While driving my dad to the doctor in Abilene last Thursday, there was one stretch of road on I-20 between Baird and Clyde where the fog became so thick that we could not see the cars on the other side of the interstate. Then on the way back about an hour and a half later, the fog was gone. It was really weird.

We also noticed that there are still some of the wrecked railroad cars where the train derailed last month.

Cisco Historical Association Discusses Plans For 1987

The goal of the Cisco Historical Association is to get a development program for the four-acre tract of land deeded to the organization by Cisco Junior College well underway during 1987, according to Dr. Ayres Cermin, president, in a talk last Wednesday noon at the weekly luncheon of the Cisco Lions Club at the White Elephant Restaurant.

Dr. Cermin, who was presented by Program Chairman Ronnie Ledbetter, told Lions that the Association has five old buildings ready to be moved into the historical park area just east of the Mobley Hilton Community Center. The Rockway family gave the old lumber yard and additional land to Cisco Junior College and four acres of the land were deeded by the college to the Association some 18 months ago.

The organization has been working on a master plan for the historical park and hopes to begin development this year with the building of foundations and moving in the old Rockway Dynamite House that stood for years near the railroad just west of town. The old Red Gap Post office building is also ready to be moved to the park, he said.

The old M-K-T Railroad weigh building also is

Local Man Is Arrested

Bobby Edward Maynard, 41-year-old Cisco resident who is on parole for making methamphetamines was charged Thursday with possessing methamphetamines.

Maynard was arrested Tuesday afternoon in Cisco when Department of Public Safety troopers Robert Ralls and Richard Treece and Cisco Police Officer Chris Key stopped him for a driver's license check while he was driving his pickup truck in Cisco.

He was charged with possession of 5.15 grams of the illegal drug, and is being held in the Eastland County Jail on a $62,500 bond set by R. G. Lyerla, Eastland Justice of the Peace.

DPS Officer Ralls said additional charges will be filed in connection with other illegal drugs found in Maynard's pickup truck.

Eastland County District Attorney Emory Walton said that the street value of 5.15 grams of methamphetamine is about $7,500.

Additional charges will be filed in connection with evidence found Tuesday in Maynard's residence north of Cisco, Mr. Walton said. One and a half ounces of methamphetamine was found in his house, according to Sgt. Don Bush of the DPS. Maynard was sentenced to 10 years in federal prison in December of 1980 for making and distributing methamphetamines.

available for moving, Dr. Cermin said. The old Byrd School located south of town has been donated to the Association by Mrs. James McCracken and it will be moved as soon as possible, he added. A log cabin near Moran dating back to the 1880s is available, too.

The Association hopes to obtain a railroad caboose for the park.

Membership is open to anyone interested and dues are $10 per family per year, Dr. Cermin said. The organization's annual meeting will be a pot luck dinner to be held during January.

Since its organization in the mid-1970s, the Association has completed a historical survey that has been registered and recognized by state and national organizations. The Association assisted with the Mobley Hilton restoration project.

Vice President Roy Dennis presided at the luncheon in the absence of Olin Odum.

WORD OF GOD

The Way of Love

Though I speak with the tongue of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal.

And though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries, and all knowledge; and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and have not charity, I am nothing.

And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing.

Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up.

1 Corinthians 13:1-4

WORD OF GOD

Doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil;

Rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the truth;

Beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things.

Charity never faileth; but whether there be prophecies, they shall fail; whether there be tongues, they shall cease; whether there be knowledge, it shall vanish away.

For we know in part, and we prophesy in part.

Medical Perspectives

By Robert Matthews, M.D.

ANTIBIOTICS
By Dr. Robert C. Matthews
Antibiotics have indeed revolutionized medicine. Most modern antibiotics, of which there are hundreds, are produced by fungi (such as bread mold). Your high school biology teacher would describe them as substances produced by a living organism that injure another living organism. Penicillin was the first to be discovered. Alexander Fleming observed that a mold which contaminated one of his bacterial culture plates completely halted the growth of the bacteria. Since that time, numerous other antibiotics have been discovered, only a few of which are useful in medicine.

Antibiotics are effective only against bacteria and fungi. They are not effective against viruses. By and large, they are useful in the treatment of illnesses caused by bacteria. This includes strep throat, middle ear infections, meningitis, many types of pneumonia, bladder infections, gonorrhea, syphilis, abscesses, wound infections and others. They are not in the least effective in those illnesses caused by viruses, including the common cold, the flu, the common sore throat, many cases of bronchitis, herpes infections (the fever blister, shingles, chicken pox), mononucleosis, measles, mumps and the once dreaded diseases polio and small pox.

It is not uncommon for a physician to be uncertain as to the cause of a given illness and often will then prescribe an antibiotic to see if it will help. The overuse of antibiotics however, is fraught with dangers. An antibiotic can cause anaphylactic shock and death in a person who is allergic to that particular antibiotic. They may cause an array of milder allergic reactions, most commonly skin rashes, hives and itching.

A vast number of side effects (these are not allergic reactions) have been noted over the years of antibiotic use, even though most people experience no adverse effects while taking antibiotics. Some are more prone to cause nausea, for example an antibiotic called erythromycin. Almost any antibiotic can cause diarrhea, as the normal bacterial flora of the bowel is altered. A severe bowel disease, occasionally fatal, can rarely result from the over-growth of more dangerous bacteria in the bowel. The overuse of antibiotics has at time led to the proliferation of more resistant bacteria, necessitating the development of more potent antibiotics. Some strains of bacteria are now resistant to all but one antibiotic.

