

Mr. Muleshoe . . .

By J. M. Forbes

I have suddenly developed a dislike for coffee. It almost makes me ill to smell the stuff cooking. I enjoyed a few cups, say 7 to 12 per day until a few days ago when the price jumped 14 or 15 cents a pound at a time when it already was pretty doggone high, for coffee. I have started out to teach myself to eschew the use of the commodity.

On second thought, I have decided to eliminate the use of pork products and all staple and fancy groceries for nearly all these have advanced in price since the beginning of the war in Korea. And we are going to have to quit using paper, for our paper salesman informed us Tuesday that all paper is advancing in price, as high as it was before.

It's a vicious circle; for how can we continue to drink high priced coffee, eat high priced pork chops, and use high priced paper unless we get more for what we do. And when we charge YOU more for what we do, we have no doubt but that you will charge us a little more for what you do for us. Where is there a stop?

Lincoln said: "This nation could not endure half slave and half free."

If he were here today he conceivably might observe that the whole world now is partly free and partly slave. We have enslaved with violence, brutality, and murder, and deceit their own people who occupy one sixth of the world's land area and countless millions of people in the countries they have occupied or which lie near them.

The country of Bailey itself in no way could live half law-abiding and half outlaw. Either the outlaws would take over or the peaceful citizens would put them out of business. And someday, through the United Nations or something similar, peace and security and freedom and individual rights will come to all people everywhere, perhaps not in our lifetime but someday it will come to pass.

The sort of teaching which would inspire Koreans to murder helpless wounded American boys; that would inspire neighbors to invade northern Greece and kidnap children, starting or beating to death parents who objected, that would let soldiers or "thought police" murder a man for an opinion or exile him to hard labor for life and sell his family into slavery for a minor infraction; such teachings can and will be eliminated in this world someday.

Leadership for such a world reformation rests with the people of the U. S. joined with people of civilized nations which are still free to act.

Americans enjoy easier and more comfortable lives than ever before. There are more and better products for the average person and many services to make life pleasant. Such things as automobiles, air-planes, central heating, air conditioning, electric washing and ironing machines, radios, and television sets would have been hailed as miracles back in the Gay Nineties. Today, these and many other "miracles" have become commonplace.

How does it happen that we enjoy such a high standard of living? It is not because we work longer, for a fact, we work shorter hours than people do in the rest of the world. Nor do we work harder physically. The real reasons for prosperity are that a system of private enterprise provides the efficient organization in developing (1) machines to do the work and (2) abundant low cost fuels to run those machines. That explains why we can produce more with less time and effort than the people of Europe, South America, or Asia.

Lions Ladies' Night Tuesday

"Uncle Jay" Guest Speaker At

J. B. Lynn, better known as "Uncle Jay", of the Globe-News and radio station KGNC of Amarillo, was guest speaker at the Lions Club Ladies' Night at the American Legion Home Tuesday night. Approximately 100 Lions, ladies and guests attended the affair.

Noel Woodley was master of ceremonies. The Young led the group in singing "God Bless America" and George Hicks gave the invocation. Pat Bobo introduced the guests. Bill Moore was program chairman. Raymond Lee Johns, acting manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce with headquarters at Abilene, spoke briefly on the needs of West Texas and said that the organization was going to be reorganized to better serve these needs. He urged the people of the South Plains area to form underground water conservation districts and elect their own directors instead of having a governing body in Austin.

"Prof." F. L. Shelby introduced the guest speaker with an amusing bit of fanfare. "Uncle Jay" affirmed the talk made by Mr. Johns and explained the recharging of our underground water reservoir and explained how the Pecos and Canadian Rivers had eliminated this recharging from the mountain streams.

He gave an interesting and thought-provoking outlook on the Korean situation and illustrated his point with an example of tolerance of race, creed, religion and political beliefs. The different groups of people in the United States form a minority, he said, but all of them working together form a nation based on democracy and freedom, and he urged us to keep it so.

With Only 1 Day Left, Campaigning Shifts Into High Gear All Over State

With only one day left for active campaigning before the polls open Saturday, candidates for all offices in this county and district are rolling into high gear. The major aim of most of the congressional and district candidates, as well as those seeking county and precinct offices is to meet as many voters personally as the time allows.

This project calls for covering a lot of territory, keeping political fences in good repair during the last vital days—and avoiding making a bust which may cost them votes.

In the county political races, six officials have no opposition, five of them running for re-election. They are Cecil H. Tate for County Judge and Ex-Officio School Superintendent; Helen Jones for County Treasurer; Norman Bays for County Attorney; M. G. Bass for County and District Clerk; R. R. (Bob) Kindle for Commissioner, Precinct No. 3; and R. P. McCall for Commissioner in Precinct No. 4.

Other county officials having opposition are for Sheriff, Tax-Assessor-Collector, Hugh Freeman, re-election; Daniel B. Boone and G. C. Young, Commissioner Precinct No. 1 candidates are L. T. McKillip, re-election, Neal Warren and Clyde D. Henry, Commissioner Precinct No. 2 candidates are Woodrow W. Couch, Tom L. Smith, re-election, and A. T. (Tracy) White, re-election. All of the district offices are hotly contested this year. Harold M. LaFont of Hale County and H. J. (Doc) Blanchard of Floyd County are candidates for State Representative of the 120th Legislative District. Mr. LaFont is running for re-election.

Radio stations, newspapers, and commercial printing concerns all over the state have been busy the last week turning out literature and announcements to influence voters.

