

Mr. Muleshoe ...

By J. M. Forbes

Seen & Heard:
They say that young Dale Covert, high school student, has a surprisingly fine, versatile, strong, and musical bass voice. When he sang for the ladies at their luncheon here yesterday, they encored him. Muleshoe has many other fine artists and all are appreciated.

At the Press convention in Amarillo, Gen. Ernest Thompson gave a dinner to the newspaper folks and here are the meat items which were in plentiful supply, and from which supply you might help yourself: Fresh Texas shrimp en remoulade, pickled Bismark herring en wine, smoked Port Lock Salmon, roast turkey, roast whole ham, Texas steer, corned beef, larded leg of lamb, deviled ham, Columbia River salmon, seafood molds. The dinner was served "buffet a la Russe" and of course there were many salads, relishes, dressings, garnishes, eggs, cheese, fruit, etc. to round out your plate. It looked like a lot of food to an old boy who thought until he was 21 that it was agin' the law to have anything for supper except corn-bread and sweet milk.

Note to Mrs. Holt of The Journal staff: It is observed that in your write-up about the local P-T-A winning first on their yearbook it was not stated that The Journal printed this prize winner, and of course the president, Mrs. Herrington, would not want this omission to fail to be included. (I hear the chapter is claiming the prize came because of superior arrangement of material, not on account of superior printing. But it took good printers to follow copy, didn't it?)

Speaker at convention: One time there was a little moron about third class. But he had ambitions. As a boy he used to say he'd like to grow up and become President. He did.

As the baseball season opens one is reminded that two Muleshoe players, Don and Wiley Moore, are now on the same team, the Lubbock Hubbers. Don is a catcher, Wiley an outfielder and both wield a wicked stick at the plate. Us old timers are reminded that it is a ball playing family: as a young fellow, Wiley Moore, played at a time with one of the major league outfits. This summer, when the Hubbers are playing at home or anywhere near, you can figure where Mr. and Mrs. Moore will be found of evenings, and for that matter many other fans of this territory who know the boys will journey afar to watch them perform.

New High School Building Ready, To Be Occupied Coming Monday

The 1950 class of Muleshoe high school will be the first to graduate in the new high school building!

Members of the senior class began congratulating themselves on attaining this distinction when it became known Tuesday that the school board had accepted the new building from the contractor, and that school authorities are making plans to be in the new building by the coming Monday.

Morris Childers, school board president, said that the board voted Monday night to accept the building and that an order was issued for payment of the final installment on the contract price. Muleshoe high school will now have as its home one of the finest school buildings in the whole territory, as modern as it is possible for meticulous planning and careful execution can make it. It is the culmination of many months of work first begun by Supt. W. C. Cunningham and his board of trustees three years ago, carried to a successful conclusion by the present board members and superintendent, C. W. Grandy.

Board members have sacrificed their time, worked hard, to bring about the fine building the school will now move into. Furniture will be moved into the building during the week end and high school pupils will report to the new structure Monday.

Meantime, school officials were casting about for means to make passable streets of the streets about the building, which will have to bear much traffic beginning Monday. Recent hard winds have swept up loose sand on these streets, leaving many holes that will have to be filled. But, good roads men had streets moved into the new building will bring joy to the students, the faculty, the school officials, and to every patron of the Muleshoe school district.

FFA Judging Teams Compete

Five judging teams, representing the Muleshoe FFA took part in contests staged Saturday at Texas Tech, when 118 schools sent 1,020 boys to participate.

Willard Dement was hot shot from Muleshoe, winning first place in cotton grading and stapling. Billy Wayne Wagoner was fourth man in this same contest. Roald Johnson completed the team, which placed second in the entire contest. G. S. Dowell, Voc. Ag. teacher coached the cotton classing team.

The dairy products team from Muleshoe placed seventh and was composed of Lloyd Kriegel, Billy Morrison, and Frank Cox. The dairy cattle judging team was not in the high ten, its members being R. E. Williams, Marion Waggoner, and Charles Bratcher.

Muleshoe's poultry team was composed of Eugene Henry, Dwan Myers, and Budde Lane. In crops judging, results yesterday had not been learned, Edward White, Voc. Ag. teacher said. On this team were Charles Lewis, Ernest Ware, and John Nash.

Jesse Bartley Rites Were Held Here Tuesday

Jesse F. Bartley, a long time resident of Muleshoe, passed away Monday, April 17, at 1:30 a. m. in Green Hospital & Clinic where he had been a patient for some time.

Mr. Bartley, who was a veteran of World War I, had been a peace officer here until his last illness. He was born August 9, 1899, in Fannin County, Texas. He was a member of the Church of Christ. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Leona Bartley, Muleshoe; three sons, Leo Bartley and Gene Bartley, Muleshoe, and J. L. Bartley of Meadow; two daughters, Frances and Glenn Bartley of Muleshoe; four brothers, Willis Bartley, Burkburnett; Newman Bartley, Tahoka; Callaway Bartley, Tahoka, and Sears Bartley, of Tahoka, and three sisters, Mrs. Lillian Key of Amarillo, Mrs. Jewel Reed of Tahoka, and Mrs. Aline Rouse, of Corpus Christi.

