Emergency Crews Get Good Rating At Disaster Drill

How would Cisco react to a disaster such as an airplane crashing at a playground where several children are playing? Several people who are with the Cisco emergency crews were put to the test Monday, when they were called out on a disaster drill at 9:00 a.m.

Twenty four Cisco High School students were placed in positions at City Park on Royal Lane where they could have been if an Air Force T-38 fighter jet crashed in the playground. The students were made up with "wounds" that looked very real.

First on the scene was the Cisco volunteer fire department. Fire chief Richard Connell along with fire fighters, Larry Weikel, Robert Rains, Truett Horton, Gerald Jackson, Keneth Boyd, assistant fire chief W.T. Easton and David Gill participated in the disaster drill.

Cisco police officers Donald Wiley and Frank Thumsuden then arrived shortly after the Fire Department.

Willy Hunt and Charlie Tatum with Cisco's Patterson ambulance was the first ambulance on the scene. Next was Patterson's from Eastland, with Carol and Tom Paterson, Martha Fillingam, Janie and Walter Watson and Bill Moore.

Coming in from Rising Star were Curtis Hill, Terry Horton, Ineal Robertson and Fred Rabe with the Rising Star Volunteer Ambulance. Pat Collins and Roy Rodgers were at the scene with the Ranger Ambulance service.

Ambulance personnel and firefighters then took the "injured" to E.L. Graham Memorial Hospital, where Dr. Ayres Cermin and Dr. Tim Boersma and the staff at the hospital treated the patients.

When the drill was over everyone was invited to the hospital cafeteria where seven men from Dyess Air Force Base evaluated the drill. They were Major Will Stohart, Msgr. Tijerina, Tech Sgt. Kronbach, Msgr. Snell, Staff Sgt. Merritt and Tech Sgt. Walsh and a Mr. Chorn, who is a civilian at Dyess with the air

Christmas Tree Lighting Ceremony To Be Dec. 1

The public is invited to attend a Christmas tree lighting ceremony and caroling at the Cisco Post Office Tuesday, Dec. 1, at 6:30 p.m., according to Bobby Ingram, postal employee. It was originally announced that the program would be Monday night.

There may be plans to visit Canterbury Villa Nursing Home for Christmas caroling at the conclusion of the post office program, he said.

The post office will furnish lights for the tree and members of the Calvary Baptist Church Youth Group will decorate the tree.

Ingram said all area church youth groups are invited to join in the caroling.

Tuesday night, the Lobos defeated Santa Anna 56-to-49 in action here. Jason Phillips was high scorer with 14 points. Robert Wages had 9; Davin Hohertz, 2; Harvey Perkins, 9; Cody Wallace, 5; Jeff Roark, 9; and Mark

McGinness, 8. The Lobos soundly defeated Cross Plains Friday night by a score of 91-to-66. Harvey Perkins led

Goodfellows Will Accept Toys

There have been quite a few applications to the Cisco Goodfellows from mothers who want their children to have a good

Christmas. Circumstances in their lives will prevent them from buying their children toys for Christmas. Sometimes this hurts the parents so much, because they want the best for their child.

The Cisco Goodfellows are accepting donations of money for these families, but they are also accepting toys to give to these children. Mr. Stanley Pirtle, president of the Cisco Goodfellows board of directors, said they will accept used toys that are not in need of repair from people. If the toys look as if they have very little wear, they will be more than welcomed. Unfortunately the Goodfellows have no way to repair the toys and the ones that need repairing will be discarded.

If anyone has any toys to donate they may bring them by the Cisco Press, 700 Conrad Hilton, during regular business hours, or give to any Cisco Goodfellow board of directors.

A single mother with two children filed out a Goodfellow application. She would appreciate any of these toys for her children. She wrote on her application, "I don't have any money left to buy the children Christmas presents, and it looks like it will be a very dismal Christmas. Christmas is a time for children, and it's hard to tell them I can't get them anything! I'm sure there are even more needy people than my small family, but I thank you for your time."

Another single mother who does not work because she has recently had surgery wrote, "I would greatly appreciate any help you wonderful people could give. I just can't stretch $200.00 a month to buy Christmas for my three children."

A single mother with three children said last year she helped to sponsor a needy family, but this year, she is hurting for money and she is the one needing help. She wrote, "I would not ask the Goodfellows for their help, but I want my children to have a good Christmas." She is the one in need this year.

Another woman lost her full time job and has two children living at home. She works part time, but it isn't enough to hardly make ends meet.

A grandmother wrote to the Cisco Goodfellows asking for a toy for her granddaughter. She said she hopes to get a little help with food for the holidays, since she also has two children living with her.

Another family who have several children need help to buy Christmas for them. The mother wrote that unless they get some help, there won't even be a Christmas at their house.

Donations are beginning to come in. Town and Country Food Store located on Conrad Hilton and I-20 said they will have a Christmas tree in their store so people can place their gifts to Goodfellows there. The store will collect all the money and toys under the tree and give to the Cisco Goodfellows.

Donations this week were:

Ted's & Rex's One Stop-$20.00.
Anonymous-$50.00.
Mayme Estes-$20.00.
Walter Hall-$100.00.
Pierce Motor Co.-$100.00.
J.O.Y. Sunday School Class at First Baptist Church-$25.00.
Tommy Gary-$25.00.
Total donations to date-$690.00.

Did you know that a person blinks his eyes 13 times a minute? That's what our pastor at church said last Sunday. Then he said that those 13 times a minute when a person blinks his eyes, someone dies of starvation in this world of ours.

This makes you kind of stop and think doesn't it. It makes you want to count the many blessings that we have. Thursday is Thanksgiving Day and at times, I forget how much I have to be thankful for. The first thing I'm thankful for is the health of my family and then I'm thankful for this great country I live in.

We have a book here at The Press, called "Thanksgiving, Timely Treasures." It has poems and writings about Thanksgiving. I thought you might enjoy one of them.

GIVER OF ALL
O Lord of heaven, and earth, and sea!

To Thee all praise and glory be;
How shall we show our love to Thee,
Who givest all?