These cattle were short legged, thick bodied, heavy quartered rugged type. We sincerely believe our T. They say it was very cool there and they say the country is a scenic wonderland. They hope to return there sometime for more looking. The Burketts traveled 4,200 miles on their trip.

BAESON DISCUSSES

"Forecasting"

BAESON PARK, MASS., JULY 14
Forty years ago this week I compiled my famous Babsonchart—upon perfecting which I have since spent nearly one million dollars. It has been used by tens of thousands of bankers, manufacturers, merchants and investors to forecast business conditions. When reading my chart, however, it is necessary to realize that it forecasts "danger" when it is registering the highest prosperity, when stocks are going up and when full employment exists. This "upside-down" reading is what fools people.

DON'T BE FOOLED BY PROSPERITY

Hence, when a crash comes there is no public warning; it comes as a terrific "bolt out of a clear blue sky" to most businessmen. In my forty years I have seen six of these, one in 1907, 1914, 1921, 1932, 1937 and 1942. When the next one comes it will again appear as a great surprise to 95% of the people, especially young businessmen who have never been seriously caught before.

The future of many businesses in step with the market trends, depends very largely on keeping today there are many good arguments for continued good business. Among these are the inflationary pressure, and the military expenditures, and the civilian supplies which we are sending abroad. But, when I think of our consumer installment indebtedness, of our homes which are being bought with almost no down payments, and of the attitude of labor leaders I am bearish.

As I look back, however, over the last forty years I find that bankers have usually been too early in their forecasts both of prosperity and of gloom. This means that they have turned bearish a year or two before the bear market really came, and also turned bullish a year or two too early. Hence, I discard both the opinions of optimistic young businessmen, and of older pessimistic bankers, but I am content to watch my chart.

EMPLOY MORE YOUNG PEOPLE

On the other hand, every successful business needs vigorous and optimistic young people as well as conservative oldsters. Statistics on business failures will show that disasters have come when either the executives were all young or all old. This is very important to remember. It means that business firms to be successful should have their executives consist of both young and old,—as well as men and women.

Younger people have more energy, are more susceptible to new ideas and do not become set in their ways as we older ones do. This is especially important at the present time as our nation is in a truly New Era which we older ones do not like but which the younger ones—who knew not the "good old days"—are adjusted to and are content with. One more thing for me personally to think over in this connection:—When recently going over my record of income these past forty years I find that—before taxes—it was at its maximum when I was only 50 years old. Apparently, I have been slipping a little ever since! This should be a warning to middle-aged readers!

IMPORTANCE OF PENSIONS

The above makes me believe that the rage for pensions may be a good thing for stockholders as well as for wageworkers. Unlike many wage increases, which come wholly out of the stockholders or those who purchase the factory's products, this is not so with contributory pensions. Pensions may be an excellent investment for the company because they should keep the organization viable and give the younger and more efficient ones something to look forward to.

In my column next week I will discuss how the Present Outlook appears to me. This will be after a trip to New York consulting some

IT'S TIME TO MAKE UP YOUR MIND ABOUT STATE CANDIDATES

From Canyon News

The Canyon News always carries a review of some of the state candidates who are little known to the voters, and make recommendations for your support.

While we are not hot and bothered about politics this year, we have some ideas about the candidates whom we shall support. You are entitled to your opinions but here are our choices.

We are confident that Governor Allan Shivers will defeat all of his six opponents in the first primary. He has made no mistakes and is entitled to his first elective term as Governor.

There are twelve candidates for Lieutenant Governor, several of whom are good men. We will vote for Preston Smith of Lubbock, simply because he is our near neighbor and has been a good State Representative. There will be a run-off, owing to the large number of candidates.

We believe that Will Wilson of Dallas county is an able candidate for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, and we shall vote for him. Likewise we shall vote for Robert W. Calvert of Hill County for place No. 2; and Meade Griffin of Hale County for place No. 3.

G. H. Nelson of Lubbock is our choice for the Court of Criminal Appeals.

We shall vote for Robert S. Calvert of Travis County for Comptroller; and Bascom Giles of Travis County for Land Commissioner.

We did not intend supporting J. E. McDonald as a candidate for re-election to the office of Commissioner of Agriculture, but have decided to stay with him because of his independence on national politics. We admire a man who refuses to wear a brass collar, and resent the efforts of any political party to force any American citizen to vote the ticket straight, regardless of the candidates which it puts up.

So far as this particular office of Commissioner of Agriculture is concerned, we have always believed you know all of the district and that it should be abolished. county candidates and are perfectly important people. Read it carefully. It will be short but will represent much work on my part.

TODAY'S meditation

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

"We are to hold by the truth, and by our love to grow up wholly into Him." (Ephesians 4:15. Moffatt.) Read Ephesians 4:11-16.

As a child, youth and young man, Abraham Lincoln experienced the hardships, rigors, and sorrows of the strenuous frontier life. He nevertheless possessed the desire to improve his mind and increase his knowledge. It has been said that his mind, even in his adult years, was a little bigger each time he returned to his parents' home. His mind kept growing. Christian living is growth. It is moving from childhood to adulthood in our understanding and use of spiritual values. It is to "press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

Is our growth in the Christian qualities of life noticeable to our friends? to ourselves? Are we becoming more like Christ in our attitudes toward people of all races? toward our possessions? toward those who despitely use us? Are the emotions of our heart becoming more Christian with the passing seasons? If not, we are failing to achieve the purpose of both religion and life.

