be in charge of the dealership for the Herrick Hardware Company. His sales territory included eight or ten surrounding counties. Each Monday morning he would start out in a Model T Ford, carrying a 35 lb. catalogue to area Hardware Stores. He traveled the bone-jarring roads in all kinds of weather, returning on late Friday to his room in the Mobley Hotel.

"My room was on the west side of the building, right where I could look out on Main Street. There was nothing fancy about the Mobley in those days, just plain rooms with an iron bedstead, cheap quilts, and a gas heater. I don't remember even a fan in my room. We just hoped the weather wouldn't get too hot! The town was swarming with people. Sometimes men would be sleeping on cots out in the hall. A Mr. and Mrs. Drown managed the hotel, but owner Conrad Hilton came by occasionally, and I got acquainted with him. No matter how crowded things got, my room was always vacant and waiting for me."

Mr. Starr remembers the strangest thing that ever happened while he stayed at the Mobley. One morning "A cyclone hit town, and I looked out my room. I saw a bunch of billboards flattened out and a man being swept along by the wind, right to the back door. It seems he had started for the front door, but the wind turned him around!"

Lewis became involved in activities around Cisco, and married an attractive local girl in 1925. His wife, Lucille Bedford, was the daughter of Chief of Police Bedford, who was killed in the Santa Claus Bank Robbery in Dec. 1927. Lewis and Lucille's daughter Hope, was born in Cisco in 1927. She graduated from Cisco High School and Cisco

Junior College. After World War II she married a farmer Airforce Pilot, Jack Higgins, who operated the Cisco Airport and a Flying school. The Higgins now live in Ft. Worth, where Jack owns a business. The couple have two daughters, Julia and Joy.

Lewis left the Hardware business to work for Cogdell Auto Supply in Cisco, and gave a lot of time to Civic projects. He was especially interested in seeing people enjoy life, and worked on various entertainments. In 1941 he decorated a downtown room called the "Teen Canteen"—a place where young people could meet and enjoy themselves with music, games, and snacks. Unfortunately the business building which housed the room was sold, and the young people lost a place for good recreation.

In 1947, for the Fourth of July celebration, Starr produced a Bathing Beauty Contest at "The World's largest Swimming Pool" at Lake Cisco. As a background for the pageant, he created a two-story southern mansion, complete with columns. This amazing replica was set up on a platform in the swimming pool, and thirty five contestants paraded in front of it. About 8,000 people attended this celebration, as estimated by the Hi-Patrol. In 1942 Mr. Starr bought his home on West 9th Street. Over the years he has done extensive wood paneling and remodeling this house. In 1964 he retired from the Auto Supply work, and this gave more time for special projects. So he made such things as picture frames and small tables, and repaired old furniture. In 1966 he designed and constructed a number of leaded-glass windows for homes in Cisco—windows which are treasured for their artistic quality.

He constructed many outdoor Christmas decorations which have been displayed at Cisco Jr. College local homes, and in many cities of the area.

Mr. Starr lost his wife some years ago, but decided that he wanted to stay in his own home as long as

By Josephine Cleveland

Look within, my friend, know yourself; for then you today. Be fearless and honest. Be glad if your consciousness censures you--for the Holy Spirit is calling you to Him. It is well that you see and you unto him self. Dr. E. Stanley Jones tells the story of a young man who was riding on a train. He was restless and moved from one seat to another. A minister sitting near noticed the young man's restlessness and moved to the seat next to the young man. He asked the young man if he might help him. The boy said, "I have run away from home and have lived foolishly. I wrote my father that I was coming home. I received no reply. I wrote and told my mother that I was not going to wait for a reply; that I was coming home. If they would take me back she must hang a white rag on the crab apple tree near the railroad tracks so that I could see it when the train passes by. If I do not see the white rag I shall ride on. We are getting near and I'm afraid to look for fear the white rag won't be there." The kind minister said, "Don't look, I'll look for you." As they drew near to where the tree was the minister's hand grasp the boy's knee and he exclaimed, "Son, there is a white rag on every limb of that tree." Hot tears flowed from the boy's eyes and then a smile burst forth upon his countenance. In the moral realm we must be like this lad--A broken and contrite heart God does not despise.

What's Cooking
In Eastland County

By Gay Nell O'Brien

Several people have requested the sourdough bread or rolls recipe that was referred to in the Tidbits column a few issues back so we are sharing it with you. I have only made rolls from the recipe so far.