The golden sunshine, vernal air,
Sweet flowers and fruit Thy love declare;
When harvest ripen, Thou art there,
Who givest all.

For peaceful homes and healthful days,
For all the blessings earth displays,
We owe Thee thankfulness and praise,
Who givest all.

For souls redeemed, for sins forgiven,
For means of grace and hopes of heaven,

What can to Thee, O Lord: be given,
Who givest all?

We lose what on ourselves we spend,
We have, as treasures without end,

Whatever, Lord, to Thee we lend,
Who givest all.

Whatever Lord, we lend to Thee,
Repaid in thousandfold will be;
Then gladly will we give to Thee,
Who givest all!

-Christopher Wordsworth, 1807-1885.

Several Cisco businesses have already put up their Christmas lights. Christmas is not that far off now. All the merchants here in Cisco are looking forward to a good Christmas season here. They know that a lot of people will shop here first before they go buy somewhere else.

To make it easier for their customers there will be another Open House this Monday, November 30, from 6 to 8 p.m. Most of the Cisco merchants will be open and they will have many bargains, too. There will be an advertisement in the weekend edition of The Press.

West Texas Utilities employees put up the Christmas lights on the downtown streets here last Monday.

They had the WTU truck with a lift on it, and it looked so easy and simple when they did it. I know children and a lot of adults enjoy looking at the lights, so we would like to thank these men who put the lights up.

Scenes From Disaster Drill Monday At City Park

disaster team. Mr. Chorn said the emergency crews were slow at first but once the commander in charge took over, the drill went very well. He said an accident of this nature could possibly happen since there are a lot of T-38s flying around in this area.

Darenda Vineyard, director of nursing at Graham, called Dyess AFB and asked them to set the drill up. Mrs. Vineyard said she is glad to know that Cisco will be prepared in any such emergency happened here.

Major Stothart said it would take Dyess 50-55 minutes to get here in the case of such an accident, and it's very important for the folks in this area to know what to do. They will be pretty much in charge of everything until the men from Dyess are able to get here. He advised the hospital to have 10-15 input cards ready to hand out to the ambulance people whenever there is another exercise of this scope.

Tech Sgt. Kronbach said the initial response was slow, but then it came back and everyone was doing good. He advised the police and fire chief to set up a blockade to keep people out until they get help from the Air Force. He said the only information to give out to the press would be minor details, nothing big, since it might be classified information. He said he was not criticizing the drill, but explaining what could be done to make it easier.

Tech Sgt. Walsh said the command of control needed to get a head count at the scene and again at the hospital.

Mr. Chorn said Cisco is ahead of Sweetwater in the disaster drill. He said Sweetwater had their first airplane disaster drill four years ago and they didn't do too well. He said he is also glad to see the support of the other surrounding communities.

Other advice was to keep people out of the area since there could have been explosives on the plane and there might have been more injuries if someone began tampering with the debris from the wreck.

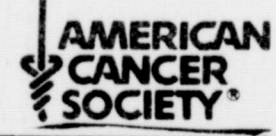

In all the drill was termed a success.

Homemaking Hints

From Janet Thomas, County Agent

Texas deer season is here and many Eastland County families will be enjoying the use of venison in their meals.

The Extension Service office has a booklet "Big Game Cooking Care" which is available upon request.

The term venison use to mean the meat of any animal or bird. Today it refers only to the meat of Antlered animals such as deer, elk, moose, etc. The meat is lean and somewhat dry. For this reason you need to add fat and cook by moist heat methods.

Most seasoned hunters have their favorite ways of preparing venison, but thought you might enjoy trying our recipes. Good hunting and bon appetit!

VENISON JERKY

1 1/2 lbs. flank steak or venison backstrap
1/2 teasp. seasoned salt
1/2 teasp. pepper
1/4 cup soy sauce
2 tbslp. liquid smoke (optional)
1 teasp. monosodium glutamate
1/2 teasp. garlic powder
1 teasp. onion powder
1/4 cup worcestershire sauce

Trim off fat from meat. Semi-freeze meat and slice with the grain, making strips approximately 2 inches long and 1/2 inch thick. Place meat in shallow baking dish. Combine all other ingredients and pour over meat. Marinate overnight. Preheat oven to 140 degrees F. Lay strips of marinated meat in single layer on oven rack with a baking sheet or foil underneath to catch drippings. Leave oven door open a crack and bake 8 to 12 hours, or until meat is chewy. Test by tasting occasionally. Serve as an appetizer or snack. Store in plastic bag or airtight container on pantry shelf.

VENISON SALAMI

4 tbslp. quick curing salt
2 1/2 teasp. mustard seed
2 1/2 teasp. garlic powder
2 1/2 teasp. coarsely ground pepper
1 teasp. hickory smoke salt
1 1/2 teasp. sausage and/or poultry seasoning
4 1/4 lbs. well-trimmed venison ground with 1/4 lbs. beef suet

MIX SPICES together. An electric blender may be used to blend spices more finely. Sprinkle in small amounts over meat. Mix Thoroughly. Refrigerate for four days, kneading once a day, every day. On the fourth day, knead again and shape into 10 rolls, 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Place on rack of broiling pan and bake at 150° for 8 hours, turning once. Cool and refrigerate.

WEST RANCH CHILI

6 tbslp. bacon drippings
3 lbs. lean venison, coarsely chopped

6 tbslp. chili powder
1 tbslp. ground oregano
1 tbslp. crushed cumin seed
1 tbslp. salt
1/2 teasp. cayenne
1 tbslp. red hot sauce (optional)
1/2 tbslp. garlic powder
1 1/2 quarts water
3 tbslp. masa harina
6 tbslp. water

In a deep well or dutch oven, heat bacon drippings; add chopped venison and brown. Add seasonings and water; heat until boiling. Reduce heat; cover and simmer 2 hours. Skim off fat. Put masa harina and 6 tablespoons water in a jar with tight fitting lid and shake until smooth. Add to chili mixture and stir. Simmer, uncovered, for 30 minutes. Serve with pinto beans. Some variations for serving the chili are: add corn chips, grated cheese and chopped onions; add chopped onions and catsup; serve with cornbread, crackers, corn or flour tortillas. It is also excellent served over cheese enchiladas.