Mr. Bartley was a son of J. I. Bartley, of Muleshoe, a veteran peace officer here. Funeral services were conducted at the Muleshoe Church of Christ Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 p. m. Interment was in Muleshoe cemetery under direction of the Muleshoe Funeral Home.

Plans Complete For Gilt Show

Plans are complete for the annual 4-H Club and FFA Boys Gilt Show to be held in Muleshoe Saturday May 6, with county club boys of Muleshoe, Bula, and Three Way showing.

It is expected there will be at least 25 gilts, Poland Chinas, Chester Whites, Hampshire, and Durocs. Edward White, local Voc. Ag. instructor said.

Gilts to be shown must have been born before November 1, 1949 and after August 1, 1949.

They will be judged by breeds and premiums will run approximately as in the local Fat Stock Show, and the money is in hand to pay these premiums. Each gilt shown will win a prize.

T. L. Leach, instructor in the agricultural education department at Texas Tech has been invited to be judge of the show here.

Water Districts Gain Interest

A revival of interest in underground water conservation, and in organizing one or more underground water conservation districts, is reported by the High Plains Water Conservation and Users Association.

With water conservation associations in 14 counties as associate members, the High Plains Association is taking the lead in an educational campaign on water conservation. The group estimates that 12,000 wells are now scattered over the 4 million acres of irrigable land which covers one huge reservoir in the High Plains area.

The increase in use of irrigation wells — it has more than doubled in the past decade — and continued new drilling activities are bringing pumping figures to a record high. A lot of farmers think it is time to start conservation, by proper spacing of well, by re-charging the reservoirs and by preventing waste, the High Plains Association reports.

They are talking about organization of districts because they know that it won't do any good for part of the irrigation farmers to save water if the rest of the well users keep pumping what is saved out of the same reservoir. They feel that any conservation program would have to be wide spread.

The High Plains Water Conservation and Users Association has county groups in Lubbock, Lamb, Bailey, Castro, Hale, Floyd, Swisher, Deaf Smith, Farmer, Randall, Dallam and Crosby Counties and the Petersburg Water Conservation Association.

Tornado Strikes In Watson Community

Bailey County was visited by a tornado Saturday afternoon, though few people found out about it, since their attention was directed to the destruction wrought near Whiteface by two tornadoes about the same time.

The farm home occupied by P. H. Sexton and family, a half mile east of Watson store, was demolished by a twister that struck about 6 p. m.

Here are shown two views of the result. Mr. and Mrs. Sexton and their four children were standing in the doorway leading out of the kitchen, frame of which is shown here. Had they been in the kitchen, it is difficult to see they could have escaped injury. Yet they all came through unscathed.

The Sextons had seen the approaching twister and had taken refuge in the four room house. Walls were torn apart throughout the house, although some of them are still standing. A garage, and with a small house behind it, located just west of the kitchen debris shown in the picture, was blown down and carried away. A large portion of the house or garage struck the big barn, leaving the big hole shown in the picture. The brick fire broke into two foot length chunks and lay scattered about the bedroom floor.

Some hail accompanied the tornado, but little rain was noted. However, mud was splashed so hard against the front walls that it could not be scraped away. Furniture and household goods were destroyed. The Baptist Church of Watson arranged for the Sexton family to move into the parsonage, vacant at the time, until a new house can be built.

Strangely, the windmill, located very near the house, was not blown down. Men of the community, interviewed Sunday afternoon by the Journal editor, said they had seen the progress of the tornado, but had not heard of any other damage inflicted.

Neighbors of the Sextons began Sunday afternoon to raise a fund to help the storm victims. Mr. Sexton said he had been on the farm only since January, having moved here from Levelland. He rents the place from the owner, Otis Burson, of Levelland, who had some insurance on the buildings. Mr. Sexton carried no insurance on his furniture or household goods.

The following list of donors to the relief fund was furnished The Journal Monday:

M. L. Fine $5; James Fine $5; George W. Fine $5; H. O. Huff Jr. $1; Garland Fort $1; G. D. Harlan $5; Roy Tunnell $10; C. M. Cole $2; W. F. Gable $5; K. K. Krebs $2; A. F. Mr. Sexton asked The Journal to express publicly the thanks and gratitude of himself and family to his neighbors who were so generous with their help and assistance following the storm.

Conservation Units Explained

by Waters S. Davis, Jr., President, Association of Texas Soil Conservation District Supervisors

Soil Conservation Districts are democratic organizations of grass roots. That is why so many Texans are becoming more and more interested in them.

In these days of increasing government regulations, it is important for everyone—farmers, ranchers, and business men—to understand what Districts are, who runs them, and what they do. It is easy to confuse them with one of the other agencies of the Department of Agriculture.

Under Texas law, Soil Conservation Districts were organized by vote of the local landowning farmers and ranchers. They are run by their Supervisors, who must be local, resident landowning farmers and ranchers elected to office by their neighbors. With no power of taxation or eminent domain, the supervisors' responsibility is to coordinate all efforts, public and private, to the soil conservation task. This coordinated effort is developed on a district-wide basis by the local people themselves.

In everyone of Texas' now 156 Districts, covering nearly 90% of the State, there are some programs and Plans of Work, developed and written by the home folks. They serve as a guide to each District's operation.

