

Mr. Muleshoe ...

By J. M. Forbes

OVERHEARD Local Gentlemen: That Journal editor never says what HE thinks, just quotes what some other person says.

This writer has become addicted to the policy after so many years. In fact, there is a standing reward for the persons who will get this writer to express his convictions upon any subject other than Home and Mother.

Lots of times, too, when you quote a fellow in the paper, it induces in him a feeling that his opinion is of some importance in the community in which he resides (and it is).

Margaret Collins: For shame upon The Journal for not giving a write-up about the demolition of one of Muleshoe's oldest business buildings.

FROM A TO IZZARD Stolen outright from the fine column of above name in The Amarillo News by Wes Izzard, the editor.

Speakers and writers on domestic and world problems hear this question asked more than any other: "In fact an ordinary American. What can I do to help straighten things out?"

First: Create the best home you know how. Be the best father or mother in town.

Second: Work hard and do the best you can on your job.

Third: Take an interest in your community affairs — in your church, in your schools, in your local government.

Fourth: Vote in every election for the candidate or proposal you think represents the soundest principles of government.

Fifth: Inform yourself as thoroughly as you can about the topics of the day.

Sixth: Join what lodges, clubs and other organizations you think you would enjoy, and talk things over with your fellow-members.

Seventh: Be proud you are an American, and stand up for the American way of life.

Farmers Home Families In Bailey County In Meeting Here Tuesday

Farmers Home Administration farm family borrowers attended the annual meeting for Bailey County, held in the American Legion home here Tuesday.

The families gathered at 10 a. m., heard talks and demonstrations until noon, then enjoyed a basket luncheon.

In the morning, among other talks were those of Mervin Wilson, the county supervisor; O. R. Bruner, Amarillo, district Farmers Home Administration supervisor; and Miss Susie Johnson, Amarillo, district farm home management specialist.

Don Jones, the widely known director of the Lubbock Experiment Station, was the principal speaker in the afternoon.

Charts showing an analysis of farm home families' income and expenses in 1949 were shown. A summary of these charts shows:

1949 EXPENSE Farm operation, 45%. Family living, 17.7%. Land payment, 10.6%. Capital expenditures, 15.1%. Debt repayment, 10.1%.

1949 INCOME Crops, 70%. Cattle, 2%. Hogs, 1.5%. Dairy, 8.2%. Poultry, 3%. Eggs, 1.2%. Other, 16.3%.

Mr. Bruner said that until less of the percentage of income is derived from crops and more from other farm enterprises like dairying and poultry raising, it will be felt that the farm programs are not in balance.

Mr. Bruner showed ideal chicken houses, model hog houses, methods for making compost piles, etc.

It was shown that the 19 farm families paying for homes with money borrowed from the administration now owe a total of $181,771.00. Average income per F. O. family last year was $9,124. They are ahead on their repayments by an average of $1,056, it was reported.

Mr. Bruner showed ideal chicken houses, model hog houses, methods for making compost piles, etc.

Buck Williams Captures Escaped Lubbock Soldiers

Buck Williams, a night deputy of the Bailey county sheriff's department, was responsible for the capture of the two soldiers who knocked a guard in the head with a hammer and escaped from the Reese Air Force Base guardhouse in Lubbock about 9 p. m. Sunday.

The two soldiers, Francis N. Trier, white, and Ralph Eugene, negro, stopped at Rocky's All-night Station here to fill the stolen 1950 "8" Oldsmobile which they were driving with gasoline and drove off without paying their bill, about 1:30 a. m. Monday.

As they were pulling out of the station, Williams passed by in his police car and was hailed from the station and started in pursuit. He had not overtaken the pair by the time they reached Sudan and he phoned Littlefield officers and they stopped the pair at Littlefield.

Williams' car was building up steam and he brought them back to Muleshoe where he jailed them.

Howard Cox, owner of Cox Radio and Electric, is today announcing the name selected and winners of the contest to name the new drive-in theatre he is building north of town.

Muleshoe Liquefied Gas Co. Is New Servel Dealer

E. O. Baker, owner and manager of the Muleshoe Liquefied Gas Co., is today announcing that he has acquired the dealership for Servel gas refrigerators.

Baker said that the Servel was the only refrigerator that could be used either on butane or natural gas and had no moving parts.

He said another feature of the Servel was the 10 year unconditional guarantee that was backed by the Servel Co., and not just the dealer. Any dealer will recognize a guarantee issued by another dealer.

He invites you to come by and see the Servel and its silent, smooth operation before purchasing your next refrigerator.

Baker and Clyde Renfro attended a Servel sales meeting in Lubbock last Thursday. Approximately 50 other dealers from this area attended the meeting.

The Muleshoe Liquefied Gas Co. appears on another page of this issue.

We have greatly appreciated your splendid cooperation during the past year, and are mighty

Our copy of your paper is always welcome as it keeps us informed as to your community's activities and is a definite aid to us in our effort to promote the section as a whole rather than Lubbock alone.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Reality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 26.