Cancer Society To Meet

The Eastland Unit of the American Cancer Society, will meet on Monday, Nov. 30th at 7:00 p.m. at K-Bob's Steak House.

Golf Scramble

There will be an 18 hole golf scramble at Lone Cedar Country Club on Saturday, November 28. Tee-off time is 12:30.

Commissioners Study Jail-Road Improvements

Plans for a jail expansion project costing $1,336,665.00 were shown to the Eastland County Commissioners Court during a meeting Monday, Nov. 23.

The blueprints were brought to the Commissioners by James Wheeler, Abilene architect, who was hired some months ago to work on a possible jail addition.

This enlargement of the present facility would give the building a capacity of 48 inmates, including 42 men and six women, Wheeler said. Juveniles are no longer housed at the jail. Commissioners discussed various parts of the proposal, and asked Sheriff Don Underwood about several items. They then asked Wheeler if the Texas Jail Standards Commission would approve this type of enlargement.

"They have approved these schematics, and say we can proceed to the next phase of the plan," he replied.

He couldn't proceed, Wheeler told the Court, "because you don't have your land nailed down."

Billy Bacon of Pct. 4 and other Commissioners told Wheeler his plan "looked pretty good to them."

Bacon also reported that a total of 15 prisoners were in the county jail at present. He said the electrician lacked only about two days work on the jail lighting, and after that the building ought to be ready for inspection for the Jail Standards Commission.

INDIGENT CARE

On another item, Marcia Carr, Administrator of Eastland Memorial Hospital, came before the Commission with a request that Eastland Memorial be named as a provider of Indigent Health care for this area.

Comm. Bacon, Pct. 4, and

Norman Christian, Pct. 2, said that they felt all hospitals in the county should be used on an equal basis.

Mrs. Carr explained to the Commissioners that she meant that the Eastland Hospital be designated for the area not covered by the Cisco and Ranger Hospitals. In an emergency a patient would go to the nearest hospital.

Richard Robinson, Pct. 1, made the motion that Eastland Memorial Hospital be designated as a mandated provider for this area. The motion carried.

HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENTS

A group listed as the Eastland Road Improvement Committee came to the Court to discuss the road from Eastland to Stephenville. Mrs. Dorothy Greenhaw, spokesman for the group, said these roads includes Rds. 570, 2214, and FM 8. She described this route as "Very hazardous", and told of many "no passing" zones and heavy traffic.

"People haul hay and peanuts on these roads...the Associated Milk Producers use them, as well as many college kids going back and forth to Tarleton," she said. "There have been many accidents on this route."

Members of the Committee said that a traffic count along the way showed that 840-870 vehicles pass daily over the road near Desdemona.

They discussed the possibility of getting this roadway changed to a State Highway. This would require more right-of-ways, and approval of the State Highway Department. The commissioners encouraged the group to pursue the project.

NEW PIPELINE

Ray McWilliams of Union Texas Products Co.

ty limits. L.T. Owen, Comm. of Pct. 3, reported that he was maintaining about one-half mile of roadway outside Gorman.

Norman Christian received approval to advertise for bids on two used road graders from Pct. 2. The Commissioners also approved the purchase of hardware, maintenance and supplies for a computer in the County Extension Service office.

TAXES COMING IN
County Judge Scott Bailey reported that $579,000 had been received by the county in current taxes, with $7,000 collected from delinquent rolls.

The Judge also noted that the Community Christmas tree would be lit in the Courthouse lobby on Tuesday, Dec. 1 at 7 p.m.

On Dec. 2, 3 and 4 there will be a County Pecan Show in the Courthouse, the Judge said. Then on Dec. 14 the Commissioners Court will be treated to lunch by the County Extension Service.

It appeared that serious Courthouse business would begin to slack off until after the New Year.

The Next Best Thing -
...to a clear conscience and a good night's sleep is the feeling of security in owning your own home with a clear title. Peculiar to the real estate field, values are based on land and the improvements thereon, if any. But values on these are based on the title. The title then becomes the most important item to be considered when purchase of real property is contemplated. So be careful to buy good title based on an abstract of title or a policy of title insurance.

Gift Certificates Available For Eastland County History Book

Approximately 1800 family histories have been submitted for Eastland County's upcoming history book. Based on this number of family stories, it is estimated that the book will contain 700 to 800 pages.

Even though the book will not be published by Christmas, gift certificates are available to be given for Christmas. The price of the book is $52.50 plus $3.28 sales tax. If you want it mailed to your address, postage is $3.50.

The book may be paid for through a payment plan; $20.00 down and three monthly payments of $13.00 each. Persons wishing to order gift certificates for Christmas should send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Eastland County History Book, P.O. Box 856, Eastland, Texas 76448 to obtain an order blank.

You can have the book personalized by stamping your name in gold foil on the cover. This costs $5.00 per line, 21 characters per line.

Commerce office. They are $7.50 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12.

Preparations for the occasion have been underway for weeks. Funds raised from ticket proceeds will go to the maintenance of the historic Hilton.

A display of nativity scenes will be prominent among the decorations for the event. An array of delicious refreshments will be served.

Randy Taylor will direct a community choir of volunteers representing various community churches. The cantata they will present tells the story of a young girl's Christmas in the 1800s.

"Christmas at the Hilton" has been described as a "kickoff" to Cisco's Christmas season. It is scheduled for the same day as the city's Christmas parade and annual Treasure Hunt. The entire community and neighbors from surrounding towns are warmly invited to attend this special festive event. It is sponsored by the Cisco Civic League.