With its program and plan of work as a basis for action, the District's Board of Supervisors is ready to go to work. As a rule, all State and Federal extension service and the Department of Vocational Agriculture have a big educational job. PMA payments help landowners pay part of the help.

City Commission Guest of Jaycees

Mayor Harold King and Commissioners Jim Cox and Loyd Roberts were guests of the Muleshoe Jaycees at their regular luncheon Monday night.

Approximately 20 members heard Mayor King outline the affairs of the city and tell of the various problems which were confronting the new city commission. King said the city revenue in 1949 consisted of a little more than $20,000 in taxes and of this amount, one-half was put into a sinking fund to retire bonded indebtedness. The other city revenue came from water and sewer receipts, which were approximately $39,000, but part of this amount went into another fund to take care of the same and voted for water and sewer expansion and improvements. He said the city was limited to what it could do with this limited source of income.

This revenue will just about pay for the operation and maintenance of city utilities and if more is to be done the city would have to find an additional source or sources of revenue.

When asked by the Jaycees if he favored granting the telephone company the increase in rates they had asked for King replied he was not in favor of granting the request until he could be certain the city was getting something in return. He said officials of the telephone company had promised better service, but were not willing to make a signed statement to what the improved service would include when this would be. He said the district manager of the telephone company would not sign an affidavit saying that the figures released by the phone company stating they were losing money on the Muleshoe system was taken from an audit of the company's records. Until such time as he felt the city would receive more benefits from an increased telephone rate, he was not in favor of granting it to them.

He referred to the swimming pool as a "hot potato" because in the fund there was left little more than $300 to do several thousand dollars worth of work required to put the pool in operation. Needing to be done yet is the fencing of the pool, build dressing rooms, connect them with the sewer, buy wire clothes baskets, install flood lights for the pool and build a drainage system to the football field.

King and the other commissioners answered various questions asked by members of the Jaycees and in ending his talk, stated that it was going to take the cooperation of all persons in town to develop an efficient city government which was fast developing into a big business trying to keep up with the growth of the town.

Roy Howard gave a report on the State Convention attended by a trio of local Jaycees in Ft. Worth last week. His report included the various activities of Jaycees in other towns in the state and the election of state officers at the convention.

The next regular meeting will be Monday night, May 1, and any young business man who is not a member is invited to attend.

ON THE SPOT

(Submitted to The Journal by the High Plains Water Conservation & Users Ass'n.)

High Plains farmers are on the spot.

They successfully conducted a long fight to gain local control of underground water which supplies 12,000 irrigation pumps scattered over four million acres of farmland in the High Plains. Obviously, the fight ended in victory when, in the spring of 1949, the Texas Legislature passed the Underground Water Conservation Law, which gives underground water rights to individual landowners and provides the means for conserving it.

Secure in their ownership of the water, farmers have neglected to carry out the conservation provisions of the law. Decline in the underground water level in some areas has been slight, and the need for conservation regulations is not deemed urgent at this time.

At recent hearings of the Water Code Committee, a group set up to study Texas water laws and report recommendations to the next Legislature, proponents of state control have renewed attacks on the present law. At hearings in Austin, El Paso, Stamford, and Pecos, many witnesses testified that they thought the state should set up some kind of agency with broad regulatory powers over water uses, similar to the powers of the Railroad Commission over oil and gas.

Plains farmers rallied, and on March 20, about 400 showed up at another hearing, in Amarillo, and gave a standing vote of support to the present law.

That's how the farmers got on the spot. Their representatives, questioned by Code Committeemen had to admit that not a single underground water conservation district had been formed since passage of the law. They had to admit that the conservation provisions of the law are in the hands of the district and don't apply unless a district is formed.

The Water Code Committee adopted a "watch and wait" policy, indicating their willingness to let the present law have a chance to prove itself.

Meanwhile, advocates of state control of underground water have dragged out their old arguments: "water is water" and the same laws which apply to surface water should apply to underground water. They charge that the local control law is unworkable in that its conservation provisions cannot be carried out.

The farmers are now in a position where they must organize a district, they must apply control measures simply to prove it can be done.

By their inaction, High Plains farmers are running the risk of losing control of their water. If they fear regulation, they should pause to consider the fact that self regulation would be far better than state regulation. They should also ponder the possibility that under state control, underground water might be prorated on a priority basis in the same manner that the state prorates surface water . . . with municipalities and industries getting precedence over irrigation.

At the present time there is little risk of the water running out but there is some danger of control being taken away if the farmers don't prove that they can handle conservation without the state's help.

They should get off the spot and get on the ball.

BABSON DISCUSSES FAILURES

NEW YORK CITY, April 14.—A little business of their own. If you can keep out of debt it gives security and health. You have no fear of being "fired" or laid off on account of mistakes of the management. If your little business turns out not to be good, it then will be your fault, and not your employer's fault. You know that some of your competitors always do well.

WHAT THE BIBLE TEACHES
Whether or not this is the time for a young man to leave a good job and go into business for himself, is debatable. The Good Book says there is a time for everything (Read Ecc. 3:1, to 8), which includes a time to buy and a time to sell. God gives us a brain to use. Let us not try to buck His law of Supply and Demand.

This does not mean that we should not push forward. We all should help the world's great problem of how to provide the needs of all in the midst of plenty. So long as any able person is willing to work is unemployed while the government is dumping potatoes into the sea, there should be opportunities for shopkeepers and salesmen to bring these loose ends together. This is the kind of "socialism" and "planned economy" in which everyone should believe.