The recipe will make three large cookie sheets full. Keep hands greased well when shaping to keep from sticking. Store in baggies when cool.

We prefer to butter all of them while still warm. You can wrap in foil and warm in conventional oven or heat one at a time in microwave for 15 seconds. They are delicious served with honey and have the best crust ever!

SOURDOUGH ROLLS

OR BREAD

In mixing bowl let one cup of sour dough set at room temperature for one hour. Dissolve two packages yeast in one cup of warm water. Let stand 10 minutes.

To sourdough add 1 egg, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 1/2 tsp. salt, 1 cup warm water. Beat well. Add yeast mixture. Add 5-6 cups flour. Do not make too stiff for lighter rolls. Can be mixed mostly with mixer but last two cups may have to be stirred by hand.

Put in greased bowl and let rise, punch down and let rise again.

Make into rolls, loaves, etc., greasing pans well. Let rise.

Bake at 375 degrees for 10-15 minutes for rolls, until well browned, and 25-35 minutes for loaves.

SOURDOUGH STARTER

2 cups flour
1 pkg. dry yeast
2 cups warm water
1 Tbsp. sugar

Mix thoroughly and let stand about 48 hours until bubbly.

Use all of starter for cooking except for one cup which is used to keep you supplied with starter. To the one cup reserved add 2 1/2 cups flour and two cups warm water and allow to stand about 12 hours in warm place.

Again use all starter except one cup and repeat. If not used every 12 hours it can be kept in refrigerator up to three weeks.

Readers are invited to share their special recipes: breads, sourdough or otherwise.

We already have a special request for a chicken spaghetti recipe.

Send in care of this newspaper and column.

Solid vinyl. Vinyl is one of the toughest, most durable man-made products known today. It's been time-proven to retain its original appearance and to withstand the worst conditions. That's why it is used in so many industrial, commercial and consumer applications.

One of the greatest advantages of vinyl is that its components can be altered to best suit almost any application. Many products that were once made of metal are now being made of vinyl.

Including house siding.

EOLIAN... Honed By The Wind

By JOHN VAIL

Aeolus was the Latin God of wind. Eolian, the adjective, means born of; deposited by; produced by; or, managed by the wind.

Eolian, Texas, is a community between Breckenridge and Moran. It is somewhat northeast of Eureka. The church is still there. A Methodist church, anyway. Not the original church building and not exactly on the site of the tabernacle in the trees which housed many denominations, shaded many summer revivals and kept errant showers off the picnic tables in times gone by.

Some people live in the area. Some like the Comptons have lived there quite a spell. Charlie Compton is the son of the original Charley Compton who, along with his brother Henry, now dead, made cattle and farming pay a living under extreme weather conditions for many years. Uncertain weather! And capable, responsible Don Compton still lives in the area where he is now retired from his county commissioner's post to give his full attention to farming and ranching.

Some people are missing, moved away, died, and many family names are missing via the marriage route. Some of the original lands are yet in original family names: The Comptons, of course, and then there is the Chalker place north of the old townsite. John Chalker, a high scoring auto salesman when he was at it, looks after the old place, runs some good cows on it, but lives in Breckenridge. His family came to this area in 1886 and settled in Eolian shortly thereafter.

Gone is the Phillips family, forefathers of Jay Phillips, Breckenridge banker. The original Phillips nourished strong feelings about the causes behind the Civil war. He named his sons for Confederate generals until he sort of ran out of proper names, so that a grandson had to get along with the name "General."

It would take volumes to record the names of all who either lived in Eolian, or still live around these parts and have a fierce loyalty to the doughty little place. An example is a career girl, legal secretary, who not only is a member of the Eolian church while yet living in Breckenridge, but is a militant Sunday school teacher there.

Prowling about north of the new county commissioner's place, Button Sikes', I came on the remains of a stone building. Quite an imposing remains at that: Well preserved foundation and partial walls that reflect sturdy construction and more than one room. A wooden shed at the back is typical, but then there is this stone furnace with a tapered chimney for holding in the heat. Certainly no ordinary smokehouse.

Maybe you will be as interested as I was to learn the complex was once a furniture factory. Would you believe a Mesquite-wood furniture factory!

According to Delbert Moore on North Breckenridge, and he was born a mile or so south of the old town, or lived there with his grandfather, then drove a school bus for quite some time in the district, a man named Loving, an ex-school teacher, undertook the business of using mesquite to build furniture. And why not? You ever notice the lovely grain in mesquite wood?

