Civic League To Meet Thursday At Bank

Merchants Are Requested To Decorate Again

Once again local merchants are asked to decorate their buildings and windows. We feel it is such a boost to the Christmas spirit and our Christmas at the Hilton that we urge all merchants to once again decorate.

Please outline your building in lights to be turned on Thanksgiving weekend and be lighted each night through Christmas. The Civic League is pushing an effort to make this year even brighter and bigger than last year's decorations. Please help.

The Third Annual Christmas will be December 3 at 7 p.m. at the Hilton Community Center. The tickets are $7.50 for adults, $2.50 for children under 12 from Civic League members. Everyone is urged to purchase tickets now.

Christmas at the Hilton will feature the Community Youth and Adult choirs performing, a display of unique nativity sets and light refreshments.

The Civic League is still looking for a few more nativity sets to display. If you can share your nativity set, please call Vonda Urban, Kathryn Muller or Polly Wright.

ODD COUPLE-- Florence Unger (Danetta Bible) and Olive Madison (Jana Spangler) are shown in the above photo trying to sit down so that their 'gentlemen' dates, Manolo Costazuela (Scott Bradshaw) and Jesus Costazuela (Anthony Annan) will sit down also, in the CJC production of Odd Couple. The play will be presented at the Mobley-Hilton Community Center thru Saturday, November 12. Reservations can be made by calling 442-2589. (Staff Photo)

Odd Couple Has Hilarious Acts

Florence Unger (Danetta Bible) and Olive Madison (Jana Spangler) have the personalities to compliment each other in the Cisco Junior College Play "The Odd Couple."

In the first of the play Olive was told that Florence was missing and she might try to kill herself. But, Olive decided not to worry since once before Florence decided to kill herself and sent out a suicide telegram to let people know what she was planning.

Florence does have a special way to drive people crazy. One is when she clears her sinus pressure and when she pulls her apron out of her purse so she can start cleaning. This tends to drive Olive out of her mind and she tells Florence once to take off her June Cleaver apron.

Olive is a slob and has potato chips laying around her house opened for six months and offers brown and green sandwiches to her Trivia Pursuit playing partners. She is also a true friend and offers Florence a place to stay when Florence and her husband separate.

Florence loves to clean house and cook and after living together for six weeks things finally boil over between the two women and the results are hilarious.

The Friday night Trivia Pursuit playing partners really have supporting parts for the two leading women, especially Vera Armstrong (Lana McConaughy). She is a dingy blond and tells the girls about going to an art museum one time and talking to a guard for two hours before discovering he was a statue.

The ladies' playing partners are played by Kimberly Graham, Tara Fuller and Stacy Norton. This is the first time they have been on the CJC stage and do an excellent job with their work. They are also in charge of wardrobe and properties for the play. Carol Price Brown is the director.

Olive sets up dates for her and Florence with two Spanish men she met in the apartment elevator. She tells Florence she is doesn't want to hold a hand that's soft and has fingernail polish on. She wants to hold a rough hand with big knuckles and one that is hairy. She wants to hold a man's hand.

During the date Florence is left alone with the two men while Olive leaves the room to fix drinks for them. Florence is very nervous about dating after 14 years of being married and it's kind of hard for her to keep the conversation going. When she starts talking about how the separation is affecting her she can't stop talking. This is another super acting job of the cast, including Manolo Costazuela (Scott Bradshaw) and Jesus Costazuela (Anthony Annan).

The menu for the dinner performances on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 10-12 is minestrone soup, caneloni, Italian green beans, garlic bread and fresh fruit. Reservations can still be made on these nights. Reservations can be made by calling 442-2589. Cost of the dinner production is $10.00. There are discounts available for groups, senior citizens and students to the dinner performances.

Ovations Is New Business In Cisco

Many people do not know that there is a new small business in Cisco. It is called "Ovations" and is owned and operated by Jasper and Evelyn Cook.

Jasper is a native of Cisco and a retired Methodist minister. He has a well-equipped wood-working shop in his garage where he creates many interesting and unique items such as planters, bird feeders, novelty items, etc. His wife Evelyn collects bottles and other glassware.

Needing a sales outlet for their products they decided to enter the Flea Market business. After securing a Texas re-sale tax number they began attending dealer's auctions in Texas, Arkansas, and Missouri where they were able to purchase many interesting items of merchandise which they could sell at very reasonable prices. The Cooks now sell such items as toys, gifts, pots and pans, knives, kitchen items, cologne, jewelry, tools, gloves, glassware, bottles, clothing, and lots, lots more.

Industrial Arts Club To Sponsor Party

The First Industrial Arts Club will sponsor a 42 party Thursday, Nov. 10, at 1 p.m. It will be held in the Community Room of First National Bank.

The cost will be $2 per person. There will be door prizes given as well as some homemade food items for sale. Please call Helen Hounshell at 442-1590 or Faye Gardenhire at 442-1125 for advance reservation.

Jasper and Evelyn have participated in flea markets at Buffalo Gap, Stamford, Austin and even in Evelyn's home state of Kentucky, making their trips in their travel trailer and displaying their wares under a 10x20 ft. canopy.