WHAT STATISTICS TEACH
To perform the above service requires character, brains, industry, and some capital. Statistics indicate that a large number of those who have gone into business for themselves since World War II must have lacked one or more of these requirements. I say this because 60,000 fewer firms are operating today than a year ago. It is estimated that today there are 200,000 fewer concerns - mostly among the small retailers, service operators, etc., than in 1946. That this is true, in spite of the increased population and the fact there is more money about than ever before, indicates something is wrong.

The above is not only a disappointment to nearly a million people including employees but to the owners of a large number of vacant stores, unused plants, idle trucks; all of which are the result of these failures. Those who have been forced out of business are, moreover, both disappointed, and perhaps bitter. They feel that America should not permit such sad results in the world's best country.

FAILURES ON THE INCREASE
Every month my statistical experts compile for comparative figures on over thirty basic business barometers. In my forty years of studying business conditions I have always said the most significant figure is that for Business Failures. Heretofore a very low failure figure has indicated excellent present business conditions; but such figures usually forecast that business troubles are coming.

With double the national income, failures have during the past ten years actually been less than before 1940. But at last we see a change for the worse. The greatest increase in bankruptcies is in retail store field where there has been an increase in failures of 12 per cent. In the case of manufacturing this figure is 9.4 per cent; while in mining, farming, etc., there are 5.4 more failures. Although the failures in the retail field show the greatest increase, yet enough new firms come into being so that the total is now only 2 per cent less than at the peak.

We wish to thank everyone that was so kind to us in our sorrow. May God bless you all.

Bradstreet in New York City. There is one cheering feature to these figures. The bankruptcies were not all among young G. I.'s. In fact, 70 per cent of them were of old concerns which had been dying of dry rot for many years. With age comes poor health and a loss of energy. Young men have this energy which we older ones lack. This is worth more than capital or customers. Hence, no young people should be discouraged by the above figures on failures. But I do say that if you now have a good job, hold it and make the most of the opportunity it gives you to learn. This is not the time to start in business for yourself.

Boys Ranch Is Teaching Trades

When it comes time for a mane trimming session at Boy's Ranch in Amarillo, the job usually falls to one of the boys in the tonsorial department of the Ranch vocational school.

Several of the older boys are learning the barbering trade, and with over 120 victims to practice on, they are becoming quite proficient. Only the art of shaving is neglected at present because no staff member is willing to risk an ear or scalp's apple.

In addition to barbering, the boys at Boy's Ranch have the opportunity to learn carpentry, automobile mechanics and shoe repair. The list of trades being taught is small but it is hoped that a vocational school can be built in the very near future.

TROUBLE IS MY BUSINESS

Yes, there is a part of your Public Service Company that makes a business of trouble! It's not too difficult to be dependable if everything goes just right. But we like to be dependable 24 hours a day, 365 days a year... in sleet, snow, rain, or wind.

Thanks to our linemen—ever alert for trouble—even the worst storm interrupts electric service only briefly. Working under every weather condition, day or night... these men make it possible for us to be dependable in providing low-cost electric service to you.

SOUTHWESTERN PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY

33 YEARS OF GOOD CITIZENSHIP AND PUBLIC SERVICE

RAP your fist against these stout bars—feel the gauge of the bumper stock they're made of—and you know you've got stout protection here.

But then figure:

Here are nine bumper guards (not counting the two that hold the parking lights) so that's one extra item you needn't buy.

And each is individually replaceable—if damage should occur you have only a simple part or two to replace, instead of a complete, cast-metal grille.

Thus this stunning new design—freshest front-end style note on the highways—protects your pocketbook as well as your car.

Avoids costly repair bills as it avoids "locking horns" with the car ahead. Cuts upkeep as it cuts inches from the car's total length, thus making parking and garaging easier.

What you really have here is a four-way forefront. A design that sets the coming style note—avoids many a tangle with the car ahead—makes handling easier—and costs less to repair.

And note that parking-light lenses, made of plastic and set deep in recessed sockets, are well out of harm's way—even when pushing a stalled car.

You'll find this bold front end only on Buick—as you'll find Fireball power, Dynaflo Drive,* Buick's wonderful ride, and many another headline value only on these beauties.

Why not see your dealer now for the whole story—including the happy story on prices to fit practically any budget?

Cox Drive - In Opening Is Slated For Tonight Or Friday Night

The long-awaited opening of the Cox Drive-In As-U-R will possibly be tonight, and if not, will definitely be open Friday night, Howard Cox, one of the owners announced today. Builders of the theater are D. E. Cox and Howard and Gene Cox.

Opening picture will be "Once More My Darling" and stars Robert Montgomery and Ann Blyth with Jane Cowl and Taylor Holmes in supporting roles. It is a rollicking comedy from start to finish. See what happens when this gent (Robert Taylor) meets nineteen year old dynamite (Ann Blyth.) This is a first-run picture for Muleshoe.

Also on the screen for the opening night will be a color cartoon and other selected and interesting short subjects.

A prevue was held Wednesday night to align the projection machines and adjust the sound equipment. Several persons were on hand to witness the trial run.

