Lobo Team Members Begin Two-A-Day Workouts

Preparations for the 1987 football season began Monday at Cisco High School as 46 prospective members of the Lobo team attended the first workouts. Coach Buddy Sharp expected ten or more boys to join the squad before school begins in early September.

The workouts were being held at 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. this week with the players in shorts. Coach Sharp said the first week will stress conditioning with the team beginning to run plays by the weekend. Full uniforms will be used next week as the tempo increases.

"Our youngsters have a fine attitude and a lot of spirit," Mr. Sharp said. "We are looking forward to a good year."

The Lobo staff has a dozen players back from last year's traveling squad or "A" team and most of these players are expected to compose the backbone of this year's team. Most of the others out were on the junior varsity and freshman teams last year.

The Lobos will open the 1987 season in a game at Anson on Sept. 4th. The sale of season tickets for the four home games is expected to be announced soon. Those who held season tickets last year will have an option to renew their seats for another season. Home games will be played with Early, Roscoe, Dublin and Ranger.

The Lobos play in District 13-AA with Eastland, Ranger, Dublin, De Leon and Hico.

TWO-A-DAY- Two-a-day workouts began last Monday for the Cisco High School Lobos. Students will report for two-a-day the rest of this week and next to get ready for the 1987 football season. Students who are working out have reported that the new head coach, Buddy Sharpe, work the students hard, but it will be worth it when the season begins. (Staff Photo, courtesy of Cotton's Studio).

Wanda's Corner

by Wanda Hallmark

Herrel and I attended the West Texas Press Convention last weekend in Abilene. It was held at the Embassy Suites there. We went to the McMurtry Dinner Theater where "The Music Man" was playing. We saw several actors from the CJC Dinner Theater performing in the musical. We enjoyed it very much.

Herrel won second place for newswriting for The Breckenridge American at the convention. I'm so proud of him. I told him that I was going to tell everyone that I helped him write the stories. It's quite an honor to win an award there.

I saw Tommy Cross at Olney Savings on Monday. He graduated from Cisco High School in 1986. He is in the Army now and stationed in Washington D.C. He is back in Cisco on leave.

He said he is with the honor guards at the White House, and he has seen President Ronald Reagan a few times. As a matter of fact Tommy saw the President last week.

Tommy also said that Jeff Cathey, who is a graduate from Cisco High School is also stationed at Washington D.C. and so is a man from Breckenridge. So he gets to see a few familiar faces every once in awhile.

Bobby Ingram, who is an employee at the Cisco Post Office, and his wife and son, Peggy and Randy have just recently returned from a vacation in Colorado. Bobby said the temperature reached a high of about 74 degrees and the night temperature got down into the 40's there.

Bobby said they really enjoyed the trip and saw some beautiful country.

Janelle Schrader reported that a charter bus brought 42 guests to the Cisco Junior College Dinner Theater last week.

The group was with the First Comanche Bank 65 Club. Virginia Turner, who is the coordinator said the group really enjoyed the dinner and play.

Janelle said she saw a couple walking by the Hilton Community Center last week and asked if there was anything she could do to help them.

The couple, June and Ann Black, are from Bryan, Texas, where Ann is an opera teacher at Texas A & M University. They said they were visiting friends in Cisco and were just out walking around. Janelle told them about the play so they made plans to attend it.

Janelle said the couple thoroughly enjoyed the play and the dinner. She said the couple commented how they couldn't believe how attractive the table and decorations were.

My niece Margaret was really pleased last week when she received a package from home. There was a 48-page book enclosed called "The Oklahoma Anthology". It is a chosen group of poems and stories written by students from all over Oklahoma.

Margaret's story is called, "The Old Shoe And I". It says:

The old shoe on the shelf above the blackboard is a lot like me. The brown color of the shoe is remarkably close to the colors of my own emotions- drab and dull. I spend much of my time depressed and dreary. The old shoe is wrinkled as is my life. The wrinkles of my life would be the death of my mom and the car wreck that killed her, scarred my face, and broke my leg so badly I could no longer participate in sports. The shoe is ceramic and breakable. This often reminds me of how fragile my own emotions are and how brittle my grip on reality seems at times. This old ceramic shoe is also small. I, myself, am only five feet tall. This definitely makes for a small package. If this old ceramic shoe were a real shoe, then it would be walked on. Being walked on is all I've ever known. Everytime it happens, I say that I won't let it happen again, but it always does. One of the biggest things I see in that shoe that reminds me of myself is the tongue. It's hanging out like my own usually does. For example, whenever I see something appealing, my tongue just falls right out of my mouth. I guess I have a lot in common with an old, brown, wrinkled, ceramic walked-on, tongue-hanging out shoe. Oh, well... it was a shoe that made Cinderella a princess, wasn't it?

Margaret was a senior at Altus High School when she wrote the above paragraph.

Her mother, who was also my sister, was killed in a car wreck a little over five years ago.

When I stopped by the Community Gym to take pictures last Monday, my son, Lonnie Pevey was there watching the future Lobos with their two-a-day practice. I asked him if it brought back memories, and he answered, "Yea, bad ones."

Lonnie played football for the Lobos for 4 years and graduated this year from CHS and plans on attending CJC this fall, majoring in physical education.

Harold and Vernelle Reich, who own the Western Auto Store here in Cisco, are really getting excited now. Their son, Keith and his fiancée, Stacy Pope, will be married this Saturday, at the Redeemer Lutheran Church here in Cisco.

Vernelle said they have everything ready for the wedding and she would like to invite all their family and friends to the wedding. It will be held at 7:00 p.m.

Parents For Teens Dance To Be Held Saturday

The dance will be for Cisco High School students only and there will be a $3 admission charge, which will include soft drinks.