Antibiotics can be life-saving miracle drugs in certain life-threatening conditions and cause each much human suffering caused by

Most Shopping Information Is Obtained Through Newspaper

TEXAS NEWSPAPERS greatly increase their readership strength in 1986... easily demonstrating clout as the "dominant advertising force" in all of retailing. Results from a variety of surveys and readership studies revealed in convincing fashion that:

"An increasing percentage of modern day consumers now depend on newspapers first and foremost for reliable shopping information."

The increasing consumer confidence-in and reaction-to newspaper advertising were proven in studies conducted by universities, major advertising agencies, and business and industry...as well as from those conducted by the newspaper profession, itself. The latest such study, which was recently completed by the University of Texas at Austin, indicated that:

"Over two-thirds of ALL consumers obtain most of their shopping information from newspapers. This reliance on newspapers represented an 18 percent gain over the results from a stream continuously and for a long enough time till kill all of the organisms. Don't give it to anyone else. Notify your physician if you suffer any adverse effects before you stop taking it.

In conclusions, antibiotics are an effective weapon against many infectious diseases but must be used cautiously and under professional supervision. They, like all other natural resources, must be used wisely and must not be abused.

similar questions asked in a 1984 survey by the University."

PROOF OF CLOUT

The school's more recent study came from 997 Texas householders who'd responded to a telephone questionnaire during mid-summer of 1986. Highlights of those results included:

"...68.8 percent look to newspapers for their shopping information as opposed to 4.2 percent who look to radio, 11.2 percent to television, 21.2 percent to mail and 6.2 percent to magazines. Also indicated in the 1986 study was a sharp decline in consumer reliance on radio and television advertising."

Producing similar results were surveys and studies by a widening variety of educational, business and professional firms. Some of the results from other 1986 readership surveys further emphasize the public's reliance on the newspapers. For example:

The American Association of Advertising Agencies following the completion of one of their studies, noted:

"Newspapers are the public's favorite advertising medium."

Findings from a study in another part of the country, this one by the University of Missouri, pointed out that:

"Newspapers are always selected as the main source of 'best buy' shopping information by 74.5 percent of the persons interviewed, compared to 29.1 percent for television, and 5.9 percent for radio."

"The majority, 61 percent of those interviewed in the statewide study, answered that newspapers are their major source of information regarding local political issues, compared to 31.5 percent who indicated television and 7.8 radio.

"Of those polled who said they 'voted regularly,' some 67.4 percent depend on the newspaper for information about local politicians and political issues."

Urban and Associates, a professional research firm in Massachusetts, interviewed 7358 readers to determine the following:

"Newspaper-delivered (inserts) circulars are read more in detail, and more frequently than either door-to-door or mail circulars."

"Consumers are 'more than twice as likely to reach such circulars IF THERE ARE LOTS OF THEM IN THE NEWSPAPER.' Most respondents consider the local newspaper as the 'marketplace' where they can browse."

A California-based research firm, J.D. Power and Associates, has predicted that women by 1990 will make nearly half of all new car purchases in the U.S. Women currently buy four of every 10 new cars sold in this country. And now the Simmons-Scarborough Syndicated Research Associates firm has learned from a recent study that:

"Some 77 percent of those female potential new car buyers (in the area of study) read an average issue of their local newspaper each day. Fully 78 percent read their Sunday newspaper."

McCan-Erickson, Inc., one of the nation's ad agency giants, has reported:

"Newspapers continue to be the largest single advertising medium in America... 27 percent of all advertising dollars are invested in newspapers. ONLY newspapers provide both mass coverage and selective coverage."

"...65 percent of all adults read one or more daily newspapers each day. Those who aren't regular readers tend to be downscale adults who aren't good prospects for most goods and services (anyway).

"Newspapers provide selective coverage, allowing newspapers advertising to be targeted to individual markets, to specific geographic areas, and to targeted audiences with a specified demographic characteristic or special interest."

The national Newspaper Advertising Bureau reporting the results from two separate studies, announced:

"Since advertising began, newspapers have been the Number One medium...they'll still be Number One at the turn of the century."

"Newspapers, who'll receive some $30-Billion in advertising in 1987, will continue to increase their share of the market because of three reasons: (1) they'll capitalize on their new technology, (2) they're becoming more competitive against mail and electronic opponents, and (3) newspapers are now making long-range advertising plans for the future."

Texas' Newspaper Advertising Bureau, which is headquartered in Austin, has described the results of these and a large number of other such survey returns, as "predictable". A prior Ad Bureau news report pointed out:

"Consumers view the products and the companies carried in the advertisements in the local newspaper as their community's best. That's because they're associated with that newspaper, which consumers consider as 'their' newspaper - a regular, trusted member of the family."

The report by the Ad Bureau described the effectiveness of newspaper advertising as being based on obvious reasons. The Bureau pointed out:

"First, local householders see such advertisers as being actual members of the community, because they're a part of its local newspaper. Supporting the local newspaper is supporting the town."

"Second, advertising in the newspaper is the most thoroughly read of all print matter. The consumer pays for that newspaper, and brings it into the house as a part of the family. The unsolicited circular is discarded by a high percentage of householders the moment they're taken from the mailbox.

"Third, the newspaper ad is a permanent record. Readers can and do put it aside, to study at a more convenient time...usually right before going out to shop. Every legitimate survey every conducted reaffirms these conditions. And certainly the mass of evidence in every newspaper today confirms the fact that newspapers, indeed, are the dominant advertising force, by far."

The Ad Bureau pointed out, too, that "these conclusions and findings didn't come from in-house programs" that were designed to promote a particular company. Instead, these readership studies were conducted by businesses and professions demanding total objectivity. Otherwise, such findings would be useless to them, the Ad Bureau concluded.