All new RCA projection and sound equipment will be used throughout the theater. Individual switches control the sound for each parking ramp, and in case one short circuits, it can be cut off from the rest of the speakers without interfering with the show.

A snack bar will provide hot dogs, pop corn, cold drinks, snow cones and various other concessions for the theater patrons. As a special favor to mothers wishing to bring their small children to the show, a bottle warmer in the snack bar is provided for their use free of charge.

Admission prices will be 40 cents for adults and nine cents for children under 12 years of age. The theater will accommodate more than 300 cars.

Ladies' and men's rest rooms are located near the center of the drive-in in the same building as the projection room and snack bar.

The Coxes wish to express their thanks and appreciation to all who have helped in the construction of the theater and having it ready to operate in such a short time. They also extend a cordial invitation to all persons in the Muleshoe area to their grand opening either tonight or tomorrow night. Several first run movies for Muleshoe have been booked for the future and you will always find good clean entertainment available. You don't have to dress up to come, just get in your car and drive out the way you are.

First words spoken over the telephone were, "Watson, come here, I want you" spoken by Alexander Graham Bell to his assistant.

Theater Erected By V. M. Collins

Construction of the Cox Drive-In As-U-R was under the direction and supervision of V. M. Collins Construction Company of Muleshoe. This company rushed the work to completion in little more than three weeks after actual construction began.

Construction of the large screen was delayed somewhat by a number of severe sandstorms and high winds, but was completed the first part of the week and was painted Wednesday morning for the test run Wednesday night.

Besides the screen, the fences, ticket booth and larger stucco building housing the projectors, snack bar and rest rooms were also built by Collins.

Mrs. D. Gulley Host, April 4 To Progress HD Club

Mrs. Davis Gulley entertained the Progress Home Demonstration Club April 4. The president called the meeting to order and gave the inspirational devotional.

During the business meeting the report was given and discussed. A committee was named to plan entertainment for the Commissioners' supper. Enoch's invitation to hold the supper in the Three Way lunch room has been accepted but the date has not been set.

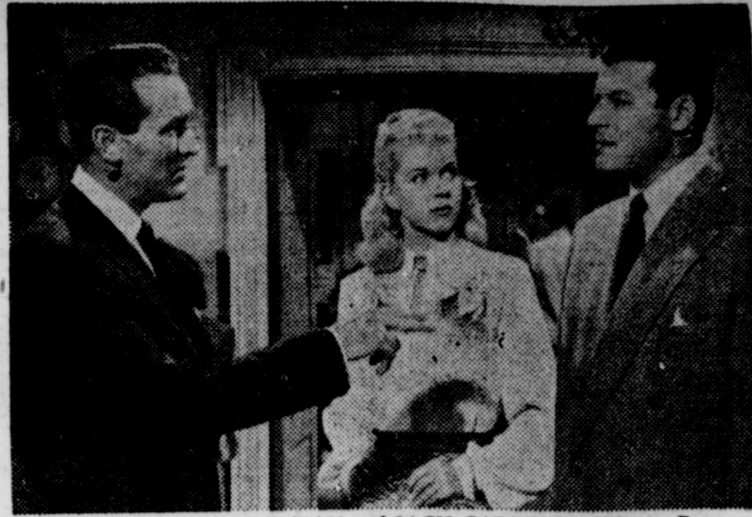

The club voted to endorse Mrs. G. T. Maltby, our district vice-president, for state treasurer at the district meeting to be held in Littlefield April 25.

Mrs. Maltby gave a program on insect control and recommended as reference State Bulletin C-264. Probably this can be obtained from Mr. Adams' office. General discussion on insect control followed.

A discussion of the State Institution at Wichita Falls was held.

The Club will meet with Mrs. Ed Gulley in a program on "courage making" May 2, 1950. Roll call is to be answered by naming your favorite flower. The club voted to fine each member who did not answer roll call with the correct topics.

There were thirteen members and one visitor present.

LEE BOWMAN, DORIS DAY and JACK CARSON in Warner Bros. musical, "MY DREAM IS YOURS," in color by Technicolor.

Cox Drive - In As - U - R To Present Feature Attractons Next Week

Showing Sunday and Monday nights at the next Cox Drive-In As-U-R is a technicolor musical, "My Dream is Yours," starring Doris Day, Jack Carson, and Lee Bowman with a cast of well known supporting actors and actresses. This is a Warner Bros. production. Jack Carson plays the part of a talent scout trying to find a new singer to replace Gary Moore (played by Lee Bowman) who has signed a contract with a larger radio show.

He finally locates Doris Day singing in a "quarter record bar" in New York City and persuades her to come to California for an audition for this large account of his firm which books radio programs. There is only one hitch to Jack's plans and that is Doris' 4-year old son who seems to be in everyone's way. His daddy was killed in action in the war.

At the audition, Doris falls head over heels in love with Bowman and carries the torch for him throughout the show. Jack plays the part of a guardian and often-rejected lover.

They fail to get the contract after her audition and try for bookings in all the various clubs in the city with no success. While she is singing her son to sleep one night, Jack discovers that she has been singing the wrong type of songs. After changing her style, she lands the contract and the movie ends in a pleasant but surprise ending.

"Larceny" is the name of the thriller that is showing Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. It stars Dan Durea, John Payne, and Joan Caulfield. It is a Universal-International production.