Jasper said that he was rather reluctant to enter this business at first but after several months of it he is glad he did it. They have not made so much money, but the new friends they have made have been worth all the effort.

Since most flea markets are held outdoors, the Cooks are curtailing their activities for the winter months. They plan to attend only three or four meets this winter and all of them will be held indoors.

Jasper says that he feels good about selling his merchandise, not only because he gives folks the opportunity to buy at very low prices, but also because one-seventh of the sales tax is returned to the City of Cisco, even when the sale is in another city, simply because Cisco is the home base of "Ovations."

You are invited to visit the Cooks at 402 Front Street in Cisco.

Making Texas Music To Be Held Saturday

Cisco Ladies Enjoy Retreat

On Friday, Nov. 4, 21 ladies from Greater Mountain Top Church of Cisco gathered at the Baptist Encampment grounds at Lake Brownwood for a two-day retreat of fellowship and fun. Personal Improvement and Christian Growth were themes of the camp.

Friday evening, special speaker, Mrs. Valerie Baker, wife of popular evangelist Bo Baker, spoke on "Relationships: God First, Then Others." A time of worship followed, with music provided by Ruth Stewart and Marie Welch.

The group enjoyed a weiner roast and various games in front of a wood-burning fireplace.

Saturday morning, fresh fruit, coffee, and breakfast tacos were served. A prayer time and strengthening of friendships followed.

Betty Jones, wife of Pastor John C. Jones, served as hostess and co-ordinator. She was assisted by Ruth Stewart. The group plans to make this retreat an annual event.

The pastor, Rev. Jones, is scheduling through the various activity committees of the church, a large number of activities for each department for the remainder of 1988 and 1989. Each department has a chairperson and committee that meet monthly and submit programs for the upcoming month to the pastor for approval. He has asked that as much input as possible come to him so the church can offer as many activities possible per month for ages from the pre-school to the senior members. The groups including teens to senior members are seeking activities to attend within our state, which will be religious, social, musical, educational, or recreational in nature. It is the pastor's desire to provide this church with the greatest choice of activities of any church in our county. The activities are open to peoples of all denominations to enjoy. One trip this spring was a trip up the Colorado River on a large sight-seeing boat and was well attended, and much enjoyed. This is planned again for spring of '89.

WTU Puts Lower Winter Rates Into Effect

Customers of West Texas Utilities Co. will see approximately a 12.5 percent drop in their rates beginning this month, November. The reduction is the result of using the lower winter rates, which will be in effect six months. Using higher summer and lower winter rates is part of the States' plan to encourage energy conservation during the summer when air conditioning creates the peak demand on electricity use.

According to WTU local manager Jack Kennedy, "A residential customer using 476 kilowatt hours of electricity a month, the average for November, 1987, will see his bill go from $43.53 to $38.02." Other customer groups will see similar reductions, Kennedy said. Since mild fall weather has reduced many customers' cooling and heating use, the actual decrease in the electric bill from September when average use was 906 KWH to November will probably be around 50 percent. That decrease includes the combined impact of lower winter rates and lower use resulting from mild weather. The actual size of a customer's bill is determined by their use.

According to the local manager, the electric company is still waiting for final approval from the Public Utility Commission regarding a request to change the fuel portion of the bill. Fuel is used at power plants to make electricity.

Although the average cost of fuel on the company's many fuel contracts has not changed significantly, WTU faces a December expiration

CLASS MEETS

The Dorcas Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Dale Phippen Thursday for the regular monthly meeting with Mrs. Elaine Shelton as co-hostess. Thirteen members were present. The meeting opened by the class singing the class song, "Have Faith in God," followed by prayer by Mrs. Maezell Crocker.

The devotional was given by Mrs. Dary Edwards, using the book "Faith, Hope and Love" by Charles Allen. She used the title "Love Overcomes Destructive Emotions" using scriptures, 1st John 4:18, Matthew 10:39 and Matthew 6:33.

During business session, plans were made for Christmas dinner.

of a very low cost 20-year gas contract at one of its nine power stations. That was for gas at pre-oil embargo prices of 22 cents per mmbtu and has saved customers $350 million. It must be replaced with gas at today's prices which are almost $2 per mmbtu.

Paying for this replacement gas will mean customers using 476 kilowatt hours of electricity will see an increase of approximately $2.95 on the January bill if the PUC completes its review and approval process by then.

The local manager added that since 1985 WTU has lowered the fuel portion of the bill - called the fuel factor - five times, and had six refunds totaling almost $50 million as the result of other fuel contract changes.

Paul Brasher Speaks To Industrial Arts Club

The regular meeting of the First Industrial Arts Club was held Nov. 3 at the Federated Club House. The collect and pledge to the flag were led by Faye Gardenhire.

The leader of the program was Helen Brashear, who introduced her husband, Paul, as the speaker for the afternoon. His topic was "Texas Legend Turns 100," referring to our capital building, which was constructed in 1888 of native stone around the area. L. Bruin was the architect. He had an exhibit of gifts which had been given to him by co-workers and friends in various offices in the state. Mr. Brashear was our representative from this district for three terms and has held other political offices. He told some clever stories of his many experiences while in office.

