Wranglers Beat HP-JV 57-to-9

BY DEBBIE ENDSLEY

The Cisco Junior College Wranglers, who are 4-0 for the season, will open play in the Texas Junior College Athletic Conference when they meet Trinity Valley of Athens in a football game at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Chesley Field in Cisco.

Coach Rick Frazier reported that the starting lineups for his Wranglers would be in the same as in the past four weeks. Trinity Valley, 2-1 for the year, is a highly regarded team, Coach Frazier said.

Last Thursday, Sept. 24, the CJC Wranglers defeated Howard Payne's JV 57-9.

Coach Frazier was very pleased with the performance of his team. He said, "It was an all around good game. The offense was especially good. We got to throw the ball a lot.' Coach Chuck Lawrence was very pleased with his defense, which held Howard Payne to only 40 yards rushing and 154 yards passing. He named Brent Lloyd, sophomore, No. 45, 5-11, 233 pounds, from Belton, who had 10 tackles, as the top defensive player of the week.

In the first quarter, CJC scored two touchdowns and a field goal. The first touchdown was made by Gary Palmer on a 22-yard pass from Pike Martin. The extra point was kicked by Eric Edwards. The second scoring play for the Wranglers was a beautiful 45-yard field goal kicked by Edwards. Kevin Jennings scored the second touchdown of the game on a 26-yard pass from John Brayton. Edwards kicked the extra point. This made the score 17-0.

Howard Payne put their first points on the scoreboard with a 22-yard field goal by Wise. The second quarter yielded two more touchdowns for the Wranglers. Kevin Evans scored on a 40-yard pass from Martin. Edwards' kick good. The touchdown was a 43-yard shot from James Darby to Evans. Edwards kick was good as usual. At halftime the score was 31-3.

The third quarter was filled with action. The Wranglers scored three touchdowns, one safety and a field goal. The first touchdown after the half was on a 37-yard run by Darby. Victor Ramirez kicked the extra point. Then, Rodney Lee scored on a 22-yard run. Ramirez's kick was good. The next two points were on a safety by Monty Cuba. The Wranglers' next touchdown was on a 33-vaid pass from Todd Hayes to Smith. Ramirez's kick paid off again.

The final score of the game by the Wranglers was on an outstanding 52-yard field goal by Edwards. This made the score 57-3.

Q. What causes bar cookies to be doughy in the center of pan? A. Underbaking is the problem. If you've used a pan that's smaller than recommended, the batter will be thick and will take longer to bake. Test bars by the doneness test suggested in the recipe before removing them from oven.

Q. If hollandaise sauce curdles as it cooks, can it be saved?

A. Yes! Add about one tablespoon boiling water per 3/4 cup hollandaise and beat vigorously with a hand beater until sauce is smooth. Q. How can fresh herbs be

WHEREAS, on October 9, 1871, Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over a lamp and the city of Chicago burned. Fire Prevention Day was first sponsored by the Fire Marshals Association of North America on October 9, 1911. In 1922, President Warren G. Ever since, the fire service of the United States has marked this week to highlight it's growing efforts of educating the public in the prevention of fire; and

WHEREAS, NBC television, working with NFPA, is dedicating a prime time television show..."Valerie".. to the importance of home fire drills. They will be encouraging a nationwide home fire drill in this program. Schools across the United States have received instructor's guides which NBC developed with the help of NFPA. These guides will help schools take advantage of this home exercise. The show provides a natural tie-in for everyone and represents a major effort for this television network. By promoting this first-time program in your community, you can be a genuine part of this National FIRE PREVENTION MEEK event. The drill is scheduled for Monday, October 5th. Check your local newspapers and TV guides for the scheduled broadcast of the show which will include a nationwide home fire drill sample for all viewers. Use the remaining days of FPM to focus on all the important sapects of home escape plans, particularly smoke detector maintenance and installation. FPM is an important seven days. Each of us can make an impact on our communities. Let's get everyone involved in exit drills.