PRAYER

Eternal Master, we commit ourselves unto Thee. Thou alone hast the power to create a right spirit within us. We know our salvation is of Thee. Therefore, "Hold o'er our being absolute sway." In the Master's name we pray. Amen. THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
I will strive to hold to the truth and by love grow more and more into the likeness of Christ.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Why Scoop No Longer Works Here

Scoop Blake paid us a friendly call at the Clarion's office last week and we were talking about when he was a reporter here.

"Remember how mad I got when I found out you were writing that election story right from your desk?" I asked him. "And how I made you get out and learn what a sheriff's job was all about?"

"I sure do, Joe," said Scoop. "I want to thank you for teaching me the 'hat-trick'—putting on my hat and finding out the facts, that is. Ther, we both had a good laugh because he found out so much that darn if he didn't run and get elected sheriff himself!

From where I sit, we should find out the facts before we try to talk about anything. When we do, we're inclined to be more tolerant... we're apt to understand a little more about the other fellow's preference for, say, his political candidate or for a temperate glass of beer now and then. I say, if you don't want to get tripped up, don't leap to conclusions!

In this case FEELING IS BELIEVING

No, the eye does not tell everything—not in this instance.

True, it tells you ROADMASTER is smart. It tells you it's big. It shows, if you watch closely, that this brawny beauty rides level and unperturbed even when road-roughness has its wheels fairly dancing.

A glance may even indicate how much lolling comfort there is here—what wide-open freedom passengers and driver know in this gay traveler.

But how can the eye tell you how you feel touching off the great power that's under this broad bonnet?

How can it reveal the silken, swift-mounting surge of oil-cushioned take-off—smooth, silky, unbroken, as Dynaflo Drive works its magic?

Even when you watch a ROADMASTER settle down to a long steep pull and crest the top going away, how can it tell you what thrill your spirits get from such ability?

And what can it say of the lift that's yours traveling in a beauty that catches all eyes, swivels passing heads, marks you by its very lines as traveling in as fine a car as any man can ask for?

No, these things you have to feel for yourself, and we're delighted to help you do so.

Your Buick dealer wants you to know about ROADMASTER firsthand—wants you to drive it, try it, feel it out.

It doesn't cost a cent to arrange such a trial. It can do a lot toward opening your eyes to the day's highest standard of fine-car feel and fine-car action—not to mention "why pay more?" prices.

How about seeing your dealer right away?

State Board Schedules Hearing At Plainview On Water Districts

LITTLEFIELD, July 18—Notices of a 21-county hearing by the State Board of Water Engineers on designation of underground water conservation districts will be posted soon.

The High Plains Water Conservation and Users Association office in Littlefield today said it understood the hearing date is Tuesday, August 29, at 10 a. m. in the Plainview city auditorium.

Six Counties, Lamp, Hockley, Dallam, Lubbock, Hale and Swisher, have petitioned the Board for designation of reservoirs for the purpose of forming districts.

Farmers who draw irrigation water from the Ogallala sands—scattered over parts of 21 Panhandle-South Plains counties—will have an opportunity to appear at the hearing. The number of irrigation wells in the area is estimated to be between 12,000 and 15,000.

Notices of the hearing will be posted in each county and will appear in at least three newspapers, Plainview, Lubbock and Amarillo.

EDITOR'S JOB EASY

One of the easiest jobs in the world is being an editor. All an editor has to do is sit at his desk twelve hours a day, 6 or 7 days a week, four or five weeks in a month and twelve months in a year and straighten out such items as the following:

Mrs. Smith of Cactus Creek let a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry.

A mischievous lad of Centerville threw a stone and cut Mr. Pike in the alley last Tuesday.

Tom Phillips climbed on the roof of his house last week, looking for a leak, and fell, striking himself on the back porch.—Muenster (Tex.) Enterprise.

HERE FROM LOCKNEY

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Nigh and son this week is his mother, Mrs. M. F. Nigh of Lockney.

TO LITTLEFIELD

Mrs. Thuman White and Mrs. Alton Cherry were in Littlefield on business Tuesday.

SEASON'S FAVORITE

The redingote dress in a smart new semi-formal length is a fashion favorite of the summer season. This glamorous cotton redingote was fashioned by Emma Domb in handkerchief sheer plaid cotton. It is worn over a theatre length formal of solid colored cotton chambrette in frosty summer colors.

Army Recruiting Picture Outlined

In view of the present Korean situation, a number of changes have been made by the Recruiting Service, which will be of interest to former servicemen and young men who have been considering a military career.

The Air Force has been authorized a troop basis increase and the Recruiting Service has been asked to assist by the reenlistment of former Air Force personnel with technical qualifications, who are not members of the Air Force Reserve. These reenlistments will be in the temporary grade equivalent to the grade held at time of discharge. Although complete regulations governing this type of reenlistment have not been received, the Recruiting Service has announced that this type of enlistment is expected to get under way in the very near future.

The Department of the Army has announced an immediate call for enlisted reservists to volunteer for extended active duty for a minimum period of one year or for such longer period as may be required. Reservists will be recalled in their reserve grades.

The reservists most urgently needed include radar, radio, tank, and anti-aircraft-artillery mechanics; engineer heavy equipment operators; cryptographic technicians; and engineer construction specialists. The preceding specialties are only a portion of the total skills required.

Individuals with dependents must have attained the grade E-4 (Cpl) or higher in order to be acceptable and all individuals must meet current physical standards.