Definite rules have been established for high school students as follows:

Only high school students will be allowed to attend the dance.

Students may leave the dance at any time, however, once a student leaves they may not return. No drugs or alcohol will be allowed.

A spokesperson said, "High School parents should be assured that the dance will be well chaperoned and our definite rules will be followed. Please feel secure in allowing your teenager to attend our dance, and feel free to join us if you can."

For further information please call 442-3113, 442-4627 or 442-1080.

Grand Opening

GRAND OPENING- Cisco Electronics, is this area's authorized Zenith sales and service dealer. They are located at 611 East 8th, Cisco and they will have a Grand Opening this Saturday, August 15. Brothers, Rodney and Richard Vineyard, shown in the above photo, would like to invite everyone to stop by and look over their merchandise and to check out their sale. Richard said they now have a mini camcorder that fits in one hand. Their advertisement is in this issue of the paper. Richard said they will offer free VCR head cleaning for this Saturday only. Cisco Electronics are open Monday through Saturday, from 8:00 a.m. till 5:00 p.m. (Staff Photo, courtesy of Cotton's Studio).

Kindergarten Registration Is Set

Bob Lindsey, principal of Cisco Elementary School, has announced that kindergarten students who did not pre-register last spring may do so Friday, August 14, from 8:30 to 11:30 at the elementary school library.

Parents will need to bring the child's birth certificate and immunization records.

One Man Killed

Two Albany men were killed and another seriously injured early Saturday morning in a one-car accident about half a mile north of Cisco on Texas Highway 6.

David Dickson, 35, the car's driver, was pronounced dead at the scene by Cisco Justice of the Peace J. V. Heyser.

Donald Thurman, 39, was reached at the E. L. Graham Memorial Hospital and then transferred to Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene, where he was reported to be in stable condition.

Steve Foster, Department of Public Safety trooper investigating the accident, said Thurman had already been taken to the hospital by a passer-by when officials

County Attorney Bill Is Written

In the closing days of the recent special session of the State Legislature a bill was drafted which could have affected criminal prosecution in Eastland County.

The bill didn't get introduced because the governor didn't open the session for such a bill and the session came to an end with the passage of the state's budget and tax rates at the 11th hour.

The Eastland County Commissioners Court had during the last week of the session adopted a resolution in favor of the re-establishment of a county prosecutor for this county. A bill, drafted by State Rep. Jim Parker and State Sen. Bob Glasgow and their staffs, could have accomplished that goal, had their been time for the bill to be introduced and acted upon. Timing doomed the effort.

In effect the bill would have amended two previous statutes, which had rearranged the prosecution process in this county by abolishing the office of district attorney and county attorney, and providing for a criminal district attorney with jurisdiction for processing both felony and misdemeanor cases.

The new bill would have amended those previous statutes, and established a district attorney's office and a county attorney's office for the county.

The County Court was re-established recently with the passage of a bill which gave concurrent misdemeanor jurisdiction in the district (91st) and county court. The Commissioners Court in their adoption of the resolution stated that they were in favor of a county attorney to handle prosecution of misdemeanors in county court and to provide legal assistance to the county in its legal matters.

The proposed bill provides that the state appropriations which funds the Criminal District Attorney's Office would also fund the District Attorney's Office, it was reported.

Separation of the present prosecution system into two offices would undoubtedly divide the work load, but some have wondered if putting the D.A.'s office alone might have a negative bearing on having the 91st District Court, which presently serves Eastland County only, into a multi-county court.

Some understand that it would have no effect. And although no details have been formulated, some have wondered if the division of the offices might increase the expenses to the county. Others suggest that strengthening the county court with its own prosecutor probably would increase the income to the county.

Some hold that counties across the state have preferred the criminal district attorney program rather than having two different offices, and some report that those counties who still have the two, are attempting to have themselves designated for the criminal district attorney status improve their efficiency.

Mary McGrew And Hershell Jones Are Hired As New Teachers At Meeting

The board of trustees of the Cisco Independent School District approved the employment of two faculty members and set a date for an inspection of the new elementary building and for the 1987-88 budget at their monthly meeting last Monday night at the high school library.

Miss Mary McGrew of Cisco was employed to teach theater arts and English in the high school, and Hershell Jones was hired to be an assistant football coach.

Miss McGrew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McGrew, Cisco, is a graduate of Southwestern State University at San Marcos and taught last year at Temple. She has been active in the Cisco Junior College dinner theater program as an actress and director for several years.

Mr. Jones is a veteran of 10 years as a coach, including six years at Anson. He previously coached at Hawley, Ralls and Cross Plains and is a graduate of McMurry College. He is a native of Abilene.

Monday, Aug. 24, at 7 p.m.

was set as the date for a "walk-through" inspection of the new building. A hearing to adopt the 1987-88 budget will be held at 7:45 p.m. Monday, Aug. 24, at the elementary school building.

A telephone system for the new building was approved, and a contract was let for athletic insurance for the coming year. All members of the board were present, and President Bruce Stovall presided.

County Commissioners Have Close Vote On Jail Planning Contract

During the County Commissioners Court meetings Monday there were a number of discussions on law enforcement, jail standards, and plans for jail expansion.

There were comments on the July 29 meeting with the Texas Jail Standards Commission in Austin. The Commissioners informed the Agency of plans to bring the County Jail into compliance with Federal and State requirements.

The Commission was pleased with the work in progress, according to those present.

Richard Robinson said that three main things appear to interest the Agency - work on the Jail Inter-com system, work on the lights - and that the County set a date for issuing certificates of obligation to obtain the money to expand the jail.

Robinson added that he didn't believe the Jail Commission would be satisfied with anything less than a 48-bed facility for Eastland County.