A business meeting followed. The club voted to hold a 42 game tournament at 1 p.m. Nov. 10 at the First National Bank. The public is invited but reservations are required. The money made will be used for repairs on the building and other necessary expenses of the club.

The next meeting will be Nov. 17 with Gloria Turner as our guest speaker.

Serving Your Family

Second Generation
Funeral Directors

CLIFFORD BUKAL

WHAT IS INVOLVED IN A FUNERAL COST?

There are generally four funeral expenses which can be incurred: 1) professional service of a funeral director and his funeral home, including facilities, staff-time, equipment and casket; 2) the cemetery plot and opening of the grave; 3) monument or grave marker; and 4) miscellaneous expense such as flowers, obituaries and extra cars.

Some of these expenditures are optional. Most of them have a fairly wide range of costs, depending on the family's wishes. You will not find any undue influence exerted for exorbitant funeral costs by funeral directors in this service area. We - and most funeral directors we know - prefer that the funeral expenses be appropriate for each family served. We spend much time with each family to make sure that all arrangements and decisions will best serve their own interests.

We'd be glad to discuss this in complete detail, showing you the ranges in pricing available to you.

Wranglers Open Their Home Season On Thursday When They Play Western Texas

After playing three of the top ranked junior college teams in the nation last weekend in the Midland Tournament, the Cisco

Junior College Wrangler Men will open at home against Western Texas College of Snyder on Thursday. Game time is at 8 p.m.

The Wranglers shocked third-ranked Barton County College of Great Bend, Kansas, in the tournament opener Thursday by a score of 83-71. Host Midland College, the nation's tenth-ranked team, beat the Wrangler 85-76 in the semifinal game Friday, and sixth ranked South Plains College, hitting on 69 percent of their field goal attempts, beat Cisco in the third place game 109-87.

Lewis Hicks, a 5-10 freshman guard from Garland, led the Wrangler scoring attack for the three games with 67 points, while Tyrone Williams, a 6-5 sophomore forward from Shreveport, added 56. Hicks had 28 points against Midland, while Williams had 27 in the opener against Barton County. Mark Chambers, a 6-4 sophomore forward from Fort Worth, was the leading rebounder with 33 for the three games.

The Wranglers were without the services of their most experienced inside player, Ronald Ateman, who had been sidelined with an ankle sprain. He should be ready for the Western Texas game, however.

The Westerners, led by 6-7 post man Vladimir McCrary, opened the season with an 80-78 win over Hill, and a 106-95 victory over Southwest Christian. There will not be a women's game Thursday.

Loboes Defeat Jim Ned 31-To-22

The Cisco High School Loboes ended their 1988 football season on a high note Friday night when they defeated the Jim Ned Indians 31-to-22, in a game played here. This brings the Loboes season standings at 4-6 and the district standings at 3-2. The Loboes are in third place in the 8-AA district.

The Loboes scored in all four quarters Friday night. For the first score, David Zell kicked a 31 yard field goal to put three points on the scoreboard with 1:03 left in the first quarter. Jim Ned had already scored their first touchdown with 4:35 left in the first quarter.

In the second quarter, the Loboes and the Indians each scored twice. Cisco scored first when quarterback Matt Goosen threw a 9-yard pass to Davin Hohertz with 9:17 left in the second quarter. The kick for the PAT was blocked. For the second touchdown, quarterback Matt Goosen ran the ball in from the 3-yard line. The PAT, a pass that failed, brought the score to 15-to-22 in favor of the Indians at halftime.

The Loboes kept the Indians from scoring during the rest of the game, and were able to score touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters.

Quarterback Matt Goosen threw a 19-yard pass to Kody Wallace with 4:42 left in the third quarter. Matt Goosen ran the ball in for the extra points bringing the score up to 23-to-15. In the fourth quarter, David Zell ran over the goal line from the one yard line to make the last touchdown for the Loboes. Lions Club Is Accepting Donations For Afghan

The Cisco Lions Club is accepting donations of $1.00, and a drawing will be held at the Christmas Parade, December 3, for a beautiful black and gold Spirit Afghan. All donations received by the Cisco Club will be given to the Texas Lions Camp for Crippled Children in Kerrville.

Donations have been coming in pretty good, according to Lions Club president, John McGuire. He said the donations will give a chance for more children to attend the camp in Kerrville. The Lions Club are well known in this area for helping children to attend this camp. They also help people to have glasses with their eyeglasses bank.

The afghan is on display in the lobby of the Cisco First National Bank. There is a box by the afghan to fill out a donation card and drop it in. The Spirit Afghan was crocheted by Cisco Lions Club secretary, Jerry McBeth. Mr. McBeth said it took about 45 hours to crochet the afghan.

Donations can be given to any Lions Club member. Or they can be given to Ivan Webb at his office, 902 West 6th, or to Jerry McBeth at his home, 1607 Liggett.