All enlisted reservists are encouraged to make application for recall through their reserve unit instructors, who are being furnished detailed lists of the exact military occupational specialties needed.

A voluntary recall program for a limited number of reserve officers will be announced shortly. Medical Corps officers of the Reserve are urged to apply without delay.

At the present time, normal recruiting activities continue without noticeable change. Volunteers are being offered the many advantages of a military career; good pay, educational advantages, retirement benefits, adventure, travel, and job security.

ROOFS BLOWN FROM TWO BUILDINGS NEAR STEGALL

Roof of a house on the J. A. McGee and Dr. L. T. Green farm, about 5 miles southeast of Stegall, was blown off in a hard wind that accompanied a heavy rain Sunday afternoon, it was reported.

The wind demolished a granary and a garage building, it was said. No one was living in the house. Mr. McGee had left the farm only a short time before the storm hit. About four inches of rain fell.

Ramsey Winds Up In 'Piney Woods'

Ben Ramsey wound up his campaign this week for Lieutenant Governor among his old friends and neighbors in the piney woods of East Texas. Ramsey predicted at Lufkin, in the heart of his old Senatorial District, that he would lead the ticket Saturday by a substantial majority.

"My opponents are fine men," the tall East Texan said, "but the people will vote for me because I am the candidate with the most experience. Our citizens need and demand the sound judgment and technical know-how that only experience can provide."

Ramsey traveled extensively all over the State talking to the folks at the forks of the creek. "The people know that I understand their problems," Ramsey said, "and my record proves that I will fight to serve their interests."

"With radical forces on the march throughout the world," Ramsey continued, "this is the time that Texans most need a steady hand at the helm."

For. Lt. Governor

G. C. MORRIS

TO THE VOTERS OF BAILEY COUNTY:

I earnestly solicit your vote and support for G. C. Morris, of Hunt County, for Lieutenant Governor.

If you do not know any of the candidates in this race personally, I would appreciate it if you would take my endorsement of G. C. Morris for your next Lieutenant Governor, because I know Senator Morris personally and know that he has always voted for the things that the average person has needed; such as for Schools, Rural Roads, etc.

I know every person running for the office of Lieutenant Governor and serve in the State Senate with most of them, but based on past records of all of them, G. C. Morris is heads and shoulders above all of them, because he has consistently voted for the average citizen of Texas.

A vote for Senator G. C. Morris, will be a vote for a representative of yourself.

Very truly yours,

Irrigation Still On High Level

FRIONA—Bill Kennedy, of the Parmer County SCS office, said on Monday that irrigation activity over the county still is continuing at a fairly high level, with the staff locating an average of two wells per week.

"Principally," Kennedy said, "we are being called to locate wells near Friona, with some in the Lazbuddie area. We also have located some near Bovina, but not in recent weeks," he went on, estimating that the SCS staff had located "about 90" since the first of the year.

In the main, the wells are being set up to water an average half section, with some larger, some smaller acreages. SCS workers are continuing work on the N.L. Sharp project, near Farwell, where concrete pipe lines for irrigation are to be used for the first time in Parmer county. A soil survey has been made, and general mapping has been completed, with the planning program slated to be completed this week Kennedy said.

Brooks Points To Belden Poll

Pierce Brooks, Dallas insurance executive, and candidate for lieutenant governor, hails the Belden poll which shows him far in the lead of all his opponents, as convincing proof that the runaway cost of the state government is the number one concern of the people.

Brooks is campaigning for lieutenant governor on a platform calling for the elimination of waste and extravagance in the operation of the state government and a curb on any new taxes until the state's financial affairs are put on a sound business basis.

"Our state government," Brooks says, "is composed of 188 boards, bureaus and commissions which perform not more than 20 clearly defined functions. It is a hodge-podge of disjointed agencies living around loose and spending all the money they can get. The whole procedure violates every principal of sensible and economical conduct of good business."

Brooks believes that two-thirds

DISTRICT JUDGE
SIXTY-FOURTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT

LITTLEFIELD, TEXAS

July 20, 1950.

To the Voters of the 64th Judicial District:

As you know, I am now District Judge of the 64th Judicial District. The Governor of this State appointed me to fill out the unexpired term of Judge Russell who resigned.