Later on, I called the Chalker household and was privileged to speak with Mrs. John Chalker—Leah McKelvain Chalker. She surprised me by telling me that her husband, John, worked in the subject factory. In fact, helped build it. (Also, Mrs. Chalker was kind enough to correct me about her family name. It is McKelvain, and I have woefully misspelled it in times past. The family belongs in the Eureka area where one lives across the road from Ola Mae Whitfield, and the other on that dirt road west of the pavement, and I believe, on Battle Creek.)

According to John Chalker the stone slabs used in building the Loving factory are in truth the concrete piers from the now defunct Parks Camp warehouse and office buildings. Well-cured these sixty years.

Chalker will tell you the construction methods used by him and Mr. Loving were anything but modern by today's standards: Three-part "Block & Tackle" rigging was used with improvised hooks similar to ice hooks, for raising the ponderous concrete blocks. John should know: One slipped from the hook and mashed his foot. Broke a bone in it, too.

The kiln? It was used to dry the mesquite wood which had to be cut green. It wanted drying to keep it from shrinking, so slabs in a tabletop would not open into wide cracks. Rocking chairs and other every-day items were the order of the day. Sad to relate, the dream failed because the furniture was just too heavy. Moore and Chalker both agree on this point.

Where is the furniture now? The Orbie Tomlins who live just beyond the Eolian church, once owned some chairs made by the Loving Furniture firm. "Seems to me they were rather heavy and came to pieces as time passed," said Mister Tomlin.