MAIL PROGRAMS SLIDE
Such findings have also concluded that the growth of direct mail usage for advertising purposes is in remission. Probably accounting for some direct mail's loss of consumer acceptability has been, according to an audit of 85 post offices, the fact that it generally takes 16 days for all pieces of a direct mailed program to finally reach their destinations.

Highlight of that audit by the U.S. Postal Service, was the revelation that an average of 14 percent of direct mail is thrown into the trash cans at the post office BEFORE any attempts are made to deliver them to householders. Poor addressing and other reasons account for the fact that only 86 percent are actually delivered. And past surveys have indicated that as much as another 26 percent of those delivered are "tossed out" by the addressees before reading.

Another study found that only four of some 35 "decoy" addressing included in a test program ever received bulk mailing solicitations that were supposed to have been put into the post office by a major mailing firm. The 35 "decoy" addresses were provided as checkpoints to determine the reliability of the mailer's claims.

Eastland County Unit Of ACS Holds First Meeting Of Year

The first meeting of the Eastland County Unit of the American Cancer Society this year was well attended, including Pat Shannon of the Ft. Worth office and Bill Bailey of Abilene. Loretta White opened the meeting, Roy Gevara led in prayer. Johanna Blair, public education, asked if there was a program by A.C.S. to help smokers quit smoking. Pat is to send her that plan, as several had expressed interest. The program is called "Fresh Start"

Bill Bailey reviewed our giving last year in each category: Memorials, Business, Residential, Send a Mouse to College, and Special Events. Mindy Stephenson is Special Events Chairperson. Some Special Events were discussed. Eastland County gave $11,407 in 1986 and the Goal is $18,000 this year. Bill showed a film entitled "Hands On Recruitment", showing many hands doing so many everyday things to help a cancer patient and to inform people. For example, a lady told of a volunteer who told her how to do a breast self examination, she followed through and had surgery. She said, "That volunteer saved my life." If any cancer patient needs sick room supplies, call Loretta White at 629-8626 in Eastland.

Those attending the meeting were Pat Shannon, Bill Bailey, Millie Sayre, Roy Gevara, Danelida Gevara, Johanna Blair, Mindy Stephenson, Muri Stroebel, Dale Squiers, Loretta White and Letty Craddock.

The next meeting is February 2, always the first Monday night. You are invited.

Pleasant Hill Club Held Meeting In Hale Home

The Pleasant Hill Homemakers Club held its first meeting of the year on Jan. 9th in the home of Virgie Hale. Nine members attended.

Our meeting was very informative. Arleta Shirey reported on the Council meeting. There will be a TEHA Training & Planning meeting on Jan. 27th at Hillboro. Muri Campbell will represent our club, also, there will be a Homemaker Leadership & Officer Training program to be held Feb. 4 at 10 a.m. in the Texas Electric Reddy Room. Luncheon will be served with the ham left over from Christmas party. Everyone is to bring their favorite salad. Efforts are being made to have Theresa Leatherman to speak on this most important topic.

We will serve cookies and punch, Jan. 15 at the Cisco Nursing Home to celebrate the patients birthdays.

We will have a barbecue supper at Muri Campbell's house, Feb. 12 at 6 p.m. All members and their husbands are invited.

There was a discussion on decorating the Cisco Nursing Home during the year, such as, Valentine's Day, Easter, etc. Also, volunteers are needed to help the Library with the Children's Story Hour.

Janet Thomas gave an excellent program on Communicating With Older Parents and Relatives. She cited many ways to improve ourselves with dealing with this problem.

Meeting was then adjourned and Virgie served everyone delicious refreshments.

Next meeting will be in the home of Allene Smith, Feb. 12, 1987.

Senior Citizens

The year of 1987 has finally come and with it some real changes for the American people. We will give you several examples.

Did you know that it will now cost you $520 to enter the hospital if you are over 65 years of age. Also, if you are under medicare it will cost you more, $17.90, and the administration is asking for $5.00 more on your premium to cover items called catastrophic illnesses. The only problem they do not define heart attack, alzheimer, strokes and other related diseases as catastrophic illnesses.

Did you know that some 50 million Americans under, repeat under, age 65 lack effective health care protection. Two thirds of them are employed full time or are dependents of full time workers.

Yes, the New Year has got a lot of surprises. How about calling the registrar at your Senior Center, 442-1557, so you may come to the Senior Center and keep current on the problems affecting you and your family.

Programs for the past week: music by Mildred Johnston, Lois Holder, Bob Bever's One Man Band, Billie Wood, Senior Center Choir and Band, accompanied by Gerald Parks.

Menus for the coming week:
Monday-Vegetable soup, pimento cheese, canned prunes, cream pudding, bread and milk.
Wednesday-Ham, green lima beans, tossed salad, tomato-carrots, cheese apple crisp, bread, butter and milk.
Friday-Beef patty, broccoli, tossed salad, pineapple upside down cake, bread, butter and milk.

CJC Teams To Begin Season Basketball

The 1987 home basketball season will begin for Cisco Junior College's teams in a doubleheader program that will start at 6 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 17, at Wrangler Gym. Ranger Junior College teams will provide the opposition. The games will be Texas Junior College Athletic Conference contests.

The Lady Wranglers of Coach Ronnie Hearne will open the program against the Lady Rangers, playing at 6 p.m. Coach Dan Montgomery's Wranglers will take on the Rangers in the second game.

The new year will begin for the Lady Wranglers when they go to Altus, Okla., to meet Western Oklahoma JC in a game at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 13. Both Cisco teams have been idle since Dec. 19th.

Mike Moore Attends Course

City Manager Mike Moore spent Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in Austin attending a statewide short course on disaster work. The program covered tornadoes, floods, fires and the like and outlined procedures for obtaining state and federal assistance.