The Golden Text is: "Since the beginning of the world men have not heard, nor perceived by the ear, neither hath the eye seen, O God, beside thee, what he hath prepared for him that waiteth for him" (Isaiah 64:4).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Stand therefore, having your loins girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness" (Ephesians 6:14).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Nothing is real and eternal,—nothing is Spirit,—but God and His idea. Evil has no reality" (page 71).

BABSON DISCUSSES

Chocolate-Sealed Fish

LAKELAND, Fla., March 17—During the 27 years I have been writing this weekly column which now appears in over 400 newspapers, this is the first time I have taken the space to defend my actions. My Chocolate-Sealed Fish, however, has been so raved by newspapers, cartoonists, etc. that I must rise to its defense!

GLOUCESTER EXPERIMENTS

I was born in Gloucester, Massachusetts, the largest fishing port of the world. I have since always spent my summers there. Hence, I have seen much of the fishing industry, —its development and changes. Just now it is in the "quick-freezing" era.

When you buy frozen filets which are good tasting and healthful fish products which are now ground up for chicken feed. Any biologist will tell you that chickens are now better fed than humans! The chickens get 65% of the fish; including all the minerals and vitamins.

OUR ANCESTRY
Some of the people of this country may have started from monkeys; but surely the best of us originally came from great fishes which had backbones like ours. Some of these fishes had the initiative to crawl up on the land. They became lizards and these gradually developed into mammals. Hence, today, we can get from fish nearly all we need in order to live—provided we eat the whole fish.

Last summer I experimented with grinding up and cooking the whole fish,—flesh, bones, skin, liver and all with the help of my friend Captain Frank Favalora. I gave some dinner parties having soup, jellied salads, fish balls and lobster (ground up with the shell) for the main courses with sea vegetables—followed by a delightful dessert made from sea moss which I picked up off Little Good Harbor beach. The repast had two outs: one a slightly unpleasant odor, and two a somewhat bitter taste.

MY EXPERIMENTS
Various experiments were tried to eliminate these two handicaps. My Japanese chef eliminated the odor with a few drops of oil of orange; but we could not get rid of the bitter taste. This bitterness was probably caused by a fish to which I added one of the best ingredients. So I gave up until coming to Florida this winter.

While in Florida I met Mr. Pricken who has a modern candy factory in Lakeland. He coats orange peels with chocolate. It is delicious. A thought occurred to me and I took over to him some ground whole fish to run through his chocolate-sealing machine,—including the result. The result to my taste was very good,—no odor and no bitterness. But according to the newspapers not even the cats of Lakeland would come near the factory for days!

CHOCOLATE A PRESERVATIVE

But the above is not the whole story. In addition to killing the odor and bitterness, of the whole ground fish, the chocolate also sealed this cooked whole fish. The chocolate sealing acts as a preservative for the fish as it does for the cream in chocolate covered candy. The fish so sealed and unfrozen kept fresh for some weeks in our refrigerator.

Well, the above is my story. Surely my chocolate-sealed fish has no friends at present; but I close the sad story with this forecast:—Someday every family for health's sake—will be eating ground whole fish chocolate sealed. Whether it will be eaten as a main dish or as a dessert, I leave to the imagination of my patient readers.

Bob Wills Hears Folks Tell Of Hadacol's Many Blessings

Hundreds of folks, who are benefiting every day from taking HADACOL meet at the Trianon Building in Oklahoma City where Bob Wills, famous band leader, and his Texas Playboys broadcast each noon for HADACOL.

"It looks like all my fans are getting wonderful benefits from HADACOL," said Wills. "It is a real pleasure to broadcast for HADACOL because the folks taking HADACOL are so enthusiastic that I feel like I am performing a real service for mankind."

Hundreds have told Wills of the blessed benefits of HADACOL and the following statement by Miss Carol Jean White, 3636 West Park St., Oklahoma City, is a good example:

"One of the luckiest days of my life was when I heard Bob Wills tell about the wonderful blessings of HADACOL. I had lost my appetite, my energy was down. I suffered with gastric disturbances and indigestion. I took the advice of Bob Wills and took HADACOL. I felt better right off and have felt better and better as I have continued to take HADACOL. I now recommend HADACOL to my friends."

Miss White suffered with a deficiency of B Vitamins and important Minerals which HADACOL contains.

A lack of only a small amount of the B Vitamins and certain Minerals will cause digestive disturbances. . . Your food will not agree with you. . . You will have an upset stomach. . . You will suffer from heartburns, gas pains, and your food will sour on your stomach, and you will not be able to eat the things you like for fear of being in misery afterwards. Many people also suffer from constipation. And while these symptoms may be the result of other causes, they are

Preston Smith, Lubbock Solon, Announces For Lt. Governor

"Preston Smith, 38-year-old Lubbock business man, entered the political arena this week by announcing his candidacy for Lieutenant Governor.

Smith is a three-term veteran of the Texas House of Representatives. He was first elected in 1944 to represent District 119. During his service in the House, Smith has been for four years a member of the appropriations committee. He has also served as chairman of the sub-committee on higher education. He is a firm believer in the application of sound business methods in the operation of the state government.