These and other holiday gift ideas are now available at Merle Norman Studios throughout the U.S. and Canada.

Hands of Pride

Pride means wanting to win, never giving up, never being satisfied. Winning is great. But this feeling passes. And what lasts is what you've learned, that victory is a reward, not the goal. Play to win, sure, but lose like a champion. Because it's not winning that counts, it's knowing that the secret to any game, as well as the game of life is to always strive to be the best we can be. We salute the students and schools of our area. Winners all.

the best we can be.

Mayor Dub Hoffmann stops with an American tour group at a Church in Southern Ireland.

Hoffmann Visits The Two Irelands

By Viola Payne
When Eastland Mayor C.W. "Dub" Hoffmann landed at Shannon Airport, Republic of Ireland, in late September it was not his first visit to that country.

Irland as well as the Republic. I wanted to see those counties controlled by Britain for myself."

The flight from New York on Aere Lingus to the west-central coast had been a smooth one, lasting about six hours, the Mayor says. "I was with 28 people in a tour group - some of them Irish, We landed about 9 a.m., and went

After one week across the country the tour group reached this city, the Capitol of the Republic. Hoffmann found it a large and attractive city, and busy celebrating its 1,000th anniversary.

While in Dublin he went to the Abbe Theatre to see a play. Dublin is famous for its Theatres, as well as other art centers and historic buildings. He also visited a Rotary Club meeting at a large Hotel Roof Garden. Around 90 members were present, including three visitors in addition to himself. Two visitors were from California and one from Canada.

Hoffmann exchanged banners with the Dublin Rotary Club, and found the program quite interesting. The speaker was connected with the Churches' "Day of Prayer for Peace," sponsored by a group known as the "Southern Movement."

The object seemed to be to try to unite both Irelands, including the Belfast area in praying for peace.

In Dublin the planned tour he was with broke up, Hoffmann says. Some of the people went back to New York, some to London, while several of the Americans went to Belfast, the Capitol of Northern Ireland.

To begin with, the driver of their car - a citizen of the Republic of Ireland - seemed very nervous about crossing the border to the North.

And the group needed someone to drive them, partly because in Ireland traffic moves on the left side of the road rather than the right.

Called correctly "Northern Ireland," and sometimes incorrectly "Ulster," this part of Northern Ireland was kept under British control when the Irish won their independence in 1919. Approx. one-third of the citizens there are native Irish (Celtic) and usually Catholic. The others are of British descent and generally Protestant.

When the American group approached the border to Northern Ireland Hoffmann realized his trip had taken quite a change. Obviously the British were taking precautions against the Irish Republican Army (IRA) and their unseen numbers.

At the border there was an eight-foot fence of barbed wire, with British soldiers standing guard. There were also guards on towers and soldiers on tanks - and plenty of electronic surveillance equipment.

"When we were stopped the chauffeur hurriedly informed the guards he was bringing American tourists. The soldiers checked our passports and let us through," Hoffmann says.

"For about a mile there was a neutral zone - a kind of no-man's-land. We were stopped by soldiers again, and they let us through."

Hoffmann had one been in Russia, and he says this whole thing reminded him of his visit to Russia. "That's all you can say. It's an eerie feeling."

Across the border there were sheep grazing on the way to Belfast - farming going on, and some other daily affairs. But the presence of the British soldiers was always visible - men with guns, others driving tanks. Things were apparently tense right then. There had been a number of bombings, killings, and clashes with the British in late summer. The centuries-old war was heating up.

In Belfast the group went to a hotel in the Protestant section of town, near the Queen's University of Belfast. It was a very nice place, but Hoffmann says the scrutiny the group had on checking into the hotel was unreal. An electric eye seemed to follow their every move.

The Irish driver was still ill-at-ease, and the Americans got the message again that people from Southern Ireland were not welcome in this part of Belfast.

The group took a cab to the main shopping area of town, and Hoffmann says it was "depressing." Three downtown blocks were roped off, and when they asked, someone "why" the answer was: "Sir, we have a bomb threat."

There were dogs sniffing around, tanks, barriers - but no bomb went off. The Americans noticed that the few people around just hurried along, not stopping or even smiling at visitors. They decidated to keep moving just like the natives. As Hoffmann says: "Who wants to stand still when a bomb may go off under your feet any minute?"

Back in the University area the Americans looked around more. They noticed that the people seemed different from those in Southern Ireland - they dressed and spoke and acted very British. Hoffmann learned that the Catholics lived in a different part of the city, and there was little "mixing" between the two.

"The Catholics can't get a job in Northern Ireland," Hoffmann says. "But on the other hand - it's hard for a Protestant to get a job in Southern Ireland."

None of the people he talked to in the North had any solution to the "troubles" in their area, or much hope for the end of conflict. The Celtic Irish wanted to be re-united Southern Ireland, and the people of Scottish descent wanted to remain a part of Great Britain.

Hoffmann attended another interesting Rotary Club meeting - with a group of Protestants in Belfast this time. The meeting was not large - about 25-25 people. Here they toasted the Queen before and after the meeting.