James Wheeler, of Abilene, architect of the firm of Boone, Pope and Wheeler, presented the Commissioners a contract for jail planning.

This firm constructed the present jail, which was completed in 1980.

After considerable discussion a motion was made to accept the contract. Richard Robinson and Billy Bacon voted for the motion, and L.T. Owen and Norman Christian abstained from voting.

Judge Scott Bailey stated that a quorum was present, and that the motion carried. "I hope the abstentions are not caused by a mistrust of our firm," Wheeler remarked.

During the meeting Sheriff Don Underwood told of his difficulties in trying to keep his personnel from working overtime while transporting prisoners around the area.

There are presently three Eastland County inmates in the Granbury jail, he said. Last week he had three in Granbury and three in Stephenville at one time, and "had to shuttle back and forth".

The Commissioners agreed to an additional Jailer to assist with the situation. They also agreed to line-item adjustments to help with the expenses.

During the meeting a Constable, Ted Parrish of Cisco, appeared before the Court to discuss reports that only two County Constables - Bill Hunter of Eastland and Gene Hicks of Rising Star - were doing all the work of serving papers.

Parrish reported that he could not serve papers he had not been given. He said that in the 2½ years the Sheriff (Underwood) had been in office he, Parrish, had never received a paper to serve.

"He has never called on me in one instance," the Constable said. "I have called him two times for assistance."

"I'm out there to help in any way I can."

Parrish said he had served papers for the J.P. and performed other duties related to his office.

Sheriff Underwood said the papers served by a Constable do not have to come through the Sheriff's office. County Clerk JoAnn Johnson then asked Parrish if he would serve some papers on a docket that was coming soon.

The Constable replied that he would. He also told Judge Bailey that he would serve as a Court Bailiff if called on.

Scout Troop Meet Mon.

Members of Boy Scout Troop 287 and boys interested in joining the troop are reminded that the scouts meet each Monday evening at 7 p.m. at the home of Bruce and Ann Watson, 301 East 20th Street, Cisco. A Cub Scout troop is being formed, and its members are also welcome.

Seven of the Boy Scouts are now registered for Merit Badges, and a number of exciting events are being planned for the troop.

If you wish more information about the scouting program call Doris Cozart at 442-3672 or contact Scoutmaster Bruce Watson. Ann Watson is director of the Cub Scouts.

County Attorney Bill

The present system affords flexibility to service the two courts, some contend, stating that separating the two would limit each office. As if now works, the criminal district attorney and his assistant work hand-in-hand in the two courts, with either being available for either as needed.

The criminal district attorney's office has requested another assistant in the proposed budget, to provide further help to the office to help the commissioner's court in its legal needs.

Given the turbulent times in Texas these days, some see the chances as good that there could be another special session, perhaps next year, at which this Eastland County proposal might be given further consideration.

In light of that, it would seem logical that all parties to be affected and those with interest in the matter, might well spend time now meeting together to work out the best course(s) of action.

But about that time she and her husband, Fred Brown, opened "Grandpaws Smokehouse," and this has kept both of them busy. Everyone is invited to stop by First National Bank and view Donna's attractive paintings.

The Cisco Chapter of AARP provided help for 531 persons in preparing 1986 income tax returns during the spring months, Walter Knowlden reports. Knowlden was Chairman of the area AARP committee that handled the project. This regional organization has been sponsoring the income tax preparation work for AARP members and senior citizens in eight counties of the region. A number of trained volunteer worker assisted.

By H.V.O.

ALMOST HAUNTING was the recent visit by our family to the Mesa Verde National Park in Southwest Colorado; not so much in seeing the beautifully preserved cliff dwellings which was home to this country's natives, but remembering that a close family member had at one time probably helped build the trails and hack out the park.

A now-deceased brother worked at the then-developing restoration in the late 1930s as part of the old Civilian Conservation Corps (C.C.C.), and undoubtedly saw the ruins before they were brought up to national park standards. We remember his telling of the work there and, as a youngster, being greatly impressed by the primitive experience. I'll bet it was just plain hard work too, because it is a harsh country.

In many ways it reminds us of Texas' own Big Bend National park which the three of us had visited last year: the terrain is rough, the vistas breathtaking and all-in-all, a real treat. Gaynell and I and Vance, who had a few days out of school, did the two parks, and we have it down to a science: I drive, she navigates, and he determines which stop-points are worthy of unloading and photographing. You can cover a big park with such a plan.

Mesa Verde is located in the high plateau country, with the park entrance about 36 miles west of Durango on Highway 160. It is 21 miles from the entrance to park headquarters and the Chapin Mesa ruins. Park roads are scenic drives with sharp curves, steep grades, and reduced speed limits.

From the first visitor center over, one can see the four-corners area and the famous Ship-Rock formation signifying that area.

Three major cliff dwellings are located in Chapin Mesa (Spruce Tree House, Cliff Palace and Balcony House) and many are visible from the Ruins Road.

An archeological museum with dioramas and exhibits interpret the life of the ancient Anasazi.

And sure enough there was a large photographic display of the work by the some 300 C.C.C. workers, but look as I might, I couldn't spot my brother. He would have been very young then.

Other cliff dwellings can be seen from canyon-rim vantage points by taking the self-guiding loop drives of Ruins Roads. Wayside exhibits interpret the development of Anasazi culture from the Basketmakers through the Classic period.

The dwellings are preserved beautifully, and visitors may with Ranger guidance, explore them, but it requires some strenuous work as well as a lot of ladder climbing - which at that altitude, 6,040 to 8,573 feet, isn't recommended for the faint of heart.

As an overview of the Mesa you can get a mental picture by imagining a giant hand with the fingers outstretched, with the space in between being deep canyons, into which the natives built elaborate homes over the years and for hundreds of years.