The nation's top outdoor media personalities will donate more than $600,000.00 in television time and magazine space during 1987-88 to the Fish America Foundation, a non-profit organization that funds projects for the enhancement of fish populations in the United States and Canada.

The 30-second Public Service Announcements, tag lines, inside editorial and magazine space will reach more than 125 million viewers and readers during the next year.

"We as individuals, as well as the hosts of our respective series, feel not only honored to be in a position of supporting the foundation, but in fact feel a responsibility to do so," explained Orlando Wilson, host of the "Fishing With Orlando Wilson" show aired on Atlanta's WTBS Super Station.

"In our viewpoint," Wilson emphasized. "the FishAmerica Foundation is the only organization that is providing funding for local action-oriented efforts to improve all aspects of our country's fisheries...and in fact prolificate our industry as well as the sport of fishing."

The FishAmerica Foundation has awarded $512,000.00 through grants in 28 states and four Canadian provinces since its inception in 1983. Grants have included activities such as purchasing equipment and supplies for . stocking and rearing bass, trout, walleye, musky, catfish, and salmon throughout the U.S. and Canada.

The organization is also instrumental in projects related to habitat development, water resource improvement and, in some cases, restoration of spawning and migrating areas, artificial reef development and actual construction of rearing ponds for fish fry that were later released into im-

Attention Defict Disorder Haunts One In Ten Children

The following is a reprint from the FOCLS on Abilene. August 7, 1987:

Hyperactivity or Attention Defict Disorder?

Your child's constant fidgeting impatience, and impusiveness may not be what has commonly been labeled hyperactivity.

Instead, doctors have discovered that many children with these and other symptons suffer from Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD). And often children who don't mind their parents, who don't do well in school, and who play rough may have ADD.

Some very recognizable symptoms are: difficulty in remaining seated, being easily distracted, trouble waiting for turns at games; losing things; blurting out answers to questions constant talking and the appearance of not paying attention to what has been

Hyperactivity. Hunsucker believes, is a sub category of ADD. "A lot of kids can have attention disorder, but don't bounce off the wall." That he says, is motor hyperactivity. But there's also mental hyperactivity where the child cannot concentrate. Attention Deficient Disorder: the illness is a relatively recent medical discovery, but the subject isn't without controversy. Hunsucker is concerned that many physicians are discounting ADD as too general of a diagnosis "I'm amazed at how many doctors believe ADD is too broad of a category and that it covers too much area.

"The insinuation is that it's not that important."

While some medical professionals may not believe it's "Important," Hunsucker points to research showing children with ADD are more likely to end up in illegal activities.

The correlation between ADD's and the tendency toward criminal behavior, he said, is due to impulsive behavior. He said, "Most of us have a gap between thought and action. They (ADDs children) with concentration deficiency don't necessarily lack normal intelligence. "They are usually of average or high intelligence," said Hunsucker. "Treatment is easy, but it's difficult to diagnose," said Hunsucker. While some disorders can be detected through blood tests, detecting ADD "relies on experience to judge. The greatest fear of parents when it comes to treating ADD, Hunsucker said is that it requires medication.

"Most parents think we prescribe medication to dope them up so the parents can handle the child." Hunsucker added that parents are often worried their child will end up a drug addict. The fact is, he said, the child benefits from medication. "It allows them to concentrate better, it gives them better impluse control, and they do better in school."

One child Hunsucker treated was asked if he noticed any changes since he started taking medication. His answer was: "Yeah, my mother doesn't yell at me as much.

A bad situation that perpetuates between parent and child when the child goes undiagnosed and untreated is a breakdown in the relationship. "What happens," said Hunsucker, "is the parents scream and yell more than normal. That's the only way to get through to them." The parents ends up feeling guilty, and the child's self-image is diminished because they are punished more than other kids. "Ironically," Hunsucker said, "research shows these kidis have a high tolerance for pain. That's why spanking doesn't get through.'