The next morning Hoffmann woke to the sound of a helicopter hovering nearby, he looked out the hotel window to see the copter over part of the downtown area. It circled around for about an hour.

He was told there was another bomb threat. During the night a crane had been left in an excavation area for a building under construction. Someone - said to be from the IRA - climbed up over the crane, dropped down dynamite, and blew it up.

When the Americans left Belfast they drove west to the border, planning to visit the Baleek pottery factory. Across this territory they found about the same military presence as around Belfast. There were British troops and much sophisticated equipment.

"I love the British people and England - I've been over there several times," Hoffmann says. "But I wonder if the Queen - or the Parliament - really know that things are like in Northern Ireland. But I don't guess the Queen would have much power," he adds.

At the border of the Republic of Ireland the car with Americans was stopped again by the British, but they were not as scrutinized as carefully as they had been when crossing to the north. He says it was good to get across - like coming out of a war zone.

There was time for more sightseeing before returning home - including a stunning drive around the coast, and another visit to Killamey. Hoffmann decided that this town was his favorite place in all of Ireland.

The Eastland Mayor came back home with some lasting memories, and a desire to go back to Ireland again. But the next time, he says, he will probably spend all his time in southern Ireland.

"But I'm glad I went to the North that once," he remarks. "You have to see that contrast to know what things are like. It's a Civil War - that's all I know to call it."

Northern Ireland -- The Fight Goes On

By Viola Payne

In the Post Office at Dublin, Ireland stands a bronze statue of a Celtic warrior named Cuchulainn, folk-hero of the Golden Age of Irish history. Mortally wounded, he tied himself to a pillar-stone so that he might die facing his enemies.

This figure is erected where the Republic of Ireland was declared free from England in the Easter Uprising of 1916, after hundreds of years of struggle. For most Irish people the statue symbolizes the endless struggle for the reunification of their ancient country - called "The Holy Ground" by the Delic people.

About 75 miles north of Dublin is another Capitol - Belfast, seat of the government of Northern Ireland. When independence from Britain was achieved in 1921, Ireland was divided between 26 Catholic dominated counties in the south, which became the Republic of Ireland, and six counties in the north, which had a protestant majority and wanted to remain a part of England.

There are about 2.5 million people in the south and 1.5 million in the north. Of those in the north, one-third are Celtic Irish and two-thirds descended from Scottish people who were settled there by England in 1610-1640. The Celtic Irish have always wanted to be reunited with the rest of Ireland - the Protestants always vote against it.

Besides reunification, there are enough other issues between these people to ignite various spin-off wars. There are long-standing disputes over land, religion, jobs, culture and atrocities.

In Northern Ireland the shadowy "Irish Republican Army" moves against British troops and sometimes Protestant Civilians. The IRA began during the Uprising against British forces in Dublin that Easter Sunday of 1916, and has been fighting off and on ever since. Grandsons of the men who staged the Easter Uprising are said to be carrying on today.

In 1970 the IRA split into two wings, the Official or "red" IRA, and the Provisional or "green" IRA. The Provos are said to be most active, and have no strong political ideology other than reunification. Estimates indicate there are around 200 Provo members, with around 20,000 British soldiers in Northern Ireland to "keep the peace."

The modern crisis in Northern Ireland grew out of the Civil Rights movement of the 1960's, when young middle-class Catholics formed a Civil Rights Association. By the early 1970's bombings and violence were commonplace.

Some of the violence tapered off during the early 1980's, but by last summer the attacks intensified. In the first week of August 1988 alone, seven people were shot or blown up by the IRA. The IRA has stepped up attacks on British soldiers, and 21 have been killed already this year. Loyalist paramilitaries have responded to the IRA campaign by stepping up sectarian assassinations - shooting Catholics at random. Fortunately both of these sides are friendly toward Americans, and permit visits such as the one made recently by Eastland Mayor Dub Hoffmann.

The IRA's aim appears to be to wearing down British public opinion to the point where British troops will be withdrawn, leaving Northern Ireland to be reunited with the Irish Republic. The cost of the British occupation is staggering, and something that government can ill afford.

Other Irishmen hope that world opinion will eventually force the British to back out of Northern Ireland. A number of British leaders have said they are willing to see Ireland reunited, but only if the majority of people in Northern Ireland agree. With Protest and feelings as they are, this is not likely to happen any time soon.

The Next Best Thing -

.....to a clear conscience and a good night's sleep is the feeling of security in owning your own home with a clear title. Peculiar to the real estate field, values are based on land and the improvements thereon, if any. But values on these are based on the title. The title then becomes the most important item to be considered when purchase of real property is contemplated. So be careful to buy good title based on an abstract of title or a policy of title insurance.

Mrs. Joseph Perkins Honored
By Music Club

Mrs. Joseph (Emily) Perkins of Eastland is being honored by the Eastland Music Study Club with the purchase of a full biographical page in the book "Who's Who In The National Federation of Music Clubs."

This announcement was made by Music Club President Joyce Hewett at the Club's Business Luncheon at The Crossin' Restaurant on Nov. 2.