You couldn't help but wonder if they ever visited each other, considering the rough areas and hardships in just getting from one place to the other.

This 52,000-acre park contains hundreds of spectacular cliff dwellings and mesa-top pit houses and pueblos inhabited by Indians from about the first century A.D. until almost 1300.

Mesa Verde - the green table - was named by the Spaniards who first saw it in the 1700s. The earliest direct evidence of Indian habitation of what is now Mesa Verde occurred during the Modified Basket Maker Period (A.D. 400-700).

During this time people built pit houses, which were shallow holes in the earth covered with sticks, on the mesa top, enabling them to live close to their crops.

During the Developmental Pueblo Period (700-1000) the Indians constructed above-ground homes of stone and adobe, arranged in compact groups around open courts. During the Great, or Classic, Pueblo Period (A.D. 1000-1300) the arts and crafts reached their peak.

From about 1000 to about 1200 the Indians lived in well-constructed stone pueblos on the mesa top, with some houses reaching a height of four stories. About 1200, possibly because of raids by covetous nomads, the Indians retreated to the greater security of the cliff dwellings, great villages in caves at the heads of canyons, where living conditions were much more difficult than on the mesa top. Then in the 1270s the villages of Mesa Verde were abandoned, probably because of a severe drought that hit the whole region. Among the innumerable attractions here are the Cliff Palace, a village of more than 200 rooms and 23 kivas. Far View House, a large mesa-top pueblo. Balcony House, built into the wall of Soda Canyon, and Fewkes Canyon Ruins, a group of cliff dwellings.

Gary M. Easley Receives Award

Gary M. Easley, DDS, received the Academy of General Dentistry's prestigious Fellowship Award during a special ceremony at AGD's Annual Meeting, The Changing Shape of Dentistry, July 17-22 in Seattle.

The Academy of General Dentistry is the second largest dental organization in North America and is composed of 30,000 dentists in the U.S. and Canada dedicated to continued education in general practice. To earn the Fellowship Award, AGD members must complete more than 500 hours of continuing education within ten years and pass the Fellowship examination.

Dr. Easley graduated from the University of Texas at Houston Dental Branch in 1977 and has been practicing in Comanche, County since 1977.

Dr. Easley has maintained a private practice in Eastland, for 2 and one half years in addition to his practice in Comanche. He is also a member of the Texas Dental Association, the American Orthodontic Society and the American Academy of Gnatologic Orthopedics. Dr. Easley and his wife, Gale, have two children, Jarod and Justin.

Positive Attitudes Help Child's School Experience

The start of a new school year is just around the corner. While some children are ready for the classroom, others may need extra help to make school an enjoyable experience.

This can be especially true for the oldest child, according to a Texas Christian University elementary education professor.

"The parent often finds the experience of sending the first child to school harder than does the child," said Dr. Luther Clegg. "The most important thing is to make the child feel that this is a positive experience and that school is an exciting, fun place to go."

The oldest child may be a little apprehensive about starting school, but others in the family usually look forward to school because they will be going where big brother or sister has gone, he said.

Although entering school for the first time may cause anxiety, the change from elementary to middle school often is traumatic, Clegg observed.

"A child in the middle school grades is at an age when he or she is not an adult but also not really a child, which makes it a difficult time," he explained. In addition to keeping track of their children's performance in school, Clegg suggested that parents let the child know they are still accountable to their parents, while acknowledging that they are growing up.

What is the best thing a parent can do to keep a child prepared for the classroom? Read, read and then read some more, advised Clegg.

"I think it goes back to the parents," said the TCU professor. "If the parent reads, the child will see reading as being important; but, if the parents never read, then the children are less likely to incorporate reading into their everyday activities."

Jackson - Galloway United June 20

Miss Pam Jackson of Cisco became the bride of Kenneth Galloway of Lubbock in ceremonies performed at two o'clock in the afternoon of Saturday, June 20, 1987, in First United Methodist Church in Cisco. Rev. Ken Diehm, pastor, officiated.

The church was decorated with four large baskets of peach and white glads, peach and white carnations, baby's breath and greenery. Pews were marked with bows of white and peach.

The bride is the daughter of Virgil and Joan Jackson of Boyd. The bridegroom's parents are Leon and Geneva Galloway, also of Boyd.

The bride's satin gown featured lace sleeves and a tea length skirt covered with scalloped lace. Her bridal bouquet was a cascading arrangement of peach roses and white carnations with peach baby's breath and ivy. She was given in marriage by her father.

Paula Feldhaus of Boyd was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a tea length gown of brocaded peach satin. She carried a nosegay of peach and white carnations.

Best man was Mark Pritchard of Austin. Don Jackson of Boyd, brother of the bride, was usher.

Betty Odom was organist. Tracey Hughes of Austin accompanied the soloists, who were Sue Covert of Cisco, who sang "The Rose" and "Evergreen;" Doyle Walker of Cisco, singing "Annie's Song" and "The Lord's Prayer;" and Marquita Dickson of Fort Worth, who sang "Flesh of My Flesh" and "One Hand, One Heart." Mrs. Dickson and her husband, Brian Dickson, sang a duet, "Somewhere Out There."

The newlyweds hosted a reception at Conrad Hilton Memorial Park immediately following the ceremony.

The bride's table was decorated with large brass candleabra with peach candles, silk flowers and ribbons, complimented with a brass punch bowl. The three tiered cake and two side cakes were white covered with peach colored roses. It was topped with a lace trimmed arch with two rings on white silk ribbon suspended over a bell. The cake was made by the bride's sister-in-law, Karen Jackson, assisted by the bride's sister, Paula Feldhaus. Serving at the bride's table were Jenny Lawrence, Wanda West, Susan Watts and Amy Hounshell.