As for the potential of becoming a drug addict through the medication for ADD, Hunsucker says.

Research has shown that the opposite it true. (ADD's patients) are less likely than normal children to become addicted to drugs." Hunsucker suggests that ADD's children who don't get treatment gravitate toward drug abuse "in search of their Several teachers Hunsucker has conferred with agrree that the medication has made a definite difference in classroom performance.

Hunsucker is quick to agree that not all children who have ADD can be treated successfully. Research has shown that 20 percent of children treated for ADD still do not respond to the medication. But, Hunsucker adds, the "odds are still with them.'

The trick is to catch it early in a child's deveopment. If a child is over 12 years old the success rate lowers. You can start recognizing it at three years," said Hunsucker. Medication alone doesn't improve a child's behavior. Behavior modification is also encouraged when treating an ADD's child. This child needs more structure," said Hunsucker, "and that might mean putting charts all over the house. You have to be very specific."

He also suggests implementing a reward system for good behavior.

His interest in the subject developed as he was practicing child psychology. "I would see the same children over and over and noticed the kids never really got better." He figured, "either I wasn't good at what I did or there was some other reason.." So he started digg-

I've Been Wrong Before

Isn't it nice the way overnment looks after us? It saves us from ourselves by requirements like seat belts and now we hear that they want to make it unlawful to ride in the back of a pick-up. They outlaw lost of toys with sharp or small parts that might hurt children but do little to protect their minds. If they pass enough laws it may be best to raise kids in a padded cell with a big rubber ball (with nontoxic color if there is such a thing).

It boils down to a wuestion of how much benefit in safty, protection, and financial security we get for what we are required to surrender in the way of personal freedom and fines we might pay for forgetting as well as the costs of licenses, permits, and support of the regulatory and enforcement armies we must support.

A few lives may be saved by more regulations and some serious injuries avoided so that someone is sure to ask, "How much do you think a life is worth? "Well, I certainly can't say. Maybe you would like some proabortionist to answer that one. There the argument

Conservation Reserve Acreage Passes Halfway

COLLEGE STATION --Acreage now enrolled in the government's Conservation Reserve Program has passed the halfway point in reaching the targeted 45 million acres nationwide.

With the most recent signup period of July 20-31, farmers have committed almost 23 million acres of highly erodible cropland to the program.

Nationally, almost 5.3 million acres were acceeted into CRP during the July signup, with an average bid price of $47.90 per acre. Texas farmers had 529,760 acres accepted at an average bid price of $39.97 per acre.

CRP was part of the 1985

farm bill and went into effect in early 1986 as a five-year effort to reduce crop production on highly erodible land. explains Dr. Bill Harris, soils specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Land accepted into CRP must be kept out of production for at least 10 years and must be planted to grass or trees according to an approved soil conservation plan. The government shares in the cost of establishing the permanent cover.

A total of 11,803 Texas farmers now have 2,782,531 acres of cropland enrolled in CRP, notes Harris. These contracts amount to more than $109,500,000 per year in rental payments.

The next CRP signup period will be February 1-19, when farmers or landowners will once again have an opportunity to submit bids for land declared eligible by the Soil Conservation Service and the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

CRP regulations restrict the amount of cropland in an individual county that may be bid into the program to 25 percent of the total acreage, harris points out. Currently, 13 counties have met or slightly surpassed that level and further bidding will not be allowed. Another dozen counties are approaching the

The Opening Night of the Majestic Theatre was an event Eastland had worked for all year long - and no one was disappointed.

For last Saturday evening was one of those star-crossed times when everything turns out as planned.

Woody Herman's worldclass band gave a rousing concert to a large, enthusiastic crowd. Also admired was the authentic restoration of the building.