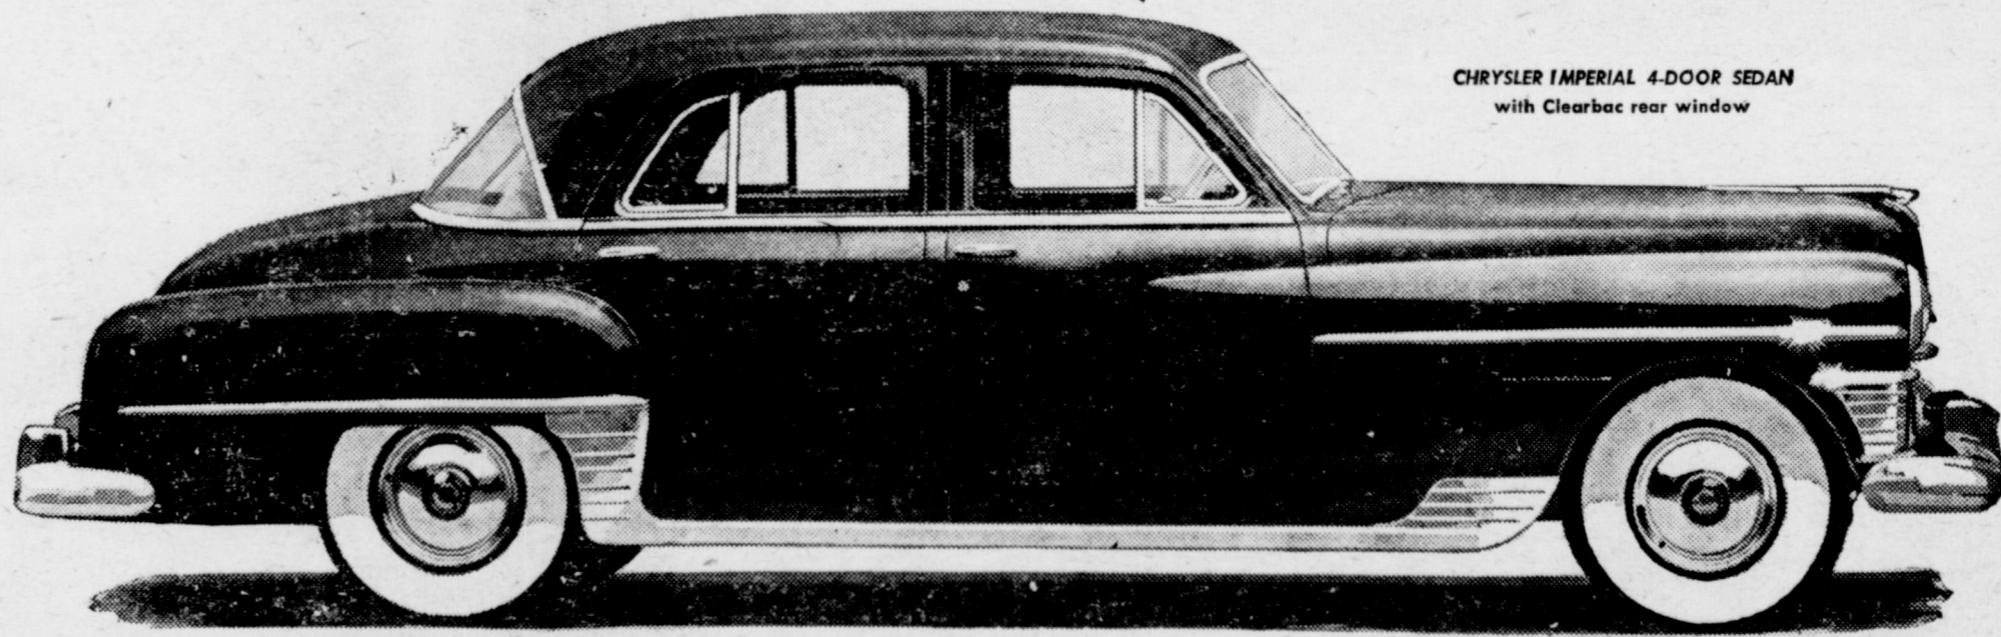

At the time of my appointment I had practiced law for many years, over 25 years in this district, in the district courts and appellate courts of this State. During the 6 months I have been District Judge I have tried many cases, civil and criminal, and by diligent work the dockets of the courts are up in good shape. I am willing to leave it up to the people who know me and to the jurors, litigants, lawyers, and others who have appeared in the courts as to my qualifications.

The fact that I have been engaged in the trial of cases almost every day since my appointment has made it impossible for me to see you. I therefore take this method of personally soliciting your vote and support in my race for a regular term as District Judge.

Sincerely yours,

EAB:jn

Small Schools Now Have Chance To Raise Standards and Services

AUSTIN, July 17 — The smaller public schools of Texas now have available many special services which have raised the standards of education and improved the health of the children.

Until enactment by the legislature of the Gilmer-Aikin school laws, only the larger and richer school districts could afford the numerous services now being utilized throughout the state. Miss Waurine Walker, president of the Texas State Teachers Association, declared here today.

Increased state funds for districts, after they have met state requirements as to financing on the local level, has made available teacher supervisors, student counselors, librarians, visiting teachers, nurses, physicians, itinerant teachers, more vocational teachers, home economics and trade industries courses, distributive education, and more training of exceptional or handicapped children, Miss Walker commented.

State aid to schools is offered on a variety basis. Schools are allowed funds for a supervisor or counselor on the basis of one to every forty classroom teachers. Supervisors work with the teachers to improve education. Counselors devote their time to guiding and advising children.

Librarians, health nurses, doctors and visiting and itinerant teachers are provided for on the basis of the school districts having their choice of one of those for each twenty classroom teachers. Visiting teachers work with the parents to overcome conditions which prevent children's regular attendance of school. Itinerant teachers are those specializing in such subjects as art, music or physical education who give instruction in several schools in the same district daily or several times a week.

School districts in the same county can combine teacher totals to be eligible for more of these specialists.

Vocational education departments increased during the last school year by more than 500, making a total of 2,087 in the 2,492 school districts in the state.

State aid has enabled these high schools, when they have enrollment of sixty or more pupils, to hire instructors in vocational agriculture, trades and industries and home economics.

There has also been a big demand for more distributive education and it is being met. In these courses high school students devote half of their school time to classroom work and the other half to gaining actual experience in their chosen field, whether it is in mechanics, printing, selling, farming, merchandizing or work as beauty operators.

Classes for handicapped children increased 50 per cent throughout the state for the last school year. Another such increase is anticipated during the 1950-51 school year as more teachers trained in this highly specialized work become available.