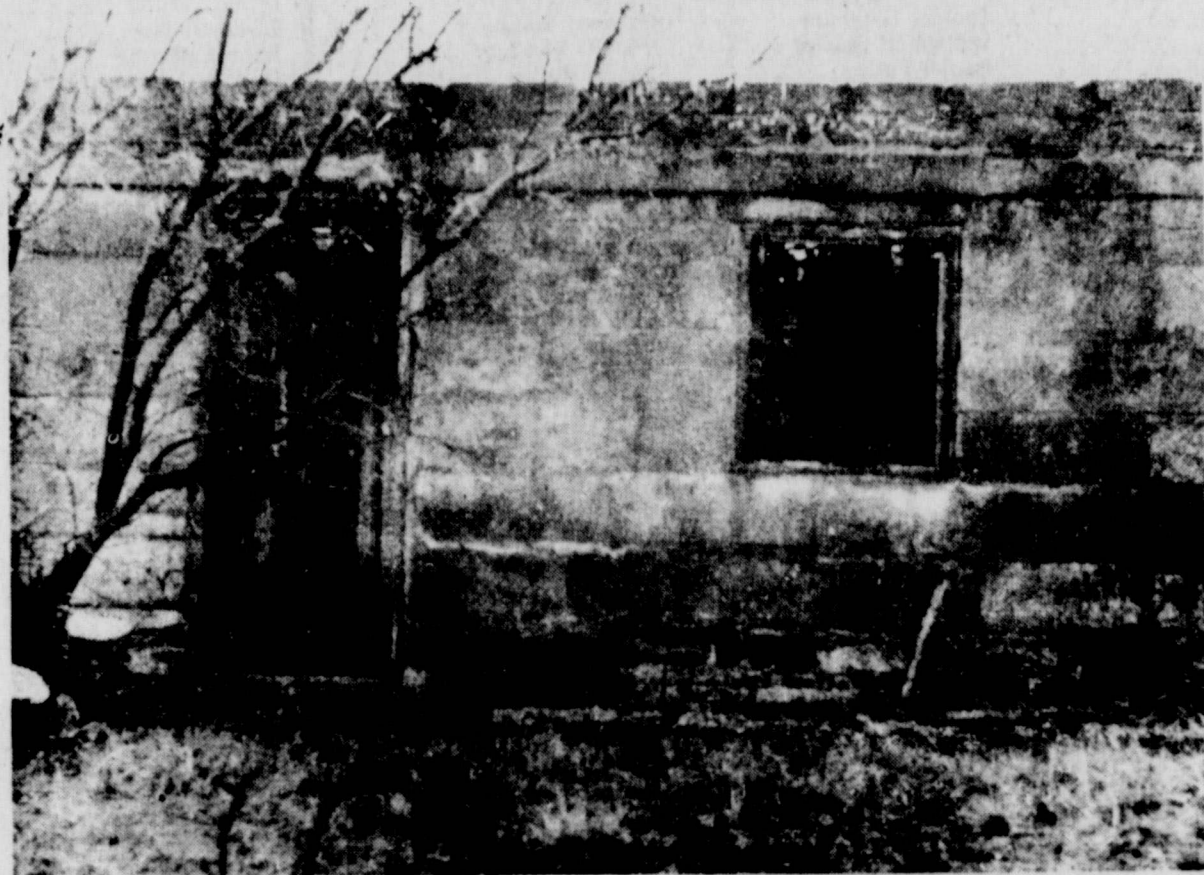

The late "Shorty" Thompson who owned and operated the Burch hotel for many years, is said to have bought some pieces of mesquite-wood furniture for the high-rise hostelry. As this goes to press, we have no knowledge of its whereabouts.

The original store which not only housed the post office but was the depot for collecting pure cream in five-gallon cans for shipping and processing to butter makers is no more. As one small boy used to go there with an uncle named Bob Presley, to deliver cream, that store was a virtual "John Wannamaker," a "Neiman-Marcus," was at least a mile long.

Meanwhile it is gone. Gone are the Phillips Walker Hounds and other like critters, but 'tis said if you listen with your heart you can still hear the sound of church bells in the throats of hounds, the music of clarion-like cowbells swinging at the throats of small, bluish Jerseys, their breaths sweet with the good smells of wild rye and other succulent grasses that ever abound along Big Sandy, Deep Creek, and the tail-end of Battle creek.

Next time you are out on that paved road past the Hart cemetery, keep going to Eolian. Drive up to the little church, on past Mr. Loving's dream. Listen with your heart. Maybe you will hear the handiwork of the Latin God, Aeolus. Maybe you will come to better understand the spirit of Eolian: Honed by the Wind.

Mesquite furniture was a dream that went sour because the product was just too heavy to be practical and popular

WHERE IT WAS—This building, what is left, was erected about 1930 by a man named Loving and one named John Chalker. It housed a furniture factory. Not an ordinary one: A factory that proposed; and did; make household furniture from Mesquite wood. "It was awfully heavy, and it sure dried out and fell apart," said an area man who once owned some of the product. [American Staff Photo]

WHERE IT IS—This is the present Methodist church in Eolian. While it is a mite north and west of the old tabernacle—brush tabernacle—that once

WELL DONE?—How do you like your wood—Mesquite, that is—medium, rare? Or, well done? This wood drying kiln built by a man named Loving about 1930, with help from John Chalker, still stands along the road to the Eolian Methodist Church. Stop and take a look, next time you are out that way. [American Staff Photo]

March 6th Deadline For SBA Applications

WASHINGTON, D.C.— Congressman Charles W. Stenholm advises of the March 6, 1979, deadline for submitting applications for the Physical Disaster Loan Program through the Small Business Administration. This program is available to farmers and ranchers who suffered financial hardship due to drought losses on 1978 crops.

The disaster loans may be used to pay outstanding obligations and operating expenses and for production costs in the new crop year. However, they may not be used to refinance a Farmers Home Administration or other USDA loan. Interest rate on SBA physical disaster loans are 3 percent on the first $250,000 and 6.58 percent on remaining amounts. Further information may be obtained from the Abilene SBA office located in the U.S. Post Office Building, 300 Pine Street, suite 2211, telephone 915-677-8537, or at the Lubbock SBA office, 720 Texas Avenue, telephone 806-762-7459.

Fishing Tournaments Barred At Lake Leon For 3 Months

Fishing tournaments will be barred at Lake Leon for the months of March, April and May, in an effort to improve over-all fishing conditions at the lake. It has been announced here. Action comes after recent action of the Eastland County Water Supply District, in order to permit better spawning this year, to improve fishing conditions later. Lake Leon Keeper James Johnson reports that the lake averages about one tournament a weekend during this period, and this extra-heavy fishing doesn't give the fish population an opportunity to expand as it could. Certainly individual fishing is still in order at the lake, he said, but organized group fishing will be curtailed in the long-range best interest of the lake.