The vintage theatre seemed to glow with renewed life. displaying interior colors of spice, cinnamon and teal. The neon sign outside glowed too - throwing light all across the Square. And the paintings of Jan Herring displayed in the messanine, were quite at home in this setting of elegance and beau-

John Berry, President of the Eastland Fine Arts Association, spoke briefly at the beginning of the pro-

"Eastland, You've done good." He began. He went on to say what a privilige it had been to work on such a project. "We've proved that when we want something we can do it," he continued.

Mr. Berry said that so many people had worked on the restoration giving time, energy and talents, that he would not try to name them all at this time. Most are listed in a souvenir program booklet arranged by Virginia Russell, Nettie Wilson and Gary Ford, he said.

But he did mention several people and groups who assisted: Earl and Billye Bradley of EBAA Iron, who "made things easier right from the start," the City Commission, who "Accepted the package (of purchasing the building) when we put it together," and Dr. John Whittington of Ft. Worth, who made a "very generous contribution and the Hobbezelle Foundation for a gift of $25,000

Special recognition was also given to young people from the Key Club and Beta Club of the High School. Virginia Russell was cited for her help with the restoration, particularly the arragning of the stage. Berry also expressed appreciation for the large flower arrangements on each side of leader of Woody Herman's Band, "The Thundering Herd," stepped forward to introduce the fifteen band members at the beginning of the concert. He said that the Theatre was beautiful, and hoped the band could launch it in a fitting way. He told how much the Band members admired Woody Herman, and how illness had kept him away from this Concert. he mentioned Herman's special friendship with Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hewett, Eastland High School Band leaders.

Then the Band sailed into an old Duke Ellington number: "It don't Mean A Thing If It Ain't Got That Swing." This was a nostalgic piece, but played in a fresh manner, with new improvisations. This freshness and energy carried through to all the pieces.

Many types of music follwed this swing piece, displaying the varied talents of the Band. These are young musicians and creatives. They us-

Perhaps the arrangement of Copeland's "Fanfare for The Common Man" called for the most improvisation of any of the arrangements. It includes a flute solo and bells

The audience noticed how very well the sound carried in this old Theatre, which was originally built as a music hall and stage for live performances. Several people remarked that modern builders could take some lessons from the acoustics in this place.

After the concert Frank Tiberi also remarked about how well the building carried sound. "The acoustics sounded good to the Band members upstage while we were playing," he said. "This is one beautiful place - I know the town is proud of it. I hope we'll be invited back to play here again sometime."

After leaving Eastland the Band was going on to play a concert in Austin, then El Paso and Ventura, Califor-

October is 'Energy Month'

If you've been thinking about making some energy-saving home improvements and switching to a more energy efficient lifestyle. October's the month to do it. October has been proclaimed "National Energy Awareness Month" by the federal government. During the month, government agencies, trade associations and local energy groups will be undertaking activities designed to promote awareness of the importance of energy conservation. The national theme of the campaign is "Energy Security: Our Future Depends On It.

Since energy efficiency begins in the home, there are several ways that homeowners can contribute to the national effort. One of the most effective ways homeowners can conserve energy in the home is by upgrading its insulation levels to meet today's energy standards. For example, adding a single layer of CertainTeed Corporation's 6 1/4" thick R-19 fiber glass insulation to existing insulation in an attic can help improve a home's energy efficiency by up to 30 percent. In addition, the extra insulation will keep the home cool in the summer and warm in the winter.

Another energy-saving home improvement that homeowners can undertake during Energy Month and any other month of the year is installing storm windows and doors. Storm windows provide a dead air space which acts as an insulator to keep the cold out and the heat in. In addition, homeowners should caulk and weatherstrip around window and door frames to eliminate any cracks through which heated air can escape.

Energy Month is also a good time to institute energy-saving habits that can help reduce your home's energy costs. Some simple tips include:

degrees when you're going to be away for an extended period of time.

· Heat only those rooms that are used, with the exception of the room where the thermostat is located which should always be heated.