Members had discussed this honor at a Music Club meeting in October, with unanimous agreement that Mrs. Perkins should be the one so honored.

Mrs. Perkins has worked in the Music Study Club since she came to Eastland in 1926. She has been President three times - in 1930, 41-43, and 63-64. She has also served in a number of other offices in the Club.

Her community work has extended into many other fields, including that on a state level. In 1945-50 she was the only woman on the State Board of Education, and worked to secure free Music text books for children in the state.

At the Luncheon President Joyce Hewett summarized Mrs. Perkins accomplishments, then stated: "We're proud of you, and proud you stayed in Eastland."

She said that the "Who's Who" book should be off the press by next spring, and a copy would be placed in Eastland Centennial Memorial Library.

Mrs. Perkin's daughter, Dorothy Perkins of Midland, was a special guest at the Music Club Luncheon. Members were especially glad she could be there to hear the announcement.

Other Music Club plans were discussed at the meeting. The next public event will be the Guitar Concert on Sunday, Nov. 13, 2 p.m. at the Meeting House on the corner of Plummer and Lamar.

Fishing Outdoors

By Terry Wilson

Deer 7, Hunters 3
It appears area deer have taken an early lead during this past opening weekend of hunting. But considering that many hunters are being more selective of their bucks (due to the 1 buck limit), I suppose it wasn't too bad a weekend. Also contributing to lower than expected numbers would be the weather wa's like having to play a team (the deer) and the officials (mother nature). The high winds kind of made the calls in favor of the deer. But it's just the first quarter and with some more favorable weather hunting should improve. Doe kills were less than expected, but this will change I'm sure as the year progresses and hunters take advantage of the outrageous number now being allowed to be taken. I was informed that J.V. Rhyme of Cisco downed a real nice 10 point buck. And a number of spike to 6 points fell opening weekend. Hunters should be reminded that the little 10 inch wide 6 point you kill this year could very well be that wall hanger next year. Hunt for the future at all times. Just as in fishing for the future holds so does hunting for the future.

I apologize for not having the results of the big West Texas Tournament Trail event held this past weekend at Hubbard Creek. I will attempt to run these this weekend. Whoever won truly earned it. Just imagine how strong that Saturday wind was on Hubbard Creek.

November 12, 1988 at 6:00 a.m. members of the E.C.B.C. will meet at Hubbard Creek Campgrounds for the eleventh club tournament of 1988. An excellent turnout is expected as these last two events will determine not only the T.A.B.C. top six team, but also the qualifiers for the E.C.B.C. mini-classic. This classic will feature the top 16 anglers at the end of the tournament year (December) in a draw event. The top 8 anglers will draw for partners from the next 8 qualifiers. At present this will be a two day event and will feature some excellent prize money.

If any member of the E.C.B.C. is interested in holding an office next year please contact Eddie Green at 629-2184. These offices are important to the future of this organization and require persons who are interested in the advancement of this organization. Nominations were made during the November 3 meeting, but nominations were not voted closed. If you fell you can contribute to one or more of the offices please submit your desire to Mr. Green.

Has the phrase "Hooked on Fishing" become a reality with you or someone you know? The following is a short quiz to test where you stand in the "Bassin' Passion" today.

- A. I go bass fishing:
1. Every other Saturday.
 2. Whenever I hear the fish are biting.
 3. Even when I hear the fish aren't biting.
 4. On days of the week that end with a "y".
- B. Which statement is most true about your spouse:
1. My spouse is my favorite fishing partner.
 2. My spouse thinks I fish too much.
 3. My spouse doesn't always know my name when I come home from fishing.
 4. My spouse said I fish too much and left me three years ago.
- C. When I go bassin', my goal is to:

1. Enjoy the outdoors.
2. Learn something new about bass fishing.
3. Catch more fish than anybody else on the lake.
4. Make people forget Roland Martin.
- D. Which percentage of your gross income do you spend on bass fishing:
 1. 5 - 10%.
 2. 10 - 20%.
 3. Whatever the IRS doesn't take.
 4. I quit keeping track of how much I spend when my spouse left me.
- E. Which is true of your feeling toward your bass boat:
 1. It's an important tool for fishing.
 2. It's a hole in the water into which I pour money.
 3. It increases my feeling of self-worth when I drive it full-throttle.
 4. I refer to her as "she" and have named her after my high school sweetheart.
- F. Which statement best fits your relationship with your children:

1. I can't wait until my kids are old enough to fish.
 2. I'm always home for their birthdays.
 3. Last time I checked they were doing fine.
 4. I named my kids Zara Spook, Dalton Special, and Snagles Sally, after my favorite bass lures.
 - G. When I fail to catch fish I:
 1. Still enjoy just getting away from it all.
 2. Make excuses for my failure.
 3. Cry.
 4. Punch out the first person who asks how many I caught.
- Now add the numbers of your answers. If your score is 7-14, you've got a healthy passion for bassin'; 15-21, you could make it on the Tournament Trail; 22-28, when and if you can find the time, see a psychiatrist.