Born on a Williamson County farm, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Smith, he stayed with farm life until 1931. He is the seventh child in a family of 13 and has six brothers and six sisters. Much of his career in the House has been devoted to championing the cause of Texas' rural people. He was author of the rural hospital bill and co-author of the rural telephone bill, and also has been active in the fight for farm-to-market roads and soil conservation. Smith has been a supporter of all veteran legislation.

Of his hospital plan, Smith says, "This measure will go a long way toward solving the doctor shortage in small communities. If the counties vote bonds for hospitals and then lease them to some of the young doctors just out of college who have no financial means to build their own hospitals, the younger men will not be so inclined to go into the large towns where facilities are available."

Commenting on his race for Lieutenant Governor, Smith said, "Much of Texas' population is centered in rural areas and small communities. Unless you have lived on a farm or in one of the very small towns, of which there are many in the state, you can't realize how much is needed in the way of worthwhile legislation for the rural areas. Texas needs the services which the rural population provides. The rural population needs better facilities for day-to-day living. As Lieutenant Governor, I will continue my efforts to see that this important segment of our population receives as many needed improvements as possible, along with other necessary and important legislation."

Smith also authored the bill, in the House, which would require all boards, bureaus and state agencies that spend state tax money to hold open meetings and to advise the press in writing in advance of such meetings. The measure passed the House but did not get through the Senate.

Smith has been a Lubbock resident for 18 years. He has been in the theater business since 1936.

His schooling includes a diploma from the Lamesa High School and a degree from Texas Technological College in Lubbock where he studied auditing and accounting.

In 1935 Smith joined forces with another Smith—Miss Ima Smith by name—who is now Mrs. Preston Smith. She also is a Texas Tech graduate, born and reared in the state. The Smiths have two children, Preston Michael, 9, and Jan Lauren, 5. A member of the Methodist Church, Smith is also active in the Kiwanis Club and is a 32nd Degree Mason.

IMPORTANT FACTS ABOUT MARCH

Did you know that March was the first month on the ancient Roman calendar? Julius Caesar made it the third month when he changed the calendar. March has always had thirty-one days and is a very interesting month, although it doesn't contain any national holidays.

Texas celebrates the second day of March as the anniversary of its independence from Mexico.

March 17 is celebrated by the Irish as the feast day of Saint Patrick. In the United States, the first installment of Federal income tax is due on March 15.

Spring begins on March 21 when the time between sunrise and sunset is exactly twelve hours. The sun rises exactly in the east and sets exactly in the west.

On March 7, 1876, the telephone was patented by Alexander Graham Bell.

The United States Post Office was established by Congress on March 12, 1789.

The Grand Coulee Dam was put into service on March 22, 1942.

Patrick Henry said, "Give me liberty, or give me death" on March 23, 1775.

One of the more popular cartoons used in the campaign has been a caricature of a farmer using his pitchfork to prod Congress into more hand-outs, a reflection of mounting consumer reaction to continued high food prices while government holds surpluses off the market.

Actually, farm income is dropping steadily, down 25 per cent from the peaks of two years ago. This year so far cash receipts on the nation's farms average a 5 per cent decline from the same period of 1949. And the Bureau of Agricultural Economics holds out little promise of any immediate upturns. Political observers say that with the conditions prevailing now, the farm price problem will be more of an issue than ever in the forthcoming campaigns.

The high prices city consumers pay for food works against the farmer in another way, causing higher production prices in the things the farmer has to buy. It is to balance this question of income and outgo that the whole price-support program is designed, and with that spread growing, demand for a long-term solution will remain, regardless of the effect of the present amendment.

Commodity Credit Loans Due March 31

Farmers have until March 31 to pay off Commodity Credit Corporation loans on grain sorghums, H. E. Schuster, Chairman of the County PMA Comity, said today.

After that, the grain becomes the property of the CCC.

About 75 million bushels of grain sorghums, principally in the Southwest, are under loan program which ends March 31, a month earlier than the end of the program year for wheat and other small grains.

CCC has recently announced preliminary plans to provide additional storage space this spring to meet emergency situation for crops in areas of storage shortages. Deliveries of grain sorghums and about 35 million bushels of corn which is subject to Angoumois moth infestation must be handled during April.

MAKE-BELIEVE is a serious business to good actors and actresses — so demonstrated Bill Gargan and crew on "Martin Kane, Private Eye" recently. During rehearsal, one of the gunmen was so interested in his part that when the cue called for a gunshot he got too close and spattered the cast with gun powder with some getting powder burns—only minor however—but the report did cause a general collapse of "they got me" because the cast was so deep in action. "Martin Kane, Private Eye" is a mystery thriller on NBC-TV Thursday nights and Mutual radio Sunday afternoons.

"WE HAVE WOMEN Senators, Ambassadors, Judges, and what have you, and it's time we had a woman President." So said Irene Rich, veteran of many stage and screen successes, to a recent "We, the People" NBC and NBC-TV audience. Charming Irene would be a likely candidate herself, male votes could attest. Miss Rich has been playing "President Rich" for 2 years on Broadway now, and listeners of "We, the People" heard of her trials and tribulations in affairs of state — and with Bobby Clark as the President's husband, that's to be expected.