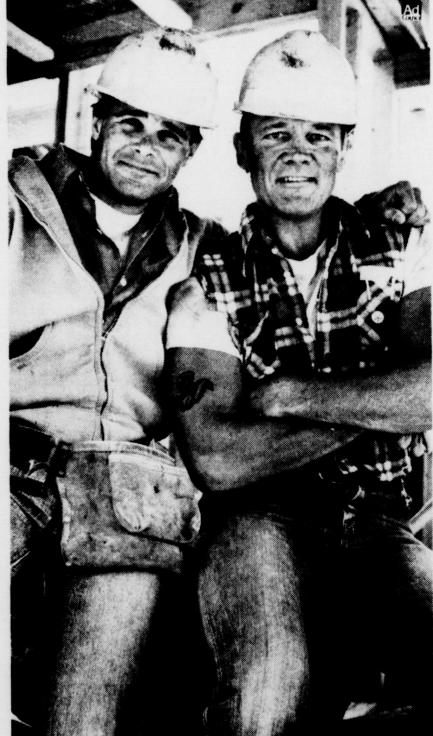

· Try to run energy-consuming appliances during off-peak hours like late at night or earlier in the day.

· Set your thermostat as low as comfort permits. Each degree over 65F can add three percent to the amount of energy you need for heating; each degree below 65 can save about the same. · Make sure that the fireplace damper is closed when the fireplace is not in use. Open dampers allow the natural draft of chimneys to pull warm air out in winter and cool air out in summer.

So let Energy Month be your incentive to change to a more energy efficient lifestyle. Hopefully your commitment to energy conservation during the month will carry through all

If you're interested in learning about other ways to make your home more energy efficient, write to the CertainTeed Home Institute, P.O. Box 860, Valley Forge, PA 19482 for • Set the thermostat back 10 the free "Energy Facts" booklet.

SINCE YOU had no football Sunday or Monday night, you may be behind in watching the game. So you'll want to go out to Chesley Field at 5 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 1, for the big three game program. Midway in the program, the band boosters will have such things as chili dogs for your supper.

The Cisco Junior High 7th grade team will start the program off at 5 p.m. This will be followed by teams of 8th graders and finally, the junior varsity teams of Cisco and Albany will tangle in the public school finale

You can go to Albany Friday night for an 8 p.m. kickoff between the Cisco and Albany High School teams. Understand it will be annual homecoming for Albany

And, of course, you'll want to be back in Chesley Field here for a 7:30 p.m. kickoff Saturday between Cisco and Trinity Valley Junior Colleges. It will be the first conference outing for the CJC team, which is 4-0 for the year and with a national ranking of No. 8 in one poll and No. 9 in another ... Trinity Valley of Athens is 2-1 for the year.

You can spend considerable time Saturday afternoon watching college football on television. And the pros are suppose to field substitute teams this coming Sunday. Maybe you're not so far behind in watching football that you can't catch up this week

MR. JACK Tollett, manager of Lone Star Gas Company here for several years, is being transferred Oct. 1 to Abilene by his company. His replacement is due in town this week

Jack reports that he will move his wife and three children to Baird where they will live. He will commute to Abilene to work. The Tollett youngsters will be valuable additions to the athletic teams of Baird High School. And we wish them good luck.

VISITING AT THE Cisco Lobo-Roscoe football game last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Owens of Big D. Tracy is a former Lobo and works as a CPA in Big D. He and his missus were married a couple of months ago and that was the first time his parents, the George Owenses, had seen them since the wedding in Big D ... Mrs. Tracy Owens was to begin work on Monday for a Dallas bank.

The George Owenses recently enjoyed a five-week stay at Angel Fire, New Mexico. They played a lot of golf and enjoyed the cool

AT ANGEL FIRE recently, the Owenses were visited by the Bill Philpotts, Cisco neighbors. The Philpotts were en route to Pagosa Springs, Colo., where they enjoyed several days of visiting in scenic country and soaking up cool weather. En route home, the Philpotts stopped in Southern Colorado to visit the John Huffmyers, formerly of here. And they found the Huffmyers preparing for fisherman Clifford Smith and his missus to arrive from Cisco.