Jerry Johnston To Conduct Patriotic Inspiration Feb. 23

Jerry Johnston will conduct a Patriotic Inspiration at the Tabernacle Baptist Church, Friday, February 23rd at 7:30. He is a dynamic speaker and travels all over the world to proclaim his sincere enthusiasm in a living Christ. Saved at the age of 15 from a life of drugs, Jerry led over 40 percent of the student body of the high school he attended, to Jesus Christ in that year of 1973. The following year, Pastors and leaders of religious groups began inviting the teenage convert to preach for their groups. During the year of 1974, the inspirational young speaker had logged over 10,000 miles by air and 20,000 by land, proving his desires to see people saved. In 1975, Jerry boldly proclaimed his testimony in witnessing to over 25,000 College and High School students. "The exciting highlight of that year was leading a Walt Disney film writer to Christ," Jerry relates, giving God the glory.

Working with The Independent Kansas City Youth for Christ organization, Johnston is the Evangelist-at-large, preaching to groups ranging from 150 to 3500 in that year alone.

The following year, Johnston was ordained as Minister and held services in Federal prisons, business and civic halls, availing himself willingly when asked, to give his testimony.

An ardent student of God's word, he has memorized over 2,000 verses of the Bible and is able to quote verse and location for ten books of the Bible. In that one year, over 3,000 people came to Christ and thousands rededicated their lives to His service.

In 1978 Jerry Falwell asked the Rev. Jerry Johnston to join hands with him in winning the lost world to Christ.

Thus "Capture America Ministries" was formed. During this year, Johnston spoke on national television and other engagements, carrying his dynamic message

Parish Hall Hosted Farm Workers Union Marchers

About fifteen or twenty members of the Texas Farm Workers Union, who are marching from Muleshoe, to Austin, for more equality of wages paid to migratory farm workers, were hosted at the Parish Hall in Cisco, on Thursday and Friday nights, in Ranger, on Saturday and Sunday nights, and in Strawn on Monday and Tuesday nights.

They had literature in English, and in Spanish, to explain their aims and goals, and donations of food, shelter, and other donations were made.

They were marching under the most severe of weather conditions, during the weekend sleet and snow storm.

They received a warm welcome from the Eastland and Palo Pinto County Catholic Congregation.

age to over two million people and 450 television networks. A total of 7,000 people came to Christ from results of this young speaker telling of his new life in Christ.

Johnston, now has a vision to take the Gospel to all 215 million Americans and the world, working through New Testament Churches. He has expressed sincere desires that his prayers are for every lost soul to experience a new life in the Lord.

In his crusades and rallies, Johnston proves his joys and blessings of his experiences since his conversion at 15. Now, as a dynamic young man of Christ, he hopes to change many lives while relating his own tragic experiences with drugs, with God working through him. He feels that by telling the youth about his own mistakes, he will be able to give God glory for changing his own life, thus helping thousands to seek help through Christ at a young age, before their lives are completely ruined by pressures of the world, tempting many to turn to drugs, seeking a way to "cope."

Pastor of Tabernacle Baptist Church Lloyd McCaskill, states that since Johnston is constantly in demand and on a tight schedule we are fortunate to obtain him for our town. He invites everyone to come and hear Jerry Johnston, especially the young people. If the youth will find joy and purpose for their lives the trend of the world can be changed for the better, as they are our leaders of tomorrow. "It will be a night to remember: so please make

by Charles W. Stenholm

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The main responsibility of a Congressman is to represent the best interests of the people who elected him. To do this requires the wearing of many hats and the performance of a myriad of services. So that you will have a better idea of just what kind of assistance we can offer you, we have prepared a list with the name of employees in Washington, D.C. Office and have provided information as to the type of help they can provide.

LOIS AUER is my legislative assistant. Her work involves drafting new legislation in the District's interest and keeping me informed of the status of pending legislation. She also researches and responds to incoming letters pertaining to governmental affairs. Previously, Lois worked for Mr. Burleson for 5½ years as legislative aide.

ROCCHINA CASALE came to Washington in September 1977, to work on the staff of Omar Burleson, where she was employed until his retirement in January of this year. At that time, she began working for me. Her duties include basic secretarial and stenographic work, along with varied case work.

JUDY CURTIS, Administrative Assistant, served in the same capacity for Congressman Omar Burleson. Having worked for Mr. Burleson for the past 23 years, she has a wide acquaintance with the 33-county 17th Congressional District. Judy is and experience as my agricultural adviser.

MADELINE SCHNEIDER, Typist, works on typing projects, having worked for Congressman Burleson in the same capacity.

CAROL ANN SENTENA is a native of Abilene, Texas, where she graduated from Abilene High School in 1973 and received a B.A. in Political Science from Hardin Simmons University. She is involved in secretarial duties and responding to constituent requests.