Smaller school districts can also combine to establish joint classes for these handicapped children. Miss Walker expects that practice to be expanded greatly under specially trained teachers, but outside the larger centers of population there are so few in many school districts it is feasible from an economic standpoint to hire instructors. Two or more districts generally have a sufficient number of children to make possible this badly needed service," the state association president declared.

City, but there are high hopes in the Lone Star State that this year one of the forty-odd contestants in the Miss Texas Pageant in New Braunfels August 4 and 5 will bring home the crown signifying her selection as the "typical American girl of the year, charming, poised and talented".

Last and only Miss Texas to win the "Miss America" award was Jo Carroll Dennison, Tyler, Texas, who after her selection in 1942, forsook a movie career to become the wife of the popular screen comedian, Phil Silvers.

Winning the state title alone is more than just an honorary award for beauty and talent, since with the title go a $500 scholarship and a five year supply of hosiery, both by Commette Nylons, one of New Braunfels' largest industries. Every finalist will receive a year's supply of nylons from the same concern.

Winner of the contest in Landa Park here will then compete for the $25,000 in scholarships which are the grand prizes offered at the National Finals in Atlantic City.

In addition to the talent and bathing suit revues to be held in Landa Park the two nights of the contest here, a mammoth Aquacade is being prepared under the direction of Miss Buck Warwick. New Braunfels girls, resplendent in luminous paint and phosphorescent lighting, will perform in water ballets and a comedy routine is also planned.

Consolidation Beters School Program in Texas

AUSTIN, July 17—Consolidation of 1,920 school districts the first year Texas' new education laws were in effect has resulted in larger school units and a better school program, J. W. Edgar, state commissioner of education declared here today.

Consolidations have made possible better building equipment and facilities, teachers giving instruction in fewer subjects and a vastly broadened program of vocational agriculture, trades and industries, and home economic instruction which means better schools for Texas children, Edgar pointed out.

The total number of school districts dropped from 4,412 in 1948-49 to 2,492 operating districts during the last school year. A total of 1,300 of these consolidations were mandatory under new school laws.

"Six hundred and twenty school districts, however, voluntarily merged with other districts," Edgar said.

In addition, the total number of county unit systems (one school system for an entire county) doubled last year and gained rapidly, making the total twenty-four. Edgar also predicted that consolidations for the 1950-51 school year would total an additional 400, bringing the total number in the state down to approximately 2,000.

"Most of the smaller schools in the state could not afford adequate library and laboratory facilities, or equipment and teachers for vocational agriculture, trades and industries, and home economic courses, Edgar pointed out.

"While there has been commendable increases in library, visual aid and laboratory facilities there has been a tremendous expansion in the vocational departments," Dr. Edgar said.

"Vocational departments increased slightly more than 500 during the past year, making a total of 2,087 in the state," the commissioner declared. "The trend indicates that an additional 400 school districts will offer courses in agriculture, home economics, and trades and industries during the 1950-51 school year.

"With Texas being an agricultural in the world of industry, we on the state level of education certainly encourage our school districts to offer a diversity of courses to train their students to lead Texas in advances in agriculture, home building and trades and industries."

Plains Grain Sorghum Crop Will Break Records—Bailey Crop Small

Grain sorghum, the crop most South Plains farmers planted on acreage retired by renewed cotton controls, might well set new production records this year with increased acreage and favorable weather conditions.

The huge 1950 crop, more than double last year's this weekend remained in promising condition throughout the area, a survey by The Avalanche-Journal indicated. Reports ranged from good to excellent.

Recent showers and rains during the past two weeks, unusually heavy for this period, substantially boosted the growth and left a generally high moisture level in most South Plains counties. While additional moisture will be needed, a majority of the area could go until August 1 without additional rains and still not be seriously hurt.

Cotton Is Benefited

The same favorable weather benefited cotton throughout the area. While some fields were planted late, the growth is continuing near normal.

The acreage increase in grain sorghum is more than double the 1949 planting. Total estimated acreage for the whole area is 2,545,000 while the 1949 amount was estimated at 1,200,000.

The Lamb county estimate was the largest with 290,000 acres. Lubbock, Hockley and Terry counties were tied for second with an even quarter of a million acres. Dawson and Hale counties were estimated to have 225,000 acres. Next were Crosby and Gaines counties with 125,000 acres each.

Price outlook on the crop is not as good. The new government support level has been cut to an average of $1.87 per 100 pounds compared to last year's price floor of $2.09. Increased production expected elsewhere in Texas and other states might also contribute to a surplus that could lower general prices.

BAILEY COUNTY—Only about 12,000 acres of cotton are in good condition after a prolonged drought. Grain sorghum acreage is expected to be close to 200,000. County Agent J. K. Adams of Muleshoe said. Last year's grain sorghum planting was about 40,000 acres. Recent rains, however, have slowed farm work. Crops in tomatoes, green beans, watermelons and potatoes are reported good.

Thomas A. Edison was dismissed from a job as a young man for sleeping while on duty. Animals with long legs also have long necks in order to reach their food without bending their knees.

ON THE LEGAL FRONT: Lubbock attorneys have been most complimentary of 64th District Judge E. A. Bills, Littlefield jurist who exchanged benches last week with 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue and tried several cases here. Pooled statements: He has admirable judicial temperament, quietly maintains courtroom decorum, reflects in prompt and unbiased rulings his knowledge of the law and procedure and, in general, is a worthy successor to the 64th district's veteran presiding judge, C. D. Russell, resigned. Judge Bills became widely known for his general practice of law over more than two decades before his appointment to succeed Judge Russell.

