Hospital not closing

Muleshoe Area Medical Center Administrator Jim Bone told the Journal there is no danger that the Center will close because of the financial problems with the Covenant System in Lubbock.

Bone explained that he is paid by Covenant but the Muleshoe Center reimburses Covenant for his salary and fringe benefit package.

The Muleshoe Center is able to buy supplies from companies that supply Covenant at Covenant prices.

Covenant does not own any part of the Muleshoe Center or provide any financial aid to the Center. The Muleshoe Center is run by the local elected board.

Bone said the clinics that are being closed are owned and operated by Covenant.

Shuttle material likely found near Littlefield

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

LUFKIN — With the recovery of the first piece of what is believed to be Space Shuttle Columbia material from Lamb County, Texas on Friday, Feb. 21, NASA is asking area residents to be on the lookout for and report additional material they believe might be from the shuttle.

A piece of what appears to be one of the Space Shuttle's heat resistant tiles was recovered near Littlefield, Texas, approximately 40 miles northwest of Lubbock. This marks the furthest west any Columbia debris has been recovered. The piece is being transported to the Kennedy Space Center in Florida for further analysis.

"We sincerely appreciate the search efforts and watchfulness of residents along Columbia's flight path," said NASA Astronaut Dom Gorie. "We are asking everyone — especially people from the New Mexico-Texas border to Ellis County, Texas, to be alert for pieces of Columbia. If you find suspected Columbia material, please call toll-free 1-866-446-6603."

Residents are reminded not to handle debris because it could be hazardous. Typical shuttle debris pictures may be viewed www.nasa.gov/columbia/ at COL_debris_pix.html.

"Citizens who continue to call us with information about the location of possible debris are playing a critical role in the process of collecting the evidence necessary to understand what caused the loss of Columbia and her crew, and we are very thankful for their help," said Gorie.

The counties potentially containing material from the shuttle beginning in the western portion of the Texas Panhandle and ending southwest of Fort Worth are: Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, Kent, King, Stonewall, Haskell, Throckmorton, Shackelford, Stephens, Palo Pinto, Parker and Hood.

A map of the flight path over Northwest Texas indicating where debris may have landed and an image of the piece recovered from the Littlefield area are available electronically by calling the FEMA News Desk at 936-699-1094.

By MARSHALL STINNETT Journal writer

Vicki Sutton, the only announced female candidate for the 19th congressional district, in an interview told the Journal she supports President George W. Bush's policies toward Iraq and North Korea as well as and his plan to cut taxes to stimulate the economy.

Sutton came to Muleshoe campaigning to replace Larry Combest in Congress. Sutton is currently a professor of law at Texas Tech. She also has a PhD in Environmental Sciences from the University of Texas, a master's degree in public administration from Old Dominion and a bachelor of science degree in animal science from North Carolina State.

Sutton worked in the Senior Bush White House where she was Assistant Director of the White House Office of Science and Technology Policy. She has been an assistant city manager in Chesapeake, Virginia and McKinney, Texas.

When asked about Bush's plan to cap pain and suffering at $250,000 in personal injury lawsuits, Sutton told the Journal, "We have let (lawsuit) settlements get out of control and we are all paying for it in increased prescription and medical bills and other things." She also said the cap would be a "good start" on tort reform.

Jennyslippers host Texas Independence Day

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

Monday, March 3, the Jennyslippers will once again host their annual "Toast to Texas" celebration of Texas Independence Day. The event will take place at the Bailey County Courthouse at 1:30 p.m. in the District Courtroom.

The "Toast to Texas" is an event that began in 1991 when Texas Monthly magazine initiated the idea of a statewide Texas Independence Day celebration. People across the state were urged to stop what they were doing, all at the same specified time, and raise a glass of sparkling Texas spring water in a toast to the great state of Texas. The Jennyslippers, in an effort to promote recognition of Texas Independence Day and pride in our state, have continued to annually host the event.

This year's celebration will feature a bit of Texas history presented by Mayor Victor Leal and festive Texas folk music performed by Camilo Espinoza. The entire fourth grade class from Mary DeShazo Elementary School is specially invited each year, which is why this year's celebration will be on Monday, March 3 instead of Sunday, March 2, Texas Independence Day. Anyone is welcome to join in the celebration.

"My Mother's Name Was Grace"

Premier preacher and teacher of preachers Fred Craddock tells of speaking at a preaching conference in a far-away town in a faraway state. The meeting ended on Saturday night, and everybody scattered. He couldn't get a plane home until the next day, so he spent the night.