COACH DAVID Sumners of the CHS girls cross country racing teams reports that the name of Amy Hounshell was omitted from a list of the members of the squad in last week's Press. Mr. Sumners will take the girls to Graford this Saturday for races that will begin at 9:30 a.m. There will be several races ... There was quite a bit of publicity on TV and in the newspapers at Fort Worth and Dallas last week when men of the Big E (Navy Carrier Enterprise) held a reunion. As you know, the Big E is known as the fightingest ship in the Navy during WWII. A lot of details of the reunion were handled by Mr. Carroll Barnhill of Fort Worth, formerly of Cisco and a frequent visitor here. We saw Mr. Barnhill on TV during a report on the reunion.

THE ABILENE newspaper had a nice color picture of Fingerless Fiddler Roy Thackerson of our area who was the featured performer at the annual Buffalo Gap Bluegrass festival last week. We'd like to report that Roy's partner in all of the fiddling was Al Anderson of Cisco. Al is also an old pro and appears frequently on area C&W musical program

Ramona's, the nice little Mexico food place in I-20 seven miles east, was closed last Friday and Monday. Reason: They were getting ready for the 75th birthday of Ramona Jeminez who, with her daughters, own and operate the restaurant. And two or three dozen relatives including grandchildren and others, visited in their Eastland home for the weekend celebration. They needed Monday to recover from it all.

AT THE CISCO-Roscoe football game last Friday night, they announced that Town & Country Convenience Store of Cisco had donated 10,000 large drink glasses to the Band Booster Club for use at the concession stand. The glasses hold about a quart and costs 75 cents full of drink. Keep the glass as a souvenir ... Saw Mike Anderson and Curt Covert, two Lobo fans, go to the stand and order Cokes. Yes, the large size, they said. And they were pretty shocked when they saw the size of the glasses.

The football game was a thriller and you can read about it all elsewhere. The Lobo Band did an outstanding job at half-time ... The Rev. Bruce Stovall gave the pre-game invocation.

GLAD TO SEE Mrs. Betty Odom back home after undergoing major surgery in Big D recently. Her son, Olin, III, went over and picked her up for the trip home last Friday ... Mr. Dean Madison, who helps his missus run a bird dog farm south of town, went over to Aspermont last Saturday to look in on some field training that several of their dogs are getting.

"I've never in my life seen so many quails," said Mr. Madison. The dogs are learning a lot and will be ready for owners come the new quail season in a couple of months.

YES, THE CISCO Civic League will stage another Christmas at the Hilton musical at the Mobley Hotel in December, reports Mrs. Billy Wright of the club. They are to meet very soon to arrange for a director and to plan rehearsals and set a date for the event. Last year's first program was super ... Joe Stamey of Abilene visited friends and attended the football game in Cisco last Friday night.

WENT OVER to Eastland and attended the Majestic Theater's grand re-opening program last Saturday night. The Eastland Fine Arts Association arranged the evening's program.

The theater, which was a showplace back in the 1930s and 1940s and into the 1950s, has been completely restored and is a real credit to the folks of Eastland. They took it over, you know, and have used foundation grants and a lot of donated

The Woody Herman Band's Thundering Herd, a group of young fellows who play under the sponsorship of the old master Herman, provided a two-hour musical program. We were a bit disappointed in the music. While the musicians exhibited talent galore, their selection of songs wasn't what a lot of us had expected old-fashioned tuneful numbers.

Understand they'll be having assorted community programs at the theater, including showing of films from the olden days. You'll want to patronize the Majestic and don't fail to go by and applaud the restoration work next time you're over

THE C.M. Clevelands returned Thursday from a travel trailer trip to Colorado, Wyoming and Nebraska. In Colorado they enjoyed renewing old friendships as 30 of their college graduating classmates gathered from various parts of the U.S. at Golden Bell Ranch at the foot of Pikes Peak for a four day reunion. In Nebraska, they visited in Mrs. C's home town, Beatrice, with her brother and wife and other relatives. They report that the weather was ideal. The aspens were turning a golden yellow and orange-beautiful!