I would like to thank Dave Precht for the above quiz, and I hope you found it as entertaining as did I. Till next time, maybe we'll see you at the psychiatrist office if I can squeeze it in!

EASTLAND

It looks like a good turnout in Eastland County for the General Election. There has already been a large turnout in absentee voting, according to reports from the County clerk's office. There are some 10,696 eligible voters in the county, and nine polling locations, not counting the absentee. Some are estimating a 75 percent turnout of voters, which would be far ahead of the usual national average. Most report the Election results as "too close to call," but Bush supporters have up to most signs in Eastland.

Since last year the High School has lost about 25 students while Siebert Elementary has gained about 38.

Did you grind your teeth at night? Psychologist at the University of Florida has devised a system to break the habit. Patients wear sensors that can detect bruxism and sound a wake-up alarm.

Three-dimensional ultrasound imaging system is expected to help doctors diagnose heart disease. The patient was assigned to the Georgetown University Medical Center.

Calcium absorption can be increased by taking some glucose or glucose polymer with it, say researchers at the USDA Human Nutrition Research Center on Aging at Tufts University. Further studies may find that other starches work, too.

Doctors recommend that pregnant women discontinue vitamin A supplements, and vitamin A-derived acne medications, too, because they are potentially toxic to the child. Vitamin A from food is fine, though.

More-potent injectible polio vaccine is now available, the Journal of the American Medical Association reports. It is as effective as oral polio vaccine but without the risks of developing the disease.

Wanda's Corner

by Wanda Hallmark

Work has been progressing on the land east of town on Highway 80. The land was given to Cisco Junior College from the B.B. Owen trust fund. Trees and bush and growth have been bulldozed so work can begin there.

Star Reese, co-owner of Charlie's Pets and Supplies, 116 West 8th, Cisco, called and said they have recently purchased a squirrel monkey. She said he is six months old and weighs 2 pounds. It is the cutest little thing. Be sure and go by there to see it.

There has been quite a bit of talk recently about some of the proposed propositions made by the City Council. The best way to find out what some of these propositions are is to attend the city council meetings. There was one Tuesday night, but The Press always prints the agenda of the next meeting on the Sunday before the meeting. This is your town and to find out what is best for this town, attend the city council meeting. It is held upstairs in the city hall building on second and fourth Tuesday of each month. The meetings begin at 6:00 p.m., and visitors are welcome.

Helen Boykin, who works at Taylor Mart in Cisco recently received a Golden Poet Award from the World of Poetry, in Sacramento, California. Helen is also a student at Cisco Junior College. The poem she submitted was entitled "Pride In American." It reads as follows:

America is the land of opportunity and our freedom was not won easily. It was hard work and determination. There was a specific goal in mind.

America is the land of the free and brave. There is a treasure of opportunity that we can reach for. America shall always be glorify and exalted so we can achieve beyond our own expectation.

We can always go back to school for better education and job opportunities. Our freedom of religion is precious and shall not be taken for granted.

Let America ring out with pride and joy in our hearts. I am proud to be an "AMERICAN." For America stands for patronic and of giving to our neighbors when they are in need. America pride comes from within ourselves and we shall be proud to be an "AMERICAN."

Jasper Cook, of Cisco, recently brought in a letter he wrote to his grandparents on July 2, 1923. Jasper was 7-years old and in the second grade. His grandparents were John and Edna Foy.

The letter said:
Dear Mamma and all,

I have had a time. I have rode 8 calves, twice I rode 7 up at Mammaws and I down at Uncle Gusses. I stayed all night Uncle Guss Saturday night. Uncle Guss and me went to a ballgame Saturday Hawley and Truly played and it come up a cloud. 9 was the ending. The cloud and they had to quit. Truly beat. Uncle Gusses calf kicked me down. At Stamford I bought 25 cents worth marbles. A dime ball. At Anson I bought a baseball mit for 25 cents sparkles for 5 cents frenchharp 10 a knife for 15 and I have got 10 cents left. I guess I had better stop. I weigh 50 pounds. good-by good-by.

Friday, November 11, is Veterans Day. It is a day dedicated to world peace, a day to recall past achievements and attempts to bring peace to the world.

Plans Underway For Annual Treasure Hunt

Plans are being made by the Cisco Chamber of Commerce for the annual Cisco Treasure Hunt which will be held Saturday, Dec. 3, immediately following the Christmas Parade. The parade is set to begin at 10 a.m.

The Treasure Hunt is held each year as the official start of the Christmas shopping season in Cisco. Participating merchants in Cisco offer a free prize to the person who has the winning ticket. Winning numbers will be displayed in the store or in a window of participating merchants.

Tickets will be given at the Chamber, one for each member of the family. Tickets will be available Nov. 28 through Dec. 2.

Don Shepard, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, has reminded all local businesses to have gifts in mind when the chamber contacts them. It was hoped that the list can be started in The Cisco Press on Nov. 10.

time of the Vietnam War. It listed the men in Eastland County who died in World War I and II and the Korean War. If we could get a list of the men in Eastland County who died in the Vietnam War, we will print the list of names.