SPEAKING of wonder woman—take a look at ABC's Nancy Craig and Pauline Frederick... both heard weekdays on ABC network. Nancy is one of the 23 newspaper and radio women who was invited by the Scandinavian governments to visit their countries and gather news on their women's lives. Pauline is the only woman news analyst on any network. She has travelled the world over during and since the war covering major events. The New York Times recently tagged her as "one-of-a-kind" and Glamour Magazine adds "first lady of television."

The Test-Tube Of America's Growth

The secret of your radio, automobile, and all the other scientific miracles that have entered your home in the past fifty years, can be reduced and presented in a small flask... the "test-tube" of finance! It is in this "test-tube" that practical new ideas are separated from the less efficient... and it is American Finance that enables them to be mass-produced and sold for so little. These miracles have been brought to one and all... and will CONTINUE to be, in the years ahead... to keep America growing... to keep America GREAT!

NOW IT'S YOUR TURN TO BLOSSOM OUT

You've seen it happen with the family down the street, the friends across town, the folks you went to school with.

They started out, as most folks do, with a car of modest size—and still more modest price.

Maybe they moved themselves up a bit, step by step, to the top-bracket models in that particular price range.

Then they discovered something.

It doesn't cost much more—sometimes no more—to really blossom out in a Buick.

It's not such a long stretch to take command of a great-hearted valve-in-head straight-eight—to move into the room and restful and steady going of a Buick—to cloak yourself in styling that's today's height of highway fashions.

You can know the good, satisfying feel of a Buick wheel in your hand—you can have the gentleness of soft coil springs on all four wheels—you can revel in the handiness of cars that are big in room and big in repute, yet traffic-sized and easy to park and put away.

Maybe—who knows till you inquire?—you can manage the magic silkiness of Dynaflo Drive* in all its 1950 perfection—of a certainty you'll find the model that's twin to your heart's desire among the many choices Buick gives you for 1950.

So why not make this your year to blossom out in a Buick, as so many have before you? Why not find out the dollars-and-cents story of Buick—it even includes some very happy figures on gas economy— from your own Buick dealer?

See him now, will you—and help yourself to some real fun this season!

BUICK ALONE HAS Dynaflo AND WITH IT GOES:

HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines, five hp ratings. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) • NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with bumper-guard grilles, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.

Supts. Discuss Transportation At Meeting Wed.

Superintendents of the schools in Bailey county met with County Judge and Superintendent of County Schools Cecil H. Tate last Wednesday to discuss the State payment for transportation for each of the county schools.

It was agreed that the schools would file their reports at the end of a six-months period instead of at the end of each school year. The last three months of attendance would be estimated from the first six-months.

The state will pay up to $45 per year for student transportation, but the amount paid to the schools are based upon several factors, attendance being one of the most important.

Superintendents attending the conference were C. W. Gandy of Muleshoe, H. A. Reynolds of Bula, and Sam Whittaker of Circleback. Supt. H. H. Homsley of Three Way was unable to attend.

Track Training Now Underway At High School

Approximately 30 high school boys reported for practice in all events of the field Wednesday afternoon. Coach Woody Green announced. Players and events entered were not available this week, but will be published next week.

The Muleshoe tracksters are planning to enter the district meet in Lubbock on April 1. Nine schools in this district will have teams entered. All events in the meet will be entered by Muleshoe.

Bill Gaede, one of the fastest high school boys in this district, has a very good chance of placing high in the mile run. Last year he ran the mile in 5.4 minutes, which was better time than the district winner. This time was recorded in a practice meet. He did not get to participate in district competition last year because of illness.

Student Council Delegates Return

The Muleshoe high school delegates to the Texas Association of Student Council in Amarillo returned this last weekend after two days at this state meeting. These delegates were R. E. Bryant, Ted Lawler, Gene Tipps, and John Dee Whipple. Sponsor, Don Jackson accompanied them.

This convention began Thursday afternoon. The group reported enjoying the discussion groups on Friday afternoon more than any other part of the convention. Each person attended two of them. Friday night there was a barbecue and western dance, which they attended. Saturday morning, a special breakfast was held for the sponsors.

Afterwards the delegates, represented 133 schools in Texas, elected officers for next year. Each school had four votes.

The student council convention will be held in Dallas next year at Sunset high school.

These delegates reported that the best thing about the whole convention was the fact that they came to realize just how well organized their own school is. They said that cooperation between faculty and students was exceptionally outstanding. And especially so, since the student council is a comparatively new thing at Muleshoe high.

The group got quite a few good ideas on ways of financing the school and also reported an interest in something new, the honor system. It is to be explained to the student body later.

The delegates gave their reports at student-council meeting last Wednesday noon.

Texas Tops Nat'l Average In Rural Electrification

The latest annual report of the Rural Electrification Administration just issued reveals that the twelve months ending June 30, 1949, saw the greatest expansion of rural electrification in the history of the program.

Texas is for the first time above the national average in percentage of farms electrified. The national average is 78.2, while 78.4 per cent of Texas farms now have electricity. Several states now have more than 90 per cent of their farms electrified.

In all other departments, however, Texas is still leading the nation. Total miles of electric lines in Texas number 94,734, and there are 237,426 consumers. Nearest to these totals are Minnesota, with 56,348 miles of line and Tennessee, with 190,968 consumers connected.