"High Risk" People Need Flu Vaccine
The coming of "flu season" is as inevitable as the longer nights and shorter days of winter. Influenza, or flu, is a broad name for an almost constantly changing group of viruses infecting hundreds of thousands of people worldwide each year, usually during the colder months.
From late November through April in a normal year, as many as 20 percent of the Texas population may suffer from the disease, and some cases persist even in summer. Some 2,145 cases of flu or flu-like illnesses occurred in October alone, and October is considered a low-incidence month for flu.
Flu causes upper respiratory problems, fever, headache, and body aches, and can be complicated by stomach upset, diarrhea, and general malaise. Severe cases can lead to pneumonia, and can be fatal to persons with weakened conditions. For that reason, "high risk" individuals should be immunized each year against the disease, according to the Texas Department of Health (TDH).
There were 55 deaths from influenza in Texas last year. The federal Centers for Disease Control have predicted that this year three, distinct strains of influenza will most likely threaten the U.S. TDH urges Texans to seek immunizations against the A-Taiwan, A-Leningrad, and B-An Arbor strains. The triple immunization is available in a single vaccine from physicians and some public health clinics.
Robert D. Crider, director of the TDH Immunization Division, said, "The people we most strongly advise to have their yearly flu shots are those who are 65 or older, people with chronic respiratory or heart problems, and children who may have weakened health."
Crider said that any age person, in any state of health, can be susceptible to the disease. "Last year, Texas was lucky not to have had a serious epidemic of A-Taiwan flu among college age students," he said. "A-Taiwan returned last year for the first time in about 35 years, and most young people had never been exposed to it before. We expected that unimmunized students, in the close quarters of the classrooms during cold weather, would be especially hard hit by the flu. But as I said, we were lucky, the weather was mild, and no large outbreaks developed. This year, we might not be so fortunate—

During the third quarter of 1987, the rate of existing home sales in Texas increased 8% over the same period in 1986. This marks the fifth consecutive quarter sales have increased since the slowdown in the first half of 1986, according to Bill Stinson, president of the Texas Association of REALTORS (TAR).
"In view of the higher interest rates experienced during these 3 months, this is an excellent performance for Texas real estate," said Stinson. "It is much better than many analysts predicted when rates rose. It appears that the slightly higher interest rates have not hampered residential real estate."
"This increase also shows that the pent up demand from the summer selling season was not completely fulfilled. There may still be many potential buyers getting into the market, so the rest of the year may follow suit," Stinson said.
Sales have steadily rebounded since the third quarter of 1986 and sales volume is reaching levels achieved in 1985.
On a seasonally adjusted, annual basis the sales rate of previously owned homes in Texas rose to 232,100 units in the third quarter of 1987, compared to 214,900 units in the same three-month period in 1986. Sales include single-family houses, town homes and condominiums.
Texas ranked third among states in overall resale activity. The sales rate nationwide was down 3.3%.
TAR, the largest trade association in Texas, has more than 50,000 members. TAR is dedicated to increased professionalism in the real estate industry and belongs to the National Association of REALTORS.
The annual rate of a particular quarter represents what total sales would be if the relative sales pace were maintained for four consecutive quarters.
Seasonally adjusted annual rates are used in reporting monthly and quarterly data to factor out seasonal variations in resale activity. For example, home sales volume is higher in the summer and relatively light in winter months, primarily due to weather differences.

Preparing Tender Venison

COLLEGE STATION—If the venison's tough, don't blame the cook. It could be due to what the hunter did—or didn't do—in the field, says a wildlife specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

"In addition to the age and sex of the animal, hunting and field dressing practices are extremely important in determining the quality of venison," says Don Steinbach.

"An undisturbed animal which is cleanly shot will yield more tender meat than a stressed animal. Field dressing the carcass as soon as possible and letting it hang for a full 48-hours will also increase tenderness by allowing muscles to stretch."

He adds that aging the carcass in cold storage just above freezing for about a week will add to the tenderness and possibly the flavor of the venison.

After that, the tenderness is up to the cook.

According to TAEX home economist Marilyn Haggard, the key to preparing tender venison is to cook it as you would lean beef.

"Most game has little fat and so is very similar to lean beef. The naturally more tender cuts, such as the loin and rib can be pan fried or roasted. But round steak, meat from the leg and the less tender cuts are best when cooked by braising, stewing or pot roasting," she says.

Haggard cautions against overcooking game meat. "It has short fibers that toughen quickly if overcooked or cooked at too high a temperature. Plan to serve it medium- to well-done rather than rare or overcooked."

Marinating venison for stir-fry, or fajitas and before pan-frying or roasting will also make it more tender. She advises marinating the meat in an acid-based sauce for at least 24 hours.

"If you use a sauce with the venison, reduce the amount of sugar in the recipe. The natural flavor is sweeter than other meat, so sauces made for domestic meats may be too sweet," notes the home economist.

Haggard also recommends removing all visible fat before cooking, since it will exaggerate the gamey flavor. If some fat is required, ground pork or beef fat can be substituted.

"Some people like to add chunks of beef fat or bacon to self-baste and moisten venison as it roasts," she says. "If you're trying to cut back on your intake of fat, however, you'll be better off sticking to low-fat cooking methods such as marinating and stir-frying the meat."

Both specialists agree that venison has an undeserved reputation for toughness, yet, in a recent research study using taste panels, Texas A&M University graduate Dan Moczygemba found that venison was rated as tender as lean beef and only slightly less tender than lean pork.

When the beef, pork and venison were compared for fat and cholesterol levels, Moczygemba says preliminary analyses indicated no significant differences.

"From a health standpoint that means venison, like other lean meats, can make a significant contribution of protein and other nutrients to the diet without adding extra fat," Haggard maintains.

Gibb Lewis Appoints Jim Parker To Joint Selection Committee

AUSTIN—Texas House Speaker Gibb Lewis, D-Fort Worth, has appointed State Representative Jim Parker to the Joint Select Committee on the Judiciary.

The committee was established with the passage of House Concurrent Resolution 20 during the second called session of the 70th Legislature. It will study needed or desirable changes affecting the state's judiciary and judicial branch operations.

In light of recent questions regarding judicial conduct and the increasing impact of partisan politics on the quality of the state justice system, the panel will examine current and potential methods of selecting our state judges. The committee will prepare a complete report, including findings and recommendations to the 71st Legislature.