Part of the story said: This national holiday, known as Veterans Day was first observed in 1918 as Armistice Day. Americans can never forget those dead whom the first Armistice Day commemorated. They are revered in our foremost thoughts as we pay tribute to all living veterans on Veterans Day.

History says that the American veteran never has and never will subscribe to the doctrine of "Peace at any Price." The loss of human dignity and individual freedom would indeed be too high a price to pay, even for a commodity as precious as peace.

Kevin Reed, Songwriter

by kuuh V. York

Kevin Reed raises his foot-long trowel, bulging with mortar. Heavy gray slush slides from the blade in splendid uniformity as if spewed from an extruder. He sets a concrete block on the soft mud, taps the blocks into place with his trowel, then deftly trims the excess mortar. As one of the fastest bricklayers employed by A.A. Kelly Masonry Contractors of Abilene, Kevin may lift as much as six tons of material a day.

So when he returns to his pickup for the hour-long drive back to Cisco, Kevin welcomes a change of pace. He tosses his tools in the back, climbs in the cab, and reaches for a small cassette recorder. He pulls onto the freeway:

Kevin Reed, Songwriter. How did a West Texas bricklayer get to be a songwriter?

First, he is not a Texas native.

"I came down twelve or thirteen years ago from Watertown, New York—upstate New York," says Kevin, 32, his speech reflecting that heritage. He had heard work was plentiful in West Texas, so he and some friends, fresh out of masonry school, headed for El Paso. They moved to Odessa, then to Cisco. Except for a brief return to work in Watertown last year, he has lived here since 1976.

Kevin married Deborah Crabtree of Eastland three years later. They have three children—Vanessa, 8; Jade, 5; and Chelsea, almost 4. Music, however special to Kevin, took a back seat to these developments.

"But I've always loved music," Kevin says. "I started band in the third grade. Played percussion through high school. I'd have been better if I'd practiced more. But there were other things I wanted to do—he laughs and shakes his head—"like sports."

That interest persists. At 6'2" and 190 pounds, Kevin's muscular frame is testament to his passion for distance running. He loves to fish and hunt—"especially turkey and deer"—often with a bow.

As for televised sports, Kevin says, "I enjoy football, international track-and-field events, stock car racing. Love that! I used to go to the races a lot when I was a kid. And boxing—"

"Yes," his wife, Deborah, teases. "You should see him. WATCHING a boxing match!"

In spite of sports and other activities, Kevin absorbed music—rock, popular, country, religious, and—yes—opera. "Pavarotti," he says with awe. "That guy can sing!"

But somewhere Kevin, too, learned about singing, or so it seems to those who hear him. He reluctantly admits that people comment on the unusual strength and power of his voice.

He hears such remarks frequently now that he is singing more. Recent performers include the Cisco Songwriters Showcase in May; the August 20th and 21st productions of "Eastland County's First Wedding," a play by Roy Lee Smith for which Kevin wrote one song; and the Heart of Texas Songwriters Showcase at Eastland's Majestic Theatre in September.

How did he learn to sing with such concentrated energy and force?

"I took chorus one year in high school and they showed us that. You have to open up your throat—you know—he lowers his chin and demonstrates with a strong, melodic "—taahhhhh—"

He repeats the syllable, now softer, more relaxed. "See the difference?"

Okay. But how did Kevin Reed get into writing music?

"I've been leading sons in our congregation for a couple of years, an that brought an invitation to sing last year at the Cisco Songwriters Showcase—the first one put on by the Cisco Writers Club.

"A member of the club, Julia Worthy of Eastland, had written some lyrics about a rounder who falls passionately in love with this fantastic girl named Melinda. I was asked to put the lyrics to music, which I did. I was hooked.

"When the second annual Cisco Songwriters Showcase came up, I decided to enter. That's when I wrote "Believe in Him."

How does a songwriter begin a song?

"I don't know about other people, but I first decide what to write about—find a subject. Then I think about the mood. For "Melinda," it was upbeat, exuberant. "Believe in Him," a religious song, is reverent and a little pensive. "She's Everything to Me," about Deborah, needed a popular, swinging style. I gave it a sort of reggae beat.

"Usually the melody is the hardest part, for me.

"When I get something I like, I put it on cassette so I won't forget it."

Is writing "on demand" different than writing for next. It's so important! Without a good melody you don't have a song. Sometimes I work on the words and the melody together. Sometimes I write the words last. They're oneself?

"This summer I wrote the funeral song in the Eastland County Historical Society's 'First Wedding' play. I liked that. I thought it was easier, since the subject and mood were predetermined. That much was already worked out."

And the future for Kevin Reed, Songwriter?

"I've promised to do a song for my daughter, Vanessa.

"I'm reading John Braheny's book, The Craft and Business of Songwriting. "I want to enter next year's 'Making Texas Music' singer/songwriter contest at Putnam.

"And I've joined a new group, presently sponsored by the Cisco Writers club, called the Cisco Songwriters Showcase. The purpose of this organization is to encourage and promote members' works.

"We'll be doing a showcase next spring. Watch for it!"