In Estes Park, they enjoyed dinner and a sight seeing trip with the Paul Farrows, former residents of ### letters to the editor ...

DEAR EDITOR:

We, the members of the Cisco Civic League, are interested in promoting growth and the business climate of the city.

Various groups and individuals are attempting to improve the conditions of business and private proper-

Some will be giving a building a face-lift with paint and minor repairs. Others will be mowing vacant lots or putting up fences to hide unsightly areas. Many of us Ciscoans feel that the pride and vitality of Cisco's past can be restored, perhaps more than we would are to imagine. But we realize that there must be some action put into words.

We invite you to join our efforts to improve our community. Cisco still has a great deal to offer to new residents and businesses, but some "eye sores" have been deterrents to many who have ventured our way.

We are hoping that you too will catch a glimpse of the vision for making Cisco a better place to live and work. Those of us who have businesses downtown are the first to understand how fast weeds and trash collect in front of our businesses. We are now urging each merchant or businessman to choose one day a week to sweep and clean in front and along the sides of their business. As long as we try, our town can sprakle with new enthusiasm and give a fresh look to the Historical District which would increase tourism and help our economy.

Cisco is a great place to live, let us convey this message by doing all we can to add cleanliness and beauty to our town. In addition to attacting new business, we want to create awareness for the rich history Cisco possesses. We believe this is one of our greatest assets, but our greatest is our citizens themselves. Together we can make a difference

Sincerely, Cisco Civic League

DEAR EDITOR:

Enclosed check is for renewal of my subscription to my "adopted" home town newspaper. Needless to say, I look forward eagerly to each edition, as the fondest five years' memories of my life are the five years I resided there. My association with the greatest group of elderly friends was overshadowed only by the close relationship I enjoyed with the young teenage athletes! To state that I miss them both would be a gross understatement! The long list of "bests" that I met in Cisco is a lengthly one, indeed. "Best" friend - Hershel Kent; "best" elderly neighbors - Edessa Pingree and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bible; "best" high school male and female athletes - Kelly Kent and Terri Dunahoe; 'best' mayor - Eris Ritchie; "best" young businessman -Roy Dennis; "best" college faculty; "best" minister friend - Gary Adams - the list is an almost endless one.

Corpus Christi. Sincerely. C. W. "Whitey" Davidson

Singing Group To Quit Smoking Nov19

The Fabulous Thunderbirds, an Austin-based bluesrock quartet, will act as the honorary "spokesband" for the Great American Smokeout in Texas, American Cancer Society officials have announced in Guitarist Jimmy Vaughan, bassist Preston Hubbard and drummer Frank Christina -- all smokers - will try to do without cigarettes on November 19, the day of the 11th annual Great American Smokeout. Vocalist Kim Wilson is a former smoker.

"We think it's entirely appropriate that a Texas band which rose to national fame on the strength of a song called "Tuff E'Nuff" is proving just how tough it is by accepting our challenge to abstain from smoking on November 19," said John Frankhouser of Lubbock, state volunteer chairman of the Great American Smokeout in Texas. The Great American Smokeout is sponsored by the American Cancer Society each year on the third Thursday in November. It is a light-hearted event to encourage smokers to try quitting for 24 hours.

According to a Gallup survey, 23.7 million American smokers quit or cut down during last year's Great American Smokeout. "The band's example will help us reach young Texas smokers who may not have considered quitting for health reasons," Frankhouser said. "We know smokers will relate to other smokers who are trying to quit ... the whole purpose of the Smokeout is to good will," he said. The Fabulous Thunderbirds will be featured in a 30-second television public service announcement for the Smokeout to be distributed statewide. In the spot, the T-Birds encourage others to join them in the Great American Smokeout by saying "...we think you're tough enough to quit, too."