Nationally, REA's borrowers principally rural electric cooperatives energized more miles of power lines and added more consumers than in any previous year.

These accomplishments represented gratifying progress toward the REA goal of area coverage—electric service for every farm and other potential rural user.

This progress was made despite the fact that electric cooperatives moved more and more during the year into areas posing severe rural electrification problems because of low farm density, low farm income, or difficult terrain.

In cooperation with the Surge Milking Machine Company, the stalls at the Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show have been provided with vacuum pipes and stall cocks. It is believed that these are the only show facilities in the nation so equipped.

Facts About The Nation Wide Census That Will Start April 1

The first Decennial Census of the United States was taken in 1790. The United States marshals of the Nation's 16 judicial districts were the supervisors and 600 deputy United States marshals served as enumerators. The 1790 Census counted a population of 3,929,214 inhabitants, exclusive of Indians, not taxed. The Census reported on the number of free white males in two general age groups, those under 16 years old and those 16 years old and over. Other items on which figures were published included the number of free white females, the number of other free persons, and the number of slaves.

The first five decennial censuses listed only the names of the heads of households and the number of persons in each household. The 1850 Census was the first to list all persons by name. It also added inquiries on age, sex, color, occupation, value of real estate owned, place of birth, marriage, and education.

For many decades, the Congress itself determined the questions to be asked. Beginning with the 1930 Census, the selection of the questions, was delegated to the Director of the Census, with the advice of users of the Census information such as business men, labor and educational organization, and public agencies, subject to the final approval of the Secretary of Commerce. Questions on age, sex, race, birthplace, citizenship, occupation, employment, marital status, and education have become established as fixed items by 100 years or more of tradition. Other questions vary from census to census as changing times bring need for new information.

There are 45 basic questions in the 1950 Population Census. Only seven of these will be asked about all individuals. These are name, relationship to head of household, race, sex, age, marital status and birthplace. One additional question will be asked of all foreign-born persons, to determine whether they are naturalized. For all persons 14 years old and over there are additional questions on status of employment during the week before the Census, and if employed, the number of hours worked and the kind of work done. The remaining 29 questions will be asked of only a sample of the population.

In order to expedite the field work and to relieve the public as much as possible from the chore of answering questions, most of the Population Census inquiries will be directed to a sample of one in five individuals. Nine of the sample questions will relate to one in five individuals of all ages. Eleven others will relate to only one in five of the persons 14 years and over. Finally, the last seven questions on the schedule will be asked of only one in 30 persons.

The choice of the individuals to whom the sample questions will apply is left entirely to chance. There is no way of telling in advance who will be included in the sample. Each page of the Population Census questionnaire used by the Census taker provides lines for listing 30 names. Six lines of the 30, or one in five, are underscored on the preprinted form. As the Census taker lists, in succession, the names of individuals he enumerates, every fifth name will fall on one of these underscored lines. These lines are keyed to the special question to be asked. Then one in six of these sample lines, is also keyed to the seven supplemental questions to be asked of only one in 30 persons.

Where they lived a year ago, country of birth of parents, highest grade of school completed, and whether they have attended school since February 1, 1950 or questions to be asked of one in five individuals of all ages. One in five unemployed persons 14 years old and over will be asked how long he or she has been looking for work. One in five individuals in this age group will be asked the amount of income, up to $10,000, received in 1949 from each of three general sources, namely income from wages of salaries, income from own business or farm, and income from interest, dividends, pensions, rents, and other sources aside from earnings. One in five family heads will be asked to report income of other members of his family to determine total family income. Every fifth male of 14 or over will be asked if he ever served in the U. S. armed forces during World War I, World War II, or at any time, including present service. Every 30th person who worked last year but is not working now will be asked to report the kind of job in which he was last employed. Every 30th persons ever married will be asked if he or she has been married more than once, and if still married, for how long. Every 30th woman ever married

How To Make A Good Salad

The delight of cooks and guests alike, whether for family luncheon or dinner, buffet or barbecue parties, is a tossed green salad. It can be simple or sophisticated, depending upon the seasoning or garnish used. Here are a few recommendations from the General Electric Consumers Institute.
 As soon as salad greens are brought into the kitchen, discard bruised sections and wash quickly. Do not separate. Store in refrigerator vegetable drawer.
 Before preparing the salad, make sure there is no moisture on the leaves of the greens which would dilute the dressing. To avoid a "wet" look, the greens should be tossed, never stirred or mixed with a heavy hand. Accent the beauty of salads with a green pepper ring, radish rose or sprig of water cress. Make the dressing well in advance so that seasoning can blend well and add to the salad just before serving.

Choose a large wooden bowl and rub the inside with a cut of clove or garlic. Fill with a variety of crisp greens which you have broken into bite-size pieces. Then add some finely chopped

High Plains Farmers Defend Water Ruling In Meeting At Amarillo

By GARLAND SMITH
Amarillo News

A parade of High Plains farmers and lawyers, appearing here Monday before the Texas Water Code Committee, defended the present underground water conservation law against mounting opposition elsewhere.