The next morning, Craddock went to the desk at the modest motel and said, "I'm accustomed to going to worship on Sunday mornings. Is there a church I can walk to nearby?"

Well, you'd have thought he'd asked for directions to King Tut's tomb. A covey of clerks went into a serious powwow and finally said, "Well, there's one a block and a half that-a-way, but we don't know what kind it is."

It was almost 11:00. No time for brand name persnicketiness, so he walked down the street and through the doors of a neighborhood church (he never did know what kind, and it never did matter) of the sort that looked like one of those marvelous little instructions and didn't know what to do. He was such a grotesque person in appearance."

The big man started up the steps to the pulpit, and Craddock was afraid he would fall. He could barely walk. When he turned to speak, the muscles in his neck bulged with the simple strain of speaking. "His eyes were pink and white and out of focus," and he needed large magnifying glasses to even read the Scripture.

He preached from 1 Corinthians 13, "And the greatest of these is love." A good sermon. Nothing to write home about, but a good sermon from the heart of a loving pastor to a congregation who in turn held him in their respect and love listening intently, expectantly.

After the benediction, Craddock went to the door, anxious to learn who this man, so loving and loved, was. As one older woman went by and shook his hand, she said to the pastor, "I wish I'd known your mother." And he replied, just a bit oddly, "My mother's name was Grace."

When everybody was gone, Craddock and the preacher sat down on the back pew and talked. Craddock said, "I couldn't help overhearing your mentioning that your mother's name was Grace."

He replied, "Yes, that was true. When I was born grotesquely misshapen, I was put up for adoption. Of course, nobody wanted to adopt me, so I went from place to place. When I got to be a teenager, I wanted to be around other kids, and I noticed they went to church. I had not been. I went to where they were going to church, and it was there that I met grace."

labor of love buildings that the men worked late at night and on Saturdays constructing. It might hold 120, and that day, he says, there were about 120.

Craddock sat near the front. When the minister came down the aisle, Craddock was shocked. The pastor was an absolutely huge man but ungainly. "His head was misshapen. His body was slumped, and he walked as though he were stumbling. His long arms dangled beside him like they were waiting for further

four-star army general

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

Katherine Schraeder, Edward Jones investment representative in Muleshoe, will host a free onehour program on Tuesday, March 11 at 10:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. featuring highly-decorated, four-star Army General Barry McCaffrey.

During the program, General McCaffrey (retired) will explore what's next for U.S. military forces and examine America's progress toward homeland security. "This unique program will offer an in-depth look at war and terrorism in America," said Schraeder. "We'll also discuss whether war and terrorism should impact investment decisions."

During his military career, McCaffrey served overseas for thirteen years, including four combat tours. In the Persian Gulf War, he commanded the 24th Infantry Division. McCaffrey has also served as an assistant to General Colin Powell and supported the Joint Chiefs of Staff as advisor to the secretary of state and the United States ambassador to the United Nations. Under President Clinton, McCaffrey was appointed U.S. Drug Czar. In that capacity, he served as a member of the president's Cabinet and the National Security Council for drug-related issues.

At retirement from active duty, McCaffrey was the most highly decorated and youngest four-star general. He twice received the Distinguished Service Cross (the nation's second highest medal for valor). He was also awarded two Silver Stars and received three Purple Heart Medals for wounds sustained in combat.

A graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point, McCaffrey is currently the Olin distinguished professor of National Security Studies. He is also president of his own consulting firm and regularly appears as an analyst for NBC News on issues of national security and terrorism

OWN THE STREET

Love of country

By LEAH BELL Journal writer

Down the street this week, while interviewing Fabian Martinez about Valentine's Day a while back, he told me about an amusing incident that occurred on a recent trip to University Medical Center in Lubbock.

He and his wife, Yolanda, and three of their four children were at UMC for their youngest daughter Nadia's routine checkup. They were coming down in the elevator when a well-dressed man wearing a turban and sporting a rather long beard entered the elevator. Fabian and the middleeastern gentleman exchanged pleasantries and then followed the timehonored, unwritten elevaward, quiet decent. In the meantime, six-year-old Jose was tugging on his dad's shirt.

"Dad. Dad. Dad," the little guy said urgently. "Daaaaad!"

Fabian finally leaned in to see what Jose had to say, thinking that he probably needed to use the bathroom.

"I think that's Osama bin Laden," he blurted out. Fabian, along with everyone else in the elevator was both mortified and amused. He apolo-

> He asked that I share the note with you. It said:

A year ago, I had a farming accident in which my back was broken. My medical staff told me that I may not walk again.