The bridegroom's table was decorated with a large brass candleabra with white candles, peach ribbon and silk flowers. Coffee was served from a large brass urn. The bridegroom's bake was chocolate with chocolate icing decorated with peach colored roses. It was made by Ms. Loleta Campbell of Cisco. Presiding at his table were Sharlene Warlow and Karen Jackson.

Others assisting with the reception were Susan Hanlon, Pat Deitiker, Ruth Hart, Peggy Anderson, Billie Jo Vickers and Darla Bond. Barbara Nixon presided at the guest book. Rice bags were distributed by Brandy Warlow and Crissie Galloway, nieces of the bridegroom; and John Jackson and Ben Cozby, nephews of the bride.

Mrs. Galloway attended Boyd High School and Tarleton State University. She had been employed by Cisco Independent School District as teacher of music.

Mr. Galloway attended Boyd High School and Tarleton State University. He is vineyard manager of Crisp Vineyard at Lubbock.

After a wedding trip to San Antonio, the couple is at home at Route 2, Box 217, Lubbock, Tx. 79415.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the bridegroom's parents, Leon and Geneva Galloway, at the Kamon House Tea Garden at half past six o'clock on Friday evening, June 19. The meal was prepared by Susan Hanlon.

OUR COUNTRY CHURCH

On a bright, clear Sunday Morning
We see the sun shining through the pines
On a church that's well hidden
From a world of sin and crime.

As we walk down that road
We hear their voices ringing so clear,
Singing praises to our Lord and Savior
For His presence seems so near.

Oh! Let us join the congregation
Please don't pass by the door
You may miss many a blessing,
If we keep going down the road.

As the sunlight filters through
The colored panes we hear everyone say,
"It is good to be in the House of the Lord
And to praise His Holy Name."

Tamara is the wife of Henry Huggins of Hico and the daughter of Jill and Gerald Hammond. Her grandparents are L.P. and Evelyn Hammond of Desdemona and Henry and Vie Evans of Mena, Arkansas.

PEPPERS INSTEAD OF SALT

If you have been advised by your doctor to cut down on sodium in your diet, try seasoning your favorite vegetable dishes with hot peppers instead of salt.

The world of chilies is not an orderly one. There are over 200 varieties, and the same peppers are often called different names throughout Mexico, California, and the Southwest. Nomenclature aside, however, there are only a limited number of varieties commonly available in supermarkets across the country. All types of hot peppers start out green and change color as they ripen on the vine. For commercial purposes, green chilies are sold to be cooked fresh or pickled. Red chilies are most often dried and sold whole, crushed, or powdered. If you find fresh red chilies, however, use them instead of green chilies for bright color.

A mature, red hot pepper is often thought to be less hot than its green counterpart. In fact, color is not necessarily an indication of hotness. The sweetness that red peppers acquire as they ripen offsets the fiery hot oils in the membranous tissue resulting in a more mellow, but still hot flavor.

A few precautions should be taken when handling hot peppers. The oils that produce hotness are located principally in the inner white veins of the pepper. Anytime you expose your fingers to that inner flesh, you are in danger of spreading the irritating chili oil to your mouth, nose, or eyes. Use rubber gloves to protect your hands. Or rid fingers of the oils by rubbing salt into wet hands and washing with soap and warm water.

Chop or cut hot peppers on a non-porous cutting surface rather than on a wooden cutting board. Wood will soak up the oils and spread them to the next food you chop or to your hands. Do not lean too close to chilies chopped in a food processor sauteed in a skillet. The vapors can burn your eyes and irritate nasal passages.

Recipe For The Week
I am frequently asked for recipes on pickling peppers. I'm including a recipe shared to me from Kathryn Cawley of Abilene. For years Kathryn was Lone Star Gas home economist.

Hope you enjoy!
Banana Or Hungarian Peppers

Thoroughly wash and make small slit in 2 places in each banana or hungarian pepper.....

Place peppers in mixture of ... 1 gallon water, 2 cups salt
Weight to hold peppers under brine. Let stand until next day. Drain well. Pack pepper into clean jars.

Combine...1 gallon water, 1 cup salt, 1 cup vinegar, 1 clove garlic, 1 grape leaf, 1 bunch dill.

Bring to boil over medium heat. Pour boiling mixture over peppers in jars. Fill and seal one jar at a time. Process in boiling water bath 10 minutes. Start to count processing time as soon as water returns to boiling.

The PEOPLE'S FORUM

I've Been Wrong Before

By Gordon S. Clark

DOGS have been said to be among the top three causes of men being killed. Fences are another.

"HOW MUCH IS THAT DOGGY IN THE WINDOW" mentions a girl friend needing a dog to protect her. The increasing crime rate underscores the fact that the law may catch and only at times punish but falls short on protecting persons or property. Entangled within the problem are questions of freedom as opposed to security in our persons and possessions.

It was said of one Mexican president that while he was in office a woman could walk down the street any time of night without even drawing an insulting remark and that a dog tied with a string of link sausage would still be there the next morning. How secure could you feel? The slight catch was his habit of having an offender taken to the scene of the crime and summarily SHOT. By the direction of things have taken in Mexico since his departure that seems not to be the way people preferred. You can't seem to have it both ways.

An old friend had not visited before and showed up looking slightly different. His upper lip was a bit twisted by a scar. He had been a few weeks in the hospital in Abilene and he uncovered an arm badly mangled by a pit bull dog. He was walking for exercise on a public street when the dog attacked. While most dogs are territorial and may go for anyone entering the area they consider their own this mut belonged to a visitor from the Northeast.

Forget suit for damages. The dogs owner was unemployed and flat broke. So who pays the doctor?