Thursday and Friday will bring a movie that should be of interest to people in this area as it was filmed in Texas' own Palo Duro Canyon less than one hundred miles from here. It is the "Sundowners" with Robert Preston in the leading role. Cathy Downs and John Barrymore, Jr., play supporting roles in this film. Color is by Technicolor and it is one of the leading high-class westerns to be produced last year.

Added attractions each night will be a swell array of shot subjects such as color cartoons, latest news, and other selected short films of interest to movie goers.

Other lists of attractions appear in the theatre calendar on another page in this issue.

Carthel Co. Builds Parking Ramps

The parking ramps, driveways, and land-levelling of Cox Drive-In As-U-R was done by the Ed Carthel Construction Company, a local firm specializing in all kinds of earth construction work.

The parking ramps which will accommodate more than 300 cars were especially built to insure unobstructed vision from both the front and rear seats of cars.

These ramps have been soaked and packed by heavy machinery until they are almost as firm as concrete to prevent cars from sticking in the theater in rainy weather. The driveways and entrance have been covered with caliche to make all-weather roads and insure theater patrons no trouble in entering and leaving the drive-in.

FOUNDATIONS FOR OUR FAITH

THE CHURCH

By Rev. T. G. Craft

The Church has a mission to perform for both God and the members. The mission is a divine mission, and it is in this divine respect that the church is different from all other institutions. It is the church, and will perpetuate it in the history of mankind.

What is the mission of the church? Her mission is to impart to its members certain great truths that are not to be had otherwise. These are truths about God and the destiny of man. God is the Creator, and preserver of all mankind, who will trust in God and follow God's instructions. God has made all things, including man, and therefore, He is the sole owner of all things and man. Man is a creation and a citizen of this world. But doctrine of God teaches us that man has immortal elements in the nature of his soul and not in the nature of his body. The soul is that eternal part of man which man cannot destroy. It is made up of substance and that substance is a form of energy.

If man's soul is to be redeemed, then man must work with God in this redemption. Jesus Christ came to show men how to find redemption. He became the truth, the way, and the life not only for himself, but as a pattern for all mankind. He who seeks to climb up some other way is as a thief and robber. He cannot succeed in finding life except as he follows the pattern of life which Christ so completely experienced. No man can enter into this redemption without effort. He must by faith appropriate the divine elements which are in God and must come from God.

The reason why so many people will join the church after making a profession of faith in Christ is due to the fact that many protestant churches teach and believe that salvation is completed in one single experience of God's grace which is commonly known as a new birth. The fallacy of this conception of salvation lies in the fact that salvation cannot be a completed act once and for all time. There is no period to one's salvation. It must be as continuous as life. It is a process and continues. What we know as conversion, and a new birth are not quite the same thing. Conversion means that an individual changes his sinful way of life for a better and righteous way of life. But even a converted man is not a perfect man. He is a believer, and it means that this man has started on the Christian way of life. The new birth is not a completed faith and will work at the job of becoming a child of God.

The word translated new birth is "egeneto" in the Greek and means to become. St. Paul addresses the Phillippians as a group of people who are being saved and He makes it a process. Good men find themselves constantly and daily being redeemed. Man discovers in the process of the Christian life that he is getting rid of one sin at a time and that he is adding a measure of grace at a time. But no man of the faith will hardly affirm that he has reached sinlessness to say nothing about reaching perfection in God's fullest measure of grace. There are so many unknown sins in the lives of the saints to make it impossible for them to claim perfection. So long as man has even unknown sin in his life (but it is known to God), he cannot say that he is a finished product of grace. Therefore, men need to see that salvation is never just one act of faith. It is just the beginning of an endless faith if he remains faithful.

If a church member believes that an act of conversion makes him an eternal son of God, he will not see any further value in attending church. If a man is to grow in grace and knowledge of the truth, he must be in a position where he can contact the grace of God. After all, the church (A group of true believers anxiously trying to do the will of God) in its humility and faith in God are able to appropriate more and more of the graces of God to themselves and at the same time create an atmosphere for unbelievers to see and believe. The church is expected to confirm the gospel in her experience.

Millions of church members habitually absent themselves from the church year after year. Why do they do this? If the church members really knew and believed that he must attend the church in order to continue to become a Christian, and without it they would fail; then such members would become more interested in seeing that the church does have something to offer them.

Many people argue that they can be just as good Christians by absenting themselves from church as by attending. I have often wondered how they could, since no man has anything in his private possession to make him good. If God could make a man just as good without the church as with it; then why did He establish the church at all? Why all this ado about the church?

If you wanted to become a doctor, you surely would not attend a law school; if you wanted to become a farmer, you would not attend a medical school; therefore, if you want to become a Christian, you would not attend a 'Night Club', or a medical school or even a law school. You must be in an environment that will contribute to what you are becoming if you are to ever become. Therefore, as a matter of common reasoning, it is obvious that God established church for man in order to meditate His grace to men seeking to become Christians.

Obviously nine-tenths of church members who move from one community to another will not join the church of their own accord when they move into this new community. Why? There are several minor reasons but the major reason is that they do not think much of the church. To them the church has not meant much and they feel it will be the same thing again. Until our church people come to see that the church can mean and should mean a great deal in making them a Christian, they will continue to skip it.