But through God and your prayers, I now can walk. Thank God! And thank each and every one of you. In times like this, you really find out how good God is and how great your brethren are. I appreciate you all so much and pray that God

DCP

April 1, 2003 is the deadline for producers to make decisions on base options. If the April 1 deadline is not met, the bases and yields will be frozen and will remain as they are at the present time. We are requesting that producers bring in production records and other information required by March 1, 2003 if you are intending to update yields and/or acreage. June 3, 2003 is the deadline to enroll in DCP. Producers are urged to come in and complete the sign-up as early as possible. Payment Limitations or updates, 1026's and AGI forms must be completed or updated, which takes more time. Please call for an appointment to sign up in the new farm program.

MILC UPDATE

The number of changes to the milk program has rendered the current MILC Appendix obsolete. The appendix lists the prevalent terms and conditions of the program. The most significant change to the appendix is the provision requiring dairy operations to make their "month" selection to receive payments on or before the 15th of the month before the month begins. Previously, producers had to select the month on or before the 23rd of the desired month. As a result of this change, dairy operations must complete a new CCC-580 addendum-1 by March 14, 2003. After this date, operations without the new appendix will not be paid until this document is completed and submitted to the office. All producers on the contract must sign and date the addendum. The form may be submitted by fax, mail or in person. Another change involves production evidence submitted by Co-ops. This office may accept this information directly from the handler provided that your operation submits a written statement allowing FSA to receive the production evidence directly from the Co-op or handler. This authorization will remain in effect until the end of the contract or until the agreement is cancelled. Termination of the contract must be submitted in writing, and all producers on the contract must sign the authorization. NAP

Producers have until March 17, 2003 to purchase NAP coverage on spring seeded and summer crops. If you have a NAP policy on wheat and other small grains, you need to certify the acres 15 days prior to grazing. NAP provides a guaranteed level of protection against weather disasters. There is a $100 service fee per crop with a $300 per county cap and a $900 producer cap.

Notice of Loss for NAP crops must be filed within 15 days from the date of the disaster or whenever the loss is apparent. Failure to do so can result in loss of benefits. PEANUT SIGN-UP

The time period for designation of peanut average acreage and yields to farms begins producer's acreage and yields. The final date for designations cannot be extended.

OPERATING LOANS

Producers applying for a direct or guaranteed operating loan need to begin the process now. Start by gathering last year's production records and schedule an appointment with a loan manager or officer to determine your borrowing needs. Operating loans can be used to finance livestock, crops, machinery, and refinance chattel debts. Remember that funds are issued on a first come-first serve basis. For more information, contact Joyce Thompson, FLM, Bailey County FSA Office at 806-272-4538

EMERGENCY LOANS AVAILABLE

Bailey County has been declared eligible for Emergency Loan (EM) assistance due to losses caused by drought and excessive temperatures that occurred from January 1, 2002 and continuing. Producers who suffered at least a 30% loss in production or suffered qualifying physical losses may be eligible for an EM loan. Losses must be supported with documented records. Farmers must be unable to obtain credit from private lenders. EM interest rates are 3.75%. EM loans will be accepted until June 23, 2003. Contact the Bailey County FSA Office for more information.

Perryton ends Lady Mules' state championship dreams

By DELTON WILHITE Journal sportswriter

The Lady Mules traveled to Amarillo's Caprock Activity Center on Tuesday night wearing a huge target on their backs. With 27 wins and a number two ranking, the Lady Mules were an easy team to get excited about playing.

The Rangerettes of Perryton responded to the challenge by jumping on the Lady Mules early with a high pressure full-court press that literally shoved Muleshoe out of sync. Perryton only won the first eight minutes of the game.

The Lady Mules played even in the second period and shaved two points from the Rangerette advantage in each of the final two periods. But the 15-8 first period gave the Rangerettes enough margin to hang on for the next 24 minutes to defeat the Lady Mules 59-56.

"The game was a disappointment for us," said Lady Mule coach Shana Simms. "We played hard tonight and we got down but we never gave up. That says something about our kids."

"There are 96 teams that began the playoffs in 3-A and all but one will end their season on a loss. But we had rather end our season with a loss in the playoffs than a win in district and not go to the playoffs. Tonight left a bad taste in our mouth and I think the kids will be ready to remove that next season."

"We will miss our seniors, Mindy, Tiffany and Shani," continued Simms. "They are great athletes and best of all really good kids. We will be different next year...but we will be good and fun to watch."

"We had great fan support all season and the crowd here tonight was really special for the girls. Muleshoe really turns out to support their kids."