My friend thought he had insurance which brings us to another class of (in my opinion) gods. It seems the policy requires a notice within 24 hours of accident etc. It might not occur to some that during a traumatic experience and if the doctor administers pain killers the victim may not be fully in charge of his mind. Nor do we all have each clause of a policy or several policies uppermost in our minds at all times. It seems then that he is headed for court if he can stand it. One wonders if those experts on money matters have included in their fine calculations the percentage of people who will be unable due to frailty to press a claim in court.

Some state insurance commissions (Calif. in this example) do nothing to eliminate catchy little clauses in policies. Consider. In 1941 my father was employed by a furniture company which insured their employees against accidents. When a refrigerator accident left Father totally blind the company delivered a check and a "paid up policy" which they photographed for use in advertising. Fine?

Well, not exactly. When Father died years later it happened that the old employer had retired, closed the business and thus was no longer insured by the company.

When the policy was presented for payment the widow who thought all those years the money would be available for the funeral was informed that those policies had a clause which stated that at any time the employer ceased to be insured by the company then ALL obligations ceased. In short, instead of a "piece of the rock" the widow had a piece of the shaft. If I seem bitter against that company and insurance in general then you sure got that right.

My point is not tears over a raw deal but that any employer reading this or any person thinking they have paid up insurance should search for those cute little escape clauses. When the state of Texas was considering accident insurance contracts for state employees several years back I wrote my old college class mate, Billy Clayton, and appraised him and the legislative committee of our experience. Also I sent a copy to the insurance company. FOR if the same thing happened because Texas changed insurance companies a great number of people might be left holding an empty bag.

Soon I received a letter from the company complaining that I had unjustly hurt their business and that the particular clause was UNIFORM THROUGHOUT THE INSURANCE IN-DUSTRY. My reply informing them that if it were indeed uniform then legislators would be looking for same in other offers and that furthermore if it prevailed throughout then that too should be changed. I got no reply.

But we were "going to the dogs" to begin with. Some think owners of pit bulls should be forced to carry insurance. Enforcing that one would be near impossible. Outlaw pit bulls? True, there are laws against bringing rattlesnakes into some cities where a hazard might be created and some places have laws against panthers or large jungle cats as unrestrained pets. Maybe we could fence our yard for an alligator. After all, it is obvious that the animal most dangerous to man is another man. And there are so dog gone many of them.

Chow dogs once had a bad reputation, dobermans are well known as attack dogs while German Shepherds were much used as war dogs. I have never been bitten by any of those. It was a nasty little poodle that nailed me. Hardly deadly but painful to the small boy I was and I still watch them.

A hound seems to me the very friendliest dog there is. He may warn one at night but I never heard of even a bloodhound being naturally mean. Rusty was a fine looking hound but though he looked all hound, his papa was a chow and he was ready to eat any careless person who came on the place. I had to give him to a man living in the country. He would surely have bitten someone.

There are people whom any and all dogs want to bite. Don't ask me why. Most of them I have found to be nice folks though in one case I admired the dogs evaluation of character.

Then there was a man in Parker County whom the most vicious dog would not bite. Never bet cash you can't lose that such a person can't get a dog. They say that that old boy was a guest of the state because of some bending of the law. He decided to visit his kin in Oklahoma and failed to check out with the desk clerk at that hotel (desk clerk called warden). So they set the hounds on his trail in the Navasota River bottom. It was a long time before they heard of him or the dogs again.

When the dog handler asked how he managed to kill the whole pack of hounds he replied, "I wouldn't kill a dog. I tore up my prison shirt, made leashes and lead them off to where I found a man willing to buy them for enough to pay my bus fare to Oklahoma." NOTATION IN HIS FILE: If escapes, don't send dogs.

Some states have dog license laws with money collected to be used to compensate sheep men for dog damages. Tags required on collar and liability if predator is caught in the act. Stiff fines for harboring stray dogs prevents people from claiming unlicensed dog is not their theirs. An extra expense for poor kids who want a pet. Another mixed blessing. I am glad I don't have to decide what to do about dog problems. My hound died two months ago.

Fishing Outdoors

By Terry Wilson

With prices at gas pumps increasing, it's a thrifty idea for boaters to review their fuel-saving techniques.

The Mercury Outboards boating authorities offer these suggestions for economizing on fuel in ways that won't cause you to economize on your boating of fishing enjoyment:

Remember that boating fuel is consumed on the highway as well as on the water make sure your boat trailer's tires are properly inflated for improved gas mileage (longer tire life, too).

Lubricate the wheel bearings periodically; reduced friction results in a smoother pull.

Watch your boat's weight. The lighter your rig, the better the fuel economy will be, so check your gear and make sure your really need all the usual cargo. Balance your passenger load to help your boat get on plane quickly and reach the desired speed without plowing. Use your power trim feature to minimize the amount of surface in contact with the water.

Slow down. Wide-open throttle running can increase full consumption by 50 percent or more. Once you get on plane, it's far more economical to throttle back by about one-third.

Shut down. Avoid excessive idling. Whenever you have to stop, shut off the engine. A warm engine restarts easily without choking.

Stay in tune. Proper ignition timing and clean spark plugs are necessary for optimum fuel economy. Your servicing dealer should inspect the carburetors for proper float level, correct jetting and smooth choke operation.

Keep your propeller in good shape. A damaged prop is a power robber. Make sure you've got the right pitch and diameter for your boat.

Keep the boat's bottom clean. A slick hull reduces underwater drag.

Town And Country Food Store To Sponsor Dance

Town and Country Food Store, located at I-20 and Conrad Hilton Ave., in Cisco and the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA) are getting together to bring the city of Cisco and all of Eastland County their First Annual Country and Western Dance.