Department of Public Safety engineers served as inst. actors in the course that was designed to increase preparedness, Mr. Moore said.

"Rod Performance" At It's Best

How important is rod sensitivity? Whether fishing competitively or just for fun the folks at Berkley felt it to justify investing one million dollars last year alone. This enabled them to be the first rod manufacturer to make linear graphite.

What does "linear graphite" mean to you the angler. Less wight, low absorption of vibrations and most of all an increase in angler to bait contact. Most graphite rods, even high content graphites, have graphite fibers criss-crossing the blank. Why? To give graphite rods sufficient strength.

Now that's history. Keeping with Berkley's tradition, the new Berkley Series One rod is 100% linear graphite. Every graphite fiber, over 120,000 of them, run lengthwise tip to butt.

Berkley's Series One has all the finest qualities that assure rod performance. Both baitcast and spinning models have exposed blank construction for greater feel and sensitivity. Unique handle designs with built-in fighting butts provide better balance, more leverage and greater fish-fighting power. Berkley's Series One comes in 13 models designed for bass, walleye and other fish, including five casting models, four spinning models, three trigger sticks and one flipping model.

Over the past 2 months this reporter has had the pleasure of fishing with Berkley's Series One flipping model. The sensitivity of this new rod is excellent. During flipping one encounters many underwater obstacles as you know. The Series One gives better separation between these bumps and taps and those of Mr. Bass. And as stated above without losing rod strength. A recent lunker 5.80 pounds was landed was hooked and lifted in the boat almost in one motion.

But why not give Berkley's Series One your own test. It won't be just another purchase but an investment for years of successful fishing trips. And don't forget Berkley offers more than just rods; fishing line, fish attractants, sunscreens, outdoor accessories, fly fishing tackle, terminal tackle, ski tow accessories, marine accessories and one of the finest customer service programs in the business.

Cold weather bassin can be like looking for a needle in a haystack. A rule of thumb for winter bass anglers is that the likelihood of suspended bass is directly connected to the clarity of the water. In dingy water, for example, suspended fish are much rarer.

Sunlight, or lack of it can play a big role also. On cloudy, cold days, the fish may be much deeper, and right on bottom. But on days of bright sun the same bass may be high enough in the water to take advantage of penetrating sun rays.

As always the key is to be versatile for those who'll brave unpleasant weather, some unusual catches often can be made. It's simply a matter of finding fish.

Poetic Verses...

OUR TOWN

On an early Monday morning
You can hear the wind shifting
Through the trees
On a quite and peaceful street
Where no one seems to be around

The traffic lights blinking
On and off
Waiting for another day to start

When the little town comes alive
And the peaceful night comes to a halt

You ask the Lord in a silent prayer
That he will lead and guide you
And He will bless this little town
That His love and guidance will be around

When evening has come
And the sun is setting in the west
Another day is finally through
We feel we're among the blessed

Creative Arts Club To Sponsor Workshop

Ritz Needs Just A Little Push To Dazzle

The Ranger Creative Arts Club is sponsoring a watercolor workshop, presented by Ginger Test, watercolorist from Abilene. Ginger paints realism with a touch of impressionism. The artist enjoys painting a variety of subjects including flowers, wildlife, southwest landscape, figures, missions, Indian pottery, but her specialty is hummingbirds.

Ginger has been teaching art for the past four years. She has worked on display at the following galleries: in Abilene, Board and Palette (where she teaches classes), Gram's Thimble; at Hummingbird Originals in Fort Worth; and the Old Chicken Farm Gallery in San Angelo.

Mrs. Test has studied under such professionals as Talmadge Minter, Bill Hughes, Jon Birdsong, and Michael C. McCullough.

The watercolor workshop will be held January 23 (5:30 - 9:30), January 24 (9:00 - 4:00), and January 25 (1:00 - 4:00). The class will meet in the Gholson Hotel in Ranger. The three day workshop will cost $50.00.

The Ranger Art Club invites all persons interested in watercolor to attend. Prior experience in watercolor is unnecessary. The class will be limited to 12.

Please call 647-1796 (after 4 p.m.) or go by Grice's House of Color, Ranger Rexall, or Adam's Grocery to sign up and pick up a supply list. It will be a weekend of learning, new challenges, and fun.

From the Conrad Hilton Ave. sidewalk, just a few doors up from the Mobley which is a memorial to the man who began in Cisco, you'll step into a beautiful foyer, enter an elevator and be whisked away to back-in-time charm.

The one flight up will put you on the main floor of Puttin' On the Ritz, newest and brightest center for dining and entertainment; truly an evening-out experience.

As you step into the upper entry, you'll be surrounded by elegant antiques - as opposed to the horsecollar and butternut variety.

Polished wood, cut and stained glass, lush carpeting, original art, pillars and posts, and prized possessions to make your eyes roll.

And for the most part, you'll be seeing re-cycled treasures. Treasures from the finest old Eastland County homes and public buildings, which are finding new life and bringing new delight once again.

Solid doors from a demolished church. Reclaimed choir chairs from the same old building. Pillars cast from a mold of the solitary remainder from a public local park. Pressed tin ceilings. Light fixtures from another era but still glowing with bright hope for the future.

The many-windowed view in one direction shows you the restored Mobley. Another view overlooks a former lumber yard now find-ding vital new life as a public center for the arts and entertainment.

It started as a dream over two years ago - and it's within a whisker of becoming a reality for the citizens of this area, and as a magnet for visitors far and near.

Dan Wester, a builder and certified, qualified trader by trade, came to this area a few years ago, and immediately seized the dream. He has the expertise to secure rare and beautiful old things in dealing with razing companies and others in buying and selling those precious things which are removed from one location, and re-situated into new - either for private or public use.