Tori Barton opened the scoring with two free throws that gave the Lady Mules their only lead of the game a little over a minute into the contest. Cassie Nowlin nailed a three 30 seconds later that seemed to ignite the Rangerettes.

Kelsi Friskup hit from the elbow on an inbound play to briefly interrupt a Perryton 13 point scoring run. Lindsey Wood hit from behind the arc to cut the Lady Mule deficit to 13-7.

Sara Benham was held scoreless until the 7:24 mark of the second period when she made one-of-two free throws. She finished the first half with nine points on assists from Barton and Wood.

Barton hit a long two with one minute left in the half and Mindy Locker stole the ensuing inbound pass and got the ball to Friskup to cut the Rangerette lead to 29-22 at the intermission.

Benham and Locker teamed up to trim the Rangerette lead to three in the opening 90 seconds of the second half. Perryton stormed back to extend their advantage back to seven with just under three minutes remaining in the third quarter.

Wood drilled a deep three and Tabatha Obenhaus drove the baseline and dropped in a corkscrew layup The layup cut the Perryton margin to 40-37.

After Perryton made a free throw Wood and Obenhaus teamed up on a half court pass that gave Obenhaus her second baseline layup in less than a minute. Benham stuck back a rebound to knot the game at 41 with just over a minute left in the third period.

The Rangerettes answered by making threeof-four charity tosses and Nowlin added a deuce as the period ended with Perryton in front 46-41.

Shani Rasco had not broken into the scoring column until almost three minutes were gone in the final period. She kept an offensive rebound alive by tipping it to herself not once but twice and then put it back on the glass for her first two points.

Rasco found Friskup open for an assist just before Locker drove the lane for the hoop and the harm. Locker's charity toss completed a three-point play that cut the Rangerettes advantage to 55-53. Rasco blocked a shot and ran the floor to complete the fast break to draw the Lady Mules with in one. The Rangerettes converted a free throw to extend the lead to 58-56 with 27 ticks on the clock.

Rasco made a strong post move down the lane and may have been pushed to far under the goal because she hung the ball just under the rim. Had her shot been successful the game would have been tied.

Skylah Monreal added one more charity toss for her ninth point in the final frame and 17 in the game to help preserve the win for Perryton.

Perryton seemed to be able to invent ways to get to the charity line and converted eight-of-10 in the first half and made 20-of-32 in the game. The Lady Mules only had 16 opportunities and converted eight of them.

Benham led all scorers with 20 and Friskup added eight for the Lady Mules. Locker dropped in seven, Wood made two treys for six points while Barton, Obenhaus and Rasco made five each

SPC faces $7.4 million in cuts

LEVELLAND— South Plains College faces potential budget cuts in state appropriations that could total $7.4 million for the next two years if proposals before the state legislature are adopted. The most severe proposal is Gov. Rick Perry's proposal to reduce college appropriations by 9 percent, cut state-funded health care insurance to community college employees by 65 percent, and not fund any enrollment growth colleges have experienced in the past two years. That would cost the state's 50 community colleges districts an estimated $590 million. "Without question, the governor has declared that community college education in Texas is not a priority," said Dr. Gary McDaniel, president of South Plains College. "This proposal would cripple our community college system in Texas that has worked so hard to open the doors to higher education for underserved Texans." McDaniel said the budget cuts come at a time when colleges, especially South Plains College, have experienced unprecedented growth in enrollment. SPC's enrollment has grown 21 percent in the past two years and 60 percent in the past five years. The college enrolled a record 9,032 students this past fall and just recently experienced a new spring enrollment of 8,954 students. An additional 5,300 students enroll in non-credit continuing education and workforce development programs.

That growth would have generated the college an troubling, said McDaniel. "We're working to determine the total impact of these proposals. Not only would we be forced to pass the costs on to students and to taxpayers, but we would be forced to implement other cost-cutting measures, none of which are desirable."

additional $10.9 million in state appropriations in better economic times. Those earned appropriations will go unfunded for the next two years according to the budget proposals.

"We have worked to accommodate this growth in enrollment with current appropriations that support a college with an enrollment of about 7,000 students," said McDaniel. "Budget cuts this severe, especially to our share of state-funded group insurance, don't give us many options except to cut services, raise tuition and fees and increase local college district taxes."

On top of this challenge is the Governor's request to trim 7 percent out of the college's current 2003 appropriations, a measure than means an additional loss of $1.2 million this year.

To accommodate this request, SPC has instituted a hiring freeze, has suspended all non-essential travel, put on hold capital equipment purchases, asked departments to cut remaining service and supply accounts, and has implemented a deferred maintenance plan.