Parker, a Democrat from Comanche, is serving his third term as a lawmaker. He is vice chairman of the House Criminal Jurisprudence committee, as well as a member of the House Jurisprudence committee, as well as a member of the House Judicial Affairs and General Investigating committees.

Lewis said in announcing the appointment, "Providing our citizens with a justice system that is not influenced by political forces is essential if we expect to maintain public confidence in our state courts."

RANGER

In a ruling last week in 91st District Court, James Jay of Gorman was refused a license to sell liquor from property he owns on the south side of I-20 at the lake road. Jay and his attorney, Lee Haney of Brownwood, appeared before the Ranger City Council May 11 and requested permission to sell liquor, beer and wine in the city limits. Mayor David Rogers advised Jay that voters had decided in 1985 to keep that area dry. Jay requested a certification from City Secretary Barbara Wheat to sell liquor at the aforementioned location, and was refused this by Mrs. Wheat. She based her refusal on an opinion by the Texas Attorney General that "A dry area annexed by a wet city remains dry." Jay then filed his lawsuit against Wheat on May 21. This suit has now been denied.

The Ranger Chamber of Commerce will host a Tree Lighting ceremony Thursday, Dec. 3 in front of the old Depot. Phylecia Schooling, Chamber President, is in the process of finding "just the right tree", and with the help of the Ranger Jaycees and the RVFD, she hopes to have the tree in place right after Thanksgiving. The Ranger Girl Scouts Association has taken on the big task of making decorations for the tree. The Ranger Community Chorus and the Girl Scouts will sing Carols, beginning at 6:30 p.m. that night. The Girl Scouts will also sing Christmas Carols in front of Western Manor at 5:30 p.m., and proceed down Main Street singing as they approach the tree. Come out and enjoy this Christmas cheer.

Ranger merchants will be holding "Open House" during the Holiday season. The events will begin on Nov. 28 at Adams Grocery from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m., and continue until just after Christmas. There will be special prices on many items for your gift-giving. Watch the Ranger Times for details.

Flowers by Jones will hold an Open House on Friday, Dec. 11 from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. The location is 469 W. Main. "Red Tag" specials will be on display, with everything marked down. During "Open House" you can also save 10 percent. Door prizes will be given and refreshments served.

Do you enjoy cutting your own Christmas tree? Crossroads Tree Farms has opened southeast of Ranger, and you can go out and cut your Eiderica Pine or buy one live in a pot. Begin a new tradition for your family.

CISCO

The annual Cisco Merchant's Treasure Hunt will be held on Saturday, Dec. 5 immediately following the Christmas Parade. This Treasure Hunt will begin the Christmas buying season in Cisco, and 26 merchants have already signed up for participation. Free prizes will be offered to persons holding winning tickets, with winning number displayed in the store window or in the place of business. Tickets can be picked up at the Chamber of Commerce office during regular business hours. A list of merchants and their prizes will be published in The Cisco Press until the time of the hunt.

The Cisco Writers Club invites the public to a meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 1, 7 p.m. at the Bank Community Room. Books by local authors will be on display, with a number of the authors present. One of these autographed books would make a special gift for Christmas. Mary Carey of Willow, Alaska will review her book "Jane Long," and other writers will also tell of their publications. Refreshments will be served.

This Board, composed of pastors, church staff members, and laypersons, conducts the business of the BGCT between annual sessions.

This is a chance for all in the community to come out and give thanks for the blessings God has so liberally given.

There will be a tree lighting ceremony on Tuesday, Dec. 1, 7 p.m. in the lobby of the County Courthouse. There will be carols and other special music to begin the Holiday season. Persons attending are encouraged to bring cans of food to be distributed to the needy.

The Countywide Extension Homemaker Christmas Luncheon and awards program will be held Dec. 2 at the Eastland Woman's Clubhouse. ## Holiday Planning

COLLEGE STATION -- As the number of shopping days until Christmas decreases, it's easy to run out of money, as well as time.

"Christmas is the biggest spending season of the year, yet few families plan ahead for the added burden of their income," says Bonnie Piernot, a family economics specialist.

"A common strategy is to resort to credit spending for holiday expenses, although that may just postpone the financial problem until after the first of the year."

But it's not too late to evaluate your financial situation and gain some control over holiday spending, according to the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist.

"Figure out the amount of money you have available for holiday expenses, including money from paychecks you will receive between now and Christmas," she advises. "Then estimate your remaining expenses, including holiday food and entertaining, cards, decorations, party clothes, gifts and other costs."

If your estimated cost exceed available funds, Piernot suggests enlisting the entire family's help in curbing costs. Some options include establishing dollar limits for entertainment, clothing and holiday foods.

Since gifts are a major expense, she also advises setting dollar limits for each gift, making gifts and giving services, limiting gifts to certain members of the family or exchanging names to reduce the number of gifts.

"Once you know what gifts you plan to buy, go shopping with a list," says the specialist. "That will allow you to comparison shop for items at a specific amount and will reduce impulse buying."

"If you decide to use your credit cards, set limits on how much you'll charge, and keep track of credit purchases so you won't run up large bills that are difficult to pay off in a reasonable amount of time," cautions Piernot.

"Remember too, that the finance charges on any unpaid charge card balances will actually add to the cost of your gifts."

The home economist suggests keeping accurate records of all holiday expenses this year, so you'll have a good estimate of expenses for planning ahead next year.

CJC Wranglers Lose Two At South Plains Classic

The CJC Wrangler Men did not fare well in the McDonald's Classic on the campus of South Plains College in Levelland last weekend, losing to powerful Odessa 95-67 on Friday, and to host South Plains 76-53 Saturday.

The Wranglers started out strong against nationally ranked Odessa, but ball-handling difficulties late in the first half allowed Odessa to put together a string of 12 unanswered points as they spurred to a 50-26 halftime lead. The Wranglers were able to cut into the lead several times during the second half, only to see Odessa take command late in the game for the easy win.

Cold shooting from the field as well as from the free throw line spelt doom for CJC in the Saturday game. The Wranglers hit only 31.7 percent of their shots from the field and only 53 percent from the line and were never in the game against the host South Plains team, which was playing before a large homecoming crowd.