He wanted to see old buildings saved, and then be able to put to good use those materials which were available to him.

When he learned of the Mobley renovation, he secured a building just up from it in historic Cisco, and went to work. He enlisted others of a like mind, and now there are a good number who have glimpsed his dream and are working to help make it a fact.

Well-known Ciscoan Ivan Webb is a prime mover in the effort and many others are a part of this exciting undertaking.

And the dream is so close. There's work to be done, but that people can afford."

It's been and is still a pay-as-you-go operation, so there'll be no debts to be serviced.

Once the doors officially open, it's going to be a non-stop event for Cisco and the people who visit Cisco.

Puttin' On the Ritz began with the restoration reconstruction of a two story building which once housed a hotel and auto dealership.

The upstairs is a nostalgic, elegant restaurant with very elaborate built-in antiques from this area. The cost of the work has been accomplished for about 30 percent of average, because Wester is a builder. The corporation has some stock remaining to be sold.

The 175-seat restaurant is alive with unbelievable original art, wall hangings and period pieces of furniture. There are also two small private dining rooms in addition to the main section which features a wood-burning fireplace.

A limited number of additional investors are still being welcome and additional information may be secured by contacting Wester at 817-442-4099, or by writing Puttin' On the Ritz, 409 Conrad Hilton Ave., Cisco, Texas 76747.

Singles Encounter Meeting Changed

The scheduled meeting of the singles encounter group for Thursday, January 8, has been changed to Thursday, January 15 due to a schedule conflict.

The first meeting of 1987 will be held at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, January 15, at the First Evangelical Methodist Church, Hwy 80 East, (across from the hospital) in Cisco. All area single adults 18-years of age or older are welcome. Whether you have never married, or you are widowed or divorced, this meeting is for you.

The group uses a group discussion format to help cope with life in the single lane.

I've Been Wrong Before

by Gordon S. Clark
But I couldn't understand whether a woman writing the editor of the Baptist Standard was being critical of the Annuity Board, the denomination or just crying out in anguish. Her brother paid in to the annuity fund for many years and gets a pittance, a mere $108 per mo. and when he dies his widow will get only half that amount.

Neither her letter nor the editors comment identified the true villain. It is not the church, the annuity board, nor anything but INFLATION.

I recall working at a service station in the mid 40s for $25 per week as did many others. However, a man in a slightly better job advised me that he was not going on vacation, buying a hunting rifle or getting his wife a fur coat but instead was putting his money in an annuity policy which would pay him 2 1/2 times what I was getting after he reached 65 and he intended to pass his twilight years in relative comfort.

Obviously he and I had been brought up on stories like THE ANT AND THE GRASSHOPPER. Unfortunately, that $250. per mo. he intended to live easy on will now hardly qualify that ant for a better place in the welfare line with all those grasshoppers. I fear that a bunch of weavels and grasshoppers have gained control of that industrious ant's food hoard. Nor will that little Red Hen enjoy eating that bread with her chicks if IRS continues to feed the ever increasing demands of politicians and other insects.

It seems that among men a government is necessary evil. A little extra emphasis on that word evil, please. Or maybe it is a case of "You can't afford it but you can't afford to be without it."

Several years back I argued with a politician about the cost of a project he was pushing. He said that I shouldn't worry about the cost of paying off the bonds because when they came due in 30 years inflation would have rendered their cost negligible. When I informed him that his inflation-salvation would also wipe out insurance, widows savings, and other such rainy day provisions he laughed and said, "So what?" I could have hit him I was so angry but I have never been charged with assault nor spent a night in the Cross Bar Hotel for any other reason YET. If we drift further, the World Government they are trying to foist on us may suddenly change that. Already I am expressing views which could land me in jail in such "free and democratic" counties as West Germany, England, Canada, or Israel. But I still think anyone who says inflation is honest, wise or desirable should be slugged hard enough to separate his ideas from his habits.

I still remember some more sage advice I got from old-timers during those mid 40s. "Now, young feller, don't you go paying $15 to $17.50 an acre for this land. It will go back down to $10. and $12. like it did after WWI and you'll be stuck."

I tried desperately to get a farm anyhow. What did I care what market prices were on land if I had it for a home and NEVER intended to sell?

Needless to say, the land didn't even drop slightly in price and by the time I gave up trying to get that assistance, hypocrites and sundry other miscreants claimed us disabled vets would get I paid $26. per acre in 1962 out of my own pocket. That house we built in Weatherford exactly paid for this farm. It was the perfect purchase agreement, 100% down and nothing a month the rest of your life. But it didn't have a house.

Trying to get a loan to build proved more frustrating still. The liar at Farmers Home Administration gave me such excuses as, "You don't own enough mineral rights," so I located and bought part. Then it was, "That place isn't big enough to be an economic unit."

So I applied for a job with Soil Conservation Service for which my education well qualified me but instead of getting that much talked of Veterans Preference I was turned down because of my disability. I protested to a politician but we got, "Any evidence substantiating this claim no longer exists as reject applications are destroyed after 6 months. He can apply again and we guarantee he will be given proper consideration regardless of disability. However, that opening was filled and we have nothing open at this time..." Needless to say, I had by then given up expecting anything whatsoever from the Federal bureaucracy but lies, red tape and run-around.

With my wife we built our house and God bless her heart she drove nails like a man. Needless to say also that I never accepted any Federal instructions on what to do with the place nor shall I.