The prospect of dealing with state budget cuts of $3.7 million a year for the next two years is especially

PISCES – Feb 19/March 20

When you see something that you want, go after it. No one is going to help you. A loved one needs to talk to you about a personal problem. Listen to him or her, and try to be supportive. ARIES - March 21/April 20

FEB. 23-MAR. 1

Loved ones are being secretive about a family matter. Try to be patient. You'll learn the facts soon enough. A romantic interest wants to take a break. While this upsets you, you know that it is the best thing to do.

TAURUS - April 21/May 21

Listen to what others have to say this week. Some of them make very valid points. A close friend is having romantic problems. Offer your sage advice.

GEMINI - May 22/June 21

A business associate reveals his or her true feelings for you. No matter how you feel, don't get involved with him or her. It only will create problems at work.

CANCER - June 22/July 22

You have a falling out with that special someone early in the week, Cancer. While you have every right to be angry and upset, don't make any drastic decisions. An acquaintance asks to borrow money. Don't do it!

LEO – July 23/August 23

Don't let a compliment from a co-worker go to your head. You must keep giving 100 percent. A loved one has good news. Help him or her to celebrate. Libra plays an important role.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22

Be honest when a good friend asks for your opinion about a new relationship. You meet an interesting person while running errands. Make plans to see him or her again. This could be the one!

LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23

Don't let a minor setback get you down, Libra. You still can reach your goal. A loved one is concerned about you. Don't ignore his or her questions.

SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22

You have a lot to do this week, Scorpio. Stay focused on the tasks at hand, and don't let others distract you. A friend of a friend asks a favor of you. Do what you can.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21

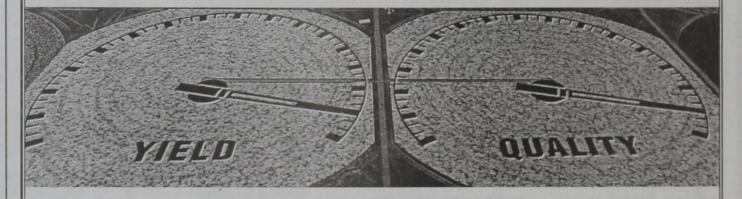

Don't take your personal problems to work with you. Your superiors are expecting a lot from you this week. A loved one lets you in on a family secret. Leo plays an important role on Thursday. CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20

Stand your ground when it comes to a disagreement early in the week. A friend wants to set you up on a blind date. While he or she means well, the date has too much potential to be disastrous.

AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18

Don't get in over your head when trying to help a co-worker this week. While you want to help, you have a lot of your own work to do. That special someone has a surprise for you.

Estate planning saves families on taxes, and administration fees

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

"A properly drawn estate plan may save some farm and ranch families up to $400,000 in estate taxes, income taxes, and administrative fees." This statement made by Wayne A. Hayenga, Texas Extension Economist and Attorney, assumes a lot of information: a married couple who "like each other" and want to care for each other, who have property worth $2 million or more, and want to pass it on to their children and grandchildren. This is an eye opening fact for many people. In fact, many people only worry about estate planning if they hear of a friend's "problem" in settling an estate or paying estate taxes. "But," Hayenga continues, "for many families the estate tax savings are not as large ---if they have smaller operations. In fact, for many families, the income tax savings of a properly prepared estate plan can be greater than the estate tax savings."

four two-day seminars dis-burdens that affect passing their estates to their loved ones. In addition to discussing estate planning systems, tax savings possibilities will be discussed from corporations, partnerships and trusts when family members are involved in the business.

The Internet provides an invaluable time and money saving resource for most any interior design project. A world of planning tools, ideas, and expert how-to techniques are at your disposal 24 hours a day, even if you live in the most remote location. And virtually every important home furnishings manufacturer and distributor now provides comprehensive product information on their Web Sites... many of them with on-line buying options. Add to that the Internet auction sites, letting you buy direct from individuals and antique dealers worldwide, and you have an unprecedented opportunity to truly shop the world, rather than just your neighborhood.

When to use the Internet?

During the planning phase, to stimulate ideas... and during the procurement phase, to find the best sources. Just about every housewares and home furnishings supplier now gives you their Web site address in their ads. And you can use search engines like Yahoo, Hotbot, Infoseek, Lycos, etc. to find suppliers for just about everything that exists. On these suppliers sites, you'll find comprehensive product information, usually far in excess of what even the most experienced retail sales person can tell you. And often you'll find "close out sale" merchandise not available at retail.