Four witnesses told the committee and several hundred farmers and ranchers in Old Tascosa, Hearing Hotel, they favor the measure, House Bill 162, because it authorizes control on the local level.

All of the spokesmen asked that the law be given time and opportunity to prove itself, before the committee of 21 men considers any plan for a central state agency to regulate underground water as the Railroad Commission prorates oil.

L. A. Howard, farmer, lawyer and landowner in both Lubbock and Amarillo, declared the underground decline is not serious enough to warrant regulation by a "remote central agency" in Austin dealing with something it knows nothing about.

"Geologists tell me—and that's all anybody knows—our water source at Lubbock is 60 miles west in the sandhills," Howard said. "They say the waterhead moves eastward 200 feet a year. That means when Muleshoe is without a drop to drink, Lubbock still will have 1,000 years to go."

The audience cheered. Arthur Duggan, attorney for the High Plains Water Conservation Use Association, Littlefield, defended the present measure as "a good law" and satisfactory to local farmers.

"Is it a good law because it authorizes control or prevents control?" asked J. C. Cantrell, banker at McKinney and member of the committee.

"It isn't that," Duggan replied. "The bill is designed for conservation."

"Do you know of any district which has been formed on the High Plains under the law?" Cantrell asked.

"I know of none," Duggan said. "Landowners hardly have had time. It has been on the statutes only since last summer."

Cantrell probed again when Sam Aldridge, Farmer County attorney, took the stand. "How does the present law allow for conservation if there is no agency to prorrate the output?" Cantrell asked.

"Spacing of wells takes care of that," Aldridge said. "Only if you have a district," Cantrell added.

"Yes," Aldridge said, "only if you have a district."

Sen. Rogers Kelley, Edinburg lawyer and chairman of the joint senate-house committee touring the state, opened the afternoon session. The morning was devoted to testimony on surface water problems including the proposed Canadian River dam.

Kelley introduced Rep. Preston Smith, member of the House Steering Committee, Lubbock, who explained the committee is gathering testimony to submit to the Legislature a uniform water code for Texas. The committee principally is concerned about surface water, he said, but is taking underground water testimony, too.

W. O. "Bill" Fortenberry, irrigation farmer at New Deal, Lubbock County, and president of the High Plains Water Conservation Use Association, was the first witness. He also is president of the National Ginners' Association.

"We believe in conservation, of course," Fortenberry said. "By conservation, I mean the intelligent use of water resources, not necessarily letting them remain idle and produce nothing."

He described the present conservation law as adequate. When he asked for an endorsement, nearly all of the farmers and ranchers, packed and sweating in Old Tascosa, stood and cheered.

The fact that some irrigation farmers at El Paso and Pecos oppose the measure came to light when Rep. Douglas E. Bergman, Dallas, questioned Fortenberry about local or central control. In both cities, Bergman said, farmers had told the committee the law is a disadvantage to them.

"I'm not familiar with the problems at El Paso and Pecos," Fortenberry said.

"Would you oppose water use and allocation like that administered by the railroad commission on oil?" asked Kelley.

"We don't know enough about underground water to set up a state control program with remote headquarters in Austin," Fortenberry said. "We would make too many blunders."

Any plan for a central control agency would be secondary to the present system, he said. Farmers in the 14 units of the High Plains Association are maneuvering to organize districts, he said.

The issue of state or local control was the subject of pointed questions and answers in the morning session. Bergman asked the questions. William Broadhurst, chief of the US Geological Survey in Texas, Austin, gave the answers.

This interchange follows: Bergman: "Mr. Broadhurst, isn't there a possibility that the question of water use cannot be settled on a local basis but must be handled at the state level by some policing or regulatory body?"

Broadhurst: "The purpose of our bill is to supply factual information. We cannot take sides on the question."

Bergman: "Yes, but you have a lot of information that would be valuable to this committee's study. Don't you think that a group at the state level could solve these matters better than local interests that are interested in pumping water to serve their own farms and the farms in the area?"

The geologist gave an evasive reply.

Bergman: "Mr. Broadhurst, I think you are dodging me."

Broadhurst: "Yes, and I'm going to continue to dodge you. We can't take sides and perform the type of factual service we are supposed to do."

Bergman: "But don't you think a group with some power—"

(The interchange was interrupted at this point by Chairman Rogers Kelley, who asked Bergman: "Are you asking the witness or telling him?")

Bergman: "Just another question or two, Mr. Broadhurst, don't you believe in conservation?"

Broadhurst: "Yes."

Bergman: "Then don't you believe that to have conservation there must be a group with some power—"

The cross-examination was interrupted by laughter, and Senator Kelley called for a recess of the hearing.

Howard in the afternoon introduced himself as a lawyer, property owner and farmer.

"All my farms are irrigated," he said, "and hope to keep them that way."

The audience cheered. "There are just as many objections to state control of water conservation as there are for taking your life-right now," Howard declared. "Now you can figure that out."

The audience cheered. "Boards in Austin don't know what the High Plains water problem is," he said, "and they don't have time to find out."

The audience cheered. "The boys in Austin use a slide-rule," he said. "A slide-rule works all right in engineering, but it won't work in farming."