The State of TEXAS, on the other hand gave me all consideration when I applied for a job with Texas Employment Commission. They were just trying to recover confidence of employers which had been absolutely devastated by following orders of one federal judge. Four years later came another order from one Judge Ritchie wherein we were required to read a list of 15 "rights" to each minority job applicant in English or Spanish as required (no mention of Chinese, Viet, Camer, German, or Jew) but it sounded much like a cop making a bust. Eventually I got tired of telling good workmen (Oh pardon, WORKMEN is sexist) so make that tired of telling good clients I had nothing to offer, and I quit.

From first to last, my boss was the finest. I had great misgivings because I had never hired out with a woman boss before. There I was, born with one woman boss, married another, and then took a job under another one.

Going nearly full circle, when I started drawing Social Security a couple years ago I got $208. a month. That seems to have made me $100. per mo. better off than if I had been a Baptist preacher.

Attacking The Crime Problem

By Bernice Prescott
It should be apparent to everyone that crime is creating a serious drain on our county's economy as the county's tax-payers can ill-afford this drain, should we not make a cooperative effort to address the problem?

To apply pressure on members of county government will solve nothing as they do not write the laws, nor issue the regulations but have sworn to uphold and enforce same, therefore our efforts must be directed to our state government, from whence all laws, rules, and regulations come.

Our State Representative, Jim Parker, and our State Senator, Bob Glasgow, are both aware of and sympathetic toward our crime problems. They are willing to help our efforts by representing them in Austin, but first we must have a definite course of action for them to present on our behalf. We should also recognize their voices are only two of many, representing the voices of other counties and facets of government.

The most pressing aspect of our problem is the mandate by the State's Commission on Jail Standards, to enlarge our present jail, even though we have not yet paid for a prior enlargement. There are ways and means by which the census of our jail can be reduced and maintained at that reduced level, without upsetting the balance of justice, i.e., crime and punishment, but the formulation and application of these plans will take time.

We can obtain that time in two ways:
1. Mr. Parker can ask for an emergency waiver on the date of compliance, which would allow county officials a little breathing space to implement reduction plans, or,
2. We can file an appeal of the Commission's ruling with the State Appeals Court, and the time between filing the appeal and its hearing before the Appeals Court should give County Officials even more time to institute the plans for reduction of the jail census.

A handicap in the battle against crime is the structure of County Government which was built in the writing of our State Constitution. Each office of County Government is an entity in itself, each working independently from others, albeit all working toward the same purpose or goal.

Would it not be feasible to ask our State Legislature to create an office in County Government which could act to correlate the activities of all offices in law enforcement or associated with, as in budget making, law enforcement? Could not such an office also eliminate those inadvertent and unintentional conflicts and misunderstandings which occur between the various offices of law and order?

Another aspect of the problem is that no matter which course of action chosen, it will cost money. If we have to increase the size of our jail every two years, how much will it cost the tax-payers?

If Federal Judges, unchallenged by their State Government or the people, continue to issue inequitable mandates with total disregard for State's Rights or rights of the people, then the cost of crime will bankrupt not only our county but our state.

Would it not be better to spend our tax monies, at least in part, regaining the rights of law-abiding tax-paying citizens which have been lost in the obsession for the rights of the criminal?

Would not re-establishing the balance of justice deter and reduce crime and thus reduce the cost of crime?

Treating the symptoms of crime, rather than the disease itself has resulted in an epidemic of crime and the monies spent on treating the symptoms is like pouring out tax-monies down the proverbial rat hole. We can't talk the crime problem out of existence, but with reason, cool heads, knowledge of the facts, and cooperation between citizens, law enforcement, and the courts, work within the system to solve the problem.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:
Would you tell Julia Worthy that her column in Sunday's paper made my day and I'm sure that many other readers applauded her words?

Have you ever considered adding an editorial page to your newspaper? I am aware that publishers of small town papers are dependent on advertising as the financial base for their publication, and this situation dictates that said publishers and editors walk on eggshells concerning political and social issues, but what about guest writer editorials with an editors note at the bottom that the opinions of the writer does not necessarily reflect the opinions of the publisher or editors? Then encourage participation by the readers through letters to the editor, with the condition that said letters concern the issue. Discussing the issues over coffee within a close group not only is ineffective for change, but there are probably some very valid, workable, and attainable solutions to problems expressed in those sessions which deserve consideration and possibly placed into ac-

Many are flowing with the fact that Texans are now enconced into offices of power in the House and Congress, but considering the miserable voting record of said politicians, I find no reassurance in their positions of power. What do you think?
Regards,
Bernice Prescott

PASS THE HIGHWAY BILL
As the new 100th Congress prepares to get down to business, let's hope that the intrigues of the Iran/Contra controversy do not divert attention from a pressing domestic issue: reauthorization of the federal-aid highway program.
This program, which helps the states finance needed road and bridge improvements, officially expired September 30, 1986 - a strange, and undeserved, fate for one of the few federal programs that is financed through user fees and does not add a cent to the federal deficit.
It's not that our road and bridge needs have disappeared. The Federal Highway Administration estimates that one million miles of U.S. roadway will require capital improvements over the next 13 years just to maintain serviceability. More than 250,000 bridges across the nation have also been classified as either "structurally deficient" or "functionally obsolete."

No, the sad fact is that the 99th Congress just didn't get around to completing action on a highway program reauthorization bill before adjourning last October for the 1986 election campaigns. The price of Congressional inaction could be high. Road construction is primarily a warm weather business. And, because road projects are advertised for competitive bidding, they require several months lead time before start up. The American Road and Transportation Builders Association warns that if federal highway funds are not released by the end of February, an entire road construction season could be lost in many northern states. ARTBA says an estimated 700,000 American jobs generated by the program at at risk.

As motorists, we finance the federal highway program - the tune of nine cents per gallon - every time we visit the gas pumps. Right now, we're not getting our money's worth. Putting this federal program back on track should be a first order of Congressional business.