Mrs. W. ... of ... Twentieth ... hosts

Those qualifications which are essential to a competent presiding judge of a trial court — judicial temperament, knowledge of the law, integrity, dignity, actual trial experience in trial courts and in courts of appeal — are so plainly evident in Judge E. A. Bills of Littlefield, candidate for the office of District Judge of the 64th Judicial District, that our neighbors to the south of us have seen fit to recognize those qualities in unsolicited public print.

Judge Bills, who has lived and practiced law in Littlefield and this district for 26 years, has all the necessary qualities to make and is making an outstanding trial judge. His qualifications as recognized by the bar and citizens of this district and our neighbors to the south merit his election to a first full term in office. Judge Bills was appointed by the Governor upon C. D. Russell's resignation as of January first this year, the Governor making such appointment upon recommendations of citizens of this district.

On the basis of recognized and acknowledged ability to handle this office, Judge Bill's candidacy is presented to you for your consideration.

This presentation of Judge Bills' candidacy is submitted on his behalf by friends and supporters

Long Term Rental Agreement Needed To Help Develop Livestock Raising

COLLEGE STATION, July 17—Twenty-five years ago only about one-fifth or 20 per cent of the agricultural income in Texas came from the sale of livestock. Today more than 45 per cent of the state's agricultural income comes from that source, says C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist of Texas A. & M. College.

This situation, coupled with the fact that more than one-third of all farms in Texas are operated by tenants, is creating a great need for a practical long-term lease or rental agreement. Both landlords and tenants, says Bates, are interested in working out long-term rental agreements that will prove mutually beneficial to both. Involved are such items as the division of the initial cost of the breeding animals, the division of the income from livestock, how to divide the costs of improving pastures or sharing the supplementary pastures, soil building crops and the like. Then there is the question of providing the additional equipment in the form of fences, water facilities, barns and other equipment that is needed on most tenant operated farms before the livestock enterprise can really be set up to the best advantage.

First, Bates says both parties must realize that through necessity the livestock rental contract must be for several years. The pastures and equipment can be improved slowly and this will in turn spread the expenditures over a long period and will not necessitate the "borrowing" of - excessive amounts of money to get the business going. It is usually wise to grow into a new enterprise, if other things are equal, for the experience and information gained during this growing period often means the difference between success and failure, says Bates.

Secondly, Bates points out that

FRESHEN UP YOUR WARDROBE.

Seems no more than right that a blouse and skirt, the cornerstone of a young girl's wardrobe, should also be easy to make. So don't let your warm weather togs wilt and tire, because up until you don your winter woollens, an extra cotton two-piecer is the best friend a girl ever had.

Choose a simple skirt pattern, and—if you're a beginner—a blouse without set-in sleeves. Pictured is Simplicity pattern No. 2349 (skirt) and No. 3145 (on-and-off-the-shoulder blouse).

Make it of cotton. It's easy to work with, less expensive, and this year's by-the-yard counters have many vivacious young prints to team with white or matching solid colors. One guide when buying your material—so you don't have to allow for shrinkage—is to get Sanforized cottons. Then your garment will fit as well after washing as before. There's nothing more discouraging to a beginner than to have her efforts wasted after the first laundering.

So sew your own fashions. It's really lots of fun, and for very little money you can parade back to school and seal all the raves.

the kind of agreement will depend to a great extent upon the individuals making the contract but the important item is to keep the agreement and arrangements on a sound and practical basis. Both parties should profit from the rental contract not only financially but from more security and the greater satisfaction between the contracting parties that comes from the actual partner relationship that must exist if the arrangements are to be workable.

Bates says that several different types of rental agreements are now being tried in the field and that county agricultural agents are working with landlords and tenants trying to work out on the ground the best and most mutual beneficial contracts possible.

Bates believes that the forward looking tenant as well as the landlord realizes that soil fertility must be improved, more soil and water conservation practices be

Shivers Ends His Campaign For A 'Term Of His Own'

Allan Shivers this week concluded his campaign for a term of his own as Governor of Texas by urging all citizens to go to the polls Saturday and vote in the Democratic primary.

"The final test of democracy always comes at the polling places on election day," Governor Shivers said. "The people cannot expect to have representative government unless they participate in choosing the men to represent them. The international crisis should intensify, rather than decrease, popular interest in this fundamental process of democracy, for it is on behalf of a democratic way of life that our boys are fighting in Korea."

The Governor, seeking his first elective term, has conducted his campaign without the usual political fanfare. He has made numerous public appearances at community affairs over the State but has made virtually no political addresses. His principal concern has been to talk with and listen to people of Texas in order to determine what they want and expect from the State Government.

In his talks at public meetings and on the radio, Governor Shivers has stressed the need for economy in Texas.

"By this," he has explained, "I mean economy of money, economy of our soil, economy of water, and economy of human resources. That platform, if it may be so labeled, covers a lot of ground, and I believe in it."

Giles Reports On School Lands

State Land Commissioner Bascom Giles will report to Texans upon the development of the state public school and university lands Thursday at 7:15 p. m. His address will be broadcast over a special network of 22 stations.

Giles, under whose direction the two school funds have passed the staggering total of $250,000,000, seeks re-election to the office he has held since 1938.