Howard said he, like other farmers, "loved" government bureaucracy.

"We ought to," he declared. "We paid enough for them. But what do the bureaus know about water?"

The audience cheered. Nicholas A. Rose, consulting groundwater geologist, Houston, also appeared briefly before the committee.

HEARING OPENED BY KELLEY
The hearing yesterday morning was opened by Rogers Kelley, chairman of the Texas Water Code Committee. He prefaced his remarks with the statement that while the committee is primarily concerned with surface water, it has learned that water in rivers and streams is inseparably related with subterranean water.

Lawrence Hazy of Amarillo, a layman member of the committee, presided as host member at the hearing.

First witness in the morning session was Andrew Rollins of Dallas, a member of the State Board of Water Engineers. He and another member of the board, James Guleke of Amarillo, presented a pictorial exhibit showing the run off of Texas streams.

In regard to the Canadian River he said some 586,000 acre feet of water leave Texas annually, of which only 19,936 acre feet is actually appropriated for use.

Statistics compiled by the Board of Engineers show that of the 62 million acre feet of water which flow to the Gulf through Texas streams only 4,326,534 acre feet go to a beneficial use, he said.

Rollins and the second witness, William Broadhurst, chief of the US Geological Survey in Texas emphasized these important points.

1. The underground water on the High Plains is a static reservoir replenished by any underground stream.

2. There is no connection between subterranean water and the Canadian River, which is 400 feet below the level of subterranean waters deposited in the ground of the High Plains in past geological ages.

3. The underground supply may be reduced by pumpage to an uneconomical level in many areas of the High Plains.

4. At the present rate High Plains pumpage is about 25 times greater than the recharge. And if the rate of pumpage continues or increases eventually irrigation farmers in some areas will reach the point of diminishing returns.

As Broadhurst pointed out, "the exhaustion will be economic rather than physical," for it will no longer be profitable to pump the water from the diminished water table.

The third witness at the hearing was Howard E. Robbins, regional director of the Bureau of Reclamation with headquarters in Amarillo, who reviewed the history of the Canadian River dam progress.

After tracing the development of the Canadian River project from the days of Albert Sidney Stannett, who first envisioned the possibilities of a dam, he launched into a defense of the Bureau of Reclamation's program, and anticipated those who would claim that the bureau seizes control from local people of the dams it builds.

Mr. Robbins said: "Any fears that the federal government might some day attempt to usurp water rights in Texas are not warranted by either the bureau's 48-year-old record or by Reclamation laws and policies. Reclamation law respects both state laws and individual water rights. The whole purpose of the Bureau of Reclamation (let me repeat that)—The whole purpose of the Bureau of Reclamation is to make more water for irrigation, municipal and other uses available to people, and as nearly as possible in accordance with the people's expressed desires—not to take water away from them."

"And I should like to emphasize this also: Every project we build and operate is constructed and operated in conformance with the laws of the state in which we work."

"With respect to the operation and maintenance of reclamation projects after construction is completed, it is the policy of the department and the bureau to turn over for local operation water projects that are constructed under reclamation law. Of 65 irrigation projects now in operation, 45 have been turned over to the water users to manage. A majority of the 20 remaining projects have petitioned the federal government to continue guiding the operations. Others, completed only recently, are not yet in a position to seek independent action."

From Muleshoe in attendance at the meeting were Jesse Osborn, Bill Matthiesen, and H. S. Sanders, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Davis and children, Melvin and Nanell, spent the school holidays at Stephenville visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carter Davis and her sister and family Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rabberry and other relatives and friends. Mr. Davis teaches in Muleshoe Junior High School.

Farm Census Is On Schedule For Next Month

COLLEGE STATION, March 20 — Texas farmers and ranchmen will soon be receiving a copy of the 1950 agricultural census questionnaire and each is requested to fill it out and have it ready for the census taker when he calls next month. The questionnaire is being sent to all rural route boxholders and to boxholders in small towns where there are a considerable number of farmers. The copy should not be discarded, says Tyrus R. Timm, extension economist of Texas A. & M. College, but should be studied carefully and completely filled in with accurate information. Here's why.

The Census of Agriculture provides an inventory of our farms and farm resources. It gives facts indispensable in dealing with current farm problems. It benefits everybody, says Timm, because it gives a picture of what is happening in the rural areas of the state and nation and includes facts on land use, crop and livestock production, how many people live on farms, kinds of machinery used, farm home facilities and a large number of other equally important items.

In most states, it provides the major source of county figures on agriculture as well as the basic information on the changes, growth and improvements in agriculture in each county. Timm points out that the information taken from the census often is used in planning programs designed to improve farming and rural life and farm organizations likewise base many of their decisions on this information. The annual estimates of the production of crops and livestock products are based upon figures obtained in the nationwide farm census but most important, it provides the basis for the making of allocations among counties of quotas for the acreage of many important farm crops.