The shame of this situation lies in the fact that many of our people have been taught to believe that conversion is salvation once for all and they do not need further grace. Conversion is his decision to do God's way and the New Birth is an act which must be repeated day after day, or rather it is a continuous faith which brings more and more grace day by day into one's life. Ask the man who has lived for fifty years in the church and has really worked at the job, if he feels that he has become the man he ought to be in the Christian faith, and see what he says. Personally I have never found a man who would affirm that he got to be a Christian in just one act of faith. Through many trials and temptations, men walk life's way toward a better life. St. Paul said that he was reaching out for that prize of the high calling which was in Christ Jesus.

The sins of the church members are too obvious to be passed. There are many sins other than those Moses taught in the ten commandments. Church members constantly commit the sins of hate, jealousy, back biting, cynicism, malice, revenge, envy and downright stultification. These are sins of the most destructive nature and they will do today exactly what they did in Jesus' day. These are the sins that crucified our Lord and they are the sins that are still crucifying both the Lord and His church. The church needs Christians for her members, and not a group of Pharisees with their self-righteousness.

If one is born of God, he is either a perfect child of God, or he is one who has growing birth into righteousness, and at the same time out of his sins. The history of the church convinces us that even the best church members have their sins, known or unknown. The church can do more to help its members improve their spiritual lives than any other institution. There are sinners in the church, and they need the constant saving grace of God. If church people are all as good as they would have the world believe; then let them prove their goodness in their daily lives, and in their attitude and loyalty to both men and God.

Don't I Help Pay for Telephone Expansion?

Telephone companies are not allowed to charge enough to pay for expansion. Funds for this purpose must come from investors—everyday folks who put their money in telephone stocks and bonds.

Our revenue from telephone rates allows us only enough to pay operating expenses like wages and taxes, and to give investors a reasonable return. Thus, today's efficient service and tomorrow's expansion demands a business operation which must be both progressive and financially sound.

things off promptly at 8:00 p. m. Also a number of solos and ensembles were presented by various members of the Junior High Band.

Handling Tips Offered In Hatching Egg Work

Tips on handling hatching eggs have gone out to farmers from several extension service sources. In the main, farmers are urged to pack such eggs in cases with the small end down, and, if these eggs are marketed twice a week, it will not be necessary to turn them. If hatching eggs are to be stopped for a short time, the advice continues, keep the room temperature between 45 and 60 degrees.

Social Security IS Insurance

Do you know how much life insurance you have? John G. Hutton, manager of the Lubbock social security office, says that several thousand families in this part of Texas have more life insurance than they realize.

For instance, one young worker added up his life insurance policies and told his wife that he had $30,000 worth of life insurance. His wife smiled and said, "You're wrong, dear, counting your Federal old-age and survivor's insurance, you have about $20,000." She was right, too. She had figured out the amount of social security benefits she and her two children would get from the Social Security Administration in case of her husband's death. Of course, the amount could be less depending on the age of the children and the husband's earnings.

According to Hutton, your social security account is like an insurance policy in many ways. When your social security tax is taken from your pay check, you are paying in advance for retirement insurance or protection against part of the financial loss your family would suffer when you die.

Information about this Federal Insurance plan can be secured at any social security office, Hutton stated. Persons in Muleshoe may see Hutton on his regular visit to the Muleshoe post office at 9:30 a. m., April 26, or write direct to the Lubbock Social Security office.

Early Treatment Of Cancer Can Save Many Lives

HOUSTON, April 17—If available means for diagnosis and treatment of cancer are adequately used, a great saving of lives can be affected.

That is the opinion of Dr. R. Lee Clark Jr., director and surgeon-in-chief of the University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital for Cancer Research.

Dr. Clark says successful use of those means are dependent on the following factors:

1. Dissemination of exact knowledge about cancer to the public at the community and individual level.
2. Realization by individuals of the need for immediate action if warning signs of cancer appear.
3. Knowledge that every physician's office is an actual and potential cancer detection center.
4. Insistence that primary treatment must never be a compromise but be adequate and radical, if necessary, with all removed tissue being examined by a pathologist.
5. General availability to the patient to the cancer team—pathologist, internist, roentgenologist, and surgeon.
6. Assumption by both the physicians and the general public of personal responsibility for being alert to, and conspicuous of, signs of early cancer.

State Fair Will Pay Reward For Flying Saucer

The State Fair of Texas has posted a reward of $50,000 for the first authentic "flying disc" of interplanetary origin to be discovered and delivered to the State Fair origin in its original physical form, exhibit at the fair's gigantic 1950 Mid-Century Exposition Oct. 7-22. "This offer does not mean that we either believe or disbelieve in the interplanetary flying disc reports," said R. L. Thornton, president, in announcing the reward "but if there is such a thing, it is only fitting that it be exhibited at the biggest state fair in the nation since the State Fair of Texas has always tried to bring to its vast audience the first information of any new and important scientific development."

Rules of the offer will be drawn up in legal form and filed with the Dallas County Clerk. In general, they are as follows:

1. The State Fair of Texas will pay $50,000 to the first person or group of persons who delivers to State Fair Park in Dallas an authentic flying disc of interplanetary origin in its original physical form.
2. The reward will be paid only if and when the authenticity of the flying disc in question as a vehicle or space-ship of interplanetary origin has been determined or vouched for by a committee of scientists selected by the state fair from leading universities of the state of Texas.
3. That there shall be no appeal from the decision of this committee of scientists.
4. The offer shall expire Oct. 1, 1950.