Cisco is now 5-6 for the season and played Howard at home Tuesday night. They break for the holidays Wednesday and return to action next Tuesday against Western Oklahoma in Altus.

Next home game is Tuesday, Dec. 8, a return match with Western Oklahoma.

Thomas Miller, a 6-6 sophomore from Killeen, leads the team in both scoring (13 ppg.) and rebounding (7.5 pg.). Mark Benson, a 6-1 freshman from Fort Worth, is the assist leader with 3.9 per game.

Lesa Schoemer Signs Letter To SMU

Lesa Schoemer, a 6-0 post player from Cisco Junior College, has signed a national letter of intent to enroll at SMU next fall, according to an announcement by Mustang coach Welton Brown.

Schoemer averaged 13.0 points and 8.2 rebounds, and hit 52 percent from the field and 68 percent from the free throw line, while earning junior college all-conference honors. She joins teammate Jeannia Nix who signed with the Mustangs last year after helping the Wranglers to 25 wins.

"Les is an excellent rebounder who will bring needed experience and leadership to our front court game," Brown said. "It is always a great feeling to successfully recruit the players you go after and Les is certainly one of the ones we wanted."

The Mustangs have also signed a 6-2 Holly Houser from Port from Port Neches-Groves. Houser averaged 16.3 points and 7.3 rebounds as a junior last year.

Cisco Child Care Center Receives Donations

Cisco Child Care Center wishes to acknowledge donations to its operating fund by First National Bank, Sunland Life Insurance Company and Olney Savings and Loan Association, according to Center Director Winona Payne.

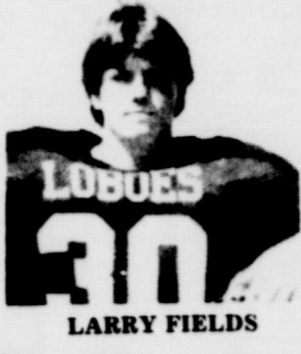

The Child Care Center is a non-profit organization which depends on its support from community businesses and individuals. The Center receives no funds from governmental agencies -- local, state or federal. In an effort to provide inexpensive child care for the working mothers of Cisco.

Because the fees are less than the expense of keeping each child, the loss incurred by the Center must be made up by donations. Even though the Child Care Center receives no state funding, the State does regulate the operation of the Center, and the Center is licensed and approved by the State of Texas.

I've Been Wrong Before

By Gordon S. Clark
They say that almost everybody has a look alike somewhere in the world. That bit has played well in pictures and in a few cases has actually landed the wrong person in prison. I do recall a few sets of identical twins where the confusion was at times funny. In the case of Elanor and Alma Starkey it didn't make any difference which one the teacher scolded, Elanor always cried but if it was Alma catching the calling down she simply tried to look a hole through the teacher while sister cried like heart broken. In the CCC camp at Vista, Calif. I said something to another boy and got a blank look. When I tried again and asked why he couldn't remember anything two days he let me in on a little secret. He wasn't himself at all. Since we had no week and leave three weeks in a row because when there were fires burning in the district all camps were on 100% stand by. His twin brother whom I mistook him for wanted out for a bit and, yes, I did remember being introduced last week end.

Since the one I was now talking to had been in a CCC Camp the previous year he knew the routine and a quick change of his civilian clothes for the brothers uniform did it.

He then recounted how they got good grades in high school. He was good in math but his brother was best in English. All it took was one to play sick on test day and the other take the test twice. Then for finals on the alternate subject the second brother took the regular test then the make up test too.

Neither boy was dumb but a grade of A beats a B plus.

I was NEVER guilty of such trickery. Maybe I would never have passed Spanish if my older brothers girl friend hadn't graded the papers but though I never asked anyone to cheat for me you can bet I never asked for a recount. Nor did I press my luck by trying Spanish II. "Let well enough alone," was my opinion on such matters.

About 1945 I was passing Higginbothams Lumber yard when Bon Wolcox said to another carpenter named Kite, "See, there he is. I told you it wouldn't be him."

Then they explained that a young man with dark hair and about my build who also only had one hand had an hour earlier robbed a bank in Mineral Wells. Gee, I am glad nobody else jumped to conclusions.

Another time a man from Breckenridge said to Jimmy Cowen after I walked past him at the turkey hatchery, "When did that Hatfield boy lose his hand?" Jimmy told Roy that I had mentioned being distant kin to the Hatfields in W. Va. but had told him I had not met anyone in this area by the name.

I know the law likes an eye witness but there are times when you can't believe your own eyes much less someone else's.

Still, people are mostly like snow flakes. They say in all those uncountable numbers no two are exactly alike. Close but not exact. Like those Starkey girls I was telling about they looked alike but personalities and talents were miles apart. At times it just takes more information to sort things out.

Veterans Day '87- The Momentum Builds, The Countdown Begins

Veterans Day 1987 held a special meaning for the Vietnam Women's Memorial Project (VWMP). From that day on, project volunteers will have only 12 months to capture the attention and support of the American people.

At the end of that 12 months the members of the project plan to dedicate a new addition to the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington, D.C. — a statue of a woman, and more importantly, a new awareness that women did indeed serve their country during the Vietnam War. To achieve their goals the project will need to raise $1.2 million in private donations.

"So often when people learn that I served in Vietnam their first response is, 'Gee, women served in Vietnam?'" explains Donna Marie Boulay, a co-founder of the Vietnam Women's Memorial Project and a Vietnam veteran. "People simply don't picture women as veterans—it's not the complete picture, and it's not historically accurate."

"About 250,000 thousand American women served during the Vietnam War. Between 8,000 and 10,000 of us were stationed in Vietnam — some of us were wounded, some were captured and some died," states Boulay. "The losses the United States suffered in Vietnam were tragic, but without women serving in the Vietnam War many more Americans would not have come home."

Ninety percent of the women who served in Vietnam were nurses in the Armed Forces and U.A.I.D. It was the first time women had been stationed in a foreign war amid guerrilla warfare. According to Boulay, women came back with much of the same postwar trauma as the men.