Timm says the information you give the census enumerators is confidential and cannot be used for taxation, investigation or regulation. An Act of Congress provides the protection. Every person who fills out a census form or answers the

FOUNDATIONS FOR OUR FAITH

By REV. T. G. CRAFT

FAITH IN JESUS CHRIST

Many people, some of whom are readers of the Holy Bible, begin with Jesus Christ in His incarnation. They start with Him when He was born of the virgin Mary in Bethlehem of Judea, and then follow Him during His earthly ministry, but lose sight of Him at the point of His ascension. The historical Christ cannot represent more than a segment in the life of Jesus Christ. Yet for us, His earthly sojourn is of primary importance. However, Jesus Christ differs from the race of men in that He pre-existed and was with the Father before the foundation of the world.

Hear the words of the Holy Bible: "And now, O Father glorify thou me with thine own self with glory which I had with thee before the World was" (St. John; 17:5). And again we quote from St. John: "In the beginning was the WORD, and the WORD was God. The same was in the beginning with God" (St. John; 1:1-2). These two passages of Scripture are enough to confirm the fact that Jesus existed before he was incarnated or born of the Holy Mary. Our Lord had a heavenly existence before He had an earthly existence. We should be willing to accept the Scriptures at their face value, and let our information come from a divine source.

St. Paul in his letter to the Philippians states a great truth about the incarnation, or about how Jesus became tempted in flesh and blood being. St. Paul says, "Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus: We being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: But made of himself no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross" (Philippians; 2:5-8). This is St. Paul's description of the incarnation. Only God knows how Christ Jesus, the pre-existent One was transferred from His heavenly being into an earthly being. We can speculate about how it happened; yet history-Biblical history in particular, tells the story of our Lord's earthly life from His birth unto His ascension.

What did Jesus say about Himself? He had several things to say. Let us note some of them. He said, "Let us note some of them. He again and again. On the occasion of His first great temptations, He told the tempter: "Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God" (Mat.; 4:7). Of course Jesus here is quot-questions asked by an enumerator are likewise required to give accurate and truthful information.

The accuracy of the farm census will depend upon the cooperation of every farmer and ranchman. The accuracy of the county totals depend upon accurate returns from each individual for county totals are obtained by adding the individual reports together.

When you get the agricultural census questionnaire, don't throw it away, but answer every question asked completely and accurately for as Timm points out, the farm census is mighty important to agriculture.

ing from the Hebrew Scriptures, but it expresses what conception Jesus had of Himself. In the sixth chapter of St. John's gospel, Jesus refers to Himself as the bread of life. In the seventeenth Chapter, Jesus identifies Himself as the Son of God. So Christ stands out in history and in our minds as the Son of God.

When we think of Jesus as an infant, we must try to see Him as He is. In that stage of life, He is the infant Christ, but in what degree is He the Son of God? We know that as an infant and even as a little child He is not the same as He was at the time of His baptism, or His crucifixion. We can explain the Christ at calvary as the Christ child who grew in stature and in wisdom and in favor with God and man. It is evident from the life of Christ that he grew into His divine Sonship. The years before He assumed His ministry at the age of thirty, He was not idle in developing His divine Sonship. We must always think of Jesus as One who gave much time to prayer; to meditation; to the study of the Holy Scriptures (the Old Testament); to appropriating the mind of the Father in His own life. Little by little, step by step, He grew into the likeness of the FATHER. This growth continued until the time came when Jesus was conscious that he was like God in Character; in mind; in love, and in Spirit. It was at that mature state of spiritual development of which he was conscious, and because he was conscious of divine Sonship, He no longer called Himself the Son of man, but the Son of God. Had Jesus been completely conscious of divine Sonship in previous years of His life, He surely would have called Himself the Son of God instead of the Son of Man.

On the human side, Jesus was the son of man, but on the divine and spiritual side of His being, He became the Son of God. How much of God could Jesus contain as a baby; as a little child, and as a youth. In these various stages, He used His capacities (some of us believe to the fullest) to perceive and appropriate the very heart and mind of His Father. But can any one say that the Father He experienced as a little boy was the same measure as He experienced when he was crucified?

If Jesus had been completely equal with the Father at the time of His baptism; then explain why the Holy Spirit came upon Him in bodily form like a dove? Do you remember reading these words of Jesus: "I can of mine own self do nothing: as I hear, I judge; and my judgment is just: because I seek not mine own will, but the will of the Father who sent me. If I bear witness of myself, my witness is not true" (St. John; 5:30-31). "The son can do nothing of Himself, but what He seeth the Father do; for what things soever He doeth, these also doeth the Son likewise" (St. John; 5:19). If Jesus had been completely God with all the power of God; then why did He make these statements about Himself not being able to do anything without God? A lot of people do not know that Jesus said these things about himself. Many people have formed certain concepts about Christ without getting those concepts from the Bible. Too many have formed opinions or rather have opinions which their ancestors gave them by word of mouth. What we need in this day is stir men's minds to think, and their hearts to believe only the truth. Traditionalism may or may not be true in who or in part. God has given us minds with which to think and perceive. Let us use our minds for the purpose God gave them, and not to merely hold our preconceived notions, or as a store house for ideas that never had a merit of truth.

"He who agrees with me," said one of old, "is in the faith and is orthodox; but he who disagrees with me is a heretic." Let us study ourselves to be approved of God, a workman who needeth not be ashamed of his work.