The dance will be held, Friday, August 21, 1987, at the White Elephant's Best Western Motel, located at Hwy 80 West and I-20 in Cisco from 7 p.m. to 12 midnight. The dance will feature a well known band from Brownwood, Swingshift. KVMX Radio in Eastland will provide a DJ. Door prizes will also be given away at the dance.

The four members of the band include Joel Andrade, band leader, and Dickie Strickland, Rick Ferrell and Jimmie Bailey. All are from Brownwood except Ferrell, who lives in San Saba.

Since they organized, the band has played at dances, parties, benefits and many other occasions. "We fit the music to the occasion," Andrade said. It has been said that Andrade sounds like and enjoys singing many of Willie Nelson songs.

This group of musicians participated in the "Stars of Tomorrow" showcase held during Fan Fair Week held last June 6-12 in Nashville, Tennessee. While they were there, the band performed for fans, promoters, producers, booking agents and others involved in the music industry. They also performed as back up band for numerous prospective recording artists.

Other recent engagements have been at Proctor, Ranger, Hamilton, Lampassas, San Saba, Midland, Odessa and many others.

Laurie Eccleston, manager of Town and Country said a lot of hard work and effort has been put in by employees of their store. Becky McClean, assistant manager and her mom were responsible for the band.

Becky and Laurie have done a lot of calling and driving to collect the many door prizes that will be given away at the dance. Among those who have donated prizes are: Wal-Mart, Motts, Mundens, Bills Dollar Store, Western Auto, Thrift Mart, Dairy Queen, The Lemon Tree Boutique, Cotton's Photo Studio, Merle Norman, Cisco Lumber and Supply, Lobo and J.R.'s Beauty Supply and Thrift Mart.

Finances, Computers, Occupy Commissioners

Various items occupied the County Commissioners during the morning and afternoon meetings in the Courthouse on Monday, Aug. 10. All four Commissioners were present, with County Judge Scott Bailey presiding. County Clerk JoAnn Johnson recorded minutes.

One of the first things on the agenda was a presentation from Pritchard and Abbott concerning a proposal for putting the Eastland County Tax Collection Office on On-Line Tax Collection Services.

Pritchard and Abbott, a Fort Worth firm which appraises Eastland County mineral, industrial and utility properties, was represented by Ed Pritchard. Nancy Trout, County Tax Collector, was also present.

Pritchard described the service offered to the county as "New technology that's proving to be very popular." Under this plan the County Tax Collector's office would be entered into the same data base in Fort Worth as the Eastland County Appraisal District office. According to Pritchard, this would enable the office to get data to the public more efficiently. For the rest of 1987 the cost would be $12,450, and for 1988 it would be $23,550.

This would include IBM equipment: 2 terminals, 2 printers, one modem, information from the data base in Fort Worth, upkeep, all supplies, and training for local personnel.

The Commissioners deferred a decision on the matter until the afternoon meeting. At that time, after considering the current costs of tax collection, the Commissioners voted to approve the new system.

During the morning the Commissioners approved a portable computer for the County Extension office. County Agent DeMarquis Gordon brought the request, saying that a fund from the University System would match or provide two-thirds of the cost involved. The County's share of the equipment chosen will be a one-time charge of $1,040, with maintenance of $270 per year, and $250 annually for software.

Gordon said that a number of farmers were buying small computers now, and were having to go to other counties to get training on how to use them. He said that the Extension Service has a wide range of software available that can be used on the new equipment, and this would make a lot more information available to the public. He said the computer will also add to office efficiency.

In other business, all the Commissioners said they had experienced a "hard year" on road maintenance, and needed more operating funds to finish out the fiscal year. They voted to approve the use of Revenue Funds - money left over in the Precincts from previous years - in order to operate until the new budget begins on Oct. 1.

The amounts requested and approved were as follows: Richard Robinson, Commissioner of Pct. 1, $15,000, Norman Christian of Pct. 2, $25,000, L.T. Owen on Pct. 3, $22,500, and Billy Bacon of Pct. 4, $35,000.

Bids were opened on a used Motor Grader for Pct. 3.

Only two bids were received, and both were from Brown Construction Machinery Co. of Elm Mott, Texas. The Commissioners approved a bid for a 1972 - 120 Motor Grader at a cost of $26,500. They will trade in old equipment for $4,000, making the total $22,500.

HOW COME A small town like Cisco could have a C&W Musical with a headliner like Melvin Sloan of Grand Ole Opry fame appear at their regular monthly musical?

Mr. Sloan answered that question when he said that he had accepted an invitation from two good friends - Al Anderson and Roy Thackerson. He was on vacation and planned his stop in Cisco so he could attend the monthly musical at the Corral Room last Saturday night. A capacity audience turned out for the event.

Mr. Sloan sang several numbers, played the fiddle, the violin and the piano, showing versatile ability that earned him a standing ovation. After his performance of some 30 minutes, Mr. Sloan spent another hour or so signing copies of a picture of him and the famous Sloan square dancers. He also sold a good many tapes of his music.

When Al and Roy visit Nashville two or three times a year, they always have an invitation to be guests at the Sloan home. And Mr. Sloan usually arranges for Roy to appear as a guest on the Grand Ole Opry program.

He told the audience about his meeting Roy a dozen or so years ago. And he paid a fine tribute to Roy's ability as a fiddler and guitar picker and musician. Cisco appreciated his appearance in our town and the fine tribute he paid to Roy and Al. As you know, Al and Roy appear at the local C&W musical once a month and at other C&W musicals regularly over the area.

A GOOD CROWD dropped in at First Baptist Church fellowship hall last Sunday afternoon to pay tribute to Bill and Odessa Collins on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary. And the anniversary party was the occasion for a reunion of the Coats family, their first in several years.