"Women lived and worked amidst battle conditions," adds Boulay. "We often put in 12 to 16 hours a day. We rarely had down time, no chance to be bored. Working and caring and listening was the rule of every day for us."

"We were there. We experienced war. We were patriots. We just want people to know and remember," emphasizes Boulay.

One of the ways Boulay and the VWMP hope this will be accomplished is by adding a monument to the existing Vietnam Veterans Memorial. As a part of the existing memorial, the bronze statue of a female veteran would be dedicated to the "Men and women of the United States who served in the Vietnam War." The statue would join "the wall," the American flag and the statue of the three infantry men which currently make up the memorial.

While erecting the statue is the most tangible goal of the VWMP, it is only one aspect of a threefold program to bring recognition to some 250,000 women who served their country during the Vietnam era, either as members of the Armed Forces or civilians. While thousands served in the Armed Forces, others served in the United Service Organizations (USO), CIA and Red Cross.

The VWMP wants to educate the nation about the role women had during the war. And since no accurate records exist they plan to research the number of women who served during the war.

Invisible Veterans

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—It was November 1971, when Mary Beth Crowley stepped off an airplane in Seattle, her tour of duty as an Army nurse in Vietnam at an end. The contrast provided a shock.

"In the space of 12 hours you went from being in a war zone to being in the United States, where life was normal," she says. "You couldn't really believe you were here."

Her grandmother met her at the airport. There were other military personnel there who saw the Vietnam campaign ribbon Crowley wore proudly on her uniform. She saw them talking and pointing at her. There was no fanfare. From Seattle she went quietly home to St. Paul, Minn. She had some time off, and the first night she sat down with her mother and told her what it was like—the long hours of nursing, the good friends she made and the suffering.

Crowley continued working as a nurse. The war faded from her life, except for times when she ran into other women who had been there. Then they shared memories. For the most part, she says, other didn't seem to want to know about it.

"No one was negative about it," she adds. "It was like they didn't know what to say. Perhaps they weren't interested. So I never said much."

Neither did many of the 10,000 other women who served in Vietnam, at least not for several years. Americans did not want to think about Vietnam, its divisive impact on the U.S. or even its victims, much less those who worked with, nursed and comforted them.

plan to research the number of women who served during the war. As a result, one of the primary functions of the VWMP is to provide information to film producers, writers, educators, students, libraries and others interested in learning more about how women were involved during the war. The project also responds to requests for information; maintains and provides a bibliography of books and articles written about the involvement of women during this time and gives individuals and organizations the names of women veterans willing to participate in interviews, conferences and other activities.

The efforts of the VWMP will culminate with the dedication of the monument, currently scheduled for Veterans Day 1988. At that time the project will distribute a memorial book to all known female Vietnam veterans. The book would contain the reflections of women veterans about their experiences during the war.

Doebbeling made friends with Army Lt. Sharon Lane, shortly after Lane arrived in Vietnam. Doebbeling gave Lane a tour of the hospital, and they went out together on a day off. Lane said her boyfriend back home was dying of cancer. Then she added, "I know I'll never go home either."

"I asked her what she meant," recalls Doebbeling. "She said, 'I don't know what I mean. I just know I'll never go home.'"

A week later the Viet Cong attacked the hospital at Chu Lai where Lane and Doebbeling worked. Doebbeling said she jumped under her cot and covered herself with a flak jacket when the rockets began to land. In another room nearby, Sharon Lane was struck in the throat by flying fragments and was killed instantly. She was one of the eight American military women to die in Vietnam.

For Crowley, her first night in the emergency room a group of about 15 Vietnamese were brought in, victims of a Viet Cong attack on their village. "There was a stretcher with a little girl on it," Crowley says. "I took off her field dressing and her intestines fell out. She was still awake." The child later died.

People weren't there (in the hospitals) long enough to get close to," Crowley says. "You never really knew what happened to them. In some respects it was bad but in some respects it was good."

Doebbeling, however, recalls a young man whose kidney and liver had been shot away. He was listed as seriously ill and was never stable enough to be evacuated to Japan. The physician in charge was reluctant to inform the man's parents that his condition was deteriorating.

During a visit to Houston, she saw another veteran, a man, sobbing. "Five years ago I wouldn't have known what to do," she says. "I just went over and hugged him. On the one hand he was a total stranger to me and on the other hand I felt I knew him very well."

Betty Doebbeling, of St. Paul, first went to Vietnam as a civilian hired by the U.S.A.I.D. program in July 1967. She stayed for 18 months, then returned to the U.S. and joined the Army. She returned to the war zone for another year.

"Talking with you got me to thinking I am a veteran," wrote a woman after she had called from Houston. "I really felt good talking about my experiences 17 years ago. Finally, I really could share my feelings because when I came home, no one wanted to listen, no one cared what I'd gone through or what I felt."

Boulay says on her return, she went straight to work in a hospital in Tacoma, Wash. and did not see her family for six months. "I didn't want them to see me; by the time I did I could talk to them and not cry," she adds. "My sister never understood why I went."

The VWMP wants to complete its work by Veterans Day in November 1988. The more the word gets out, the more women step forward to help, many of them by doing what they had little opportunity for before—talking about what they did.

There were 627 Red Cross women in Vietnam, three of whom died there. Barb Lilly, of Battle Creek, Mich. was an American Red Cross worker there. Though she was not in the military, Lilly says she had many of the same experiences they did, for which no amount of training could have prepared her. She saw men shot, and she saw men die. When enemy fire came in she had to run for cover or dive under her bed. One night she returned to her bunk after an attack and found shrapnel on it.

To cover the cost of achieving their goals to educate, research and honor the female Vietnam era veteran, this national grassroots effort requires $1.2 million in private funding. Individuals interested in supporting the VWMP's efforts, or learning more about the project may write

No One Was Injured In Two Vehicle Accident Here

Two young men were involved in a two vehicle accident last Friday here in Cisco.