Eugene Boyd Is New Director For Foster Homes In Texas

The Foster Home provides a place for children who come from stressful family situations. Financial support is provided by individuals, wills and estates and the Churches of Christ. The home has provided care for over 700 children and families since its beginning.

EUGENE L. BOONE

The Board of Directors of Sherwood and Myrtle Foster Home for Children of Stephenville is pleased to announce the hiring of Eugene L. Boone as Executive Director. Boone will replace Charles Hampton who has accepted a position in Chino, California. Boone came to Foster Home from the Abilene Boys Ranch in Abilene where he has been Executive Director for the past two years.

Boone assumed the position of Executive Director on January 1, 1987. Prior to his position with Boys Ranch, Boone had worked as the Chief Probation Officer of the 259th Judicial District; served as Director of Social Services at Medina Children's Home; and worked for the Texas Department of Human Resources as Child Protective Services Spec. II.

Boone holds a B.S. in Psychology from Abilene Christian University and has done graduate work at ACU and Sam Houston State University. Boone is also a certified Childcare Administrator and Certified Social Worker.

Foster Home for Children was established in 1959 by Sherwood and Myrtle Foster. The campus program is located on a 43 acre tract of land near Stephenville and is licensed to care for 70 children. Programs provided by the home include residential group care, foster care, adoption services, and counseling to families in the community. Foremost among the new programs is the Independent Living Program for older teenagers.

It has been said that in the early days of the Puritans in Massachusetts, their counsellors agreed "that the State of Massachusetts should be governed by God, till they had time to find a better ruler."

And the writer of Psalm 48 described a city that was governed by God. He reported, "Great is the Lord, and greatly to be praised in the city of our God, in the mountain of His holiness. Beautiful for situation, the joy of the whole earth, is mount Zion, on the sides of the north, the city of the great King. God is known in her palaces for a refuge."

great was not the beauty of her situation, but the blessedness of her Saviour. That which made her safe was not the abundance of her soldiers, but the almighty of her Saviour. God not only gives her citizens protection for their homes, but pleasure for their hearts. He guards the very house in which they call upon Him, and He gives gladness to those of the household.

He is the best citizen who is the best Christian. After what he owes to his Lord, nothing should be more dear to him than that which he owes to his land.

People n Things

THE YEAR 1987 is starting off good with indications that things are going to be better than 1986.

Mr. Wheatley is a local business man as well as head of the city government.

A NEW SEMESTER begins during the coming week out at Cisco Junior College. There are many opportunities for anyone interested in improving his or her education.

Jobless men, young and old, might consider the auto mechanics course at CJC. There is a good demand for auto mechanics and the pay is good.

Dr. Henry E. McCullough, CJC president, reports that everything is ready for the new semester.

CITY MANAGER Mike Moore and Water Superintendent Leon Boles planned to visit Battle Creek on Friday (Jan. 9) to check on things at the city's water pump station.

Battle Creek continues to run. Mr. Moore reported, "We feel that any contaminated water has passed our station but we want to be sure," he added.

NEW STATE laws move up the deadlines to file for city and school offices and these will be studied at the regular city council and school board meetings next Monday and Tuesday nights. The CJC and Cisco Public School boards will hold their monthly meetings Monday night, and the city council meets Tuesday night.

ONE OF THE ladies on the recent tour of Europe told us that in Paris she met folks from another state and they inquired: "Do you know the David Cummings of Gordon?" She was pleased to report that she did indeed and has a greeting for the DCs. Mr. Cunningham, by the way, is doing nicely after undergoing surgery recently. They used to live in Cisco. Mr. Jack Martin, one of the Europe trip leaders, is preparing an article for The Press about their 10-day tour.

DON'T BE TOO surprised if you hear that Dr. Ayres Cermin of our town has gone north for some snow skiing. Old Santa Claus brought him

Country Western Musical

The Country-Western Musical will be held at Cisco Corral Room on Saturday, January 10, beginning about 7 p.m. Everyone one is invited to attend, especially area musicians. There will be a concession stand.

a pair of nice snow skis for Christmas and, he says, he gets a bit eager everytime he looks at them.

The Cermin family has made a good many snow skiing trips to Colorado and elsewhere over the years but with their four children grown and gone it's not easy to promote such a family outing, he reports. Gretchen Cermin, who works over in Irving, and Robert and Patti Gorr and Craig Kent of Cisco returned home Thursday after enjoying snow skiing for several days at Angel Fire, New Mexico.

RANCHER J. V. Heysler was in Mexia on Thursday to attend a meeting of the board of directors of the Texas Angus Association. He is a former president of that group. Joe Heysler, son of the J. V. Heyslers, got home for a Christmas vacation. He drives a big truck rig over the USofA these days. During his holiday vacation, Joe went over to Ruidoso, N.M., for a weekend of snow skiing. David Callarman and sons Brian and Mark enjoyed three days of snow skiing over Ruidoso way last weekend.

HEARD ABOUT A young couple that went out on the town in Big D on New Year's Eve. They decided to take in a fancy looking restaurant for dinner. She ordered lobster, he a big steak, thinking the dinner check would be $30 or $40 or so.

It was a good dinner. The check arrived. The young man gasped as he looked. The young lady looked and gasped, too. The amount of their check was $160.00! And that would call for a tip of $20 or more! Understand they paid off and went home to recover from the shock.

FOR 25 YEARS or so, Al Anderson and Lloyd McGrew, local business men, have been the filming crew for CHS and CJC football games. They've made many trips to area cities to perform the filming chores. And Al usually drinks coffee at Dean Drug, the McGrew place of business, at least twice a day.