Jim and Jean Fitzgerald came from Villanova, Pa.,

for the event. They visited here several days with the Collinses and the Bud Coats (Mr. Coats is her brother). The Fitzgeralds lived here for a good many years and he was a member of the public school faculty. From here, they went to Long Island, New York, where he taught until retiring five years ago. Since retirement, Jim and Jean have been at Villanova Christian College where he is the academic dean and they are the boys dormitory supervisors. In three more years, they plan to retire again and return to Cisco to live. After visiting here, the Fitzgeralds planned to go to Lubbock to visit a son who is a college student before returning home.

Also here for the party and reunion were two other Coats girls - Mrs. Winona Watson of Twin Falls, Idaho, and Mrs. Toni Raines of Cheshire, Conn. They also planned to stay a few days.

VISITING HOME folks in Cisco last weekend were the Rev. Harry Grantz and wife of Amarillo. The Panhandle minister grew up in Cisco and served as pastor of churches at Union, Pleasant Hill, Carbon and Putnam in this area and at the First Baptist Church in Breckenridge before going to Amarillo. Our Scouts report that Evelyn Harwell Davis will be moving to the home she bought in Cisco on Kinglet Drive in the Jim Webb Addition very soon now. She has lived in California for a good many years and is a sister of Mr. Rex Harwell of our town.

THE MANNING Davises spent last weekend at McGregor to attend the wedding of a relative. Supt. Ray Saunders and Principals Jack Martin, Jim Puryear and Bob Lindsey were at meetings in Eastland several days this week on teacher evaluation matters. Glad to hear the Mr. Carl Gorr, who spent several days in an Abilene hospital, was due home Monday. And his condition was reported to be satisfactory. Weekend visitors in Cisco were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moore of Austin. A former Cisco banker, Mr. Moore is a senior vice president in an Austin bank. They visited Mrs. Moore's mother in Cisco and his mother in Abilene.

BACK HOME AFTER a stay of several days at Carlsbad, New Mexico, are Mr. and Mrs. John McGuire. They went out to attend a family gathering of her mother's clan. "We didn't go near the caverns," Mrs. McG reported. Mr. Herrel Hallmark, former Press editor who is now editor of the Breckenridge American, won a second prize for news writing in contests at the Abilene press convention last weekend. The Randy Grahams of Houston were visitors this week in the home of his parents, the Jim Grahams. They're enjoying a vacation.

OUT ON WEST 14th Street, we're all quietly watching the progress of a cantaloupe growing at the Wilson Smith home. A man paid $1 each for some very special cantaloupe seeds and he gave one of the seeds to Wilson. It's kind of hard to see because Wilson keeps the melons well covered from the hot sun. Coach Rick Frazier and members of the CJC football staff were back home Monday after spending the past week in Childress coaching the east team in a high school all-star game. Their team lost Friday night in the all-star game. Mr. Frazier and his staff were honored by being invited to handle the all-star coaching honors.

SEE BY THE papers that Bob Derryberry, former basketball coach at CJC and Howard Payne University, has joined the basketball coaching staff at the UofHouston. Mrs. A. E. Jamison, who will observe her 96th birthday on Wednesday, Aug. 12, was a breakfast guest of a friend as a pre-birthday outing when we saw her the other morning. You'll want to join us in wishing for her many happy returns and more birthdays

... Met up with Mr. and Mrs. Coy Miller of Lake Brownwood in town last Sunday. An employee of Lone Star Gas here for a good many years, the Millers have been at Lake Brownwood for eight years, he told us. He's still with Lone Star and reports that all is well with them.

A NOTE FROM Mrs. E. H. (Lois) Ramsey of San Antonio came with a clipping from a San Antonio newspaper. The clipping was about the Cisco delegation at the Folklife Festival in San Antonio last week. We quote the item in part as follows: "The 11th annual Texas Folklife Festival is supposed to provide an educational setting where traditional activities of pioneer Texans can be demonstrated.

"The Cisco Civic League appreciates the intention of the festival and started teaching children in the small town 100 miles west of Fort Worth that children of yesteryear did not have many of today's luxuries.

"The group of 14 men and women, which is here for the 10th or 11th festival, is demonstrating rushlights and hoecakes as they were made in the state's early days.

"Today's children just flip a switch for a light," said Yvonne McMillan, past president of the civic league. "We want to teach them what children of many years ago had to do." She said rushlighting is an ancient form of candle making. The wick comes from cattails, the fruit of the rush plant that is often found in still water at the edge of streams and lakes.

Mrs. McMillan's explanation of the candle making process followed. The article then went on to tell about hoecakes and the recipe for them.

The Cisco delegation was due back home Monday night.

MISS LYNN Pittman became the bride of Mr. Burl Petree, Jr., in wedding ceremonies last Saturday night at the Mountain Top Pentecostal Church. Mrs. Petree is a teller at Olney Savings, and Mr. Petree

HELP SLOW YOUR ELECTRIC METER DOWN THIS SUMMER.

Set Your Thermostat at 78° or Higher.

The recommended thermostat setting for summer cooling is 78 or higher. Portable fans or ceiling fans can help you feel comfortable at higher thermostat settings. Don't forget to turn fans off when you leave the room.

Tightly Seal Air Leaks in Your Home.

Make sure all cracks around windows, doors, pipes and wiring are tightly sealed with proper caulking and weatherstripping. Also, R-30 insulation in the ceiling, and R-16 insulation in the walls is recommended to adequately insulate your home.

Check Your Filter Regularly.

A dirty filter could keep your air conditioning system from operating as efficiently as possible. Clean permanent filters according to manufacturer's instructions, and replace non-permanent filters.

For more information on how to help slow your electric meter down this summer, call your local WTU office.