Steve Couch, 16, was driving a 1983 Cavalier north on Ave. F, when he ran into Randall Caraway, 23, who was driving a 1989 GMC van west on 7th street. The impact caused the van to roll over. Neither man was injured in the accident.

Cisco police officer

Frank Thumsuden who investigated the accident, said there is not a yield sign on the south side of Ave. F and 7th street. He said the written law in the Texas Highway Department book is to yield to the right of way, when there is no street sign for either direction.

Mr. Caraway had to kick out the front windshield of the van to get out of the vehicle. This is the second accident this month for the Caraway family. Randall's mother, Margarite Caraway was in an accident the week before, where the car she was driving rolled over. She was not injured in the accident.

Senate Approves Funding For SSC Project

WASHINGTON—A total of $35 million has been earmarked for the Superconducting Super Collider (SSC) as part of the Energy and Water Development Appropriations bill approved by the Senate, U.S. Senator Phil Gramm has reported.

These funds are to be spent to continue the SSC research and development program and site selection studies.

"Four Texas bids for the Super Collider project are pending with the Department of Energy, two state-sponsored bids for sites in the Panhandle and the Ellis County area and two independent bids for sites in the Midland-Odessa and El Paso areas," Gramm noted. "This action marks a continuation of research funding for the Super Collider program, which will grow into a multi-billion-dollar investment," the senator said.

Gramm also noted that Texans gave the SSC project their stamp of approval by approving Proposition 19, a bond issue that will provide key support for state bids. In total, almost $16 billion is contained in the Energy and Water 1988 appropriations legislation, including funds to be spent for a wide variety of Texas projects and programs.

Total funding for Texas-related programs includes, for instance, $14 million for flood control construction on Cooper Lake and Channels, $8 million for the operation and maintenance of the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway and $10.4 million for the Pantex Plant in Amarillo, said the senator.

"This appropriations bill contains the funding for a broad range of programs and projects that are important to Texas," Gramm said.

"It represents a substantial return of the tax dollars we send to Washington in a form that will benefit Texas," he said.

Eris Ritchie Tells Of Many Activities Of I-20 Church Of Christ To Rotary Club

The Cisco Rotary Club voted to give $100.00 to the Cisco Goodfellows last Thursday, at their regular club meeting held at Tradition's Restaurant. Jerry Morgan, president, presided over the meeting. Rev. Otto Urban gave the invocation. Attendance was 85.71 percent.

Eris Ritchie was in charge of the weekly program. Mr. Ritchie spoke to the club on what he likes about Cisco.

Ritchie said Cisco has had a lot of economic misfortune, especially in the retail trade.

He said when times started going bad for Cisco a lot of people began to talk down about Cisco. But he added that usually the people who are talking bad about Cisco are not the ones who are the doers in the community.

Mr. Ritchie said there are many advantages living in Cisco and one of the advantages is the good churches here. He said there are a lot of good people in Cisco and people are the ones that make up a church.

Mr. Ritchie, who is a member and deacon of the

I-20 Church of Christ, mentioned several of the good points about the different churches in Cisco.

Mr. Ritchie said when churches are called on they come through.

Ritchie said some of the activities the I-20 Church of Christ offer the public are Bible studies and a counseling service. The pastor of the church, W.K. Boyce is a well trained certified counselor, Ritchie said, and he offers free counseling to the students at Cisco Junior College. Rev. Boyce was a guest at the meeting.

The I-20 Church will present a Bible course taught by Professor Gary Colvin. Eris Ritchie said several of the courses have been taught and would cost a student $500-$600 if taken for a college credit. There is no charge at the Bible Chair. Mr. Ritchie said a study on the books of Romans and Galatians will begin soon.

Another guest of Mr. Ritchie was Dr. Ken Hammess, who teaches at Cisco Junior College and is the chairman of the Bible Chair committee. Hammess also served with the committee overseas. He said he keeps his ear open to the students and if the need arises he can send the students to W.K. Boyce for counseling.

Rev. Boyce said if a crisis comes up in a student's life and they need to talk he is at his office from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday thru Thursday.

County Sets Block For State Capitol

Eastland County and its year of organization will be memorialized on sidewalk paving just outside the State Capitol in Austin, according to information at the County Commissioners meeting Monday.

County Judge Scott Bailey told the Commissioners that the Capitol building is being refurbished, and each county is being asked for a $300 donation for paving on the outside.

In this sidewalk project a block will belong to each contributing county. For this county the words "Eastland County, 1873" will be inscribed.

The Commissioners approved this plan, and the money will come from a county fund designated for Historical Preservation.

In the upper right is "Volume Five-Texas Lore" by Patrick M. Reynolds, the most recent addition to the "Texas Lore" collection. Each volume contains illustrated stories of folklore and little-known stories of Texas' colorful history from the award-winning newspaper feature. The complete set (Volumes One thru Five in a handsome slipcase) can be ordered for $16.25 postpaid from The Red Rose Studio, 358 Flintlock Drive, Willow Street, Pa. 17584.

New Texas Lore Volume Explores

Have you ever heard about New Birmingham, the steel-making town that was jinxed by an embittered widow? Or the filibusters -- land pirates -- who tried to steal Texas from Spain? Can you tell where the only hand-operated ferry across a US border is located? Did you know that the first automobile in Texas was hand-built by a blacksmith in Lockhart? These and other nuggets grace the pages of "Volume Five -- Texas Lore" by Patrick M. Reynolds, the most recent fully-illustrated book on Texas history and folklore.

This tome also has stories about the Seminole-Negro Scouts, the duel between Generals Felix Huston and Albert Sidney Johnston for command of the Texas Republic Army; Tascosa, the cowboy capital of the Plains; Fort Griffin, the wildest town in the west; Thomas William Ward, the handi-capable mayor of Austin; the Spider Railroad and its official (female) doctor; plus many more unusual stories.

The Red Rose Studio of Willow Street, Pennsylvania, publishes the series of "Texas Lore" books. For a catalog and ordering information, send $1 to The Red Rose Studio, 358 Flintlock Drive, the town of Willow Street, Pa. 17584.