Giles' radio report will also discuss the "tragedy of the tidelands," the fight by Texas to retain possession of oil-laden submerged lands adjacent to the Texas coast. Giles, first state official to urge Texas action to hold these valuable properties, has been in Washington often pleading the cause of citizen of Texas.

In his radio address Commissioner Giles will also report on the development of the $25,000,000 Veterans' Land Program, which he originated and sponsored, and will discuss his plan to expand the present program.

One of the few state elected officials to "come up from the ranks", Giles has spent 30 years in the General Land Office. In 1938 he made his first political campaign, winning over a strong field in a stunning upset and has never had serious opposition since. Two years ago he won easily over three opponents without a runoff.

Butane-Propane FOR YOUR ENGINES

ENSIGN CARBURETION

Thousands of successful Butane-Propane engine installations using ENSIGN Carburetion return handsome dividends in fuel savings and in greatly reduced maintenance. There is no hard carbon. Lubricating oil can safely run three to four times as long. Because Butane-Propane burns as a dry gas, lubricating oil is neither diluted nor washed from cylinder walls. This means longer engine life than with gasoline or diesel fuel. Tractors, trucks and stationary engines burning Butane-Propane run three to four seasons without overhaul or valve grind.

CONSULT SPECIALISTS

The carburetion you buy and its method of application is the key to successful engine operation on Butane-Propane. ENSIGN, carburetor specialists for 36 years, pioneered Butane-Propane Carburetion and has perfected an highly efficient vaporizer and carburetor for maximum power, economy and safety. Insist on ENSIGN. Your local authorized ENSIGN Dealer is trained to make good installations. Let him check your engines. He will tell you what you can expect from Butane.

Impetigo Prevalent In Summer Months

AUSTIN, July 17—When a state health authority says there is no such thing as a natural resistance to impetigo, parents of small children know exactly what he means. Those parents know, perhaps from bitter experience, that the same individual can suffer repeated attacks from what State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox calls an "offensive, annoying skin infection."

Although children are unusually susceptible, impetigo can be found in any age group, Dr. Cox said. It is most prevalent during the summer months, but has been known to occur at any month.

Impetigo, according to Dr. Cox's explanation, is a purulent skin infection. It isn't too serious, except in new born babies. An invasion of a hospital nursery ward calls for extreme attention to keep uninfected babies from getting it, for it spreads like fire in dry grass.

Impetigo is caused by a pus forming bacteria called staphylococcus—the same sort of germ found in boils and sores where pus is present. Usually it forms an unsightly crust over wide areas of the body. The pus underneath the crust is highly infectious if allowed to get on any other skin surface. The infection is easily transmitted when a non-infected person uses the towel of someone infected, since the towel moisture permits the germ to survive.

Children living in the most hygienic homes frequently get impetigo, although it is perhaps more common among children living in homes where personal sanitation isn't considered too important.

Dr. Cox says soldiers are often infected, because they have small chance for keeping consistently clean. It may involve a whole arm, or a side of the face and neck.

The only way to minimize the ill effects of impetigo is to keep the infection localized, that is, keeping it from spreading. This can be done only by preventing the pus or serum from exuding onto "clean" skin surfaces.

The family physician is the infected child's best friend. He'll advise the mother how best to combat the ailment, and how to keep it from spreading to other members of the family.

This week the Journal printed a story on another page of this issue about J. B. Dalton, employed in the market of the Piggly Wiggly store, enlisting in the Air Force for active service.

Because of Army red tape and other regulations, Dalton could not be accepted and is still a civilian, much to his enjoyment, and will still be in Muleshoe. He was to have had the rating of a buck sergeant. When he got back the page carrying his enlistment had already been printed.

Superphosphate Will Help Add to Manure Properties

Adding superphosphate to manure not only increases its plant food balance, but helps it hold valuable nitrogen that otherwise might be lost, according to Prof. C. J. Chapman, University of Wisconsin agronomist. He says it should be added before the manure is spread on the field.

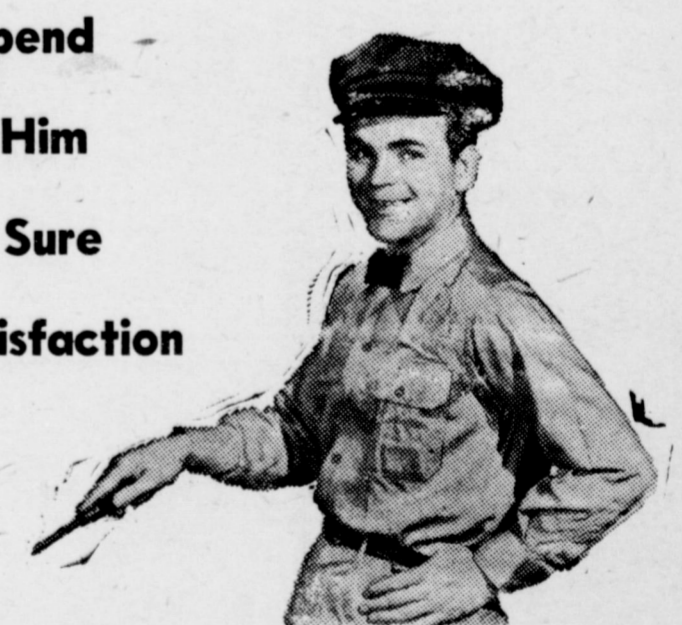

The superphosphate can be put in the spreader at the rate of 20 to 25 pounds per load.