You can imagine Al's surprise last Saturday afternoon while driving east on I-20 some eight miles west of town when he saw Lloyd standing beside a burning car. The Andersons were returning from visiting relatives at Odessa and O'Donnell. Lloyd was returning home from Abilene where Dean Drug also has a pharmacy. And the McGrew car had caught fire—a blaze under the dash. Of course, Al stopped to render aid.

IF IT'S NOT too late (or too early) for a Christmas story, we'll quote an article that appeared in the "BY GEORGE!" column of the Tyler Courier-Times on Dec. 24. It was sent to Mr. I. G. Mobley of Putnam by the author, and Mr. IGM forwarded it to us. The column follows:

It must have been 10,000 years ago when we would pack up and travel 100 miles to the west of Fort Worth for Christmas at the home of Grandma and Grandpa Brittain in Putnam, Callahan County, Texas.

Santa always showed up in person. Sometimes he was scrawny, like I. G. Mobley, who lived on a farm to the north of Grandma's house. Other times he was fat, like Old Man Beard, who lived to the west.

Once, when we asked Aunt Bonnie Wayne why Santa Claus was skinny sometimes and fat at other times, she said sometimes Santa had "lean" years and other times he had "fat" years.

That is a sufficient answer to a lad who is almost 6 years old.

In any event, we believed. For one thing, Santa could be heard outside Grandma's house admonishing his reindeer—including Dunder and Blitzen—to "Whoa, boy, whoa!"

He also could be heard scraping the snow from his boots. It never snowed in Putnam, but when a lad is almost 6 and it's Christmas and it's Santa doing the scraping, it doesn't matter.

But the closer a lad gets to his sixth birthday, the more apt he is to fall in with bad company. Such as doubters. As a result, he may—however cautiously—raise a question or two about Santa Claus.

It didn't help any when Grandpa Brittain one Christmas was reading his Fort Worth Star-Telegram in his usual newspaper-reading position—seated in a straight chair pulled up close to his bed and the Star-Telegram spread out on the bed's cover.

That was the time he calmly announced that the Fort Worth Star-Telegram said Santa Claus had held up the bank at Cisco, a nearby town to the east.

That is the kind of news that can chill the blood of an almost-6-year-old lad. There was an immediate silence.

Aunt Bonnie Wayne finally said:

"Poppa, don't you think that maybe it was somebody just dressed up like Santa Claus?"

The tension eased, but

Grandpa Brittain wasn't buying. He said:

"That's possible. But Sheriff Tait has already told his deputies to shoot Santa Claus on sight."

It was a tenuous Christmas. But we survived.

And, in fact, the bank once was held up by Santa Claus one Christmas. But it turned out to be somebody who was dressed up like Santa Claus, just like Aunt Bonnie Wayne said.

people in the news

Connie Mayo and Mary Ann Jaramillo have just returned from Tacoma, Washington where they spent Christmas with Mrs. Mayo's son, Lee Jaramillo and family.

They traveled to Long Beach, Washington where they spent 3 days and 2 nights in a cabin, overlooking the ocean. Then they traveled to Olympia, Washington. There they toured Olympia Brewing Co., which was very interesting. While in Tacoma, they could stand outside of Lee's home and view Mount Rainier. It's height is 14,421 feet and covered with snow.

Lee, Peggy, Connie, Mary Ann, Nicole, Kyle and Christy had a wonderful Christmas and a Happy New Year. Connie and Mary Ann would like to say thank you to Lee and Peggy for their hospitality and most of all, their love.

Cisco Junior College 1986-87 Second Semester To Begin This Coming Week

McGruff Puppet Is Purchased For Primary School Classrooms

The well known McGruff Puppet program has been purchased with funds provided by seven Cisco service organizations for Cisco Primary School classrooms, it was announced by President Joe Cooper at the weekly luncheon of the Cisco Rotary Club last Thursday noon at the White Elephant.

The puppet program, which includes 26 cassettes covering such subjects as drug abuse, child abuse, good citizenship and good health practices, was purchased at a cost of $1,690 with funds donated by the Cisco Rotary Club, PADD and the Cisco Civic League.

Mr. Cooper said Texas Lions club has made the McGruff program a statewide project with the aim of putting it in all of the state's 48,000 school rooms.

Mr. Cooper presided at the weekly luncheon and Program Chairman Jerry Morgan introduced Ronnie Hearne, Cisco Junior College last Wednesday at the Clyde campus and on Thursday at the Abilene campus.

The first classes will meet as scheduled on Wednesday, Jan. 14. Dormitories were to open at 2 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 11, and the cafeteria was scheduled to be open at 7 a.m. Monday, Jan. 12, for the new semester.

Dr. McCullough said the outlook was good for enrollment at all campuses.

The calendar calls for freshman orientation at the Science Hall, Cisco campus, at 10 a.m. Wednesday. Another orientation session for freshmen is scheduled for 10 a.m. Friday, Jan. 16.

There will be a "welcome back" dance for students at the Student center at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 15. First day enrollment at Clyde exceeded 350 and at Abilene over 300, Director of Admissions Olin Odom reported. He expected between 550 and 600 students to register for the spring semester at the Cisco campus and for additional students to enroll at both Clyde and Abilene campuses.

Family Night Dinner To Be Held Thursday

There will be a family night catered dinner for members of the Cisco Country Club and their families at the club at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 15, according to an announcement. A game hour will follow the dinner.

Mrs. Irene Wende will cater the dinner and the menu will include spaghetti with meat sauce, a tossed salad and home-made bread. Members were urged to attend.

Chairman Louise Anderson said efforts were being made to contact all members. Those who may not receive calls and who