CLAUDIA SIPE, Executive Secretary, has worked on Capitol Hill for approximately 26 years; 22 of these years have been spent working for former Members of the Texas Delegation. Among the myriad of tasks which she performs are assisting constituents with military and veterans problems together with handling telephone requests.

KEN WALTER, from Abilene, Texas, previously worked as an aide to Omar Burleson. He has a B.A. degree in accounting from Texas Tech University and is a Certified Public Accountant. Ken is an assistant legislative assistant. His duties include working on matters dealing with the Post Office and Civil Service Committee and also business-government relations.

A Congressional office is moving on a number of planes. At any given time, we (Congressman and his staff) can be involved in formulating a legislative idea and drafting a bill, responding to constituent requests, handling casework, and attending committee meetings. I believe I have a staff that is capable and certainly willing to assist you whenever you need help dealing with your government.

If you feel that you need assistance please do not hesitate to contact one of my three Congressional offices: U.S. House of Representatives

55 People Attend A.A.R.P. Meet February 15

Despite the frigid wind, there were 55 people braved the cold when A. A. R. P. met in the Corral Room at 6 p.m. February 15 to enjoy a supper, some socializing, a short business session, then an evening of entertainment.

Oren Speegle gave thanks, and of the 55 in attendance, six of these were visitors and two were new members. Gid Bowers, our chapter president, presided. He also led us in pledging allegiance to the flag.

Bob Greer gave an informative talk and some instructions about the defensive driving course to be held in May. A number of members signed up for the course. Anyone else interested in taking the course should contact Bob Greer as all must be signed up by March 1.

Sue Taylor, our committee chairperson, reported good progress on a newly initiated project. The project is that a group of our members will do, little, very small jobs for senior citizens in this town. To get these service phone Sue Taylor.

Guest vocalist for the evening was Vivian Jones who was well received when she sang in a sweet voice, "His Eyes on the Sparrow," "I Trust in God" and "How Great Thou Art."

The film of Eastland County Home Health Care that was presented by nurses, Mrs. Jackie Tucker and Mrs. Nova George was both interesting and informative. One can agree to what the film portrays and that is that it takes special dedicated people to give that kind of care to the aged and ill.

We saw some of this dedication, when the two special nurses mentioned above, braved the slippery ice, sleet and snow to make their rounds to care for ill and aged in the locality.

Mrs. Ella Anders White, choir leader, and Mrs. Cora Lee Thomas, our musician and rhythm band leader had some songs to commemorate special day of this month.

But of course the rhythm band having a certain event in mind could not resist playing, "How You Gonna Keep Them Down on the Farm". Our evening closed with a soft spoken prayer by Gid Bowers.

I know most of us are grateful for having as nice a place as the Corral Room to meet.

But I am sure we are doubly grateful for being able to worship and meet without any repression of any kind in this county. God grant it may always be so.

Amana 2 PLUS 2 1/2

Energy Saving Refrigerator.

Engineered to save money on your electric bills!

Conventional refrigerator designs use about 1 3/4" of foam wall insulation around the refrigerator section

Amana packs 2" of foam wall insulation around the refrigerator section

PLUS 2 1/2" around the zero-degree freezer section

And built into this Amana:

- Exclusive Amana 3-position Energy Saver Control.
- "Refrigerator-within-a-refrigerator" keeps meat fresh longer than ordinary meat pans because super cold air surrounds the outside without drying the meat.
- Five half-width cantilever shelves, four of which adjust in height.
- Convertible doors let you change from right- to left-hand door opening anytime.
- Add an automatic ice maker anytime you choose (optional at extra cost).
- Two automatic cold controls. One for the freezer. One for the refrigerator. Set one independently of the other.

WEST TEXAS UTILITIES COMPANY

A Member of The Central and South West System

THIS Amana energy saving freezer uses 44% less energy

THAN OUR PREVIOUS COMPARABLE MODEL!

WITH UP TO 2 1/4" OF FOAM WALL INSULATION, INSTEAD OF THE TYPICAL 1 3/4".

Locks in freshness, color, texture!

- Each shelf forms its own fast freeze compartment and fast freezing is very important to delicate foods like strawberries. Slow freezing allows liquid in the cells to expand and rupture cell walls, spoiling color, taste and nutrients. AMANA-matic contact freezing takes foods through the "critical zone" faster, locks in freshness, color and food value.