Reports of the flying discs have increased greatly during the past few months. Thousands of people have claimed to have seen the "discs" or "saucers." However, no one has yet produced an authentic flying disc or saucer.

The U. S. Airforce, after investigating most of the reports, has announced that the majority are the result of hallucination or misage, over-vivid imagination or of such things as weather balloons, jet planes or the planet Venus. However, among the sightings have been some the Air Force has not been able to explain at all.

Mrs. J. J. Gross Is An Outstanding Bailey County HD Club Member

(This is the first of a series of stories about outstanding H. D. club women in Bailey County. Others will be printed in later issues.)

One of the outstanding members of the Progress Home Demonstration Club is Mrs. J. J. Gross. In the summer of 1935 two community clubs met in the home of Mrs. Gross and combined into a home demonstration club, called the Triple-T Club. Miss Vera Baker was elected the first president of this first home demonstration club, under the leadership of Miss Alma Stewart, the Home Demonstration Agent.

Mrs. Gross became a charter member of the new Triple-T Club and attended every meeting without missing for seven or eight years. She has been an outstanding member of the club. Later the name of this club was changed to the Progress Home Demonstration Club.

While acting as sponsor of the 4-H Club girls for three years, Mrs. Gross helped raise money and took the girls to Ceta Canyon two different years. "I certainly enjoyed working with the 4-H girls until ill health prevented it. I did all I could for and with them," says Mrs. Gross. Her work with the 4-H girls hasn't ceased, for in spite of ill health, she still helps whenever possible with the girls. During the time she sponsored the 4-H girls, Doris Bearden of the Progress community was an outstanding club girl.

The highlight of her work with the girls for Mrs. Gross was a trip she took with the two girls from Bailey County to College Station. While there, the sponsors spent a day in Galveston, which was a thrill for Mrs. Gross and the 21 other sponsors.

Other trips that Mrs. Gross has especially enjoyed as a club member were the ones to Santa Fe, Taos, and Ruidosa, New Mexico.

Mrs. Gross has served the club as Council delegate and alternate delegate for several terms. She has entered exhibits in the club fairs and has won several first prizes.

Mrs. Gross says that she has enjoyed all her club work and has profited much from the supervised training she has received as well as from the association with many fine women of the county and the splendid Home Demonstration Agents.

Among the members of the Progress Club she is well-known for her cookies, made from a recipe and demonstration given in the club.

Many Fish Seen Hunke's Aquarium

One of the newest attractions in Muleshoe is Tom Hunke's aquarium located in Harper's Appliance Store. Mr. and Mrs. Hunke established this aquarium a short time ago here in Muleshoe and now have about 300 fish ranging in size from one eighth inch to three inches, with coloring from drab to brilliant reds.

The Hunkes brought their fish here from Chicago where they have had about two years experience in working with fish. Mr. and Mrs. Hunke started this kind of work several years ago when they were given about twenty fish. They raised them as a hobby for some time and then finally decided to raise fish as a business.

At the present time the aquarium is made up of the live bearers. These include the rainbow colored, Guppy, the blue green, Swordtail, the yellow Platys with reddish trimmings, the Moons which are a deep rich red and the cold blood colored Mollys. Much to the surprise of most people, these fish do not lay eggs but have their young alive.

Besides these fish, the Hunkes are expecting some new ones in at any time. Among these will be the beautiful and colorful fish, the Betta, or commonly known as the Simese Fighting Fish. As the name implies, the males will fight to death when put together. They have long, velvety draping fins and are cornflower blue, deep red and purple.

Another eye-catching fish is the Angel Fish, sometimes known as the King of the Fishes because of its rare exotic grace, their distinctive body and manners.

And then there is the Zebra Danio, named such because of the stripes on their body very much like that of a zebra. There are also those known as Bumble Bees—again named such because of their similarity to the bees.

The Hunkes have a very nice aquarium and this aquarium is something that all of you will want to see. Visitors, as well as hobbyists are welcome to see the collection at any time. Mr. and Mrs. Hunke are always very glad to answer the many questions that you will have to ask after looking at their fish.

Tom Hunke and his wife are planning to enlarge their collection and suggest that you come back every once in a while to see the new additions.

Soil Conservation

of soil conservation. The technicians of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, cooperating with the Supervisors, make detailed farm and ranch conservation plans with the local operators on farms and ranches as directed by the District Supervisors.

These farm and ranch conservation plans are the key to what many call the New Agriculture. They are developed with the owner to suit his operating needs as well as those of the land. When all the planning is over, the results are put on paper, with a map, and all details are then agreed to by the owner and the Board of Supervisors.

Operating in accordance with these plans, farmers and ranchers are discovering that it pays to treat the land according to its capabilities. Production per acre rises and unit production costs are lower. Owners find, too, that crops are higher in quality.

These are things that consumers in general and businessmen can understand.

Soil Conservation District Week—May 15 to 21—will give all Texans an opportunity to learn about this program of grass roots democracy that is going on in their midst.
